Objectives of Project HAVE (Homemaking and Volunteer Experience) Skills are to develop, validate, and field test educational planning and experiential evaluation materials which can be used by women's counselors, and employers in assessing the skills which women have acquired from their volunteer work and homemaking experience. Progress to date has involved establishment of an advisory committee and validation panels, development of thirty-three "I Can" competency lists (e.g., child caretaker, benefit sales worker, consumer rights specialist, fund raiser), validation of the lists (524 items) by 122 women and 56 employers, factor analyses of the lists to revise and cluster skills, and drafting of the first three chapters of a workbook to help women identify their job-relevant skills and match them to those in paid jobs. Skill clusters will be related to jobs and job families on the basis of employer data, job literature analysis, and data to be collected from 100 employment and career counselors. The remaining two sections of the workbook have been outlined. Most of the report consists of appendices: data summaries on the skill lists, correlation tables, final draft of competency lists, and draft of the first three workbook sections: introduction, overview and general discussion of questions asked by women returning to paid work, and exercises to review experience and identify skills. Furthering the Recognition of Job-Relevant Skills Which Women Acquire from Their Volunteer Work and Homemaking Experiences

Educational Testing Service

As stated in the original grant application, the purpose of this project is to develop, validate, and field test educational planning and experiential evaluation materials which can be used by women, counselors, and employers in assessing the skills which women have acquired from their volunteer work and homemaking experiences. This interim report summarizes progress to date.

Progress to Date

The project staff began work by designing a project description brochure. The purpose of the brochure is to help us locate individuals who can serve as validators for the competency lists and matrix or who can take part in the field testing of the workbooks. In early November 1978 approximately 1000 copies of the brochure were mailed to women's centers, counseling centers, educators, and employers. As of October 31, 1979 over 600 responses had been received. A copy of the brochure and the letter sent to all respondents is shown in Appendix A.

As can be seen from the brochure, the project has been retitled: "Project HAVE (Homemaking And Volunteer Experience) Skills." I feel that this title with its catchy acronym, which was suggested by the project's administrative secretary, Irene Smith, emphasizes the readiness of reentry women.
The next activity was to recruit individuals to serve on the project advisory committee. After consultation with our project officer, Doris Shakin, our original list of invitees was slightly modified to provide somewhat greater diversity in the types of individual contacts. Letters of invitation were sent to: Winifred C. Borden, Goucher College; Laura Lee Geraghty, Minnesota Governor's Office on Volunteer Services; Felice N. Schwartz, Catalyst; Marilyn Wiener, Northeastern University; Lourdes Miranda-King, L. Miranda and Associates, Inc.; Gloria Scott, Clark College; Tish Sommers, Alliance for Displaced Homemakers; Joseph J. Quaranta, Ohio State University; and Alex P. Kassel, New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. All but Schwartz were able to serve. Vicki W. Kramer, Options for Women, was asked to serve as an alternate for Schwartz. Sommers resigned from the committee, because of illness, in the summer of 1979. Herta Loeser, Civic Center and Clearing House, Inc., Boston, Massachusetts, joined the committee to replace Sommers. Copies of the letter of invitation, letter of acknowledgement, and the final list of the Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee members are given in Appendix B.

The project staff next began work on the "I Can" competency lists. We concluded that our original plan of spending time trying to separate out the job-relevant competencies in the "I Can" lists (which were developed to identify academically accreditable competencies) was inappropriate because we would be pre-guessing information which we could better learn from our validation sessions with employers. We did, however, review these lists for the purpose of adding additional areas and competencies which would be job-relevant, but which might not be academical... homemaking experience. These additions were facilitated by the occupational analysis of homemaking recently completed by Act and Lewis (1978). The most major revision involved the list of competencies for Home Designer and Maintainer. This list was divided into separate lists for Home Designer and Home Maintenance Technician.

Following the revision of the existing lists, we began work on developing new "I Can" competency lists for other areas of volunteer and homemaking. The process involved obtaining written materials about each area and/or holding interviews with individuals involved in the area. The final draft of 33 "I Can" competency lists is included as Appendix C. The topics covered by these lists are: Homemaker -- Animal Care Specialist; Chef/Cook; Child Caretaker; Clothing and Textile Specialist; Home Designer; Home Horticulturist; Home Maintenance Technician; Home Nutritionist; Manager of Home Finances; Provider of Home Health Care, and Volunteer -- Administrator/Manager; Advocate/Change Agent; Benefit Sales Worker; Community Resources Specialist; Consumer Rights Specialist; Counselor; Emergency Medical Technician; Financial Manager; Fund Raiser; Group Leader for a Serving Organization; Health/Mental Health Care Institution Volunteer; Legal Rights Specialist; Library Assistant; Museum Staff Assistant (Docent); Personnel Manager; Probation Investigator; Problem Surveyor; Public Relations/Communicator; Recreation Worker; Researcher; Trainer; Tutor/Teacher's Aide and Youth Group Leader. The draft lists and the plan for their validation were reviewed by the Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee at their February 1-2, 1979 meeting. The committee gave general approval to the content of the lists and suggested other areas for additional lists.

The project staff next undertook the validation of the competency lists. This validation was done by two panels of judges: (1) homemakers and volunteers, and (2) employers and their hiring agents, such as, company personnel officers.

The Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee pointed out the great breadth of the competency lists and the difficulty inherent in asking women to judge how frequently other women engage in a given work activity. As a consequence, the competency lists were reviewed and reduced to 524 items for better data handling and matrix development. However, we still plan to provide the complete lists in the workbooks for counseling aids.

The validation panels were selected to represent a range of demographic characteristics. For the panel of women and homemakers the characteristics include: race, ethnic origin, socioeconomic status, region of the country, and rural/urban location. The employer validator panels were being selected to include a range of businesses and industries in both the public and private sector, businesses of different sizes, and businesses in all parts of the country.

The same set of 524 items, grouped into related activities involving animal care; clerical work; communication; community resources and services; consumer economics; counseling and interpersonal skills; design and esthetics; emergency care and crisis intervention; financial work, marketing, and sales; food preparation and nutrition; fund raising; health care and child care; horticulture; legal work; management and administration; physical and mechanical work; problem solving; research and library work; and teaching, training, and tutoring, were administered to both the panel of homemakers and the panel of employers. The women were asked to rate each item on a scale to indicate the frequency with which they did each activity (3 = frequently or regularly, 2 = sometimes, 1 = rarely or never). The employers rated each item on its job-relevance (3 = very important, 2 = moderately important, 1 = not job-relevant). employers also provided, for each skill rated as job-relevant, the name of an occupation that requires this skill.

One hundred twenty-two women and 56 employers responded to these two questionnaires. Table 1 shows the data summary for these two questionnaires. This data was reviewed with the Advisory Committee at the August meeting; a copy was also provided for the WEEA project officer, Doris Shakin. Tables 2 and 3 provide the demographic characteristics of the two panels. As can be seen, the women are more highly educated than the national average. Also, the respondents from the northeast were disproportionately represented. The respondents did not include any Hispanic or Asian American women; an attempt to locate Hispanic respondents was unsuccessful because the groups contacted felt that too much reading was required to answer the questionnaire. This heavy reading load probably also contributed to the educational level bias among the women respondents. A future project should attempt to develop materials that receive more pictorial and nonreading versions of this product that would be used by women for whom English is not the native language and/or women with limited education and low literacy.

The employment was also disproportionately weighted toward the northeast. These respondents represented services and manufacturing, clerical (Table 5) among the skill areas, receiving a rating of 2.4 on the 3 point scale. Other highly rated areas were equipment (1.9), communications (1.7), problem solving (1.7) and financial (1.5). The lowest rated areas were animal care (0.8), consumer (0.8), design (0.9), and horticulture (0.9). These employer ratings combined with the relatively high intercorrelations among the skill areas, confirm our hypothesis that many of women's nonmarket skills tend to be perceived in an undifferentiated and sex-stereotyped way and that they are viewed as having limited job-relevance.
The women, in contrast, show considerably more differentiation among the activity areas, as can be seen from Table 4. The area of most frequent participation was consumer economics (2.4). Other highly rated areas were food preparation (2.3), health care (2.1), and clerical work (2.0). The women respondents had the lowest participation in the animal care (0.5) and legal (0.7) areas.

In order to obtain a better understanding of the structure of homemaking and volunteer work skills, as perceived by the women and employer respondents, a factor analysis of each activity group was undertaken. The number of factors for each area was based on exploratory principal component factor analyses, which were normally rotated by varimax. These analyses, and those in Table 5, demonstrate the different perceptions of the skills that have already been judged by the intercorrelations. The women had a more complex view of animal care; community resources; consumer economics; consumer safety; emergency and crisis intervention; financial sales; fund raising; health and child care; horticulture; legal; and physical and mechanical activities. The employers had a more complex view of clerical; communications; and management and administration activities.

The results of the ratings were used to eliminate homemaking and volunteer work activities rarely done by the respondent women and to eliminate activities judged as having little or no job-relevance. Then, the factor analyses were used to group the remaining items into clusters of related activities for construction of the matrix (now renamed the Job-Skills Chart because the word matrix was not understood by enough of the potential workbook users). A copy of these clusters is given in Appendix D. These clusters will be related to jobs and job families.
on the basis of the employer data, job literature analysis, and data to be collected in November from a group of employment and career counselors. Final validation will be done by another group of approximately 100 counselors.

The draft outline of the women's workbook that was submitted to WEE with the continuation application was reviewed by the Advisory Committee in August, along with a draft of the remaining sections. The Committee suggested that the workbook delete the matrix Skills Chart and use a more general approach to skill identification, job and skill matching, job exploration, and search techniques. A revised outline, meeting these suggestions, has been prepared and some of the material has been rewritten. Drafts of the Introduction, Chapter I, and Chapter II are enclosed as Appendix E. The women's workbook will be ready for field testing early in 1980.

Project HAVE Skills
T-124
Educational Testing Service
Princeton, NJ 08541

Project HAVE Skills is a program to help women, counselors, and employers identify and evaluate the job-relevant skills which women have acquired from homemaking and volunteer experiences.

Are you an employer looking for experienced workers for your business or industry?

Are you a career or employment counselor whose work involves linking people and jobs?

Are you a woman who wants to reenter the job market?

Project HAVE Skills would like to help you.

What is Project HAVE Skills?

Project HAVE Skills is an effort devoted to identifying job-related skills that women acquire through homemaking and volunteer experiences, and to developing materials to help employers, job counselors, and women themselves recognize the value of those skills in the job marketplace.

Who will benefit from the work of Project HAVE Skills?

- Women who are seeking entry or reentry into the world of gainful employment.
  - The use of one of the workbooks will enable them to identify their own skills and define jobs appropriate to the skills they possess.

- Job counselors who are helping to counsel reentry women and to create matches of women and employers will have a workbook on which to base such efforts.

- Employers who seek to hire individuals should be aided by a workbook that identifies appropriate job-skill matches and provides a guide to personnel selection.

How will the project achieve its goals?

During 1978-1980 the project will develop, validate, and field test three kinds of materials:

- Lists of the skills which women acquire from their homemaking and volunteer work experiences.

- Lists of jobs which use these skills and a matrix to help match jobs and skills.

- Workbooks and other materials to help women, counselors, and employers use this job-skill matrix.

Is there anything I can do to help this project?

Yes: Panels of employers, counselors, and homemakers/volunteers will evaluate these materials. If you are an employer who sees the potential of reentry women, or a job counselor who advises reentry women, or a woman who is or contemplates seeking employment after a period of homemaking and/or volunteer activity, you may want to participate on one of the panels that will help to review the lists and materials.

For more information, please complete and return the form attached to this brochure.
Dear Project HAVE Skills Respondent:

Thank you for your interest. We are now working on the competency lists and will be validating them this spring.

If you indicated that you are interested in reviewing the job-competency matrix, you may expect to receive materials from us, late in the summer of 1979. If you indicated that you are interested in reviewing the workbooks, you may expect to receive those materials from us in the spring of 1980.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth B. Ekstrom

1. Sample letter of invitation to Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee

2. Sample letter of acknowledgement to Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee

3. List of members of Project HAVE Skills Advisory Committee
Ms. Marilyn Wiener
Northeastern University
360 Huntington Avenue
Boston, Massachusetts 02115

Dear Ms. Wiener:

Educational Testing Service has received a two-year grant from the Women's Program Staff of the U.S. Office of Education for Project HAVE Skills (Homemaking And Volunteer Experience Skills). This project will further the recognition of the job-relevant skills that women acquire from their volunteer work and homemaking experiences. We would like to have you serve on the project advisory committee.

The purpose of the project is to develop, validate, and field test educational planning and experiential evaluation materials including: (1) lists of the job-relevant competencies that women learn from homemaking and volunteer work; (2) competency-job matrices that identify jobs using the competencies; and (3) workbooks to help adult women, counselors, and employers use the matrices.

The main functions of the committee will be: (1) to review drafts of the products being prepared by the project staff and to make recommendations about needed changes and revisions; and (2) to review the plans for validating and field testing project materials and to make recommendations about their implementation. We also hope that the advisory committee will help us in maintaining liaison with the various target groups involved in this project and that committee members may be able to assist us in identifying women's groups, counseling centers, volunteer organizations, and employers that might participate in the evaluation and field testing of the project materials.

Our plans are to have the advisory committee meet with us in Princeton at three points during the work of the project: (1) in February 1979 to review the competency lists and the plans for their validation; (2) in August 1979 to review the competency-job matrices and the plans for their validation; and (3) in November 1979 to review...
Ms. Marilyn Wiener

October 10, 1978

Ms. Marilyn Wiener,

the outlines for the three workbooks and the plans for the field testing and evaluation. Each meeting will last about one-and-a-half or two days.

We will provide you with an honorarium of $100 for each day's work plus per diem expenses (for hotel and meals) and travel costs. We will also ask you to review, at home during the spring of 1980, drafts of the text of each workbook and will provide an honorarium for each review. Please return the enclosed acknowledgement form by October 20 indicating whether or not you will be able to serve. We will need your Social Security number in order to pay you.

Please feel free to phone me or the other members of the project staff (Gin Wilder, associate project director; Frieda Hardy, project manager; Irene Smith, secretary) at (609) 921-9000 if you have any questions about the project or the work of the advisory committee. We look forward to working with you.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth

Serve food in an attractive manner.

Utilize garnishes to make a meal more appealing.
CHILD CARETAKER

The child caretaker is responsible for providing for the physical, emotional, intellectual and moral needs of a child at different stages of development. In providing this care, the child caretaker must assess the child's needs, identify the appropriate care and implement such care within the financial, spatial and temporal limitations of the particular setting within which the child resides.

As a child caretaker, I can:

- Identify the nutritional needs of the child (see Home Nutritionist), including:
  - Selecting among alternate liquid diets for an infant (mother's milk, animal milk formula, vegetable milk formula).
  - Determining when to add solid foods to a child's diet, including consulting with medical and paramedical personnel regarding nutritional needs.
  - Devising ways of helping the older child deal with the limitations of a special diet when that is necessary.
- Recognize and respond to a child's need for a loving and emotionally supportive environment.
- Identify and provide a safe stimulating environment for a child, including:
  - Providing safe bedding for an infant.
  - Providing stimulating play environment appropriate for a preschool child.
  - Teaching a growing child to develop safe play procedures, developing an appropriate balance between a child's need for exploratory activity and requirements of safety.
  - Teaching school age children how to identify safe play areas.
- Purchasing or making materials to develop a child's intellectual and physical growth.
Teaching the child games and activities appropriate to her/his age and interests.

Make effective use of medical services for the child, including:
- Consulting doctors regarding preventative medicine, and immunizations, etc.
- Obtaining emergency medical services when necessary.
- Determining the extent of public medical facilities and deciding when it is appropriate to use them.

Arrange and supervise social experiences for a child which will promote ethical and moral development.

Identify and select appropriate educational environments, including:
- Choosing appropriate child care and preschool facilities when needed.
- Consulting with school staff regarding the child's educational development.
- Consulting with school staff regarding the child's social/emotional, physical, and cognitive development.
- Maintaining an ongoing involvement in the child's education.

Identify and provide appropriate clothing for a child at different stages of development (see Clothing and Textile Specialist), including:
- Identifying appropriate clothing for different sessions.
- Identifying and providing appropriate clothing when traveling or moving to a different climate.
- Identifying other factors to consider in clothing selection (growth rate, fabric durability, etc.).

Evaluate books and movies and determine their suitability for a child.
Identify resources in the community which can be used to augment school and preschool activities, including:
- Playground facilities.
- Art and craft workshops.
- Libraries and museums.
- Dance and music programs.
- Sports programs.
- Youth groups (religious, scouting, etc.).
(See Community Resources Specialist.)

Demonstrate skills which help make life interesting to a growing child (e.g., storytelling, singing, etc.).

Identify resources in the community which may be utilized to improve the living conditions for the child, including:
- Consumer services (such as diaper service, nursemaid service, counseling programs, etc.).
- Public services (such as: AFDC, medicaid, food stamps).
- Direct benefits to the child (such as: diaper service, medicaid, food stamps, Big Brother, etc.).
- Indirect benefits to the child (such as: counseling services, Parents-Without-Partners, etc.).
(See Community Resources Specialist.)

Recognize and treat childhood diseases, including:
- Identifying such diseases and describing their symptoms.
- Determining what immediate remedy is needed.
- Describing books which are helpful resources in dealing with childhood diseases.
- Describing emergency procedures for various conditions.
- Consulting medical personnel when necessary.

(See Provider of Home Health Care.)

- Describe and recognize the milestones in human development.
- Identify emotional disturbances or learning difficulties in a child which need professional treatment or added attention, and obtain appropriate consultative advice.
- Recognize the nonverbal cues and behaviors which indicate tensions or problems.

- Provide legal, moral and ethical guidance for a child, appropriate to the child's age, including:
  - Familiarizing a child with laws which may affect her/him.
  - Familiarizing a child with codes of moral conduct deemed appropriate by the parent.
  - Devising ways of helping a child to take responsibility for his/her behavior.
  - Devising ways of helping a child to recognize the consequences of alternative behaviors.
  - Devising ways of helping a child to recognize the patterns of behavior, appearance, etc., which are accepted by society and to assist the child in determining personal responses to these patterns (respect for elders, etiquette, social amenities, implicit dress codes, etc.).
  - Determining and describing means of incorporating the interpersonal qualities which I value into the relationship which I have with a child.
  - Devising ways of helping a child to express his/her emotions in acceptable ways.
  - Describing my approach to punishment and reinforcement of a child's behavior and discuss the basis for this approach.
Describe ways to develop self-sufficiency in a child.

Demonstrate my understanding of the special needs of a child with a physical or emotional handicap, of a gifted child, of a child in a single parent home, of a child of a highly transient family, etc., including:

- Physical needs.
- Emotional needs.
- Educational needs.

Identify the special needs of a child who has a sudden change in his or her environment, such as death of a close friend or relative, addition of a new family member (infant or aged), divorce of parents, etc., and develop ways to meet these special needs.

Provide opportunities for a child to learn the value of money.

Facilitate learning by:

- Encouraging the development of communication and listening skills.
- Encouraging the development of social skills.
- Encouraging the development of special interests and talents.
- Recognizing capabilities and potential.

Acquaint my child with our family, ethnic, and cultural heritage.

Help a child develop a positive self concept.

Provide consistent and appropriate discipline.

Provide sex education.

Help the child function as a member of the family:

- Involvement in decision making.
- Recognition of the needs of others in the family.
- Maintain relationships with extended family.
- Encourage togetherness and mutual support.
- Teach a child to respect the rights of others.
CLOTHING AND TEXTILE SPECIALIST

A clothing and textile specialist is responsible for planning, providing, and caring for wearing apparel (fabric, fur, jewelry, etc.) and textile products found in the home (curtains, slipcovers, bed and table linens, etc.).

As a clothing and textile specialist, I can:

- Demonstrate knowledge of the properties of various kinds of fabrics and materials used in the home for wearing apparel by discussing:
  - Care and maintenance properties (cleaning, wear, vulnerability to stains or heat, etc.).
  - Pliability and structure.
  - Differences in method of production.
  - Relative costs.
  - Terms used to describe these materials or their properties.

- Analyze the wearing apparel needs of people, taking into consideration such factors as age, figure, size, budget, kind and level of activities, fashion, and individual differences and interests.

- Select coordinated clothing items.

- Select complementary clothing styles and colors.

- Demonstrate skills used in producing clothing or home textile products by:
  - Using patterns, according to accepted standards, to make clothing or other home textile products.
  - Making alterations of patterns or merging two or more patterns to make clothing or other home textile products.
  - Creating my own patterns from which to make clothing or other home textile products.
- Describing proper use and maintenance of tools and equipment used in textile construction (sewing machine, loom, etc.).
- Describing the process I use to create, design, and implement a textile related idea.
- Using a variety of different techniques in my specialty (embroidering, leather work, tailoring, spinning, weaving, macrame, knitting, crocheting, upholstering, etc.).
- Showing how different fibers produce different effects.
- Describing ways of determining the kind of results which occur when different techniques, colors and materials are combined.
- Demonstrate skills and knowledge related to maintenance of wearing apparel and home textile products including:
  - Describing proper cleaning or preserving procedures.
  - Describing procedures for altering, mending, and/or remodeling.
  - Describing storage considerations.
  - List and explain terms used in my specialty area (warp, skein, bias, flat fell seam, etc.).
- Discuss the history of textiles and describe how methods and materials have changed.
- Identify the technique, period, and origin of various textiles and/or clothing samples.
- Evaluate the quality of clothing, rugs, curtains, linens, and other textile items (see Consumer, and Home Designer).
- Select home textile items (curtains, linens, etc.), taking into consideration:
- Cost.
- Durability.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color and style (home owner).
HOME DESIGNER

A home designer plans the decor and other characteristics of a house or apartment and carries out or arranges for and oversees the implementation of these plans.

As a home designer, I can:

- Select living quarters which meet family tastes and needs, taking into account:
  - Ease of access to schools, work, shopping, recreation, family services, etc., from hazards, noise, problems, etc.
  - Cost of mortgage, rent, taxes, owner's fees, etc.
  - Availability of services and utilities.
  - Design.
  - Structural quality.
  - Room arrangement and traffic flow.
  - Number and type of rooms.
  - Develop a plan for interior design.

- Analyze the physical elements to be considered in planning and decorating a room (dimensions, placement of windows, heating system, etc.).
- Analyze the nonphysical elements to be considered in home design (use by children, aged, or handicapped; cleaning and preservation of decor; flexibility, family values, etc.).
- Analyze how resources currently available can best be used (existing furniture, carpeting, accessories, etc.).
- Determine possible changes or additions and the cost and consequences of each.
- Develop a multi-stage decorating plan if resources are available to implement all desired changes.

Apply principles of color, texture, and design in home decorating.

Create original home designs.

Describe and demonstrate how color, light, and materials affect overall appearance.

Identify creative guidelines for evaluating and planning home design elements (symmetry, proportion, etc.).

Research products or materials with which I am unfamiliar.

Research architectural and home furnishing styles of historical or regional interest.

Prepare scale drawings of a room or house for use in restoration or historical restoration.

Identify resources which can aid me in restoring an older home or in assessing the value of a new one.

Determine furniture needs.

Restore, refinish and recycle furniture (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Arrange furniture in an attractive and functional manner.

Select upholstery or slip covers for furniture taking into consideration:

- Cost.
- Durability.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color, texture, and style.

Upholster furniture.

Make slip covers.

Evaluate quality when selecting household goods and furniture (see Consumer Rights Specialist).

Determine floor treatments and floor covering needs.
Finish and refinish (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Select rugs, carpet, and floor coverings taking into consideration:
- Cost.
- Existing condition of the floor.
- Durability.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color, texture, and style.
- Noise levels and need for noise control.
- Traffic flow in area.

Install linoleum, vinyl tile, or similar floor coverings (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Install wall-to-wall carpeting or carpet tiles (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Determine wall treatments.

Select paint, wallpaper, or other wall treatments taking into consideration:
- Cost.
- Existing condition of the walls.
- Durability.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color, texture, and style.
- Noise levels and need for noise control.

Paint a room (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Wallpaper a room (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Panel a room (see Home Maintenance Technician).
Select ceiling treatment taking into consideration:
- Cost.
- Existing condition of the ceiling.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color, texture and style.
- Noise levels and need for noise control.

Install ceiling tiles (see Home Maintenance Technician).

Manage yard and garden-care (see Home Horticulturist).

Identify and correct conditions in the home which are fire or safety hazards.
- Prevent home conditions which increase the potential for fire (worn wiring, spilled flammable liquids, etc.).
- Select household goods and products that do not present hazards.
HOME HORTICULTURIST

A home horticulturist is concerned with the practical aspects of growing (procuring, planting, maintenance, etc.) of trees, fruits, vegetables, flowers, and ornamental plants.

As a home horticulturist, I can:

- Demonstrate my knowledge of the environmental influences which affect plant growth by:
  - describing the properties of various kinds of soil including:
    - how to test the soil.
    - how to change soil properties.
    - the kinds of plants which need or provide various soil properties.
    - how to improve soil drainage or prevent erosion.
    - how to get assistance with soil problems.
    - how to mix fertilizers appropriately.
    - how to prepare compost or alter the soil properties organically.
    - how to prepare soil prior to planting.
    - how to maintain soil after the growing season - if outdoors.
    - an explanation of any tools frequently used in soil work.
  - describing methods of providing an optimum environment for the various kinds of plants I grow (moisture in the air, lighting, temperature, etc.).
  - describing methods of protecting plants from the adverse effects of environmental influences which I can't alter.

Demonstrate my knowledge of the biological functioning of plants by:

- naming all the parts of various kinds of plants and the function they serve for the plant.
describing the process of regeneration for various kinds of plants.
describing the classification system used in ordering plants into groups.

Demonstrate my knowledge of planting and transplanting procedures by:
identifying the special care to be taken while transporting and trans-planting a tree, shrub, or plant. describing the qualities of a plant to be considered prior to purchasing or transplanting.
describing the growing season of various plants and how to determine when and where to plant seeds or seedlings.
selecting appropriately between the varieties of plants or seeds available to me.
demonstrating planting techniques.
selecting containers appropriate for various types of ornamental and/or indoor plants.

Demonstrate my knowledge of hazards affecting plants and how to remedy them by:
describing the differences between animals and insects which are harmful to the plants I grow and those which directly or indirectly help the plant I grow (bees and cross-pollination, lady bugs which eat aphids which eat leaves, etc.).
detecting and diagnosing plant damage effectively.
preventing damage to plants from insects and animals by using organic and/or inorganic methods.
using various methods of weed control.
- describing the cost/effectiveness aspects of the various methods of insect and weed control described above.
- describing the resources available to me to obtain assistance with these kinds of problems.
- using and explaining any tools or materials used in pest or weed control.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of plant maintenance by:
  - arranging my resources to allow for optimum plant maintenance.
  - diagnosing a need for a change in maintenance procedures and proceeding to test my diagnosis.
  - providing the care that various different plants need for optimum growth.
- harvesting effectively.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of a particular method, or part of a method, of growing or caring for plants (organic gardening, creating hybrids, etc.).
- Demonstrate my in-depth knowledge of a particular kind of plant and its care.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of harvesting vegetables, fruits, and flowers.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of the proper care for plant products (flowers once they have been cut; vegetables once they have been harvested).
- Demonstrate knowledge and techniques of plant pruning:
  - facilitating growth and/or flowering.
  - seasonally,
  - after transplanting,
  - for ornamental effects.
Demonstrate my knowledge and skills as a landscape architect, including:

- evaluating and planning growing space based on needs and use.
- selecting trees, plants, paving, etc., appropriate to the site and use.
- changing outdoor areas in accordance with changing capabilities for care and maintenance.
- changing outdoor areas in accordance with changing use.
- evaluating plants, trees, shrubs, etc., before purchase, for their suitability to climate, location, growing conditions, etc.
- determining the cost of implementing and maintaining a given landscape plan.
HOME MAINTENANCE TECHNICIAN

A home maintenance technician cares for a home and for the equipment in it.

As a home maintenance technician, I can:

Manage the overall maintenance of my home, including:
- Assessing what needs to be done.
- Determining the costs and time involved, including the consequences of postponing the work.
- Prioritizing tasks and determining the best sequence when several tasks must be undertaken.

HOME NUTRITIONIST

A home nutritionist is concerned with the responsible need assessment, planning, management, and delivery of the nutritional aspects of the home.

As a home nutritionist, I can:

Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the basic elements of nutrition by:

- assessing the nutritional needs of the people and/or animals for whom I am responsible nutritionally.
- describing the variations of nutritional needs relative to age, exercise, present condition (overweight, average, underweight), metabolism, etc.
- describing alternative sources for meeting various nutritional requirements (vitamins, milk substitutes, etc.).
- describing symptoms of various nutritional deficiencies or excesses and their remedies (such as poor night vision from lack of vitamin A).
- describing the ramifications of the restricted diets of which I am familiar.
- describing the basic nutrients (fats, carbohydrates, proteins, vitamins, and minerals) and how they are digested and used by the body.

Demonstrate skills related to nutritional planning and cost effectiveness by:

- using effectively the resources available to me, or potentially available to me, i.e., available time (mine and others'), abilities, supplies (freezer, refrigerator, oven, mixers, utensils, storage space, etc.), information, and money and how they influence my ability to be effective.
- dealing with a sudden change in resources.
- obtaining help from social service agencies if my resources are limited, or suddenly reduced, or changed by emergency.

- buying in bulk or in smaller quantities, depending upon the appropriateness of each to the situation.

- obtaining food from various sources (growing ones own, co-ops, farmers markets, specialty stores, large chain grocery stores).

- selecting foods at various stages of the preparation process (i.e., "raw" form, semi-prepared, prepared, etc.).

- describing positive and negative effects of special diets with which I am familiar.

Demonstrate my knowledge of different nutritional needs by:

- describing how nutritional needs vary relative to age.

- describing nutritional needs during pregnancy and nursing.

- describing how nutritional needs vary relative to body weight, exercise, and environment.

Demonstrate skills associated with food preparation and storage by:

- describing the methods I have used to store various kinds of foods (canning, freezing, etc.).

- describing the unique properties of various food products, i.e., leavening agents, preservatives, etc.

- describing the safety precautions and methods of dealing with emergencies which may occur during food preparation.

- describing methods of determining the meaning and corrective procedures for various cooking conditions or problems.

- properly using various food preparation, appliances, utensils, etc.

- describing the meaning of terms used in cookbooks.
- describing the characteristics of measurement and converting quantities from one measurement system to another.
- describing special food preparation techniques for serving large numbers of people or for unusual nutritional needs such as ethnic, gourmet, fat free or food allergy diets.
- describing differences in food selection and preparation in various cultures.

Demonstrate skills in meeting nutritional needs outside the home by:
- describing the advantages and disadvantages of food sources which might be considered while traveling.
- describing sources of food, other than restaurants, for use while traveling or camping (dehydrated foods, wild foods, etc.).

Demonstrate knowledge of food poisoning by discussing its causes.

Demonstrate knowledge of laws related to nutrition including content and labeling laws, health and cleanliness laws, etc.

Teach others good nutritional practices.
MANAGER OF HOME FINANCES

The manager of home finances is concerned with the responsible allocation and monitoring of finances related to home and/or family management.

As a manager of home finances, I can:

- Describe and use techniques which will elicit new ideas and proposals.
- Solicit and make constructive use of negative and positive feedback.
- Manage effectively in high pressure situations.
- Use techniques for crisis management and describe why different types of crises require different techniques.
- Use methods of conflict resolution and describe when they are appropriate.
- Establish effective communications throughout the organization.
- Coordinate the execution of simultaneous projects:
  - Establish mechanisms for coordination.
  - Determine when coordination is needed.
- Serve as a spokesperson for the organization (see Public Relations).
- Meet accountability demands of others by preparing reports which include:
  - Evaluation of success in meeting objectives.
  - Records of financial status.
  - Data on time and personnel utilization.
Prepare written summaries of project and organizational accomplishment (see Public Relations).

Develop staffing plans (see Personnel Manager).

Prepare and use a budget (Financial Manager).
Advocacy is an activity on behalf of an individual, a group, or an issue which is designed to improve conditions, programs, or services. Advocates work in areas such as legal rights, housing, education, environment, and social welfare and attempt to change or improve existing conditions.

In carrying out my work as an advocate/change agent, I can:

- Identify areas where change is needed (see Program Surveyor for related skills).
- Select methods and data which will document the need for change (see Researcher and Program Surveyor for related skills).
- Define and delimit the basic issues in a problem area.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the basic concepts relevant to an issue in fields such as:
  - legal rights (civil and criminal).
  - housing and community planning.
  - education.
  - environment.
  - welfare and social services.
- Describe the public policy issues relevant to a problem.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the processes of change using:
  - theoretical model(s).
  - real-life examples.
- Describe methods which can be used to bring about change including:
  - lobbying.
  - political campaigns.
  - public relations.
- Identify the relevant constituencies concerned with a problem (both pro and con) and describe their position in relation to the problem.
- Identify significant individuals and groups (such as community leaders, government officials, and legislators) who can help to implement change in a specific problem area.
- Build good working relationships with those who will be affected by proposed changes.
- Identify potential allies and select techniques which will enlist their support.
- Identify opposition groups and select techniques which will best counter their plans and arguments.
- Demonstrate understanding of the legislative process and how it can be used to implement change.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the laws and customs applying to lobbying.
- Use communication skills to persuade others (see Public Relations for related skills).
- Identify potential sources of financial support (see Fund Raiser and Researcher for related skills).

- Legal services.
- Health care personnel, facilities and services.

Identify, use, and direct others to counseling services:
- Employment.
- Education.
- Emotional, personal problems.
- Programs for the elderly.
- Programs for women.

Describe the various kinds of federal and state aid available for people, who are eligible and how to obtain this assistance:
- Aid to dependent children.
- Social Security.
- Unemployment compensation.
- Medicare/Medicaid.
- Food stamps.
Identify, use and refer others to tenant's rights, welfare rights, block associations and other "grass roots" groups which bring about social change (see Advocate/Change Agent).

Demonstrate my awareness of government programs, and funding procedures.

Help others identify funding sources which can meet the needs of a group or the community.

Assist others in developing proposals to obtain funds for social programs and services (see Fund Raiser).
CONSUMER RIGHTS SPECIALIST

A consumer rights specialist is able to evaluate the quality of goods and services, select goods and services wisely, determine if consumers are being treated in a just manner, and obtain assistance on consumer problems.

As a consumer rights specialist, I can:

- Evaluate the quality of the purchases I make:
  - Food.
  - Clothing and other textiles (curtains, linens, rugs, etc.).
  - Housing.
  - Household items (appliances, furniture, etc.).
  - Automobiles.
  - Children's toys and games.
  - Services (child care, insurance, repairs, etc.).

- Determine from among several items of comparable quality, which is the best buy, taking into consideration:
  - Cost.
  - Durability.
  - Frequency of use.
  - Type of use.
  - Style and other changes.

Use unit pricing and other techniques to compare costs of items sold in different amounts and quantities.

- Detect potential health and safety hazards in items and avoid purchasing them:
  - Food.
  - Clothing and textiles (curtains, linens, rugs, etc.).
  - Housing.
  - Household items (appliances, furniture, etc.).
- Automobiles.
- Children's toys and games.
- Services.

Locate, use, and direct others to information resources which can help with:

- Evaluating the quality of goods and services.
- Evaluating health and safety hazards in goods and services.
- Identifying best buys, savings in costs, etc.

Identify, use, and direct others to groups and organizations which can help them with consumer problems (see Community Resources Specialist).

Organize or take part in a food cooperative in order to achieve savings in cost of grocery items.

Organize or use other cooperatives to achieve savings.

Select living quarters to meet my family's needs and circumstances.

Describe my rights and responsibilities as a tenant.

Help others obtain their rights as tenants.

Describe my rights and responsibilities as a home owner.

Read and interpret a:

- Lease.

PROBLEM SURVEYOR

Surveying a problem area is the process of assessing current status and/or needs in order to identify areas and types of future activity. The process of problem surveying is closely related to that of researching and typically precedes that of program development. (The problem surveyor usually collects original data; for more information on utilization of data collected by others, see Researcher.)

In carrying out my work as a problem surveyor, I can:

- Develop plans for investigating the problem area.
- Identify and obtain information about:
  - the target populations affected by the problem.
  - the sources of power which can facilitate or block the implementation of change (see Change Agent/Advocate for related activities).
  - the existing programs, resources, and other factors which impact on the problem.
- Assess the impact of the preceding factors on the problem area by various data collection techniques such as interviewing, surveying, public discussions, etc. (see Researcher for related activities).
- Compile a list of specific needs or problems within the problem area.
- Prioritize those needs and problems which are most important and practical to pursue.
- Define potential actions in terms of cost-effectiveness.
- Describe the problem areas(s) for purposes of program development by:
  - summarizing data for ease in interpretation.
  - keeping records of contacts and resources.
- Describe the nature of organizational and community structures as they relate to the problem area and its potential solutions.
Public relations refers to a method of increasing knowledge and understanding of an organization and/or its programs; it is concerned with disseminating information to individuals and groups outside of the organization or agency and with processing information from outside the organization.

In carrying out my work in public relations, I can:

- Conceptualize communications and public relations programs which interpret the goals of the organization.
- Plan and develop a public relations program.
- Identify target audiences.
- Determine the communications technique(s) appropriate to each audience.
- Gather information by:
  - conducting interviews.
  - confirming facts.

  - Single parents.
- Budget existing funds.
- Recognize and deal with medical emergencies.
- Interact appropriately and adaptively with personnel and goals of sponsoring agency.
Research is a systematic means of investigating a topic or problem. It involves generating verifiable data which will support program planning and development and/or the implementation of change.

In carrying out my work as a researcher, I can:
- Select problem area(s) relevant to organizational needs.
- Limit the research focus by:
  - conceptualizing issues.
  - defining variables.
  - operationalizing measures.
  - identifying the unit of analysis.
  - generating hypotheses.
- Collect background information.
  - Locate information sources such as:
    - written materials
    - data banks
    - interviews
    - surveys
  - Summarize past experience with problem.
  - Evaluate the utility of past efforts.
- Design research by:
  - selecting research design.
  - selecting sampling techniques.
  - selecting survey techniques.
Manage proposal development; by:

- locating potential sources of funding.
- writing proposal to include:
  - background.
  - design.
  - time and cost estimates.
  - expected outcomes.
  - utility of research to organization and to the larger society.
- meet with funding agencies to promote the proposal.
- adapt proposal to meet requirements of funding source.

Obtain data to:

- foster cooperation with community groups and/or relevant institutions and agencies to gain their support for the research.
- recruit and train data collectors.
- select appropriate data collecting instruments.
- design and validate data collecting instruments.
- obtain informed consent of participants.
- obtain data from existing information banks.
- use appropriate sampling and survey techniques.
- monitor data collected and quality control.
Process data to:
- develop coding procedures.
- train coders.
- supervise coders for quality control.
- select and implement other data reduction procedures.
- develop computer programs appropriate for the research design.

Analyze and summarize data by using:
- averages or other measures of central tendency.
- measures of dispersion or deviation.
- measures describing relations (correlations).
- other techniques of bivariate or multivariate analysis.
- tables or other means of categorical aggregation.
- graphs and charts.
- tests of significance.
- experimental effects analysis.
- nonexperimental causal analysis.

Make inferences from data.

Make conclusions and recommendations from data to:
- formulate teaching recommendations.
- formulate recommendations for further study.
- formulate policy recommendations.

Write research report(s).

Disseminate research results to appropriate groups.
Training involves teaching others specific jobs, skills, and/or tasks. It involves the teaching and/or organizational socialization of other workers.

In my work as a trainer, I can:

- Articulate the philosophy of the organization/agency.
- Explain the relationship between a particular job and organizational/agency/program mission.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of kinds of learning and of different learning theories.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
- Identify training needs (see also Problem Surveys).
- Formulate a training plan which includes:
  - training objectives.
  - teaching design.
  - teaching method.
  - budget or training costs.
  - schedule and site considerations.
  - materials, both written and audio-visual.
  - evaluation techniques.
- Determine the cost/effectiveness of various training approaches.
- Determine the suitability of various training approaches for individuals with different backgrounds and experiences.
- Develop written materials for use in training.
- Develop audio-visual materials for use in training.
- Develop training manuals for other trainers to use.
Administer a training program, including:
- Selecting and recruiting training personnel.
- Selecting training methods and materials which are both appropriate to the group and cost-effective.
- Setting training goals.
- Conducting the training for those who will train others.
- Monitoring the progress of those being trained.
- Monitoring the progress of those doing the training.
- Modifying training programs and techniques if the goals of the program are not being achieved.
- Evaluating the effectiveness of the training program.
- Monitoring and evaluating the job performance of those who were trained.
- Develop and maintain a library of training materials.
- Conduct a training session.
- Train others to do specific job(s) or task(s).
  (Specify)

- Make an effective oral presentation.
- Demonstrate knowledge and use of group interaction techniques.
- Know how and when to use different role-playing techniques in training.
- Help those being trained to see the relevance of their training experience to their long-range career goals and/or personal development.
- Prepare and evaluate reports on training programs.
- Evaluate the training programs of others.
TUTOR/TEACHER’S AIDE

A tutor/teacher’s aide helps an individual or group of individuals to learn something or to improve their learning techniques. The tutor differs from the trainer in that trainers instruct individuals in the performance of specific jobs or tasks, while tutors teach more general skills (such as reading) or knowledge which is applicable to a wide range of tasks or activities.

In my work as a tutor/teacher’s aide, I can:

- Establish a good working relationship with the learner.

- Develop positive student attitudes toward learning by:
  - selecting tasks of appropriate difficulty.
  - telling the learner when a job is well done.

- Encourage and support the learner by:
  - complimenting the learner for good work and good thinking to develop a positive self-concept.

  - showing receptiveness to learner efforts.

- Work cooperatively with the learner’s teacher and/or school by:
  - abiding by school rules relating to tutors or aides.
  - being positive about the teacher and school in discussions with the learner.
  - following the teacher’s plan of instruction.
  - providing the teacher with information on learner progress.

- Provide advice and informal counseling to the learner, when appropriate (see Counselor).
Identify learner needs and difficulties:
- by direct observation of and/or interaction with the learner.
- from test data or other diagnostic devices.
- through discussion with the teacher(s) who regularly instruct(s) this learner.
- through discussion with other school personnel (counselors, psychologists, etc.).

Determine learner interests and plan instructional activities around them.

Plan a lesson or series of lessons including:
- objectives.
- teaching methods and techniques.
- instructional materials (both written and audiovisual).
- evaluation techniques.
- Pace instruction at a speed appropriate to the learner.
- Set and monitor instructional objectives.
- Select instructional material and techniques appropriate to learner background and experience.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of learning theories and their application.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
- Develop written materials for use in tutoring.
- Develop audiovisual materials for use in tutoring.
- Develop and maintain a library of materials for use in tutoring.
(Specify subject and/or level)

Demonstrate my knowledge of the subject(s) which I tutor.
(Specify)
- Evaluate learner progress:
  - by observation.
  - by oral questioning.
  - by use of tests or other evaluative devices.
- Use questioning techniques appropriate to instructional objectives.
- Make an effective oral presentation to a group.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of group interaction techniques and of their use.
- Train others to be tutors (see Trainer).
YOUTH GROUP LEADER

A youth group leader devises and implements programs which help young people develop and learn.

In carrying out my work as a youth group leader, I can:
- Articulate the philosophy of the organization or sponsoring group.
- Describe how the components of the program relate to organizational philosophy.
- Demonstrate knowledge of child growth and development.
- Demonstrate knowledge of theories of learning.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of teaching methods and materials.

(Specify areas)

- Select activities which will help children learn desired skills and attitudes.
- Determine the cost/effectiveness of alternative program components.
- Plan a youth group program, including:
  - defining program objectives.
  - involving group members in program planning.
  - selecting activities which will most efficiently lead to meeting the program objectives.
- selecting activities which are most appropriate for the age, background, and experience of group members.
- preparing program materials.
- determining the budget for the program.
- deciding on methods to evaluate the program.
- Administer a youth program, including:
  - selecting and/or recruiting others for various responsibilities.
- training other adults as leaders or assistants (see Trainer).
- training youth group members for leadership roles within the organization.
- working with adult members of the supervising board or agency.
- determining the effectiveness of various program components in meeting organizational goals.
- assessing the effectiveness of other leaders.
- organizing committees to carry out tasks.
- keeping records of individual and group progress.
- keeping budget and financial records.
- coordinating activities of various groups.
- securing financial resources (see Fund Raiser).

Direct a youth group, including:
- organizing and conducting meetings.
- teaching:
  - games.
  - crafts.
  - music.
  - dance.
  - interpersonal skills.
  - democratic processes.
  - dramatics.
  - health and safety.
  - art.
  - outdoor/camping skills.
  - religion.
  - conservation.
- homemaking.
- citizenship.
- other. (Specify)

- demonstrating a knowledge and use of techniques and equipment specific to the organization's program.
- abiding by the organization's standards.
- providing guidance and counseling to young people as appropriate (see Counselor).
- using audio-visual equipment.
- demonstrating a knowledge of children's games.
- storytelling, including demonstrating a knowledge of children's literature.
- demonstrating a knowledge of safe procedures for children's activities.
- demonstrating the ability to use appropriate techniques to deal with interpersonal conflicts.
- describing how youth groups serve as socializing agents.

3. Develop techniques to maintain change.
4. Explain the basic concepts relevant to a specific issue.
5. Identify the groups (both pro and con) concerned with an issue and describe their positions on the topic.
6. Identify significant individuals and groups (such as, community leaders and government officials) who can help implement change.
7. Use contacts constructively when seeking assistance with a problem.
Cluster XVII A

Ability to:

1. Gather information by locating background data, confirming facts, and identifying trends.
2. Collect background information.
3. Obtain data.
4. Process data.
5. Analyze and summarize data.
6. Make inferences from data.
7. Make conclusions and recommendations from data.
8. Obtain and verify routine factual information from individuals.
9. Make field investigations and prepare related reports.
10. Prepare reports containing factual data and documentary or other evidence.
11. Write research reports.
12. Disseminate research results to appropriate groups.
13. Obtain local, regional, cultural or social history information from letters, diaries, newspapers and similar sources.
14. Limit the focus of research by conceptualizing issues, defining variables, operationalizing measures, identifying the unit of analysis, and generating hypotheses.
15. Plan research by selecting a design, sampling techniques, and survey techniques.
16. Describe methods of research investigation.
Cluster XVII B

Ability to:

1. Use a library and other reference resources.

2. Develop and maintain a library or collection of research materials.

3. Assist with the development of bibliographies or other lists of materials on selected topics.

4. Help library or museum users locate materials by use of catalogues.

5. Assist with the circulation of library materials.

6. Determine the needs of library or museum users and refer them to the appropriate materials.

7. Set up and maintain library or museum collections.

8. Analyze the appropriateness of library or museum materials for different groups of users.

9. Develop and maintain a collection of materials relevant to a specialty.

10. Evaluate the appropriateness of nonprint materials (films, records, etc.) for specific groups or activities.
Cluster XVIII A

Ability to:

1. Make a training plan.
2. Prepare and evaluate reports on training programs.
3. Develop training manuals for others to use.
4. Administer a training program.
5. Conduct a training session.
6. Help those being trained see the relevance of their training to their long-range career goals.
7. Evaluate the training programs of others.
8. Use different role-playing techniques in training.
9. Determine the suitability of various training approaches to individuals with different backgrounds and experiences.
10. Develop positive attitudes toward learning.
11. Select instructional material and techniques appropriate to learner background and experience.
12. Develop and maintain a library of materials for use in training.
13. Identify training needs.
14. Train others to do specific jobs or tasks.
Cluster XVIII B

Ability to:

1. Administer or direct a youth group.
2. Work with school age children.
3. Work with preschool age children.
4. Teach games, crafts, songs, dances, interpersonal skills, socialization and democratic processes.

Cluster XVIII C

Ability to:

1. Plan a group program.
2. Develop and use techniques that arouse curiosity and discussion.
3. Use audiovisual materials in conjunction with lectures.
4. Develop written materials to use in lectures.
5. Explain the criteria on which to judge lectures.
6. "Read the nature" of a group during the first ten minutes of a lecture and modify the remainder of the presentation as appropriate.
7. Modify the information given in a lecture to suit audiences of various ages.
8. Deliver a lecture without notes but following a suggested outline.
Cluster XVIII D

Ability to:

1. Establish a good working relationship with a learner.
2. Develop positive student attitudes toward learning.
3. Encourage and support a learner.
4. Identify learner needs and difficulties.
5. Plan a lesson or a series of lessons.
6. Pace instruction at a speed appropriate to the learner.
7. Set and monitor the attainment of instructional objectives.
8. Explain and apply different learning theories.
9. Use various teaching methods and materials.
10. Determine learner interests and plan instructional activities around them.
11. Evaluate learner progress.
12. Use questioning techniques appropriate to instructional objectives.
14. Select activities that will help individuals learn the desired skills and/or attitudes.

Draft of Women's Workbook

Project HAVE Skills

A Program to Help Women Use Their Homemaking and Volunteer Experience Skills in Finding and Advancing in Paid Jobs
A program to help women use their homemaking and volunteer experience skills in finding and advancing in paid jobs.
The main purpose of this workbook is to help women who are entering or returning to paid work after spending several years as homemakers and volunteers. However, this material can also be helpful to women who are currently in the labor force.

We know that women learn a great deal from their unpaid work in the home and the community. This workbook is intended to help women identify the job-relevant skills they have learned as homemakers and volunteers and match these skills with those needed in paid jobs.

Our society is becoming increasingly aware of the need to remove artificial barriers to the employment of women in order to achieve equality of opportunity. A leaflet on Equal Employment Opportunity published by the United States Civil Service Commission says:

Many State and local governments do not permit consideration of volunteer or other unpaid work when they evaluate the experience of applicants for employment. This policy impacts adversely on minorities and women. Minorities and women have been excluded from jobs which might give the experience necessary to qualify for better jobs. In addition, women more than any other group of employees interrupt their careers for a period of time to assume the responsibilities of having children and raising them. Nevertheless they have engaged in productive volunteer activity from which they have developed knowledges and skills. This experience enhances their value as prospective employees and ought to be recognized.

Employers are increasingly using volunteer work and other unpaid work experience as a way of "screening in" rather than "screening out" employees, according to an article in Business Week (May 21, 1979). This article describes how several women used volunteer work experience to enter paid jobs.

- Barbara Sudler drew on the administrative experience she gained from homemaking and volunteer work to become the director of Historic Denver, Inc.

- Elizabeth Mohr used her 15 years of volunteer experience, including four years volunteering with the Atlanta Public Library, to get a job at the library as a public information officer.

- Patricia Bashaw combined her paid work experience as a teacher and her volunteer work skills to become an industrial relations representative for Memorex in California, where she runs training and management development programs.

Another article (Ladies Home Journal) describes how one woman moved from volunteer work for her local library to a paid job as a fund-raiser for a college and, then, moved to a job as an advertising executive.

Judy Hybels described her research about adult women currently holding paid jobs in testimony before the U.S. House of Representatives. She reported that 44% of the women in jobs involving public relations work said that they developed their job skills partly or totally through volunteer work experience, as did 39% of women in management jobs, 28% in counseling, 25% in teaching, 23% in bookkeeping, 22% in clerical work, and 20% in research and writing.
Our experience with women like those described above led to the development of Project HAVE Skills.

What is Project HAVE Skills? Project HAVE Skills stands for Homemaking And Volunteer Experience Skills. One major activity has been to conduct a survey of the kinds of skills women develop as homemakers, parents, community activists, and volunteers. A survey of employers was also made to find out what paid jobs use these skills. On the basis of the survey results, a chart was developed to help women, counselors, and employers match homemaking and volunteer skills with paid jobs. The final products of the project are this workbook and other similar workbooks for counselors and for employers.

Project HAVE Skills was supported by a grant from the Women's Educational Equity Act Program. This government program supports the development and dissemination of a wide variety of materials which will further educational equity for women, including materials which will increase the opportunities of underemployed and unemployed adult women.

Plan of This Workbook. The remainder of this workbook is divided into four chapters. The first chapter contains an overview and general discussion of the questions asked by women returning to paid work. The second chapter provides you with working space to review your own experience and identify your skills. In the third chapter you will match your skills to jobs by using the Job-Skill Chart. The last chapter will help you develop your own job-search plan. We hope that this workbook will help you in finding a job that uses your skills and talents.
CHAPTER I

QUESTIONS ASKED BY WOMEN RETURNING TO PAID WORK

Today over half of all adult women are in the paid work force. Many of these women, however, have not had the same kind of continuous work experience that is common for men. For example, women often stay at home when their children are young and return to paid work when their children are older or when changes in family circumstances require it.

Many women, not presently in the work force, need or want to find a paid job. Whether these women are reentering paid work after a period of absence or entering such work for the first time, certain questions seem to arise during their job search. Some of these questions are:

What can I do about my lack of recent paid work experience? Sometimes employers and even women themselves believe that the time that a woman spends outside of paid work is of no value. This erroneous belief limits women's employment opportunities. Many women returning to the labor force feel that the lack of recent paid work experience is a major obstacle in obtaining employment. One indication that employers fail to consider unpaid work experience is that job application forms often do not provide space for describing these activities. We believe that it is important for a job applicant to describe her unpaid work activities on an application in the same way as she would describe paid work activities. More information about how to do this will be given in Chapter IV.

Another way for women to deal with the lack of recent paid work experience is by developing a functional resume. A functional resume describes the activities in which you have engaged, the skills you have acquired, and your accomplishments. Such a resume can be attached to any job application you make. More information about developing a functional resume will be given in Chapter IV.

A third way of counteracting the problem posed by a lack of recent paid work experience is to use the contacts you have made in your work in volunteer organizations and in the community. These people already know your skills and abilities and are more likely to help you find work or to employ you than people who know nothing about your accomplishments. You should talk with these people to find out if they can tell you about job openings. You can also ask these people to provide you with references when you apply for a job.

How Can I Tell If I Have Job-Relevant Skills? Too many women feel that, because they have been homemakers, mothers, community organizers, and volunteer workers, they do not have skills that are useful in paid jobs.

Adult women in Project Second Start in Brooklyn, New York, found that they had developed a variety of job-relevant skills from their unpaid work. These included:

- organizational, managerial and leadership abilities acquired through experiences in community planning and politics, and from belonging to tenants' rights, women's rights, and religious groups;
- technical and professional skills, such as, accounting, editing, researching, and translating;

recreational and cultural skills acquired through experience in the theater, arts and crafts, music, the dance, painting and decorating; and

- skills in health, education and welfare, from working with children, youth groups, and the aged either in the home or in child care facilities, counseling centers, and hospitals.

When you think about your unpaid work experience, be sure to include all the kinds of volunteer work and community service you have done. Don't think of volunteers in the old-fashioned way as "Lady Bountiful" bringing food or cast-off clothing to a needy family once or twice a year. Today volunteers do many different things. If you hold an elected or appointed position in your community, such as serving on a school board, city council, library board, Tribal Council, or Migrant Council Board, you are a volunteer. If you are an unpaid officer in your union or business group, you are a volunteer. If you have organized or worked in a civil rights, tenants' rights, or welfare rights group, you are a volunteer. If you have lobbied for new or changed laws, you are a volunteer.

You may have done some of the things described above, or you may have done different things. What is important is that you begin to think about your own skills and experiences. You will probably discover that some of the things you can do are things done by many other women. You will also find that you can do things that very few other women can do. All of your skills are important and should be considered as you prepare to find a job.
How Can I Find a Job Using My Skills? After you have thought about the things you are able to do, you are ready to take the next step. This is to discover what kinds of jobs use the skills that you have.

In the past, this step has been one of the most difficult for women returning to work. Most people know about a few jobs that they have seen done by their friends or members of their families. They have little or no idea about what kinds of skills are required in other jobs.

Additionally, adult women who held paid jobs earlier in their lives may feel that the only kinds of paid jobs they can return to are the same kinds of jobs they had when they were younger. These women forget that they have changed in their years as homemakers and that they have learned new skills and developed new interests. They also often fail to see that these new skills and interests may be job-related.

To help you discover the kinds of jobs which use your skills, this workbook includes a Job-Skill Chart. This chart will let you pick out the kinds of jobs which use your volunteer work and homemaking skills. Chapter III explains how the chart was developed and how to use it.

How Can I Avoid Low Paying and Sex-Stereotyped Jobs? Because many adult women returning to work often need to find a job that pays well enough to support them and their family, most working women are concentrated in a very few traditionally female jobs, such as, office workers, waitresses and sales clerks. According to the U.S. Department of Labor, over one-third of all working women are employed in clerical work; about two-thirds of all working women are in clerical work, service, or sales jobs; relatively few women are employed in administrative jobs, construction work or scientific and technical jobs. However, many of the jobs with the highest salaries and best future prospects are in these areas in which few women are now working. One part of your job search should be to learn which jobs are expected to expand and which jobs women will be particularly welcome at least in part because of efforts to overcome traditional exclusion.

In thinking about your skills, you may see that you have gained, through your work with community and volunteer groups, the kinds of interpersonal and managerial skills that are needed in high level supervisory and administrative jobs but that you lack technical skills that are required in order to start up the administrative job ladder. The best solution in such situations is to identify ways in which you can learn these technical skills. One way might be to obtain vocational education in a local junior or community college, a technical institute, or another similar educational institution. Another way would be to find a "trainee" job or a volunteer or paid job which will give you on-the-job training in the skills you wish to learn. It is important to think about the kind of job you want eventually and to plan how to get there rather than taking a dead end job.

Your job planning should include not only an assessment of your skills but also an assessment of the job opportunities. Your job should not only match your current skills but it should also give you the chance to learn new skills and to grow as a person.
CHAPTER II
IDENTIFYING YOUR SKILLS

The Project CAVE Skills approach to finding a job has three parts: (1) identifying your skills; (2) matching your skills to one or more jobs by using the Job-Skill Chart and/or studying job requirements; and (3) planning a search for the job or jobs that match(es) your skills and needs. In this chapter we will help you to identify your skills.

Reviewing What You Have Done. The first step in identifying your skills is to think back over all the things you have done: your homemaking activities, the things you have done as a parent, your volunteer work and community service, as well as your education and any paid work you have done.

As you think about your homemaking and volunteer work, it may help you to make a list. Start with the things that you are doing now, then the things that you did last year, then the year before that, and so on. The worksheets on the next two pages will help you.

Typical Homemaking Experiences. What are some of the kinds of homemaking experiences that other women have listed?

An analysis of over 800 tasks done by more than 200 Colorado homemakers produced the following list of common activities:

- Managing money.
- Caring for and improving self.
- Meeting nutritional needs.
- Providing for family health and safety.
- Providing for housing.
- Providing and caring for clothing and textile products.
- Managing time.
- Cleaning and maintaining the home.
- Providing for transportation.
- Planning social events and entertaining.
- Maintaining yard and garden.
- Caring for pets.

A survey of over 130 women preparing to re-enter the paid work force found that they had done many of the things listed above. They had also done many of the following:

- Evaluated and purchased food.
- Provided home health care.
- Identified community resources and obtained needed services.
- Painted, wallpapered, set tile, etc.
- Interior decoration.
- Finished or refinshed furniture.
- Sewing and needlework.
- Supervised automobile maintenance.
- Set priorities.
- Electrical wiring and small appliance repair.
- Home carpentry and construction.
- Planned travel, vacations, and recreation.

A separate analysis of the parenting activities of these women showed that they had often:

- Cared for infants.
- Supervised children.
- Provided religious or ethical values instruction.
- Provided sex education.
- Selected appropriate toys, books and games.
- Evaluated and selected child care arrangements.
- Provided first aid for injuries.
If any of these homemaking and parenting activities are things that you have done but have forgotten to put on your list, go back and add them to your list now. If they have reminded you of other things that you have done but not on your list, add these things as well.

Kinds of Volunteer Experiences. What are some of the kinds of volunteer work that people do? The following list describes different kinds of volunteer programs. The length of this list is misleading; few people have done more than two or three of the things listed. Experience in just one area may be your bridge to a paid job.

Some Varieties of Volunteer Work Experience

Administration and Organization
- Recruiting and selecting volunteer workers.
- Training others to work in volunteer programs.
- Organizing volunteer bureaus.
- Coordinating volunteers.
- Supervising other volunteer workers.
- Directing, controlling and planning the activities of other volunteers.
- Holding office in an organization.
- Managing projects.
- Chairing committees.
- Planning future volunteer/organization programs/activities.
- Being responsible for financial planning or management.
- Doing typing, filing and office work for a volunteer group.

Civic Affairs and Civil Rights
- Registering voters.
- Proposing legislation.
- Lobbying for new or changed laws.
- Studying local/public issues.
- Encouraging voter interest in government.
- Informing the public about political candidates, parties or processes.
- Investigating and correcting age, race, or sex discrimination.
- Developing interracial or interethnic programs.

Communications/Public Relations
- Speaking before groups.
- Obtaining and scheduling speakers/programs.
- Writing or editing newsletter.
- Writing press releases, radio/TV scripts.
- Contacting local news media, placing material in local news media.
- Creating advertisements and other promotional material.
Communications/Public Relations (continued)

Writing or designing posters and brochures.
Planning and writing public information/educational materials.
Translating, interpreting.
Distributing printed materials.
Promoting programs and projects.

Community Service

Serving on government advisory bodies.
Serving on appointed boards and committees.

- Preparing and/or distributing emergency food.

Recreation
- Providing play activities.
- Coaching sports.
- Teaching arts and crafts.
- Developing community recreation programs.
- Vacations and parties for children, aged, handicapped, etc.

Social Support Services
- Serving as a companion to shut-in.
- Working as an eligibility and assistance advisor.
- Working as a shopping assistance helper.
- Working as a reader and form filler.
- Serving as a representative payee or guardian.
Transportation
Chauffering.
Operating a driver education program.
Operating driver safety and training programs.
Providing bus, train, plane, station information and assistance.
Serving as a bus or van driver.
Arranging car pools.
Improving route and street signs.
Providing information and service assistance for travelers.

Do any of these remind you of volunteer work that you have done?
If so, go back and add it to your list.

Now, let's look at what another woman has written about her home-making and volunteer experience.

Jane Jones is 45 years old. She has three children, a boy 22, a girl 19, and a boy 15. Her husband died two months ago. Jane worked in a local department store for two years after she graduated from high school. She stopped working when she got married. She has done some part-time work as a waitress during the last five years to meet family medical and educational expenses.

Here is some of what Jane wrote:

This year:
- Organizing family budget
- Home nursing for husband
- Helping youngest with school work
- Cooking
- Cleaning
- Fund raising for hospital

Last year:
- Learned how to help youngest cope with his learning disability
- Managed hospital gift shop
- Helped children decide what to do after high school

Year before that:
- Worked in hospital gift shop
- Took non-credit course on learning disabilities to find out more about youngest's problems
- Ran sale for Parent-Teacher Organization
Now, you are ready to make a list of the things you have learned and you are able to do as a result of these homemaking and volunteer work activities.

To help you do this, we have prepared what we call "I Can" lists for each of ___ skill areas. Take time now to read through these lists. The lists describe some of the skills of other women who have homemaking and volunteer work experience in these areas. Remember when you read through each list that you should not expect to be able to do all these things. Most women have only a few of the skills on any "I Can" list. No one person is exactly like any other. Your list of skills will be different from these. You may have other, additional skills that other women have not mentioned. There is a space at the end of each list for you to add the other things you can do.

After you have read through these "I Can" lists, you are ready to write your own set of lists. Use Worksheet #2 to make your lists. If you use the items from the "I Can" lists in this book, you may want to rewrite them to make them more specific to your own experience. Be sure to add all your other special skills, and any others that are not on our lists.
COMPETENCY LISTS

HOMEMAKER LISTS:
1. ANIMAL CARE SPECIALIST
2. CHEF/COOK
3. CHILD CARETAKER
4. CLOTHING AND TEXTILE SPECIALIST
5. HOME DESIGNER
6. HOME HORTICULTURIST
7. HOME MAINTENANCE TECHNICIAN

A chef/cook prepares food for others, taking into account costs, nutrition, and preferences.

As a chef/cook, I can:

- Serve attractive and palatable meals, taking into account:
  - Color, texture and appearance.
  - Nutritional needs.
  - Budget considerations.
  - Common food likes and dislikes.
- Prepare appetizing portable meals.
  - For invalids and shut-in.
  - For picnics and outdoor meals.
- Package portable meals so as to prevent spoilage and maintain an attractive appearance.
- Adapt recipes to serve large or smaller numbers of people.
- Cook food in large quantities to serve to groups of:
  - Preschool children.
  - School age children.
  - Adults.
  - Ill or hospitalized individuals.
  - Elderly.
- Prepare meals or adapt recipes to meet allergy problems or special diet needs.
- Prepare food specialties for a regional, ethnic or cultural group.
- Identify the nutritional values in the meals I prepare (see Nutritionist).
- Evaluate the cost and nutritional values of alternative methods of preparing the same foods (see Nutritionist, and Consumer Rights Specialist).
Utilize regional and seasonal foods.

Plan meals taking into consideration:

- Nutrition.
- Appearance, color and texture.
- Costs.
- Preparation time.
- Special diets.
- Availability.
- Leftovers.

Determine the nutritional needs of those for whom I prepare meals (see Nutritionist).

Store food to preserve nutritional qualities and prevent spoilage.

Describe common food spoilage problems and how they can be prevented.

Read food labels to evaluate quality and weight of contents.

Evaluate fresh fruit and vegetables for freshness.

Evaluate meat, fish and poultry for quality and freshness.

Determine the appropriate quantity of food to buy.

Utilize recipes and cookbooks.

Prepare food according to a variety of methods.

Freeze or can food for later use.

Select, use and care for kitchen appliances and utensils.

Use kitchen equipment safely.

Conserve energy in food preparation and storage.

Plan and prepare nutritious snacks.

Compare the cost and nutritional value of convenience food, "junk" food, and home prepared equivalents (see Nutritionist, and Consumer Rights Specialist).
- Serve food in an attractive manner.
- Utilize garnishes to make a meal more appealing.
CHILD CARETAKER

The child caretaker is responsible for providing for the physical, emotional, intellectual and moral needs of a child at different stages of development. In providing this care, the child caretaker must assess the child's needs, identify the appropriate care and implement such care within the financial, spatial and temporal limitations of the particular setting within which the child resides.

As a child caretaker, I can:

- Identify the nutritional needs of the child (see Home Nutritionist), including:
  - Selecting among alternate liquid diets for an infant (mother's milk, animal milk formula, vegetable milk formula)
  - Determining when to add solid foods to a child's diet, including consulting with medical and paramedical personnel regarding nutritional needs.
  - Devising ways of helping the older child deal with the limitations of a special diet when that is necessary.

- Recognize and respond to a child's need for a loving and emotionally supportive environment.

- Identify and provide a safe stimulating environment for a child, including:
  - Providing safe bedding for an infant.
  - Providing stimulating play environment appropriate for a preschool child.

- Teaching a growing child to develop safe play procedures; developing an appropriate balance between a child's need for exploratory activity and requirements of safety.

- Teaching school age children how to identify safe play areas.

- Purchasing or making materials to develop a child's intellectual and physical growth.
Teaching the child games and activities appropriate to her/his age and interests.

Make effective use of medical services for the child, including:
- Consulting doctors regarding preventative medicine, and immunizations, etc.
- Obtaining emergency medical services when necessary.
- Determining the extent of public medical facilities and deciding when it is appropriate to use them.

Arrange and supervise social experiences for a child which will promote ethical and moral development.

Identify and select appropriate educational environments, including:
- Choosing appropriate child care and preschool facilities when needed.
- Consulting with school staff regarding the child's educational development.
- Consulting with school staff regarding the child's social/emotional, physical, and cognitive development.
- Maintaining an ongoing involvement in the child's education.

Identify and provide appropriate clothing for a child at different stages of development (see Clothing and Textile Specialist), including:
- Identifying appropriate clothing for different seasons.
- Identifying and providing appropriate clothing when traveling or moving to a different climate.
- Identifying other factors to consider in clothing selection (growth rate, fabric durability, etc.).

Evaluate books and movies and determine their suitability for a child.
Identify resources in the community which can be used to augment school and preschool activities, including:
- Playground facilities.
- Art and craft workshops.
- Libraries and museums.
- Dance and music programs.
- Sports programs.
- Youth groups (religious, scouting, etc.).
(See Community Resources Specialist.)

Demonstrate skills which help make life interesting to a growing child (e.g., storytelling, singing, etc.).

Identify resources in the community which may be utilized to improve the living conditions for the child, including:
- Consumer services (such as diaper service, nurserymaid service, counseling programs, etc.).
- Public services (such as: AFDC, medicaid, food stamps).
- Direct benefits to the child (such as: diaper service, medicaid, food stamps, Big Brother, etc.).
- Indirect benefits to the child (such as: counseling services, Parents-Without-Partners, etc.).
(See Community Resources Specialist.)

Recognize and treat childhood diseases, including:
- Identifying such diseases and describing their symptoms.
- Determining what immediate remedy is needed.
- Describing books which are helpful resources in dealing with childhood diseases.
- Describing emergency procedures for various conditions.
- Consulting medical personnel when necessary.

(See Provider of Home Health Care.)

Describe and recognize the milestones in human development.
Identify emotional disturbances or learning difficulties in a child which need professional treatment or added attention, and obtain appropriate consultative advice.
Recognize the nonverbal cues and behaviors which indicate tensions or problems.

Provide legal, moral and ethical guidance for a child, appropriate to the child's age, including:
- Familiarizing a child with laws which may affect her/him.
- Familiarizing a child with codes of moral conduct deemed appropriate by the parent.
- Devising ways of helping a child to take responsibility for his/her behavior.
- Devising ways of helping a child to recognize the consequences of alternative behaviors.
- Devising ways of helping a child to recognize the patterns of behavior, appearance, etc., which are accepted by society and to assist the child in determining personal responses to these patterns (respect for elders, etiquette, social amenities, implicit dress codes, etc.).
- Determining and describing means of incorporating the interpersonal qualities which I value into the relationship which I have with a child.
- Devising ways of helping a child to express his/her emotions in acceptable ways.
- Describing my approach to punishment and reinforcement of a child's behavior and discuss the basis for this approach.
Describe ways to develop self-sufficiency in a child.

Demonstrate my understanding of the special needs of children with physical or emotional handicaps, of gifted children, of children in single parent homes, of children of highly transient families, etc. (including):

- Physical needs.
- Emotional needs.
- Educational needs.

Identify the special needs of a child who has a sudden change in his or her environment, such as death of a close friend or relative, addition of a new family member, divorce of parents, etc., and develop ways to meet these special needs.

Provide opportunities for a child to learn the value of money.

Facilitate learning by:

- Encouraging the development of communication and listening skills.
- Encouraging the development of social skills.
- Encouraging the development of special interests and talents.
- Recognizing capacities and potential.
- Acquainting my child with our family's ethnic and cultural heritage.

Help a child develop a positive self-concept.

Provide consistent and appropriate discipline.

Provide sex education.

Help the child function as a member of the family:

- Involvement in decision making.
- Recognition of the needs of others in the family.
- Maintain relationships with extended family.
- Encourage togetherness and mutual support.
- Teach a child to respect the rights of others.
CLOTHING AND TEXTILE SPECIALIST

A clothing and textile specialist is responsible for planning, providing, and caring for wearing apparel (fabric, fur, jewelry, etc.) and textile products found in the home (curtains, slipcovers, bed and table linens, etc.).

As a clothing and textile specialist, I can:

- Demonstrate knowledge of the properties of various kinds of fabrics and materials used in the home or for wearing apparel by describing:
  - Care and maintenance properties (cleaning, wear, vulnerability to stains or heat, etc.).
  - Pliability and structure.
  - Differences in method of production.
  - Relative costs.
  - Terms used to describe these materials or their properties.

- Analyze the wearing apparel needs of people, taking into consideration such factors as age, figure, size, budget, kind and level of activities, fashion, and individual differences and interests.

- Select coordinated clothing items.

- Select complementary clothing styles and colors.

- Demonstrate skills used in producing clothing or home textile products by:
  - Using patterns, according to accepted standards, to make clothing or other home textile products.
  - Making alterations of patterns or merging two or more patterns to make clothing or other home textile products.
  - Creating my own patterns from which to make clothing or other home textile products.
Describing proper use and maintenance of tools and equipment used in textile construction (sewing machine, loom, etc.).

Describing the process I use to create, design, and implement a textile related idea.

Using a variety of different techniques in my specialty (embroidering, leather work, tailoring, spinning, weaving, macrame, knitting, crocheting, upholstering, etc.).

Showing how different fibers produce different effects.

Describing ways of determining the kind of results which occur when different techniques, colors and materials are combined.

Demonstrate skills and knowledge related to maintenance of wearing apparel and home textile products including:

- Describing proper cleaning or preserving procedures.
- Describing procedures for altering, mending, and/or remodeling.
- Describing storage considerations.
- List and explain terms used in my specialty area (warp, skein, bias, flat fell seam, etc.).

Discuss the history of textiles and describe how methods and materials have changed.

Identify the technique, period, and origin of various textiles and/or clothing samples.

Evaluate the quality of clothing, rugs, curtains, linens, and other textile items (see Consumer, and Home Designer).

Select home textile items (curtains, linens, etc.), taking into considera-
- Cost.
- Durability.
- Ease of maintenance.
- Color and style (see Home Designer).
HOME DESIGNER

A home designer plans the decor and other characteristics of a house or apartment and carries out or arranges for and oversees the implementation of these plans.

As a home designer, I can:
- Select living quarters which meet family tastes and needs, taking into account:
  - Location (access to schools; work, shopping, recreation, family and friends, freedom from hazards, noise, problems, etc.).
  - Cost (mortgage, rent, taxes, owner's fees, etc.).
  - Availability of services and utilities.
  - Design.
  - Structural quality.

- Determine which tasks I can do;
- Select people to do the work;
- Read and interpret contracts and warranties (see Legal Rights Specialist);
- Explain my legal recourse if the work is improperly done, if furniture or goods are faulty, etc. (see Consumer Rights Specialist, and Legal Rights Specialist).
- Determine the best means of financing the redecoration (see Consumer Rights Specialist, and Financial Manager).
- Identify and correct conditions in the home which are fire or safety hazards.
- Prevent home conditions which increase the potential for fire (worn wiring, spilled flammable liquids, etc.).
- Select household goods and products that do not present hazards.
HOME HORTICULTURIST

A home horticulturist is concerned with the practical aspects of growing (procuring, planting, maintenance, etc.) of trees, fruits, vegetables, flowers, and ornamental plants.

As a home horticulturist, I can:

Demonstrate my knowledge of the environmental influences which affect plant growth by:
- describing the properties of various kinds of soil including:
  - how to test the soil.
  - how to change soil properties.
  - the kinds of plants which need or provide various soil properties.
  - how to improve soil drainage or prevent erosion.
  - how to get assistance with soil problems.
  - how to mix fertilizers appropriately.
  - how to prepare compost or alter the soil properties organically.
  - how to prepare soil prior to planting.
  - how to maintain soil after the growing season - if outdoors.
  - an explanation of any tools frequently used in soil work.
- describing methods of providing an optimum environment for the various kinds of plants I grow (moisture in the air, lighting, temperature, etc.).
- describing methods of protecting plants from the adverse effects of environmental influences which I can't alter.

Demonstrate my knowledge of the biological functioning of plants by:
- naming all the parts of various kinds of plants and the function they serve for the plant.
- describing the process by which a plant gets its nourishment.
- describing the process of regeneration for various kinds of plants.
- describing the classification system used in ordering plants into groups.

Demonstrate my knowledge of planting and transplanting procedures by:
- identifying the special care to be taken while transporting and transplanting a tree, shrub, or plant.
- describing the qualities of a plant to be considered prior to purchasing or transplanting.
- describing the growing season of various plants and how to determine when and where to plant seeds or seedlings.
- selecting appropriately between the varieties of plants or seeds available to me.
- demonstrating planting techniques.
- selecting containers appropriate for various types of ornamental and/or indoor plants.

Demonstrate my knowledge of hazards effecting plants and how to remedy them by:
- describing the differences between animals and insects which are harmful to the plants I grow and those which directly or indirectly help the plant I grow (bees and cross-pollination, lady bugs which eat aphids which eat leaves, etc.).
- detecting and diagnosing plant damage effectively.
- preventing damage to plants from insects and animals by using organic and/or inorganic methods.
- using various methods of weed control.
describing the cost/effectiveness aspects of the various methods of insect and weed control described above.

- describing the resources available to me to obtain assistance with these kinds of problems.
- using and explaining any tools or materials used in pest or weed control.

Demonstrate my knowledge of plant maintenance by:
- arranging my resources to allow for optimum plant maintenance.
- diagnosing a need for a change in maintenance procedures and proceeding to test my diagnosis.
- providing the care that various different plants need for optimum growth.
- harvesting effectively.

- Demonstrate my knowledge of a particular method, or part of a method, of growing or caring for plants (organic gardening, creating hybrids, etc.).
- Demonstrate my in-depth knowledge of a particular kind of plant and its care.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of harvesting vegetables, fruits, and flowers.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of the proper care for plant products (flowers once they have been cut; vegetables once they have been harvested).
- Demonstrate knowledge and techniques of plant pruning:
- facilitating growth and/or flowering.
- seasonally.
- after transplanting.
- for ornamental effects.
Demonstrate my knowledge and skills as a landscape architect, including:

- evaluating and planning growing space based on needs and use.
- selecting trees, plants, paving, etc., appropriate to the site and use.
- changing outdoor areas in accordance with changing capabilities for care and maintenance.
- changing outdoor areas in accordance with changing use.
- evaluating plants, trees, shrubs, etc., before purchase, for their suitability to climate, location, growing conditions, etc.
- determining the cost of implementing and maintaining a given landscape plan.
HOME MAINTENANCE TECHNICIAN

A home maintenance technician cares for a home and for the equipment in it. As a home maintenance technician, I can:

Manage the overall maintenance of my home, including:

- Assessing what needs to be done.
- Determining the costs and time involved, including the consequences of postponing the work.
- Prioritizing tasks and determining the best sequence when several tasks must be undertaken.
- Determining which tasks I can do.

  - Dealing openly and honestly with illness and/or the possibility of death.
- Plan for and help patient enjoy appropriate exercise and recreation.
- Encourage and aid in the development of self-sufficiency for the patient within the limits of his/her illness.
- Maintain needed supplies for the patient, including:
  - Keeping medicine and toilet supplies on hand.
  - Shopping for personal items required by patient.
ADMINISTRATOR/MANAGER

The administrator/manager is concerned with the development and/or implementation of program(s) involving paid and/or volunteer staff. This involves the utilization of people, material, money and time. There are two types of administrator/managers: those concerned with the total functioning of an organization, and those concerned with the functioning of a particular project within the program.

In carrying out my responsibility as an administrator/manager I can:

- Develop long-range goals and objectives that foster organizational growth and continuity.
- Develop specific goals and plans for a specific project.
- Identify the method of evaluating effectiveness in meeting the goals and objectives.
- Identify the resources in personnel, money, materials, time and authority needed to accomplish the established objectives.
- Establish priorities based on the importance of each objective to goal attainment and on the resources available.
- Identify needs and opportunities for volunteer service.
- Enlist the support of the governing body and staff in the utilization of volunteers.
- Interpret the organization and its systems for the delivery of services to the public and to people in need of assistance (see Public Relations).
- Work creatively within the structure of relationships and the setting of the organization, i.e., local agency to national office, etc.
- Be aware of the effects of changing socioeconomic conditions, cultural patterns, and knowledge about the helping professions and their effects upon volunteer resources and services.
Organize the program or project into its components parts and determine the sequence in which these activities need to be performed.

Develop and utilize flow charts, PERT charts, and other visual materials to describe the program's or project's work flow.

Articulate the philosophy of the organization.

Use problem solving and decision making skills.

Develop and work within an agenda.

Identify channels to change (see Advocate/Change Agent).

Determine the need for and develop alternative plans to meet emergencies.

Delegate responsibility and establish accountability methods to determine if these responsibilities have been met.

Describe and use techniques which will elicit new ideas and proposals.

Solicit and make constructive use of negative and positive feedback.

Manage effectively in high pressure situations.

Use techniques for crisis management and describe why different types of crises require different techniques.

Use methods of conflict resolution and describe when they are appropriate.

Establish effective communications throughout the organization.

Coordinate the execution of simultaneous projects:

- Establish mechanisms for coordination.
- Determine when coordination is needed.

Serve as a spokesperson for the organization (see Public Relations).

Meet accountability demands of others by preparing reports which include:

- Evaluation of success in meeting objectives.
- Records of financial status.
- Data on time and personnel utilization.
- Prepare written summaries of project and organizational accomplishment (see Public Relations).
- Develop staffing plans (see Personnel Manager).
- Prepare and use a budget (Financial Manager).
ADVOCATE/CHANGE AGENT

Advocacy is an activity on behalf of an individual, a group, or an issue which is designed to improve conditions, programs, or services. Advocates work in areas such as legal rights, housing, education, environment, and social welfare and attempt to change or improve existing conditions.

In carrying out my work as an advocate/change agent, I can:
- Identify areas where change is needed (see Program Surveyor for related skills).
- Select methods and data which will document the need for change (see Researcher and Program Surveyor for related skills).
- Define and delimit the basic issues in a problem area.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the basic concepts relevant to an issue in fields such as:
  - legal rights (civil and criminal).
  - housing and community planning.
  - education.
  - environment.
  - welfare and social services.
- Describe the public policy issues relevant to a problem.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the processes of change using:
  - theoretical model(s).
  - real-life examples.
- Describe methods which can be used to bring about change including:
  - lobbying.
  - political campaigns.
  - public relations.
Identify the relevant constituencies concerned with a problem (both pro and con) and describe their position in relation to the problem.

Identify significant individuals and groups (such as community leaders, government officials, and legislators) who can help to implement change in a specific problem area.

Build good working relationships with those who will be affected by proposed changes.

Identify potential allies and select techniques which will enlist their support.

Identify opposition groups and select techniques which will best counter their plans and arguments.

Demonstrate understanding of the legislative process and how it can be used to implement change.

Demonstrate knowledge of the laws and customs applying to lobbying.

Use communication skills to persuade others (see Public Relations for related skills).

Identify potential sources of financial support (see Fund Raiser and Researcher for related skills).

Obtain financial support for a cause or program (see Fund Raiser and Researcher for related skills).

Build good working relationships with legislators and government officials (local, state or federal).

Monitor legislative bodies', public institutions' and agencies' actions relevant to the problem.

Draft model legislation.

Plan and organize coalition building.
- Conduct negotiations with an awareness of the necessity of compromise.
- Present arguments and evidence to support a position (see Public Relations and Researcher for related skills).
- Keep others informed about progress using:
  - verbal communication.
  - written communication (see Public Relations for related skills).
- Train others to develop advocate/change agent skills (see Trainer for related skills).
- Develop techniques to maintain change.
BENEFIT SALES WORKER

A benefit sales worker organizes, runs or helps to run an effort to raise funds by selling a product or service (see Fund Raiser).

As a benefit sales worker, I can:

- Develop specific goals for the activity, operating within constraints of available time, space, and personnel.
- Assess potential markets for products or services.
- Evaluate buyer behavior and consumption patterns.
- Survey and choose among suppliers of products and services on the basis of:
  - Quality of product or service.
  - Appropriateness to potential market.
  - Cost.
  - Reliability.
- Maintain correspondence with suppliers and sales audience.
- Purchase, develop, or supervise development of products or services for potential sale.
- Organize activity into component parts and determine the sequence in which the activities must be performed.
- Plan and prepare budgets.
- Demonstrate knowledge of and make appropriate use of business forms, including:
  - Purchase orders.
  - Receipts.
  - Sales slips.
  - Bookkeeping ledgers.
- Demonstrate knowledge of basic bookkeeping techniques and accounting procedures.
- Establish and maintain quality control procedures.
- Determine prices of products or services on the basis of cost and overhead factors.
- Plan and carry out a program of publicity for the product or service (see Public Relations/Communicator), including:
  - Establish relations with appropriate media -- TV, newspapers.
  - Prepare copy for publicity articles and advertisements in media.
  - Design displays, posters.
  - Photograph products or services for media.
- Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of regulations -- tax laws, sales permits, leases, etc. -- which affect fund raising.

Assist those who come to volunteer legal rights organizations by:

- Conducting a preliminary interview for the lawyer who will handle the problem.
- Drawing up drafts of documents for a lawyer to review, such as:
  - Contracts.
  - Wills.
- Gathering information for lawyers to use in court cases.
- Keeping reports of meetings with lawyers and clients.
- Notifying lawyers and clients of approaching deadlines and scheduled court appearances.
- Making arrangements for legal depositions.
- Indexing legal documents.
LIBRARY ASSISTANT

A library assistant helps library users and assists the library staff in technical services.

As a library assistant, I can:

- Develop and/or maintain current files of special materials, such as:
  - Newspaper clippings.
  - Magazine articles.
  - Pictures.
  - Informal reports of local and community groups.
- Use and maintain audiovisual equipment, such as:
  - Slide projector.
  - Film projector.
  - Tape recorder.
  - Record player.
  - Microfiche/microfilm reader/printer.
  - Videotape machine.
- Direct others in the use of audiovisual equipment.
  - Slide projector.
  - Film projector.
  - Tape recorder.
  - Record player.
  - Microfiche/microfilm reader/printer.
  - Videotape machine.
- Use data processing equipment to check out/check in materials, identify overdue materials, etc.
Assist librarian in purchasing and processing library materials, such as:
- Purchase orders, catalogue cards, etc.
- Check invoices on new orders.
- Process incoming orders.
- Reproduce (photocopy) catalogue cards, orders, etc.
- Alphabetize, sort and file catalogue cards, orders, etc.
- Put library plate, card pockets, etc., in new materials.
Assist with the circulation of library materials, including:
- Check out materials.
- Locate special materials and place them on reserve.
- Issue and/or check library users' cards.
- Prepare overdue notices.
- Sort and shelve books.
- "Read the shelves" to see that materials are in proper location.
- Review the circulation record of materials to help in decisions about "weeding out" the collection.
- Make an inventory of materials to identify items that may be missing or misfiled.
- Inspect books for wear/damage/need of replacement.
Help with user services, including:
- Providing information on library services, facilities and rules.
- Answering questions that involve fact-finding in standard reference sources.
- Help users locate materials by use of the card catalogue.
Work with preschool age children, by:
- Story telling.
- Using Puppets.
- Using audiovisual materials.
- Reading aloud.

Work with school age children, including:
- Helping them to differentiate between materials which promote learning and those which provide enjoyment only.
- Helping them learn how to carry out library research.
- Helping them learn how to select materials appropriate for their age, reading ability, and interests.

- Develop displays and special bits:
  - Seasonal/holidays.
  - Community events.
  - Ethnic/cultural heritage.
  - Special interests (arts, crafts, hobbies, travel, etc.).
  - Explaining library programs, activities, services.

- Develop posters, leaflets and other brochures about library programs and services.

- Organize and maintain materials.
  - Index local newspapers.
  - Repair/recover books.
  - File newspapers and periodicals.
  - Record books, articles, etc., on tape.
Demonstrate knowledge in the use of office equipment, such as:
- Typewriter.
- Xerox.
- Mimeograph.
- Duplicating machines.

Determine the needs of library users and refer them to the appropriate materials:
- Reference books.
- Books on specific subjects.
- Children's books.
- Periodicals.
- Audiovisual materials.
- Vertical file materials.
- Special collections.

Analyze the appropriateness of library materials for:
- Children of different ages.
- Individuals with handicaps.
  - Visual.
  - Hearing.
  - Physical.
  - Mental.
- Individuals with limited ability to read/speak English.

Evaluate the appropriateness of nonprint materials (films, records, etc.) for specific groups and/or activities.

Demonstrate my sensitivity to and awareness of community attitudes and concerns when planning.
- Assist parents, teachers and others working with children in selecting appropriate materials.
- Assist individuals with handicaps (e.g., visual) in locating and using special library materials which will meet their needs.
- Assist with programs and workshops for library volunteer programs:
  - Reading Is Fundamental.
  - Literacy Volunteers.
  - Friends of the library.
- Assist with the development of bibliographies or other lists of library materials on selected topics.
MUSEUM STAFF ASSISTANT (DOCENT)

Docents describe and discuss museum exhibits with groups of individuals to facilitate a better understanding of what is being seen; they may work in art galleries or museums; in historical buildings, museums, reconstructions, or parks; in science or natural history museums; or in zoos. Other types of museum staff assistants may work in preparing, preserving, or restoring materials for display, in caring for plants or animals, in performing tasks or activities as part of the museum's demonstrations, or in conducting research.

As a staff assistant (docent), I can:
- Plan and prepare a lecture-tour for children and/or adults.
- Translate information and facts to a level of understanding appropriate to the background and experience of the audience.
- Deliver a lecture-tour without notes but following a suggested outline.
- Modify the information given in a lecture-tour to suit children of various ages.
- Develop and use techniques which arouse curiosity and provide discussion during the lecture-tour.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of and the ability to use a library and other reference resources.
- "Read the nature" of a group during the first ten minutes of a lecture-tour and modify the remainder of the lecture-tour as appropriate.
- Know the criteria on which to judge a work of art.
- Plan a lecture-tour to meet specified educational objectives.
- Know the criteria on which to judge other lecturers.
- Speak in public with confidence.
- Understand and can use techniques of group dynamics.
- Understand and can explain the policies of the organization or institution.
Demonstrate my knowledge of:
- art history.
- art techniques.
- world and/or national history.
- state and/or local history.
- plants.
- animals.
- science.
- other areas. (Specify)

Describe methods of investigation (see Researcher).
- Prepare museum support materials (see Public Relations).
- Demonstrate my knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
- Develop written materials for use in lecture-tours,
- Use audiovisual materials in conjunction with lecture-tours.
- Demonstrate craft techniques.
- Take part in "living history" depictions/demonstrations.
- Explain the reason and purposes for museums, zoos, etc.
- Know how to care for living plants and/or animals which are part of the collection.
- Know how to care for and maintain the materials and equipment in the collection.
- Develop and maintain a library of materials relevant to my lecture-tour specialty.
- Train others to work as staff assistants (see Trainer).
- Work with members of the professional staff and/or with members of the supervising board.
PERSONNEL MANAGER

Personnel management involves allocating and monitoring the utilization of human resources within an organization, program, or activity.

As a human resources manager, I can:

- Determine the number and type of individuals and the amount of time needed to accomplish a given task or activity.
- Prepare a staffing plan and present the rationale for it.
- Prepare staffing need projections on the basis of historical data and analysis.
- Prepare staffing need projections on the basis of problem survey data (see Problem Surveyor).
- Explain the relationship between a particular job and organizational/agency/program mission (see Trainer).
- Prepare cost estimates for the use of personnel and their time (see Financial Manager).
- Determine the cost/effectiveness of alternative plans for personnel allocation.
- Select and/or recruit individuals for a variety of jobs.
- Prepare job descriptions.
- Prepare advertisements to recruit personnel (see Public Relations).
- Target advertisements toward paid and/or volunteer workers.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the needs and motives which lead people to take part in volunteer work.
- Arrange for and/or conduct the organizational socialization of personnel (see Trainer).
- Arrange for and monitor the job training of personnel (see Trainer).
Demonstrate a knowledge of the psychological principles which govern people's behavior in work situations.

Establish and maintain procedures to monitor work quality and quantity.

Monitor the quality and quantity of work performed by individuals and/or task groups.

Counsel with workers who are not performing up to organizational standards.

Develop and use techniques which will minimize conflicts between paid and volunteer workers.

Demonstrate the ability to use appropriate techniques to solve interpersonal problems (see Counselor).

Use recognition or other psychic rewards to keep volunteer workers involved and productive.

Help volunteers see the relevance of their organization/agency experience to their long-range career goals and/or personal development.

Develop and maintain a system of evaluative records of job performance.

Help supervisors deal with personnel problems.

Maintain time and salary records for paid workers.

Conduct salary administration and performance reviews for paid workers (see Financial Manager).

Conduct performance reviews for volunteer workers.

Handle out-placements and terminations.

Train others in personnel management (see Trainer).

Understand and keep informed about labor laws (such as Taft-Hartley).

Review and keep up-to-date on changes in State and Federal laws for employee compensation and benefits.

Develop an affirmative action program and monitor compliance.

Plan and implement programs for staff development.
Plan and monitor a retirement program.

Deal with employee relations problems and develop programs to meet employee relations needs.

Plan and implement personnel policies and review them regularly for needed changes.
A probation investigator under the supervision of a probation officer provides assistance in a variety of functions related to problems requiring judicial determination, i.e., family, juvenile, legal courts or problems related to court orders. As a probation investigator, I can:

- Comprehend, analyze and interpret basic laws, regulations, and penalties related to probation and custody.
- Obtain and verify routine factual information for the use of professional staff.
- Make required field investigations and prepare related reports.
- Carry out oral and written instructions and directors of some complexity.
- Read and interpret basic records.
- Recognize evidence of evasion and discrepancies in basic records.
- Prepare reports of investigations containing factual data and documentary or other evidence.
- Maintain essential records and files.
- Initiate interviews with both parents to acquire basic information for pre-custody determination:
  - Residency.
  - Employment status.
  - Wage inquiries.
- Distinguish between legitimate needs and irrelevant complaints of custodial parent.
- Enforce visitation rights of supporting parent.
- Provide information about agencies that can help with health, home, family and other problems:
  - Medical programs.
  - Social security.
- Welfare
- Counseling services
Collect and record monies due under court order:
- Payment of arrearages on fines
- Court costs
- Restitutions
- Support of dependents
- Other payments due under court orders
Issue receipts for monies collected.
Follow up on child support and alimony payments.
Maintain all pertinent records and files concerning payments.
Prepare and send out default notices.
Prepare reports of monies collected.
Perform a variety of clerical tasks:
- Typing
- Filing
- Indexing
- Maintaining tickler file for probation officer
- Reproducing documents
Obtain and verify routine factual information from persons applying for:
- Assignment of counsel
- Release on recognizance
Arrange for assistance to released indigent prisoners:
- Temporary lodging
- Transportation to home base
Make referrals to drug assistance programs.

Arrange for psychiatric help.

Operate office machines, such as:
- Calculator.
- Typewriter.
- Copying machines.
PROBLEM SURVEYOR

Surveying a problem area is the process of assessing current status and/or needs in order to identify areas and types of future activity. The process of problem surveying is closely related to that of researching and typically precedes that of program development. (The problem surveyor usually collects original data; for more information on utilization of data collected by others, see Researcher.)

In carrying out my work as a problem surveyor, I can:
- Develop plan(s) for investigating the problem area.
- Identify and obtain information about:
  - the target populations affected by the problem.
  - the sources of power which can facilitate or block the implementation of change (see Change Agent/Advocate for related activities).
  - the existing programs, resources, and other factors which impact on the problem.
- Assess the impact of the preceding factors on the problem area by various data collection techniques such as interviewing, surveying, public discussions, etc. (see Researcher for related activities).
- Compile a list of specific needs or problems within the problem area.
- Prioritize those needs and problems which are most important and practical to pursue.
- Define potential actions in terms of cost-effectiveness.
- Describe the problem area(s) for purposes of program development by:
  - summarizing data for ease in interpretation.
  - keeping records of contacts and resources.
- Describe the nature of organizational and community structures as they relate to the problem area and its potential solutions.
PUBLIC RELATIONS/COMMUNICATOR

Public relations refers to a method of increasing knowledge and understanding of an organization and/or its program; it is concerned with disseminating information to individuals and groups outside of the organization or agency and with processing information from outside the organization.

In carrying out my work in public relations, I can:

- Conceptualize communications and public relations programs which interpret the goals of the organization.
- Plan and develop a public relations program.
- Identify target audiences.
- Determine the communications technique(s) appropriate to each audience.
- Gather information by:
  - conducting interviews.
  - confirming facts.
  - identifying trends.
  - locating background data.
(See Researcher for other relevant activities.)
- Identify representatives of other organizations and of local, state and federal government to receive information about organizational activities.
- Establish an interchange with appropriate representatives from:
  - members of the target group.
  - volunteer coordinating agencies.
  - private and civic organizations.
  - business, industry and professional groups.
  - foundations.
  - local government.
- state government.
- federal government.

(See Fund Raiser and Advocate/Change Agent for other relevant activities.)

Write:
- news stories.
- feature stories.
- fact-sheets for editorial background.
- reports.
- speeches.
- scripts for radio/television.
- other materials describing the organization and its program for the public.

(See Trainer for internal publications.)

Prepare audio-visual materials, video-tapes, and/or films by:
- utilizing audio and/or video - tape equipment.
- utilizing photographic equipment.
- directing acting, speaking, and filming.

Prepare visual materials, such as:
- photograph events for news media or other publications.
- design and prepare art work.
- design displays and/or posters.

Coordinate development of materials for production, such as:
- edit publications.
- edit films and/or tapes.
- design layouts.
- work with printers, publishers, and/or producers.
Work with mass media (press, radio, television) to:
- select optimum outlets for placement of material and identify contacts.
- adapt and edit materials according to mass media standards.
- conduct press conferences.
- maintain good relations to facilitate placement of material.

Speak publicly, such as:
- deliver speeches.
- promote an organization, program, or service (see Advocate/Change Agent).
- participate as a member of a panel or debate group.
- give interviews.
- conduct or moderate interviews, panel discussions, debates.

(See Fund Raiser and Trainer for other related activities.)

Publicize and promote organizational materials.
Plan distribution of publications and other materials.
RECREATION WORKER

A recreation worker leads or assists a leader of recreational activities for specified groups in the setting of a school, community, social, or church-related organization.

As a recreation worker, I can:

- Develop goals and activities that foster individual and group development.
- Develop specific goals and plans for particular activities.
- Identify resources in personnel, money, materials, time, and authority needed to accomplish objectives.
- Develop and use techniques which will enhance relations among people.
- Demonstrate ability to use appropriate techniques to solve interpersonal problems.
- Demonstrate knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
- Develop and maintain a library or collection of relevant materials, games, and other recreational and equipment and supplies.
- Plan and organize cooperative and competitive activities and know when each is appropriate.

Teach one or more of the following:

- Games.
- Crafts.
- Music.
- Dance.
- Dramatics.
- Art.
- Outdoor skills.
- Conservation.
- Cooking.
- Sports.
- Camping.

Demonstrate knowledge of use and care of audiovisual equipment, gymnastic and sports equipment, tools, crafts equipment, and camping equipment.

Speak publicly, including:
- Articulating rules and procedures to participants.
- Promoting the organization and its activities to potential sponsors.
- Publicizing special events.

Establish rapport with individuals of diverse backgrounds.

Raise funds, including:
- Selling a product or service.
- Staging a special event.
- Approaching sponsoring agencies. i.e., local businesses, foundations, government agencies.
- Conducting a public campaign.

Demonstrate techniques to prevent or limit conflict between individuals.

Demonstrate knowledge of safety precautions required by potentially hazardous activities in sports, crafts, camping, etc.

Determine the urgency of a problem and handle it appropriately.

Demonstrate a knowledge of individual growth and development.

Select activities that will help individuals learn desired skills and attitudes.

Keep records of individual and group progress.

Understand and use techniques of group dynamics.
Plan and carry out field trips to sporting events, dramatic presentations, concerts, recreation areas, museums, zoos, etc.

Develop positive participant attitudes by:
- Selecting appropriate activities.
- Providing positive feedback.

Provide advice and informal counseling to participants.

Determine participant interests and plan activities around them.

Demonstrate knowledge of capacities and needs of special groups:
- Preschool children.
- Children during early school years.
- Adolescents.
- Boys/Girls.
- The elderly.
- The physically handicapped.
- The mentally handicapped.
- Single parents.
- Budget existing funds.
- Recognize and deal with medical emergencies.

Interact appropriately and adaptively with personnel and goals of sponsoring agency.
Research is a systematic means of investigating a topic or problem. It involves generating verifiable data which will support program planning and development and/or the implementation of change.

In carrying out my work as a researcher, I can:

- Select problem area(s) relevant to organizational needs.
- Limit the research focus by:
  - conceptualizing issues.
  - defining variables.
  - operationalizing measures.
  - identifying the unit of analysis.
  - generating hypotheses.
- Collect background information.
- Locate information sources such as:
  - written materials.
  - data banks.
  - interviews.
  - surveys.
- Summarize past experience with problem.
- Evaluate the utility of past efforts.
- Design research, by:
  - selecting research design.
  - selecting sampling techniques.
  - selecting survey techniques.
- Develop practical plans of identifying:
  - needs.
  - time.
  - costs.
  - personnel.

- Manage proposal development, by:
  - locating potential sources of funding.
  - writing proposal to include:
    - background.
    - design.
    - time and cost estimates.
    - expected outcomes.
    - utility of research to organization and to the larger society.
  - meet with funding agencies to promote the proposal.
  - adapt proposal to meet requirements of funding source.

- Obtain data to:
  - foster cooperation with community groups and/or relevant institutions and agencies to gain their support for the research.
  - recruit and train data collectors.
  - select appropriate data collecting instruments.
  - design and validate new data collecting instruments.
  - obtain informed consent of participants.
  - obtain data from existing information banks.
  - use appropriate sampling and survey techniques.
  - monitor data collected for quality control.
Process data to:
- develop coding procedures.
- train coders.
- supervise coders for quality control.
- select and implement other data reduction procedures.
- develop computer programs appropriate for the research design.

Analyze and summarize data by using:

- averages or other measures of central tendency.
- measures of dispersion or deviation.
- measures describing relations (correlations).
- other techniques of bivariate or multivariate analysis.
- tables or other means of categorical aggregation.
- graphs and charts.
- tests of significance.
- experimental effects analysis.
- nonexperimental causal analysis.

Make inferences from data.

Make conclusions and recommendations from data to:
- formulate planning recommendations.
- make recommendations for further study.
- develop policy recommendations.
- write research report(s).
- disseminate research results to appropriate groups.
Training involves teaching others specific jobs, skills, and/or tasks. It involves the teaching and/or organizational socialization of other workers.

In my work as a trainer, I can:

- Articulate the philosophy of the organization/agency.
- Explain the relationship between a particular job and organizational/agency/program mission.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of kinds of learning and/or of different learning theories.
- Demonstrate my knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
- Identify training needs (see also Problem Surveyor).
- Make a training plan which includes:
  - learning objectives.
  - teaching design.
  - teaching method.
  - budget for training costs.
  - schedule and site considerations.
  - materials, both written and audio-visual.
  - evaluation techniques.
- Determine the cost/effectiveness of various training approaches.
- Determine the suitability of various training approaches for individuals with different backgrounds and experiences.
- Develop written materials for use in training.
- Develop audio-visual materials for use in training.
- Develop training manuals for other trainers to use.
Administer a training program, including:
- Selecting and recruiting training personnel.
- Selecting training methods and materials which are both appropriate to the group and cost-effective.
- Setting training goals.
- Conducting the training of those who will train others.
- Monitoring the progress of those being trained.
- Monitoring the progress of those doing the training.
- Modifying training programs and techniques if the goals of the program are not being achieved.
- Evaluating the effectiveness of the training program.
- Monitoring and evaluating the job performance of those who were trained.
- Develop and maintain a library of training materials.
- Conduct a training session.
- Train others to do specific job(s) or task(s).

(Specify)

- Make an effective oral presentation.
- Demonstrate knowledge and use of group interaction techniques.
- Know how and when to use different role-playing techniques in training.
- Help those being trained to see the relevance of their training experience to their long-range career goals and/or personal development.
- Prepare and evaluate reports on training programs.
- Evaluate the training programs of others.
A tutor/teacher's aide helps an individual or group of individuals to learn something or to improve their learning techniques. The tutor differs from the trainer in that trainers instruct individuals in the performance of specific jobs or tasks, while tutors teach more general skills (such as reading) or knowledge which is applicable to a wide range of tasks or activities.

In my work as a tutor/teacher's aide, I can:
- Establish a good working relationship with the learner.
- Develop positive student attitudes toward learning by:
  - selecting tasks of appropriate difficulty.
  - telling the learner when a job is well done.
- Encourage and support the learner by:
  - complimenting the learner for good work and good thinking to develop a positive self-concept.
  - showing acceptance of the learner by giving attention and by listening carefully.
  - helping the learner respond to increasingly difficult material.
  - showing receptiveness to learner efforts.
- Work cooperatively with the learner's teacher and/or school by:
  - abiding by school rules relating to tutors or aides.
  - being positive about the teacher and school in discussions with the learner.
  - following the teacher's plan of instruction.
  - providing the teacher with information on learner progress.
- Provide advice and informal counseling to the learner, when appropriate (see Counselor).
Identify learner needs and difficulties:
- by direct observation of and/or interaction with the learner.
- from test data or other diagnostic devices.
- through discussion with the teacher(s) who regularly instruct(s) this learner.
- through discussion with other school personnel (counselors, psychologists, etc.).

Determine learner interests and plan instructional activities around them.

Plan a lesson or series of lessons including:
- objectives.
- teaching methods and techniques.
- instructional materials (both written and audiovisual).
- evaluation techniques.

Pace instruction at a speed appropriate to the learner.

Set and monitor instructional objectives.

Select instructional material and techniques appropriate to learner background and experience.

Demonstrate my knowledge of learning theories and their application.

Demonstrate my knowledge of teaching methods and materials.

Develop written materials for use in tutoring.

Develop audiovisual materials for use in tutoring.

Develop and maintain a library of materials for use in tutoring.

(Dspecify subject and/or level)

Demonstrate my knowledge of the subject(s) which I tutor.

(Dspecify)
Evaluate learner progress:
- by observation.
- by oral questioning.
- by use of tests or other evaluative devices.
- Use questioning techniques appropriate to instructional objectives.
- Make an effective oral presentation to a group.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of group interaction techniques and of their use.
- Train others to be tutors (see Trainer).
YOUTH GROUP LEADER

A youth group leader devises and implements programs which help young people develop and learn.

In carrying out my work as a youth group leader, I can:
- Articulate the philosophy of the organization or sponsoring group.
- Describe how the components of the program relate to organizational philosophy.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of child growth and development.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of theories of learning.
- Demonstrate a knowledge of teaching methods and materials.
  (Specify areas)
- Select activities which will help children learn desired skills and attitudes.
- Determine the cost/effectiveness of alternative program components.
- Plan a youth group program, including:
  - defining program objectives.
  - involving group members in program planning.
  - selecting activities which will most efficiently lead to meeting the program objectives.
  - selecting activities which are most appropriate for the age, background, and experience of group members.
  - preparing program materials.
  - determining the budget for the program.
  - deciding on methods to evaluate the program.
- Administer a youth program, including:
  - selecting and/or recruiting others for various responsibilities.
- training other adults as leaders or assistants (see Trainer).
- training youth group members for leadership roles within the organization.
- working with adult members of the supervising board or agency.
- determining the effectiveness of various program components in meeting organizational goals.
- assessing the effectiveness of other leaders.
- organizing committees to carry out tasks.
- keeping records of individual and group progress.
- keeping budget and financial records.
- coordinating activities of various groups.
- securing financial resources (see Fund Raiser).

Direct a youth group, including:
- organizing and conducting meetings.
- teaching:
  - games.
  - crafts.
  - music.
  - dance.
  - interpersonal skills.
  - democratic processes.
  - dramatics.
  - health and safety.
  - art.
  - outdoor/camping skills.
  - religion.
  - conservation.
- Homemaking.
- citizenship.
- other. (Specify)
- demonstrating a knowledge and use of techniques and equipment specific to the organization's program.
- abiding by the organization's standards.
- providing guidance and counseling to young people as appropriate (see Counselor).
- using audio-visual equipment.
- demonstrating a knowledge of children's games.
- storytelling, including demonstrating a knowledge of children's literature.
- demonstrating a knowledge of safe procedures for children's activities.
- demonstrating the ability to use appropriate techniques to deal with interpersonal conflicts.
- describing how youth groups serve as socializing agents.

Here is what Jane wrote for one of her "I Can" lists:

As a sales manager, I can:
- Assess the market for a product.
- Collect and analyze sales information about buyer preferences.
- Survey and choose among wholesale suppliers' products on the basis of quality, cost, and appropriateness for my customers.
- Keep records of contacts with and orders from wholesale suppliers.
- Determine the price of products on the basis of cost and overhead.
- Plan and carry out the publicity for products or for a special sale.
- Deal effectively with customers, including handling exceptions about products and complaints.
- Keep records of shop expenditures and income.
- Train others to work in a shop or sale.
- Plan a sale, organize the needed staff for advertising, pricing, and retaining, and short to their performance.
The next step in identifying your skills is to group them into clusters that involve the same skill. For example, you may have managed the family budget, done bookkeeping and tax returns for the hospital gift shop, served as treasurer of your parent-teacher organization, and maintained sales records for the Girl Scout cookie sale. These activities all involve skill in financial management.

When you group your activities, think about what you did, not the organization or setting in which you did the work. For example, you may have also written newspaper articles about the Girl Scout cookie sale and edited a newsletter for the parent-teacher organization. Both of these activities involve communications skills and should be grouped together. You should not group activities as "things I did for the Girl Scouts" or "things I did for the hospital."

Here is a list of some of the skill cluster titles that other women have used:

- Administration/Management
- Advocate/Change Agent/Lobbying
- Animal Care
- Arts and Crafts
- Child Care
- Clerical
- Clothing/Textiles/Sewing
- Consumer Rights
- Cook/Chef/Nutritionist
- Counselor/Interviewer
- Decorator/Designer
- Financial Management
- Food Preparation/Nutrition
- Health Care/Nursing
- Horticulture/Floral Design
- Interpersonal
- Legal Rights
- Library/Museum Assistant
- Marketing/Sales/Fund Raising
- Mechanical/Technical
- Performing Arts
- Personnel Management
- Problem Surveyor/Researcher
- Public Relations/Communications/Writing
- Recreation/Sports
- Teaching/Training
Now, you are ready to make your own skill groups by combining your various homemaking and volunteer work activities. Use the next worksheet. Remember that the groups should be made up of activities that are related. Your groups probably will not be the same as anyone else's; they do not have to be.

If you want help with your work in identifying skills, you might contact a women's center, displaced homemaker center, or college counseling center. These kinds of centers frequently run skill identification sessions for groups of women who are thinking about returning to work or to school.

To find out about the centers near you, you write to Catalyst at 14 East 60th Street, New York, New York 10022, or to the Displaced Homemakers Network, 2012 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Each of these organizations has a free directory of resource and counseling centers. A more detailed publication, called the National Directory of Women's Employment Programs: Who They Are, What They Do, is available for $7.50 from Wider Opportunities for Women, 1649 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.
