
National Council of Teachers of English, Urbana, Ill.

ISBN-0-8141-0075-9

481p.

Annotated Bibliographies: *Books; *Children's Literature: Early Childhood Education; Elementary Education; Fantasy; Fiction; Poetry; Reading Materials: Science Fiction; Social Studies

Intended for teachers of preschool through sixth grade children, librarians, parents, educational media specialists, and students of children's literature, this bibliography contains annotations of 2,500 recommended books for children. The annotations, listed in alphabetical order by author, are divided into several categories, including the following: (1) traditional literature, (2) modern fantasy, (3) science fiction, (4) historical fiction, (5) contemporary fiction, (6) poetry, (7) holidays, (8) social studies, (9) biography, (10) the sciences, (11) the arts, (12) sports and games, and (13) hobbies. A professional category lists authors' essays, bibliographies, criticism, teaching methods, and textbooks. The volume concludes with a directory of publishers, and indexes for titles and authors. (HTH)
Adventuring with Books

A Booklist for Pre-K-Grade 6

New Edition

Mary Lou White, Editor and the Committee on the Elementary School Booklist of the National Council of Teachers of English

"PERMISSION TO REPRODUCE THIS MATERIAL HAS BEEN GRANTED BY

National Council of Teachers of English

TO THE EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES INFORMATION CENTER (ERIC)."

National Council of Teachers of English
1111 Kenyon Road, Urbana, Illinois 61801
Contents

Introduction 1
Wordless Books 5
Additional Wordless Books 8

Traditional Literature 9
Fables 9
Folktales 10
Myths and Legends 26
Nursery Rhymes 35
Riddles 37
Additional Traditional Literature 37

Modern Fantasy 39
Animals 39
Picture Books 39
Longer Stories 67
Fantasy Worlds 68
Ghosts, Magic, the Supernatural 70
Humor 76
New Tales in Folk Tale Form 82
Strange and Unique Creatures 92
Talking Toys 99
Time Fantasy 100
Additional Modern Fantasy Books 103

Science Fiction 106
Additional Science Fiction Books 110

Historical Fiction 111
Prehistoric Times 111
The Old World 111
Exploring the New World 113
Eighteenth Century

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>World</th>
<th>114</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Colonial America and the Revolution</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Nineteenth Century

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>World</th>
<th>116</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>United States: Early in the Century</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States: Civil War and Westward Expansion</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Twentieth Century

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>World: Early in the Century</th>
<th>121</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>World: World War II</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States: Early in the Century</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States: The Immigrant Era</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States: The Depression Years</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States: World War II and Aftermath</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Additional Historical Fiction Books

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contemporary Realistic Fiction</th>
<th>131</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adventure</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Facing Problems</td>
<td>149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friendships</td>
<td>172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Growing Up</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Handicaps</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Humor</td>
<td>183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mystery</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nature</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>School</td>
<td>201</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Young and Old</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Additional Contemporary Realistic Fiction Books

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Poetry</th>
<th>211</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Animals</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyday Events</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Feelings of Children</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghosts and Magic</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Humor</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nature</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Collections</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Additional Poetry Books

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Additional Poetry Books</th>
<th>227</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Animals</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyday Events</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Feelings of Children</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghosts and Magic</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Humor</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nature</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Collections</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

5
Contents

Holidays 230
Christmas 230
Easter 234
Halloween 234
Jewish Holidays 236
Valentine's Day 237
Other Holidays 238
Collections 240
Additional Holiday Books 240

Concepts 242
Alphabet 242
Color, Shape, Size 244
Counting 245
Space and Time Perspectives 247
Additional Concept Books 248

Social Studies 249
Careers 249
Communication 252
Contemporary World Cultures 254
Diverse American Cultures 256
Economics 257
Food 258
Geography 261
Handicaps 262
Religions 263
Shelter and Clothing 264
Social Issues 265
Transportation 267
United States History 270
World History 274
Additional Social Studies Books 276

Biography 278
Artists 278
Athletes 279
Entertainers 285
Political Leaders 287
Religious Leaders 288
Scientists 289
Writers 291
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Others</td>
<td>293</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collections</td>
<td>295</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Additional Biographies</td>
<td>296</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sciences</td>
<td>299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aeronautics and Space</td>
<td>299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Kingdom</td>
<td>300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Behaviors</td>
<td>300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Defenses</td>
<td>303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Habitats</td>
<td>303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Birds</td>
<td>304</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domesticated Animals</td>
<td>307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fish</td>
<td>309</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frogs</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Insects</td>
<td>311</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lower Animals</td>
<td>312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monkeys and Apes</td>
<td>313</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pets</td>
<td>314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reptiles</td>
<td>317</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seals and Whales</td>
<td>318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spiders</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wild Animals</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Young</td>
<td>325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zoos</td>
<td>327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astronomy</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conservation and Ecology</td>
<td>332</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Earth Science</td>
<td>335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Energy</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Engineering</td>
<td>338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Experiments</td>
<td>339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Nature Concepts</td>
<td>341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Human Growth</td>
<td>341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emotional</td>
<td>343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physical</td>
<td>346</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Machines</td>
<td>347</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mathematics</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meteorology</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oceanography</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physics and Chemistry</td>
<td>352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plants</td>
<td>353</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prehistoric Life</td>
<td>356</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unexplained Phenomena</td>
<td>358</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Additional Science Books</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Contents

Sports and Games
- Chess 359
- Cycling 359
- Flying 360
- Gymnastics 361
- Hockey 362
- Horseback Riding 362
- Kite Making and Flying 363
- Skating and Skateboarding 364
- Skiing 365
- Soccer 366
- Tennis 366
- Volleyball 367
- Water Sports 368
- Various Sports and Games 368
- Additional Sports and Games Books 371

The Arts
- Architecture 372
- Circus 372
- Dance 373
- Drama 375
- Fine Arts 376
- Music 378
  - Folksongs and Ballads 378
  - Instruments and Styles 379
- Plays for Children 380
- Additional Arts Books 381

Language
- History of Language 382
- Vocabulary 383
- Writing 385
- Additional Language Books 386

Crafts
- Costume Making 387
- Drawing, Painting, Printing 388
- Paper Crafts 389
- Toy Making 390
- Woodcrafts 391
- Various Handicrafts 391
- Additional Craft Books 394
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hobbies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooking</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gardening</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Magic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Models</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Photography</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Various Hobbies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Additional Hobby Books</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amusement</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Curiosities and Wonders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jokes, Puns, Riddles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puzzles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Additional Amusement Books</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Professional</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Authors’ Essays</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bibliographies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Criticism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puppetry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Storytelling and Booktalks</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Teaching Methods</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Textbooks</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Directory of Publishers | 425 |
| Author Index | 430 |
| Title Index | 446 |
Introduction

The 1981 edition of Adventuring with Books is a selective booklist designed primarily for teachers of preschool through sixth-grade children and also for the use of librarians, educational media specialists, parents, students of children's literature, and, on occasion, children. Approximately 2500 new children's trade books are annotated in this list, selected from the 10,000 books published from 1977 through 1980.

The current Committee on the Elementary School Booklist of the National Council of Teachers of English followed the same two criteria for book selection that previous committees used. One basis for selection was high potential interest for children. The other was a significant degree of literary merit; popularity alone was not enough to qualify books for the compilation. Two other factors were of concern to this committee: the equitable treatment of minorities and the recognition of quality books of the past. Eventually, children's literature about minorities might not need to be dealt with as a separate topic, but the committee felt that it must be reflected in the books selected for the 1981 list.

In addition to soliciting books from major publishers, the committee sought books from the multitude of alternative presses that publish books for children. These books were subjected to the same criteria of selection as those of long-established publishers. When we saw reviews of noteworthy books not sent to us by publishers, we tried to locate library copies for consideration. These were not always available. Almost all the books recommended in this edition were published between the end of 1976 and the end of 1980. A few award-winning books published in 1976 that did not appear in the 1977 edition are included. A few selected older books have been retained from previous booklists to add balance to the collection. Because the booklist's focus is on newness, the outstanding older books are listed at the end of each major category without annotations. In general, reissues of classics are not included unless the format is particularly outstanding.

The purpose of the booklist is to inform teachers of recently published good books to share with children. It can be used to help find appropriate books for children who want a good story about a particular theme. It can also serve as an aid when teachers need books for an instructional unit and want to know what recent books are available on the topic.

Annotations provide brief summaries of the books. All the books selected are recommended; in some cases strengths are noted and other evaluative comments are given. When books contain language or explicit scenes that might be offensive to some readers, annotations so indicate. Occasional suggestions are made for class use and for integrating the books into various areas of the curriculum. Newbery and Caldecott Award and Honor Books are identified. Age levels are indicated as a matter of paramount interest. It is possible, as in the case of picture books, that books noted for ages 5-8 could be used with older children to initiate discussions or to stimulate creative writing. Likewise, well-illustrated non-fiction books with texts and concepts for ages 8-12 might be used with younger children. While the range of the booklist is kindergarten through grade six, some annotations suggest more difficult reading by the designation “12-up.” In some instances, books in series or sequels that were similar in content or style are referred to within the annotation rather than annotated separately. Each annotation lists bibliographic information. Where annotated books were translated into Spanish, the titles are listed. A list of publishers’ addresses is appended for book ordering purposes. All books listed were in print at the time of publication.

During the four-year period that the committee worked on the book, we asked teachers about the usefulness of Adventuring with Books and similar bibliographies. Most wanted more help in selecting books on specific topics. The contents was consequently made more specific, which required assigning a particular topic to each book, rather than simply classifying it by genre. As a committee we realized the difficulty of making such a judgment; many books have multiple themes and could be classified into several categories. We decided that the guidance offered through a multi-categorized table of contents outweighed unequivocal categorization. For example, a book of realistic fiction might be considered mainly a “family story,” but the central character might do a great deal of “growing up” while “facing problems.” Such a book would be placed in the category that suggested the most central theme as decided by the committee member, realizing that the judgment might not be shared by all. Although teachers can be assured of finding many good books in the appropriate categories, they will also benefit from checking related categories. The category assignments are teacher-oriented rather than arranged by standard library subject headings. Always, the teacher’s use was the paramount consideration in categorizing a book. The expanded table of contents, therefore, is intended to help teachers find a certain type of book more readily. Specific titles can most easily be found, of course, in the title index.

Picture books and easy-to-read books have been integrated into the fiction content areas. The philosophy of the committee was that picture books should be used at all levels and the likelihood would be increased if the books were integrated throughout the compilation. To make picture books easily identifiable for the primary grade teacher, the phrase (Picture book) is at the end of each appropriate fiction annotation.
This edition includes a list of recently published professional books about children's literature. More and more professional books are being published as the field of children's literature grows. These books are valuable to teachers as they seek specialized listings, critical viewpoints, and suggestions for teaching.

Wordless books have been published in growing numbers over the past four years. Those that tell stories are listed in the Wordless Book category, while those that relate to specific content areas are under those categories. Traditional Literature, including folk literature from nursery rhymes to world mythology, is available for preschool to intermediate age children.

The fiction books are grouped according to genre. Modern Fantasy is divided into categories based primarily on characters. Science Fiction constitutes a separate genre, perhaps suggesting that this class of novels is coming into its own in children's books. Historical Fiction is divided according to time and place. Contemporary Realistic Fiction is classified according to themes, some of which reflect the concerns of contemporary children's literature for social issues, notably "facing problems," "handicaps," and "young and old." These are balanced by the less controversial standard fare of "animals," "humor," "mystery," and "sports."

The Poetry section is divided into thematic groupings; Holiday books are listed according to individual holidays. A section on Concepts includes the very basic beginnings of concepts such as color, time, and the alphabet. The Social Studies, Biography, and Sciences sections are categorized according to names used in most school curricula. Here once again, the teaching aspect is emphasized in the classification.

Nonfiction books of Sports and Games are abundant and popular, so the committee felt they should be singled out as a separate category. Some might wonder about the "circus" category as one of The Arts, but primary grade teachers will benefit from a separate listing of nonfiction books about this performing art. Books on Language, Crafts, and Hobbies are also categorized by various content areas. The Amusement section will be popular with children; we were especially selective about these books, which are interesting as well as amusing. The new Professional Books section rounds out the listing.

The help of many persons was necessary for the preparation of Adventure with Books. The committee members are most grateful to all of them. Publishers generously provided review copies during the past four years. Four graduate assistants served superbly: Sharon Callahan, now Community Relations Representative, McDonald's Corp., Dallas, Texas; Jeralyn Clayton, now Reading Teacher Specialist, Fairbanks, Alaska; Sylvia B. Bernstein, and Robin Kemp, currently at Wright State University. Charlotte Leonard, Director of Children's Services of the Dayton and Montgomery County Public Library, provided initial suggestions and long-term support through her fine library staff and holdings. Barbara Fultz, Wright State University, assisted far beyond the regular duties of a secretary. Students and teachers at many institutions read and commented on books, providing additional insights for the committee members. All these people supported our continued goal of identifying high quality, enjoyable literature for children.

Mary L. White
College of Education
Wright State University
Wordless Books

Nathaniel bakes it on a Vermont farm. His funny adventures, imaginatively exaggerated, are told in the uncluttered, humorous ink drawings of three wordless picture stories, and in two diary memoirs penned in black ink highlighted by miniature drawings. Humorous stories that broaden life-style concepts.

A little boy makes a snowman who comes to life at night. They explore household things such as television, ice cubes, and skateboards; then the snowman flies the boy above Brighton-by-the-Sea during the snowstorm. In the morning the snowman is gone. Cartoon format; beautiful drawings.

The big red trailer-truck moves from the loading dock to its destination. The author's vivid illustrations carry the reader along the truck's route. 1981 Caldecott Honor Book.

This wordless picture book shows an indomitable Aunt Possum refusing to be frightened by a Halloween prank played by neighborhood children. Colorful illustrations.

Alligator takes a taste of the ice he is putting on cupcakes and the painful expression on his face is evidence of a toothache. His friends arrive with more treats to find him wrapped in a bandage and suffering. Treatment by a dentist is rejected until his friends trick him and the party begins.

A little old lady living in the country tries to make pancakes. Although her pets greedily interfere, this determined lady doesn't give up and comically finds a way to have her pancakes. The colorful and humorous illustrations present information about supplying ingredients needed to make pancakes.

A humorous series of events leads to the granting of a small mouse's birthday wish. The oblong format is perfect for the cumulative chain story; the meticulous details of the illustrations encourage readers to observe the unfolding story carefully.

Max is a hamster. His captivating antics are told through a series of highly expressive line drawings. Max was first introduced in PUNCH, the British humor magazine. His curiosity brings laughter to his many admirers.

Goodall, John S. Paddy's New Hat. Atheneum, 1980. 5-8.

Paddy Pork buys a handsome new hat, only to see it blown into the police recruiting office. He joins the police force and inadvertently captures a thief in the royal apartment. His rewards are a royally bestowed medal, dismissal from the force, and his retrieved hat with an added plume. Half pages; delightful illustrations.

The cat family spreads their picnic lunch on a smooth stone. This improvised table is actually a turtle, who waddles away with their meal on his back, the first of many surprises. Another of Goodall's wordless books of cozy Edwardian scenes painted in soft colors on full and half pages.

Little girl monkey is delighted with her parents' gift of a trombone for her birthday! However, she repeatedly makes trouble for the other animals with her noisy practice sessions, until one loud blast actually helps someone. The well-characterized illustrations stimulate children to verbalize about the humorous tale.

Lily doesn't want to eat her dinner. As she stares at her plate, she escapes into a fantasy world where spaghetti stretched between spoons becomes a tightrope. A chicken leg becomes a violin, and a celery stalk, a slide. This wordless picture book will elicit a smile from everyone who has ever toyed with food.

One little girl makes everyone's dream come true: she flies. The townspeople chase, an entire classroom of students follows, and a man in a balloon tries to catch her. She escapes them all and yet returns to earth, unscathed and still dreaming.
A little boy chases his runaway cat through the dock area of a Mediterranean port. The chase ends aboard a freighter where the cat releases the boy from a locked stateroom and the boy saves the cat from being thrown overboard. Expressive black and white illustrations tell the wordless story.

The giant footprints in the snow are very mysterious. All of the people in the village join together to trail the giant. They find a giant surprise. Black and white drawings.

Little Pig weeps and sulks because he is the only one not invited to a party. Trying to get even, he plays a mean trick on the party-goers, only to discover, to his chagrin, that the party is for him. Appealing illustrations, full of expression and action, carry the story line effectively.

Young children giggle over the humorous antics of Ms. Hippo as she goes about doing her shopping and visits a museum. The town is left in shambles because of her thoughtless gestures. Cartoonlike illustrations capture the humor of the story.

A small bear enters an empty cabin, samples three bowls of porridge, tries out three chairs and breaks one, then settles down for a nap in the smallest of three beds, where he is discovered by the owner, a little girl with yellow sausage curls. A delightful turnabout tale with warm and expressive illustrations.

Clear-cut silhouettes tell a wordless story of fantasy. A poor abused boy is given a magic ring when he shares his food with a stranger. The 136 pictures provide excellent challenges for children to follow the story line. An interesting history of silhouette-making is appended.

Meet Sir Andrew, an unusual and vain donkey, who dresses elegantly and then takes an eventful stroll on a windy day. Funny, pastel illustrations show that Andrew's self-admiration leads him to disaster. Giggles are guaranteed.
Additional Wordless Books

Traditional Literature

Fables

Restraint in words and pictures typifies this retelling of the fable about the tiny mouse who repays the mighty lion by freeing him from a rope net in which the lion is captured. Expressive black and white sketches are bordered in red. An outstanding book.

The country mouse visits his cousin in the city and finds that city life is difficult. This age-old tale is illustrated in fresh, vivid colors. One of twenty-two books in Troll’s Fables and Fairy Tales series.

This classic collection of Ukrainian Fox tales is enriched with folklore and humor. Fox is a lovable, independent rogue who outwits his enemies, using their moral flaws to triumph. Spirited illustrations match the author’s commentary. Sophisticated readers can discuss the satirical, social, and political elements.

Favorite fables including “The Lion and the Mouse,” “Belling the Cat,” and “The Frog and the Ox” are retold in easy-to-read wording. In most cases the moral is given in rhyme. Handsome black and white pen sketches grace this beautifully designed collection. A read-alone book.

A young girl outwits a sly fox, greed gets its comeuppance, and coins literally fly away from a miser in these tales translated from the Hebrew. The stories are warm and satisfying, and the format is outstanding.

Gillie the Cock is so vain that he forgoes caution in order to be admired by everyone, including the hungry fox. His friends save him and teach him a lesson in this clever-retelling of a familiar fable.

Scholar Hu lived long ago in the village of Yung Ping. There began the strange tale of a champion cricket, the death of Hu Sing, the scholar's son, and the emperor's cricket match. Full-color luminous illustrations create an Oriental setting for this retold fable.

Folktales

This Ashanti tale tells how the Leopard gets his spots, his cry, and his comeuppance (a half-a-ball of cornmeal mush called kenki), from Dokonfa. Excellent to read aloud and for dramatic play.

In this humorous read-aloud folktale, rabbit can't get into her house because Long One is inside and threatens her. Rabbit rejects her friend's help, but the problem is unexpectedly resolved. The story is presented in play form including animal masks that change expressions.

Trickster sometimes plays good tricks, sometimes bad tricks. On occasion his tricks backfire and he is tricked. All the people of the prairie lodges tell the stories of trickster but they tell them only at night so trickster doesn't come back and play tricks again. A delightful collection.

In this retelling of a Jewish folktale, the story of gefilte fish is told. Two hundred years ago a poor Russian woman known as a fine cook had a magical encounter with the prophet Elijah. She was instructed to prepare a fish according to what had been happening to the Jewish people. Her method became the recipe for gefilte fish.

Authentic and less familiar folktales from sixteen Asian nations have been selected, retold, and illustrated by writers and artists in each country. Stories are from Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Nepal, Pakistan, Philippines, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, India, Iran, Korea, Laos, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam. Colorful illustrations.

Humor and suspense abound in this trickster tale from American folklore, when Wiley's mother and his own quick thinking save him from the hairy monster who lives in the swamp beside the Tombigbee River. Both writing style and illustrations are of a quality seldom found in easy readers.

Pio, the youngest of three brothers, frees a rainbow-colored horse. In return, the horse grants Pio three wishes, which he uses to gain the hand of a beautiful girl, much to the chagrin of his two older brothers. Striking woodcuts in full-color illustrations make this Puerto Rican folktale a visual sensation.

This collection of folktales from the Acholi tribal society of Northern Uganda features clever animals, a trickster hare, and dramatic situations, frequently amusing. Echoes of Uncle Remus and other folktales will be found. Black and white illustrations.

Kassim's neighbors give him a fine new pair of shoes to replace his old comfortable ones. Kassim's efforts to get rid of his beloved old shoes bring chaos to the village and laughter to the picture-book audience. Muted wash illustrations.

Strong illustrations capture the mood of this African tale about the lessons of ingratitude. A gazelle brings fortune to Hamdaani, a beggar who soon forgets his humble beginnings. When he refuses to help the animal, he loses his wife and wealth and becomes again a poor man scratching for food.
Traditional Literature

Four folktales of Borneo, all about how a small deer outwits the larger, pompous, and aggressive animals, are wittily presented. Large print and brief text assist early readers. This is a good read-aloud book with engaging drawings.

An old woman sets out to make her fortune with a little boy carved out of a bean. A rooster swallows the bean boy, a cat swallows the rooster, and so forth until the woman reaches the king and good fortune. This retelling of an Italian folktale, with clever illustrations and well-paced repetitions, makes an enjoyable first reader.

In the world's beginning, a stubborn old woman holds Sky God to his promise that she may have any rock she wants, even the one that plugs the hole at the bottom of the sea. The heartwarming solution to the dilemma of a fast-draining sea results in the ebb and flow of the tides. Exceptional artwork.

A Japanese couple who have prayed to the gods for a child are happy to accept a very tiny baby. Issun Boshi, Little One Inch, grows up to have many adventures, outsmarting both demons and mortals. The soft Oriental illustrations bring the reader into close contact with Japanese culture.

A delightful encyclopedia for all lovers of fantasy. Not only are such creatures as Habetrot, Fenodree, and Capelthwaite identified, but groups of fairy folk are categorized. This charming book is filled with fascinating detail and tales of the strange creatures.

Scholarship and readable style combine to make a rich resource of folk literature for teachers and students. Cultural concepts will be enriched by reading and hearing the tales in dialect. Briggs' introduction and her comments preceding each category of tale are integral to the book's value.

Various types of fairies and their wide-ranging habits are discussed in this scholarly study. Included are such diverse topics as fairy sports and morality. A glossary of fairies is one of several useful appendices.

Five African tales are retold with melodic language that invites reading aloud. The animals in these stories are like people who have little problems that get them into big troubles. Many handsome, bold black and white drawings and several bright two-color plates.

In this folktale from the Antilles, Granny Anika, who loves best of all to dance, even while working, has a duel of wits with singing Spider Ananse. The elegant prose captures the rhythms of the whirling, whirling native dance illustrated by gracefully flowing pen and ink drawings.

Ten brief and little-known folktales from many parts of the world are retold. Following each tale are several craft activities related to the theme. The projects are especially interesting and are complete with easy-to-follow instructions. They include baker's clay ornaments, aluminum foil relief, sand painting, and origami.

Mam Marig relates eight fascinating stories of Breton folklore to her godchild Yvette. She has taught her how to knit and as the needles fly, the tales continue to unwind. Werewolves, goblins, and korrigans perform magic tricks. Strong woodcuts complement these hearty tales.

Foolish, lazy Happy Jack must go to work because his mother has no money. His hilarious adventures culminate in the traditional happy ending. This new version of a folktale for beginning readers has handsome two-color illustrations that are highly amusing and perfectly complement the simplified text.

A traditional Vietnamese version of the Cinderella story, complete. with cruel stepmother, ugly half-sister, fairy godmother, lost slipper, and handsome prince: Only the purpkin is missing. Outstanding full-page watercolor illustrations.

The Russian Cinderelle story is retold in a spirited version with the wicked Baba Yaga portrayed in a terrifying manner. When Vassilisa confronts Baba Yaga with an even greater spirit, she is granted her request. Vassilisa's doll, given to her by her dying mother, helps her through all her tribulations.

Tillabel, a rather lazy groundhog, is the despair of her mother, who wishes that she would act like other groundhogs. The queen overhears her as she scolds her daughter and invites Tillabel to the castle. This delightful German tale is reminiscent of Rumplestiltskin. Appealing, soft pencil illustrations.

In this familiar tale, a variant of Beauty and the Beast, a greedy king deceives the wizard and must accept his punishment: a son who looks like a donkey. Only the love of someone who accepts him as he is will break the evil spell. Exquisite color illustrations enhance this lovely retelling.

A marvelous retelling and expansion of the Irish tales of Billy Beg and his magical talking bull. Disillusioned by his new mother, Catelinn of the Broken Nose (who insists on clean shirts every day and no bulls by the fireside), Billy sets out and eventually finds his true mother, Brigid the Lovely. A natural read-aloud tale.

These selected tales are considered to be authentic materials representative of Native Americans west of the Mississippi. The translation maintains much of the flavor of the original language and allows the reader to savor somewhat incomprehensible events. Illustrations are copies of photos done in the early 1900s. Excellent.

Hogboons or goblins, demons, talking stones, and selkie folk abound in this fine collection of little-known tales from the Orkney Islands. off the Scottish coast. Superstition, magic, mystery, and humor are part of the legends collected by contemporary folklorists. Black and white line drawings complement the tales.

Pecos Bill, legendary cowboy hero of America's wild West, has no horse to ride. He tries a giant mountain lion, lightning, and a huge grizzly bear, with fantastic but frustrating results. But the great golden stallion, ah, there's a horse! Satisfying illustrations in watercolor.

Translated from the Arabic by a Middle East scholar, this collection includes familiar and not-so-familiar tales that Shahrazad told for a thousand and one nights in order to avoid being slain by her husband, King Shahriyar. Although told in modern idiom, the Middle East flavor has been preserved.

The stuff of dream and magic, virtue truly valued, courage rewarded, and selfishness and deceit appropriately recompensed are combined in this beautiful translation of the old folktale. The exquisite line and watercolor paintings portray emotion and fantasy, with authentic detailing of eighteenth-century French culture.

A rich man enjoys sitting under his mulberry tree until a poor man joins him. The latter buys the tree's shade and goes into the house whenever it is shaded. The rich man becomes angry; he finally leaves the house. A Chinese folktale with handsomely rendered color over line drawings.

How the Dolomite Mountains became so bright is explained in this Italian folktale. The illustrations help sustain the mood and fascination of the story of how Prince Pazzo of the Dolomites fell in love with Princess Lucia of the Moon.

Jack, a kind-hearted boy, is considered by his mother to be good for nothing. A cat, whose life Jack saves, helps him to clear an island
Is overrun with mice, proving to his mother as well as to himself that he is "good for something." Based on a Russian folktale.

King Krakus and his beautiful daughter are loved by the people of Krakow. People are happy and life is pleasant until a frightful monster comes to live in the river Vistula. The brave apprentice shoemaker finds a plan to save the king, the town, and the people. A Polish folktale.

Jean-Pierre is both lazy and lucky. He not only persuades the king that he can solve riddles and foretell the future, but he actually succeeds in doing so. A clever twist at the end makes this French Canadian trickster tale a natural for story time. Young audiences will enjoy responding to the question, "What happened next?"

The blackbird sets out to rescue his wife, who was stolen by the king. Along the way he meets other animals who are angry at the king and they journey together. How the blackbird wins his wife back is colorfully depicted in this retelling of a folktale from India.

This eerie Tennessee folktale tells of an old man who cuts off the tail of a strange little creature. Suspense builds as the tailless creature comes back again and again to call for the return of his "tallypo." Illustrations in pencil and soft colors capture the mountain setting and humor.

Perrault's tale is retold with delightful touches of humor. While Cinderella is helping her sisters get ready for the ball, the author suggests, "Anyone but Cinderella would have tangled their hair for them." The illustrations, luminous and delicate, have an appropriate French flavor.

The medieval village of Dinkelsbuhl is invaded by Swedish soldiers who eat all the food and take everything they want. They plan to burn the town but are stopped by the brave actions and planning of Lora and the other children. Humorous and sensitive illustrations.
These fourteen brief, entertaining Russian folktales about clever and silly fools will appeal to a wide range of readers. Fools may be young or old, clever or stupid, rich or poor; whatever the type, they will be met in these appealing tales. Attractive illustrations.

A young Native American girl loves horses and understands them in a special way. A thunderstorm drives the girl and horses far from home to live with a leader of wild horses, a beautiful stallion. Award-winning illustrations sweep the reader through this symbolic story. 1978 Caldecott winner.

Read aloud this Grimm's tale about a curious bear who visited a nest of baby kingbirds and rudely called them no-good children. This caused a revengeful conflict between the birds and the animals. Bright, very detailed illustrations highlight the humor of this sense of justice story.

Due to a bargain with the devil, a young soldier is to live clad in a bearskin, unwashed and unshaven for seven years in return for an endless supply of gold. Published posthumously, the book is illustrated by the artist's preliminary color studies that are dramatically beautiful.

The artwork makes this volume a unique treasure: characters and old European country scenes are at once realistically and enchantingly painted in vivid colors. Tales include Snow White, Four Musicians of Bremen, Tom Thumb, Puss in Boots, and the Wolf and the Seven Little Kids. Fine paper and print.

The little tailor kills flies, seven at a blow, and decides to tell the world of his prowess. His cleverness enables him to outwit a giant, kill two giants, capture a unicorn, marry the king’s daughter, and gain half a kingdom. Full-color humorous illustrations.

Thirty-one of the best-loved folktales told by the Brothers Grimm are newly translated in this volume in speech modes refreshingly true to the original language. Illustrations combine authentic detail with fairyland mood in colorplates and sketches. Fine quality paper and print add to the aesthetic pleasure. Good to read aloud.

Modernized versions of seven Grimm tales include "Tom Thumb," "Seven with One Blow," and "The Fisherman and His Wife."

When the fisherman catches an enchanted prince in the form of a flounder, his wife urges him to ask for a nice little cottage to replace their hovel. Humorous watercolors depict the couple as they ask for more and more until they end up right back in their shack.

A magnificently illustrated version of an old gruesome story, with a literal translation of the original Grimm text. A benign-looking witch and two plumpish youngsters mitigate the horror of this classic tale of evil.

The wicked witch imprisons Rapunzel in the tower, but the handsome prince rescues the beautiful maiden with the long golden hair. One of twenty-two titles in the Troll Fables and Fairy Tales series that includes "Rumpelstiltskin," "Cinderella," and "Jack and the Beanstalk." Full-color artwork.

A timeless tale familiar to many is given a new look with outstanding black and white drawings. A family with seven sons wishes most earnestly for a daughter. Finally, their wish is granted. The rejoicing is short-lived, for her brothers are turned into ravens.

The king ignores the oldest fairy, who retaliates by putting a curse on his infant daughter, somewhat tempered by another fairy so that the princess will not die, but will sleep for one hundred years. Handsome drawings contrast light and dark on each double-page spread, paralleling the story of good and evil.

The twelve princesses are locked up by the king each night. Each morning their shoes are worn. A soldier solves the mystery by tracking the princesses and discovering their secret dancing place. Lavishly illustrated, this is a worthy successor to Le Cain's Thorn Rose and Cinderella.

While strolling through the woods Jorinda and Joringel are unaware that they have gone too far and are held within the magic circle of the enchantress. Joringel discovers a clever plan to outwit the witch. Illustrations enhance the appealing version of the old folktale.

A clever boy, apprenticed to a sorcerer, reads books on magic at night. The sorcerer discovers that the boy knows the secrets of magic and trickery. The boy cleverly uses his knowledge to escape the evil master.

Three simple stories in the folklore tradition tell about a clever mouse who uses trickery to outwit others. Based on ancient Indo-Persian lore, the short stories can be compared with other trickster tales in which the small, weak character triumphs.

Princesses of the Old World clothed in silks, satins, and jewels are compared with the princesses of the Northwest Coast in these fascinating stories. Customs and cultural heritage are revealed. Could be used with units on American folklore. Strong black and white illustrations enhance the well-written text.

Major stories of the Old and New Testament approved by a review board of Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant scholars are retold in simple language with explanations integrated into the text. The watercolor illustrations on each page are vivid and suited to the tales. A well-designed book.

Six look-alike brothers of ancient China save their father and themselves from execution through use of their unique magical abilities. This satisfying tale is beautifully illustrated with scissor cuts, a venerable Chinese form of art. In classroom study, compare with The Five Chinese Brothers by Bishop.

A fresh retelling of the wolf and the three little pigs folktale. Young readers will delight in the sparkling pictures and simple text.

The colorful introduction and illustrated map comprising the end pages invite the reader to examine the thirty-three delightful tales in this collection. Each chapter heading indicates the location where the story originated. Magic tales of boats, shrimp, earthworms, birds, and waterfalls make up this book. Graceful, appealing pen drawings complement the text.

A collection of tales gathered from the Eskimos who live along the Arctic coast and rivers of the Seward Peninsula. These explanations of natural phenomena and recounting of experiences written in the oral style give fresh insight into this American minority culture.

These twenty-four carefully selected Chinese tales from different periods of history have warm appeal. The wide variety of plots and length of the tales provide a significant reading or listening experience. Graceful black and white drawings blend well with these lively stories.

This attractive collection, published with the assistance of the Ontario, Canada, Arts Council contains ten stories from Europe, Asia, and North and South America. Although some are available in other collections, this book, illustrated with beautiful full-color paintings, is useful for studying the universality of folklore.

Thirty-seven tales from the famous color fairy-tale books published at the turn of the century make up this choice collection.

This easy-reading version of the Danish tale has the pancake eluding a woman, seven children, a farmer, goose, cat, sheep, and goat only to be gobbled up by a pig. They go home with the woman who cooks another wonderful pancake. They all eat it and the farmer does the dishes.

Included besides the title tale are "The Master Tailor" and "The Three Billy Goats Gruff." The detailed illustrations are large and humorous and just grotesque enough to amuse young readers. Published in cooperation with the U.S. Committee for UNICEF.

This excellent collection of fifteen folktales from various European countries focuses on young heroines. Helpful notes at the end of each tale mention other variants of the same tale that could be read, compared, and discussed. Illustrations complement the tales.

Three African folktales related to the creation theme are beautifully illustrated in a large book handsomely designed by Bruno Munari. "A Visit from Mister Sea" is a version of the well-known "Why the Sun and the Moon Live in the Sky." Elegant book.

Prince Lini disappears in an icy fog, stolen by troll girls who want him to marry one of them. Sigay, a clever peasant girl, hears the King's desperate offer of half the kingdom for Lini's rescuer, and accepts the challenge. Down-to-earth humor mixed with common sense and courage.

A poor boy seeks help from his aunt and is given a magic hen, which he loses, and a magic cloth, which is also lost. Finally, a magic stick solves his problems. This easy-to-read book with charming old-fashioned illustrations is told comic-book style in modern vernacular.

Four much-loved fairy tales are told in an attached booklet; a tagboard castle pops up when the opposite part is folded out. The centerfold of removable tagboard characters is reminiscent of the nineteenth-century toy theater booklets. Useful for puppet dramatization.

Windwagon Smith, a dapper bachelor, tries to attract backers for his scheme to build a fleet of wind-powered wagons. Illustrated with sepia pen and ink drawings, this book would be useful with language arts activities in United States social studies.

The familiar noodlehead tale about Jack, the boy who could not do anything right, is adapted by an award-winning artist. Bold ink drawings with delicate watercolors enhance this humorous tale.

Bored King Senefeiu of ancient Egypt watches young maidens rowing. When one drops her amulet it is recovered by Djadja-em-ankh's magic. Illustrations are copies of Egyptian drawings, hieratic and hieroglyphic texts on papyrus-like paper in folded scroll form. The story is printed Egyptian style from right to left. The commentary, printed from left to right, describes Egyptian life around 4500 BC.

Kings, queens, fair maidens, handsome princes, and lazy oafs, all with various enchantments or tricks, inhabit these ten folktales from nine different countries, all well-suited for reading aloud. This is another skillful and felicitous collaboration of author and illustrator.

The author, who has many earlier volumes on demons, goblins, wizards, and the like, now brings together twenty-three ghostly tales, sometimes fearsome, sometimes humorous. Most of the folktales included in this exciting volume are little-known stories, most of them from Europe but a few from other parts of the world.

This is a collection of short Chinese legends dating from the twenty-second century BC to the twentieth century. Each story is told in a style that helps to retain its Oriental feeling. The black and white pen drawings capture many Chinese symbols and attitudes toward life and art.

This is the retelling of the old fairy tale of an assertive heroine who, to win back her handsome youth's love, must rescue him from his troll princess captor. Seventeen full-page, full-color illustrations make this book a visual delight and invite lingering and looking. Excellent for reading aloud.

A fine addition to a folktales collection. These tales enlighten the reader concerning the Egyptian and Sudanese cultures, their mores, social customs, and humor. They could be used for enjoyment, comparison with other cultures, or be included in a unit of work. Black and white pen drawings enhance the tales.

In Alberm, people are solid and hardworking, but not very smart. When a mole is found, no one knows what it is or what to do with it until a quiet little man suggests a solution. A Swiss folktale done with black and white illustrations.

This French version of the classic tale differs in several aspects from its German counterpart and can be compared for variations in the retellings. Walker's illustrations make strong use of light and color to evoke the romantic tradition of the tale.

A collection of traditional tales from Europe, Africa, and Asia. All stories have as the central character a strong active woman. A welcome addition with new and interesting stories from the oral tradition.

The donkey, the cat, the dog, and the rooster band together when their masters try to get rid of them. They start off for the city of Bremen, braying, barking, meowing, and crowing, practicing to become street musicians. Distinctly stylized color illustrations add to the humor of the animals' tale. 1981 Caldecott Honor Book.

Riordan, James, retold by. Tales from Tartary: Russian Tales, Volume

Tartary is the vast Asian land, now a part of Russia, that was the domain of Genghis and Kubla Khan; it was the land where Marco Polo journeyed eight hundred years ago. The tales have a touch of Oriental flavor; many are quite brief. The characters are quick-witted and the language is rich. This is a sequel to Tales from Central Russia: Russian Tales, Volume One. Well illustrated.

Rockwell, Anne. The Old Woman and Her Pig and 10 Other Stories.

Ten familiar folktales and fables are retold in simple style and rich language. Humorous bright watercolor illustrations fill each page.
Included are “The Three Sillies,” “Lambikin,” “The Shepherd Boy,”
“The Lad Who Went to the North Wind.” “The Milkmaid and the Bucket of Milk,” and “The Bremen Town Musicians.”

Rose, Anne, retold by. Akimba and the Magic Cow: A Folktale from Poor Akimba has nothing left to eat and goes out to seek his fortune.

An old man in the forest helps him, but attempts are made to trick him out of his newly found magic animals. The simple woodcut illustrations are appropriate for the setting and flavor of this folktale.

Rose, Anne. The Triumphs of Fuzzy Fogtop. Illus. Tomie de Paola. Dial

Fuzzy Fogtop is a lovable, absent-minded character who loses himself in bed, attempts an unsuccessful trip from Pinsk to Minsk, and mistakes a stranger for his friend. Illustrations thoughtfully and richly portray the village of Chelm and its traditionally foolish inhabitants.

A poor Russian peasant, Nassir-Yedin, tricks three rich merchants into believing he has a talented rabbit as a valet. Bidding for the valet's services begins. A charming tale enhanced by colorful illustrations.

Schwartz, Alvin, compiler. Kickle Snifters and Other Fearsome Critters.

The goofus bird flies backward; the billdad catches his fish by smacking it with his tail; the timber toodle bites. This collection of strange creatures from tall tales and folklore is a sure-fire introduction to both genres. Each creature is fearsomely illustrated by a line drawing.

This French folktale tells how the villagers trick the Devil after he agrees to rebuild a bridge over a gorge leading to their marketplace. Masterful woodcuts add to the delightful story. A good book for sharing.

A wee dog, "smaller than a house cat," is wanted by no one. A little girl saves him from drowning and takes him to her bewitched farm. His courage breaks the spells and banishes the witch and the tyke becomes a treasured pet. Size isn't everything! Illustrations complement style.

Isaac has a dream commanding him to look for treasure under the bridge in the capital city. He trudges there but finds the bridge heavily guarded. The captain laughingly tells him his own dream. Isaac goes back to his modest home and finds his treasure there. 1980 Caldecott Honor Book.

This Appalachian version of Jack and the Beanstalk uses the language and setting of the region. The giant's chant is, "Fee, fie, chew tobacco, I smell the toes of a tadwhacker!" Great fun and matched with delightful illustrations.

The Moolah, the richest man in the village, covets the beautiful wife of poor Khameed. A simple, funny trick foils the Moolah's sly scheme. In each of these four little-known Russian folktales a fearsome crisis is resolved with wit and courage, preserving human values. Illustrations are distinct and charming.

Elegant full-color illustrations reflect the mystique of the ancient Near Eastern kingdoms from which these stories come. Two men who wear worn, battered slippers learn vastly different, yet universal truths about life. The two separate Persian tales are linked together in the retellings.

In each of three noodlehead stories, Abu Ali uses strange logic to solve his problems or those of his friends. Detailed illustrations reflect the humor in the stories as well as their Turkish origin. An easy-to-read book, a sequel to Abu Ali.

These stories collected from the maitre-conte or professional storyteller of Haiti are rich in humor and rhythm. Wolkstein's foreword and the notes that precede each story give insights into Haitian culture and the art of storytelling. Music for the songs, a part of many of the stories, is included.

Prince Azged, afraid to fight the fierce Red Lion as dictated by tradition, runs away. Only after he finds other lions awaiting him wherever he goes does he realize that it is his fear that makes the beasts ferocious. This ancient Persian tale has a lesson for today's children.

As she carries a gift of cakes to her parents, a poor young woman meets a terrible monster. Nung Gwama delights in eating humans and promises to visit her that evening. Taking the suggestions of peddlers, she outwits the monster. A cumulative tale beautifully illustrated with fan-shaped pictures.

A distraught man seeks help from the Rabbi to deal with his large quarrelsome family. When he follows the surprising advice and brings the animals and relatives inside the house, things get so chaotic that he wishes only to return to normal. Funny illustrations enliven this familiar Yiddish folktale. 1978 Caldecott Honor Book.

Myths and Legends

Arion's life is threatened because of his huge winnings in a musical contest. On the return voyage he leaps from the boat where his friends, the dolphins, change the course of the story. Simply retold, the story can be read independently. The sea is beautifully illustrated in blues and greens.

Fascinating bits of lore about monsters and dragons from Greek, Roman, Norse, and Egyptian mythology. Black and white photos and reproductions of old prints and engravings along with good type size overcome some possible vocabulary obstacles poor readers might encounter. Includes an index and a listing of other books about monsters.

Vampire lore from different parts of the world includes material from ancient Greece to the twentieth century, including information on Vlad Tepes and Countess Elizabeth Bathory, bloody historical figures who were thought to be vampires by superstitious people. Numerous photographs and old prints illustrate the text.

Balder, god of light and joy, was the favorite of all Norse gods and goddesses. All was well until he was awakened by a horrifying dream of his own death. His mother, Frigga, and the others tried to protect him. Explanation of the symbolic mistlet is given. Well illustrated.

Before there was light in the world, all the animals bumped into each other and continually fell into holes. This intriguing African tale relates how the mouse, the spider, and the fly brought back light from the sky.

This easy-to-read text relates how Otter, Beaver, Wolverine, Lynx, and Bear journeyed in search of summer and found it, although Bear was unable to return and still remains in the sky. Black and white pen sketches accompany each text page. A good retelling of an Ojibway Indian myth.

This examination of dragon lore fascinates the reader with its facts concerning both the western dragon and the eastern dragon. The differences between the two are striking and are enhanced by full-page, black and white illustrations. For dragon lovers of all ages.

Jonah hears a call from God but does not obey him. When he tries to escape his duty, he is shipwrecked and swallowed by a whale. There he repents. After he is saved, he follows God’s command but cannot resist questioning God’s judgment. Bold drawings make this an outstanding book.

This collection of memory stories of North American Indians is written in the language of a modern-day storyteller. Included are legends relating different groups’ first contacts with white people.

In this tale from India’s The Panchatantra, the jackal, runs from a pack of dogs and hides in a vat of in... The other animals are fearful of this strange blue animal and make him their king. When he howls like a jackal, true identity is discovered. Handsome prints.

Ahsinee, an eight-year-old Indian girl, gets to spend the summer with her grandparents in present-day Alberta, Canada. Her grandfather tells her the ancient story of how Little Badger, a blind Indian boy, brings fire to the human race. Strong, vivid illustrations give power to the classic legend.

The story of the Jewish Sabbath is beautifully explained in the text and artistic black and white woodcuts: It is a joyous time for celebration. Worries and cares are set aside to praise God. An excellent book for parents to use with children.

Nanabush is one of the most powerful spirits of the Ojibwé Indians. He uses his magic and trickery to create much mischief in all sixteen of these stories, many of which are pourquoi tales. Handsomely illustrated in stylized full-color drawings; a beautifully designed book.

Isaac's grandchildren gather around him to listen to a story. He tells them of the time God told his father Abraham to offer him, Isaac, as a sacrifice. Told from the point of view of a person remembering a frightening childhood event. Full-page color illustrations.

An old Italian legend tells of the traveling juggler who offered his gift of talent before the statue of the Christ Child on Christmas Eve, and of the miracle that happened. The beauty and artistry of the watercolor illustrations enhance the authenticity by showing early Renaissance life and scenery.

Tales from the Native Americans were told after the season's work was finished, when people relaxed together. The time to tell stories was regulated by beliefs and customs. These twenty-seven stories reflect the culture before and after European influence. They represent nine geographic regions of North America.

Written in a simple and direct style, the meaning of the stories from the Old and New Testaments is made clear to the young reader. Many colorful and appealing illustrations accompany the text. Map and index are included. A treasure to be shared with many.

This collection of North American Plains Indian tales, edited and transcribed over a twenty-five-year period, represents a great oral tradition. In their present format, the legends provide us with valuable insights into Native American life. The vibrant illustrations complement the text.

Over eighty creation stories and poems from many parts of the world make up this collection. Materials are grouped under the headings of earth, man, flood, fire, death, food plants, and the end. of the world. Strong woodcuts capture the intensity of the areas. Includes source list and bibliography for further study.

A Russian adaptation of the Greek myth of Persephone. Lovely Snow Maiden is allowed by her parents to go to live on the earth, but only after she promises to stay out of sunlight and never to let her heart be warmed by love. Warm, folk art illustrations.

Unusual and breathtaking incidents occur the day of St. Brendan's birth and continue to take place throughout his life. His nephew's successful voyage spurs him on to build his own ship and voyage to the New World. Grey-blue stylized drawings accentuated with black illustrate this lighthearted story.

This legend of Indians of the Great Plains tells of the gift of the horse. When his people could find no buffalo and were starving, a boy climbed high on the mountain and prayed to the Great Spirit. The horse, Sacred Dog, was the answer to his prayers. Outstanding illustrations.

Claude, the spoiled son of a wealthy squire, ridicules others' beliefs, such as the peasants' tales of the Green Man who protects them and their crops. Claude becomes lost while hunting and is forced to survive alone, taking on the role of the Green Man. Richly colored illustrations capture the texture and mood of medieval tapestries.

Aubry, a young knight, is adored by Isabelle, favored by his liege, and has the steadfast devotion of his dog, Griffon. His good fortune arouses the envy of Richard Mecaire. Based on a legend and set in fourteenth-century France, this tale recounts how Isabelle and Griffon see that justice is done.

Seven legends of humor and horror, based on Pacific Northwest Indian lore, feature a tiny narnauk, a supernatural being that watches for those who disturb the proper order of things. She becomes involved in the mischief makers' inherent problems and always comes up with just solutions. Stark black and white illustrations. Companion books are Mouse Woman and the Muddleheads and Mouse Woman and the Vanished Princesses.

The author calls his story “an alternative vision of the world, and an alternative process of history,” yet it reads like a glorious epic tale as one man journeys through the history of his people. Traditional North American Indian tales are woven into one story as Anpao grows through his heritage to manhood. 1978 Newbery Honor Book.

In Polynesia, they are called the Seven Sisters. The Onondagas see them as dancing children. We call them the Pleiades, part of the constellation Taurus: A master storyteller has collected zodiacal lore from all over the world and accompanied it with both astronomical and astrological information. Stylized black and white drawings enhance the text.

How did the cat come to be? According to folklorists it was sneezed from a lion on Noah’s ark. This collection includes humorous tales (some dating back centuries) about cats from various countries. The scholarly introduction supplies an excellent background. Black and white illustrations.

At the trading fair, all the peoples of the plains come together to exchange goods. When three Sioux hunters who do the trading for their people see horses for the first time, they must have them for their people. A retelling of the legend of how the Brule Indians got their name.

Selected portions of the Old Testament account of Noah and the Great Flood. The colorful illustrations make clear to the youngest reader the size of the ark, both inside and out, and the magnitude of the flood.

Tales from all corners of the earth show the intriguing differences and surprising similarities among the explanations people have invented for the "pictures in the sky," the Great Bear, the Great Dog, the Bull, the Lion, and eleven other constellations. Lively and literate, with outstanding full-color illustrations.

A powerful retelling of the legend of the Golem, the man-like monster created from clay by Rabbi Lev to protect the Jews of the ghetto. When it starts destroying the enemy, it cannot stop, and must be returned to clay. Large, vivid, sometimes terrify'ng illustrations, filled with symbolism. Not for the tender-minded. 1977 Caldecott Honor Book.

Young Gawain sets out from King Arthur's court on a quest for glory. Along his path are adventure, danger, love, failure, and, at last, success as Knight of the Lion. This skillful retelling of an ancient tale is strengthened by the bold black and white illustrations.

The Greek myth of Daedalus and Icarus is retold with simple text and exquisite illustrations. Daedalus makes wax wings so that he and his son Icarus can escape from the Labyrinth of King Minos of Crete, but Icarus ignores his father's warning about the wings.

This ancient myth could easily be followed from the brilliant, luminous illustrations. Through the trickery of his evil brother, Osiris is entrapped in a large coffer and cast into the Nile. The love and devotion of his wife Isis and the compassion of Ra restore him to life.

A superb retelling of the old tale of enchantment, this is a fascinating, skillfully written novel. Characterizations of depth and sensitivity, warm family relationships, and a love story of developing strength and sensuousness all contribute to the reader's pleasure. The author's sense of humor and unique concept of enchanted castles are an added bonus!

Historical background of England is woven throughout this excellent modern version of the Robin Hood story. The language is easy to understand and very descriptive. Slightly different twists to events

Jason is presented as a strong and fearless god living on earth among humans, accomplishing heroic tasks. This tale and three others are part of a series: Pegasus the Winged Horse, Perseus and Medusa, and Theseus and the Minotaur. All four books have a similar appealing format with an interesting, easy-to-read content, making mythology attractive and understandable. The colorful illustrations are meaningful and extend the stories. Helpful pronunciation keys are supplied.

Based on a Kenyan legend, this is the story of an infant found under a tree who first learns of her origin from the village children. Oster searches for her true identity and becomes involved with a witch, dwarf, and giant. At last she returns to her loving parents.

Marie de France was a twelfth-century poet whose verse legends are exciting stories of courtly love and adventure during the Middle Ages. Reeves has maintained the vivid language of these spoken tales, which reflect their Arthurian and Celtic sources. The book is useful for studying literature of the medieval period.

An American Indian pourquoi tale. All the animals in the forest agree that heat and light would make their lives more comfortable. Several animals try to bring back a piece of the sun. All fail and are left with visible effects of their attempts. The title identifies the successful creature.

He is poor, he has a facial scar, and he is taunted by the other braves. Scarface loves Singing Rain and she loves him, but she has promised the Sun never to wed. Scarface faces danger when he attempts to get Singing Rain released from her vow. Twelve exquisite paintings catch the action.

The first-person account of the twelve exciting tasks assigned to Heracles by his jealous cousin permits the reader to be close at hand during the hero's fantastic accomplishments. Two maps identify the places of his great feats. An excellent introduction to Greek mythology.

Fourteen-year-old Geist, a mistreated baker's assistant, meets the Pied Piper in 1284 and is promised a new life in a faraway place. His gripping adventures include the children's rat massacre, the festival of ergot buns, and the exodus to the Piper's music. Geist, realizing the children's fate, does not go and has to live with the knowledge of his involvement in the Piper's plot.

Jacobus Revius' poem, "The Flood," introduces this version of the Bible story. Spier's illustrations recording the events inside and the appointments of the ark are visual delights. Aside from the poem, the book is wordless. 1978 Caldecott Award.

This is a retelling of that section of the romance of King Arthur that speaks of Sir Galahad and the search for the Holy Grail, the final quest of the knights of the Round Table. The author's language reflects superbly the early medieval period without sacrificing lucidity, a real gift to the reader.

The lives of a number of saints are told in a way that is in turn funny, exciting, and moving. Along with the adventures of such well-known saints as Saint Christopher and Saint George are lesser known saints such as Mochae, who listened to a bird sing and let 150 years slip by! Inspiring and enjoyable.

Bible stories are told in modern language and style. Each one is introduced by a short paragraph to orient the reader to the story or to relate it to the reader in the modern context. Pictures are full page and well detailed.

Legend tells that the cross upon which Christ died descended from a sprig of the Tree of Life in the Garden of Paradise. Centuries later St. Helena, the mother of Constantine, set out to find the true cross.

This beautiful Hawaiian myth about Maui and his wonderful gifts is told in a slow, unhurried manner so that the extraordinary, richly colored illustrations can be enjoyed. Incorporation in a Polynesian unit would add interest and appreciation of another culture.

This story from Hindu mythology tells of Krishna as a young boy who takes part in the usual child play with his young friends. When Agha, the terrible demon, attempts to swallow all the children, Krishna outwits him and saves his friends. Brilliantly colored stylistic illustrations.

Chano is the name of a real-life Indian boy who was educated during his teens in a white man's school, and treasured the ancient stories of his people, the Lakota (Sioux) Indians. Chano's daughter retells these authentic animal tales. Beautifully and authentically illustrated.

Nursery Rhymes

Familiar nursery figures like Jack and Jill and Mother Hubbard are appealingly illustrated in this read-aloud book. Youngsters will enjoy finding the hidden figures tucked throughout the pictures and delight in the continuity of the rhyme from page to page. All the hidden figures appear in the last illustration.

The question-and-answer format of the traditional rhyme is extended and enhanced by illustrations that portray gradual seasonal changes beginning with summer and culminating in spring. The rhyme is cumulative without the familiar repetitive pattern.

The traditional American chant about a young girl giving a tea party for her animal friends is delightfully illustrated. The cumulative rhyme will amuse young readers.
A collection of well-known rhymes about horses illustrated with lively, colorful, full-page pictures. Beginning readers and very young children will enjoy both the pictures and the rhymes.

The old nursery rhyme has been expanded to include some silly new characters such as, "Hey diddle doodle, the goat ate some noodles," and now ends with, "The men on the moon were very surprised when the cow flew away on a spoon!" An easy-to-read book.

This new rhyming version of a familiar story gets the reader involved in a clever way. The youngster is asked to help find the mittens by going back and looking for them hidden among the black and yellow sketches. Fun and helpful for visual discrimination.

Soft pastel illustrations make the humorous, less-known nursery characters come to life. There's Gregory Griggs with his twenty-seven different wigs, Little Miss Tuckett, Giant Jim, Punch and Judy, and thirty-two other entertaining rhymes. Table of contents and an interesting afterword that explains the author's choices.

Familiar and less well-known nursery rhymes are included in this collection. The unique illustrations give these Mother Goose verses a fresh and humorous look.

Tarrant first illustrated Mother Goose rhymes over sixty years ago. This reissue has the quaint appeal of the old-fashioned characters and muted colors and is as charming for today's young children as it was for their grandparents.

A lively, colorful, and earthy collection of Mother Goose rhymes, in which most of the characters are animals. Miss Muffett, for example, is a rabbit, and Old King Cole a bear. Includes old favorites and some authentic but unfamiliar verses.

This book is delightful for riddle-loving children, but its deeper value lies in the insights into African culture it provides. Eleven African tribes are represented. Through the riddles one can see what is valued and enjoyed in another culture. Beautifully detailed sepia pencil drawings enrich the cultural understandings.

This collection of outrageous puns, riddles, spoonerisms, sight gags, and just pure nonsense draws on sources from folklore archives to recent issues of Boys' Life, and is sure to tickle the funny bones of jokesters of all ages. Copious notes, extensive bibliography, and clever illustrations.

Here is a collection of old and not-so-old riddles for the beginning reader selected from folklore around the world. The humorous illustrations add to the fun.

This collection of authentic Chinese riddles, printed in both Chinese and English, will intrigue riddle fans. Exquisite pencil drawings by the author enhance the text.

Additional Traditional Literature

Traditional Literature

Modern Fantasy

Animals

Picture Books

Faithful Blackboard Bear again comes to the rescue of his young friend Anthony when a neighborhood bully takes his ice-cream cone. Illustrations perceptively capture a small child's frustrations. Other Blackboard Bear stories relate to a small child's sensibilities. (Picture book)

A polar bear, whale, tortoise, and two crocodiles want to be as colorful as the parrot. After they have painted themselves different colors, the parrot points out that they will be very conspicuous and easy prey for their enemies. They swim home and wash away the paint. (Picture book)

The last of Momma's nine puppies to be born is the last in everything. When the owners decide to sell the puppies, he is afraid he will be the last to be chosen. Soft color illustrations add to the poignant text. (Picture book)

This easy-to-read story finds the MacGoose family getting tired of watching their grocery store and their new goose egg, so the egg looks after himself. Illustrations add greatly to the silliness of the egg's adventures, as he impatiently waits to become a new member of the growing goose family. (Picture book)

Bear loves the moon. He is very upset when he sees the moon getting thinner and thinner. How Bear tries to help save the moon and what he finally discovers make a good read-aloud story. The illustrations catch the mood of Bear's concern. (Picture book)
Modern Fantasy

A funny, impossible story of barnyard life. All the animals wonder what Pig's job is until one day he makes an unexpected contribution to their well-being. Color illustrations add zest and humor. Young children will enjoy this as a read-aloud story. (Picture book)

When the twin bears prepare for an overnight outing with Aunt Bear, Ronald comes up with an idea that accommodates his scientific interests and Oliver's love of food. Anticipating the "worst hike in history," they are surprised how Aunt Bear provides the comforts of home. Brown and white illustrations. (Picture book)

Ingenious Benjamin Hamster attempts to open a padlocked box with a screwdriver, a hammer, magic, and finally dynamite. The story ends with Benjamin discovering that the box contains a delightful surprise. Detailed and action-filled illustrations make the determined hamster a hit. (Picture book)

Benjamin, a nearsighted hamster, cannot read a "no entry" sign on a door and unexpectedly takes a joy ride through a fun house. Few words and detailed colorful illustrations make this a good read-aloud book for preschoolers. (Picture book)

This is a gentle story of a dog and a ladybug who take Ladybug's seven cousins for a night nature walk on the farm. They enjoy their nighttime discoveries until one ladybug is lost. Captivating illustrations blend with this adventure for the young listener. (Picture book)

A modern morality tale. When self-centered and therefore lonely Oscar is caught inside the mouth of a shark, he is rescued by two small starfish who also deliver a sermon on being selfish. Oscar learns that his arms can be used to hug others and not just himself. (Picture book)

The Bear Detectives are on a case to find the missing dinosaur bone before the Bear Museum opens. They find it but not without the help of hound dog. An easy-to-read book in rhyme. (Picture book)

Three humorous short stories for beginning readers include a suspicious baby turtle who doesn't trust his parents, a fussy dog who wants his cake baked just so, and a proud, young lion who criticizes every animal he meets until the mouse leaves him speechless. Hilarious color illustrations. (Picture book)

An unhappy pig wishes to be like other animals. Quite unexpectedly he meets a wizard who can grant his wishes. Being a lion isn't everything he thought it would be, but a happy surprise awaits him. Amusing pen sketches with exaggerated expressions carry the action. Good for independent reading. (Picture book)

Understanding the language of other animals makes Tom Cat quite remarkable. He's labeled peculiar by fellow cats because he doesn't hunt. After visiting with a wise old hen, he cleverly outwits his friends and becomes accepted. Outstanding black and white etchings enrich the text. (Picture book)

Olga, a wiry guinea pig, makes things happen in her own backyard in nine episodic stories. She speaks French, sounds a fire alarm, and enjoys telling tall tales to Noel the cat, Graham the tortoise, and Fangio the hedgehog. Humorous illustrations provide delightful entertainment. (Picture book)

When Paddington visits the seashore, exciting things happen for the whole family. Punch and Judy shows need to be explained to the lovable bear. A good introduction to the harder series of Paddington Books. (Picture book)

Hester, the pig, sets off on a camping trip only to face a variety of problems: a hole in her canoe, a hole in her tent, a rainstorm, and an invasion of gophers! Hester approaches each problem with creativity and aplomb. The lively illustrations add to the fun. (Picture book)

The Fieldmouse children are having trouble making friends with their new neighbors. Discouraged at first, they soon create their own fun and the tables are turned. A read-alone book. (Picture book)

It's the first day of school and the six little Fieldmice get ready for the big day. Little first-grader Ferdinand isn't so sure he's going to like it. Who wants arithmetic, calligraphy, botany, art, and physical education? A read-alone book with appealing pink and green pen illustrations. (Picture book)

Arthur, an aardvark, decides to change his problem nose, which stops up, gets red, and makes him feel unaccepted by classmates. After trying many other kinds of noses, he makes a surprising decision. This amusingly illustrated book is easy to read. Good for discussion of self-acceptance. (Picture book)

A sly fox steals about the forest spying on the animals to obtain their secrets. Along the way he encounters opossums, rabbits, bears, tree toads, and children. His sneeze, "Whiskerchew," makes his presence known. Unaware of the commotion he is causing, he cozily falls asleep. Good for reading aloud. (Picture book)

Hickory, a mouse, leaves the security of his family home to build his own home in the meadow. Lonely at first, he soon develops a close friendship with a grasshopper. As winter approaches, he realizes that he will soon lose his friend. Soft illustrations complement the warm mood of the story. (Picture book)

An unsuspecting little bear goes for a walk in the forest. Hunters, wild animals, and even capture await him, but he escapes because of the little pencil he carries with him. Colored, stylized illustrations complement the story. (Picture book)

Steven is sent to the store to buy six eggs, five bananas, four apples, three oranges, two doughnuts, and a package of crisps. He gets to the store, but coming home is quite difficult. Strange animals meet him at every turn, but Steven is clever. Amusing, colored, cartoonlike illustrations. (Picture book)

A spunky cat, Henry, is using his unusual skill of walking on his hind legs when the family inadvertently leaves him behind at the ski cabin. He wears the cross-country skis made especially for him and catches up with the family as they are searching for him. Outstanding illustrations. (Picture book)

Bright illustrations and half-pages show a ladybug's pursuit of someone to fight. Each challenge is countered with the ladybug's sneer, "Oh, you're not big enough." After meeting progressively larger animals, the bug meets a whale who slaps her back to her starting point, a leaf she now shares willingly. (Picture book)

When Marie Louise, a little brown mongoose, is punished for being naughty, she decides to run away and find a new home. To her dismay, no other mother wants her. She finally finds a nice lady who loves her, none other than her own mother. (Picture book)

The white cattle egret is impatient to find her own host cow to forage food for her. A wise cow tells her that time will solve her problem. The author presents a gentle lesson in patience in this story of the egret who is searching for time. (Picture book)

A cheerful little shrew and a disgruntled bullfrog spend an adventurous day by the river. Children will identify with the small shrew who convinces the bullfrog that, despite her size, she can have worthwhile ideas. Real characterization is developed in the exchanges between the animals. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Eric and Lucy Bear must make something to sell for the coming bazaar. With the guidance of Mother and Father Bear, they make mobiles, paint rocks, decorate boxes, and design a mural. Directions for the projects are given at the end of the book. Attractive illustrations weave together the story and crafts. (Picture book)

The mouse world of Pippin and Pod makes for fascinating exploration. When the brothers wander off from their mother they find exciting adventures and just enough danger and fear to make them need to find her. Miniature, detailed illustrations create a pleasant illusion of a world populated by mice. (Picture book)

Before hibernating, the forest creatures hold an “Autumn Bake-Off” as a way of fattening up for winter. Parents compete and children brag on their folks' baking prowess. Conflict between vegetables and sugars might add spice to nutrition studies. Pen and ink drawings add charm. Prize-winning recipe included. (Picture book)

An entertaining classic of nonsense verse by a popular Soviet children's poet. The amusing illustrations of the animals by Blair Lent portray their personalities delightfully. The animals constantly inconvenience the author with their calls about their problems. Visual clues add the right touch to this Russian treasure. (Picture book)

Horatio, the cat, lives alone with Mrs. Casey. He has a great life until one day things start to disappear. Mrs. Casey blames him until he solves the mystery of the next-door thief. Another tale is found in Horatio Goes to the Country. (Picture book)

Tyler Toad is afraid of the impending thunder and hides in a hole. Other animals tell him their view of what thunder is, but Tyler refuses to believe them. When the thunder clap finally comes, Tyler follows all the other fearless animals into the hole! Charming full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Older brother Bop Beaver doesn’t like babysitting for his little brother, Bonzo, and he lets him know it. When Bonzo runs away, he meets Mrs. Grisley, who collaborates with him on a way to give Boo his comeuppance. Delightful illustrations enhance this rhymed story. (Picture book)

In spite of his secret plans and nasty tricks, Enormous Crocodile is foiled at every turn in his efforts to eat some juicy boys and girls. Humorous dialogue and delightful watercolors are enchanting. (Picture book)

This is the third episode of Bullfrog's adventures. As Bullfrog and friend Gertrude are camping, they meet a lonely snake Itsi, whom they decide to adopt. This funny, easy-to-read story is complemented by bright illustrations. Other books are Bullfrog Grows Up and Bullfrog Builds a House. (Picture book)

Bullfrog decides to build a home, but he isn't sure where to begin. His friend Gertrude offers suggestions and Bullfrog builds the house, but something is missing. Only Gertrude can supply the answer. Amusing, colored, cartoonlike illustrations in this read-alone book. (Picture book)

This twenty-fourth book of the Babar series proves to be as attractive and appealing as the previous stories. King Babar and Celeste are vacationing at Celesteville-on-the-Sea with their three children. One by one their belongings begin to disappear, and Babar discovers an ingenious plan. Cartoon drawings. (Picture book)

Rufus, an energetic animal, attends school. Most of the time he is shunned, but he longs to be noticed. Through a freak accident when the teacher is out of the room, he rescues one of his classmates. (Picture book)

Mole and Bird are hungry at the same time and see the same worm. In the ensuing struggle and quarrel, the worm gets away. A big cooperative dinner effort almost results in a disaster and does result in lost appetites. The illustrations are bright, bold, and comical. (Picture book)

Ostrich clips coupons, saves string, and hoards her money so that she can travel to America with her friend Elephant. Tired of not having fun because his friend is so thrifty, Elephant tricks Ostrich into spending some of her money to enjoy life. A lesson on economy for early readers. (Picture book)

Rabbit admires his beautiful new flowered rug. Fox, Owl, and Raccoon come to see, but they aren't allowed to step on it so they stay away. Rabbit gets lonely and decides to have a party. But what about the rug? The ending is happy for all. Delightfully illustrated in vibrant color. (Picture book)

Rabbit and Squirrel try many ways to cheer Duck, who hates winter. Nothing helps, including Easter eggs, bright yellow paint, and shoveled snow. Finally it is Duck who finds a true sign of spring and shares it with his friends. Full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Bill, the crocodile, is very happy with his toothbrush friend, Pete, and with school. When he has difficulty writing his name, Pete comes to the rescue. Later, Bill is caught off guard and captured by a crocodile collector, but cleverly frees himself. A read-aloud book for preschoolers with humorous, colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

An unusual story of the strong bond of friendship between a boy and an owl. In lyrical language the owl and the boy share their special feelings about the night. The pink and lavender chalk illustrations and the short length would make this a good book for reading aloud. (Picture book)

Caesar, a vivacious cock, leaves his post as a weather vane and goes for a walk in the village. He lands in a church garden and is spied by the priest who tries to capture him. In cumulative style he visits many craftsmen who in turn join the crowd pursuing him. (Picture book)

Lucie, a naughty little donkey from the woods, befriends Louis, a small boy, and goes to Paris with him. Many escapades, her father’s rescue of them, and a race lead Lucie to realize that there still are some good people in the world. Illustrations add dimension to the subtly humorous text. (Picture book)
Animals/Picture Books

The animals of Sweetpea farm think highly of Crocus, the crocodile, until calamity strikes. His severe toothaches result in the dentist's decision to pull his four long rows of beautiful teeth. An unusual solution cheers him and restores his self-image. Children will enjoy listening to the story. (Picture book)

Snowy, a polar bear, and Woody, a woodland bear, are befriended by Kitty, a gull. All three help each other when hunters come. The concept of protective coloring is clearly observable in the colored illustrations. (Picture book)

Bearymore, a lovable circus bear, runs into trouble while trying to hibernate and plan a new circus act at the same time. He accidentally solves his problems and achieves spectacular success. Soft illustrations complement this high interest story. (Picture book)

When Aunt Hilly tells the family that her son, Foster, is an Inspector with Scotland Yard, Bernard's mouse ears perk up. Off he goes to London where he joins in the search for a notorious jewel-thieving Mole Gang. Adventure and intrigue delight read-aloud audiences. (Picture book)

Elephant and his friends must leave the desert because there is little food or water. After a perilous journey to the forest, they come upon their greatest enemy. The friends summon all that is left of their courage and determination. In a surprise move they frighten away the hunters. (Picture book)

Father, Mother, Little Sister, Little Brother, and Uncle Rocky all live in the same hollow tree. They are hungry all the time and spend hours hunting and fishing for food. Uncle Rocky is a bit daring and has a narrow escape. Beautiful sepia-colored illustrations with appeal. (Picture book)

When the camel chose to live in the desert, he soon found that he lacked certain physical characteristics, so he approached the Animal
King for help. The author creates a tale to explain why the camel has a hump. Humorous and sensitive drawings show the camel's changes. (Picture book)

Henrietta's hen faithfully gives her an egg for her breakfast every morning. But one day the hen disappears. Henrietta searches with help from the other animals and finally finds not only her hen, but eight baby chicks. A simple counting tale that will delight younger readers. (Picture book)

The Glucks are strong believers in luckbringers, especially in a toad that sleeps in their barn. It is pampered and fussed over until Crackle Gluck, a perceptive young girl, sees the foolishness of her superstitious family and takes action. Amusing three-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Although Hattie Rabbit is determined to be helpful, she is loud when she tries to be quiet and she makes a sick friend feel worse. All ends well when the Doctor prescribes ice cream for friend Shirley Rabbitfoot, and Hattie gets to share the "medicine." Easy to read. (Picture book)

Sensible Bear rescues his silly friend, Hound, who falls in a hole. In a second story he shows Hound how to be a good friend. However, in the third episode, Hound teaches Bear a lesson. Funny pen and ink illustrations add to the text. (Picture book)

Young Tom Rabbit is full of tricks in these two high interest, easy-to-read stories. Tom refuses all vegetables from his worried mother and eats only his favorite, hamburgers. Next, mother says no to a pet, but he comes home with a surprise. Humorous and warm illustrations add chuckles. (Picture book)

Sarah's cat, Rotten Ralph, decides to reform. His life becomes so dull that he is easily enticed by a gang of alley cats to join them as they create mayhem. Ralph ends up sad, back in Sarah's arms, but dreaming of another encounter with the alley cats. (Picture book)

Humphrey, the pig, wants to be slim like the cat. So he dances and dances and dances until one day he is so thin that the farmer doesn't recognize him. A humorous tale with softly colored watercolors. (Picture book)

She-Cat walks alone in her English village until she meets He-Cat and gives birth to a kindle of kittens. Loving homes must be found for each kitten; the fond mother chooses carefully among the villagers whose dustbins she knows. Exquisite color illustrations of cats and an English village. (Picture book)

Toad goes off in his fantastic new horse-drawn caravan accompanied by Rat and Mole. This adventure from The Wind in the Willows is illustrated with detailed full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

This first chapter of The Wind in the Willows is a complete story in itself and introduces wise Rat and bashful Mole. This is an enchanting book and an exceptionally good read-aloud story. Many magical full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Claws and Paws, the world's leading animal newspaper, is in trouble, sales are down. Something fresh is needed to regain its readers. The staff brainstorms for a solution. Wasn't Hank Raccoon a cartoonist? Weren't his lively caricatures just the thing? A lively, humorous story with enjoyable pictures. (Picture book)

Jonathan's mouse, who appeared in The House Mouse and The School Mouse, returns. Jonathan helps him share adventures with the school hamster. The hamster gets to explore the mouse's trails and the mouse frolics on the hamster's swings and wheels. Beautifully detailed illustrations lend a strong note of realism to this tale. (Picture book)

Bear has a secret. He is lonely because his friends don't understand. Mother Bear hugs away the loneliness, but it is in a wonderful dream that Bear recognizes the value of his secret. Small homelike pictures in warm, gentle colors. (Picture book)

This brief story is told in the first person by a little girl who goes to the playground with her brother. Huge animals invade the playground and use the children’s equipment. The sister and brother warn the animals as the title implies. Colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

Emily Kitten is happy and helpful until imaginary friends Argentaybee and the Boonie come to stay. Things get difficult for Emily and Mother. But the first day of school brings a real friend and Argentaybee moves to Paris. Delightful two-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Arthur thinks that his pen pal would be a better playmate than his little sister. After all, his sister is a girl and can’t do much. A great surprise for Arthur comes when he receives a letter back from his pen pal. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Arthur, the chimp, returns in this warm brother-sister story. He and his little sister, Violet, discover that to read “hard” words is not enough; they must understand the meaning of the words. Beginning readers will relate to and enjoy this easy-to-read book that is expressively illustrated. (Picture book)

When Mr. Pig marries Selma Pig, they need to move into one house. Their house-moving ends up in a rainy day tea party. Then Mr. Pig tries to plant a garden and he ends up with a hole full of seeds and water. More easy-reading humorous adventures of silly Mr. Pig. (Picture book)

Energy problems confront the Crocodile family. The entire family has to rely on extension cord electricity from the neighboring Boa household until Arthur generates an unusual solution. They all discover something about being plugged in and plugged out. Bright illustrations and a fast-moving story. (Picture book)

Walpole, the biggest and strongest walrus, does not want to become the leader of his herd until one day when he saves the herd from a polar bear. This easy-to-read book will appeal to the beginning reader. The cartoon-like illustrations are bold and humorous. (Picture book)

The mouse looks longingly through the magician's window as the snow falls about him. Food and warmth are worth the risk. But the mouse is clumsy, the magician frightened, and a friendship happily in this clever tale. Full-color illustrations add to the pleasure. (Picture book)

One day Casper's daddy tells him that he is old enough to fly to town by himself. Thrilled with this new privilege, he leaves immediately. Along the way he discovers Rainbow Bird in a cage and a lasting friendship is begun. Appealing, colorful pictures. (Picture book)

Here's a story about the adventures of a resourceful and courageous mouse, Cricket, who loses his comfortable house. After many mishaps, the mouse and the house are reunited and find an exciting new life with a boy and his model train. Small book size and watercolor illustrations are bonuses for young independent readers. (Picture book)

Little Mouse needs constant reminders to say thank you and please, but when he joins Uncle Cheddar on a food hunt, he proves that he has the best manners of all. The loving closeness of the mouse family comes through in the delicately colored pencil drawings. (Picture book)

In order to earn his keep, a large lazy barnyard cat is expected to catch the mice. He makes himself a complete outfit of mouse skins. The mice mistake him for a mouse god and find themselves in a dangerous situation. Excellent illustrations and endpages add to the entertaining story. (Picture book)

As two bunnies hop about in search of carrots, their favorite food, they discover what dogs, foxes, raccoons, and other animals eat. They are disappointed until they meet a kind farmer. Full-color illustrations combine with the text to make an appealing book for the beginning reader. (Picture book)

Cricket always worries. Grasshopper never does. Yet they are the best of friends. The two share a series of improbable, exciting, amusing adventures one summer day and get home in time for tea. Handsome full-color illustrations are carefully designed to match text. (Picture book)

An ordinary day in the lives of Mr. Harry Minus, Mrs. Mary Minus, and their eight children is combined with the description of Mrs. Minus's extraordinary household inventions in this humorous picture book. The author's full-page colorful illustrations add to the fun. (Picture book)

While being transported to London for Queen Victoria's Jubilee, newly discovered dinosaur bones are stolen. The Detective of London is given the case. His adventures take him on a tour of the city as he eats his way to a solution. Charming black and white illustrations of Victorian London. (Picture book)

The good mousekeeper knows exactly what to do for the little mice in her care. Her work is never finished until late at night. Oval-shaped illustrations show the kindly mouse feeding the mice, washing their clothes, and reading to them at bedtime. A good read-aloud book. (Picture book)

Mother Rabbit and Little Rabbit search for a wee little, warm little, snug little winter home. They just miss renting several places but finally find a hollow stump and furnish it to their liking. Rhythmic flowing language; attractive illustrations. (Picture book)

Edward, a successful yak who has everything, is depressed and unhappy. At his psychiatrist's suggestion, Edward reluctantly agrees to baby-sit for young Muffin Puffin, who eats a bar of soap and dents the refrigerator with her tricycle. Edward quickly appreciates his life and finds happiness. Detailed ink drawings capture the humor. (Picture book)

Leese is a spider who weaves beautiful intricate webs that rival the paintings and carvings that are in her castle home. Her webs are so unique that many people come to see them and Leese is thrown into the garden where a whole new world of web-making awaits her. (Picture book)

Lesikin, Joan. Down the Road. Illus. by author. Prentice-Hall, 1978. 3-5.

A snake and a box turtle set out to seek a suitable home. They soon discover that what is good for one is not quite right for the other. Well-drawn black and tan pictures illustrate and carry the action of the story. (Picture book)

Lionni, Leo. Geraldine, the Music Mouse. Pantheon Books, 1979. 4-7.

An amusing and humorously illustrated easy-to-read book. Frog and Toad fly kites, enjoy telling spooky stories, and decide that sometimes they like to be alone. Brown and green pictures. (Picture book)

Grasshopper's pleasant adventures with other personified insects are gently and affectionately reminiscent of human foibles. They deal with everyday, comfortable matters. The softly colored watercolor and ink illustrations authentically detail flora and fauna. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

An easy-to-read book containing four stories from which the ingredients of mouse soup are taken. The mouse convinces a weasel that he needs all the items to make the soup tasty. The amazing stories are charmingly illustrated in muted colors. (Picture book)

Cat was hungry and decided to invite Mouse to dinner and eat him. Therein begins a battle of wits between the two with hilarious results. The author’s colorful graphic illustrations capture the humor of this tale. 1981 Caldecott Honor Book. (Picture book)

McClure, Gillian. Prickly Pig. Andre Deutsch, 196. 4–7.

As the cold winds begin to blow and bring the leaves to the ground, the hedgehog is reminded that he must find a home for the winter. None of the animals welcome him into their cozy homes. Where will he go? Appealing illustrations make this a fine read-aloud book. (Picture book)

Congo, the baby elephant, has a good memory. He remembers all the things the older, wiser elephants have taught him about lions and manners and rules. But one day he forgets the most important thing of all. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Three tales about Bumper Tubbs, the alligator, and his good friend and neighbor, Hornsby, will delight readers. The author has depicted his characters and their humorous adventures in brightly colored full-page illustrations that add to the reading enjoyment. (Picture book)

Captain Toad may well be the great-grandson of the memorable Toad from The Wind in the Willows. Instead of hankering for a motorcar, the more modern Toad is more interested in possessing a motorbike. An exciting book illustrated with pencil and soft washes. (Picture book)

Despite the pleas of his weary mother, Pig Pig does not want to grow up. He clings to his high chair, sleepers, and stroller. One day, when faced with an emergency, he grows up and likes it. Illustrations capture the humor of a very large pig acting like a very small baby. (Picture book)

Walter thinks he lives near the jungle. When he finds his tricycle all bent and other toys broken, his friend Bernie insists it was done by a lion, a tiger, and an elephant, so the boys set a trap. Surprisingly, Bernie is right! Good for creative art and story stimulation; colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

A cat, accused of stealing a piece of cheese, is chased through the town and becomes part of an incredible chain of events. There is little text; the story is told through bright, humorous illustrations done in comic strip style. This is a book that invites children to read along. (Picture book)

Marshall, James. George and Martha: Tons of Fun. Houghton Mifflin, 1980. 4-7.
There are five easy-to-read, humorous stories about two hippo friends, George and Martha. Each brief story is introduced with a numbered cover page. Bright, full-page illustrations contribute to the hilarity of the problems of this friendship. Another favorite book is George and Martha One Fine Day. (Picture book)

Portly McSwine worries so about the success of a party he is planing for National Snout Day that he nearly makes himself sick.
Younger readers will enjoy the full-page color illustrations, older readers will find even more subtle chuckles hidden within. (Picture book)

Meddaugh, Susan. Maude and Claude Go Abroad. Houghton Mifflin, 1980. 6-9.
Maude promises to take care of her brother as the two fox children sail to France on the S.S. Reynard. When Claude falls overboard, Maude rescues him and they hitch a ride with a friendly whale. Told in rhyme, this is a humorous read-aloud book. (Picture book)

In five brief tales, Fred learns to accept his short stature and even finds that being short can be an advantage. The colored-pencil illustrations of the cats express with warmth the sensitive but humorous content of the stories. (Picture book)

Miklowitz, Glo,ia D. Save that Raccoon! Illus. St. Tamara Kolba. Har-
A forest fire destroys Raccoon's home and causes him to move to a town to forage for food. The tale, told from Raccoon's point of view, presents some interesting perspectives. Delicate drawings in brown ink with a red wash add much to this simply told, unsentimental

Mother Mouse warns all her children not to tell anyone that today is her birthday. Mouse Six sets out to find a suitable gift. When the neighbors see him they think he is running away. The result of their plan and Six’s day make a happy story. (Picture book)

Little gosling isn’t the only one in the barnyard who wonders why his father honked when there was nothing to honk about. This amusing picture book gives the solution and makes little gosling proud of his father. Soft pencil drawings add to the delight of this easy-to-read story. (Picture book)

Small rabbit leaves the burrow to play after warnings from father and mother rabbit about foxes, hawks, and humans. Readers will identify with the small rabbit’s heady feelings of adventure, delicious fear, bravery, and pleasure when she meets a friend at last. Charming ink and water wash illustrations. (Picture book)

The runt of the litter is tired of being last. The other pigs shove her aside at mealtime, and she never has a chance to wallow. She aims to have one nice day when she won’t be pushed or shoved. Gray-shaded pencil drawings enhance this read-aloud book. (Picture book)

The answer to one of nature’s puzzling wonders is revealed in this explanation of why the jumping bean jumps. Precise watercolor illustrations combine with a lively text to demonstrate the jumping bean’s metamorphosis from larva to moth. (Picture book)

Isobel’s lion-tamer parents give her a cub for a pet. She carefully nurtures Fierce, who becomes the star of the circus show, arousing jealousy among other performers. Saddened by their attitude, Fierce asks Isobel to find him another job. Quaint, imaginative illustrations extend the action of the story. (Picture book)

When a new vicar comes to the village of Wortlethorpe, the cat Sampson moves to save the resident church mice from almost certain doom. Mice, cats, dogs, and a startled naked vicar stage a mass chase through town in this very funny book. One of a series that uses understated text and riotous hilarity. (Picture book)

Turtle and snail are friends because they both have something: a shell. They share good times and bad, have funny misunderstandings, and learn to laugh together. Delightful illustrations enhance the five episodes in this easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Mother Kara Kangaroo loses her little Joey in a park. People try many uses for her pocket as she wanders in search of her baby, but Kara rejects them all, insisting that her pocket is for Joey! The story ends happily with Joey asleep in his mother's pocket. Cartoon illustrations. (Picture book)

Charlie's birthday present from Uncle Clyde in Africa is a lovely big purple hippopotamus named Elfreda. Charlie learns to take care of her and Elfreda learns to love him. Bold, full-color, full-page illustrations. (Picture book)

There's a different view of the bragging, adventurous toad at the end of the book than is seen on the title page. He boasts to the animals of the forest of his daring escapades only to have one of his victims find sweet revenge during the boasting. Outstanding illustrations. (Picture book)

Ten rabbits living in one house are nine rabbits too many for elder sister Molly, who finally moves away. She revels in peace and quiet until loneliness sets in. A new friendship and a surprise visit from her obstreperous family resolve all problems in this appealing easy reader. The illustrations are pure delight. (Picture book)

Big Bruce, a bear, is the bully of Forevergreen Forest and revels in scaring smaller animals. One day he antagonizes Roxy, a witch, who shrinks him to the size of a chipmunk. Roxy, really a kindly witch, rescues Bruce from predators and keeps him for a pet. Colorful, humorous illustrations. (Picture book)

Clyde looks like a great, brave war-horse but isn't. He's a coward and knows it. When his courageous knight Sir Galavant is attacked by a fierce ogre, Clyde rides to a spectacular rescue. Bold, big full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Wuggie Norple is growing! Lunchbox Louie mentions this fact to his wife and son but they disagree. Each day Louie brings home another animal to compare in size with the kitten. Soon Wuggie Norple is as big as an elephant and the family has acquired quite a menagerie. Delightful illustrations. (Picture book)

Provenz, Alice, and Martin Provenz. A Horse and a Hound, a Goat

Four special animals live on Maple Hill Farm. They are Bashful Boy, a horse; a big brown bloodhound, John; Goat Dear, the nanny goat; and Evil Murdock, the biggest, crankiest goose. Colorful, humorous illustrations bring these characters to life for the young reader. (Picture book)

On a bicycle built for the ten little pigs of Mr. and Mrs. Pig's Evening Out, nine of his siblings rescue Garth Pig, who has gone to buy Whooshes from the lady wolf on the "Volkswagen" ice-cream truck. Adventure plus delightfully piggy illustrations mark this bit of British whimsy. (Picture book)

Every day at three o'clock Sam feeds the animals in the zoo the things they like best to eat: greens for giraffe, red berries for bear. He ever forgets anyone, even the elephant who is so big. Bold, full-color, full-page illustrations. (Picture book)

3-5.

Webster and Arnold, two little mice, find a large box. They like to pretend and the box soon becomes a cave, a train, a restaurant, a rocket, and a submarine. This amusing story is just right for begining readers. Soft blue, yellow, and green illustrations. Another story with these two delightful characters is Good-bye, Arnold! (Picture book)

Gray Goose earns the title "bad," as she nips the farm animals and Billy Boy, who chase her across the countryside. The about-to-read child or preschooler can laugh at the story's conclusion. Lively, amusing illustrations suit the very brief text. (Picture book)

Willy, a little dog, lives comfortably with his family. When he decides to leave his secure but small world, he becomes lost. His family anxiously searches for their lost pet. Black and white illustrations enhance this read-aloud adventure. (Picture book)

Little children will identify with Teddy as he goes about his everyday experiences that are so much like theirs. He plays in the park, eats his meals, and goes to bed. The love he experiences from his safe, secure homelife will be most satisfying. Exceptional etched illustrations. (Picture book)

A very old, very hungry tiger looks longingly through the window of the Rajah's house. By pretending to be a tiger-skin rug, he secures food and company until the night when robbers attack. A delightfully humorous story complemented by bold and amusing full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Old Tiger is blind and dying of starvation. His death will mean that new swift tigers will take over the territory and threaten the small animals. Wise Monkey's successful plan to help Old Tiger demonstrates the value of interdependence. Satisfying illustrations in yellow and sepia. (Picture book)

Three little ducks wander away from their mother and, oblivious to danger, encounter an angry bull, some hungry foxes, a hawk, and a snake. All of the foes meet undesirable fates but the little ducks return home tired and ready for their naps. (Picture book)

Mumble Bear is a dear bear because he does favors on demand for everybody. But he never has time to play his violin. Then self-assertion brings changes. Colorful cuddly-bear illustrations. Good for discussing human relationships. (Picture book)

'A cheerful little Koala is accepted as a new neighbor in a sedate bear community. Then he upsets their routine life with rowdy sleep-walking escapades. Young listeners and readers delight in Koala's need to be himself and laugh at his jaunty singing. Large colorful illustrations are very effective. (Picture book)

This nineteenth-century tale, which bears resemblance to the traditional “Dame Trot and Her Comical Cat,” is a cumulative verse about the marvelous antics of seven cats who sing, spell, dance, and care for sick animals. Soft pencil drawings add humor to the gentle rhyme. (Picture book)

Sixteen humorous brief stories for very young children are illustrated attractively in full color with much detail. The animal characters are childlike in thinking; the rewards of their adventures are enormous, in their unsophisticated esteem. (Picture book)

A conceited wide-mouthed frog, feeling above the lowly fare of bugs, seeks advice from different animals concerning what foods are grand enough for him. Encountering an alligator who likes only wide-mouthed frogs, the frog is satisfied with a mosquito. Illustrations in subdued colors create the atmosphere of the Okefenokee Swamp. (Picture book)

The Great Big Elephant and the Very Small Elephant are best friends. They boost each other’s spirits and help each other through difficult times; the best gifts are the intangible ones. Pleasant illustrations in ink and pastel watercolor. (Picture book)

When J. Grumley Badger’s home becomes flooded, he seeks help from other animals, but he is too grouchy for them to befriend him. Finally he meets Brunhilda, a badger of like disposition, and both lives undergo change. Action and mood are expressed well in finely detailed illustrations. (Picture book)

Jason Everett Bear is good. He eats his spinach, helps his mother, and brushes his hair. However, when he tells his friends how terrific he is, they tell Jason that he is a “Mama’s Bear.” Rejected and dejected, Jason tries to cut the apron strings. A warm story. (Picture book)

Mooch the rat lives happily under a hill in Boston even though his hole is a mess. Then his father, who likes everything neat, comes for a visit and Mooch must compromise. Warm family feeling in this easy-to-read book with lively illustrations. (Picture book)

Mooch, who enjoyed being the messiest rat in Boston, meets his new neighbor, Prudence, who is extremely neat. Mooch's wonderful mess causes a problem when he does not invite his new neighbor for a visit. Illustrations add humor to the simple text. (Picture book)

Two animal friends, a writer and an artist, escape the rush of the city and find refuge on a beautiful, uninhabited tropical island. There they enjoy solitude until visitors in increasing numbers come to the island and the friends must seek a new home away from the rush and pollution. (Picture book)

Vanessa Mouse is very bashful. Each day in school she tries a different way to make friends. Nothing works. How she finally overcomes her shyness and finds a friend is a delightful story. Black and white illustrations. (Picture book)

How much help is too much help? Melvin Dog helps everyone but himself until the day he is ordered to bed, where he becomes as demanding of his friends as he was generous. Expressive gray and white pictures on a shocking pink background add just the right note of incongruity. (Picture book)

All the other animals are busy with their various tasks. However, Thornton Rabbit worries about everything: toothaches, bad weather, mosquito bites, assorted disasters. After meeting an old man who does not worry about anything, Thornton gets a new perspective on life. Detailed illustrations are gentle and amusing. (Picture book)

In these four humorous, easy-to-read Sophie and Gussie stories, the clever squirrel-ladies bustle about packing for a trip Gussie plans to take, cleaning Sophie’s house, coping with a leak in Gussie’s ceiling, and sharing a forest flower. The watercolors catch the comfortable warmth of their give-and-take friendship. (Picture book)

Gregory Goat prefers eggs and juice to the diet of junk that is normal for goats. His parents take him to a doctor and entice him to eat more jackets and boxes. After a terrible stomachache, Gregory finally teaches his parents about what makes a good meal. Outstanding illustrations. (Picture book)

Reddy Rattler feels down because everyone thinks rattlesnakes are bad. His friend, Easy Eagle, urges him to put to good use his greatest talent, rattling. A humorous easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Henri Hippopotamus gets tired of waiting for Pierre Rhinoceros to find him during their game of Hide and Seek. When the two finally catch up with each other they decide that it’s more fun playing together than looking for each other. Humorous illustrations add to this warm story about friendship. (Picture book)

Marvelous full-color illustrations highlight this story of an aristocratic frog, Duke de Buffo Buffo, who enlists the aid of the eminent Alphonse le Flic to track down a treasure chest. Hindered, but not stopped by the infamous Frog Band, the detective leads a riotous chase through a monastery. (Picture book)

Tiffky Doofky, a garbage collector, spends a day of perilous adventures after he seeks advice from Madam Tarsal, a fortune teller, and her enemy, a chicken witch. Witty illustrations fit this silly animal fantasy’s ending that will delight readers and listeners. (Picture book)

A bear emerging from hibernation finds a factory built over his den. He is mistaken for a lazy worker and, despite his protests that he is a bear, is made to shave, punch a time clock, and sit daily turning a light on and off. A satire on automation and corporate business (Picture book)

Steiner, Jörg (translator Ann Conrad Lammers). Rabbit Island. Illus. by

Two rabbits escape from the rabbit factory. Little Brown remembers the taste of clover, the feel of the sun. Big Gray does not. Little Brown accepts the perils of freedom; Big Gray trembles and returns to his cage. Muted full-color illustrations contrast the artificial light of the factory with sun of the countryside. (Picture book)

Stevens, Carla. Pig and the Blue Flag. Illus. Rainey Bennett. Seabury

Pig experiences the pangs felt by many youngsters when his lack of athletic ability makes him the last one chosen for team sports. A game of Capture the Flag and the encouragement of his friends enable him to succeed in this fun, easy-to-read story. (Picture book)

Howard, a duck, misses his flight south with his flock. He tries to follow them, but accidentally lands in New York City. His adventures with a frog and three mice acquaint him with the Big Apple.
When his flock returns in the spring, Howard opts for the big city and his new-found friends instead. (Picture book)

Stone, Bernard, in collaboration with Alice Low. *The Charge of the

This clever spin-off from Tennyson’s “The Charge of the Light Brigade” pictures well-fed, well-dressed mice in battle. The cats steal the cheese and the mice must recover it. The story is told in lively prose and poetry. Appealing colored pictures provide delightful entertainment. (Picture book)

Elliot Kravitz is a porcupine in search of love who finds himself hugging everything in sight. The illustrations make Elliot a very lovable creature, and the happy ending confirms the belief that two porcupines can really fall in love, carefully. Simple pen drawings enhance the book’s unique quality. (Picture book)

Mifflin, 1979. 4-7.

Skunk is foolish and Possum is practical; yet they are good friends.
Four short, humorous tales relate how friendship survives the animals’ apparent differences. Warm, expressive illustrations enhance the episodes. (Picture book)

A badger seeks independence by moving to his own house. He learns he still has to make his own decisions when his neighbor, Owl, convinces him to go to the fair rather than unpack. This lighthearted lesson on choice and responsibility can be read by beginning readers. (Picture book)

Preschool listeners and beginning readers can sympathize with Little Otter's three adventures. He experiences indecisiveness trying to select a gift for his mother, forgetfulness when losing his favorite pine cone, and disappointment about a coasting party. Soft, three-color pencil drawings support gentle, nature-filled stories. (Picture book)

Oliver Pig and his loving family are introduced in this new easy-to-read series. Oliver is the oldest and his little sister Amanda is learning to talk. Mother and Father Pig are very understanding. Appealing pictures illustrate the five tales of this special family. (Picture book)

Five short episodes show a Victorian feline family coping with everyday life. Common foibles and problems are explored with warmth and humor. Natural dialogue adds to the immediacy of the stories. (Picture book)

Aranea, the spider, is a hardworking artist, trying to weave her web perfectly. Although everything from school boys to thunderstorms breaks her art apart, she survives. The story weaves for the younger reader an appreciation for this industrious worker. Pen and ink drawings exquisitely portray Aranea's encounters. (Picture book)

After a bunny grumbles, "Not one more carrot," a displeased carrot elf gives bunny a carrot nose. The funny problems Carrot Nose has with this troublesome nose bring giggles from all young readers. Black, white, and orange illustrations greatly add to the humor. (Picture book)

Doctor Rabbit unexpectedly becomes the guardian of Tiny Tadpole. Helpless at first, Tiny quickly grows into an adventurous young toad, the darling of the forest. Detailed pictures enhance the fantasy and create a warm homey community. (Picture book)

When Spotty Chipmunk sleepwalks away from camp, Doctor Rabbit and Miss Mouse form a search party. The simple text gently calls attention to nature's beauty as the lushly colored drawings concentrate on the animals' reactions of concern, fatigue, grief, and joy. (Picture book)

Tim Kitten doesn't exactly fib but he does tell stories; the other kittens laugh at him. With the help of his ball-playing sisters, one story comes true and he learns to tell the truth. Captivating black and white illustrations of cat family and friends. Read-aloud/read-alone book. (Picture book)

Bear tries to feed himself for the first time and finally overcomes several difficulties. This second book in the "I can do it myself" series will delight the young. (Picture book)

Wriggles the pig likes to wish he had the characteristics of other animals he sees. One day the wishes come true and he turns into a gator-monster. He discovers it is better to be a little pig. Bold, full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Four tales of conflict between a gang of tough-looking but law-abiding dogs and the sinister Alley Cats, who have tender feelings after all, at least at a Christmas party for orphans. The cartoon-strip drawings are outrageously funny in the best British fashion. Cor, the whole thing's a lark! (Picture book)

When Fletcher Fox's birthday comes around, he decides that he is old enough to leave home and seek his fortune. Mother packs a lunch while father gives him several survival tactics to outwit the other animals. An amusing picture book with comical illustrations. (Picture book)

Emmy Lou's family just loves to kiss when leaving or arriving or any time at all. This is fine until Emmy Lou's friend, Rosemary, says kissing is for babies. Soft watercolor illustrations. (Picture book)

Clear, brilliant colors and simple shapes are used to portray the journey of an ant's visit to her friend. She makes her way step by step, over twig and leaf and stone. The repetitive text will appeal to the young child. (Picture book)

Horace Hooper, mouse inventor and owner of Mice Capades, a dazzling ice show starring Rosa Burrow-Minder, is threatened by Gomez Rat King and the Mouse Mafia. Suspense, adventure, and great good humor are all delightfully illustrated in an easy-to-read format. (Picture book)

Spider Jane keeps her web so clean that she has nothing left to eat. Her problem is solved after developing a friendship with a bluebottle fly. These four easy-to-read episodes provide simple, interesting language for primary readers. Humorous illustrations are a bonus. (Picture book)

Two animal friends, Saba and Shana, share everything until Shana leaves their island to look for food. While Shana is gone, Saba feels very lonely and dull until he begins helping his friends. Large illustrations capture this tender account of friendship and female resourcefulness. (Picture book)

Mr. and Mrs. Rat, a Japanese couple, are very anxious that their beautiful daughter Yoshiko marry, but not a rat. As they search, the sun, a cloud, and the wind refuse their invitation. Upon their return a surprise awaits them. Outstanding bright, bold two-color illustrations. (Picture book)
Longer Stories

Pescato is a town cat with many relatives. When he needs help in resolving a crisis in the town, they respond most effectively. This story and seven others about cats are delightfully told. Even non-cat-lovers will appreciate the wit, humor, and skill in this collection.

Junction, a poor little rich mouse, deserts his plush life to seek the love he has been denied and finds the best in unexpected places. Detailed, expressive illustrations add much to the reader's concern for Junction.

Sasha tells the story of his escape with three other apes from the university lab where he was sure they were being prepared for a final and horrifying experiment. An unusual book, with endless discussion possibilities.

A witty account of how Adelaide, a boxing kangaroo; her owner, Spider Max; and Buckingham, the bulldog, put a stop to World War I. Illustrations of exploding shells and flaming airplanes point up the futile horror of war; the portrayal of the antics of Adelaide, the agile heroine, are delightful.

Corduroy Alligator discovers that his old Uncle Tooth, the family ne'er-do-well, can tell fascinating stories of his adventures at sea. He persuades Uncle Tooth to set out one more time. Drawings are like neatly detailed old black and white photographs.

How could Chester the cat convince the family that the cute little abandoned rabbit they had found was really a sinister creature? Chester stars in the delicate line drawings as well as in the story, but everyone wins in the end, including the reader.

A very humorous spoof on the tribulations of being an author or a publisher. The blue moose, a waiter in a forest-side restaurant, writes the best book ever written by man or moose and experiences, the anguish and the joys of writing. A sequel to Blue Moose.

Hamlet is a cat living at the Hotel Algonquin in New York City, a favorite meeting place of literary and theatrical people. One day Hamlet becomes involved in the disappearance of a diamond. A contemporary setting with lapses into cat dreams, this funny book is liberally sprinkled with delightful drawings of cats.

It all comes about because a Waterworks Board man carelessly leaves a manhole cover ajar, permitting the despicable rats to enter the Embassy and spread disease. Bernard, a mouse, realizes the gravity of the situation and begins training the troops. Lighthearted reading with appropriate illustrations. One of the Miss Bianca series.

Hilda, the hen, wants to see her Aunt Emma's new brood of chicks. Her misadventures in traveling the five miles to Emma's farm are described with great humor. Good read-aloud book.

This story, slightly reminiscent of Grahame's The Wind in the Willows, centers on a society of animals whose peaceful existence is threatened by violence and blackmail. Lynch, the stray of the title, befriends the unnamed narrator and together they thwart the evil Sour Kraut. Black and white line drawings add humor to the amusing tale.

Fantasy Worlds

Lukas finds a new life when a traveling magician creates a new kingdom for him. He learns that being king is work and that friends can be found anywhere in any world. A fantasy of exquisite dimension and balance.

This creative fantasy about the interior of a sand castle, the house in the haystack, and the little village under the pine tree's lowest branches awaits the venturesome reader. Blue and tan illustrations blend with the text in this story of fascinating miniature worlds.

This masterful tale of courage concerns a young boy, Fernfeather, who rebels against a society marked by suppression and conformity. Banished to the Gloom-World because he dares to question the power of Olden, Fernfeather discovers truth and realizes that he can help his people escape the darkness of their underground world.

Surprises are in store when readers follow Scott as he explores the castle of his dream; colorful, exciting illustrations pop up to add three-dimensional realism to the fantasy. Last to appear is a teddy-bear—Scott's own—a most comforting discovery. Sturdy, attractive construction; good to stimulate creative writing.

Justice, her twin brothers Thomas and Levi, and their friend Dorian are intricately linked by their supersensory powers into a special unit that travels through time and space. In this sequel to Justice and Her Brothers, the children encounter much danger in their quest to unravel the secret of Dustland.

Justice, her identical twin brothers, and a neighbor friend have supersensory powers. They are able to move about in each others' thoughts. Excellent character study and unique plot enhance this fantasy that is grounded in a realistic setting. First of a trilogy.

Clennen is a licensed musician whose traveling takes him and his family from North to South Dalemark. When he is killed, young Moril inherits the big, ancient, lute-like cwidder said to be charmed by an ancient ancestor. For exceptional readers with a taste for mystery and fantasy.

Concerned about unfair and repressive conditions of poor people living in Dalemark, Mitt attacks the ruler. His plans have adverse effects; he looks for safety and stows away on a boat owned by Hildy and Ynen, who are runaway children. Mitt, soon discovered, is mistrusted, but they travel together to the Holy Islands.
Abandoned by her mother and harassed by a teenage gang, Lucinda, a sixth-grader, lives in the cemetery. Her sensitive presence plus an iron statue of “Beloved Benjamin,” a young boy who had died years earlier, allow the transmission of messages from outer space.

Jack goes on a mysterious journey to Indonesia to find his missing anthropologist parents. With conflicting information on whether they are dead or alive, he searches for the truth in this world and beyond. A puzzling tale of action and intrigue.

A boy and a girl, Rufous and Lantana, journey from the Australian rainforest through grasslands, plantations, and swamps to their destination, the bright gold world beside the sea. They love it, but after a while little things begin to bother them so they return to the lush rainforest. Exquisite illustrations. (Picture book)

The final volume of the Green-Sky trilogy reunites the Kindar and the Erdlings through the discovery of the truth concerning their mutual past, two holy children, and the sacrifice of young Raamo. For devotees of fantasy.

Ghosts, Magic, the Supernatural

When Cosmos comes to England to stay with his cousin at the old mill house, he learns about the family curse. His days at school are miserable being the new boy, but his weekends at home are filled with great fun until unexplained happenings begin to occur.

The fourteen stories of unusual occurrences, ghosts, and magic powers capture the imagination of the readers. The stories include a water spirit, a weeping witch, a boy who drowned a hundred years ago, a shivering orphan from the past, an invisible rope. Insightful, imaginative drawings capture the magic and mystery.

Three friends, Witch, Goblin, and Ghost, share daily experiences about being afraid, grumpy, and bewildered. Gentle pencil drawings match the mood of these six easy-to-read short stories. Beginning writers may be inspired to compose a book about a friend after reading "Goblin's Book." (Picture book)
Ghosts. Magic, the Supernatural

Dudley the stork is scared by a ghost in his house one night. The next midnight, Madame Kreepy holds a seance for Dudley and his friends. The ghost's arrival presages a surprising turn of events. Good to read aloud and help allay fears. Humorous pictures add to enjoyment. (Picture book)

As thirteen-year-old Rose Rita vacations with her neighbor Mrs. Zimmerman, who is a genuine witch, unexpected mysteries await them. Looking for a magic ring brings danger to both and they narrowly escape harm. This suspenseful story of black and white magic is well-paced and is the last of a trilogy.

Hobberdy Dick is a good hobgoblin of the seventeenth century. His loyal care of Widford Manor and his devotion to the family are crucial when evil forces try to prevent the betrothal of gentle Joel Widdison to his beloved Anne Seckar and to steal the manor treasure. Suspenseful story.

Barney Bipple has many wishes but most of all he wants to be eight instead of six. Why? Life would be more exciting. A special kind of magic changes things overnight and then he has second thoughts about making complicated wishes. Appealing drawings complement this lively story. (Picture book)

A sequel to the author's Ghostly Animals of America. Based upon American historical fact and legend, fifteen tales tell of such strange phenomena as the Demon Cat, who stalks the corridors of the United States Capitol, and the phantom wolves, who are said to appear to campers in Indiana. Bibliography.

In this thirteenth of the Dorrie books, Dorrie finds a slip of paper that was dropped by her mother witch. She follows the directions and conjures up a friendly ghost. Screebit gives Dorrie many exhilarating experiences. An entertaining story illustrated with soft pencil sketches. Good for reading aloud.

Jethro wants to go fishing on his eighth birthday with his big brother, Thomas, who reneges on his promise. Jethro gets so angry that when he encounters the magical jumbie, he is unafraid of the fearsome creatures the jumbie conjures. The jumbie helps Thomas have a change of heart and all is well. Caribbean setting and language. (Picture book)

Liang is a poor boy whose one wish is to paint. One day he is given a magic paint brush and all that he paints comes to life. Unfortunately this is noticed by an evil emperor! The delicately detailed watercolors capture the texture of life in ancient China in glowing colors. (Picture book)

True to its title, this collection of twenty-three stories of the occult will keep the reader on the edge of the chair. Witchcraft, the werewolf, the zombie, and magic, universal subjects found throughout the world, are included. Brief accounts of authors, mostly nineteenth-century, are appended. Easy reading.

Feathertop is a scarecrow brought to life by Mother Rigby's witchcraft. He captivates a town and a lady until a mirror reflects the truth. Excellent for reading aloud, this is a charming retelling of Hawthorne's story in verse, handsomely illustrated in black and white. (Picture book)

Aaron, a mute boy, searches for his mother during a blizzard. He falls into the clutches of the weird Miss Grackle, the proprietress of a mysterious old inn. After many strange experiences under her spell, he is reunited with his mother, who in turn has long searched for him. Gloomy, haunting drawings.

During a frightening thunderstorm, Grandpa holds the boy in his lap and tells about how he, himself, lost in the woods on a stormy night, found a bag of old bones in a deserted cabin. One hair-raising adventure leads to another. Funny ink drawings in blue, black, and white. (Picture book)

Mrs. Gaddy has a real problem as she tries to oust a ghost. None of her plans are successful, no matter how cleverly she carries them out, but there was one plan that she didn’t consider. The story and rose-tinted illustrations are humorous and satisfying. Good for reading aloud. (Picture book)

In Jewish folklore, a dybbuk is a ghost who inhabits another person’s body. When Deborah, an extremely naughty little girl, drowns as a result of a prank, she enters the body of Hannah, whose most exciting activity is embroidering. A rollicking tale with action-packed illustrations portraying life in a nineteenth-century Hungarian village. (Picture book)

All kinds of ghosts—old, new, noisy, real, and imaginary—are discussed in an anecdote-filled, calm style. The author suggests asking questions before accepting stories as true. Charcoal drawings add to the eerie quality.

A guaranteed child-pleaser! This collection of stories and poems, both old and new, is often hilarious. Colorful cover and black and white line drawings put faces on the monsters, ghoulies, and creepy creatures of the title. This book would be fun for reading aloud.

One night an imp, a goblin, and a scalawag met in a dark place, and each one tells a scary boy story. When a boy really comes, they are first frightened, then intrigued by his scary story, and all become friends. Full-page illustrations increase the reader’s delight. (Picture book)

Jack leaves home with his shadow and flute, and follows the lure of the Big Water until he climbs far out on the harbor’s edge to an abandoned fishing shack. Nearly drowned by tide and storm, Jack's despair changes to courage with the highspirited help of three old seamen's ghosts.

Magic was a Wynd family tradition, practiced for countless generations and now being carried on in a modern-day Massachusetts community. With little call for: sorcery, the five Wynd children conjure harmless enchantments until something interferes with their spells and a family of dragons begins to cause problems for everyone.

Amanda is awakened by a crash and is startled by a huge ghost demanding her favorite baseball hat. Being refused, the ghost grabs other prize possessions and zooms out the door. She follows it and is blamed for the ghost's thievery. Illustrations in pink, brown, and gray washes (Picture book)

Joel knows that if he is to become a great magician, he must practice, practice, practice. When a wizard-like magician, the Great Merlini, transmits magical powers to Joel, the boy feels guilty because it is all too easy. A humorous story with a thoughtful ending.

A simple Japanese woodcutter is threatened by a band of outlaw samurai warriors. Enchanted sticks help him rescue a kidnapped princess. When danger is over, the sticks lose their magic and serve to cook the old man's fish. Soft line drawings enhance this satisfying tale of innocence rewarded. (Picture book)

When thirteen-year-old Leonora moves with her widowed mother, a brother, and a sister into an old Georgian townhouse in England, she becomes disturbed with the haunting presence of previous occupants. An emotional, dramatic climax forces her to accept herself and her changing family. Illustrations enhance drama of story.

This collection of supernatural tales is firmly rooted in present-day, middle-class English family life. The central figures are children and the more successful tales are haunting indeed. There is an occasional fillip of humor. The black and white illustrations are especially effective.
Ghosts, Magic, the Supernatural

Blossom Culp has the disturbing ability to communicate with ghosts and the habit of turning Bluff City upside down. Set in the early 1930s, our heroine's adventures climax in London’s Madame Taussaud’s Museum and Buckingham Palace. An appealing and strong heroine, an intriguing plot, and eccentric characters make an excellent novel.

One rainy day, when a group of children try to frighten a witch with their homemade monster, she surprises them with her kindness. They reluctantly accept an invitation to her secret garden, which holds many bewitching surprises. Beautiful detailed illustrations hauntingly enchant young readers. (Picture book)

When lonely Catherine consistently fails to get her busy mother’s attention, she threatens to disappear and does. The understated text is extended by colorful, stylized illustrations. (Picture book)

In a collection of thirteen short tales, old ghost stories of the region are merged into modern settings and events. In each story, people long dead haunt the living and test their reasoning and imagination.

This easy-to-read story tells of a sad little red house in search of a family to live in it. A goblin helps the house by giving it magical walking shoes to go looking for a family. Bright child-like illustrations blend with this happy-ending adventure. (Picture book)

Being a miniature figure in the real world can be exciting and dangerous. That’s what happens to Grasshopper, a young boy, after he eats magic candy that causes him to shrink. He makes friends with many animals and is able to solve his mother’s problems. Pen drawings and a glossary are included.

Paul and Lance are linked by a recurring nightmare. They search for and find a small boy, the key to their dream, who possesses amazing powers of the mind. The three share extrasensory mental abilities that make them the focus of a kidnapping plot. A unique chiller that raises thought-provoking questions.

A small boy, Alan, a bad-tempered dog, Fritz, and a mean magician, Abdul Gasazi, together make a story of enchantment. The strength is in the haunting, wonderfully conceived black and white illustrations. Each detailed drawing speaks of mystery and magic. 1980 Caldecott Honor Book. (Picture book)

Thirteen stories set in Canada, London, and Finland provide an eerie reading experience in the tradition of Edgar Allan Poe. A few display a humorous twist; most revel in the bizarre. For readers who delight in the supernatural, these well-constructed tales are a feast.

Humor

The Old Man and his three old pets advertise for a charming companion. Cuthbert Q. Devir arrives, a wolf disguised as a German shepherd. He does wonders for the household until they learn his true identity: a wolf bank robber. He reforms and they all move to Arizona for the wolf’s health. Humorous illustrations. (Picture book)

Surreal illustrations set the scene for this tale of calamity in the town of Chewandswallow. The weather sends all the food to the town. It rains soup and snows mashed potatoes. When the tomato tornado ensues, the townspeople set sail on peanut butter sandwiches to a new town. Flashback style. (Picture book)

Quentin catches a leprechaun and wishes for all the money in the world. Of course, that means that no one else has any money at all. Quentin visits the White House and the world reaches the brink of war before a way is found to stop Quentin’s Midas touch. A funny story with some lighthearted lessons in economics and racial prejudice.
Humor

Unnoticed by her parents, who are relaxing at the beach, Shirley ensures herself an exciting day as she imaginatively embarks on an adventure of fighting pirates and buried treasure. Most of the information about her two worlds is found in the illustrations, accompanied by only brief text. (Picture book)

Mother is tidying the bathroom while Shirley is taking her bath. Unknown to her, the little girl sets off on an imaginary journey. Bright colors show Mother's real-life activities on one page and Shirley's fantasy adventures on the opposite. (Picture book)

The king collects everything: tea cups, keys, buttons, toothbrushes, and shoelaces. When he gets the flu, he finds himself bored with his usual collections, but finally wafts off to dreamland collecting pleasant sounds. A charming collection of pictures for identifying and comparing.

Jessie McWhistle runs away because she doesn't want to take a bath. She tries living with Mrs. Chicken, Mrs. Pig, and Mrs. Cat but decides home is best. Good read-aloud book. (Picture book)

An imaginative young boy wishes he could do magical and marvelous things with his mother. Since few books are available for Mother's Day, this one might serve as a model for a class project on making wish books. Colorful and easy to read. (Picture book)

The problems of sharing a house together are viewed by both the nice old lady in her parlor and the happy rat family beneath the floor. A handsome rat-catcher provides satisfying answers for everyone. The simple colorful illustrations yield fresh delights with each perusal. (Picture book)

Grandmother Gooseberry bakes a cake for the king's birthday. As it passes from one traveler to another on its journey, unbelievable misfortune accompanies it. This amusing story with brightly colored pictures reminds one of an old-fashioned picture book. Primary children will enjoy this cumulative tale. (Picture book)

How is McBroom going to keep the magical marvelous one-acre farm from evil Heck Jones? Easy. Just mix eleven children, a popcornmobile, self-flipping eggs, and home-made sunshine. This good read-aloud story offers excellent possibilities for creative dramatics. Black and white illustrations.

Determination to protect Mother, who doesn’t return from the cellar, gives Harry the courage to attack the thing that he knows is hiding behind the furnace. Under Harry’s fierce blows, the terrible thing shrinks, as all fears do when stoutly encountered. Attractive drawings in brown, bright orange, black, and white. Surprise ending. Available in Spanish: Harry y el Terrible Quensabeque. (Picture book)

The mountains of Yurt are so high that no weather reaches them until a peddler sells Ida Fanfanny four magic paintings: Summer, Fall, Winter, and Spring. She enjoys the seasons ‘they bring and learns to appreciate the good and bad of each one. Good read-aloud picture book for discussion of weather. (Picture book)

The elegantly dressed, attractive Werewolf family sets out for a family reunion, but as the full moon rises their features begin to change. Their teeth become fangs and their faces get quite hairy. The Werewolves’ behavior at the party is as wild as their appearance. Brightly patterned illustrations add to the hilarity. (Picture book)

Missy Tilly likes to bake bread and send it to Mr. Simon’s store. One day she prepares the dough and places it on the windowsill for the yeastie beastsies to do their work. She falls asleep and then the action begins. A lively story with brown and tan folk art illustrations. (Picture book)

An old couple lives in the mountains. The old man becomes tired of eating beef every day, but after his wife scares off Bloodcoe the bandit he learns that there are worse things than a lackluster diet. A clever plot with appropriate illustrations for this easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Masha's mother gave her a drawing book. Each page shows the reader what she's drawn. Gradually something less recognizable begins to take shape and Masha's imagination is off and running! Delightful child-like drawings. Told for use with primary art classes. Told in rhyme; based on a story by Korney Chukovsky. (Picture book)

After testing one sturdy table, strong enough for an elephant to dance on, an old man and woman open a restaurant with twenty sturdy tables for twenty dancing elephants. Illustrations blend with this ridiculous, humorous tale. Recommended for the reader or listener with sophisticated imagination. (Picture book)

Everybody needs somebody to love, and lonely Joe, operator of a steam-powered backhoe, decides to care for the live dinosaur he and his hoe discovered in the depths of the earth. This fantastic odd couple story is illustrated delightfully with line drawings and soft shades of green watercolor. (Picture book)

Captain Ben of the pirate ship Jolly Molly finds a note in a bottle from prisoners begging for rescue from Spooky Island. With the aid of his parrot Polly and his brave crew, he defeats Bad Bart and saves the captives. Easy reading; full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

Giant Putney, an apple farmer, has had no experience in rescuing Fair Damsel, who has disappeared. He is unprepared for dealing with ogres, dwarfs, and dragons, but he has no choice. Fantasy lovers will enjoy this spoof. Could be a discussion-starter for contrasts and parallels of characters.

Herbert doesn't want to spend his life looking at other people's knees. He sets out with his teddy bear to travel the world. Philomel, who is tall, too tall according to her; do's the same. What they find when they meet each other is what the reader will find, short or tall. (Picture book)

You can have any frabjous, far-out, marvelous, or plain common thing you want, if you'll just want till the First of October. March is too dusty, April's too gusty. This fun-filled beginner's book in rhyme will stimulate reading interest and laughter. Colorful, humorous drawings. (Picture book)

Rusty is sent to visit Uncle Louis in time to help him and his friend Millpond, a would-be magician, finish their junk parts paddle steamer. Rusty stows away to sail to Africa; Millpond conjures up a terrific storm! Detailed watercolor drawings. (Picture book)

Humorous reading for a change of pace is offered in this comical story. Mr. Skinner's house is very narrow and his big concern is to find someone to share his new home. Although he does have pets, he wants a real friend. Cartoon-style drawings complement the energetic story. (Picture book)

The old man squeaks too much with his new fiddle, so his wife bangs on a pan to drown out the noise. When the farm animals all run away, the chase leads the old couple through storm and fright, but to a happy ending. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Dr. Clothears and colleagues tranquilize a northwoods black bear and attach electronic equipment to him for hibernation research. Byron Bear thwarts science and maintains bear autonomy. Intriguing illustrations also show simple scientific drawings; labelled: Excellent corollary to class nature study or discussion of values in animal research. (Picture book)

Henry imagines his bathtub is the bottom of the ocean. What he sees and does there will delight the reader. Colorful lighthearted drawings add whimsy to this easy-to-read book. While the ending is excellent, this book might also be used to allow youngsters to suggest a different conclusion. (Picture book)
Humor

When young Artur Bobowicz discovers that there are no Thanksgiving turkeys left in the stores, he brings home a 266-pound chicken. Henrietta becomes a pet instead of dinner and the difficulties of keeping her are explored to the zany utmost. Simple black and white drawings add to the wild humor.

Big Max, who is reminiscent of Sherlock Holmes on a smaller scale, travels by umbrella to find Marvin the missing moose. His expertise as a detective enables him to get on the right track with a short time. A funny story complemented with hilarious pictures. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

A group of children befriend Methuselah, an old man with an extremely long beard. Methuselah's gang becomes notorious because of their hilarious adventures in their quest to find the old man's long lost son. Good read-aloud book.

There's no question about it. Peter Penny likes to dance. In fact, he dances when he should be working and the captain of the ship tells him to leave. He sets out to dance around the world in five years and then expects to claim his prize. Appealing illustrations. (Picture book)

Septimus Bean's wonderful machine is impressive but quite useless, despite the king and queen's enthusiastic suggestions. At last the perfect solution is found, much to everyone's delight. Clever rhymed verse that is fun to read; colorful cartoon illustrations. (Picture book)

An old woman is amazed and frightened when her cat, spoon, turnip, and floor start talking to her. She runs off to tell the king only to find more talking objects on the way. Good to read aloud or for dramatic play. (Picture book)

Rounds, Glen. Mr. Yowder, the Peripatetic Sign Painter. Holiday House, 1980. 7-10.
Mr. Xenon Zebulon Yowder bills himself as "The World's Bestest and Fastest Sign Painter." In three separate tall tales, he capsulizes a lion's roar in hopes of becoming wealthy, drives a steamboat through the streets of New York City, and develops a giant bull snake by means of body-building exercises. The stories are also published in separate volumes.

Not penguins, not tigers, nor cows, but elephants inhabit Daddy's mustache in this imaginative, funny, warmhearted, offbeat picture story. Large, open black and white illustrations are a delight. (Picture book)

A small boy experiences deep pangs of guilt when he tells a fib. A small, green monster, the Lie, lurks behind a bush and grows to enormous proportions as the youngster struggles with his feelings. He finally tells the truth, the Lie shrinks, and a lesson is gently and humorously imparted. (Picture book)

Grandma Tildy buys a lot of different animals to become her pets. She does not want an elephant, but she gets one. The elephant saves the day by performing a neat trick. The story is made even funnier through the illustrations. (Picture book)

Morris the Moose gets a cold and his friend Boris the Bear becomes exasperated trying to make his confused, sick, friend well. Cartoon illustrations match the silly humor. Youngsters heartily enjoy this easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Boris requests a bedtime story to put him to sleep. Morris tells his version of a Mother Moose story. Boris becomes so frustrated with the story he cannot sleep. The humorous illustrations and text, plus easy vocabulary, will appeal to beginning readers. (Picture book)

New Tales in Folktale Form

Fourteen of Hans Andersen's beloved tales, including well-known ones like "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" and "The Emperor's New
New Tales in Folktale Form

Clothes" and lesser-known ones such as "The Darning Needle" and "The Flying Trunk" are collected in this unique volume. Beautiful full-color illustrations catch the mood and flavor of the tales. (Picture book)

Eighteen favorite Andersen tales are newly translated into highly readable, elegant prose, accompanied by handsome full-color and black and white illustrations. Included are "Tinderbox," "Princess and the Pea," "Snow Queen," "Emperor's New Clothes," "Wild Swans," "Little Mermaid." Excellent for reading aloud.

The test of a real princess is nearly as classic as this Andersen tale. The princess in this version is bent over with pain after sleeping on the pea, even though it was separated from her by twenty mattresses and twenty featherbeds. Full-color humorous illustrations. (Picture book)

Hans Christian Andersen's tale of how Kay is taken away by the Snow Queen and how his playmate Gerda searches for him is exquisitely illustrated in full color. Gerda finally finds her friend and her love frees him from the Snow Queen's spell. (Picture book)

The tin soldier watches the beautiful ballerina who stands on one foot without falling. His admiration for her is resented by the goblin, who casts a spell. The soldier has a series of adventures before he and the ballerina are reunited, sadly, forever. Illustrations are well-detailed, in bright, clear colors. (Picture book)

The sensitivity in this retelling is matched by the delicacy of the illustrations. The book is large in size, which allows Thumbelina to appear dwarfed by the birds, animals, and flowers. An elegant tale of the tiny girl who is rescued by the loving swallow and finally finds her king. (Picture book)

The ugly duckling is ignored and teased until he realizes that he is a beautiful swan. One of a series of twenty-two books in the "Fables and Fairy Tales" collection. Other Andersen tales in the series are Emperor and the Nightingale, The Emperor's New Clothes, and Thumbelina. Fresh, vivid, full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

When Brother Magro and Brother Grasso embark to visit a faraway shrine they don't anticipate getting lost, being suspected as spies, and worst of all, being thrown into a dungeon. To while away the dreary hours Brother Grasso collects spotted stones; eventually this becomes the enticing game of dominoes.

The collection contains forty-five tales by the modern Dutch master whose works have been compared with those of Hans Christian Andersen, the Brothers Grimm, James Thurber, and Oscar Wilde. Detailed pen and ink drawings extend the text.

Joseph, an orphan in a Baltic Sea village, meets an old man who gives him a gift of silver dancing shoes. Joseph's dancing brings joy to his village and throughout the region. Finally, his life complete, he passes the shoes on to another little boy. Softly shaded black and white illustrations. (Picture book)

Prince Hal is considered plain and ordinary by the King and Queen, but his forbidden friendship with the young monster Humbert and the exciting adventures they share transform him. Youth, loyalty, and love triumph in a satisfying way over pompous, thoughtless convention. Sensitive, evocative black and white wash drawings.

A young prince's passion for the sea is tantalized by a blind old mystic who tells him of the ocean's beauties. When the prince becomes king, he commissions Demetrius, a young speege diver, to describe the undersea panorama. Demetrius tells only unembellished reality and the king learns a major lesson. (Picture book)

The "kvetch" of the village was Meshka. She complained about everything until one day her pseudocomplaints turned into real ones.
This humorous tale about the village complainer is delightfully illustrated. Yiddish flavor. (Picture book)

Sarah's Aunt Mag is a wicked witch and Sarah is lonely until she becomes friends with the unicorn. But Aunt Mag has plans for the special magic of the unicorn's horn; Sarah and her animal friends foil the evil plot. (Excellent black and white illustrations in this easy-to-read book.) (Picture book)

When the giant yells for food, people take him all they have, to save themselves from harm. Young Bob proves a way to change the intolerable situation. In retaliation, the giant swallows all their wind. Bob's courageous solution brings good results, even for the giant! (Bright illustrations. (Picture book)

Ten stories about dragons, knights, princesses, clever fishermen, and brave girls are told with wit and style. Fun to read. Black and white illustrations.

Spring has come to Calabria and Big Anthony moves very slowly. Strega Nona thinks a little night life might make him more speedy. Her magic ring does the trick but it also brings trouble for handsome Big Anthony. Full-page color pictures and gentle, funny text create a good story. (Picture book)

A youthful knight has never fought a dragon; nearby lives a dragon who has never fought a knight. Both read up on the subject and practice with dummies. The Big Fight, however, is a glorious fizzle, so the castle librarian starts them on a cooperative project. Full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

A ship crashes through stormy seas. The narrator, exclaiming in barking verse, is sure all is over, especially when a whale bumps the ship. Narrator Jonah turns navigator and leads the lonely whale home. Illustrated with black and white drawings, this poetic retelling is 'n'to read aloud. (Picture book)

The real Jim Bridger, who was a nineteenth-century mountain explorer in the American West, is recast into a legendary figure resembling Pecos Bill or Paul Bunyan. Clever stories and delightful illustrations combine to create innocent humor in these three tall tales.

A plump old woman is joined by a civilized dragon and a cat of superior intellect in a bumbling, but finally successful, attempt to locate a kidnapped princess. Humorous black and white drawings and decorated pages enhance an already appealing story.

Foreman, Michael. All the King's Horses. Bradbury Press, 1977. 7-10.

Watercolors evoke a dreamlike Asiatic Steppe setting for this amusing tongue-in-cheek tale of a princess who will marry only a man who can outwrestle her. Will the handsome son of a woodcutter succeed? The unexpected outcome is likely to be especially satisfying to today's girls. (Picture book)

These six witty and entertaining stories are a real treat for a variety of ages. One meets ducks, horses, roosters, crickets, raccoons, and the swineherd. All are unique characters and each story is complete in itself. Excellent, elegant illustrations.

Little Yukio experiences troublesome dreams and soon learns that other members in his village are suffering from the same plight. Quite surprisingly, he discovers a baku, an eater of bad dreams, who really needs his help. Ink-on-parchment paintings complete this beautifully told story inspired by a Japanese legend. (Picture book)

Princess Mirabelle knows that the silver colt in the forest must always run free. Her father covets the colt for his stable and tricks Mirabelle into luring the colt to capture. After losing both he understands the net that can catch the wind. A fine retelling of the unicorn legend. (Picture book)

People in many parts of the world hold festivals in the spring to lure away any evil spirits that still might be lurking from winter. Villagers join with masks, chants, and dances to free themselves of the Banshees and Hobble Goblins. Bold prints done in full color. (Picture-book)

Four stories in folktale tradition tell of a Brownie who would not be ignored, a boy who was put under an enchantment by the fairies, a peddler who found the secret of happiness from the fairy queen, and a plain girl who saved a baby from becoming a changeling.

Jack and Bertie, a loving couple, find a blue stone. Bertie swallows it and turns into a chicken. In turn, Jack becomes a rooster, pigs become loaves, and loaves become pigs. Only after the couple solves a musical riddle does life return to normal. A humorous, modern morality tale.

The princess is so beautiful that all who look upon her are blinded by her radiance. Though many seek her hand, none are willing to risk looking at her directly. She doubts love. The jester finally helps the princess to know the true meaning of love. The illustrations illuminate the ethereal mood. (Picture book)

Clotilda, a spunky fairy godmother, turns unbelieving Tommy into a donkey. Tommy's sister Betty, who finds magic in her everyday world, is granted three wishes. Preschool listeners will find the magic enjoyable, not threatening. Humorous, colorful illustrations complement the easy-to-read text. (Picture book)

Five short stories are based on cliches that are developed into humorous tales. Castles in the air, a fine kettle of fish, the last straw, too clever for words, and a barrel of fun are the themes. These are brief stories that are fun to read.

A series of five modern fables, delightfully written, portray life's cycles and questions. Black and white sketches of woodland plants and animals are imaginative and detailed. Will fit with philosophy, nature study, ecology units, and fantasy. (Picture book)

After the children and Keeper of the Carrousel have gone home, the carrousel animals, descendants of mythological beings, leave their pole positions to gambol on Green Knoll. Proud Pegason flies too high and plummets into the world of Man, who threatens to cement him in place as a statue.

Georgie, a wisp of a child, wishes more than anything to fly. A migrating Canada goose teaches her, and the two spend many happy hours around and above Walden Pond. The philosophy of Henry Thoreau is interwoven in the plot. 1981 Newbery Honor Book.

The wolf brothers invite Miss Piggy to a picnic in this delightful spoof on the traditional tale. Miss Piggy leads them on a wild chase that ends when she pushes them out an attic window to a stream below. Humorous black and white line drawings highlight the nearly wordless story. (Picture book)

Animal characters, from crocodile to ostrich, are depicted in richly colored illustrations and their tales are humorously told as modern fables with fresh, new morals. Good for class discussion. 1981 Caldecott Award. (Picture book)

A robber, wishing to plunder in the protection of the dark, threatens to kill the rooster who crows up the sun. The rooster tricks the robber into accomplishing the task for him. Framed illustrations provide a stage-like setting for the story. (Picture book)

Each morning the lazy farmer tells his wife he'll help her when the pigs do some preposterous thing. The wife makes the pigs do the feat; but the husband always reneges. At last she outwits him. Outstanding full-color illustrations depict a European peasant setting with much humor. (Picture book)

What happens to a frog prince when he joins real frogs in a pond?
Prince Rupert got sick eating bugs, but he made friends with Randall the frog and had long talks about the moon and stars and friendship. A funny book with a delightful twist at the end. Illustrations underline the humor. (Picture book)

Mama Sheep leaves home, warning her four lambs not to let Mr. Wolf in, for he wants them for dinner. But Mr. Wolf, after two unsuccessful tries, captures three lambs. However, this story ends with a happy surprise for Mrs. Sheep and the reader. Delightfully illustrated. (Picture book)

The moneylender collects rubles every month for loans made long ago. Widow Petrovna must pay regularly and include a high rate of interest. Finally she works out a plan that finishes the paying. Katya carries out the plan to perfection. All the other peasants benefit from Katya’s courage.

A girl admires the beauty of the stars and wishes to have one for a husband. Her wish is granted. She goes to live in the sky with her star husband and her son, the Moon. Soon she becomes lonely and wishes to return to mortal life.

The wise man, Pundabi, lives on a high mountain with Alt, a young boy. One day the King demands that Pundabi solve a mystery but doesn’t tell him what the mystery is. Richly colored illustrations accompany this philosophic tale. (Picture book)

All the people in the village are squabbling over their differences. An old woman comes and plants a garden full of many different flowers to show the villagers how beautiful differences can be. How the villagers learn about love and stop their quarreling makes a delightful tale. (Picture book)

The milk is sour so the king’s tea isn’t perfect. He blames the servant, who blames the cook, who blames the next person, etc. When the king overhears the cow being blamed, he stops the blaming and everyone has a wonderful tea party. A funny cumulative tale. (Picture book)

Zed leaves his rockin' chair, with a lunch from Ma in his handy bag, and ambles away to work for a little money. The governor promises Zed a bag of gold for killing four monsters. Whimsical illustrations complement Zed's spunky adventures. Good read-aloud book.

In Treasure Valley live three brothers. Two are cruel and greedy while the youngest one is kind and loving. Though his brothers are as harsh to him as they are to the neighbors, Bluck remains loving. The King of the Golden River rewards him and punishes the older brothers. (Picture book)

Tom, the seventh son of a seventh son, is sent to serve the ogre. His task of turning a disreputable-looking, gravelly-voiced gryphon into a sleek and beautiful songster proves impossible. However, Tom manages to charm the ogre and make a better life for the townspeople. Humorous, colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

A curse by a spiteful queen, a young king in love with a beautiful princess, a faithful jester, and a mysterious bear are all included in a fantasy adventure with elements of the classic fairy tale. Well written, beautifully detailed illustrations. Highly recommended for fantasy readers.

Steele, Mary Q. The Owl's Kiss. Greenwillow Books, 1978 8-12

In the title story, the first of three short allegorical stories, a girl overcomes her fear of owls when she admits to a dishonest act. "The Last Great Smoke" tells of a man who regains his honor by making restitution for a crime he did not commit. In "Dita's Story" a girl resists using her powers of witchcraft for personal gain.

Charlotte and Charles live alone on an island. When settlers arrive, Charlotte is delighted and Charles is wary. Doubts and superstitions among-the settlers threaten the gentle way of life of the original inhabitants, reflecting the wide range of human behavior. Detailed colored illustrations. (Picture book)

Using quantities of paint and clay, the Lord creates the world in seven hectic days with the help of two enthusiastic cherubs. A funny book, but not for those who would be offended by a Lord who looks like Santa, takes showers, eats chocolates, and spanks naked cherubs. (Picture book)

An old fable, the tortoise and the hare, is creatively and amusingly retold. The young reader will relate to the well-defined personalities of friends Harry and Shellburt. Large illustrations capture the gentle spirit of this easy-to-read tale. (Picture book)

Patrick lives in a thatched cottage in Ireland with his mother. His prize possession is his little brown cow. Trouble appears when the fair folk steal his mother and try to steal his cow. Patrick's courage manages to thwart the fairies' evil designs and break the spell that holds his mother. (Picture book)

The mysterious child found in the forest by woodcutters grows up to be beautiful, vain, and cruel. Denying his old mother, he suddenly becomes hideously ugly and is forced to learn compassion in a hard world before assuming his rightful place. Glowing, luminous, full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

A kind-hearted young fisherman, Pilchard, sets out to find the Water of Life for the king. His adventures along the way, and the secret he eventually finds, are told in a simple, eloquent style. Full-color paintings add humor and warmth to the story with a familiar theme. (Picture book)

In China a young farmer, poor and shy, lives alone. One day he finds a Moon snail and the Goddess White Wave comes to care for him.
His life is transformed. A beautiful tale, delicately and sensitively told. Exquisite, monochromatic drawings. (Picture book)

The dream weaver, a blind gypsy storyteller, weaves dreams for the price of a penny. Seven people seek her stories and she tells haunting, imaginative tales of love, life, and death. Good for class discussions.

Seven haunting tales make up this unique collection of short stories for the reader with a taste for the unusual and the imaginative. Superbly written, each story has a flavor of the past with a touch of modern myth. Elegant, handsome charcoal drawings.

An old man shows a blind princess how to see with her fingers when he carves scenes and figures on a golden stick. The gentle wisdom of this tale, set in Ancient China, is made even more dramatic by exquisite pastel drawings. (Picture book)

The prince decides to lead the simple life. He claps his hands and his servants prepare his plain clothes and lunch. He finds a farm where he learns that simple means hard work, his attitude changes, so that he becomes a much simpler, nicer prince. Colorful illustrations; good for choral reading. (Picture book)

A young Korean boy rescues some baby pheasants from a giant snake. Days later the snake, disguised as a beautiful young girl, captures the boy and threatens to kill him unless he accomplishes a seemingly impossible task. Delicately tinted line drawings capture the mood of the tale. (Picture book)

Strange and Unique Creatures

Jeremiah sets out to find the thief of his grandma's strawberry tarts and meets many unusual characters. The action is fast paced, and the illustrations whimsical. The total production adds up to fun. (Picture book)

Latki, a young girl, loves her home in Red Rock Canyon, but she must leave to rescue her imprisoned sister from a giant lizard. She's assisted by her animal friends, the ant, the lion, and the eagle. Illustrations contribute to the magical quality of the story. (Picture book)

Lazy Ninny Nanny tells Gram she'll catch a leprechaun to make them rich for life. Ninny Nanny catches the leprechaun, but the little imp tricks her into much more than finding his hidden gold. Illustrations are in soft browns except for the leprechaun's green hat. (Picture book)

The wind wants to keep his cold head from getting goose bumps, so he chooses a special hat to blow off and pull down over his ears. His blowing causes confusion and surprise. Children will relate to the ridiculous fun the wind causes. Detailed pen and ink illustrations add humor. (Picture book)

In the midst of a bath, Monroe is transported to a desert island and back again by his imagination, a blue beastie with two horns on its nose and a little smile on its face. Through fresh, clear colors, economical lines, and a sparse text, the adventurous spirit of childhood is captured in this deceptively simple book. (Picture book)

A delightful picture book for any time of year, and especially for Halloween. Four little witches, flying upside down, lose their hats. Four lucky cats use those hats as houses until the Kerbooms! Outstanding art work. (Picture book)

Cameron, Ann. Harry (the Monster). Illus Jeanette Winter Pantheon Books, 1980. 4-7

Harry, a forty-foot monster, is afraid of children. Only when he bravely rescues his bullfrog friend, does he discover that children are more afraid of him than he is of them. Soft, detailed illustrations nicely balance the sensitive subject of being afraid. (Picture book)

Two children go out to play and are caught by a ferocious giant who plans to eat them. They escape through a die-cut trapdoor, and the story has a satisfactory ending. The clever die-cut illustrations will appeal to young children. (Picture book)

The good deeds of Harry, a friendly giant, get him into trouble, and the mayor sends him from town. A wicked wizard threatens the villagers, but Harry returns and surprises them all. Preschoolers will enjoy listening to the story and sharing its comical pencil illustrations. (Picture book)

When Sarah’s mother scolds her because the house is upside-down, Sarah enlists the aid of her giant friend, Mr. Zub, who actually turns the house upside-down. Children will enjoy watching Sarah and her parents cope with upside-down sinks, stoves, television sets, and stairs. (Picture book)

This oversized book—appropriately so—contains two poems and four stories about giants. Along with the well-known giant who lived atop Jack's beanstalk and Oscar Wilde's selfish giant are Fergus McGrath, the Connemara giant, and the giant who built an enormous hill near Shrewsbury. (Picture book)

Helga is a lovely troll who has no dowry. To keep the affection of handsome Lars, she uses her troll cunning and skill to win a dowry in the world of people—and a new suitor. Charming illustrations. (Picture book)

A thief has overheard the farmer burying his gold beneath the Hey Hey Man's tree and sneaks out to steal the money. How the Hey Hey Man pursues him and recovers the gold make a hilarious tall tale. (Picture book)

"Come, follow, follow me . . ." invites the reader to the magical world of elves, fairies, gnomes, and trolls. The delightful variety of poems and brief stories is enhanced by the numerous colored and occasional black and white illustrations. Appealing book. (Picture book)
Strange and Unique Creatures

A young boy in his Granny's "jungly wild" garden discovers a Brontosaurus with eyes as "bosky and benign as warm night skies." The careful details of the vivid illustrations make this fantasy seem quite real. (Picture book)

A companion book to the author's South Star is the story of Megan, daughter of giants, who tries to find the lost King Brendan, her sister's husband. Aided by a sun bird and a boy, she locates Brendan, who is held captive by lionlike men on an island far out to sea. The exciting story is enhanced by vivid imagery and several levels of interpretation.

Megan, daughter of the giants, flees for her life when the Screamer attacks her home. The haunting tale of her escape with the help of the boy Randall and the south star is illustrated with pen and ink drawings.

The Grollican is a creature who picks on feisty-tempered people. Colin is bothered by its nasty magic and tries to outwit it. When he leaves Ireland for New York City, he is sure he is rid of it. Alas, the wicked one is there also. A rollicking tale.

A glorious feast of color, this book is rich in imagination and fun. The tongue-in-cheek documentary examination of gnomes—their history, their sociological and physiological data, their folklore and daily life—provides endless pleasure for readers and browsers.

A little boy has the magic ability to change people into animals. When he changes his father into a bear, a wild romp begins. Furniture is overthrown, rooms are flooded, and a circus performance takes place. The illustrations are rich in humorous detail. (Picture book)

Alphonse, the "tadpole" that Louis received from his uncle in Scotland, outgrows not only the bathtub but the apartment as well. Louis realizes that Alphonse needs a swimming pool and the problem of providing one is solved with the help of the librarian. Large color illustrations and short text make this a good read-aloud book. (Picture book)
Modern Fantasy

Giant boots appear mysteriously outside the door. First the father disappears while investigating the noise made by the boots, then the mother. Only the boy remains to solve the mystery and to find his parents. A fantasy with a different twist.

A tradesman walking along a country road spies a leprechaun who, according to tradition, must lead the person who discovers him to a pot of gold. The leprechaun tries to fool the wise tradesman, who is determined that he won't be tricked. (Picture book)

Morgan senses that he is not like the other trolls. More interested in the life of the village, he becomes a forager who steals from the local people to learn more about them. His knowledge about the world ultimately enables him to save the troll community.

Nell, a witch who casts spells in rhymes, can change adders into ladders and flowers into showers. Her mistake is finding a rhyme for her own name. Delightful drawings on full and half-page formats allow the spells to be surprises. (Picture book)

Gavin Fraser doesn't believe in witches until he meets Meg Leckie and watches her heal an injured dog. The mystery of Meg's disappearance and Gavin's discovery of his own talents further the suspense of this novel, reminiscent of a Scottish folktale. Black and white illustrations.

Two little girls find a strange, naked male child on a Midsummer Eve in Cornwall. Christened Adam, the boy doesn't speak or need to eat or sleep. In spite of the loving care of the Ptearne family, the child dies in a year and a day as the local witch had predicted. When a boy is born to the family, he is named Adam.
Strange and Unique Creatures

Twelve-year-old Adam Bramble senses a strangeness about the new home-help the moment she arrives: His account of the mysterious, occasionally frightening, events that surround his lively family during an unusually bitter English winter is a fascinating story that involves a retelling of the classic myth of Demeter and Persephone.

Miss Folly is a witch pig whose delight is riding the wind. When a demon casts a spell that causes Miss Folly to crash to earth, she is saved by those whom she has aided. The poetic text and pen and ink drawings capture the joy of swirling above the earth.

Each child sitting in a circle adds to the story of the horrible monster the group is creating. When the monster begins to eat children, the group discovers that they are afraid of their own creation. One of the youngsters saves the day and eliminates the monster! Scary pictures (Picture book)

Marcella has a guardian angel who is a pest. She hovers over Marcella and comments on her behavior, muttering words like "Rude!" or "Stingy!" Marcella's dislike of the angel grows until she learns the game of flip-flop. Bold illustrations in reds, greens, and browns capture Marcella's knobby-kneed charm. (Picture book)

Fiery Kurochka, the little hen, has one ambition, "to kill that fool Giant who takes my eggs!" Little but mighty, she succeeds. This humorous tale with a decided Russian flavor has large pictures that make it an excellent choice for reading aloud. (Picture book)

Achilles, the last of the centaurs, needs new clothes and is fitted by an English tailoring firm. When the fitting fails, Roderick, the tailor, is fired. The children help him and, with Achilles' timely aid, all turns out well. A whimsical tale, colorfully illustrated. (Picture book)

An ice girl lures a boy and a girl into an igloo, which then flies to the far North. There she leads them into an icy cave from which they must escape or be frozen as specimens of earth children in an ice zoo. Clever wordplay enlivens the conversations and cartoon illustrations add to the fun. (Picture book)

A baby dragon pops up in Henry Berg’s life. An older dragon is sent from Wales to bring back the baby dragon. An old lady helps in the rescue, and Henry Berg learns a lesson about dragons and himself. An unusual and interesting story.

A talking bone, fed up with being owned by a nasty witch, takes up with a plump and pretty pig and then saves her from the clutches of a suave fox. Large watercolor illustrations are rich in humor. (Picture book)

The worst person in the whole world has a change of heart when he meets the ugliest creature in the world. The story is humorously told and is an excellent choice for reading aloud. (Picture book)

Jethro finds a large egg in the park and takes it home to hatch. Much to his surprise it turns out to be a dinosaur that grows at a rapid rate. Rhyme as well as humorous drawings make this easy-to-read book especially enjoyable. (Picture book)

Towne, Mary. Goldenrod. Atheneum, 1977. 12-up

Goldenrod answers the Madden’s ad for a baby-sitter and is hired. On the very first day of her employment, the five children discover she has extraordinary powers. Exciting adventures are in store for the Madden family as their friend transports them through space.

A muddy creature crawls out of Berkeley’s Creek and asks, “What am I?” The responses are puzzling and disturbing until he meets another creature like himself, a bunyip, an Australian folk-monster. Australian terms such as billabong and billy will need explanations; otherwise, the story is simply written and appealing.

A Great Cloud Dragon is the only hope to save the city of Wu from attack. When a fat old bald man claims to be the dragon, no one believes him. Only Han, the poor gatekeeper, treats him with respect and kindness. For Han, the dragon saves the city. (Picture book)

A boy lying on his back watching a cloud-filled summer sky spots a bear in the air. The bear becomes real and speaks in rhyme, which eventually exasperates the boy. The book is useful for word play and imagination-stretching activities. (Picture book)

On a hot summer day at Fe-Fi-Fo-Farm, five giants decide to go on vacation. Dab, the smallest giant, organizes a fun-filled camping trip at a mountain lake. Lively drawings contribute to the appeal of this easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Melusina, a mermaid who cannot speak, violates the merfolk's code and is seen by Jess, a twelve-year-old girl with a hearing impairment. Melusina must leave the sea and live on land, where the two become close friends. A skillfully written tale that blends fantasy and reality.

A small girl tells of the horse with whom she rides at night to beautiful and wonderful places. In the morning she eats breakfast and goes to school. The book is sensitive to the role imagination plays in the lives of children, and the illustrations complement the poetic mood. The book is useful for discussions of imaginary playmates. (Picture book)

Talking Toys

Annabelle, a lonely toy chimpanzee, feels left out when Sarah, her owner, goes to the park. While searching for her owner, Annabelle has a number of action-packed adventures. This is a story of caring and the love children have for toys. (Picture book)

Here is the fanciful tale of a toy nutcracker who comes to life, fights a battle with the seven-headed mouse king, escorts a little girl through the Land of Sweets, and in the end becomes her true love.
Delicate illustrations reflect the nineteenth-century German setting of this story, which was used by Tchaikovsky in his famous Nutcracker ballet.

Teddy Bear recounts his colorful past to a little girl on a rainy afternoon as they look at the pictures in his scrapbook: cowboy, circus performer, even a Hollywood actor. An appealing story with pen illustrations. (Picture book)

Bunby, a stuffed rabbit, doesn't like being left alone and sets off in a toy sailboat to seek adventure. After a wet mishap he shares a glorious afternoon with the forest animals before returning home to the playroom. A gentle story for the youngest believer. (Picture book)

This nicely illustrated anthology of eerie tales about dolls with unique powers and lives of their own will attract readers of all ages. Among the authors are Agatha Christie, Algernon Blackwood, Jerome K. Jerome, and Hans Christian Andersen.

Little Elsa's three stuffed bears have a way of getting lost and finding themselves in mischievous situations. Preschoolers will enjoy the exciting world presented in these adventures. The text is brief and encourages listening. Bright, clear pictures enhance this tiny appealing book, the first in a series of six. (Picture book)

Lovers of dolls, teddy bears, ponies, farms, and fishing will respond with delight to this summertime adventure. Edith, a doll, and her friend, Little Bear, use apples and kindness to tame a wild pony. This oversize book is illustrated with full-page photographs. (Picture book)

Time Fantasy

This compelling story tells of two Scottish children who visit the ancient stones of Arden and slip into future time. There they discover a world where people with limited resources live in peace, though pursued by a barbaric tribe. Strong characterizations and an interesting exploration of value systems.

Jenny comes to Gran's ocean home to take care of her grandmother, who has a broken ankle. Gran, who has been waiting thirty years for a sign from her dead husband, soon has Jenny watching for a signal from the sea. Jenny, her father, and Gran come to a richer understanding of each other.

The Morgans, three American children and their father, arrive in Wales, still grieving over the death of Mrs. Morgan. Mr. Morgan loses himself in work and Jen and Becky slowly adjust, but Peter hates everything until he finds the ancient tuning key of a sixth-century harp. The mystical power of the key opens the past and allows Peter to be reconciled with his family. 1977 Newbery Honor Bock.

Bosse, Malcolm J. Cave beyond Time. Thomas Y. Crowell, 1980. 12-up

Fifteen-year-old Ben, recently orphaned, finds himself attached to an archeological team with his uncle in Arizona. Unable to get involved in the dig, Ben wanders off toward a mountain and finds himself in a strange world where sloths and camels roam America. Later, after his return, he offers a theory to interpret certain findings of the team.

It is summer in England when the Dark rises for the last, most dangerous time. The circle gathers: Will Stanton, the Welsh boy Bran, and the Drew children. In the mountains of Wales the Forces of Light, with the aid of the crystal sword, vanquish the Dark. This highly imaginative, myth-laden novel brings to an exciting climax The Dark Is Rising sequence. Magic departs, and the mortals' world remains.

Roger's life becomes entwined with that of his seventeenth-century counterpart, so the actor-ghost's family may rest in peace in the Elizabethan house that had been his family's home. Roger acts bravely to save his father from fatal involvement with an actor-ghost. Overtones from Hamlet are subtly woven into plot and theme.

Obsessed with war, Conrad is determined to build a tank. He dreams of World War II as a thrilling adventure in which he is an energetic... courageous tank driver. The story shifts from reality to fantasy, leaking back into time as Conrad comes to believe that he is participating in a past war.

Justin, on vacation in Egypt with his parents, teams up with a mysterious companion, Nathan Alistant. The two boys are history buffs, but their sightseeing trips turn into high adventure as Nate follows a quest from another time and place in this exciting blend of mystery and fantasy.

Freeman, Barbara C. A Pocket of Silence. E. P. Dutton, 1978. 12 up

Caroline has a recurring dream of the cottage where she lived until her mother's death. On her sixteenth birthday she returns to the village, meets a ghost, and solves a riddle about the past and future. A fresh twist to the haunted-house theme.

A black child's dream fantasy of long ago and far away Africa is explored through pictures and narrative. Black and white pictures lend a dreamlike quality to a vision of Africa that includes the familiar and the unknown, the ancient and the modern (Picture book).

Lively, Penelope. A Stitch in Time. E. P. Dutton, 1976. 10-12

Perhaps because her parents are so reserved, Maria, an only child, talks to trees and animals. On holiday by the sea, she becomes involved with people and events of a hundred years ago. A lively neighbor boy, a formidable landlady, and a sampler contribute to the fantasy story of a girl on the verge of growing up.

Floods have caused humans to evacuate Earth, leaving it to the animals. Stanley, a small, furry, personlike animal, has never seen another like himself. Aboard a small boat, he and five assorted animals travel to London to find his identity in this anthropomorphic satire on human foibles.

Twelve-year-old Erikka longs for escape from her home and family. She is determined to become an artist and create a place of peace and beauty. The magic of a candlestick and a painting transport Erikka to a moonlit mountain where unexpected events help her solve difficult problems and accept herself and her family.

Papa lies down with little Eric until the youngster falls asleep, and then the action begins. The pictures on the wall become enlarged, and Eric and Papa become part of the scene. Appealing watercolor pictures capture the action of the story.

John and Margaret are picnicking in the woods when they spot a strangely dressed, weeping man. Curious, they follow him into Wolf Woods and find that they have been sent back in time to the fourteenth century to rescue a man under enchantment.

Vacationing on a desolate section of English coast, Michael finds an ancient Viking ship. He and his two half-sisters soon discover that the Resurre has the power to short-circuit time. An extraordinary blending of fact and legend about the medieval Saint Cuthbert. No illustrations; some profanity.

Nick’s investigation into the strange sounds and odors in his family’s old Florida house leads him to a late-night meeting with the ghost of an eighteenth-century pirate. Traveling back in time, Nick finds himself in the midst of the search for the fabled King Solomon’s Mines.

Additional Modern Fantasy Books

Barrie, J. M. Peter Pan. Illus. Nora Unwin Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1954. 10-12

de Regniers, Beatrice Schenk May I Bring a Friend? Atheneum, 1964. 4-8

Freeman, Don. Dandelion. Viking Press, 1964 5-8

Gág, Wanda. Millions of Cats. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1938 4-7

Gramatky, Hardie. Little Toot. Putnam Publishing Group, 1939 4-7

Kraus, Robert. Leo the Late Bloomer. Illus. Jose Aruego Abelard-Schuman, 1971 6-9

Kraus, Robert. Milton the Early Riser. Illus Jose Aruego and Ariane Aruego E. P. Dutton, 1972 5-8

Leif, Munro. The Story of Ferdinand. Viking Press, 1936. 4 up

Potter, Beatrix. The Tale of Peter Rabbit. Frederick Warne, 1902. 4-7.

Rayner, Mary. Mr. and Mrs. Pig's Evening Out. Atheneum, 1976. 4-7.

Rey, Hans A. Curious George. Houghton Mifflin, 1941. 4-7.

Seuss, Dr. Horton Hatches the Egg. Random House, 1940. 5-up.

Suppose a secret formula is invented to prolong life forever? What is the world like? Young Evan Clark finds out when he wakes into the year 2164. The revolution of which he becomes a part is violent and raises questions for the reader. For sci-fi buffs.

A father in twenty-first-century Moscow relates six stories about his adventuresome five-year-old daughter Alice. She befriends strange animals, makes interplanetary visits, and finds lost Labutsilians visiting earth. Lively illustrations complement a tale that vicariously transports young readers into a fantastic future.

Two young scientists are sent to Vanaris, a planet in another solar system; their mission is to exchange metal samples. Suspense and humor combine when one member of the team is disguised as a donkey. Black and white illustrations.

This fast-paced tale includes a bumbling sheriff, the lovable town drunk, a writer of sci-fi potboilers, and an invisible space pilot. The fourteen-year-old narrator uses considerable subterfuge to provide the materials needed to repair the spaceship and prevent it from blowing up and destroying much of the country.

Within his giant spacesuit, Tyro is small, weak, and totally helpless. When he crashes in Australia, a young boy crawls inside and is trapped there just long enough to make a strong personal contact with the frightened spaceman. An unusual tale with unusual illustrations.

A mysterious terror strikes an expedition of scientists on a hauntingly beautiful planet. Young Karen Orlov and biologist Theodora Leslie are protagonists in this well-written novel that portrays the growth of friendship against a background of fear.

Willie has spent the years after the holocaust in a sealed house under the care of robots. After escaping, he searches for other survivors from his planet. A story of growing up.

Fifteen-year-old Kepler, the first child to have been born on Moon, visits relatives in Conshelf Ten, an undersea colony on Earth. Both Moon and Conshelf Ten are taxed without representation, and both are ripe for revolution. A beautiful heroine is diverted from radical violence to passive resistance. A rousing story with social and historical analogies.

Set in a regimented twenty-first century, the novel relates how John begins to question life after he has tasted fresh water for the first time. As a result, he runs away to join others who by their own resourcefulness are surviving outside the "Party." The well-developed plot has an optimistic and unexpected ending and encourages readers to think about the quality of life today.

Time stands still throughout the world when a tribe of huge ants steals the Great Timepiece. Mr. Feldhammer, the Keeper of Time, chooses the wrong moment to go on vacation, and frantic efforts to locate him follow. Two-color illustrations capture the action of this exciting tale. (Picture book)

Charles Wallace and Gaudior, the unicorn, travel through space and time to find the missing link that will prevent the start of war. For advanced readers this is a companion volume to A Wrinkle in Time and A Wind in the Door.

During fifteen-year-old Menolly's first week as an apprentice in the Harper Hall, she deals with resentment from adults and other students, women and men, who don't believe a woman can become a Harper. Her own feelings of inadequacy must be overcome before she can become the first Harper Journeywoman. Second of a trilogy.

McCaffrey, Anne. Dragonsong. Atheneum. 1976 12 up

The planet Pern has a rigid society in which it is difficult for Menolly, a novice Harper, to pursue music. Finally, she flees home and discovers a clutch of fire lizards and a Master Harper who accepts her. Well written and inventive with a strong, admirable heroine. First of a trilogy.

When the thing from outer space is first observed, it is taken for a trick-or-treater on Halloween night and then for a robot from Buddy McGee's school space project. A conversational text with red, blue, and yellow illustrations boldly outlined in black. (Picture book)

Murphy, Shirley Rousseau. The Ring of Fire. Atheneum. 1977 12 up

Thorn possesses the gift of seeing a power that, if discovered, means death in the countries of Ere. As one of the Children of Ynell, he is charged by Anchorstar with finding others who live in the city of Burgdeeth and leading them to escape. First in a series.

Nöstlinger, Christine (translator Anthea Bell). Konrad. Illus Carol Nicklaus. Franklin Watts, 1977 8 12

When Konrad, a well-behaved seven-year-old from the Factory, arrives on Mrs. Bartolotti's doorstep, she can't remember ordering him but good-naturedly accepts him. How Konrad learns to adapt to Mrs. Bartolotti's erratic lifestyle makes a delightful read-aloud story.

Aboard the spaceship Aloha, the reader heads out on a mission vital to the planet Earth. At each crucial moment in the action, a decision must be made that determines which page is read next and what happens to the spaceship.

With scouts from other basketball teams and syndicate members hot on the trail, Danny has to hide an eight-foot, green-skinned Besumi from the planet Brennah, whom his father has recruited to play pro basketball. A light-hearted story that sinks a few well-placed shots concerning racial prejudice.
Science Fiction

Pinkwater, Daniel M. Alan Mendelsohn, the Boy from Mars. E. P. Dutton, 1979. 10-12.

Two boys, browsing through bookstores for collectible comic books, purchase occult materials that deal with mind control. With study and practice, the boys not only accomplish mind control but experience a bizarre adventure on the lost continent of Waka-Waka. A humorous, somewhat scary story.

William goes to the dentist to have a tooth filled. From that moment, life becomes out of this world. The tooth now receives radio programs and other messages, including the news of an invasion from outer space to steal our junk food. Fantastic events portrayed in a humorous vein accompanied by cartoon-like drawings.

Left to take care of himself while his parents are on vacation, Victor watches a late night television program in which a lizard quintet plays music. Through a hidden community of intelligent lizards, Victor learns that Earth is to be invaded by the Pod People. While probing these strange occurrences, he meets Chicken Man, an odd character who holds the key to these mysteries.

Jack travels by VOYA-CODE to another planet to visit his aunt; his body stays asleep on Earth while a programmed dummy does the traveling. He discovers that his aunt is a dummy like himself and sets out to locate her real self. A blend of science fiction and mystery with a logical plot.

Two twelve-year-old boys discover a strange, slithering, snapping bean plant. One strange encounter after another leads the pair into dangerous adventures and UFO investigations from the Air Force.

Scott Gale, an earthman, accidentally lands on Torin, a planet inhabited by a society of marsupial beings. This tale, told by Dorn, the son in Brin's Five, tells of a shy mountain people whose lives are altered by contact with Scott.

Boo, a spaceman, visits earth and becomes friends with young Bobby. Bobby enjoys seeing how many tricks Boo can do, but Bobby's parents and friends have difficulty believing an alien being is really visiting them. (Picture book)

In the year 2121, in the American apartment city of Bosyork, lives adventuresome, preteen Rebecca and her family. She and her robot, Watson 11, form a detective team that helps two lost children. Their unusual alien friends and futuristic lifestyle make for stimulating reading.

Additional Science Fiction Books

Verne, Jules. Twenty Thousand Leagues under the Sea. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1925. 12-up.

Historical Fiction

Prehistoric Times

Tor, a young cave boy appalled by the cold, hunger, and death among his people, courageously ventures beyond the known. Proving that the land does not end with the forest, he returns to his people, who follow him southward in the hope of finding a warmer land.

Before recorded history, when men live in caves and woolly mammoths walk the earth, Kimba is discovered to have the power to conjure up game for the tribe. His desire to hunt, his tribe’s need for food, and the mystery of the cave paintings make this a fast paced, exciting novel.

Abandoned by his family because he was wounded and thus a burden, Tragg, through determination and his belief in a magic bracelet, survives and becomes an important member of another family. An exciting portrayal of the nomadic peoples of prehistoric southeastern America.

The Old World

Lud, an orphan boy in Britain at the time of the Roman conquest, befriends a young elephant that has escaped from a Roman galley. Lud and the beast help and protect each other, and finally are given a permanent home where Lud is greatly rewarded for his courageous act of kindness to a fatally wounded man. Beautifully illustrated, a volume to treasure.

A framed piece of Jerusalem blue glass is their only connection with home after a brother and sister are kidnapped by Viking invaders. Taken to Denmark, they are drawn into a political plot that is certain to involve bloodshed. Set in ninth-century Europe, this is an exciting tale of courage and intrigue.

Little Edo hides the thimble from older brother and sister Pieter and Anna. There is a rollicking search throughout their house and the streets of Amsterdam. Beautiful full-page color paintings authentically detail life in seventeenth-century Holland. Also useful in the social studies and art curricula. (Picture book)

Oliver Cutler, thirteen, is a good horseman, clever, reliable, and a spy for General Cromwell. He is sent to Oxford to infiltrate the homes and hangouts of King Charles' advocates. In doing so, Oliver develops his own value system, while contributing to the causes of Parliament. Sequel to A Messenger for Parliament.

Eight-year-old Love Brewster tells the story of the Pilgrims' stay in Holland before they emigrate to America. His father, William Brewster, is bitter against King James, and many tensions are involved. Illustrated with heavy woodcuts.

This lively and literate retelling of Cervantes' Don Quixote makes the adventures of the wild-eyed tilter at windmills accessible to young readers without spoiling them for the full-length version. Large black and white illustrations capture the absurdities and touching nobility of the man of La Mancha as well as the more down-to-earth characteristics of Sancho Panza.

This exciting, imaginary diary of Tutankhamen begins with his eighth year, about 1334 B.C., and continues throughout the events of his colorful life. The background information it provides answers many of the questions children are prone to ask. Diagrams and black and white drawings enliven the entries.
Exploring the New World

Jestyn and Thormod are tenth-century blood brothers bound by oath to avenge the death of Thorimod's father. Their search takes them out of the country of the Vikingkind and down Russian rivers to Constantinople. Jestyn finds a home and a new way of life that ends his wanderings.

Lubrin, a chieftain's son of the Iceni, the horse people, is thrust into a leadership he does not seek but must accept—along with the sacrifice of his life for the lives of his people. Set in pre-Roman Britain, the origin of the white horse of Uffington is given plausible explanation.

Pearl and her brother, Gavin, are orphans. To escape a life of servitude they join a troupe of wandering minstrels. Pearl discovers a love of singing and a gift for composing. A fascinating glimpse of life in thirteenth-century England.

Barbara Cammerloher married Jacob Schreter on Christmas Day, 1682, in Vienna. Barbara was twenty, Jacob was forty-seven, and the marriage was an arranged one. This fictional account of Barbara's life during 1683 is brilliantly constructed through letters, diaries, municipal records, medical books, and the like. Thus the reader observes Barbara grow from girl to woman against a background of historical accuracy.

Greek history comes alive in these short stories that show the courage and determination of three young people who risk safety and security to aid Themistokles in the battle to save their country during the Persian Wars.

Exploring the New World

Traveling with his family from Mexico to California, Felipe and his pet burro, Filomena, grow up quickly. Vivid illustrations portray not only the warmth of the boy-pet relationship but also the hardships of the journey. An easy-to-read history book, based on the expedition of Colonel Juan Bautista de Anza in 1775. (Picture book)

Julian Escobar, a young Sevillian Jesuit seminarian, joins a Spanish expedition and sails for the New World to be a man of God to the natives. Shipwreck, treachery, and greed change his life. He finally must choose between death for himself and the enslavement of others. Set in Mexico in the 1500s.

Rain Dove, a strong Cherokee woman, tells of her life across two generations. Through her powerful story, the beginning of the end of the Cherokee way of life unfolds. Their lands were invaded, the Spaniards came, and the invisible fire of smallpox wiped out large numbers. Well researched and magnificently told.

A young warrior learns that war is horror, not glory, and that the enemy is not a beast but a man like himself. The story is authentically told in the context of sixteenth-century Cherokee tribal life. Clear, beautiful line drawings provide much accurate detail. Useful in discussing the social issues raised by war as a solution to human problems. (Picture book)

Eighteenth Century

World

In late eighteenth-century England the slave trade has been officially abolished but continues to thrive. Emmie helps a runaway before she sets out with her sea captain father on a dangerous voyage. A shipwreck, secrets about her family's past, and a search for her mother's family add excitement to this fine historical novel.

Spotted Flower is lost on the plains when she finds a horse, or ponokomita, the first any member of her family has seen. She survives the dangers of being among her people's enemy, the Snake, and returns to her Kainan Indian family with the horse. This event marks a change in the life of her tribe.

Picking red kermes bugs to sell for making scarlet dye, Marie is cold and discouraged. She sneaks a ride into town in Grandmother's wagon, hoping to find another way for her family to earn money. She doesn't realize that people will notice her lace collar! Set in eighteenth-century France and colorfully illustrated, the story provides interesting information about dye-making.

Set in eighteenth-century Osaka, the book focuses on the ancient Japanese art of puppetry. A thirteen-year-old boy tells an intriguing and absorbing story of the theater and everyday existence during this lawless period.

Presto's world is narrow and filled with drudgery as he turns the spit that rotates the meat on the blazing hearth in London's Fortune Inn. Then life takes an exciting turn for the turnspit dog when a young puppeteer arrives and Presto joins the exciting street life of eighteenth-century England. Black and white sketches.

Colonial America and the Revolution

An eleven-year-old boy is captured and taken to a small village on the New Jersey coast following the American Revolution. A bay, hidden by an island, is the center of a pirate operation led by the evil Captain Grey. The boy and his sister overpower the thieves, end the piracy, and escape.

Peter, a twelve-year-old orphan, is taken into the home of a stern Quaker man in colonial Pennsylvania in 1767. Trying to prove his worth, Peter assists in searching for two runaway indentured servants. When he finds them, he aids them in their escape and in so doing learns of the complexities of the Quaker's personality.

The start of the American Revolution is seen through the eyes of a British drummer boy at the Battles of Lexington and Concord. Thus this easy-to-read book offers a point of view not generally familiar to young readers.

Jud Coleman acts as a guide for the raid made by four companies of revolutionaries against British-held Sag Harbor on Long Island in 1777. The day’s events make an indelible mark on the sixteen-year-old Jud. A short, moving story with a two-page glossary of nautical terms.

The events of 1776 are interestingly portrayed through the eyes of Joanna, the sister of Nathan Hale. The family’s grief is poignant when they learn of his capture and death. Documented. Woodcuts.

Fifteen-year-old Sarah Bishop is left without a surviving member of her family at the time of the American Revolution. Her father had remained loyal to the king while her brother had joined the rebels. Their possessions are completely destroyed in a raid and Sarah is forced to find a new life on her own.

Groundhog, an eleven-year-old Cherokee, sets out on a one-boy raid to get back his horse, which had been captured by a Creek raiding party. The story is sensitive and amusing, and the Indian boy is a likable hero. Set in 1750.

An eleven-year-old Cherokee boy is ordered by his grandmother and great-uncle to live in an American settlement with a Quaker man. The boy, who hates white Americans, does not understand the new living arrangement. Nor does he understand why the Quaker is kind, even solicitous, to him. Set in 1780.

Nineteenth Century

World

In this Victorian-style adventure helpless Harry’s parents go away and several people feel they must protect Harry and the family money box. Through deliberate misunderstandings, unrighteous indignation, and simple greed, the plot thickens. In the end, a most unhelpless Harry triumphs. Exaggerated pen and ink drawings complement the vintage text.

The O'Connor family experiences many hardships in Ireland in 1846. Potatoes come up black and rent and taxes are high, but the family stays together despite increasing difficulties of illness and hunger. Finally, they emigrate to America. Expressive black and white wash illustrations. Suited for advanced readers.

Haunted by the sound of his dead father's footsteps and hoping to free himself from the charge of stealing, twelve-year-old William flees to London, where his life is alternately endangered and saved by a cast of unsavory Dickensian characters. Melodrama, high adventure, and humor in an historic setting.

Captain Murdock is accompanied by his wife and children on the clipper ship Rainbird as she voyages from New York around the Horn to San Francisco. This easy-to-read book is based on fact and the illustrations are appealing and well researched. (Picture book)

Fanny is the oldest of six children and with the birth of each, she has lost more attention. Finally, when the seventh baby is born, Fanny prays that God will take it back. Then, fearing that God will answer her prayer, Fanny runs away. Set in Victorian England.

Sam seeks adventure when he enlists as a cabin boy aboard his uncle's trading ship bound for China in the early 1800s. When smugglers capture the ship and kidnap thirteen-year-old Sam and another sailor, the boy's excitement turns to terror as the two struggle to escape. First person narrative.

Sasha, age ten, leads the protected life typical of girls in pre-Revolutionary Russia. But Sasha is curious and asks questions. not only about her immediate world but also about the world beyond her microcosm. A compelling view of the effects of oppressive rule.
Historical Fiction

United States: Early in the Century

This journal account of two years in the life of fourteen-year-old Catherine Hall presents the joys and hardships of life in rural New Hampshire in the 1830s. 1980 Newbery Award Book.

True Mason submits a portfolio of his work to Isaiah Thomas, hoping to continue his engraving apprenticeship. The accurate black and white wood engravings of Sturbridge Village in 1827 are outstanding, a form of art rarely found in children's books. True's commentaries, from his fifteen-year-old viewpoint, are enjoyable.

Sprightly Dorsy McCurdy enjoys her life in Washington City in 1814, until her father remarries. Two undesirable stepbrothers, Tyler and Brandon, attempt to change this eleven-year-old girl into a young lady. When the British troops move into the city, events change the family's spirit. Fast moving and informative.

The African village in which Chinwe, a young Ibo maiden, lives is attacked and burned and its inhabitants are captured, transported to the United States, and sold as slaves. Although the horrors of slavery are portrayed in vivid detail, the major focus is on the human determination to maintain dignity and, most of all, hope.

In 1800 Hachaliah Bailey brought the first elephant into the United States, delighting his neighbors and infuriating his wife. Based on fact, this story recounts how Bailey, with the help of young Phineas T. Barnum, barnstormed New England with their famed pachyderm, Old Bet. Humorous illustrations recreate the nineteenth-century atmosphere.

A New Englander gathers the results of his family's work and packs the goods into his ox-cart. He travels to Portsmouth Market, where he sells his wares and buys supplies for the next year. Illustrations capture the day-to-day life of nineteenth-century New Englanders. 1980 Caldecott Award Book. (Picture book)

Hidden Doe's life, from her birth in the early 1800s to the beginning of a new generation, is chronicled. The story takes the Mesquakie Indians from their home in Iowa to the reservation in Kansas, showing their struggle to regain their homeland while trying to adopt white ways. The woman's place in Indian society is realistically portrayed.

The people of one small town in Delaware outwitted the British soldiers anchored off their coast during the War of 1812 by convincing them that the hoes and blackened cornstalks they carried were guns. Based on a legend, this is a pleasant look at history in an easy-to-read format.

Thirteen-year-old Julilly and her crippled friend, both slaves, reach Canada and freedom via the Underground Railroad. Their story is mixed with human cruelty and human kindness and conveys the despair of slavery and the dangerous role of the abolitionist. Charcoal drawings; an excellent read-aloud book.

In this delightful addition to the three other Obadiah picture books, Rachel and Obadiah vie with one another to carry the good news of the Speedwell's arrival in Nantucket to the captain's wife. A silver coin is the reward and a surprising solution is reached. An accurate introduction to the Society of Friends. (Picture book)

United States: Civil War and Westward Expansion

Damaris Boyd, fifteen, has a traveling tent-hotel bequeathed to her by the man who won her father's money at poker. Thus is the St. Louis family stranded in the Arizona Territory in 1882 rescued, while Mr. Boyd follows the lure of gold. Considerable actual material about this period of American history is included in the lively story of a courageous heroine.

Thirteen-year-old Lacy, abandoned as a baby on the Bingham's doorstep, tires of being their housekeeper and contrives to marry off her adoptive brothers. All the while she follows up clues to her own parentage. A humorous growing-up story set in a California mining town in the 1890s.

Blanco County, Texas, is no place for an orphan in the 1870s, as Hattie Lee Bake discovers when she is taken to the county orphanage after the death of her grandfather. Her life in the home and her adventures with the "pick'ers," the families that come to choose the orphans, are humorously told.

Waza, a pure white camel, is part of the Camel Brigade brought to Texas from Africa by Jefferson Davis in the 1850s. The sneaky plans of Dirtyshirt Dan, a jealous mule driver, backfire, and Waza helps capture the bank robbers. The tale is based on hilarious newspaper stories of the period and illustrated with witty watercolor paintings.

Barbara leaves Zoar, a German pacifist community in Ohio, when the Civil War breaks out to find her only living relative. Her friend, John, also leaves to join the army. Eventually both return, having experienced war and the pains of growing up in the process.

Fritz Romberg is thirteen when his family makes the Oklahoma land run in 1893. "Sooners" have claimed the land the Rombergs had selected so they must settle for a less desirable plot. Ranchers resent the intrusion by the farmers, and crops are often threatened or destroyed by the weather. When Fritz's father freezes to death in a blizzard, Fritz assumes responsibility for the farm and the family.

This fictionalized account of the Bidwell-Bartleson expedition to California in 1841 recreates the hardships and dangers of that journey. The first woman to make the grueling overland passage, seventeen-year-old Nancy Kelsey, stubbornly persists in spite of her husband's illness and the discouragement of the other travelers.

Coming from Colorado to Texas to build a homestead, Shirley and Claude are presented with many choices. Each place where Claude decides to settle proves disastrous. This easy-to-read story set in pioneer days abounds in contrasts, humor, onomatopoeic words, and effective repetition. Two-tone and full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

The innovative format of this book involves the reader in a variety of adventures: "You are a cowhand between jobs arriving in Deadwood City; should you decide to visit the saloon, turn to page eight." Each segment allows the reader three choices for further action, and foolhardy bravado and cautious retreat have different consequences.

This exciting account of the first naval battle between ironclad ships, the Merrimac and the Monitor, is told from the viewpoint of a young member of the Monitor's crew. The book is full of facts and feelings, making it a lively adventure in history.

Ella Jane, thirteen, is moving with her family to the Willamette Valley in 1845. Yvette, a Chinook girl, travels with her. When a part of the wagon train takes a shortcut, lack of water slows their travel. Yvette reveals the courage and the sorrow of her people, who have lost their land and their heritage.

Lim Yan-sung was fourteen when he and his father came to San Francisco from China. After his father's death during a wanton attack by prejudiced whites, Lim Yan-sung joins a crew building the transcontinental railroad. Again the boy meets prejudice and treachery. First-person narrative with considerable information about the building of the railroad.

Twentieth Century World: Early in the Century

In 1903, thirteen-year-old Elspeth and her four-year-old brother Robbie are orphaned and must travel from Scotland to Canada. Many trying situations nearly separate the two, but Elspeth's courage sees them through. The story is filled with tension and makes good reading.

Hannah Lakin is young to be a governess when she leaves her mother, sister, and the New Hampshire sheep farm she loves to take. up a new life in Wales. But the new life brings David Morgan, Morgan's ground, a farm in the Welsh hills, and an intriguing relationship with gypsies who come to camp. A three-generation story.

The Boxer Rebellion of 1900 hurls thirteen-year-old Theodore from the secure world of his father's mission in China. He escapes with Mrs. Jones, an eccentric botanist, and Lung, her assistant. Experiencing the hospitality and fantastic powers of the Tibetan monks challenges Theo's way of life. Mature readers recommended.

Robert discovers a secret within his secret hiding place. In the uppermost section of a bell tower, his great-grandfather, with delicate precision, shaped the interior stones, left his mark, and signed his name even though he knew they could never be seen. Robert's touch with Robert of the past is another link in this four generation story.

The second book of a quartet by the same author. Joseph, called a "granny reardun" because he is being reared by his grandparents, takes his first step toward independence when he decides not to follow his grandfather's stonemason trade, which he considers crude. Language gives a sense of Victorian England.

Set in Victorian England, this story tells of a girl who wants to learn to read. Her father, a stonemason, sends her into a cave where she learns that there can be reading even when there are no words and no books. First of a quartet that traces four generations of a working class English family. Themes can be discussed at several levels.

This is the last of a quartet of books that trace the story of a working class family in England. The ties that bind one generation to another are clearly seen in this story of a day in the life of a boy and his grandfather, a day made special by the building of a sledge and of new understandings.

The five Bernstein girls live with their mother in an old section of Jerusalem before World War I. Their father is dead and they have lost contact with their brother Isaac, who went to America to seek his fortune. Each character is beautifully portrayed in day-to-day living.

A wise and witty tale of the author's adventures as a boy of fifteen in Palestine during World War I. Caught in the Turkish-British cross fire, he manages to escape in one piece and complete an important mission to Tel Aviv, then a village of fewer than a hundred homes.

The author's search for roots led to this story of her grandfather's early life in the first decade of twentieth-century Russia and his immigration to America at fifteen. The devout Jewish family struggles to keep the faith while children are listening to "outside" ideas. Events leading to the revolution of 1905 are explained.

In 1903 Sarah has a wonderful birthday party in Kishinev, Russia. The guests include the parents of the boy picked for her through the matchmaker. However, the happy day turns into a nightmare when the Jewish population is attacked. Sarah's family survives the pogrom, but they migrate to America. A true story.

Set in rural South Australia in the early twentieth century, readers can readily identify with the mischief of Bodo Schneider's childhood. Unusual, however, is Bodo's friendship with Ebenezer, a wild hermit who shouts Biblical quotations from the hilltops where Bodo runs his rabbit traps. When Ebenezer is accused of arson, Bodo must make a mature decision.

Boris is fascinated by the two-masted steamship on the shelf in Grandmother's kitchen. He promises never to touch it but cannot control his curiosity about the little people whom he imagines live in it. He struggles to discover the truth and still keep his promise. A rich, warm, believable tale set in Russia.

World: World War II

The world of fifteen-year-old Frue Allendale, a drama student in London, crashes when her parents are killed by a V2 rocket in the early hours of New Year's Day, 1945. Her sojourn with relatives and at school helps her to rebuild her life and look toward the future.
Two orphaned girls exchange places at the evacuee center in Edinburgh during World War II. Marjorie, the lonely, unhappy, rich girl, assumes the identity of Shona, the determined, poor girl of unknown origin, and is shipped to southern Scotland. Six years of war change far more than destinations for the girls.

During World War II the famed Lipizzaner horses are taken to the Alps for safekeeping. Thirteen-year-old Max becomes their stable boy. He helps at a Lipizzaner’s performance given for General Patton when the American Army comes to the village. Pencil sketches capture the beauty of these remarkable animals. Easy reading.

A terse account of a real incident in World War II in which a twelve-year-old Norwegian boy risks his life during a two-hundred-mile trip by skis to alert his father to the Nazi occupation of Spitzbergen.

When Japanese soldiers invade their remote village in the Aleutian Islands during World War II, Susan and her brother Sidak use the “old ways” of survival to avoid capture. They find a young wounded Japanese soldier, and the three make their peace in order to survive. Good historical background.

It is 1937 and fourteen-year-old Erik Hansen is on a school trip from Denmark to Germany. Along with his friend Nikolai, he finds himself inadvertently involved with resistance to Nazism, in danger from the Gestapo, and rescuer of a young Jewish girl. This fast-paced story has the ring of authenticity.

Three girls in a private school in Northern Ireland in 1944 suspect that their teacher, Fraulein Berg, is a German spy. The girls’ harassment of the innocent victim leads to a suspenseful surprise ending. An excellent growing-up story set in a culture unfamiliar to most American readers.

Anna must go to high school now instead of to the Sight Saving Class. It is the eve of World War II and Anna and her German-born family, who have emigrated to Canada, must choose sides. Anna’s problem of impaired vision enables her to help her brother.

It is 1944 and Jack Raab, a Jew and fifteen years old, lies about his age to enlist in the United States Air Corps. On Jack’s “last mission,” the plane takes a direct hit; Jack parachutes to safety but is captured by Germans. Based upon the author’s experiences, the story is a powerful indictment of the horror and futility of war.

Inge, a Jewish girl, and Lieselotte, daughter of a Nazi, are thirteen years old and best friends since they began school, but their friendship is sorely tried. The novel, in the form of entries in Inge’s journal, is based on experiences of the author, who writes convincingly about life in Vienna in 1938.

On May 4, 1942, the city of Exeter, England, was blitzed. This story tells the events as they occurred in the lives of one family. Fourteen-year-old Colin experiences the bombing and its aftermath with quirks and pranks that are familiar to any young teenager.

Elleke writes in her diary with all the normal feelings of a twelve-year-old girl. But she is a Jew in Belgium in 1939, and her happy life is suddenly changed as hatred of Jews spreads. Elleke is sent alone to an aunt in New York until the war ends. A gripping story based on the author’s life.

Fourteen-year-old Chas McGill, collecting war souvenirs in his small English hometown, finds the tail section of a German bomber, with machine gun undamaged. Chas and his friends build a fortress, nurse a wounded German, shelter two orphans, and grow up amidst air raids and death. Excellent characterization and compelling plot.

United States: Early in the Century

Eleven-year-old Julia Redfern wants to be a writer. She is deeply sensitive, outspoken, and often in trouble with “sensible” people, particularly her fundamentalist grandmother. A narrow escape from a forest fire that descends on Berkeley, California in 1923 adds excitement. Julia’s career is continued in A Room Made of Windows. Vivid characterizations; outstanding illustrations.

The reader follows the interesting and exciting incidents of fifteen-year-old Lou Emma’s high school activities in Gloriosa, Kansas. She assists in helping local suffragettes elect the first woman mayor and becomes more mature in the process.

Tod and his family, including Gerry the dog, are brought closer together by the Baltimore Fire in 1904. Twelve-year-old Tod is given a chance to fulfill his desire to be a Western Union messenger. Excellent characterization. Black and white illustrations.

A readable account of Susan B. Anthony’s and Harriet Cady Stanton’s efforts to win equal rights for women, written from the point of view of Stanton’s sixteen-year-old daughter, Harriet. The epilogue reveals that Harriet continues the fight to become another woman of courage and dignity. Illustrated with prints and photographs.

Mother is ill and Katie must assume responsibility for the house and her five-year-old twin brothers. This is the last day to redeem a brooch, a family heirloom, from the pawnbroker. The story of Katie’s journey to uptown New York during the Great Blizzard of 1888 is a rewarding look at people helping people.

When fifteen-year-old William Thomas “reforms,” it is merely in preparation for the most elaborate practical joke of his career. Disaster is always right around the corner in this humorous but realistic picture of small town life in the twenties.

Lena, a young black girl whose family struggles against prejudice in their small southwestern town in 1910, wins a scripture reciting contest, but she doesn’t know that she will soon have to actually live those words about forgiveness and love. Vicious acts of violence force the girl to come to terms with her beliefs when she is faced with her father’s killer.

Hannah is a palindrome, and so is Otto, her worst enemy in the new town where her family has moved in order to run a small restaurant. This quiet story, with very real people, gives a good view of life in the United States in the 1920s. Another story about Hannah, set in the depression, is Carnival and Kopeck.

This fictionalized account is based on the reminiscenses of a Hopi Indian, Hubert Honanie, who, in 1928, at age eleven was sent to the Sherman Indian Institute. The simply written story contrasts American Indian and white cultures, dwelling primarily on the young boy's life in a strange environment.

Emily Luccock travels to San Francisco to live with an aunt and uncle of whom she has fond memories. However, their once-happy home is now a house of horrors; Aunt Twice and Emily are both prisoners and servants in what has become a sinister home for the aged. Eventually Emily uncovers a blackmail plot.

United States: The Immigrant Era

This lively account of Dvora, a twelve-year-old girl, vividly brings to mind the struggles that the Jews endure as they leave their homeland in Russia in 1904. After many hardships Dvora reaches America to pursue her dream of being a teacher. Easy to read.

Four tradesmen from Linsk come to New York in the early 1900s to make their fortunes. Finding no work and missing their families, they become discouraged until young, strong Hilarion from the Old Country unexpectedly joins them. Amusing pen sketches illustrate this witty story.

The third of a trilogy dealing with emigration to the United States focuses on anti-Semitic terror that drove the Shapiro family out of Czarist Russia in 1906. The scratchboard etchings fittingly illustrate the strength of character and purpose that underlies this novel based on a family saga.

Snyder, Carol. Ike and Mama and the Block Wedding. Illus. Charles Robinson. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1979. 8–11

When Mr. Weinstein loses his job in 1919, everyone on Fast 136th Street turns out to provide his daughter Rosic with a fine block wedding. A sequel to Ike and Mama and the Once-a-Year Suit, this book depicts the warm immigrant neighborhood that refuses to be ground down by poverty.

This addition to the All of a Kind Family Series updates the reader on this entertaining Jewish family while focusing on the eldest girl. The story provides clear insight into the customs of this family in the years following World War I. Expressive pencil drawings.

United States: The Depression Years

The four Sutton children of rural Georgia lose their mother during the Great Depression. Ida Early comes over the mountain and into the unhappy Sutton household and changes everything. Her lively spirit and wild stories make tough times bearable. During her seasonal disappearance, the Suttons realize that she is indispensable.

Wilkin doesn't believe in ghosts but he sees something white under the Hanging Tree. When it and Wilkin next meet, in the hayloft at the Todd's house, they become friends with problems to solve together. A story set in rural Georgia in 1935.

Mollie is thrilled to find a ring, but the ring brings trouble. Mollie is sure that she is being punished for her inability to return the ring when her baby brother is hospitalized. The book beautifully details the life of a Jewish family in New York in the 1930s. Strong characterization.

The character of eleven-year-old Ann is clearly drawn as she faces many complex problems during the summer of 1929 in southern...
Georgia. Her father is out of work, her mother is pregnant, and she must give up her own room to boarders. Well-written and useful for discussions.

Dotty's adventures begin when she and Jud find a suitcase full of money from a bank robbery. They decide to go to Boonville where Olive, Dotty's best friend, has just moved. Olive finds the money changes a lot of things in her life, but not in the way she expected. Set in the depression era.

Soup and Rob discover girls. The town band is trying to make a comeback for the Fourth of July celebration. After Rob totes Soup's huge drum through the parade and realizes Soup hasn't carried his share, he gets even.

FDR is running for president of the United States; Soup is running for president of the school. Robert Peck, Soup's campaign manager, is involved in tactics only a mother or an understanding teacher could forgive. This humorous account of growing up in rural Vermont has black and white illustrations.

The depression of the 1930s is the setting in which the orphans, Big Adam and Little Eve, experience many difficulties. Big Adam is determined to find a permanent home for his twin. After many hardships and the intervention of the local sheriff, a satisfying ending ensues. Well-drawn characters.

Eight-year-old Hannah has a special relationship with her grandmother. After Hannah forgets some promises about behaving, they quarrel and she sees another side to her grandmother. Universal childlike concerns occur in this low-keyed, nostalgic 1930s story set in the Bronx. Hannah is also featured in The Whistling Teakettle and Other Stories about Hannah.

A companion book to the author's The Dark Didn't Catch Me. Twelve-year-old Seely and her family are finally moving out of the dark, oppressive hills of southern Indiana. Their old truck breaks down before they reach the daylight of a better life. A vivid, moving story of the rural Midwest in the 1930s.

Ten-year-old Jane has been afraid ever since she read about the Lindbergh kidnapping incident. Similar events in Alabama's daily papers add to her fears; eventually, she is a victim. Insight into the depression years is given as the story revolves around two well-rounded characters.

United States: World War II and Aftermath

Ruthie Morganthau is as happy as she can ever remember being, but her unknown past keeps coming back to haunt her. The heartbreaking story of her struggle to cope with her mother's grief from a concentration camp experience and to live her own life is sensitively told.

Sally, ten years old, spends the winter of 1947 in Florida. She makes up lots of stories about people she imagines are living near her, including a mystery about Adolf Hitler. The young friends of Sally and her older brother bring the postwar era to life. A funny, realistic tale of a Jewish family.

Geraldine Flam, who lives in the postwar Bronx neighborhood, is troubled because she isn't quite sure where she belongs. She is Jewish, but her parents are nonobservers. Her Catholic friends are secure in their beliefs. An unexpected invitation settles her doubts. Meaningful black and white sketches.

Elizabeth spends her sixth year at her grandfather's home during World War II. Her friendship with Charles, the grandson of the black cook, fills her days with joy and adventure. His murder by the town lunatic changes Elizabeth forever. Outstanding characterization and emotion.

Louise saw her relationship with her twin, Caroline, akin to that of Jacob and Esau. Caroline got the most and the best of all things, including parental love, while Louise withdrew behind a facade of independence and contentment, all the while seething with jealousy. Set in the early 1940s on a remote island in Chesapeake Bay. 1981 Newbery Award Book.

Eleven-year-old Darby's family moves from Washington, D.C. to Atlanta during World War II. Darby is a Yankee, taunted by others for her different ways. She meets other outsiders, Mr. Kaigler, the German grocer, and Yoka, a Japanese girl who is later interned. Darby gains understanding of herself in relation to others.

After a year in a concentration camp to which west coast Japanese Americans were sent during World War II, twelve-year-old Yuk and her parents resettle in Salt Lake City and then, after the war's end, back home in Berkeley. Because the war has fostered hatred for Japanese, the refugees are greeted with distrust and violence. A sequel to Journey to Topaz.

Additional Historical Fiction Books

Fritz, Jean The Cabin Faced West Illus. Feodor Rojankovsky. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1958. 8-12
Gauch, Patricia Lee This Time, Tempe Wick? Illus. Margot Tomes. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1974. 6-10
O'Dell, Scott Sing Down t't Moon. Houghton Mifflin, 1970. 12-up
Reiss, Johanna. The Upstairs Room. Thomas Y Crowell, 1972. 10-16
Speare, Elizabeth George The Bronze Bow. Houghton Mifflin, 1961 11-14
Taylor, Mildred D. Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry. Dial Press, 1976 11-up
Turkle, Britton The Adventures of Obadiah. Viking Press, 1972 5-9
Walsh, Jill Paton Fireweed. Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 1969 12 up
Yep, Laurence Dragonwings Harper & Row, Publishers, 1975. 12 up
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Adventures

One foggy day Luther, a lobsterman, brings into port not only his lobster pots but a flotilla of boats lost in the fog. This beautifully prepared book has language so rich that the reader can catch a whiff of salt air. Pencil drawings with their varied perspectives are enjoyable. (Picture book)

A family's visit to Ithaca, a country similar to Greece that is ruled by a dictator, involves the children in a startling revolutionary secret and leads them to suspect that their stepfather is a spy. Told from the point of view of twelve-year-old Jo, the story recounts the exciting adventures of the children.

Philip enjoys living with his grandmother in a castle. When his father remarries and takes a nine-year-old boy to live with him in a cosmopolitan section of London, life changes drastically. Philip's new friend presents a world of altered values and eventually involves Philip in a theft. A thought-provoking book.

Silas is an agile and clever thirteen year old who is homeless and must survive by his own wits. He wins a high-spirited black mare in a wager, but the horse is stolen from him. The story tells of his adventures in regaining the horse. Excellent character development; European setting.

Charlotte Paige is twelve; suddenly her world seems to fall apart as her close-knit family becomes increasingly preoccupied with individual interests. Feeling left out and alone she begins to face her own growing up during a series of events climaxing on Patriot's Day, 1977, in Concord, Massachusetts. Hometown Minutemen and a motley group of British soldiers contribute to Charlotte's adventure.

A country schoolhouse provides protection from winter storms and a cruel uncle for thirteen-year-old Nell and younger brother J. D. Humor, loyalty, and love of learning carry the listener or reader through a winter of excitement with two children, a teacher, and an old man and his dog.

This wilderness adventure story skillfully weaves survival techniques and outdoor information in a well-paced manner. Seth and Daniel climb Black Spruce Mountain to investigate the legend of a runaway orphan who fled to the mountain. Interesting character study and a satisfying plot; helpful map suggests setting.

Two boys find $4,200 in a bean can. Louis wants to turn the money in, but Harp claims half and threatens Louis if he tells anyone. Louis is persuaded by both his conscience and his friend Marie’s advice to do what is right. Black and white photos; inner city setting.

Yashi’s faith in Grandfather’s gentle skill with their cormorant birds is confirmed in this story of a night’s fishing on the Great River in Japan. The suspense of whether Grandfather can catch enough fish to keep his boat and livelihood is heightened by the hostility of Kano, the boat owner, and by a threatening accident. Beautiful and precise pictures. (Picture book)

Times are tough in Four Corners, and when two swindlers arrive in town things get desperate: chickens disappear from their pens and the money-producing muskrat hides are stolen. Pinch and Charley, heroes of several previous books, use their wits and a great deal of feisty enterprise to catch the crooks.

Enthusiasm grows from the title page to the photograph of Northern J. Calloway, “Sesame Street” star, on the back cover. The story is his true childhood adventure of building a racing car from junk parts to prove he is the champion racing car builder and driver in the world. Written in black English as told by Northern as a child (Picture book)

Sarah doesn't want to go to England and leave Leo, her cat. Older sister Barbara suggests a search for Hunca Munca, Tom Thumb, and the dollhouse in Beatrix Potter's classic story. The trip is a success, friends are made, and the flavor of England suggested. Evocative drawings of England's Lake District.

Athletic skills assist Cliff and his friend Eddie narrowly to escape great harm. The author suspensefully captures the fright of two teenage boys hunting a pack of wild dogs. Black and white illustrations greatly contribute to the setting and location of the story.

A lively, humorous story of Kitty and her two nine-year-old friends, Margaret Mary and Eileen. Escapades brighten their days while attending a parochial school. Going uninvited to a strange wedding and discovering the occupant of a haunted house keep the girls bus; and the reader entertained. Black and white sketches.

Every summer Kitty visits in Norwood, Minnesota, with her Aunt Katie, a busy woman whom Kitty helps with many chores. This summer is filled with unexpected events, from “purchasing” a pagan baby to seeing real poverty. A sequel to Kitty in the Middle. Entertaining, humorous, and fine characterization; pen drawings

An unexpected fire during a camping trip sends a fourteen-year-old girl and her two younger brothers into the New Zealand Bush to escape the flames. The story concerns their unusual methods of survival. The sense of adventure is everywhere in this story.

Young Eli sets off with his dog in search of a bear. The snow-covered bushes and trees provide camouflage as his imagination wanders and he sights bears in unusual places. The last “bear” turns out to be his mother, who welcomes her happy adventurer home. Black and white pencil drawings give us a glimpse of Eli's hidden bears. (Picture book)

A small girl finds delight in waiting for and then watching the freight train that winds through the countryside each day. Simple concepts of the sights and sounds of the train and the gentle expectation of looking forward to a daily event combine to make a pleasing story. (Picture book)

Jenny raises a sheep, goes through all the steps of handling the wool, and even wins prizes at the county fair! One section of the book explains how yarn is made and another gives directions for making a poncho.

Ricky accompanies his father in Yucatan looking for the circus his father had traveled with years before. He learns something about the Mayas, a few Spanish words, and a circus act. Outstanding full-color pictures using a yarn beeswax technique developed in Mexico. (Picture book)

Phoebe has over one hundred hot water bottles. She loves playing with them but would secretly rather have a puppy. When an emergency arises, Phoebe and her bottles come to the rescue, for which she is satisfyingly rewarded. This tale about a spunky girl is realistically illustrated in lush colors. (Picture book)

George, Jean Craighead. River Rats, Inc. E. P Dutton, 1979. 10 12

Joe and Crowbar, on a dangerous and illegal run down the Colorado River in the Grand Canyon, flounder in the rapids but manage to escape drowning. They encounter a feral boy who, after Joe painstakingly teaches him human language, guides the boys to an Indian village and safety. A story of physical survival, it also has a strong element of psychological survival and the development of self-image.

Dennis wants to take care of himself. When his father tells him he can trade a wentletrap shell for all he needs, Dennis works hard to capture one. Hermit crabs and a storm interfere. Then father returns from the sea and Dennis is content to let father care for him. Bimini setting. (Picture book)

Twelve-year-old Tim and his sister Mouse spend their summer in the Caribbean with busy parents who are away on business. The children become involved in adventures with a runaway boy who owns a beautiful sloop. The themes of being free and loneliness are thoughtfully described.

David wants to express his good feelings by helping someone. His dad, brother, and mom don’t need helping, but the ants do. And worms need rescuing, as does a baby rabbit, and a butterfly. Best of all, Daddy understands. Warm illustrations extend the concepts of feelings involved. (Picture book)

Matthew and his father move to the Canadian Arctic. His father, a geologist, believes he can locate copper for mining. The predictably severe weather of the Arctic spring delays the mineral search and endangers the lives of Matthew, his father, and Matthew’s Eskimo friend. Excellent for social studies curriculum integration.

A young girl wants to show others that she can take care of herself. She sets out to find hawks, but she encounters a thunderstorm in the dark woods instead. Toni does more than survive; she learns an important lesson.

Sixteen-year-old Chris and his father grow concerned about an old friend, Andrew, who lives alone in a canyon that supposedly hides legendary Aztec gold. Mysterious lights, voices, and Andrew’s evil nephew add to the excitement of this story. Flashback style.

Ten-year-old Matthew wants to make his history assignment interesting so he decides on an archaeological dig in the backyard. No one understands or encourages. His dig fails; he fails. Too late he unearths one treasure. Good characterizations of English family and village life. For better readers.

The Denton family takes Laura, a nine-year-old only child, to the state fair with them. Upon arrival she feels alone and afraid as the Denton children scatter in many directions at the fairgrounds. After a while, it occurs to her that she is really lost and is responsible for finding her way back to the Dentons. Pen sketches.

Joseph, the baker, lives a good life in his small town but he longs to see the world. A discovery causes him to redesign his display sign on the bakery shop. Large print, three-color illustrations. (Picture book)

When eleven-year-old Jenny accidentally discovers Aunt Trudl's old diary, she learns many things about her aunt's life as a child evacuated from World War II Vienna. During a trip abroad with her parents, Jenny visits places mentioned in the diary and discovers secrets about her aunt's life that explain present-day questions.

Thirteen-year-old Nick Lorimer and his younger sister Binkie find out what it is like to be without electricity and water when a chaotic general strike occurs in their Australian city. Fear overtakes them when their mother fails to return home. Interesting reading with excellent character development.

Ten-year-old Joey, placed in one foster home after another, finds a real home at last with Sara and Mike Brown near logging camps in the mountains of western Washington. His affection for Sara grows as the two of them go out hiking, and share the excitement of seeing Bigfoot.

Ancient customs are kept alive by Mr. Fong, a Chinatown toymaker who shares both his craft and the legends of his native land with the local children. Together they prepare a shadow puppet play to perform during the annual Moon Festival. (Picture book)

Mimi and Mandy are bored with their old pastimes so they decide to play the haunted house game. They plan to scare someone but the tables turn and they get scared. Humorous black and white illustrations. (Picture book)

Morgan knew the hurricane would destroy his father's fishing traps so he and his dog Tater set out to bring them in. The boy, dog, and boat are stranded on a remote marsh island off the South Carolina coast. The desperate fight to survive the fury of the storm is vividly described.

Belinda visits her aunt and uncle who have just installed a burglar alarm system. Their three pets were given away, since pets set off alarms. Belinda is bored until night brings excitement and surprises. Good for discussions about paranoia vs. sensible home security precautions. This book is fun to read and includes humorous illustrations. (Picture book)

A sequel to Snyder's The Headless Cupid, the Italian adventures of these five lively children include their kidnapping and subsequent rescue. The family's experiences provide unexpected and maturing rewards, especially for Molly.

A young boy is a chronic runaway and is given an alternative by an understanding judge. He becomes a camp counselor for problem children and finds his own courage by helping other boys.

Take a lazy summer day, two boys, one good idea, a house, and a yard full of handy materials just waiting to be made into something special, and anything can happen. Full-page pictures and very few words combine to make this book appealing to a wide age range. (Picture book)

Ten-year-old Silas is abandoned by his parents. With his stray dog Con, he wanders through the wilds of northwestern Scotland until he quite accidentally finds an island home. A quiet, contemplative story.

Life is dull and unpleasant for twelve-year-old Blueberry when brother Tod leaves their Minnesota home. With a makeshift houseboat, she and an orphan, six-year-old Tilbo, run away. Their trip leads to problems with nature and with people. Fast-paced, contemporary language.

Joel spends the summer on an island with his father, whom he hasn’t seen for two years. He learns to know his father, an ornithologist, and his research team. They experience a hurricane, solve the mystery of the missing tern eggs, and rescue a girl from a neighboring island. Contemporary ideas, life-styles, and language contribute to a strong story.

Quincy Luckie, who wants to be an astronaut, is at odds with the rest of her family, who prefer acting, painting, or writing. A summer in Florida, a hurricane, and a search for sunken treasure reveal the individual characters and relationships of a number of talented and attractive people.

Grandfather, Mai, and her little brother Loc are forced to flee their tiny village in Vietnam when the new government takes over, burns Grandfather’s books, and places him under arrest. They are aided by a war orphan who is impudent, street-wise, and, in the end, intensely loyal. The four of them become boat people. A gripping story.

The illustrations show a little boy on his way home from school. Within a short distance there are so many exciting discoveries and adventures! Opposite the full-page picture there is an oval-shaped inset with text that brings the illustrated incident into focus. (Picture book)

Animals

A teenage boy sets out to find the killer grizzly bear that maimed his father and dog, but he finds himself being hunted instead. The action leads to a confrontation with a giant grizzly bear. A nature book with an exciting theme.

Two young hares, Mimo and Lepo, mature throughout the changing seasons and survive in spite of dangers and natural enemies. Although the animals have names, the content is factual, not fantasy. Double-page, full-color illustrations are as real as the text. (Picture book)
Animals

An Indian boy captures a hawk, which he hopes can teach him to fly. After a time the boy realizes that all things must be free to live as they are intended. Only then does he understand that the hawk is his brother. Sweeping black and white scenes complement this poetic text. 1977 Caldecott Honor Book. (Picture book)

Kilroy, a killer whale, is captured and trained to be a marineland performer. His sea gull friend escapes with him to the open sea. The illustrations are dramatic and lifelike. The major question throughout this book is that of true freedom.

Manuel, an eleven-year-old boy, lives on a poor farm in Arizona with his grandparents. His special friend Bill entrusts his horse to Manuel while he is in the Navy. Excellent character portrayal and descriptions of the land. An appealing story with woodcutlike illustrations. Glossary appended.

A serious problem confronts an old lady who lives alone by the sea with her seventeen cats and one small blue-grey kitten. As the wind blows, the problem becomes intensified. The little kitten comes to the rescue. Text and pictures blend to produce a folktale quality. A lap book. (Picture book)

Mr. and Mrs. Button need a watchdog because their dog and two cats are too friendly to be of much help. Several times they go to the kennel and think they're coming home with the right dog. Finally, they are happily surprised. Vibrant colored illustrations bring the story to life. (Picture book)

A Parisian mongrel leads a double life, eating scraps Pierre's grandmother saves for him one day and feasting on gourmet meals served at Monsieur Boffu's café the next. Each owner enters him in the same dog show. Then comes the test. Is he really Pierre's Jaky or Monsieur Boffu's Dodo? (Picture book)

The Arnold family is proud of their Siamese cat, Fritzi. Excitement runs high when they discover that she has been left behind at their summer home. During that fall and winter her survival is all that matters. An enjoyable, readable story illustrated with black and white sketches.

Because humans have destroyed their homes in Farthing Woods, the animals assemble and plan their move to White Deer Park. The journey is fraught with dangers and narrow escapes, but also inspires cooperation, heroism, and love.

A wolverine is an animal to be feared and respected at all times according to Indian legend. A hunter sets out to destroy this “Carcajou,” but the hunter ends up learning a lot about nature, the wolverine, and himself. Several illustrations give the reader a view of the wolverine in its forest home.

Gordon Mohlen goes to Glacier National Park to observe mountain goats of the region. His science class research is recorded from day to day on his tape recorder. He becomes ill and is left stranded. Detailed informational chart on the mountain goat included. Bibliography.

Her head full of fairy tales and her heart longing for a pony, Nora finds a magic bottle into which she repeatedly whispers her wish. A pony does appear, though it is not exactly hers. Soft line drawings complement a satisfying story.

When Janet Reachfar takes out the horses, a chick is injured accidentally and she feels responsible. Her care of the injured hen through the change of Scottish seasons provides a warm, well-told story, beautifully illustrated with elegant, evocative watercolors. (Picture book)
Animals

Emmy cares for Timothy, a newborn lamb. All goes well until he grows older and stronger. A nuisance becomes a decision must be made. Appealing color photographs make this an inviting book for the young reader or listener. (Picture book)

A simplified adaptation of The Black Stallion. Young Alec Ramsay is shipwrecked on a desert island with the black stallion, a wild horse. The two discover that they need one another. Their adventures continue in America after their rescue. Color photographs from the 1979 motion picture. (Picture book)

Beany is “the most beautiful cat in the world and the smartest too.” That is how the young narrator describes his cat and his interesting day with Beany as his faithful companion. This small, unusually shaped book full of appealing illustrations is not reserved for cat lovers alone. (Picture book)

A simply told tale of a farmer who loses one of his ten goats. He searches all night long until he finds the goat and brings it home. He warms it and puts it to sleep at the foot of his bed. Illustrations in color alternate with bold pen and ink drawings. (Picture book)

Melinda, a ten-year-old girl, isn’t fond of horses until her father buys her a Morgan. Her life changes from that day on. Through her friendship with an elderly writer, Melinda overcomes her fear of riding. She tells of her interesting and exciting life in the first person.

Mandy’s father and crows are real enemies. Crows are pests and must be kept away from his strawberry patch. Mandy secretly keeps a crow in a sheltered spot in the woods and meets with many surprises. A beautiful relationship exists between Mandy and her family.

This story of a wolf, whose leg was injured by a caribou, is a scientist’s recorded observation of one wolf saving the life of another. A suspenseful account of the wolf’s survival is clearly described. Pen and ink sketches complement this poetic text. (Picture book)

Old Yeller fans and readers of animal stories will welcome another of this author's books. Curly raises an eighty-pound prize watermelon but it is eaten by a wild boar. Angered by this boldness, Curly wants to kill this enemy. Excitement runs high as the battle ensues. Good for reading aloud. Black and white sketches.

Kim learns more than how to raise a dog when she buys a puppy at the pound without her parents' permission. She hires Mrs. Mac as a dogsitter and everything is fine until Mrs. Mac becomes ill. Then Kim is faced with some hard decisions. Good for class discussion about responsibility.

A sensitive and unsentimental story of a wild horse. Blackface's mother is a palomino who is lost on a Mexican desert and eventually accepted by a herd of wild horses. The story follows Blackface from his birth until he takes his place as leader of the herd. An exciting story of survival.

Eleven-year-old Dudley's father is a breeder of generations of fighting dogs in England. He wishes for a dog of his own; his father entrusts one of Madman's offspring, a bullterrier, to him. Being a loner, the boy develops a strong attachment to Grip. English terms.

This is an appealing story of a homeless mutt befriended by post office workers in the early twentieth century. The dog grew from a starved, cowering puppy to an alert, curious, world-famous traveling dog. Soft color washes add to the charm. A good read-aloud book.

Old Blue, a longhorn steer, helps young Davy and his father and other cowboys lead a thousand cattle over the Goodnight Trail to Dodge City. The hardships of a cowboy's life on the trail are evident. Large print, easy reading, and softly muted illustrations make this book popular with youngsters. (Picture book)
Animals

Thirteen-year-old Janey cannot endure the idea of parting with her beloved colt. She cannot accomplish his gentling alone so she resentfully accepts the help of John Yellowfeather, an Indian boy who has a special way with animals. During the training, Janey learns about cooperation, responsibility, independence, friendship, and prejudice.

Amy rescues an injured wild goose, but wants to protect and possess it when the goose is ready to leave. Traditional Tudor illustrations make the book beautiful. (Picture book)

Rogue brings two gerbils into his classroom, and the students vote to keep them. The two gerbils become the object of science projects, the parents of more gerbils, and the cause of class problems. Many interesting facts about gerbils are included. Good science integration and fun to read.

One night a donkey makes an awful noise and awakens the farmer and his wife. They decide to move him away from under his favorite lemon tree. The next night a fox comes to steal their chickens and they realize that the donkey's braying was a warning. Soft-colored illustrations. (Picture book)

A day in the life of a roadrunner, the story of the desert bird depicts close encounters with jeep and dog, horse and rider, snake, hawk, and bobcat. The Parnalls' measured illustrations in tan, green, and black capture authentic details of the desert and its creatures. (Picture book)

True to his name, the sly fox slips in and out of the various genres of literature. Fact and fiction, original sketches, and photographs combine to make this select anthology a real treasure for readers. References found in the Bible and other literature throughout the ages contribute to interesting reading.

Springfellow, a young colt, wants more than anything to romp with the one year olds, but his legs aren't strong enough and he continues to fall. His mother encourages him to keep trying. Action-filled wash illustrations accompany this story of overcoming difficulties. Large pictures, excellent for storytelling. (Picture book)

A beautiful red fox discovers how she can live in Yankee Stadium and search for food in the nearby neighborhood. She has a litter of pups in the stadium that are in danger because Jesus Garcia, a Puerto Rican boy, tells a worker at the stadium that a fox is living there. This animal survival story is realistically told.

A young boy develops a friendship with a wild mouse. Parallel story lines show the feelings of each as they perceive their worlds. Good for discussion of captivity versus freedom when the boy reluctantly releases his pet. (Picture book)

After finding a stray cat, Jenny, who has been lonely, begins to adjust to her home in the new town. When her mother insists the cat cannot stay, Jenny takes the cat and runs away. Black and white illustrations make the author’s memories more real for the sympathetic young listener or reader. (Picture book)

This is a fast-moving story involving Solveig, a spirited twelve-year-old girl who is determined to ride Snake Dancer before leaving camp. Her thoughts take action and she finds herself astride the horse, insurmountable difficulties arise. Pen and ink sketches capture the beauty and action of the horse. Map with legend included.

Morey, Walt Sandy and the Rock Star. E. P. Dutton, 1979. 10-12

Paul Winters, a lonely young teenage singing star who is carefully controlled and protected by others, runs away to a remote island. There a tame cougar named Sandy is being turned into a wild beast to provide the wealthy island owner with a more challenging hunt. Animal lovers will enjoy this riveting read-aloud story.

The Finnebergs receive a gift of a crocodile. When the crocodile becomes too big to sleep under Louis’s bed, it is donated to a

The Quigleys, a family of seven, live on a farm. Among their animals there are two lovable but useless donkeys. Father is determined to get rid of them, but the other family members protest. An unexpected flood changes the situation. Unusually striking illustrations in collage and watercolors. (Picture book)

Melanie, twelve, finds a wounded Arctic tern in New York's Battery Park. Treated by an eccentric vet, the tern has his own recuperative encounters. Bewildering new experiences and unorthodox responses to traditional situations, coupled with the warmth flowing between animals and humans, make this book a must. Sensitive, dignified illustrations complement this quality text.

A blind range horse is captured and a boy with no name and a speech impediment befriends him. Trust, love, and friendship transform the outlaw to a useful saddle horse. Riveting horse story with black and white ink sketches.

A young Japanese boy finds a whale wedged between two rocks. Knowing that the great animal must be kept wet, he carries pail after pail of sea water until he falls down, exhausted. The village people come to his aid and together they carry water until the incoming tide frees the whale. (Picture book)

This collection of six short stories about foxes, cats, dogs, and horses is illustrated with sensitive watercolor washes that depict highlights of the stories. The reader can learn much about animals and their relationships with other animals and humans.

Eleven-year-old Jamie has just moved with his parents to a farm in Pennsylvania. In the process of adjusting to his new home, he discovers and silently watches a cross fox. When neighbors organize to kill the fox, Jamie resolves to save it. An exciting, fast-moving story with carefully developed characters.

Mister Wolf, a beautiful sable and silver German shepherd that Miles found as a pup and raised, is accused of killing sheep in the neighborhood. Excellent characterizations and believable depictions of parent-child relationships raise this book above the formula boy-dog story.

A four-year-old fox feels safe in Drummers' Darkness, a dense, isolated forest. Here an army was defeated many years ago and the phantom army passes by his cave. His daily battles and struggles with men and animals are cleverly related. Rather difficult reading.

A young boy discovers that he doesn't have enough money to buy the puppy that he wants so he creates one in his imagination. He enters his puppy in a local dog show and to his surprise he wins. (Picture book)

Three children vacationing in southern France are given a lamb that has been rejected by its mother. Returning to Paris, the children care for the lamb until it is grown and ready to be returned to the country. Much factual information on lambs and sheep is included in the warm, poignant story.

Storm Boy lives on a deserted beach in Australia with his father Hideaway, a lonely, quiet man. Lack of contact with others causes Storm Boy to be shy. He becomes very attached to a baby pelican that he rescues. Fingerbone Bill, the aborigine, is an added interest. Black and white pen sketches.

Turner, Dona. My Cat Pearl. Thomas Y Crowell, 1980 3-5.

The short and simple tale of Pearl, the black cat, is a delight for cat lovers. The vividly colored illustrations add sparkle to the text. (Picture book)

Wallace, Bill. A Dog Called Kitty. Holiday House, 1980 10-up.

When a helpless, homeless pup shows up on the farm, Ricky is adamant about getting rid of it. He is petrified by all dogs since he was attacked by a dog at a very early age. His attachment to this helpless creature grows and eventually the two become inseparable. A really good story.
Facing Problems

There is an enduring lifelong friendship between Tom and his dogs, a very important give-and-take relationship. Each of Tom's seven dogs offers him love in a different way. The text is outstanding in describing a dog's ability to show insight, respect, loyalty, and love.

Seymour Goldberg and his mother bring home a gorilla named daving as a long-term visitor, but their apartment house rules state that no pets are allowed. This unusual pet story is amusingly illustrated with detailed sketches. (Picture book)

Facing Problems

Three generations are involved in a sensitive novel set in the mountains. Louis, a fourteen-year-old boy, suspects his grandfather is dying. He struggles with loss and separation, haunted by memories of his dead father and a wild cat named Calico.

The new girl in school has a boy's name, Ronnie. She teams up with a chubby, humorous girl and a talented boy with a girl’s name, Rosey. Friendship flourishes between Ronnie and Rosey and takes on an added dimension after Ronnie’s father is killed. Some profanity.

Patsy Bligh runs away and joins a touring summer theater group to escape the difficulties of adjusting to a new stepfather. Her return to reality is encouraged by people whom society might consider to be outcasts but who exhibit very special human qualities. The children and the adults do some growing up.

Ronnie feels he is totally alone in the world when his father is jailed and his mother leaves home. His neighborhood lives under the cruel thumb of the Bradshaw thugs. Ronnie seeks revenge; his isolation increases but two adult figures offer sanctuary and hope. London setting; written in lusty vernacular. Recommended for mature readers.

Jimmy's parents have little time to spend with him, although they make many efforts to surround him with a loving extended family. His parents' homecoming provokes a tantrum that results in an honest and fruitful family conference. A good book to promote child and parent discussions.

A young boy has a dog who is afraid of the dark, so he says The little girl in the story gives good advice to the dog and everyone, including the boy, is reassured. An easy-to-read book (Picture book).

Casey has a lot of spirit and she needs it to compete with other ballet dancers. She's too fat but she wants to be a dancer more than anything in the world. The recital finally takes place and Casey becomes much wiser about herself. Humorous black and white illustrations. (Picture book)

Priscilla Sue is the youngest child of widowed Preacher Blue, a fire and brimstone minister in the Arkansas hills. Rather than accept her father's remarriage, she runs away with her smelly old hound dog. Twelve-year-old P.S. is a gutsy young girl who learns a great deal about responsibility and life.

Jeff and Daniel live in a cabin on a mountain in Tennessee. Despite Daniel's protests, Jeff decides to carve a wooden duck for the fair. He soon learns that art is viewed differently by each individual. An easy-to-read book with softly colored illustrations that clearly depict the setting (Picture book).

The big red barn burns to the ground and the young narrator loses another link with that secure and happy time when Mother was alive. An understanding grandfather helps the child accept the new without forgetting the old. Illustrations reflect the sensitive, natural atmosphere of the text in this easy-to-read book.
Facing Problems

C.G. awakens his younger brother Sweeney one gray Saturday morning. This is the day they must capture the wild parrot for C.G.'s friend Joe, who is dying; just a few days are left. Beautiful illustrations in grays and blacks complement the mood of the story. Discussion-starter on death.

When his fun-loving uncle drowns in a foolish escapade, Jimmie Little has a hard time coping with his own guilt and with the strange way his family reacts. His mother calls all the relatives together and gives a party. After watching and talking to these zany, memorable characters, he knows he can say good-bye to the nickname he had given himself, "Chicken" Little.

Carlie, a tough-talking, suspicious teenager, labels herself, Harvey, and Thomas J. “strays" and likens them to pinballs bouncing here and there. This moving story of emotionally and physically abused children could serve as a manual on coping and surviving. Outstanding characterization makes this an excellent read-aloud book.

It is evening. Christopher and his dog Bodger are on their way to the lake when the pickup truck appears. Bodger dashes into its path and is killed; Christopher reacts with anger. Understanding parents help the boy come to terms with grief. Poignant, sensitive color illustrations. (Picture book)

Christopher’s parents think it is time to adopt a new puppy even though there will never be another Bodger. Christopher doesn’t agree; he can't bear the thought of a new dog. A stray puppy provides a happy, satisfying solution. Family warmth is reflected in sensitive color illustrations of a coastal village. (Picture book)

Em, eleven years old and now living in the United States, writes his memories of Vietnam before and during the war. The war, of course, permeates every facet of the story; the real story, however, is how love of family and love of land can survive tragedy.

After believing for twelve years that her father is in another country, Angela learns the truth: he lives nearby and he does not know she exists. Determined to meet him, Angela discovers that he does not need a daughter. Useful bibliotherapy for separation of parents.

Forgetful Harvey has a problem: his parents are separating. Secretly, he spends a happy and unusual summer in a crazy-looking house with two friendly nonconformists, Mr. and Mrs. Katz. Readers relate to Harry's problems and to his warm relationship with his funny hosts.

A very loose tooth that won't come out is the problem. Elizabeth Anne tries many devices but all resist her efforts. Finally, in an unexpected way the dilemma is solved. The pictures portray the surprise ending. (Picture book)

The clannish Collins family faces many problems. Making a living on a mountain farm, the onslaught of strip-mining by coal companies, a feud with a rival clan, and others. But there are joyous times, too. Seen through Fair Annie's eyes, this is a compelling tale of survival in Appalachia.

Gravel Winter is an orphan, unwanted by his father. He feels betrayed when his friend Skin, another orphan, disappears very suddenly from the foster institution. He escapes and meets an understanding sign painter. The other characters he encounters are clothed in symbolism. For special readers; excellent for discussion.

A ten-year-old girl is adopted from an orphanage in Paris by a sympathetic street-wise youth. He refers to her as the "little sparrow." She is forced by the gang to steal a cherished painting, thus betraying a valued friendship and causing her to flee Paris. Excellent character portrayal.

Twelve-year-old Sam takes up long distance running to work off feelings of inadequacy. His friend, half-Indian Clete, tells of an old
Facing Problems

Indian vision site in the mountains. After the deaths of his father, who had abandoned him, and his friend, Sam runs away in search of his vision, which he believes will help in self-discovery.

The normal fears of people, surfacing in the everyday questions of a small girl to her mother, are gently and satisfyingly answered. Pictures are a perfect extension of the simple and creative text. (Picture book)

Kim Chu lives in New York's exciting Chinatown. Her father wins the coveted prize in the New Year's Day parade, a black umbrella with a secret compartment in its handle. She loses it and panic ensues. A suspenseful story to be read for enjoyment. Appropriate pen sketches.

Sonny Street tells his own story of coming to grips with his strong feelings about his mother's death and anger over an inadequate relationship with his father. The puma, made from a treasured piece of obsidian, symbolizes Sonny's power as a wrestler and the destructive force of his uncontrolled fury. The action is fast and the characterization excellent.

Young determined Tony, who lives with his divorced, working mother, has a problem to solve. He tries to find a home for a pregnant stray dog. He also wants his visiting grandfather to stay longer. The sensitive story and soft pencil illustrations combine to reveal insights into a contemporary family relationship. (Picture book)

Grandfather, who has always taken care of Little Willy, is ill. Now Little Willy takes care of Grandfather and tries to earn enough money to pay the taxes. With Searchlight, his dog, he enters a dogsled race, determined to win the prize money. Economical writing style and an unexpected ending make this an unusual story.

Eleven-year-old Gaucho wants to take Mama with him back to San Juan. His imagination tells him that life will present fewer problems there. Efforts to earn money for this trip lead Gaucho into big city problems and to an understanding of family relationships. Presents a warm picture of Puerto Rican families in New York City.

A warmhearted, talented family all help young Julius recover from the disillusionment of sending away for a $2.99 "walking, talking monster," only to receive an ugly balloon which pops on first use. Clever line drawings enhance the quiet humor of the story.

Michael has lived in a series of foster homes. At last his social worker takes him to live with Miss Graham, who may decide to adopt him. Good to read aloud in several sessions, and follow up with class discussions about the need to belong and to care for someone. Realistic happy ending.

Roles reverse in this story when young Lisa realizes that her baby-sitter is frightened by the thunderstorm. The warm, humorous story will bring a smile of recognition to many faces and serve as a springboard for a discussion of fears. (Picture book)

Twelve-year-old Carrie's worries are minimal until her father is stricken with cancer and leaves for the Mayo Clinic. Then there is a period of emotional disturbance at home and school, culminating with the feeling of deep loss after her father's death. Characters are well drawn in this fast-moving, first-person narrative. For mature readers.

With her birthday money eleven-year-old Joss rents a horse for a week. It is one of the best weeks she and her sister Kate can remember. Then, suddenly, Joss is dead. Kate has to learn to live without Joss and to accept that life goes on.

Mark, fourteen, rebels at his father's remarriage. He is taunted by his classmates and becomes very hostile. Mark finally begins to catch hold of his life when he wrecks a car and injures his brother and a friend. A novel of frustrations and reality.
Facing Problems

After Emily turns twelve, she experiences a growth spurt but gains no weight. Classmates liken her to a giraffe and her best friend ignores her. Straightforward and domineering Sara becomes a new neighbor and friend, showing Emily how to speak up for herself. Eventually Emily speaks out assertively, even to Sara.

The tot has a disagreement with his mother; once he starts to cry it is difficult for him to stop. Big brother's teasing worsens the situation. This story provides the opportunity for parents or teachers to discuss feelings with the young child-Humorous illustrations. (Picture book)

When Martha wakes up one Saturday morning she feels mean. She throws her favorite pig across the room and stays mad all day. The expressive pen and ink line drawings capture her angry mood. (Picture book)

Marlee is convinced that a little magic, like her friend Mr. Romaro does, is all that's needed to bring her mother and father back together. She enlists her brother's help in carrying out a spell. How Marlee copes with her parents' separation when the "magic" fails is humorously told. California setting.

Annie's parents are going out for the evening. Bob is going to babysit. Annie tries many ploys, such as hiding, a tummyache, tears, and a tantrum to make her parents stay home. A small child's emotions are realistically portrayed. Illustrations reinforce the text. (Picture book)

Alan has learned through bitter experience that adults can't always be trusted, so when his guardian aunt dies he resolves to make it on his own. Only when one of his pets gets sick does he venture to seek help. A moving story of a young boy torn between fear and need.

Mama is independent, opinionated, and a thief. Her whole life is devoted to providing the best of everything for her two boys. older boy narrates the story of Mama's adventures, which are often humorous and usually illegal. He vows to keep loving her while trying to get her to change her ways.

Hughes, Shirley. David and Dog. Prentice-Hall, 1978. 4-7.

Children understand David's affection for his soft brown toy called Dog. When Dog is lost the whole family joins in the search. David forlornly watches the hilarious events of the school fair until he sees Dog on a toy sale table. The conclusion is entirely satisfying. (Picture book)

Hughes, Shirley. Moving Molly. Prentice-Hall, 1979. 4-7.

Molly and her family move from their basement home in the city to a house with a garden in the country. For Molly, it is very lonely until she discovers the hole in the garden wall and excitement on the other side. (Picture book)

Even though little Sam turns a year older, he is unable to do many things he would like to do, like turning on the light and reaching his clothes. A surprise package from Grandpa settles all of his problems. Complementary, colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

Jenny moves to the city from the country, but her initial feeling about her new home is not good. A new friend introduces Jenny to the unique places and excitement that exist in major cities.

Sara closes the large front door on her coat. She is frustrated as she tries to solve the problem of being caught with no one to help her. Finally she figures out how to unbutton her buttons and triumphantly walks away. Sepia and black drawings clearly show her emotions. (Picture book)

Jones, Penelope. I'm Not Moving! Illus. Amy Aitken. Bradbury Press, 1980. 4-7

Emma does not want to move and most especially she doesn't want to leave her digging hole. So she tries to find somewhere else in her neighborhood to live. In the end she decides the best place to be is with her family. Colorful illustrations. (Picture book)

Keats, Ezra Jack. Louie's Search. Four Winds Press, 1980. 4-7

Louie wants a new father. Barney, the local junkman, accuses Louie of stealing a music box, but later becomes his new father. Large.
Facing Problems

bold illustrations emphasize the liveliness of this exciting contemporary story. (Picture book)

Vicki Austin's family has come to stay all summer with Grandfather, who is dying of leukemia, when an accident takes the life of a family friend. Zachary, Vicki's former boyfriend, is responsible. Vicki is torn between her feelings for Zach, for fatherless Leo Rodney, and for Adam Eddington. With Adam, Vicki discovers her gift for joyful telepathic communication with dolphins. She learns that life and death are part of creation's "ring of endless light." 1981 Newbery Honor Book.

Eleven-year-old Meg is understandably jealous of her older sister Molly, who is beautiful, clever, and organized. As leukemia overtakes Molly, she becomes less clever, less organized, and certainly less beautiful. A moving study of a young girl's reaction to her older sister's illness and death.

Julie's father is dead; the family has moved to Maine with Grandmother, and twelve-year-old Julie spends the summer photographing geese. She is alone now instead of with Papa, who had also been her teacher and friend. The struggle for emotional stability and acceptance of death's permanence are realistically shown.

Betty Ann Thompson's twelfth summer is one of despair, following a wretched school year. She fails to make the boys' basketball team and remains friendless and disliked. When her father abandons the family, her mother goes to work and Betty Ann must shoulder responsibility for her younger siblings. A new friend helps her find a brighter outlook on self and life.

Thad gets into all sorts of mischief at home, in nursery school, at the doctor's office, and elsewhere. But even mischievous boys are loved. Detailed illustrations. (Picture book)

Robbie thinks breaking his arm is terrible until his mother suddenly dies of cancer. He and his father are virtual strangers who now must look to each other for support. They learn to love each other as they... cope with the ordeal. Robbie, his parents, and his best friend Jud are portrayed as very real people.

A child describes her life as she and her mother survive while her father is imprisoned. The mother takes over the father's job, learns to repair mechanical equipment, and is concerned about developing her body through exercise and natural foods. Includes Spanish and English texts. (Picture book)

Eleven-year-old Annie resents the intrusion of her bossy older cousin who spends every summer with her and her parents. Only when Annie's mother faces a mastectomy does she turn to cousin Lou, who offers her own kind of strength and comfort to the troubled young girl.

Everyone is always after Harry to hurry: get up, get out of the bathroom, eat breakfast, and go to school. Only at the end of a busy day can he lie in bed and enjoy the quiet as he slowly drifts off to sleep. A familiar experience in a humorous story. (Picture book)

What happened to Andrea is rape. The subject is treated openly, honestly, and with sensitivity. Strong characters include Andrea's sister, the Rape Hot Line counselor, a therapist, an understanding boyfriend, and difficult parents. Pertinent questions are asked. Recommended for mature readers.

Milord, Sue, and Jerry Milord. Maggie and the Goodbye Gift. Illus by authors. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books, 1979. 4-7

Maggie and her family must move when Dad is transferred. Everyone is sad until Maggie uses an electric can opener, a gift from Mom's best friend, in an unusual way to help the family to adjust to the new neighborhood. Primitive pen and ink sketches fit the humor of the story. (Picture book)

Moore, Emily. Something to Count On. E. P. Dutton, 1980. 10-12

It's the end of summer when Ma and Daddy tell Lorraine and Jason that Daddy is moving out. Soon school starts, and Lorraine's problems multiply. An understanding teacher helps her recognize and deal with her feelings about herself and her parents' divorce. A poignant tale.

Tomas soon learns that living with his uncle in a Pennsylvania steel town is quite different from living in his home in Puerto Rico. A parrot in a pet shop helps him solve his problems. The Spanish terms are enjoyable in this easy-to-read story. Black and white illustrations. Available in Spanish: Tomas y los pajaros parlantes.

Murphy, Barbara Beasley. No Place to Run. Bradbury Press, 1977. 12-up.

Fifteen-year-old Billy and his Italian friend participate in a prank that seems to cause a tramp's death. A Spanish-speaking girl becomes involved when Billy reacts with self-imposed silence. Set in Manhattan, this well-written book includes justifiably strong language and violence and realistic family interaction.

Six-year-old Lynn's parents divorce and she is provided with a second home, her father's apartment. She now has a key to each and her own things in each, but it is hard to cope with her hurt, angry feelings. When Janelle comes to play, and both parents accept this imaginary friend, Lynn is comforted. (Picture book)

Eitan's life with his parents on a farm on the Golan Heights is simple and peaceful until one day, home alone, Eitan hears the sounds of war approaching. The Yom Kippur War between Israel and Syria has begun. A dramatic account of the effects of war upon one Israeli family.

Life is not easy when all you want is for your family to be like the Waltons on TV and instead your father is living with his girlfriend and your mother is starting to date Sam. In this realistic tale of modern life, with many pointed, sad, and funny observations by the eleven-year-old narrator, everything turns out okay in the end. Not great, not like the Waltons, but okay.

Paterson, Diane. Wretched Rachel. Dial Press, 1978 4-7

A new treatment of an old theme humorously exposes the suffering that is often behind bad behavior, and reassuringly asserts that Rachel is loved no matter what. The colorful illustrations are simultaneously ugly and funny. Good for self-concept study. (Picture book)
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Eleven-year-old Gilly, the child of a “Flower Child” and for years a foster child, continually waits for her mother, love, and a happy ending, only to discover too late that she had all this and more in her last foster home. A well-written, poignant story with universal appeal. 1979 Newbery Honor Book

Pamela “Pieface” Testelbaum, an only child, takes seriously her teacher's experiment to cut down on TV viewing and develop a new interest. Her activity is most unusual. To complicate matters, cousin Daphne comes to live with her. Characters are well developed. Excellent for discussion on selfishness. Easy to read

Pfeffer, Susan Beth Awful Evelina. Illus Diane Dawson Albert Whitman, 1979 7-10
Meredith hates to go with her parents when they visit her aunt and uncle because her cousin Evelina is a bully. En route, Meredith has several wild, delicious fantasies about emergencies that could intervene. How Meredith discovers that reality is best and bullies can be dealt with makes for good discussion (Picture book)

Potter, Marian The Shared Room. William Morrow, 1979 10 up
Catherine's mother is sick. Everyone except Catherine knows what kind of sickness. Through her own initiative and courage she finds ways to help her mother and herself. Tightly focused with sensitive treatment of a very real problem.

Rinaldi, Ann Term Paper. Walker, 1980 12 up
A special term paper is assigned to Nicki by her teacher-brother in order to help her finally release her guilt about her father's death. She feels responsible because he had his fatal heart attack during an argument with her. Good for understanding about strained family relationships

Roberts Willo Davis Don't Hurt Laurie! Illus Ruth Sanderson Athenaeum, 1977 12 up.
Eleven-year-old Laurie has been abused by her mother as long as she can remember. She's had no friends, no family to help her until now when her nine-year-old stepbrother guesses how she gets bruised, cut, or burned. A painful but most worthwhile story.

The narrator, moving out west from New York City, envisions all the dreadful stereotypes about the region, including buzzards circling overhead while he expires in the desert heat. At the airport he sees no Gila monsters, but he does meet another boy who is moving east and is sure that the place is full of gangsters. Clever illustrations. (Picture book)
Facing Problems

Secrets are hard to keep, especially good secrets. Octavia's secret is good enough to be the King of Secrets. Imagining how to tell it and who might like to hear it creates a problem for the girl in the story. Her solution reflects a growing maturity. (Picture book)

Five short stories told by a sensitive, perceptive, eight-year-old boy cover topics like the death of a loved pet, possible divorce of parents, child suicide, cheating, and old people's problems. Fortunately, the adults give wise counsel to difficult questions. Black and white sketches; excellent book.

Curious twelve-year-old Carolyn discovers he, her elder half brother Richard and his shady friend Flim-Flam are involved in stealing. Richard is also painfully dealing with self-acceptance. Meeting these crises tests the entire family's strength and its ability to face the consequences. Realistically and compassionately told.

A chance remark by his school bus driver makes ten-year-old Peter question the security he has always enjoyed with his adoptive parents. Only after he joins the older man in the search for two dogs lost in a snowstorm does he gain a new sense of belonging.

Peter tries to keep hidden the fact that he takes ballet lessons because he fears he will lose his standing as an athlete. After being selected for a part in the Nutcracker, he comes to terms with his talent, assuring himself that a love for ballet is quite all right. Good example for sex roles.

Sam has just learned that Philip, the son of his teacher, Mr. Hall, has died in an accident. Sam struggles to understand death and the Martin comes home from school with muddy shoes. Mother isn't home. He makes dirty tracks on the floor and, out of loneliness, invites the neighbor's dog in for company. Havoc results. When Mother returns, she and Martin decide how to solve the problems created by his loneliness. (Picture book)

Kenny is afraid of the dark. But discussion reveals that each member of his family is afraid of something. Kenny finally discovers a way to help conquer his fear. A realistic portrayal of feelings through text and three-color illustrations (Picture book)

Little Thunder's grandfather, Tayhua, rides a wild stallion with a devastating display of strength. Before Tayhua dies, he explains to his grandson his view of death, a gift of a journey into winter. A touching, sensitive story of friendship between old and young on an Indian reservation

Eleven-year-old Josephine has difficulty adjusting to her fifth foster home. Just beginning to feel accepted, she discovers that a baby will soon be born into the family. Feeling betrayed, she runs away and becomes lost. A friend returns her to her happy parents, who have just learned they can adopt her

Tennant, Veronica On Stage, Please. Illus. Rita Briansky Holt, Rinehart and Winston. 1979 10-up
Jennifer has an overwhelming desire to be a ballet dancer. Her acceptance into the Professional School of Ballet in Toronto begins a life of tough academic study and ballet training, but the challenge and inspiration of genuine artistic effort sustain her. All the joys and crises of a youngster in serious ballet training are realistically portrayed in this story by a renowned ballerina. Illustrations are true to good dance technique.

Eliza's daddy is remarried and she wonders about his new daughter
Facing Problems

Surely she is a Wonderful Angel! One Saturday, Eliza persuades him to take her to his new home, where a happy surprise awaits her. Softly colored charcoal drawings portray the black family. (Picture book)

Emily loves her pet gerbil, Petey, but he is dying and she cannot help him. This beautifully told story treats honestly all aspects of death: denial, anger, grief, final acceptance. There is a believable little girl and an understanding and supportive family. Excellently drawn, monochromatic illustrations capture the grief of the child, the love in the family. (Picture book)

Nine-year-old Mandy McPherson's father was killed in an accident. Her mother rents a cottage in Vermont where Mandy gradually accepts the painful loss. Her new-found friends, Carrie and Shandee, a recluse, bring comfort. Well-defined characters and a sensitive treatment of death make this good for discussion.

Juana lives in a Mexican orphanage until an American doctor notices her and takes her to California to correct a harelip. Having no recall of her past, Juana is amazed and discouraged as the doctors examine her and find that the deformation is a result of an accident. This discovery unravels Juana's painful past.

Birthdays are big events to a seven year old, but Beverly Bigler's birthday was completely overshadowed by her big sister's wedding day. Poor Beverly! Maybe she should run away to Texas. Felt-tip sketches are used in this easy-to-read book.

Boris doesn't like to go to bed at night because he thinks there might be monsters in his room. His parents and he decide to buy a fierce watchdog. Young readers will laugh at the turn-about when Boris has to protect his dog. (Picture book)

No one calls shy Amanda by her own name. Realizing she somehow must work her way out of this dilemma, she tries several indirect courses. Finally she speaks out for herself and is surprised and pleased by the results. Episodes in this concept book lend themselves to dramatization. (Picture book)

Twelve-year-old Marcie experiences the agony of the Vietnam War through her father's depression and alcoholism. Two very different elderly women provide stability and help for Marcie in this well-written novel.

The Marthas of this world are ever with us. This Martha has black hair, is talented, never freckles, and never gets fat. It's not fair! Martha tells her side in this book that could be used in class discussions on values and fairness. (Picture book)

Family

Oliver becomes upset when his mother paints his old high chair so it will be ready for the new baby. He plots revenge. His understanding mother listens to his threats and helps him to see the advantages of being a big brother. (Picture book)

This collection of stories about children in all parts of the world is an excellent resource for encouraging children to read about growing up in other lands. Eleven stories are excerpted and two are given in full.

During a conversation with his mother, a boy reveals his dream of having a goat. Colorful, luminescent drawings add substance to the boy's imaginary journey up the mountain to find his goat. (Picture book)

Poor Allen is always running to keep up with his older brothers and sister. They go too fast, and they never want to stay anywhere long enough to look at things. Finally Allen trips and falls down in the grass where he lies still watching a fuzzy green worm. Of course the others follow suit and at last enjoy staying still (Picture book)

The attic of their crowded home is Alfie's retreat, and there he draws cartoons by the hour. When his private domain is threatened by the return of his older brother and his expectant wife, he hangs on to it tenaciously. Only his older sister understands why he needs a place and things of his own.

Retta, who has learned her parenting skills from television viewing, is rearing two younger brothers without much help from her father, a country-western singer. The action, setting, and conversation have a you-are-there quality. Charcoal illustrations.

Young Windy anxiously awaits weekend visits with her father. Weekly rituals of making chocolate pudding and finding daddy's glasses are shared. A tender father-daughter relationship is presented with few words in this story of a black family with separated parents (Picture book)

A small boy goes out into the bitter cold to find fuel to warm the cabin he shares with his mother and baby sister. The poetic language of the text and the haunting chill of the black and white paintings celebrate the love and courage of this Appalachian family (Picture book)

Ramona's father loses his job during her second-grade year. She tries to help the family by engaging in moneymaking schemes and by conducting no-smoking campaigns. Fortunately, there is humor in her escapades and the family remains intact and loving. Another well-written book about a popular character. 1978 Newbery Honor Book

Mary Call Luther, sixteen, knows that life in Trial Valley is not easy. An orphan, she bears responsibility for younger siblings and takes in an abandoned boy. Appalachian setting, myths, values, and lovely mountain language make this an excellent choice for reading aloud.
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Thirteen-year-old Molly’s determination to move with her widowed father to a new town and a fresh start is thwarted when a strange woman fanatically devoted to a self-actualization group leaves her painfully backward young son with them.

Little Amifika fears that his father who has been in the army for so long will not remember him. He attempts to hide when he learns of his father’s homecoming. Expressive drawings illustrate this touching story of a black family. (Picture book)

Waiting nine months with his mother and stepfather provides time for young Everett Anderson to accept the idea that there’s enough love to share, even when a new brother or sister arrives. Soft black and white illustrations sensitively blend with this poetic story of love in a black family. (Picture book)

Everett Anderson worries about the addition of a third member to his family: Mr. Perry is going to be his new stepfather and “three can be crowded or can be just right.” Readers will recognize the young hero from Everett Anderson’s Friend, Everett Anderson’s Year, and others. (Picture book)

Tee has a stone that has been bringing good luck to its owners since the days of slavery. As she listens to her great-grandmother’s tales of its previous owners, Tee is sure that her life too will be charmed by the stone. A warm family story. (Picture book)

Blue-Wings-Flying longs for a sister. As he awaits the birth, he observes and participates in family clan life: corn grinding, storytelling in the kiva. When the baby arrives, he plays an important role in naming her. Two-color illustrations add to this warm view of Hopi life.

Preschooler Lee Henry’s mother is fighting the midwinter blues, and his behavior is not contributing to good mental health. But relief is spelled r-o-b-i-n. The delightful, warm characters ring true, and mothers can readily identify with Lee Henry's mom. Humorous pen and ink drawings. (Picture book)

Dickinson, Mary. Alex's Bed. Illus. Charlotte Firmin. Andre Deutsch, 1980. 4-7

Alex's room is a disaster area and his mother complains. He notes that the only empty space left is near the ceiling. After brainstorming, Mother puts stilts on the bed. But something was overlooked! Appealing illustrations in color. (Picture book)

Moving from one rental to the next is all that Reenie has known for twelve years. Now she's excited as the family is about to move into a real house.

Fatherless Dangy finds companionship, entertainment, and plenty of good food when he makes friends with an assortment of divorced fathers and their sons during weekly outings to the zoo. Before long, however, his scheme to become part of a family leads to hilarious chaos and confusion.

Orphaned eleven-year-old Kitten and her brother Peter live with their grandparents, but Kitten yearns for a "normal" family. Her feelings of loneliness and her need to create a secret fantasy family are realistically drawn. As the story progresses, Kitten realizes that the people in her life do indeed make up a family that is rich and satisfying.

Malcolm is the white man's name for the young son of a present-day Navajo family. Malcolm loves the traditional life of his people, and the boy longs to earn a true Indian name as he comes home for summer vacation from the white man's school. A tender story with realistic illustrations and much information about Navajo life.

Adam's plans for a carefree summer are upset when his father's new English wife arrives with her eleven-year-old daughter, Sproggy. His stepsister is taller than Adam, several months older, and unbearable. Overcoming his attitude and developing new feelings toward her are quite a task.

Gorilla, a child’s pretend companion, understands the youngster’s feelings about the new baby who shares the room. The story line is a naturally phrased monologue of child to gorilla, with Mother coming in affectionately at beginning and end. Charcoal and watercolor illustrations accurately show big green gorilla’s satisfying responses. (Picture book)

This story, told by an unnamed younger brother, speaks to the envy of the older, bigger brother. Events are realistic, as are the exceptional three-color illustrations. Adults show love and understanding. (Picture book)

Leon lies in bed wondering why his mother didn’t kiss him good night. Was it because he let his pet snake loose when Mrs. Minkus came to visit? Was it because he only pretended to take a bath? His questions are finally answered by a sniffly Mother with a cold who blows him a kiss. (Picture book)

Saundra, the haughty ballerina in the family, is surprised and disturbed when she learns that her younger sister Lily is planning to take ball lessons. Excellent characterization of the two sisters keeps the reader interested throughout the usual sibling rivalries.

Ten-year-old Anastasia, an only child, has certain things that she thinks are wonderful and others that she hates. Her lists of these likes and dislikes change, sometimes rather rapidly. A baby brother about to be born, a grandmother in a nursing home, and a special boy are all part of her story. Humorous and poignant.

Emily has a stomachache in her head and a headache in her throat. She also has a father who makes her sick day a special day as he fixes her hair, draws monsters, and puts toy giraffes in her broth. A warm story enriched by delicate and numerous illustrations. (Picture book)
Marzollo, Jean  Amy Goes Fishing. Illus Ann Schweninger Dial Press, 1980. 4-7

One by one the family members disappear from the Saturday morning breakfast table until Amy and Dad are left alone. He suggests going fishing. Because her brother and sister had informed her earlier that “fishing is boring,” Amy is surprised and delighted by the events of the day. Watercolor illustrations. (Picture book)

Here is the story of remembered Saturdays when a country family did the wash together. The joys of playing under windblown sheets and sharing a task are portrayed. A gentle tale, illustrated in cool blues and greens. (Picture book)

Myers, Walter Dean.  It Ain’t All for Nothin’. Viking Press, 1978 10-up

Twelve-year-old Tippy must live with his father in Harlem when his loving, religious grandmother goes to the hospital. His mother had died at Tippy’s birth, and Daddy’s survival led to crime. Tippy’s struggle for identity and acceptance makes a moving story.

Michael decides to inform his little brother about the tooth fairy, Santa Claus, and elves, but Jonathan remains true to his friends. A surprise ending completes the story. This excellent lap book serves nicely to initiate discussions about make-believe characters and events. Appealing watercolors complement the text. (Picture book)

Jennifer enjoys her visits to Laura’s home and wishes her mother were more like Laura’s. When Jennifer’s mother goes back to work, Jennifer begins to understand and appreciate her. Pencil illustrations clarify the emotional context of this contemporary, easy-to-read story. (Picture book)

Anna tells everyone in the neighborhood how she works and how little her brother does. Soft, detailed pictures blend with the brief text to share an amusing conclusion that any young child can enjoy. (Picture book)

Triplets Matte, Hattie, and Pattie take refuge in their room because they are tired of being mistaken for one another. Their parents. teacher, and a classmate think up a plan to stop mixing them up. Vivid, childlike illustrations blend with the theme of this creative story—being appreciated for oneself.

On Alexander’s sixth birthday he recounts all the wonderful things that happened the day he was born. His tale is intercepted again and again by his older brother, who adds his memories of each event. Enjoyable humor in the two wildly differing recollections in this point-counterpoint story (Picture book).

According to Bweela and Javaka, Daddy is a monster when they are messy, noisy, or bothersome at bedtime. But sometimes, really all of the time, the children know that Daddy loves them. Highly stylized illustrations reflect the emotions of the characters in the black family (Picture book).

Baby brother gets lots of special privileges and he doesn’t get punished like big sister does. It’s not fair! Everyday experiences are presented with an awareness of children’s feelings, especially sibling rivalry. Colorful illustrations. (Picture book).

Tate, Eleanora E. Just an Ordinary Guest. Dial Press, 1980 8 12.

Nine-year-old Margie Carson is horrified to learn that four-year-old Ethel, the neglected town brat, will live with her family. It falls to Margie to teach this disruptive, embarrassing child everything. Eventually Margie learns to cope with Ethel and comes to accept her presence in the family. The jealousy and loathing common to all family relationships are compounded by prejudice, for the Carsons are a black family and Ethel is a white child.

Davey is always the last one left playing outside after school because he has no one to call him home. One week when Dad works late, a new baby-sitter comes to stay with Davey. She calls him home for supper before any of the other guys are called. Davey feels good about that.

Guguze lives his just-before-school-age life creatively and at full tilt.
What he does and feels as a small boy in a Moldavian village will find lively responses in the feelings and imaginations of American children. Charming folk art. (Picture book)

Gran and Uncle Brande take turns caring for Aurora and her little brother Socrates when both parents must work. Their family adventures make good reading, and life in a modern Norwegian city is shown to be much like that in a city in the United States. Line drawings with soft gray water wash.

Miles visits his father, who has remarried. When Miles gets lost, his stepmother comes to his rescue and he wonders if she could become his friend. This book makes an excellent and necessary statement about divorce and how it affects the very young. (Picture book)

A little girl tries a number of ways to cheer up her sad mother and accidentally discovers the best way of all. An easy-to-read book accompanied by mostly black and white sketches, with a touch of blue. Naturally. (Picture book)

While Grandmother makes cornrows for Sister and Brother, she sings the old songs and tells the story of how cornrows for braided hair began. The hairstyle, an ancient African symbol, reflects the courage of today's Afro-Americans. Muted black and white full-page illustrations add warmth and delight. (Picture book)

Hilda helps. When there are chores to be done, she works without complaining. Her father makes a medal that says "To Hilda for Helping." Sister Gladys is jealous and predicts a miserable future for Hilda. Hilda, however, believes in a more positive tomorrow. (Picture book)

A mother reassures her daughter that "if you listen" you can know that someone far away loves you. The full-color pictures capture the mood of the story as the mother offers examples of how to perceive things by listening and feeling. (Picture book)

Zolotow, Charlotte Say It! Illus. James Stevenson Greer Illow Books. 1980 5-8

A warm story of the love between mother and daughter is set on a windy autumn day. The story is beautifully phrased, and the prose is matched by full-page, full-color illustrations that catch the spirit of a brisk autumn jaunt and a shared experience.

Friendships

Twelve-year-old Jeremy must take care of eight-year-old Lynette. He knows his summer at Cape Cod will be ruined. Jeremy fantasizes that the Glits are magical people who grant wishes, but eventually he makes his own wishes come true. In the process, he learns a lot about himself and true friendship.

Ames, Mildred What Are Friends For? Charles Scribner's Sons, 1978 10-up

Eleven-year-old Amy and her friend Michelle both live in single-parent families. Michelle is extremely possessive and doesn't want Amy to have other friends. When Amy discovers that her friend is a shoplifter, the definition of friendship is put to the test.

Angell, Judie Tina Gogo. Bradbury Press. 1978 8-12

Following behind the facade of a tough kid, Tina begins a tumultuous year living with a foster family. She pretends that her mother is traveling abroad and her father works for the President in Washington, D.C., but when she invites her new friend Sarajane to meet her mother, Tina's defenses crumble. Sarajane's persistent questions and Tina's defensive actions are the prelude to a warm and understanding friendship.

In the middle of an alfalfa field a man and a farm girl meet for the first time. They quickly establish a rapport through playing the game of naming their favorite things. The mood is one of rapport, and the easy feeling of the text is carried over into the gentle illustrations. (Picture book)

Brooks, Jerome Make Me a Hero. E P Dutton, 1980 10 up

A Jewish boy in the early 1940s prepares for his Bar Mitzvah... ping beyond the boundaries of his neighborhood, he is changed by the people he meets and the challenges he chooses to face.

Child Study Children's Book Committee at Bank Street, compiler. Friends Are Like That! Stories to Read to Yourself. Illus. Leigh Grant. Thomas Y. Crowell, 1979. 6-9

This anthology of short and easy-to-read stories introduces all kinds of friends and explores the reasons for having close friends. Authors include Charlotte Zolotow, Eloise Greenfield, and Astrid Lindgren. Black and white pen drawings.

Stories can be told in many ways. This time the author conveys the message through simple line drawings. Two bashful neighbors want to get to know one another better, and each season of the year finds them a little closer. (Picture book)

Each day Crystal, the new girl in 3-B, does something slightly off-beat. Her actions intrigue Susan and often get both girls in trouble. This popular easy reader contains lively and detailed illustrations that depict a middle-class urban environment. (Picture book)

Greene, Constance C. Your Old Pal, Al. Viking Press, 1979 10-12

Al, the heroine of two previous books, rages with jealousy when her best friend invites another girl to stay with her. The ups and downs of adolescent friendship, divorced parents, and life in New York City are humorously and realistically explored in this popular “girl-like-me” book

Fifth-grader Doris meets Ame, the new boy in her Bronx neighborhood. A gentle loner, he helps her to become her own person and to understand others better. Their story offers a positive perspective on life in the inner city.

Louie moves with his family to a new neighborhood and is unhappy because he has no friends. In his imagination he takes a trip to his old home. Vibrant illustrations enhance the poignant story. (Picture book)

*It's carnival time in Jamaica, but poor little Nini has no costume. But there is lots of magic around at carnival time, and lo and behold, a real fairy godmother deftly transforms Nini into a queen, using only a piece of bright cloth.

Late one summer Lena and Joel, shy, unsure twelve-year-olds, discover a uniquely perfect friendship. They agree that their secret friendship will last until the leaves begin to fall. A sensitive, beautifully conceived evocation of adolescence and first love.

The Norfolk countryside is vastly different from London, and Andrew dreads the first day at a new school. Then he meets Victor, an unconventional youngster with a passion for airplanes and little success in the classroom.

Amy is different. She’s tall, very tall. Her friendship with Mark is threatened when she grows taller than he. Youngsters will enjoy learning the secret of the Captain Crunchy Decoder Ring, and it may set off a craze of code writing. (Picture book)

Paterson, Katherine Bridge to Terabithia. Illus. Donna Diamond Thomas Y. Crowell, 1977 10-12

Leslie, the new girl in school, is worldly in comparison to Jess with his rural Virginia background. Their differences diminish, however, through their love of running. They become friends and create a secret imaginary kingdom of Terabithia. The strength of their shared experiences enables Jess to cope with Leslie’s tragic accidental death. 1978 Newbery Award

Jessica is unhappy because her best friend won’t have anything to do with her. She decides on an unusual plan to make Wendy jealous. It doesn’t work, but a happy surprise results.

Four preteen friends seek to fulfill their dreams by building a boat in the basement of their apartment building. Two of them are handicapped, but the expert characterization done without sentimentality helps young readers to identify with them.

Cathy and Pippa meet and become good friends in Morocco, where their fathers are with the American and British foreign services respectively. Both are distressed when Pippa must return to England for school. Fine character portrayal and description of setting.

To replace a best friend who has moved is not easy as Polly LeN discovers. But new neighbor Consuela Christina Machado and her famous artist mother become a special project for Polly and her warm, happy Vermont family in this sequel to Ferris Wheel. Friendship results.

Kathy and Susan find a beautiful bracelet at the beach. When no one claims it, they take weekly turns wearing it. Their friendship snags when Kathy deliberately keeps the bracelet too long. Discussions of honesty and dependability logically follow the reading of this book. Full-page color photographs. (Picture book)

Bridgman, Elizabeth. If I Were a Horse. Illus by author. Dodd, Mead, 1977. 5-7

Incongruities result when Jenny fantasizes that she is a horse engaging in her everyday activities. She enjoys the idea of fooling people until she realizes that she might go unrecognized. Cartoonlike illustrations catch the changing moods of this story with its be-yourself theme. (Picture book)

A lonely boy whose only friends exist in his imagination brings food to a tramp he finds near a London railway. After several days the tramp disappears without saying good-bye, leaving the boy saddened but with a new sense of his own worth. (Picture book)

Ramona feels unloved and left out when both Mr. and Mrs. Quimby go to work and many household routines are changed. She suffers the trials of learning to deal with growing up in this humorous story, and her mother finds a special way of showing Ramona how much she is loved.

A young widow in the 1940s ventures into the hotel business, and the story of that enterprise is narrated by her sixteen-year-old daughter. The romantic and sexual needs of both mother and daughter receive tasteful and moderate treatment in an appealing book.

Lee Henry's doting mother is the best mom in the world, she does everything for him. Suddenly a frightening change takes place a baby-sitter comes in after school, and Mom begins to ask Lee Henry for help! A useful book for discussions on growing independence and helping others. (Picture book)

Pumpkin Jackson's father understands why she writes poetry When he dies, it seems that only hatred is left, hatred towards her mother and everyone else. Pump's friendship with Jim Jim, the class bully, enables both young people to accept themselves and the individuals in their neighborhood. Black culture is an important part of the book, but the story is for all growing people.

Fourteen-year-old Jinty sees with a third eye. knowing things without knowing how she knows When she is called to tell what she knows about the Earl of Ballinford, she learns something about herself and her Scottish family.

Tiffany, youngest member of a poor black family in a small North Carolina city, thinks of herself as a tough kid, the only one who can stand up to her bossy, stingy grandmother In spite of her brave front eleven-year-old Tiffany's fears and dreams are the same as those many young people face.

A little girl wants to be big, big enough for a second ice cream cone but not big enough for even one helping of peas. This book of "big enough" comparisons is charmingly illustrated with black and white line drawings (Picture book)

Johnston, Norma. The Sanctuary Tree. Atheneum. 1977. 12 up

Fifteen-year-old Tish's feelings of displeasure and compulsion are evident as she learns to cope with change. Trying to accept her grandfather's death and the selling of his farm meshed with other personal struggles force her to examine her inner feelings Understanding one's self is the central theme.

Toe, who first appeared in Confessions of an Only Child, returns, now ten years old and fighting against growing up Toe hates getting his period and giving up dolls. Her friendships with Libby and Growing Up

Jimmy undergoes changes throughout it all. Toe receives warm and loving support from her lawyer mother and housekeeper father.

The relationship of five young adolescents with the people around them is explored in five short stories written in first person. Dialect and gentle humor give each story individuality. The problems each character encounters would encourage class discussion if the book were read aloud.

Donny grows a little when he completes a task he has set for himself—buying a plant for his mother's birthday. He meets a scary challenge on the way home. Beautiful black and white sketches with muted wash background and a sensitive use of black dialect and syntax (Picture book).

Arthur's tenth summer is horrible; his mother is expecting a baby and he must stay with an eccentric aunt and uncle. His new friend Moira dubs him "Mouse," but when he acts with maturity in a crisis, she calls him Arthur for the very first time. Gradually, Arthur begins to look at himself and others in a new way.

Rabe, Bernice The Girl Who Had No Name. E. P. Dutton, 1977 12 up

Girli knows something is wrong when, after Mama's death, everyone begins whispering. Then Papa doesn't want her at home, so she moves from one poor sister to another. But twelve-year-old Girli has determination and talent. Ultimately, she works out the mystery of her parentage, copes with the painful facts of growing up, and claims her own identity. Mature readers.

Sachs, Marilyn A Summer's Lease. E. P. Dutton, 1979 12 up

At fifteen Gloria is a gifted writer, fiercely competitive, and not at all attractive. A summer in the mountains and a tough-minded English teacher lift her out of a bitter self-absorption that has not allowed her to form normal friendships. A very special book for the special reader.

Schick, Eleanor Home Alone. Dial Press, 1980 4-7

Andy must stay by himself from the time school is out until his mother returns from work. Her reassuring note enables him to handle his time nicely and reinforces his mother's confidence in him. If the cat can stay by herself, Andy reasons, so can he. Helpful suggestions. Comforting illustrations. (Picture book).

Polly is without a best friend. Accepting that, learning to get along with brother Rusty, sharing pony Blondel, and welcoming newcomer Consuela are all part of a summer of growing in Vermont. Style and content document contemporary female life-styles and current parenting practices.

Thirteen-year-old Linnet grows up while playing her first major role in a repertory theater company. Oddly enough, the role is Peter Pan. The theater detail is excellent, and the plot is simple enough to be readily understood yet complex enough to hold the reader's interest.

Grandmother is changing from the kind loving person who raised Ludell to a sick, mean old lady. Ludell struggles with problems at home and at school, with a job cleaning for white folk, and with the growing awareness of her love for Willie. A poignant story of a young black girl growing up in Georgia.

When twelve-year-old Case's father is hospitalized, she goes to stay with her maternal grandmother in San Francisco's Chinatown. There she learns a whole new way of life. Learning about her Chinese heritage helps her begin to understand her place in the world.

Craig, a Chinese-American, moves to California and has difficulty making friends and finding value in himself. His father wants him to excel in sports, but overweight Craig has few talents in that direction and little interest. An acquaintance with a sage old Chinese man helps Craig achieve self-understanding.

Sesame and her siblings like the baby's high chair. Just for fun, Sesame squeezes into it and gets stuck. Not one to miss the class party, Sesame and the high chair go to school. Eventually released, she experiences a variety of feelings about growing up. lively humor, realistic illustrations, and a satisfying ending (Picture book).

A young boy has mixed feelings as he realizes that he is growing up. Even though everything is in the right place, he knows that time...
Handicaps

One thing is missing: “Someone’s gone. Someone’s missing and I know who . . . . I am someone new.” A simple, perceptive picture story book about a young child growing up. (Picture book)

Handicaps

Wally Springer has an allergy problem. He cannot have the usual pets: they make him sneeze. He tries frogs and snakes without much luck. His final pet is a winner: a hermit crab. The book is valuable for youngsters suffering from allergies because it explores alternatives. (Picture book)

Big sister describes what the world is like to her deaf little sister, Heather, just eight years old. Beautiful full-page color photographs show Heather and her family at the zoo. Heather likes what all children like, but others often misunderstand. (Picture book)

Sarah loves her younger brother and easily repeats her mother’s explanation of why he is different. But when Matt almost ruins her birthday party she cannot accept the reality of having a mongoloid brother. Down’s Syndrome is openly and sympathetically discussed as Sarah learns to deal with her feelings.

Marianne, fourteen, has a summer job that leads to romance. Her major responsibility is the care of a brain-damaged girl, whose brother provides the love angle. The story explores these relationships.

A warm relationship exists between eight-year-old Sam and his mentally retarded friend Jacob, who is sixteen. Jacob’s talents — keen aim for basketball and instant recognition of cars — are highlighted. The illustrations extend the mood of the story, and the book makes a fine starter for discussion. (Picture book)

Cookson, Catherine Go Tell It to Mrs. Golightly. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books, 1977 8–12

Bella Dodd, a blind girl of eight, is sent to visit her cold, abrupt grandfather. Befriended by serious, fourteen-year-old John, whom the grandfather asks to help her. Bella finds exciting adventure, including a kidnapping. Eventually she wins her grandfather's love.

Rachel recounts her daily life in a matter-of-fact, cheerful narrative that includes discussion of her wheelchair and the limitations of being unable to walk. The overall impression conveyed by the book—both text and drawings—is that of a child who enjoys normal activities and who accepts without fuss what she cannot do. (Picture book)

Garrigue, Sheila Between Friends. Bradbury Press. 1978 10-12

When Jill leaves California and moves to Massachusetts during the summer, very few girls her age are around. She becomes friendly with Dede, a retarded girl. Her mother and the friends Jill later makes exert pressure on her to abandon the friendship.

The mother of a nine-year-old autistic child describes the frightening and disturbing world of her son so that young readers will understand and recognize this childhood disorder. Photographs complement the sensitive, informative text.

Hanlon, Emily The Swing. Bradbury Press. 1979 10 up

A swing, a lie, and a bear hunt are significant elements in this story of Beth, an eleven-year-old deaf girl, and Danny, a thirteen-year-old boy with family problems. A moving story of friendship.

Two city boys have a chance to spend some time on a farm. David tries to help Squarehead, who has a learning disability. The story directs attention to the problems of children with handicaps.

The story of thirteen-year-old Caroline, told as she would tell it if she could talk, is compassionately written. The reader shares the mental handicapped girl's frustrations as she attempts to understand the world she lives in. A haunting insight into the life of a silent person.

Hermes, Patricia What If They Knew? Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. 1980 12 up

Jeremy's summer with his grandparents hasn't been perfect. When she finds out that her parents won't be returning from England until December, she dreads going to a new school because of her epilepsy. How she and her friends handle her fears is a warm, humorous story.

This is an unusual and touching story of a camp counselor who works with massively handicapped children. The making of acorn necklaces at Camp Wiggin draws the campers together and gives the children confidence. The reader's love for and understanding of these children grows as the story unfolds.

Having attended the Institute for the Blind for nine years, fifteen-year-old Meg Hollis wants to go to a regular high school. Many of her adjustment problems stem from attitudes she encounters. Meg matures as she realizes that instead of trying to be like others, she must value and nourish her own uniqueness. Much of the book is autobiographical.

Seventeen-year-old identical twins, Kerry and Terry, share everything, hats, sports, thoughts, and the automobile accident that leaves Terry a quadriplegic. This story of a family devastated emotionally and financially but finding strength to pick up life is told with honesty and sensitivity.

Nick worries about going to school. How will he get up the stairs in his wheelchair? Will he be liked? Nick's teacher in a friendly and open manner helps his classmates satisfy their natural curiosity about Nick. When Nick retrieves the ball from the roof, he is appreciated by all and gains self-confidence. (Picture book)

Michael's parents are deaf. They talk with their hands and nine-year-old Michael is proud of them. When the family moves to a new town, however, children make fun of his parents. Suddenly, Michael is embarrassed. A sensitive story which offers much information about the deaf.

A small boy tells of a day with his blind grandpa, conveying how the world is perceived through grandpa's "eyes." The poetic text explains softly colored illustrations are an excellent combination that enriches our understanding of blindness and can be used to stimulate classroom activities on "seeing" without eyes. (Picture book)
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

A young son describes the daily life of his blind mother. The full-page color photographs and informative text help young readers feel more comfortable with blind persons (Picture book)

Changes occur easily in the feelings of seven-year-old Sarah, whose younger brother is retarded. Sometimes she feels overburdened because she has to do more things than he does; sometimes she is angry with others because they are not nice to him. Sometimes she loves him because he loves her (Picture book)

“My name is Wobbie,” says Robbie. Therein lies the problem: a difficulty in articulation. A useful book in the best sense of the word. This easy reader can be used for discussion in a variety of situations (Picture book)

ter Haar Jaap (translator Martha Mearns) The World of Ben Lighthart. Seymour Lawrence, 1977 10 up

An accident leaves Ben blind, and he is forced to make a new life for himself. Gradually he comes to terms with his world of darkness and agrees to attend a special school. Told from his point of view, the story conveys the difficulties of his day-to-day adjustments.

A sudden hearing loss resulting from German measles leaves young Jamie a lonely stranger in his familiar environment. Love and support from family and professionals help Jamie reestablish his place. The moving story and illustrations sensitve the reader to the struggle of a hearing-impaired child (Picture book)

Young, Helen. What Difference Does It Make, Danny? Illus Quentin Blake. Andre Deutsch, 1980. 8-12

Danny, who has epilepsy, is good at sports and loves everything about the gym, even the smell of old plimsolls. Until now, his disability, controlled by medication, has been handled openly by parents, teachers, and classmates. When the new games master bars
Danny from competitive sports, he reacts by retreating from every-thing and everyone, but all is resolved when he plays truant and rescues a child from drowning. Youngsters will enjoy the challenge of the Britishisms in this story published first in Great Britain.

Humor

Adler, David A. You Think It's Fun to Be a Clown! Illus Ray Cruz. Doubleday, 1980. 4-7.

"Clowning is not fun at all!" exclaims the clown. Clowns are shot from cannons, cut in half by magicians, chased by wild beasts, and squirted by elephants. A surprise awaits the reader. Lively, colorful pictures accompany the energetic rhymed text. (Picture book)

Marc's fantasy of being a renowned magician is "ballooned" on every other page; the intervening scenes offer reality. His attempts and finally his success in making a coin disappear provide the story line. Full-color illustrations effectively portray the grandiose dreams, the failures, and the satisfaction of accomplishment. (Picture book)

Tuffy and her companions in Bunk Ten are having a wonderful year at camp—except for Uncle Otto, the head counselor. The girls devise a plan to get even and the results are disastrous and unexpected.

Taking a nap on a hot afternoon is so easy for lazy Jasper Walker and his barnyard animals. Then a nasty horsefly bites the mule's nose and sets off a crazy chain of events. Young listeners especially will enjoy this silly farm tale enlivened by very comic illustrations. (Picture book)

Barrett, Judi. I Hate to Go to Bed. Illus Ray Cruz Four Winds Press, 1977. 4-7.

Humorous drawings help a child envision the many reasons for not going to bed. Further reflection, however, reveals a pleasant side to bedtime in this reassuring story. (Picture book)

Peter Hatcher is disturbed about the disruptions in family life. As if having an irritating brother like Fudge isn't enough, Dad quits his job to write a book, the family moves to the suburbs, and baby sister is on the way Eventually family life straightens out to everyone's satisfaction
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Bram, Elizabeth Woodruff and the Clocks. Dial Press, 1980 6-9

Four easy-to-read stories tell about Woodruff. an imaginative boy who loves his cats, clocks. and dreams. Happy feelings and good ideas to carry over into classroom or home life abound (Picture book)

The text of this clever book gives sound advice to youngsters traveling with adults. but the hilarious. detailed illustrations show the real story line of twins who do just the opposite. (Picture book)

The neighbor's new dog likes a little boy so much that he helps with such tasks as taking out the garbage and guarding the house. Much of the humorous story is conveyed through line drawings (Picture book)

After Uncle Parker wins a Caribbean cruise in a slogan-writing contest, the Bagthorpe family, in their usual deliciously wacky manner, moves into the Era of Competitive Entering Jack's dog. Zero, becomes the idol of a dog food company. Second of a British series

Even when running smoothly, life in the Bagthorpe household is a fair imitation of bedlam. When Grandma plans a family reunion, things inexorably go from worse to disaster. Third of a British series Mild profanity

An overdrawn bank account sets Mr. Bagthorpe on a course of self-sufficiency, and the Bagthorpe estate expands to include a goat. beer making. and vegetable gardens. The situation is complicated by rich Great-aunt Lucy's visit and four-year-old Daisy's "funerals" Fourth of a British series. Mild profanity

The Bagthorpes are highly volatile geniuses. all except Jack. who is just plain ordinary. With the connivance of a sympathetic uncle, however, Jack begins to foretell the future, and his extraordinary behavior throws the whole family into an uproar. Daisy, a precocious four-year-old incendiary, adds to the hilarious confusion. First of a British series.

Baba decides to make soup and three other babas come to help her. Each decides what is needed in the way of flavoring. How they resolve the dilemma of the spoiled broth makes a delightful story. This easy-to-read book has appealing pictures and a wordless section. (Picture book)

Fourteen-year-old Marcy from The Cat Ate My Gymsuit is a counselor-in-training at Ms. Finney's creative arts camp. Marcy and her fellow campers have delightful escapades as she deals with typical camp problems—and falling in love!

Eddie is nine years old and growing up in Yonkers during the 1940s. Except for the setting, the ten episodes are timeless as Eddie goes to the zoo, trains his dog, plays his first piano recital, and outsmarts the neighborhood gang. A humorous look at growing up in the 'old days.'

Rhyme, rhythm, and repetition are delightful elements in this story of a farmer who is deaf in one ear. He uses an ear trumpet, but his wife hollers, and the rooster crows loudly. All this noise scares away a would-be robber. Lively illustrations. (Picture book)

Marilyn has mean Miss Minch in first grade, but she knows that school will be different when she has Miss Lark as her second-grade teacher. She's sure everyone will send her valentines and invite her to parties—next year she'll be special. (Picture book)

Harvey is vying with his friend Quint in the sixth-grade Superkids Contest. He's sure he'll win because he has the greatest beer can collection in town. Exaggerations like this get Harvey in trouble over and over again, but his escapades make hilarious reading.
Franny loves to read, especially in the closet with a bag of chips. She decides to keep a diary in the hope that exciting adventures will begin to happen to her, adventures like those experienced by the heroines in the teenage romances her mother gives her to read. Curiously, strange things do start to happen.

This first-person account tells how one friend caught a fish and the other caught a cold. Jeremy seems to be on the plus side of life until a unique turn of events. Simple vocabulary, brief text, and pictures to make a reader giggle. (Picturebook)

Two boys meet in their apartment elevator and a hilarious tale unfolds. Jonah thinks Goober is weird, but they have some fascinating adventures together. Throughout the story Jonah hopes to be accepted by a private school. He succeeds, and his roommate is a real surprise. A laugh-filled story.

Always-punctual Horace Morris goes to Emmaline's house for dinner, but no one is home. Each of the Pottertons—Emmale, her mother, and her father—arrives late and offers preposterous explanations. Horace doesn't believe them until he reads about their escapades in the newspaper. Unusual perspectives in these intriguing illustrations. (Picture book)

Miranda stays home from school with a slight head cold and gets super room service from Mom and Dad. But when classmate Rebecca tells her there is one good part left in the school play, Miranda finds herself in a dilemma. Humorously written and illustrated and excellent for discussions on responsibility.

This sequel to Much Ado about Aldo is entertaining and easy to read. Aldo, a vegetarian, has an accident in the lunchroom in his new school, which gives him the nickname of Applesauce. He also wins the friendship of Dede, a girl who wears a moustache. (Picture book)
Humor

Eight-year-old Aldo, an animal lover, is intensely interested in school. His teacher announces that their next classroom science project will be the study of crickets in the terrarium. All goes well until chameleons are introduced and the crickets become their prey. Aldo makes a decision. Pencil sketches.

Hutchins, Pat. Don't Forget the Bacon! Greenwillow Books, 1976 4-7

Colorful drawings illustrate the story in rhyme of a boy sent to the grocery to get four items for his mother. Despite his best efforts to remember the list, experiences along the way lead to confusion for the boy but giggles for the reader. (Picture book)

"Me" and Clara and Snuffy have days that are filled with action and mischief. They do good deeds, but they also give their parents' clothes away, break dishes, and count on their fingers and toes to solve math problems. Delightful characters and cartoon-like illustrations—just right for reading aloud to a class. (Picture book)

Kahl, Virginia. Whose Cat Is That? Charles Scribner's Sons, 1979 5-8

The same white cat becomes the property of seven houses. When a government committee checks on the "seven" cats, the children make sure that a different cat is at each house. The ears become red, the paws are blackened, and so on. A cumulative tale with a happy ending. (Picture book)

A man who lives with his cat has developed a good schedule. He eats breakfast, feeds his cat, cleans his house, and gets to work on time. When he decides to be lazy, he has to figure out a way to save time. He has trouble. (Picture book)

Sam and Robert are on a Frankenstein and Dracula kick—dolls, books, movies, television. When ill-tempered Mr. Frank moves into their apartment building with his boxes of wires and radio tubes, the boys do a little sleuthing. A suspense-filled story good to read aloud by chapters and a springboard to discussions about fears and reality.

While bicycling, Dean upsets an old woman suspected to have Mojo power. To save him, his Harlem friends become involved with the Russian consul, New York's finest, and even the FBI.

Twelve-year-old Eddie wants to operate his own business. Everyone else in his family is gainfully employed, and Eddie decides to test his abilities. He opens a baby-sitting agency and learns about profit, loss, and competition. A humorous story with black and white illustrations.

Miss Brasscoat comes to take care of the three Megglethorp children for the week equipped with everything but a smile. The children attempt to give her one, and their efforts make the reader laugh out loud. Pen and ink wash drawings add to the humor.

Summer at Camp Pinecrest brings the new recruit, Abby Kimmel, and last year's camp klutz, Roberta Harrison, together. Abby, dreading a two-month ordeal at camp without her best friend, learns to survive with style and to extend her friendship to others.

With care and attention, an overachieving apple tree produces so much fruit that the family doesn't know how to dispose of the surplus. Even the bunk beds and trunks are filled! What to do? Many answers are given, including directions for making apple pigs. Rhyming text and bright drawings. (Picture book)

Amelia Bedelia has a helper, niece Effie Lou. Although Effie Lou doesn't quite understand the instructions, she is eager to help "dust" the potato bugs and "sew" the seeds. The double trouble these two make for themselves makes a delightful easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Today is a special day for absent-minded Miss Molly. She is sure of it because she tied a string around her finger. All day she goes about asking her friends what day it is until finally she remembers the birthday surprise. Humorous illustrations add to the fun. (Picture book)

Imagine Amelia Bedelia as a substitute teacher! She leads the children to plant bulbs, practice play, and take away apples in the most literal way. The day is saved and everyone made happy with her taffy apples. (Picture book)

Well-groomed Sally and her mother pay a social call and meet Poofy, a dog who has no social graces. Poofy loves Sally’s company because he triumphs in every encounter. A disheveled Sally leaves and Poofy is content with Sally’s belongings. Marvelous satire in text and illustrations.

A child imitates the behavior of many creatures. With few words and humorous drawings, this small book will fit tiny hands. Teachers may find it useful for introducing creative movements. (Picture book)

Elizabeth Trigman hates her name, loves her Shirley Temple doll named Fred, idolizes Tom Mix, and proudly owns an official junior G-man machine gun. This feisty young Vermont farm girl romps her way through hilarious adventures to the horror of her parents and the embarrassment of the neighborhood bullies.

Mom pulls the plug on television for a week, and the family experiences television withdrawal symptoms. This amusing story captures the problem of three youngsters held captive by the television set.

On Mr. Plumbean’s street all the houses look alike. One day an orange splot appeared on his roof. “You will have to repaint your house,” said his neighbors. Mr. Plumbean did but not in the manner everyone expected. (Picture book)

Twelve-year-old Harold Blatz possesses an extraordinary financial sense, and he soon amasses the world’s third largest fortune. Although the story is given a realistic setting, it soon spins into a humorous tall tale.

Nicky wants a surprise birthday party so he asks Al to plan it for him. Nicky, however, keeps telling Al what to do for the party. In the end, Nicky is really surprised! The party is a great success. (Picture book)

The three “Trudies” in the book stretch from almost possible to fantastic. They deal with going to bed, sharing, and routing the Martians from the bathroom. The stories are simply told and reflect a loving family situation. Watercolor illustrations are warm and appealing. (Picture book)

Alicia is not a pest, or so she says. Besides, her attempt to discover the bark in her brother’s mechanical dog might pay off in some future important invention, or her trumpet blattering could lead to musical fame. Large black and white illustrations add to the humor. (Picture book)

Stubborn Zeke and his old mule, Tully, enjoy a relationship based on mutual bad temper and mean tricks. Inheriting a used tractor gives Zeke his chance to get rid of Tully, only to discover that he is lonely and can’t get along without the old mule. Illustrations are large, clear and funny. Good for discussion of human relationships. (Picture book)

Spier, Peter. Oh, Were They Ever Happy! Doubleday, 1978 5-8

When the sitter doesn’t show up, the three Noonan children decide to paint the house. Each page reveals more of the undertaking. The final double-page spread shows the multicolored house. A colorful delight. (Picture book)

The theme of an old Scandinavian folktale runs through this humorous tale of a woodcutter and his forgetful wife. Henry and Minnie are very happy with one another, and when the scenes from her window captivate Minnie and she forgets what she is doing, Henry is always understanding. (Picture book)

Grandpa leads a routine life and always gives a routine answer, “Could be worse,” to anything that is said. When he overhears Louie say that Grandpa’s life is uninteresting, he decides to tell a great whopper. The children’s comment is, “Could be worse!” Readers would enjoy trying to top Grandpa’s tale. (Picture book)

A poor traveling painter in Italy convinces the monks that they need a mural of St. George and the dragon in their monastery. He then tricks five of them into believing that the completed painting will display their likenesses as the courageous Saint. Anticipation runs high. Colorful cartoon-like drawings add to this delightful story. (Picture book)

Money seems to run through Alexander’s pockets like water. Last Sunday he had a dollar but a series of misfortunes befall him and soon the money is gone. Humorous illustrations add to the fun. (Picture book)

Harvey Small, the contest kid, has won again! And what better to do with his prize chickens than give them to Hawkins, Mrs. Mosley’s English butler, to keep. Unfortunately, someone who is trying to get rid of Hawkins uses the chickens for foul purposes. The results are hilarious.

Little Scott enjoys wearing his older cousin’s cast-off-coat, which totally envelops him from head to foot. He also enjoys surprising people who think they are seeing a coat walking about by itself. His humorous adventures will delight young readers as will the cartoon-style illustrations. (Picture book)

A shoemaker and his wife being photographed for their wedding anniversary add one ridiculous thing after another to the scene, despite the photographer’s insistence that “simple pictures are best.”
A wild melee with an angry bull results in a very simple picture indeed. Clever and colorful illustrations (Picture book)

When two brothers babysit a chuckawalla lizard named Wally without telling their lizard-hating mother, there are bound to be some problems and a lot of laughs. This large-print, easy-to-read book is also a delightful choice for reading aloud.

Mystery

Twelve-year-old Mattie wants to be a detective. When a painting is stolen while she is visiting the Brooklyn Museum, Mattie decides that it is her case and begins investigating.

A young drifter comes to a small Idaho town and meets a new friend. He also finds prejudice and a murder in which he is the prime suspect. The story is fast and filled with an unusual number of true-to-life experiences.

Thirteen-year-old Anthony Monday is driven by curiosity in his efforts to solve the riddle left behind in a poem by Alpheus T Winterborn, a rich eccentric citizen of Anthony's small town. Black and white sketches; some mild profanity.

The Wizard's private eye club does not allow girls to become members. The boys have a change of heart when Marigold and her friends help them solve a puzzling mystery. An easy-to-read book (Picture book).

Cooney, Caroline B. Safe as the Grave. Illus: Gail Owens. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1979. 8 12.

Lynn and Victoria are twins but very unlike in temperament. Lynn, the adventuresome one, quite by accident solves the mystery of a treasure lost since the Civil War. A good story with a believable view of twin relationships.

Corcoran, Barbara. The Person in the Potting Shed. Atheneum, 1980. 10 12.

Dorothy and Franklin are eager to spend the summer near New Orleans with their mother, but not with her new husband. The two discover mysterious circumstances but their stepfather won't listen. The suspense builds until a murder is discovered and the murderer confronted. The children are rescued and the family united.

Becky and her family are shunned as newcomers to town. Disappointed, Becky occupies herself by exploring the marsh where she encounters some mysterious people, one of whom may be responsible for the rash of fires in town. Mrs. Hendrix, who lives in the old mansion Mermaid House, enlists Becky's help to defend herself and solve the crimes.

Mr. Gosling and Sara encounter a terrible mix-up and a mysterious Mr. Brown while attempting to deliver a valuable painting. Full-color illustrations combine painting and montage. Amusing, light-hearted mystery. (Picture book)

All the elements of a successful mystery are here: the old ancestral home in England with a secret passageway, a ten-year-old American boy with curiosity and wit, and rumors of a family treasure. The narrative never flags and the outcome is believable.

Curry, Jane Louise. Ghost Lane. Atheneum, 1979. 10-12

Richard's summer with his father turns into an unforgettable adventure when a series of burglaries occur at the manor house near their vacation cottage in England. Richard helps solve the mystery, but not without great danger to one of his new friends.

Dab Robinson and his Baker Street Irregulars have earned the reputation of solving cases that the police can't. Their latest escapade with a kid burglary ring puts them in trouble when the law mistakes them for crooks instead of detectives. Another exciting mystery in this series is The Case of the Blackmail Boys.

Susannah and Lucy are partners in their own detective agency. They haven't had much chance to solve any cases until Juliet's grandfather disappears. With Susannah in the lead, the girls explore Blue House, where Grandpa lived, and follow the clues until the mystery is solved.
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Chuck and Jason are in business the following business. Glory hires them to find the ghost who makes noise in her mother's apartment. When the mystery is solved, they get their reward, a plate of salty peanut fudge.

Gelman, Rita Golden, and Joan Richter. Professor Coconut and the Thief. Illus. Emily McCully. Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1977. 7-10

Peter and Sipo, eight-year-old detectives, set ingenious traps for the mysterious thief in an anthropologists' camp. Line drawings illustrate this fast-moving story about a white boy from the States and his African friend. The humorous mystery is appropriate for beginning and reluctant readers.

Tibby's mother works for old Mrs. Pomeroy who is very rich. Tibby's best friends are Noble, the Rocking Horse, and Jed, the handyman. Add a missing will and two nasty nieces and all the elements for a very happy ending are present.

Harris, Christie. Mystery at the Edge of Two Worlds. Illus. Lou Crockett Atheneum, 1978. 12- up.

Three teenagers in northwestern Canada set out to discover who has been stealing valuable Indian art. Legends of the W'1 Woman of the Woods make their imaginations run wild as they try to solve the mystery.

Hassler, Jon. Four Miles to Pinecone. Frederick Warne, 1977 8-12

While Tom is cabin-sitting in Minnesota, he is attacked by a gang of thieves, one of whom he knows! How he solves his problem is the key to this book.

Heide, Florence Parry, and Roxanne Heide. Mystery of the Forgotten Island. Illus. Seymour Fleishman. Albert Whitman, 1980 7-10

Three youngsters find adventure and a mystery while on vacation in the north woods. The trio helps an old man save his island and preserve the environment. A fast-paced story for young mystery readers.

Hicks, Clifford B. Alvin Fernald, TV Anchorman. Illus. Laura Hartman. Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1980. 10 12

Alvin and his friends develop a local television news show so successful that the children are invited to appear on network television. Alvin manages to unravel the mystery of a long-ago bank robbery, not only cleverly, but on camera and in prime time! Funny and fast-moving.

Alvin, the “Magnificent Brain,” is back again in a sixth adventure. It all begins when he trades an ant for a collection of dead spiders and ends up with a swap shop. He becomes involved with Pim, a Bahamaian boy, and a mystery of a sunken ship develops. Delightful, humorous entertainment.

The McGurk detective organization has taken on another case. This one involves baby-sitting seven-year-old Bela, who is part of the mystery. McGurk, Willie, Wanda, Joey, and Brains finally uncover the solution. Humorous black and white drawings.

The McGurk detective organization receives a cryptic message from an unknown client. In solving this case, they need to have sharp wits for more code-cracking and for outwitting a high-level industrial espionage plot. A good read-aloud book.

Grant and Patti, a brother and sister, happen on a mysterious-acting diver while searching for a pet pelican and help solve the burglaries on a Florida key. An easy-to-read mystery with large print and black and white drawings.

Chase and his seventy-eight-year-old friend Babette observe strange occurrences at the Star Hotel as they are walking Josephine, Babette’s old dog. Before the mystery is solved, Babette and the dog are kidnapped and ten-year-old Chase must use his ingenuity to save them. Black and white illustrations.

Keats, Ezra Jack Maggie and the Pirate. Four Winds Press, 1979. 6-9

Maggie and her pet cricket Nik spend warm days on the river with friends Paco and Katie until one fateful day Nik is stolen by a

Dr. Aramy, great detective, and his friend, Mr. Uppley, solve the mystery of the missing Black Pearl of Kowloon. Next, Mr. Dibble, famous ghost chaser, rids Bleek Manor of its ghost. Brilliantly colorful pictures add sparkle to these two humorous spoofs (Picture book).

Lynn and Mouse are sure Mrs. Tuggle is a witch. In their search to prove it, some enticing hints about Mrs. Tuggle's past are uncovered. The girls are desperate: in their struggle to save Lynn's mother from whatever has been planned for her by the witch. Third volume of a trilogy that includes Witch's Sister and Witch Water.

Andrew and Sara assist Scotland Yard not only in locating a missing corpse but also in recovering stolen diamonds. A finely crafted mystery with the same protagonists as the author's earlier The Case of the Baker Street Irregulars.

Alaska becomes the scene for a lost plane containing a small fortune in cash. Fourteen-year-old Mark and his older brother are involved in a dangerous search. Believable characters enrich an exciting plot.

Margaret Stewart, living with her father in Australia, loves the beauty of nature and especially the exotic birds in the wilderness areas of her father's land. She is horrified to learn that poachers can profit from capturing wild birds and smuggling them out of the country. On a thirty-hour flight to England to visit her mother, Margaret discovers that there are bird smugglers aboard.

Piet Potter, boy detective, moves into a new apartment in New York City and stumbles onto his first case. He helps find a million dollar inheritance for his neighbors in 3B. Mystery fans will also enjoy his further escapades in Piet Potter Returns (Picture book).
Mystery

A group of eccentric and zany heirs must discover the circumstances of a millionaire's death before they can claim their inheritance. The clues are funny, the situations are wild, and the whole book is highly imaginative. 1979 Newbery Award

Rebecca and Maxwell spot their older brother in downtown Manhattan when he is supposed to be at Harvard. They follow him discreetly through New York City until they discover his secret. A delightful story that allows the imaginations of children free range.

Danny accepts the dare to capture Kiler, one of the Caspitorian cats, in order to earn his membership in a secret club. His attempts at winning over the cat bring him into contact with its owners, Rosa and Anna, and the mysteries that surround them.

Twelve-year-old Maximilian Augustus Adams is a superior detective. Here is a collection of story puzzles that Max and his friends help the Mid-Manhattan police solve. The reader is invited to solve them along with Max. Solutions are given at the end of the book.

Jack the bum gets a new home and almost loses it. A mystery in the house turns out to be more than anyone expected. Jack is lucky to have nice friends. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Nate is challenged by a mysterious clue of four letters. Encouraged by Sludge, his dog, and his friends, he proves his prowess as a detective to two doubting acquaintances. Bold, two-color illustrations. (Picture book)

During the winter, a young boy tries to learn the summer secret from those living around the pond. A mystery to read aloud and discuss. Black and white drawings and a small, easy-to-handle size make this an interesting selection. Guidance from a teacher or parent will be necessary for developing understanding. (Picture book)

The “Nightmares” is a gang of children who live in Germantown, a once fashionable section of Philadelphia but now deteriorating rapidly. The children, both girls and boys, come from a variety of home backgrounds. Acknowledging the potential for danger, they seek to solve the mystery of Aunt Tess, a beautiful mysterious lady who lives in an once-elegant house where strangers come and go at all hours of the day and night.

Concepts in electricity, motion, heat, space, biology, and zoology are presented in story format. Readers will want to help solve the science problems that Einstein Anderson encounters daily. An earlier book starring the science superstar is Einstein Anderson Science Sleuth.

Mystery fans will enjoy trying to solve the cases in Idaville that Chet Brown encounters. Encyclopedia Brown, his son, is called upon to help but the reader is given a chance to guess the solution before reading it.

Nature

Baylor, Byrd. If You Are a Hunter of Fossils. Illus Peter Parnall. Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1980 8 12

Following the fossil hunter in these artistic, rather stylized illustrations is enjoyable. At times he appears quite large and then as small as a pinhead. As the fossils are discovered, we can picture the lapping waters that covered the land millions of years ago (Picture book).

The author finds her own best private place in the hollow of a cottonwood tree. The spot becomes very special as she realizes that she is sharing it with someone who discovered it before her. The unique integration of text and illustration will invite the reader to share the secret place.
Stark line drawings accompany the simple text that describes a small girl’s imaginative exploration of her senses. She closes her eyes and can no longer see, but she takes delight as she feels, smells, hears, and tastes the things in her expanding world. (Picture book)

Dabovich, Lydia. Follow the River. E P. Dutton, 1980 4 7
A stream starts in the mountains and the reader follows it as it flows through the countryside as it becomes a river and eventually flows into the ocean. Simple text and soft colored drawings. (Picture book) dos Santos, Joyce Audrey Sand Dollar, Sand Dollar. J. B Lippincott. 1980. 4 6 Beautiful silkscreen illustrations flow with the shoreline adventure of a small boy and his dog. Urchin. Peter makes a wish on a new-found sand dollar and discovers that the beach, though quiet, is a satisfying place to spend a day. (Picture book)

A small child dreams of being able to peek into a mouse’s nest, a bear’s lair, a fox’s den, and a beaver’s lodge. A simple tale told in rich and rhymed language. Softly realistic charcoal illustrations capture the snug coziness of each habitat. (Picture book)

Jeremiah gets up early and hurries to the hilltop to see something he knows is waiting for him. The sun is beautiful, just as he expected. He hurries home to awaken his parents. Magnificent pictures, few words. (Picture book)

“Shhhhh. Everything is quiet.” Mother and Father are by the fireplace, the sun has set, everyone is quiet. Even nature becomes tranquil as the sun sets and the evening appears. Watercolor illustrations set the mood. A deep blue frame surrounds the pictures. Concept of night is clearly developed. (Picture book)

A collection of Don Freeman’s illustrations has been gathered posthumously. The author describes the lovely pictures through the eyes of a small child looking into the wide wonderful world on a pleasant day.

Pale watercolor illustrations evoke a gentle mood as a young boy and his grandfather go on an early morning fishing expedition. The mist transforms the countryside into a magical haven for sheep, spiderwebs, rabbits, horses, and deer before the sun breaks through on a clear, bright day. (Picture book)

Little Willie happily plants one plant at a time and before he realizes it, he finds himself in a big garden. An appealing story about gardening for the young child with colorful pictures of the seasons. The names of many fruits and vegetables are introduced to the beginning reader. (Picture book)

A quiet winter mood book. A mother and two children share the joys of building a snowman. So great is that joy that they do not feel sad when the rain comes and melts their handiwork. Soft, realistic illustrations reflect the mood perfectly. (Picture book)

This life cycle story is seldom told. An oak tree dies. Part of it falls into a stream where it becomes home for animals and water plants. Eventually, it travels into the ocean and is washed onto a beach where it is claimed as driftwood. Black and white illustrations. (Picture book)

Goodnight is creeping through the city. It comes to the police officer, the little girl, and the chestnut vendor. It finally comes to the kitten whose mother takes him home. Outstanding black and white full-page drawings with touches of bright yellow. A charming nighttime story.

An independent little girl with "sunny feelings" goes to the beach and has a glorious time, quite by herself, despite the rain. The full-page sand and sea colored illustrations capture both the spirit of the text and the spirit of an adventurous, happy child. (Picture book)

Mr. Plum has an idea: why doesn't he make a garden in the backyard? The neighborhood is dingy and unattractive and a garden will transform it into a colorful world of beauty. The neighbors copy his plan. Unusual visitors come to enjoy it. Exceptionally beautiful, intricate illustrations (Picture book)

An African child wakes to the morning marvels of her native land. She sees what the sun sees—sunflowers and skies, giraffes and grasses. Full-page illustrations give a panorama of the Kenyan landscape (Picture book)

Beautiful soft-colored illustrations depict what a young boy believes. Some things he can see, like the meadow over the hill or the stars in the sky, and other things he cannot, like the song of the bird or the scent of the flowers. These he just believes (Picture book)

School

Nice Miss Nelson's class is the worst behaved in school. They throw spitballs and paper planes. They are rude. Suddenly Miss Nelson disappears and a wacky substitute makes the children work hard. They try unsuccessfully to find Miss Nelson. The surprise ending lets the reader in on the secret (Picture book)

Maria Teresa moves to a school where the children laugh at her name and no one speaks Spanish. She is unhappy until she brings her puppet, Montjata, who speaks only Spanish. Montjata tells the children about Maria Teresa and they begin to appreciate her. Useful for discussion on differences, some Spanish words (Picture book)

It is Molly's first day at school. She is afraid and hides her tears by lying. She joins other children in taunting the new boy until she realizes he might be as frightened as she is (Picture book)

Danny's enthusiasm to see the dinosaurs leads to half the first-grade class getting lost in the museum. He also saves the day by finding the teacher. Good for class discussion. (Picture book)

First-grader Jim thinks he is no good in art. He makes his grass thick and his people with no necks. One day in art he hides his picture but his friends find it. All the pictures are hung for everyone to see. The children gather around to admire only one. Whose? * (Picture book)

Jim is impatient to learn how to read. His first-grade teacher encourages him to be patient and assures him, that he will read when he is ready. Good read-aloud book. * (Picture book)

Jeffrey, the skinniest kid in sixth grade, has an alter ego who comes alive in his secret notebook. In his fantasies he rides the world of his archenemy, Dewey Belasco. But in real life he would never dare stand up to him, or would he?

For the first few days at a new school the little girl feels lonely and incompetent. But she and her mother give it time, and good things begin to happen. Well written and sensitively illustrated in soft colors. * (Picture book)

Oliver Button likes to draw pictures, read books, play dress-up, and take dancing lessons. But he messes up at baseball. The boys tease him. “Oliver Button Is a Sissy” gets written on the school wall. How and why the sign and the attitudes get changed makes for good reading and class discussion. Superbly illustrated. * (Picture book)

In this intriguing easy reader, three classmates become detectives in order to answer the burning question in the title. Perhaps all of the teachers live in school. Not so, they discover. Their teacher lives someplace very special—in a houseboat! Charming illustrations. * (Picture book)

Lincoln's class elections are complicated by modern political strate-

Mike Berger, one of the good guys, is angry because his basketball has been stolen by one of the bad guys. Life seems even more unfair when it is returned flat as a pancake. How Mike loses his cool and almost becomes a bad guy is humorously told.

Energetic Betsy decides to organize a play school for the youngsters in the neighborhood. She discovers that teaching school isn't all that easy: there's more to it than passing out milk and cookies. Appealing pencil drawings depict her students and complement the text. Good for reading aloud.

First-grader Willaby loves to draw. During lessons, recess, and after school, Willaby draws. Instead of copying the get-well poem for her dear teacher, Willaby draws a fire engine and forgets to sign her name! Will Miss Finney be angry? The outcome is satisfying and so are the illustrations. (Picture book)

Dedicated to all persons who feel out of place, this book tells of a preschool boy who longs to wear a skirt. When he wears one, his daycare classmates tease him. The understanding black male teacher helps Jesse's adjustment by encouraging discussion and dressing up in homemade costumes. Good for building views of differences. (Picture book)

Louis James quits first grade to seek his fortune, starting out as a skywriter who can't spell and descending through a series of jobs to end up as a Prune Peeler. He quits in disgust, retrieves his books, and "turns to page one." Cartoony, but a sure-fire hit. (Picture book)

Jimmy secretly takes his pet boa constrictor on a class field trip to a farm. Havoc ensues, from egg throwing to the boa's eating the farmer's clean clothes. Bright, action-filled illustrations match this silly, cumulative tale. (Picture book)
Drag and Finley look forward to having pretty Miss Kellogg for a teacher, but on the first day of school Mr Little makes his appearance instead. They plan tricks to make him the spectacle of the town. Two boys learn an important lesson. Black and white illustrations.

This realistically-written story is about Miranda, a thirteen-year-old girl who is friendless because of her peripatetic parents. In order to win friends in another new school she soon learns that painful decisions must be made. Characters are well portrayed. Excellent for discussion.

Three kindergarten children experience the problem of getting along because Melissa is always telling Samantha her pictures are ugly. With the aid of Jonathan's creative and humorous idea, the children work out their own problem. The wash and pencil illustrations add validity and insight. (Picture book)

Everyone at Salad Street School liked to talk, except Miss Walters who had the Chatterbox built before she and her class could reach a compromise. Bold and amusing full-color illustrations of a multi-racial English school. (Picture book)

Adam begins his first day of school by entering into many new learning experiences. The realistic photography presents an accurate and detailed account of what children can expect when they go to school. (Picture book)

Sports
Sissy Benedict is key gymnast of the Butterflies gymnastics team. But as the grudge match with archrivals Haskell's Raskells approaches, she is distracted by her father's struggle to save a historic hotel landmark. Mystery, suspense, and humor are combined with details of practice sessions and competitions.

Basketball is sixteen-year-old Rick's main interest, but what chance does he have? Overshadowed by his older brother, everyone seems to enjoy making comparisons. In a fit of anger he quits the team. An easy-to-read, enjoyable story with well-developed characters. Black and white illustrations.

Young Marsha, nine, dreams of becoming an ice-skating champion. Her first day on ice is very discouraging. Until Uncle Richard offers encouragement and sound advice. Dreams being realized and family concern are themes the young reader can understand. Soft black and white illustrations blend with gentle story.

Gault, William Campbell. Cut-Rate Quarterback. E. P. Dutton, 1977. 10 up

Joe Rogers, a 160-pound quarterback, is a superb high school football player. Later, as one of the Chicago Miners, he is faced with problems of many kinds, but his tenacious will urges him on. A fast-paced story illustrated with photographs.

Harris, Robie H. Rosie's Double Dare. Illus. Tony Deluna. Alfred A. Knopf, 1980. 7-10

Eight-year-old Rosie accepts a dare because she wants to be part of the Willard Street Gang and play baseball with them. She gets into more trouble than she expects. In the end she's a hero when the gang wins the neighborhood championship baseball game with her help.

This story of a no-win team that becomes league champion is based on a true event in baseball history. The Blazers were a collection of losers until their coach talked them into trying to win and gave them self-confidence. Good read-aloud book.

Knudson, R. R. Rinehart Lifts. Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 1980. 7-10

Rinehart, who can't run or kick a ball, and Zan, who is very sports-minded, are best friends. Together they exchange interests when Zan puts Rinehart on a weight-lifting program, and she takes care of his plants. A funny, high interest story.

Bill Saunders is fifteen years old and tall. really tall. Although he is the best player on the school basketball team, he plays only to please his father, his coach, and his friends. Actually, he dislikes basketball and is more interested in animals and the possibility of one day working with them. A veterinarian friend and a tall cheerleader help solve his dilemma.

When two girls make the eighth-grade varsity basketball team, a popular but fat boy is cut. Girls and boys join forces to pressure the coach into putting him on the team. This humorous book addresses a timely subject.

Melissa has a strong competitive streak and vows to beat her long-time rival in an important swim meet. This success would assure her a place on the Olympic team and would attract attention from her estranged father. Shows the tense atmosphere of competitive swimming and the emotional struggles of a teenage girl.

Asthma-and-allergy-ridden Miranda meets Phoebe, an only child who is lonely, and starts jogging with her. To build up her lungs, Miranda works hard in preparation for running a 6.3 mile marathon. This is an interesting story with good jogging advice. A sequel is Miranda in the Middle.

Runner Buddy Barnes believes his lucky socks account for his success in races. His coach says the real reason is that Buddy practices hard and wants to win. During the State Junior Championship race, Buddy learns the truth. Large print, three-color illustrations, easy to read. (Picture book)

Young and Old

Chris, twelve, and her sister, six, do not want to spend the summer with a grandmother they hardly know in a remote woodland cabin. As Chris begins to know and love her grandmother, she learns to accept the truth about each of her parents, their divorce, and her own growing up.

From the day she was born, when Grandfather made a ring for her, the love between this granddaughter and grandfather deepens. When Grandfather becomes ill, she cares for him; when he dies, she cherishes her memories of him. Realistic description of a beautiful relationship. (Picture book)

A little girl whose grandfather owns a junk shop tells her story in the first person. The shop is full of surprises, and she loves to go there to work and play. The disorderly store comes alive in the collage illustrations. (Picture book)

A little girl comes to visit her grandmother who lives in a house surrounded by tall bushes. They share a happy loving day doing things together. The warm grandmother-granddaughter relationship is illustrated with handsome full-page collages. Companion volume to Grandfather by the same author. (Picture book)

Eric, fourteen, is involved with a gang. While on probation, he and an eighty-two-year-old man become friends. Eric spends long hours in the man's garden, carefully observing life in detail. When the man's past as a convicted murderer is revealed, Eric defends him against the townspeople's rejection. A moving story.

Before her stroke, Wilma's seventy-nine-year-old grandmother felt and acted younger than her years. Now Granny scares away housekeeper-companions as fast as they are hired. Although they do not like each other, Wilma is crotchety Granny's choice for a companion. Together they experience what it means to grow old.

Fourteen-year-old Opie visits a former neighbor, Mr. Pepper, who lives at Maple Ridge Home for the Aged. Volunteering to work at the home involves her with the problems of the home's residents. The theme of acceptance and segregation of older people in our society is sensitively presented.

Maggie lives with Grandma whose motto is, "Fun first, work later," and fun it is. Maggie takes off with Grandma in an ancient car, thus eluding the authorities who are trying to separate them. A marvelous picture of a witty, intelligent, loving, but slightly disorganized senior citizen and her relationship with her granddaughter. Fun by itself, but great for discussion.

Painfully shy, Lynn’s problems of growing up are compounded when she goes to Nantucket Island to live for a year with a grandmother who is becoming increasingly senile. An enjoyable story.

Luminous shades of green provide a misty background for this gentle mood story of a midsummer evening romp. When their ball sails over the wall into the garden of the mysterious Carrie Hepple, three children venture into the unknown where they meet the eccentric, but enchanting old lady. (Picture book)

Lisa’s two grandmothers are very different from each other. One loves to quilt and cook; the other loves to make music and dance. They both love Lisa and she finds a way to make a mitzvah for both of them. (Picture book)

Joshua is the klutz of the fourth grade. the left over when sports teams are chosen and, worse, the kid brother of a superstar. His friendship with an elderly man enables Josh to overcome his sense of failure and to develop some much needed self-confidence. The humor appeals to children, both klutzy and athletic.

A twist on the usual: here’s a grandma who loves to fish. Her entire day is devoted to either fishing or putting the rest of life’s necessities in order to allow more time for fishing. Economical line drawings. the book is a size youngsters love. 1977 Caldecott Honor Book. (Picture book)

Young Rhondy, who lives with Grandmama, tries to cheer her up by singing and dancing, but it just doesn’t work. Something serious is wrong; they must move. Charcoal drawings blend with this realistic story of binding love between granddaughter and grandmother in this black family. (Picture book)

When five-year-old Kalle’s parents are killed in an accident, he goes to live with his grandmother, Oma. They have heartwarming and Cathy’s summer on a Maine island with her grandmother stretches far ahead of her until she meets the lady who moves into the stone cottage. As eleven-year-old Cathy uncovers her secret, she also discovers something about her own past that is both frightening and exciting.

Carrie often wonders about Old Duncan, whose vine-covered cabin is across the field from her home. Expressive watercolors illustrate her attempt to become friends when she takes a strawberry shortcake to him. Later, when Heidi, her dog, is caught in a trap, Old Duncan comes to the rescue and strengthens their friendship.

Ellen wants a ten-speed bike and agrees to “lady-sit” for Lilith who is seventy-seven; Lilith wants new screens for her house and agrees to “baby-sit” for Ellen. Out of initial misunderstanding and distrust, mutual love and understanding grow. Sensitive written, this book captures the spirit of a young girl and the indomitable gallantry and wisdom of an old woman as they share a lingering summer.

A night bus ride alone can be frightening for a little girl. Janie meets Mrs. Rivers, who helps her enjoy the journey to her waiting grandpa. Black and white illustrations enhance the warmth shared between an old woman and a child. Good for stimulating discussion (Picture book).

A lonely seventy-two-year-old woman receives a painting of her home town. After analyzing the painting she decides it is not right, so she buys materials and paints her own picture. The hobby continues and her loneliness vanishes. Unique illustrations with two styles of painting (Picture book).

If Steffie were a grandmother, she would wear long robes, bake cookies, and spend weekends with her granddaughter. Amusing pastel illustrations complement the story, revealing the love of Steffie for her grandmother. (Picture book)

This Cape Cod grandmother spends the summer teaching her granddaughter how to sail, swim, float, take down shutters, garden, and make soup and salad from periwinkles and sea herbs. Soft watercolor with ink illustrations help raise readers' consciousness about older people. All grannies do not sit and knit! (Picture book)

Twelve-year-old Marty is having a hard time at school and at home until her grandmother Flossie arrives and helps her resolve her feelings about growing up without a father. The sensitive quality of both the story and the characters make the book unique.

Cassie and her grandfather have a very special, caring relationship. She refuses to admit that he is growing old and helps him fight those who take away his independence step by step. As grandfather's world becomes more and more circumscribed, Cassie reaches out for a clearer identity.

When twelve-year-old Alex moves to the country, he doesn't seem to fit in or make friends except for Old Man Turner, the hermit of Fog Hollow Station. Here is a poignant story of the friendship between young and old. Each gives of himself until Mr. Turner's death.

This gentle book's chapter headings reflect a range of human emotions, sadness, jealousy, shame, pride, and happiness. The young narrator learns to cope with her feelings through the wise and loving help of Dodo, her grandmother. Self-acceptance and understanding radiate from pages illuminated by soft pencil drawings. (Picture book)

One hot, humid day Ty goes down to the pond and spies an unusual man. He becomes acquainted with Andro, a one-man band with a washboard, comb, spoons, and pail, who later that evening provides delightful entertainment for the town. Beautifully written and illustrated (Picture book)

Little Nellie and elderly Bartholomew, her neighbor, are always together; their friends call them "ham and eggs." Bartholomew takes Nellie for a walk in her stroller every day. As she grows older they trade places, a very special trade. Humorous pen sketches complete this story of contrasts. (Picture book)

Charlene promotes the friendship of old Mrs. Mayfield and her eight-year-old cousin because she doesn't want Gracie tagging along with her all summer. A special bond grows between the old and the young as Gracie earns a place in the hearts of both Mrs. Mayfield and Charlene.

Additional Contemporary Realistic Fiction Books

Cunningham, Julia Dorp Dea Illus James Spanfeller Pantheon Books, 1965 10-up
Estes, Eleanor The Hundred Dresses Illus Louis Slobodkin Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1944 10-12
Estes, Marie Hall. Gilberto and the Wind. Viking Press, 1963. 3-6
Gates, Doris. Blue Willow Illus Paul Lantz Viking Press, 1940 10-12
George, Jean Craighead. My Side of the Mountain E P Dutton, 1959 10-14
Greene, Constance C. A Girl Called Al. Illus Byron Barton Viking Press, 1969 8-12
Hamilton, Virginia M.C. Higgins, the Great. Macmillan Publishing, 1974 10-up
Holming, Hoving C. Pagoon. Houghton Mifflin, 1957 8-12
Holman, Felice Slake's Limbo. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1974 12-up
Hunt, Irene Up a Road Slowly. Follett Publishing, 1966 12 up
Keats, Ezra Jack The Snowy Day. Viking Press, 1962 3 6
Keats, Ezra Jack Whistle for Willie. Viking Press, 1964 3 6
Kielgaard, Jim Big Red Illus Bob Kuhn Holiday House, 1956 10 up
Konigsburg, E. L. Father's Arcane Daughter Atheneum, 1976 10-14
Konigsburg F L. From the Mixed-Up Files of Mrs Basil E Frankweiler Atheneum, 1967 8 12
Lexau, Joan M Emily and the Klunky Baby and the Next-Door Dog Illus Martha Alexander Dial Press, 1972 5 9
Little, Jane Mine for Keeps Illus Lewis Parker Little, Brown, 1962 9 12
McCloskey, Robert Blueberries for Sal. Viking Press, 1948 3-6
McCloskey, Robert The Morning in Maine. Viking Press, 1952 5 8
McCloskey, Robert Time of Wonder. Viking Press, 1957 5 up
Mathis, Sharon Bell The Hundred Penny Box Illus Leo Dillon and Diane Dillon Viking Press, 1975 6 10
Mazer, Norma Fox A Figure of Speech Delacorte Pres- 1973 12 up
Mohr, Nicholasa Nilda Harper & Row, Publishers, 1973, 10-up
Morey, Walter Gentle Ben Illus John Schoenherr E. P Dutton, 1965 10-14
Ness, Evaline Josefina February. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1963 5 9
Ness, Evaline Sam, Bangs and Moonshine. Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1966. 4 8
Neville, Emily It's Like This, Cat Illus Emil Weiss Harper & Row, Publishers, 1963 10 14
O'Dell, Scott Island of the Blue Dolphins. Houghton Mifflin, 1960 11 14
Contemporary Realistic Fiction

Wersba, Barbara. The Dream Watcher. Atheneum, 1968. 12-up Poetry

Animals

A dog, mauled by a pack of wild dogs, is found by a young girl. This story describes the growth of their friendship and the small daily joys of their relationship. A gentle tale illustrated by soft pencil drawings that capture the depth of affection between girl and dog.

This collection of twenty-two poems includes old English and American rhymes that have been favorites for many generations. Pigs are pictured in serious and jovial moods. Energetic ones go to market while others dance a jig and wear a wig. The full-color and pen and ink sketches are complementary.

Fifty-three delightful poems about animals, domestic and wild. A few of the entries are old standards but most have not been anthologized widely. Light and humorous, the poems are enhanced by funny black and white illustrations.

Fossil fans enjoy these thirty-nine humorous poems by British and American poets. Various poetic forms and black and white sketches add to the amusement of the verses about extinct animals.

The microscopic world of insects and creeping animals provides an unusual and interesting focus for these twenty poems about snails, crickets, and caterpillars.

From “The African Wild Dog” to “The Zebra,” sixty poems celebrate the alphabet from A to Z. The humor of the poems ranges from nonsense to subtle satire.

This collection of stories, verses, and poems is about all kinds of cats. Some cats are impossibly wise, others impossibly foolish. All are amusing—especially for cat fanciers.

Twenty-two poems about horses, each contributing to a sensitive understanding of this servant and friend of humans, make up this collection. Handsome halftone illustrations enrich each selection. Table of contents and index make selections easy.

Stories, poems, and verse on members of the canine family are collected here. Some stories are funny and others may cause the reader to blink back a tear, but all are absorbing. This would be useful for units on dogs or domesticated animals as well as for reading aloud. Black and white sketches.

Nearly everyone has a favorite snack, including animals. In catchy jingle rhymes, the reader learns what eleven animals like to eat. Raccoons raid garbage cans while puffins enjoy herring. Creatively illustrated with bread-dough animals; also includes a simple recipe for making them.

Witty poems about familiar and fabulous animals are alphabetically conceived. The verses cleverly express common experiences with other living creatures and give ribtickling presentations of animals unusual or rare. Meticulous ink drawings perfectly complement the poet's humorous conceptions. poetry collection. The avant-garde nonpunctuated spacing of the lines and the surreal illustrations of food make this a visually pleasing gastronomic experience.

"Let's pick clovers between our toes out in the yard where the clover grows." Going barefoot, getting presents, and watching birds are but a few of the experiences of a child in this lovely collection of 140 poems by the recipient of the 1978 NCTE Poetry Award. Graceful pencil illustrations.

Sixteen tender, rich, and varied poems make up this book about the wonderful things in a child's life: playing with dolls, jumping rope, and dressing up. The illustrations are an interplay of realism and fantasy that highlight the relationship between sensory word and sensed world. Small in size and scope, a fine format.

These poems reflect everyday happenings, such as early morning "toothpaste foam," school giggles, and "listening to the day shut tight." Soft pencil illustrations are a bonus.

Simple rhymes about children playing are exquisitely pictured in full color. The playtime activities encourage children to participate.

The concept of lost and found is explored in poetry through such illustrations as sand castles lost to the waves but replaced by sea treasures washed to the shore, and ice-cream cones lost to the child but found by a hungry puppy. A fresh perspective on common occurrences.

The content of these poems about everyday objects and events appeals to the young, and the clear style leaves definite images in the mind of the reader or listener. Black pen drawings.

Another fine collection following two similar books, the twenty-five poems are on simple topics like a cat bath, the backyard, and rags. Childlike in theme and form so that they are easily understood, they contain thoughtful kernels. Delicately illustrated.

The Feelings of Children

"I am the running girl who runs to win" is how a young girl describes her joy and pride in running. Adoff's use of free verse is artistically interwoven with the black and white drawings.

A girl walks under a long row of trees early in the morning to awaken and to be alone. The animals, birds, and plants share her solitary moments. The author's skillfully crafted poem helps the reader see and feel the girl's closeness to nature.

Wild Willie runs away for the day and explores all the exciting places where she can hide. When night comes, Willie is glad to return home to her urban black family and still be free. Strong rhythmic verse and soft pastels add appeal to this small poetry book that stresses alliteration.

This anthology of humorous verse centers on feelings of rage and temper. Such poems as Cole's "I'm So Mad I Could Scream" and Merriam's "Mean Song" help children to recognize the fact that frustrations are faced by all and to see how laughable reactions to those trying moments can be.

Poems in a city setting of black and white cover a broad range of feelings: love, isolation, loneliness, and friendship. Unrhymed, the poems evoke powerful images and emotions related to growing up.

Black and white drawings add to the expressive mood of this collection of poems about being alone. Poets included are Myra Cohn...

A poem to tell of loneliness, or nighttime antics, or just-one-more-minute is just right when bedtime comes. A poem to wonder about stars or tomorrow helps sleep come. Black and white sketches on each page complete a delightful small collection.

Included in this collection are poems about dreams and dreamers by William Stafford, Langston Hughes, Walter de la Mare, Carl Sandburg, e. e. cummings, David McCord, and others. Illustrated with photographs.

Twelve free verse poems recount a year in the life of an eleven-year-old Navajo girl. They describe her grandfather’s hogan at Black Mountain, the beliefs and customs of her people, and the white world’s intrusion. The glowing sepia-colored illustrations are appropriate. A four-page commentary on Navajo life is included.

A lullaby is humorously and delicately illustrated, depicting a loving father who has problems putting his young unwilling child to bed. Preschoolers can enjoy and relate to this familiar routine.

Tudor, Tasha, compiler. The Springs of Joy. Rand McNally, 1979 6 9
A collection of sayings that have brought joy to people has been beautifully illustrated. The verses are from Wilde, Thoreau, Shakespeare, Donne, Wordsworth, Emerson, James, and others.

Gentle verses that weave a portrait of life in the country—gathering berries (“blueberries high, huckleberries low”), churning butter, and swinging on monkey vines. Quiet pen and wash illustrations capture these special moments.

Here are the laments, paens, and words of wisdom of the little-known tribe of Ute Indians who now survive on three western reservations. Like the flames of a bright fire being slowly smothered, these Native Americans strive to preserve their spiritual values through poetry and prose, authentically interpreted in this volume. Fine full-page photographs.

Ghosts and Magic

The common theme throughout this excellent collection of seventeen poems is the belief in elves, fairies, and gnomes. The poems are imaginative without being frightening. Soft black and white illustrations blend with the magical words and mood of the poems.

Deliciously shivery poems in a book where the bogeyman is finally pictured, along with a ghoul, an ogre, a werewolf, and others. The verses are spooky and humorous enough to be in constant demand. Excellent for vocabulary enrichment, poetry units, or just fun reading.

This child-sized anthology includes poets ranging from Shakespeare to Prelutsky. Expressive black and white illustrations complement the poetic imagery.

The "ghoulies and ghosties" of ancient Scotland and the tiger-like ghosts of the Araucanian Indians inhabit this book. There are watery phantoms from the deep, along with a teeny, tiny ghost who can only utter a teeny, tiny boo. A delightful anthology made even better by the illustrations.

This picture book anthology includes seventeen poems about giants, such as Blunderbore, Hickentarlif, Momotara, Stanley, and others. Line drawings capture their antics.

Humor

The introduction assures the reader that the mixture of creatures met within the book is imaginary. Imagine meeting an Alligatorangutan, Rhinocerostrich, Chimpanzebra and other fantastic creatures. They are described in humorous verse and striking illustrations. Children enjoy discovering the butterfly hidden in each picture.

Brewton, John E., and Lorraine A. Blackburn, compilers. They've Discovered a Head in the Box for the Bread and Other Laughable Limericks. Illus. Fernando Krahn. Thomas Y. Crowell, 1978. 8 12

The title sets the tone for over two hundred funny limericks about topics as diverse as animals and love. One grouping includes rhymed spellings that need to be deciphered while another set allows the reader to write the last line. Illustrated with humorous black and white sketches.

The classic nonsense poem from Through the Looking Glass, where Alice enlists the aid of Humpty Dumpty to help her understand, is recreated with expressive art and imaginative colored drawings. Useful for introducing Alice and other adventures.

A collection of poems designed to make children of all ages chuckle. Included are such well-known poets as John Ciardi, Laura Richards, Shel Silverstein, and Lilian Moore. Ink and pencil drawings add to the merriment.

If one likes animals and humorous poetry, this delightful book is made to order. The rhyming quality of the words and the humorous illustrations make for real "stuff and nonsense." "Where does the elephant keep his trunk, when he becomes a sailor bold?" This book holds the answer to many questions.

What great fun lies in store for readers of these poems! Easy rhymes and rhythms make delightful reading and listening. Included are odes to such diverse topics as lasagna, tyrannosaurus rex's teeth, the terrible troll's tollbridge, and mother's pig. Illustrations are as nonsensical and funny as the poems.

The detailed and colorful illustrations in this new edition of a familiar humorous verse take the reader to an appealing and unthreatening dreamland. The illustrations beautifully match Lear's verse.

Each of these forty-four nonsense verses and comical drawings is amusing. Many English place names are encountered. An excellent book to use when teaching the structure of the limerick.

Here is a collection of humorous poems about plants with animals in their names: catnip, dogwood, cowslip, horse chestnut, cattail, harebell, toadstool, and others. The poems delight young readers and invite them to create their own plant-animal verses.

Some of Ogden Nash's most delightful and amusing verses are humorously illustrated. Selections include favorites such as "The Parent," "The Dog," "The Kitten," and numerous others.

In these nonsense verses, little fibs grow into tall tales because it's FEBruary. Reading aloud is satisfying due to the rhythmic alliteration. Illustrated with watercolor drawings; especially suitable for the good reader.

Weird and wacky best describe this assortment of characters created by verse and pictures. The rhymed poems are funny and outlandish, telling of strange persons with even stranger pastimes. Children will enjoy hearing and reading the poems and will chuckle over the zany illustrations.

"I was sitting on a tombstone, when a ghost came by and said, 'I'm sorry to disturb you, but you're sitting on my head.'" This humorous collection of limericks, poems, and parodies is a good investment for home or school. Many illustrations and a subject index are included.

This classic colorful narrative poem is illustrated with a cast of animal characters who seem quite at home in their baseball roles.

---

Note: The text provided is a sample of how the original content might be structured for natural reading, focusing on key information and omitting any non-essential details.
Contrast is provided by the fast action of the poem and the last page where a tiny mouse is alone in the deserted ballpark.

Readers will enjoy this collection of nonsense poems about strange but slightly familiar beasts. The ink and wash illustrations add lots of humor to the already funny verses.

Nature

The terror and aftermath of the tornado that struck Xenia, Ohio is relived with fear and hope in this single-theme poem. The destruction and period of rebuilding are movingly described. Format and style combine to capture the unusual mood.

“To fly with the wind, to flow with the water in a dance of light.” Haiku verses that highlight the joy of movement are the focus of this beautifully illustrated book.

A discussion of the meaning and effect of haiku poetry is accompanied by newly written haiku poems and outstanding color photographs. Useful in teaching about the origins and depth of haiku, this is a fine teacher’s resource book. It also serves as a beautiful model of illustrated poetry.

A child is eager to learn the other way to listen after the old man tells him that, with patience and silence, one can hear the cactus blooming or the hills singing. Lovely illustrations and verse related to nature.

Simple woodcuts perfectly illustrate these short poems of common wonders. Poetic allusions are written with wit and skillful use of language. The poems speak to experiences of all ages with delightful metaphors for better readers.

Quiet, wandering poems meander like the mind before sleep comes. The blue horse eats grass on the coverlet; the shoes sprout wings and fly; the blanket is warm and covers the head when a bad dream comes. A unified experience. Black and white full-page pictures.

The well-known poem is illustrated in gorgeous black and white drawings filled with woodland life. Beautiful depictions of snow scenes.

A rich, thoughtfully selected collection of poems about the seasons. Poems are juxtaposed to let the reader see, touch, taste, and smell the special wonder of each season and to reflect on some special moments: quiet times, funny times, and holidays. Authors include David McCord, Karla Kuskin, and Langston Hughes.

A beautiful combination of haunting visual scenes of nature and poets' words of celebration creates an outstanding book for browsing. Extension activities are numerous as children are encouraged to look at their world with increased awareness.

Many aspects of nature throughout the changing seasons are captured in these original haiku poems. Generally, the author has been faithful to the seventeen-syllable pattern of Japanese haiku. The soft gray and brown woodcuts harmonize with the text.

All kinds of shadows, frightening and calm, are included in these seventeen poems. Light and filled with imagery, many of these poems have themes that prod thinking. Attractive illustrations.

Fourteen poems of night for very young children show nighttime in its many guises. Most of the choices are old favorites, some humorous, some thoughtful. Poets include Nikki Giovanni, Myra Cohn Livingston, Vachel Lindsay, Karla Kuskin, Joan Aiken, Robert Louis Stevenson, Marchette Chute, and Louis Untermeyer. Handsomely illustrated.

The moon’s special charm is the subject of the twenty-one poems in this appealing book. Sources of poems include Mother Goose, Edward Lear, and Vachel Lindsay. Watercolor illustrations complement the lovely verses that are sure to delight the young.

This small collection of poems celebrates spring. Contributors include renowned authors such as Emily Dickinson, Gerard Manley Hopkins, Rudyard Kipling, and William Blake. Exquisitely illustrated.

General Collections

This anthology of twentieth-century American poetry groups poems into such inviting categories as “Delicious Sounds” and “Secret Messages.” Theodore Roethke, Sylvia Plath, and William Carlos Williams are among the distinguished poets represented. The poems included have child appeal. T. S. Eliot, for example, writes of the difficulties in naming a cat.

These poems, all commenting on the modern world and the space age, provide both wry humor and disturbing images. Many favorite authors are included. Nash, Ciardi, McCord, Merriam. The black and white line drawings make their own amusing and pointed comments.

Here is an excellent collection of contemporary limericks, poems, and verses about time-related experiences and events. Graphic illustrations enhance the vivid, descriptive verses. A good reference for the teacher of young children.

Rich-toned, full-color drawings make this a very special collection of forty-five poems especially selected for children. Many are story poems and their themes vary: nature, emotions, unique thoughts. An introduction by Richard B. Sewall is helpful to the study of these works, as is the glossary.

This collection of children's poems maintains the quaintly humorous, direct, and imaginative qualities of the original Russian Yiddish version.

Nearly 100 poems by modern English and American poets, some seldom anthologized, are arranged in eight imaginative categories including "Fetch Me Far and Far Away" and "Funny and Fabulous Friends." Pencil drawings capture glimpses of the child's world of imagination, which is emphasized in the collection.

The 1979 NCTE Poetry Award recipient has collected many of her poems and has added fresh and lively pictures to her notes and comments, inviting the reader to take an enchanting tour of the world of poetry.

Original poems inspired by boats on a river are simple in style and meaning and full of imagery. Each of the thirteen poems is reminiscent of a particular type of boat, such as a cutter, sailboat, barge, tugboat. Well illustrated.

Livingston, Myra Cohn. O Sliver of Liver. Illus. Iris Van Rynbach Atheneum, 1979 10-up Over forty poems, some thoughtful, some humorous, cover a wide range of topics. Haiku, cinquains, and concrete poetry are included... in the variety of forms written and compiled by the 1980 NCTE Poetry Award recipient.

The recipient of the first NCTE Poetry Award has put together a collection of forty new poems to delight old fans and attract new ones. Once again the poet's fascination and skill with words shine through in this group of "rhymes of the never was and always is."

This handsomely designed collection provides a fine introduction to the poet. The sixty poems include "Renascence" and "Harp Weaver," there are also numerous sonnets and nature poems. Well illustrated with striking woodcuts.

Poems reflecting feelings that all of us share have been collected for middle grade students. The ninety poems are chosen from twentieth-century poets such as William Carlos Williams, Lucille Clifton, John Updike, and others to provide a rich, varied anthology.

Themes of the thirty-eight poems in this collection run the gamut from golf to streetfighting, baseball to hiking. Several poems are specifically about women participating in sports, a rarity in children's poetry. Superb black and white photos add interest and appeal for advanced readers.

This delightful collection from contemporary poets as well as old favorites is good for introducing children to poetry with poems that look at the world and everyday experiences. Enchanting black and white illustrations.

A collection of twenty thoughtful poems by such poets as William Blake, Langston Hughes, Eve Merriam, and Nikki Giovanni. Full-page illustrations quietly reflect the mood and emotion of each poem.

There's something for every child in these sometimes humorous.
sometimes serious poems. Vignettes of childhood scenes are clearly depicted in the poems and complementary black and white sketches.

This large picture book contains ten well-known poems and is a fine introduction to Robert Louis Stevenson's works. The pictures are reminiscent of a past era. Included are favorites such as "The Swing" and "The Land of Counterpane."

Poems, stories, and illustrations by children from around the world have been collected by the editors. Subjects range from animals to sand castles. Use as a springboard for inspiring other young poets and illustrators.

Rhyme, rhythm, and repetition invite young children to participate in the activities suggested by the thirty-two modern nursery rhymes. The amusing verses are rendered even more appealing by the humorous watercolor illustrations.

The compiler read much poetry to children, delighting them so much that they developed a poetry troupe in order to share poems they loved. These are some of their favorites, categorized in a way that makes them especially useful to the teacher who would like to try poetry readings.

Additional Poetry Books

Aldis, Dorothy. All Together. Illus Helen Jameson, Marjorie Flack, and Margaret Freeman. G P Putnam's Sons, 1952 4-7

Bodecker, N. M. Hurry, Hurry, Mary Dear Atheneum, 1976. 9-up.

DeAngelis, Marguerite Book of Mother Goose and Nursery Rhymes. Doubleday, 1952. 3-7.

Froman, Robert Street Poems. McCall, 1971. 8-up.

Milne, A. A. The World of Christopher Robin Illus E H Shepard E P Dutton, 1958. 6-up.

Moore, Lilian I Feel the Same Way Illus Robert Quackenbush Atheneum, 1968. 3-8.

Tudor, Tasha Mother Goose. Henry Z Walck, 1944 3-7.

Holidays

Christmas

Margie's big brother Arthur says there is no Santa. She watches as he plots a trap with bells and string to catch "fat humbug Santa Claus." Arthur falls asleep but wide-awake Margie delightfully witnesses Santa's visit. The humorous illustrations and text beautifully blend to shake even big brother Arthur's disbelief.

This valuable collection of Christmas poems, sayings, greetings, and wishes is grouped by topic. The anticipation of Christmas is explored as well as the happy events of the Christmas season. An excellent book for home or school because activities are suggested for both. Artistic etchings complement the text.

The Berenstain bears are hunting for a Christmas tree. Papa Bear knows exactly which tree to get. Their search takes them far but they decide against the tree that they came for when they discover that it is the home of several small animals. (Picture book)

Matthew, jealous of Judy's interest in Tim, the new boy, suspects Tim of stealing the wooden star that Matt had placed on the community Christmas tree. Tim's shyness accentuates the problem until Matt's dog Jingles finds the star. Good to read aloud by chapters; stimulates discussion. (Picture book)

A traveler seeks lodging in a cottage with his white bear. He isn't particularly welcome because the trolls always spend Christmas Eve there, but he stays nonetheless. After the awesome trolls arrive and feast, they mistake the bear for a cat and tease it. The bear frightens them away forever. A Norwegian tale with full-color illustrations. (Picture book)

A family on an outing to select a Christmas tree discusses that particular holiday custom. The author shares many facts in an interesting fashion. Readers learn not only the history of Christmas trees, but such anecdotes as how Theodore Roosevelt's son once hid his Christmas tree in a closet!

Mr. Whiskers is troubled and facing a gloomy Christmas. He can't find the deed to the pond and his house is a mess. Then his friends, young Maggie and her grandmother, come to his aid in both a practical and surprising way. Good holiday read-aloud book. (Picture book)

Small One is an old donkey well loved by the boy who is sent to Nazareth to sell him. The eventual buyer is a kindly man who needs a gentle animal to carry his wife Mary to Bethlehem. Large print, colorful Disney illustrations, and reinforced binding; Christmas reading. (Picture book)

Six magical tales of Christmastime contain love, humor, warmth, and wonder. Secular in content, the essence of each is captured in the softly painted illustrations. The combination of quality text and drawings make this a highly recommended book. (Picture book)

The residents of Plain Lane realize that immediate strong action must be taken if their little street is going to escape the wrecking ball of urban renewal. A Christmas celebration followed by a Chinese New Year festival brings remarkable results.
An enterprising chicken visits a department store Santa to get suggestions for a present for her owner. After working as Santa's helper for a day, she ends up with presents both for herself and for Farmer Gray. An improbable and very funny easy reader with cartoon illustrations. (Picture book)

Security, love, the joy of living, and old-fashioned family values are implicit in the narration and watercolor drawings of this simple Christmas tale. Gramma Fox knits "click, click" by the fire while each little fox begs to play in the snow, until Christmas morning! Good for choral reading and dramatizing. (Picture book)

A series of paintings show how the Christ Child and His mother might be welcomed in times and places other than Bethlehem. The Holy Family is shown in a railroad car, in a motel, in a fishing village. The masterful pictures are worthy of the text. (Picture book)

Christmas poems for the young and old include old favorites from the Bible and traditional carols to less-known verses by George MacDonald, T. S. Eliot, W. H. Auden and a host of others. Author, title, and first line indexes

For over two hundred years, the bells in a Swiss cathedral had been silent. Legend says that when a pilgrim offers the right gift to the Christ Child, the bells will ring. Anne-Marie, a simple child, is rewarded for her likewise simple gift by the triumphant pealing of the bells. A beautiful, sensitive Christmas story

The ghost story is a Christmas tradition of Dickensian respectability and this fine collection of short stories contains both ghosts and mysteries linked to the holiday season. Authors include Allingham, Walpole, Sayers, and Dickens himself. Stories in the classic tradition for the distinctly older reader.

The classic poem is illustrated with an 1840s New Hampshire village setting. Each page is bordered by designs from New England quilts. Large full-color watercolor and ink drawings include a St. Nicholas who is properly plump and jolly. The book is certain to become a Christmas classic itself. (Picture book)

A fine collection of nine Christmas stories that reveal the true meaning of the day, the birth of the Savior. The problems of everyday life are met in these appealing stories: foster children are taken in by a widow, a boy runs away, and a mother loses her child.

Fred Horny Toad has a large family. One by one they come to visit him just when he has moved into a new home. His own special visitor at Christmastime gives a gift that causes the visitors to change their plans and visit their own homes. A funny cumulative tale. (Picture book)

A unique look at the Christmas holiday traces its history from ancient pagan festivals to contemporary American customs. Black and white photographs and illustrations are included. Useful bibliography and index.

A deceptively simple story of a family lost on its way to spend Christmas in a new home becomes a tale of magic and mystery. A strange old man and a nine-year-old boy meet through a world illustrated on a Christmas card and make possible a joyous Christmas.

The author's remembrances of childhood Christmases in a small Welsh town is a fine read-aloud book. The illustrations make this version unique. Alternate black and white pen sketches and full-color watercolor illustrations add to the charm. (Picture book)

Grandpa Ben baked and sent a gingerbread house to his grandchildren, who found it irresistible. When they ate the roof, they found Grandpa's letter with complete instructions, necessary patterns, and explicit directions for the house. Three-color diagrams also enable the reader to duplicate the house.
Easter

Tom doesn't want any rabbits in his Easter play. Hattie insists that Easter and rabbits go together like peanut butter and jelly. This is an enjoyable easy-to-read story of how Hattie gets to be in the play. A play script is included. (Picture book)

This collection of nineteen poems celebrates Easter, both the secular and religious aspects. Included are poets Elizabeth Coatsworth, Aileen Fisher, Joyce Kilmer, and David McCord. Delightful drawings accompany each poem.

When a little duck hatches from an Easter egg left at lonely Mr. Hippo's door, Mr. Hippo happily becomes the baby duck's parent. Large humorous illustrations blend to tell this funny but gentle story of family love and new beginnings. A good read-aloud book. (Picture book)

Halloween

Mama and Papa Bear leave little Sam all alone on Halloween Eve. He calls his friends, designs a costume, and soon there is a party. Each friend brings a treat: popcorn! The evening proves to be a lot of fun. The simple plot and simple illustrations are just right for preschoolers. (Picture book)

Forty-two poems by twenty-seven children's poets will be welcomed by children, teachers, parents, and librarians alike. Black and white illustrations add a childlike charm to the laughs and chills of this scary good fun.

Pippin and his father plant pumpkin seeds in the spring. During the summer the plants grow, produce, then wither. The family invites the neighbors in to celebrate the harvest in a way just right for jack-o-lanterns.
Halloween

Little-known facts about the pumpkin, a planting and cultivation guide, recipes, and a variety of party and craft ideas fill this unusual book. Black and white illustrations add interest to the text.

Every Halloween Jenny insists on dressing up as a witch. Then she gets a chance to trade places with a real witch. Black and white pictures add proper witchiness to this funny story. An easy-to-read book. (Picture book)

Joan, Brian, and Ellis plant a pumpkin seed in their friend Mr. Bramble's yard. Before the pumpkin is large enough, Mr. Bramble moves away and the new neighbor refuses to let the children in his yard. A Halloween "Trick and Treat" provides a happy ending for all. (Picture book)

Twenty-three Halloween rhyming riddles in which the reader encounters ghosts, witches, cats, and other Halloween characters are cleverly illustrated. The wordplay gives readers an enjoyable treat.

Wendy, the youngest of three witches, could do few witchy things and was even afraid of witches! Losing her broomstick just before Halloween helped her make a friend and find powers she didn't know she had. A good Halloween read-aloud story, colorful drawings add to appeal. (Picture book)

Hoping to win the most spookily decorated house contest, Witch Bazooza uses many poetic incantations. She and Ajax, her red-nosed cat, have difficulty in getting the perfect window centerpiece. Humorous story and drawings in this Halloween read-aloud book. (Picture book)

A collection of thirteen Halloween poems that are funny and scary. The illustrations are as much fun as the verse. An easy-to-read book

Mary Grace has a make-believe best friend, Nelly. Nelly is brave, kind, and smart. Three days before Halloween Nelly and Mary Grace have to solve the mystery of the smashed pumpkins. Readers discover that Nelly isn't the only brave, kind, and smart person. The real pumpkin smasher is truly a surprise. (Picture book)

Jack the bum gets right into the act of begging on Halloween night. He discovers that UNICEF seems to be the magic word. How he learns the real meaning behind UNICEF is an engaging story for beginning readers. (Picture book)

Mary Ann and Louie try to scare Grandpa on Halloween. He doesn't scare easily, not since that terrible Halloween night years ago when he went into the scary house with all the horrible creatures and came out an old man. Wonderful spurs for children's imaginations.

Emily has a gorgeous costume for the Halloween party. It is stolen from the bus seat as she rides the crowded bus to her grandmother's house. Happily, Emily discovers that going to the party as herself is the most fun of all. Softly colored illustrations. (Picture book)

Jewish Holidays

It is Hanukah. Father lights the candle and says the blessing. Motl and his older brother join the family activities, then enjoy themselves going to a relative's home to collect the expected gift of Hanukah money. Lively, detailed illustrations. (Picture book)

Pageantry, drama, and the recreative joy of present-day holidays that commemorate ancient acts of courage, love, and religious devotion are the stuff of this little volume. Simple, happy ink drawings illustrate the short readable chapters. Every major Jewish holiday is depicted, with a related and easy craft project for each.
Jewish Holidays

The history, customs, and rituals of Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights, are treated in considerable depth. Related crafts, recipes, and puzzles are suggested. A valuable source book for middle-graders with a glossary and index. Ink illustrations.

The Passover holiday is described: how it is observed, what it means, its historical beginnings, its symbols. Simply-told stories are encased in an elegantly designed cover. Scratchboard illustrations capture a sense of timelessness, and top-of-page illustrations depict appropriate symbols. Very worthwhile.

Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, the most important of all Jewish holidays, are explained through text and black and white illustrations. All new terms are defined. An excellent book for acquainting children with Judaism.

Jacob, a “not-too-bright” youngster, was chosen to blow the shofar or ram’s horn for the Rosh Hashanah feast. Even though he practiced, not a sound would come; however, the kind Rabbi’s plan works. Set at the end of the nineteenth century in an eastern Jewish settlement. (Picture book)

Braimmel and her ten-year-old son live in poverty in a one-room cottage. Selling baked pumpkin seeds is their scant livelihood until they purchase a goat as another money-making venture. The goat disappoints them, but on the Feast of Purim something wonderful takes place. Complementary illustrations.

Valentine’s Day

Arthur’s secret admirer causes him embarrassment. Finally he figures out who it is and turns the tables on his Valentine. A funny animal story. (Picture book)
Nixen, Jean Lowery The Valentine Mystery. Illus Jim Cummins. Albert Whitman, 1979 7 10

Susan receives an unsigned valentine. Her only clue about the sender comes from two-year-old Barney who tells her the person wore watches on his tennis shoes. She must think about how a toddler talks in order to solve the mystery. (Picture book)

A brief history of Valentine's Day and its interesting customs and easy-to-follow directions for creating cards, gifts, and special foods are included in this excellent resource book. Attractive illustrations.

The animals in the forest are not getting along, and Pleasant Fieldmouse decides to do something to bring them together again on friendly terms. He devises a plan which culminates on St. Valentine's Day. Black and white sketches. (Picture book)

Other Holidays

Another informative title added to Barth's holiday collection. Teachers and students alike will enjoy this well-written book that explains the origin and meaning of the symbol and legends associated with St. Patrick's Day. The index and annotated reading list will prove helpful to the young researcher.

Jamie Donovan proves to himself that he's not too young to march in the St. Patrick's Day parade. Illustrations authentically portray the Irish countryside and characters. Young readers easily relate to Jamie's aspirations and to the excitement of celebrating holidays. (Picture book)

Artful scissor cuts illustrate this informative account of the Chinese holiday that marks the beginning of spring. The festivities stretch over several days and include gift exchanges, special food, firecrackers, dances, and parades, culminating with the Lantern Festival.

Crafts, recipes, and a game centered around a Thanksgiving theme are collected in this volume. Simple instructions and black and white illustrations introduce projects such as dioramas, place cards, collages, puppets, and wall hangings. The author has also written Halloween Crafts and Cookbook.

The patriotic aspect of the Fourth of July and the fun of picnics, fireworks, and parades come to life in this collection of poems by poets ranging from Carl Sandburg to Shel Silverstein. Bright red and blue illustrations add to the enjoyment of the book.

The spirit and history of an American Thanksgiving are celebrated in twenty delightful poems. This anthology is fifth in a series of poems on specific holidays. A fine classroom tool. Brown ink illustrations.

Five short stories relate the adventures of Frog and Toad during each season of the year and at Christmas. Humorous illustrations and an easy-to-read text make this third volume in a series about these two best friends another delightful book (Picture book).

Kwanza, a special holiday of thanksgiving for all that has been done and built during the year, was first celebrated in Egypt, known long ago as Chem, a great black nation. The holiday reaffirms the Africans' sense of self-determination.

Griselda the goose wants to help her friends, but mostly she makes things a lot worse. When she tries to carry out her New Year's resolutions, her good deeds backfire. Big and bold drawings of some funny animals.

Chester Chipmunk is grateful for his many blessings at Thanksgiving time. Besides his large burrow and his new cloak, he has more than enough pecans for the winter. Inviting others to share his food is at first a disappointment and then a happy surprise. Delightful tan and brown illustrations in this good read-aloud book (Picture book)

Collections

Alexander, Sue Small Plays for Special Days. Illus Tom Huffman Seabury Press, 1977 3-6

Seven short and entertaining plays about popular holidays. Plays are written for two actors, but this number can easily be extended. Suggestions are given for easy-to-make costumes and props. An excellent resource book for the teacher of primary students.

A collection of over eighty poems that celebrate holidays, including well-known and less famous poets and representing a time range from eleventh-century China to twentieth-century America. Contains something of the old and familiar, something of the new and fresh.

Quackenbush, Robert, compiler The Holiday Song Book. Illus by author Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books, 1977 7 up

One hundred familiar and lesser-known songs for holidays, including twenty-seven arrangements for easy piano and guitar. Martin Luther King's birthday is included, as is Passover, Pan American Day, and Arbor Day. A useful reference for teachers, group leaders, and libraries.

Teachers and children alike will enjoy this book of holidays and special events. Many famous characters are found in the text and material for a variety of ideas to be explored is found on every page. Colored and black and white illustrations.

Tudor, Tasha A Time to Keep: The Tasha Tudor Book of Holidays. Illus. by author Rand McNally, 1977 All ages

With few words and beautifully bordered watercolor paintings, the author-illustrator describes traditional holiday celebrations in a New England household. A book for all ages to experience and enjoy.

Additional Holiday Books

Andersen, Hans Christian The Little Match Girl Illus Blair Lent Houghton Mifflin, 1968 6 10

Branley, Franklin The Christmas Tree Illus Blair Lent Thomas Y Crowell, 1966 8 11
Bright, Robert. Georgie's Halloween. Doubleday, 1958 4 8
Domanska, Janina. Din Dan Don It's Christmas. Greenwillow Books, 1975 4 8
Milhous, Katherine. Appolonia's Valentine. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1954 5 9
Milhous, Katherine. The Egg Tree. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1950 6 8 Concepts

Alphabet

Little devils appear on each page in a humorous situation relating to a word associated with a given alphabet letter. Each page also shows the alphabet letter in uppercase and lowercase, decorated with tiny black and white drawings of objects. The sign language symbol for each letter is also included.

Alfred Animal puts off learning his ABC's; instead, he goes for a walk past assorted animals, the name of each beginning with a different letter. By the walk's end, he has mastered the alphabet. The use of several words per page, including adjectives, nouns, and verbs, makes this a challenging text. Outstanding illustrations.

Letters of the alphabet are introduced through a rhymed rebus on each page. A border of pictures around each rebus reinforces the sound of the letter. The two-color drawings are both entertaining and educational.

A manipulative book with flaps to pull or twist to illustrate each letter. The pages contain large bold block letters in black but colorful animals pop out from behind each one. To be used by an adult with the child, but a highly imaginative book worth that limitation.

Each alphabet letter is built in four stages by an animal, and each double page spread shows objects the names of which use that letter but not always at the beginning of the word. Final pages note all the words, and arrows show the directions for making each letter. Vivid colors.

This ABC book is just right for a child's first exposure to the alphabet. The large, colorful pictures are a joy to look at, and the rhymed text is fun to hear. The letters of the alphabet and all of the animals and objects introduced in the book are depicted on the end pages.

In this tiny alphabet book, each letter is delicately illuminated with objects and activities beginning with the letter. A checklist is provided on the endpapers.

A startling announcement that the King's cat is coming causes much concern and consternation among the villagers. They speculate as to the alphabetical characteristics it might possess. Is it might be an angry cat or a bashful cat, who knows? Cartoon-like illustrations add to the fun.

Flowers and animals from A to Z drift off to sleep in this attractive alphabet book. Little Annie with nightcap and candle is pictured throughout the book. Beautifully colored pages stimulate questions. Unusual end pages.

"Kirlfisher, Peacock, Anteater, Bat, Lizard, Ichneumon, Honeybee, Rat" reads this rhymed menagerie in an alphabet book originally published in 1882. Through amusing and authentic pictures, the artists show the various animals taking part in the daily life of a Shaker community. A book to treasure.

This alphabet book is presented as a wordless story about a bear cub searching the world for his abducted friend. Zebra full-color illustrations build visual literacy skills. An amusing vocabulary-building story completes the book.

In this unusual alphabet book, the letters of each word make a picture. Readers will enjoy figuring out the puzzles as they read from A to Z. The scrambled illustrations may encourage young artists to try their own.

Fun-filled illustrations show three young bears rummaging and romping through a dump, discovering items A through Z. Readers can guess what the bears discover for each letter.

An original song, complete with music, gives the first person account of a girl who goes into the woodland. She sees birds, animals, and insects from A to Z. Everyone tells her they are going a-hunting, in the end their hunt turns out to be a search for friends. Beautiful full-color drawings.

Color, Shape, Size

A single small red tulip shows the king who always wants the biggest of everything, that biggest isn't necessarily best. Ink and watercolor illustrations highlight the book. (Picture book)

Turtle gets into trouble whether his head is in or out of his shell. Gradually he learns what a wise turtle must do. A brief story with simple illustrations that clearly outline the shapes familiar to the young child.

Brown, Marcia Listen to a Shape. Illus by author Franklin Watts, 1979 All ages.

Outstanding color photographs of nature's handiwork depict the shapes that make up the world. The text is almost poetic in its descriptions. It invites children to observe the world more closely. One of several photographic concept books by this author-illustrator.

Two concepts are introduced: colors and the various cars that make up a freight train. With only a few words, the ideas are presented using bold and handsome illustrations. The design of the book adds impact. 1979 Caldecott Honor Book. (Picture book)

Bright colored photographs of ordinary objects in the city are matched in bold rounds of color at the bottom of each page. Children can look for six colors: red, yellow, blue, orange, green, and purple. Composition of the pictures is outstanding. (Picture book)

Little fish swims in the blue sea and is pursued by bigger and bigger fish. The progression of small to large fish shows the beginning reader the concept of relative size.

A brown girl with friends of many races explores her world of brown things she loves. Photos are mixes with sketches in brown and black and white. Useful to teachers working with children in pride-building or in writing their own books.

As usual, Richard Scarry has hit the jackpot. Although not on a very sophisticated level, Huckle Cat and Lowly Worm's profusely illustrated adventures in learning about colors, counting, shapes, sizes, manners, etc., will appeal to children. (Picture book)

The Moon complains because she sees little of the world, so the Sun shows her many wonderful things. Large, colorful illustrations clarify the twelve pairs of opposites depicted. Familiar objects and animals are used as examples.

Counting

In this wordless book, many mathematical concepts are deceptively hidden in the natural everyday living situations. The child will discover one-to-one correspondences, groups and sets, and changes over time periods. Background information for the teacher is provided on the last page. The soft watercolor illustrations executed in naive style are appealing.

At first glance this is a counting book, but its uniqueness lies in the incongruous tongue-in-cheek illustrations of the tongue-twisting rhyme, "five frippery Frenchmen foolishly fishing for frogs" are portrayed as alligators on the grounds of a French chateau. A handsomely designed, elegantly illustrated book.

A rabbit family performs daily tasks while counting to ten and back. The simple rhyming pattern is pleasing to the reader. Pen drawings are filled with gentle humor.

The fun begins in this counting book when a baker with a hot cross bun gets on the elevator at one. At each stop more unusual characters get on until they reach the tenth floor. Rhymed text and soft black and white drawings add to this zany tale.

The rhymed verse describes the adventures of a mischievous kitten. Large, uncluttered illustrations provide the beginning reader satisfaction in counting bright objects. (Picture book)

An unusual counting book that offers practice in counting several ones, twos, or threes. Colorful and interestingly full pages work well for interaction between child and adult or among several children.

Cardinal and ordinal numbers and the days of the week are concepts used in this humorous story of a farmer whose wife could never quite make the lentil soup as good as mother’s, until she overcooked it! Illustrations set the story in pioneer days.

Colorful Harriet, the elephant, goes to the circus early to be first in line. Mouse is second and Duck is third in a delightful development of this number concept in words and pictures. Format and characters are very appropriate for flannelboard storytelling.

Pavey, Peter. One Dragon’s Dream. Bradbury Press, 1978 5-8
Ostensibly a counting book, this dragon’s dream takes the reader to a fantasy land where every animal and object is authentically detailed, sometimes in the expected habitat and sometimes surprisingly out of place. The patterns, colors, and artistic composition of each double page are a source of visual delight and scientific information.
Space and Time Perspectives

Space and Time Perspectives

Children delight in finding a variety of shelters when caught in the rain! The best is that little portable roof: an umbrella. The text addresses the children directly, while gentle. bright watercolor drawings induce a feeling of cheerful security. (Picture book)

A kennel's a house for a dog, and a dog is a house for a flea, but "a house is a house for me." The rhymed text and detailed pictures will delight and stretch the imagination of young readers and listeners as they discover that "each creature that's known has a house of its own, and the earth is a house for us all." (Picture book)

Something mysterious is inside the box. It has twenty toes and six ears. While the animals solve the mystery, the reader is introduced to such concepts as distance, near, far, time, yesterday, today, tomorrow. Easy to read and very funny

A small girl tells about her view from three feet above sea level and wonders how things would look if she were an acrobat high above the crowds or a worm an inch underground. Drawings facilitate conceptualization of varying perspectives.

The author begins with simple concepts related to telling time and moves to complex notions. Lively cartoon penguins create clocks to illustrate the ideas. Experiments and activities are included.

The rippling green body of a snake, the main character, moves from page to page in this unique picture book. The simple text is illustrated with road signs, flowers, and telephone poles to reinforce the concepts of time and distance. A surprise ending awaits the reader.

Easy-to-read rhymed couplets and bold and colorful illustrations depict everyday things and events that are different when seen from various perspectives. Uses the word “unless” throughout.

Additional Concept Books

Carle, Eric. 1, 2, 3 to the Zoo. World, 1968. 3-6.

Social Studies

Careers

Full-page color photos accompany the opposite page summary of several different, but related, occupations in the field of library work. The job descriptions speak to requirements and training needed. New words are italicized. Another title in the Early Career Book series is Careers in Photography.

A spirited Tennessee Walker is brought to New York City to work for the police department. Black and white photographs combine with text to give an intimate look at Hannon’s adjustment to city life, the places he patrols, and his friendship with rider Mike, a police officer. Good for class discussion.

Twenty-one women of various backgrounds and ethnic groups tell why they chose and love their jobs, citing both the hardest parts and the best parts. Included are a jockey, an orchestra conductor, a chemist, a firefighter, a judge, and a carpenter. Black and white photos, large print, and large margins.

While aimed toward females to encourage investigation in nontraditional careers, males would find this book useful also as it discusses architects’ training and career blocks. Appendix lists colleges and universities offering programs. Part of a series.

“What jobs does a general manager have?” “How many women work for pro football teams?” These are some of the questions asked and answered to inform the reader of the many positions available in sports. Excellent for those planning a career in this field. Black and white photographs, index included.

The authors describe the career possibilities in computer science by following a systems analyst, Linda Wong, through her day working with computers A “What Can She Be?” career-lifestyle series book. Other titles include A Legislator and A Film Producer.

Vivid pictures and few words describe varieties of working conditions. Some people work alone, some in a group, some work high, others low. A starter for thinking about variation in this important aspect of life.

A pictorial view of Fenway Park, home of the Boston Red Sox, is given through excellent black and white photographs. The reader discovers all the different people involved in preparing for a major league baseball game from grounds crew and food services to players and manager.

Because zoos are special places, many people of different talents are required to operate them. With unnumbered pages and large print, fifteen occupational areas in zoos are described on one page while a color photo on the opposite page shows a worker doing that job. An Early Career book.

Different types of work are depicted in funny pictures and humorous rhymes. Jobs from flying a jet to being a vet are described. Colorful cartoon-like illustrations.

Text and photographs follow the adventures of commercial fishermen aboard a modern trawler in search of cod, haddock, and yellowtail flounder off the New England coast. Includes information on different species, storms and wrecks, and the history of American commercial fishing.

Counterfeiters, hijackers, and assassins, both successful and unsuccessful, are among the many characters who people the pages of this fascinating story of the U.S. Secret Service. Included is a chapter on career opportunities within the organization. Illustrated with photographs.

Horses have been very helpful to humans for thousands of years. There are about ten million in the United States today, providing many interesting careers. The author interviews a blacksmith, a circus horse trainer, a jockey, a veterinarian, and others. Clear photographs.

A real-life district ranger takes the reader through a typical day. Although containing only thirty-two pages, this treatment of a ranger's job is surprisingly thorough. Good introduction for career education. Part of the "A Day in the Life of . . ." series, other titles deal with an emergency room nurse, a TV news reporter, and a rock musician. Color photos, reinforced bindings.

The history of emergency medical care is examined and the training and work of paramedics are explained. The precise, objective text is journalistic in style. One of a series by the same publisher.

The author presents several intriguing glimpses into different photographic occupations by describing the careers of actual people in the field. Included in appendices are lists of colleges that offer degrees in photography. Excellent book to stimulate interest in this career field.

Highlighting twenty-five different occupations, stressing women at work in traditionally male jobs. Easy text describes the job pictured and how people learn their work. Black and white photos depict old, young, black, white, homely, and attractive women. The real world. Contains good career awareness questions.
Seed, Suzanne Fine Trades. Photographs by author Follett Publishing, 1979 12 up

Descriptions and discussions of the specialized trades and the lifestyles of individuals who "add grace and beauty to all our lives." Included are a violin maker, an art conservator, an arborist, a chef, and others. The photographs express the technical as well as the aesthetic nature of the artisans' work.

Airline pilots must undergo rigorous training and meet challenging tests of skill, courage, and quick thinking. Interviews with both men and women pilots attest to the demands and rewards of an exciting career. A very readable book.

Strong, Arline Veterinarian, Doctor for Your Pet. Illus by author Atheneum, 1977 7 10

Simple text and clear black and white photographs follow the work of a veterinarian as she treats various domestic animals in her office. Important information for pet owners is included.

Written in a conversational style, a young narrator tells of his twenty-one-year-old sister's career choice as a sporting goods salesperson in a department store. The book discusses filling out personnel applications, employee orientation training, and the secrets of selling success. Glossary, black and white line drawings.

Communication

Adkins, Jan Symbols: A Silent Language. Illus by author Walker, 1978 8 12

The use of symbols, from musical notations to weather maps, card games to international traffic directions is shown in intriguing illustrations and brief text. A discussion of trademarks is included with many commonly recognized symbols pictured.

A sequel to Codes for Kids, there are twenty-five master code keys, over one hundred mystery messages, and over four hundred secret words. Code involve numbers, spaced letters, and many other clues. Humorous drawings highlighted in orange add to the fun in this brain-teasing book.

Fascinating lore about codes and ciphers, some secret, enable youngsters to learn about ways of communicating privately. Readers can test their growing cryptoanalytic skills with cryptograms scattered throughout the book as well as in the seven secret messages, with answers at the end. Black and white sketches; glossary.

Everyday signs and symbols are discussed as methods of communication. Chapters describe symbols concerning flags, trademarks, health, coats of arms, highway information, holidays, and international organizations. This interesting book piques children's curiosities for further study. Many drawings illustrate the symbols. Index

Fisher, Leonard Everett Alphabet Art: Thirteen ABCs from around the World. Illus. by author. Four Winds Press. 1978. 10-up

Each of the thirteen alphabets is placed on a double-page spread with an English pronunciation indicated for each letter. Brief historical commentaries on the culture and the alphabet are given. Boldly executed in red with scratchboard drawings, this is a useful resource for art, social studies, and handwriting enrichment.

The nonverbal language used by Plains Indians is presented by concise text and hundreds of colorful illustrations. Other information includes trail markings, different types of signals, and body paint. Very useful for social studies units on Native Americans.

Myller, Rolf Symbols & Their Meaning. Atheneum, 1978. 8-12

Communication through the use of symbols is thoroughly discussed. The author explains and depicts symbols on subjects such as religion, traffic, music, flags, braille, morse code, and many others. Numerous illustrations add to the text.

People use many ways to communicate ideas. Written and spoken language are the most obvious, but body language (face change, stance, movement) also sends messages to others. Some people use special forms of nonverbal communication, such as dance and music. Illustrations and photographs add to the book.
Contemporary World Cultures

Colored pencil drawings present children in their home environments from different cultures throughout the world. Useful in primary social studies units.

Excellent suggestions are given for activities related to the study of Brazil, France, Iran, Japan, Nigeria, and the Soviet Union. Written for children, the very readable instructions provide ways to explore the countries’ geography, history, fine arts, customs, food, and language. Unique activities can be adapted to other studies. A superior resource.

Galbrath, Catherine Atwater, and Rama Mehta India: Now and through Time. Houghton Mifflin, 1980. 12 up

Views of India’s past, its coping with recurring problems and its emergence as a nuclear power are skillfully blended together in a readable text with frequent complementary photographs. An informative, overall view makes this an excellent supplement. Map, bibliography, table of contents.

The lives of Norwegian Laplanders are followed from their wintertime tundra village through spring migration with their reindeer herd to summer life on the islands of the Arctic Ocean. The double page full-color pictures have abundant scenes, each described in a single column to the left of the picture. A beautiful, informative book.

An unusual, lively primer that entertains as it informs, as does its counterpart How We Work by the same author. Diverse life-styles and situations are presented as the reader begins to explore a complex world. Colorful cartoon drawings extend the brief, simple text.

Mangurian, David Children of the Incas. Four Winds Press, 1979 8 11

Modesto Quispe Marranz, a thirteen-year-old Quechua Indian boy, lives in the highlands of Peru in South America. Life is hard in the small village but the family works together. Modesto hopes to become an engineer so he can help his people. Black and white photographs.

Readers are given a mini-tour of the "Dark Continent" as they read and observe twenty-six African tribes from A to Z. The large, colorful pictures prepared in pastels, watercolors, and acrylics depict a family, their living quarters, artifacts, and a local animal. Carefully researched 1977 Caldecott Award.

One of a number of books about China for young readers by the author. This introduction emphasizes the way of life of the people. Part of the book is somewhat personalized by relating activities of a Tseng family of Peking. A picture map and black and white photographs augment the text.

Each of the eight chapters of this readable, informative book centers on a particular village, town, or city in modern China. For a personal touch, each also focuses on the life and activities of a young person. Numerous black and white photographs.

Children from all over the world grace forty-five outstanding black and white photographs. Brief captions tell the location of the scenes. This is a beautiful collection that shows similar expressions in all manner of garb and locale. Good for social studies units as well as for browsing.

Through text and photographs taken on trips in 1973 and 1977, the author presents personal experiences and observations of various aspects of life in the German Democratic Republic. The emphasis is on the people she met, something of their lives, thoughts, hopes. A personal approach and an easy style, including many conversational quotations.

Spier, Peter People. Illus by author. Doubleday, 1980. All ages

While celebrating the uniqueness of individuals, the art and text explore various cultures' homes, foods, games, clothing, faces, and religions. Readers will appreciate the enormous diversity within the world's population.
Wiedel, Janine. Looking at Iran. Photographs by author. J. B. Lippincott, 1978. P-12

Although no book can hope to keep up with events in the Middle East, this brief overview of Iran's culture, history, geography, and economy will give young students some insight into the 1980-81 hostage crisis as well as a strong feeling of the sweep of history over an exciting and troubled land. Colorful photographs, straightforward writing.

Diverse American Cultures

Stories, history, games, puzzles, recipes, photographs, poems, addresses, pictures, illustrations, recommended places to go and how to get there are all part of this oversized, softbound celebration of New York City. Compiled by 167 children's writers and authors, this book is great fun and a valuable reference. Not just for New York kids!

Drescher, Joan Your Family, My Family. Illus by author. Walker, 1980. 3-5.

Families come in many styles and sizes. There are single-parent families, two-parent families, and other kinds. Sometimes grandparents take care of families, some foster parents care for children. What really makes a family is sharing and caring. An understandable book with humorous illustrations.

Frank, Phil, and Susan Frank Subee Lives on a Houseboat. Photographs by Bruce Forrester. Julian Messner, 1980. 8-12

For thirty years, the floating community of Sausalito has been growing into a little town of over 300 houseboats on San Francisco Bay. This book describes the life of Subee, one of the many children of Sausalito, who lives on Spicebox with her mother, stepfather, and family pets.

McCunn, Ruthanne Lum An Illustrated History of the Chinese in America. Design Enterprises of San Francisco, 1979. 10 up

This book traces the role of the Chinese in America from the 1800s to the present day. The language is clear and readable enough for a ten year old. The message of the shameful treatment of the Chinese is also clear and powerful. Many photographs lend credence to this history.

Meltzer, Milton. The Chinese Americans. Thomas Y Crowell, 1980. 10 up

This well-written account tells of the usually overlooked role played by the Chinese in the opening of the West, of the discrimination and violence that the Chinese have endured in this land of freedom, and of the fact that the Chinese were not permitted to become US citizens until 1943. A powerful indictment of institutionalized racism, illustrated with black and white photographs.

With black and white photographs and straightforward narration, the story of the Hernandez family is told. The parents, one son, and six daughters live in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas near the Mexican border. In summer they must travel to Minnesota to find work to supplement the family income. Life in migrant quarters and in the fields is pictured, as are the close, responsible relationships within the family.

Economics

The federal budget is a road map of where we have been, where we are now, and where we should be going. Divided into sections, and explained in cents, not dollars, the budget is understandable and personalized. Readers can update and compare subsequent budgets with the one illustrated here.

There are plenty of things children can do to earn money by providing needed services or selling things. Finding a job one enjoys, doing it well, and being responsible are practical tips insuring customer satisfaction. A brief book, but filled with good advice, cartoon-style drawings.

Money, from barter to plastic, is discussed in an interesting and readable book. Many black and white photographs enlighten the concepts. Topics include the use of money by individuals and the Federal Government, international money systems, and investment concepts. Index.

Explains how money can make or cost money, why interest rates vary, and how to organize corporations. A clear and humorously written book that provides information and examples. Utilizes knowledge of percentages.
Social Studies

Gogo the clown discovers, after buying presents for his friends, that he doesn’t have enough money left to pay his rent. Amusing, detailed illustrations emphasize Gogo’s problems. This is a good resource book to introduce necessary facts about money management. (Picture book)

Sattler, Helen Roney. Dollars from Dandelions: 101 Ways to Earn Money. Illus. Rita Flodén Leydon. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books. 1979 12 up

This easy-to-read, practical guide suggests 101 ways to earn money. Indoor jobs, outdoor jobs, part-time jobs, and summer specials are described with directions for accomplishing them. Black pen drawings; index.

Whether or not the reader is curious about stores, this book is fascinating with its black and white photos and diagrams, easy reading, and interesting bits of information. A day’s work with thirty-seven businesses in a small town is described. Two unusual recipes and an index.

Seuling, Barbara. You Can’t Count a Billion Dollars & Other Little-Known Facts about Money. Illus. by author. Doubleday. 1979. 8 12

Marvel Comics No 1 was sold in 1976 for $8,000. the all-time record for a single comic book. This and other unique, true facts about money and finances can be found in this amusing and informative book.

Weinstein, Grace W. Money of Your Own. E P Dutton. 1977 10 up

Some people seem to know instinctively how to manage money, but others must learn through experience and common sense. The book illustrates how to keep account of money spent, money earned, and money saved. Shopping and use of credit cards are discussed. Valuable supplementary book for home or school.

Food

Without food, there could be no life, but many people do not eat wisely or well. This comprehensive and readable book covers nutrition, diet, consumer tips, and foods of the future. Information Each chapter could stand alone as the basis of a report. Easy experiments and recipes are included.

The history of popcorn, how it's stored and cooked, plus other stories and legends about this foodstuff are delightfully told. Colorful, humorous illustrations.

An overall view of fairs is given in the accounts of several youngsters as they prepare and participate in the South Dakota State Fair, Huron, South Dakota. An interesting and detailed picture of the work and purpose of the 4H Clubs is revealed. Photographs.

Scarecrows have always been necessary for farmers; they can be traced back 3000 years. The different types and materials used to construct scarecrows in different regions of the world are discussed. Directions are given for creating a scarecrow. Interesting photographs; bibliography and index.

More than 100 beautiful photographs, supported by captions and informative text, tell the story of wheat from seed to silo. The quality of the pictures and text communicates the roles of land, machines, and people that combine to put bread on the table.

This behind-the-scenes look at a large commercial bakery shows the processes involved in the production of bread and other pastries. Clear black and white photographs show the machinery and people at work as they mix vast quantities of dough into bread, rolls, and a huge wedding cake. A few simple recipes are included. Index.

Interesting explanations are given for growing fruit trees and berry bushes in orchards and on porches. Information is included on purchasing, planting, pruning, and feeding. Pen and ink illustrations.

Beeckeeping is discussed as an industry and the importance of honey is shown throughout history. Recipes for the use of honey in beauty care and cooking are provided.

This is an unusual approach to life in nineteenth-century America through description of the foods eaten by immigrant groups as they settled in various regions of the country. People, food, and environments are vividly described. Twenty recipes are included. A sequel to Slumps, Grunts, and Snickerdoodles: What Colonial America Ate and Why.

This exploration of modern America's eating habits paints a grim picture of our overconsumption of sugar, fat, and red meat, and of the decline in quality and variety of food due to the large food corporations' preoccupation with the bottom line. However, the reader is offered some practical suggestions for beating the system, including twenty natural food recipes. A well-organized and highly readable book with a message of great import.

A young child takes a trip to the supermarket with his mother and helps to choose the groceries. Bright, colorful illustrations highlight the text.

A child tells the story of how his lunch is made. Brightly colored objects found in the kitchen aid in preparing the food and eating it.

The growth cycle of the ever-popular corn plant, which delights nibblers, is examined. For those who want to grow their own, the steps are clearly given. Close-up photographs in color and black and white provide detailed information and make this an effective informational book for home or school.

Shuttlesworth, Dorothy F., and Gregory J. Shuttlesworth Farms for Today and Tomorrow: The Wonders of Food Production. Doubleday, 1979 10 up

The historical development of farming methods is given. Techniques that are used today are described and those that will become more important in the future are considered. An excellent addition for career information illustrated with photographs, index.

Do peanuts grow under the ground or above it? How are they used? This is one book of an informative series that gives the history and cultivation of selected foods. Fruits and vegetables that we take for granted are carefully explained and extended through photographs or sketches. Maps show locations of cultivation. Occasional recipes are offered. Index and glossary are appended. Other titles are Corn, Oranges, Rice, Tomatoes, Wheat.

The history of popcorn and who uses it from Indians to present-day moviegoers is interestingly presented along with other little-known facts. The author offers several recipes, including a surefire no-fail way to pop corn. Black and white photographs and comical drawings.

Geography

The story of Alaska is one in a complete series of books, one for each of the fifty states, which offers straightforward factual information useful for intermediate grade social studies reports. Geographic features and historic events are described and illustrated with many clear color photographs.

The great elephant seals, sea lions, elephant trees, pincushion cactus trumpet flowers, and more live in the private world of the Baja peninsula, part of Mexico on the Pacific. Text and black and white drawings are sensitive and create an aura of the place.

Mammoth Cave National Park, the world's longest cave, is described in an easy-to-read text with colored photographs of the rock formations, vegetation, and wildlife. Clear directions and map are included. The series is informative and a valuable extender for the social studies. Other titles include Acadia National Park, Bryce Canyon National Park, Glacier National Park, Haleakala National Park, Hawaii Volcanoes National Park, Mesa Verde National Park, Olympic National Park, Rocky Mountain National Park, and Zion National Park.

A helpful reference tool that provides maps, pictures, and photographs. A summary is given for each state; various regions are shown with maps and photographs. Other information given includes state birds and flowers, state areas and populations, and time zones. For classroom use.

What happens in far off Antarctica affects living things all over the world. Nutrients drift to northern oceans to feed the sea life. Its currents cool the world’s oceans, and its ice sheet contains 90% of the world’s water supply. A supplementary book for the classroom written in understandable language.

Handicaps

Hearing and visual impairments, other physical handicaps, emotional disturbances, and learning disabilities are among the special problems discussed in this concise overview. The author introduces experiments that enable a child to imagine and understand how it feels to have a disability. Clear explanations aid children’s understanding of people with special needs.

Beautiful color photographs sensitively portray the life of six-year-old Tom, who is mentally retarded. Tom’s parents and siblings provide him with normal, affectionate family care. Compassionate and understanding.

A little girl tells about her younger sister who is deaf, and how everyday life is much the same to the sister as it is to others, with a few important exceptions. Everyday situations and feelings are described with affection and objectivity, revealing an understanding of the curiosity that hearing children have about those who live in a silent world. Sensitively illustrated with charcoal drawings.

Beth is sometimes embarrassed because her brother doesn’t look and act like everyone else, but she feels hurt when other children stare and laugh at him. Clear photographs add to a sensitive portrayal of a retarded child.

Based on the award-winning television series, the objective of the book is to provide opportunities for readers, both children and adults, to become more familiar and more comfortable with people different from themselves. It includes plays, problems, crossword puzzles, mysteries, and music; black and white photos and sketches.

Color photographs and straightforward text give objective information about Janet, who uses a wheelchair or braces. Her condition, spina bifida, is explained with a diagram of the spine. Janet is shown as a wholesome individual, working and playing at home, in school, and camping.

Six-year-old Anna is deaf, but seems to enjoy an active life. She cooperates wholeheartedly with her teachers in a regular private school and enjoys ballet lessons. The text and photographs combine for an empathetic story.

Religions

Reminiscent of the beautiful illuminated religious manuscripts of the middle ages, each page tells of an animal mentioned in the Judeo-Christian Bible, with information about the animal and the reason for its inclusion. The sepia and gray paintings are accurately and artistically rendered. (Picture book)

Over the centuries people have celebrated the sunrise in various ways. Many are depicted here, with invitation to the reader to create a personal sunrise ritual. Text that is nearly poetic is set in handsome design and combines with the magnificent full-color illustrations to make this a superb book. 1979 Caldecott Honor Book

This colorful picture book account of Our Lady of Guadalupe retells how Juan Diego, an Indian peasant, received the picture of Our Lady on his cloak, which can be seen today in Mexico City. Pictures are colorful and appropriate to the smooth-flowing text. Available in Spanish: Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe

This explanation of customs of Orthodox Jews told by a young Jewish-American boy describes the rituals of Sabbath practices in the home, synagogue, and Hebrew Day School. Relationships with friends who are not Orthodox Jews are emphasized.

Shelter and Clothing

The history of wool gathering and sheep raising, as well as the development of New England's wool industry, are related in an interesting style. Excellent supplementary reading for the study of colonial New England.

Eighteen kinds of shelters, from temporary to permanent, are shown in labeled black and white cutaway sketches. Text discusses questions concerning climate, materials, and living patterns of residents. Contains a glossary; may be useful in units on housing around the world.

Photographs illustrate this survey of headcoverings from around the world. The function of each hat or cap is stressed. Appropriate to the textbook format is the list of "things to do" at the end of the book.

In an interesting format and text, the raising and processing of cotton are explained, including harvesting, dyeing, weaving, and selling. A variety of finished products are shown. Illustrations are bright and informative. An excellent easy-to-read book for a unit on clothing.

With a very brief, almost wordless text, black and white photographs contrast the inside and outside views of an apartment house. Hot water is depicted by the huge basement boilers and by the faucets of the bathtub. Similar pictures depict heat, windows, rooms, and elevators. An excellent book.

The development of shelters from the caves to the unique solar-heated houses of today is simply traced in text and full-color drawings. The variety of dwellings of various cultural groups are presented in an appealing manner. An ideal supplementary book for primary social studies.

Bear demonstrates the wrong, then the right way of putting on shirt, pants, cap, and shoes. Simple and fun. Clear, humorous drawings.

The United Nations Declaration on Rights of the Child is beautifully illustrated with full-color interpretations of each premise. Includes the full text of the declaration. Useful for class discussion.

A variety of problems and emotions that young people experience when parents divorce and families separate are discussed. A preteen girl's questions and fears are described in the straightforward text. First person account with black and white photographs.

The realistic concerns of a child whose divorced mother remarries. With black and white photos, brief sentences, and few words, the text adequately conveys David's worries. A timely topic.

Information for children on what and who influence their lives is presented in readable fashion. Suggestions are given on how to make good decisions now. Excellent discussion material on life problems such as money, legal rights, TV and movies. A Brown Paper School book.

Seven animal defenders tell of their work to prevent the unconscionable cruelty to animals that occurs in this country and around the world: torture in lab experiments, neglect of pets, extinction of whales, painful trapping, torturous factory and farming practices, exploitation of animals for entertainment. Facts are documented informative and inspiring.

Divorce is a difficult subject for anyone to understand, but to a child it is even more baffling and upsetting. This book explains the emotions of a little girl caught in the middle of a divorce. It is a sensitive and intelligent portrayal of a child's concern. The illustrations are soft and subtle, lending a quiet feeling to the book.

Alcohol consumption is presented as a fact of life, pleasant or grim, depending on circumstances. Readers are advised to learn about alcohol now, so they can make an intelligent decision on drinking later. Strategies are presented for responsible drinking, dealing with alcoholic friends and relatives, and coping with peer pressure. Sources for assistance and a bibliography are included.

Israel, Elaine. The Hungry World. Julian Messner, 1977. 7-10

This excellent basic book with its haunting photos of hungry people explains in simple terms why hunger exists. New techniques of producing food like the "green revolution" and fish farms are discussed. Six suggestions, including writing legislators, are given. Possible topic for gifted program use.

Directed toward youngsters, this book gives practical suggestions for protecting their possessions, advice on babysitting, and hints for feeling and being safer. Operation Peace of Mind hotline number for runaways' use is given. Woodcut illustrations.

This easy-to-read introduction gives the facts about alcohol—what it is, where it can be found, and its effects on the mind and body. Treats the use of alcohol as a matter of informed choice.

Seixas, Judith S. Living with a Parent Who Drinks Too Much. Greenwillow Books, 1979. 10-12

Alcoholism, alcoholic behavior, and resulting family problems are described. The author advises children of alcoholic parents in dealing with these problems and offers hope for making their lives more productive and bearable. Hard questions are answered with great sensitivity and in careful detail.

Twelve-year-old Andrea, whose parents are divorced and remarried, tells how she feels about being a stepchild and of the advantages and disadvantages of having two sets of parents. Black and white photographs capture various key scenes from her life as part of a larger family.

One of a series on Great Constitutional Issues, this book focuses on the Eighth Amendment that states that “unusual punishment” shall not be inflicted. The 1972 Supreme Court decision overturning the use of capital punishment highlights a discussion that includes a thoughtful, although biased, study of the issue.

An introduction to the basic facts about marijuana. The author notes that people who choose to use pot should know the effects and know about laws regarding its use. Illustrations and explanations are clear and easy to understand.

Transportation

Very young readers are introduced to the development of the wheel from its first stages up to the present day. Because of the simplicity of the text and colorful illustrations, the nonreader will be able to follow the information presented. Excellent concept book for home or school.

Billout, Guy. By Camel or by Car: A Look at Transportation. Prentice-Hall, 1979. All ages

Each double-page spread contains a brief text description and a handsome full-page stylized drawing of a mode of transport. The narrative combines factual information with personal anecdotes from the author’s childhood concerning camel, bicycle, motorcycle, car, truck, bus, subway, train, snowmobile, ship, balloon, aerial tram, plane, helicopter, and spaceship. Unique and useful.

The story of the first transcontinental railroad is filled with the adventures of the struggle to build the tracks from coast to coast. MATURE READERS.

Did Charlie Brown and Snoopy ever fly into outer space? Yes, they were nicknames for parts of the Apollo 10. What did the Mayflower carry prior to Pilgrims? Wine. It smelled quite sweet. Snippets of transportation information from prewheel days to the space age, plus excellent graphics, make this an appealing and worthwhile browser.
Dean, Anabel. Up, Up, and Away! The Story of Ballooning. Westminster Press, 1980. 12-

This interesting, comprehensive history of ballooning traces its development and includes well-known persons who experimented in this field. The use of balloons for weather instruments, space, and sports is discussed, including a look at their future potential. Glossary, bibliography, table of contents, and photographs and prints from the Smithsonian Institution are included.

Dutzel, Paul C. Railroad Yard. Julian Messner, 1977. 7-10

A short book that explains how modern railroad yards operate. The clear photographs show the workers and equipment needed to keep the freight trains moving. A necessary of railroad terms is included.

This carefully researched book of the Nineteenth Century America series begins with the invention of the iron horse, which enabled the country to expand and develop industrially. Names of several companies that are large corporations today are mentioned. Working conditions are described. Woodcut illustrations.

The many modes of traveling west in pioneer days are described in this book that traces the development of transportation. Houseboats, sailboats, canalboats, flatboats, and stagecoaches are included. Lists of supplies needed by the pioneers and even the slang of the period are recorded. A must for social studies. Photographs.

As a child, the author-artist of this reminiscent picture book watched the sleighs moving through the Montreal streets. Twenty-three horse-drawn vehicles are pictured and described, along with personal notes and memories of these long-ago, graceful transports.

A book inspired by the return of the tall ships to Boston Harbor for the Bicentennial, the text is enlivened with anecdotes and personal glimpses of the men who sailed the ships. Terminology is well defined. Striking black and white photographs.

Marston, Hope Irvin. Big Rigs. Dodd, Mead, 1979. 7-10

If you already know what an eighteen wheeler is, you will find out more through the text and large photographs about the biggest kind. of trucks on the highway, the tractor-trailers. What they haul, their emblems, and even the terms used by truckers on their CB radios are included.

Beginning with the gripping true story of the daring rescue of one trucker by another, this book continues to claim the reader’s interest throughout. Kinds of trucks, their uses, CB radio and truckers’ jargon, various careers in trucking, and much more informs the reader and inspires liking and respect for truckers and trucking. Well illustrated with photographs.

For readers fascinated by air travel and planes, this book provides an introduction to commercial planes, airports, military aircraft, special aircraft, experimental aircraft. Well illustrated with many photos.

Black and white photographs and captions describe the various cars of freight trains, including locomotives, boxcars, tank cars, auto carriers, hoppers, flatcars, piggybacks, refrigerator cars, and cabooses.

Little homes on wheels with the motor and steering components built in are the topic of this book on vans. It gives the origin of the name, varieties of vans, and their uses for fun or work. Unusual interiors and exteriors are shown in full-color photos.

Three sections of large full-color pictures move from early history to the future of ships, trains, and airplanes, aided by captions and a brief text. Although the busy pages could be termed cluttered from an artistic standpoint, this style intrigues children who enjoy poring over the detailed cross-section drawings.

There are about 29,000,000 trucks in the United States, practically any product can be carried by truck. Twenty-eight large illustrations appearing on left-hand pages are described in a clear, concise manner on right-hand pages. Five main types are emphasized. A Museum of Science and Industry/Chicago book.

For twenty-five years the Model T Ford, the Tin Liz., was the dream of most Americans. Four representative models can be made in miniature with cardboard and construction paper: the 1919 Touring Car, 1913 Pickup Truck, 1913 Runabout, and the 1914 Speedster. Clear, concise directions and illustrations. A transportation craft book.

Soots and his dog Cinder take an imaginary journey and see famous old trains of Europe and America. The story is brief, more engrossing are the colorful, detail-filled illustrations of parts of trains, railroad yards, kinds of cars, and paraphernalia surrounding trains.

The story of American railroads is told through interesting anecdotes, including the familiar tale of Casey Jones. Highlighted by outstanding black and white photographs, this large, beautifully designed book focuses on the spirit of the American railroader. Its style makes it not merely a history, but a tribute to railroading.

The development and use of carrier aviation are traced from its beginnings in the early twentieth century to the present. Technical treatment is balanced with accounts of life aboard the ships.

United States History

The Algonquian tribes had contact with the early Massachusetts settlers. This is an informative report resulting from a summer camp project that investigated life in the seventeenth century. It concerns the food, shelter, recreation, customs, and work activities of those who lived at that time. Excellent for study of early Massachusetts or Indian life. Colored photographs of live models.

Elizabeth and Daniel, Pilgrim children, are anxious to land and get settled in America for the new year 1621. Their many experiences during the first seven years of the Plymouth Plantation settlement are colorfully described in text and photographs. Gives an overall view of Pilgrim life.

The official seal of each state is shown in black and white, accompanied by a two- or three-page explanation of its symbolism, motto, and history. The text is enlivened by descriptions of occasional errors in design or controversies over possession. A valuable addition to the study of American history or of individual states.

The fascinating history of Alaska includes its Indians, Eskimos, Russian adventurers, and even the latest newcomers, the pipeliners. The easily read text, which includes the true story of a ten-year-old boy who sailed with Vitus Bering, is complemented with attractive photographs. Excellent supplementary book for home or school.

D'Amato, Janet, and Alex D'Amato. Algonquian and Iroquois Crafts for You to Make. Julian Messner, 1979. 8-12

Intertwined with facts on the life and customs of the Algonquian and Iroquois Indians are suggestions for craft projects. The clear instructions are accompanied by many orange, and black and white illustrations. Useful in social studies units.

The Industrial Revolution is explained, focusing on the introduction of factories in the United States in the eighteenth century. By the end of the nineteenth century, factories had contributed to making the United States a major industrial power. Familiar names like Singer (sewing machines) and Kodak (cameras) are mentioned.

The first part of the book describes health care institutions in the early 1800s. They are pictured as dark, dismal places where much suffering took place. The remainder of the book examines the improvements in medicine since 1850. One of the Nineteenth Century America series with handsome, intricate illustrations.

The development of competitive sports in the nineteenth century are described. Physical strength and stamina were regarded as "musts." Baseball, tennis, golf, bare-fisted boxing, and others are included. Strong, detailed illustrations in black and white complement the vividly described, informative text. Index. One of the Nineteenth Century America series.
Freedman, Russell: Immigrant Kids. E. P. Dutton, 1980. 8–12.

Pictures and text combine to give the reader a clear and interesting view of the life-styles of the children who immigrated to America during the period of 1880-1920. An overview of home life, school, work, and play makes this a valuable book.

A collection of Japanese and American submarine adventures in the Pacific during World War II. The tensions, successes, and failures of underwater warfare are explained in a straightforward style.

Loeper, John J. Mr. Marley's Main Street Confectionery: A History of Sweets & Treats. Atheneum, 1979. 10–up.

Nineteenth-century confectionery shops were wonderful places for all seasons and all ages and are part of America's history. Illustrated with old prints, the history of candy and other treats is traced. With the subject's built-in interest, this would be a useful resource for an enrichment project.

This well-written, informative history begins with the legendary birth of the Muskogee people, or Creeks, and ends with present government policy toward the Creek people who live as citizens of Oklahoma and the United States, no longer the unique, proud Creek confederacy. Effective black and white illustrations.

Madison, Arnold. Lost Treasures of America: Searching Out Hidden Riches. Illus Dick Wahl. Ranc McNally, 1977 12–up

Intriguing accounts of the history and legends of such lost treasures as Arizona's Lost Dutchman Mine, Jesse James' cache, and the bi nal chamber of Kamehameha. Not documented, the tales could motivate young readers to research further to separate fact from fiction. Index

Mercer, Charles. Statue of Liberty. G P Putnam's Sons, 1979 10–12

The social, artistic, political, and economic forces of the times are skillfully interwoven in this lively tale of the adventures and misadventures of Miss Liberty, from her conception in the mind of the sculptor in 1865 to her ilnallation in 1886. Illustrated with many stunning contemporary photographs and engravings.

Phelan, Mary Kay. The Story of the Louisiana Purchase. Illus Frank Aloise Thomas Y. Crowell, 1979 10 up Historical figures including Thomas Jefferson, Robert R. Livingston, and Nap...on Bonaparte come to life in this interesting account of the purchase of Louisiana. Well documented and written in an interesting style, this book should prove an excellent supplementary account of this era in U.S. history. Black and white pen sketches

An excellent account of the building of the Erie Canal, the book provides a vivid, readable picture of one segment of American history and engineering achievement. Black and white illustrations complement and enhance the text. Bibliography and index are included

This lively retelling brings to life a true story from American riverboat history. Nicholas Roosevelt sets out down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to prove once and for all that steamboats can navigate the great rivers. Rapids, floods, an earthquake, fire, and Indian attacks hinder, but fail to stop, the 2000 mile voyage

Recollections of 156 people who grew up between 1890 and 1914 paint a warm, human picture of life in America in the pre-World War I era. Comments are grouped into such categories as houses, clothing, and school. Humorous, touching, and instructive

Simon, Hilda. Bird and Flower Emblems of the United States. Dodd, Mead. 1978. 8-12

An excellent, quick reference source, this book provides information about each state's choice of symbolic bird and flower. Full-color illustrations by the author and an introductory essay concerning the use of symbols and emblems throughout history enhance the text

The reader learns how the people of New Amsterdam lived, worked, studied, and played in the 1600s. The illustrations depict the vitality and humor found in this bustling town. The text ends with a detailed map and a surprise. Delightfully illustrated

Using objects found in mounds as clues, archaeologists can learn much about the daily life and burial customs of the people who built them so long ago. Exemplary black and white illustrations and a useful chronology are included. An excellent resource Reminiscent of the Little House books by Laura Ingalls Wilder, this book of true episodes involves another family's experiences as homesteaders in Nebraska in 1914. A strong sense of family unity continues throughout the story. Interesting photographs.

World History

Detailed descriptions include the process of embalming, the Egyptian beliefs about life after death, their funerary customs, and the structure of a pyramid. Aliki's colorful drawings, clear diagrams, and descriptive text add up to an extremely attractive presentation of a sometimes gruesome topic.

Gemming, Elizabeth. Lost City in the Clouds: The Discovery of Machu Picchu. Illus. Mike Eagle Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. 1980. 9-12

Hiram Bingham, a Yale history professor, discovered a lost city of the Inca Empire in 1911. The account of his expedition and the two preceding years is based on Bingham's personal descriptions. Conversations and fine writing bring the archaeological find to life. Glossary, timeline, list of museums, and bibliography appended.

The years from 1939 to 1945 were times of sacrifice, cruelty, and bravery. An overview of World War II from the beginning, the turning points, and the climax is clearly and concisely described for juvenile readers. Photographs and maps add to the interest of the account. Index included.

Halter, Jon C. Top Secret Projects of World War II. Julian Messner. 1978. 12 up

An informative account of the secret projects and espionage missions that affected the outcome of World War II. This book is packed with factual data about such events as the Ultra secret, the strategy of lies surrounding D Day, and the development of the A-bomb. Maps and an annotated list of further readings included. Index.

Photographs and first-hand reports lend credibility to this account of action on the European front during World War I. Those who survived the trench warfare and hand-to-hand combat lived amidst mud and filth for over three years while the German Army advanced through much of Western Europe. An index and list of further readings are appended.

Although the text is geared to middle graders, the carefully researched illustrations can be enjoyed by all ages. Through the descriptions of two medieval weddings, one between a wealthy couple and the other between two peasants, the reader comes away with a clear idea about wedding rites, customs, and living conditions.

Explorer Jim Woodman attempts to explain the mystery of the lines and pictures appearing in the desert plain of Nazca, Peru, by his theory of ancient hot air balloonists. Other theories are briefly mentioned. Photographs.

Slavery through the ages and how it affected the various cultures is examined. Examples drawn from Rome, China, Egypt, and the United States demonstrate the life of the slaves and their continuing desire to be free. Black and white illustrations enhance the book with their intensity.

The mystery of the giant statues on Easter Island is thoroughly explored. Legends and historical data are compared in a readable text illustrated with many fine color and black and white photographs. Maps are helpful. Quality of paper and print is unusually good.

Patterson, Geoffrey. Chestnut Farm, 1860. Andre Deutsch 1980 All ages

Large, expressive pictures of life on a typical nineteenth-century English farm are accompanied by a text that explains the various jobs done throughout the year by all members of the family, sometimes with the help of villagers. A small work of art in itself, this could be used in units on ecology.

Oak trees can live to be four hundred years old. Stretching from 1588 to 1978, this book describes an oak’s life span in terms of the English history it mutely witnesses. Detailed double-page drawings, half in color, are an integral part of the presentation.

Using a point of view not usually given, the art and text tell of people who followed the reindeer across the tundra and began the settlement of the Western Hemisphere. It includes the history of the Europeans who came and conquered and the lives of the people today.

The history of China is chronicled from the reign of Emperor Kang Xi. The author points out the influence of the Western culture on the Chinese as he describes the Opium Wars, Boxer Rebellion, and China's part in two world wars. Very readable source for social studies units.

Shapiro, Milton J. Behind Enemy Lines: American Spies and Saboteurs in World War II. Julian Messner, 1978. 10-up

An honest portrayal of the adventures of spies and intelligence officers during World War II. The book explains the dangers that these brave men and women encountered in their daily lives behind enemy lines. The people are shown as human beings suffering both successes and failures in a quiet, courageous style.

The finding of King Tut's tomb and its treasures are shown through outstanding black and white and color photographs. The very readable, large-print text and photograph captions will appeal to young readers.

Additional Social Studies Books

Foster, Genevieve. Abraham Lincoln's World. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1944. 10-up

Foster, Genevieve. George Washington's World. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1944. 10-up
Lawson, Robert They Were Strong and Good. Viking Press, 1940. 8-up
Spier, Peter *The Erie Canal.*Doubleday, 1970. 8-12
Biography

Artists

Twelve performing artists, not yet famous but self-supporting and devoted to excellence, tell about their lives and careers. The joy of developing one’s talents, the tough disciplining and the surmounting of obstacles make inspiring and realistic reading for youth who are interested in music, dance, and drama.

Erik Blegvad’s father, grandfather, and great-grandfather all possessed artistic talent, but it was Erik who really became an artist. He tells the story of his boyhood in Denmark up to the present day in text and exciting illustrations done in many styles. Good introduction to autobiography.

A partial biography of John James Audubon from the point of view of his young assistant, Joseph Mason. In the format of a journal, the narrator recounts the 1820 journey down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to find new birds to paint. Illustrated with photographs and reproductions of the artist’s works.

Here’s an exciting story about the twenty-six-year-old Russian ballet dancer, Mikhail Baryshnikov, who defected to the United States. He experiences incredible success from dancing on stage to making a motion picture. Photographs dramatize his artistic vitality and blend with insightful text about the world of ballet.

Karl plays the horn in Prince Nicolaus’s orchestra under the direction of Joseph Haydn. In order to persuade the Prince to let the court musicians return home at summer's end, Haydn composes a symphony with a surprise ending. Based on actual incidents, the tale is colorfully illustrated.

This brief biography of Mary Cassatt (1844-1926) serves as an introduction to this American artist who achieved in spite of opposition. Being strong-willed, she was successful in having her own art shown among other Impressionists. Photographs of her numerous paintings of women and children are well chosen. Easy to read.

Colorful, primitive paintings portray the interesting childhood of Mary Bruce, Sharon, an American artist. Brief descriptions written in the first person accompany the eye-catching illustrations that give the reader a glimpse of America in 1885. Toys, furniture, transportation, entertainment, art, and social customs are vividly portrayed. Some pictures require explanation and discussion.

A selection of events in the life of Margaret Bourke-White from early childhood to her death from Parkinson's disease in 1971. A fine sampling of her photographs highlights the volume. Index and selected bibliography.

The autobiography relates funny anecdotes of Margot Zemach's youthful life with theater parents, her zeal to become an artist, and her marriage to another bright, struggling Fulbright student. The birth of each of their children is related to one of their children's books. Illustrated with the same delightful drawings that mark her award-winning books. One of a series of autobiographies of contemporary children's book illustrators.

Athletes

This biography of Eric Heiden highlights his ice-skating career, but briefly tells his story from the time he received his first skates. Although Eric is featured, his sister's career is also described. Major coverage is given the 1980 Olympics at Lake Placid. Interesting book, well illustrated with photographs.

Short biographies of ten well-known athletes, including Bobby Clarke, Lee Trevino, Tom Dempsey, and Kitty O’Neil emphasize how each excelled in spite of handicaps and misfortunes. Numerous black and white photos help bring the sportspersons to life.

Reggie Jackson, who received a $3,000,000 contract from the New York Yankees, had a difficult childhood. This brief biography chronicles his life from his childhood in a broken home through his history-making three home runs in three swings in the 1977 World Series.

This well-written sports biography traces the career of Ron Guidry, the New York Yankee pitcher who almost gave up before he finally was given the chance to prove his talents. Baseball fans will enjoy the easy text and many black and white photographs.

An exciting biography of the boy from a San Francisco ghetto who once told Cleveland Brown’s Jim Brown that he would break Brown’s running record. In 1973, he did. O. J. Simpson eventually wins the coveted Heisman trophy, is unanimously voted All-American, and becomes professional football’s highest paid player. Numerous photographs.

Jimmy Connors learned to play tennis from his mother at a very early age. He was determined to succeed and dropped out of college to attain his goal. He became the world’s number one tennis player in 1975. Large print, glossary, and photographs are included. Other Sports Hero biographies include Terry, Bradshaw, Ron LeFlore, and Bill Walton.

These five brief biographies of the players who won baseball’s Most Valuable Player Award in 1974, 1975, and 1976 are written in a clear and interesting way. Included are Jeff Burroughs, Fred Lynn, Thurman Munson, Steve Garvey, and Joe Morgan. Provides a change of pace from longer, more detailed biographies.
Cohen, Joel H. Joe Morgan: Great Little Big Man. G P. Putnam's Sons, 1978 10-up

A strong determination to become a real baseball player is evident in Joe Morgan's life. The title "little big man" is quite appropriate. His early life is briefly outlined while his career and participation in outstanding games are presented in detail. Photographs and index are included in this Sports Shelf Biography.

Terry Bradshaw's persistence in his drive to quarterback the Pittsburgh Steelers to a win in the Super Bowl should inspire would-be football stars. Many black and white photographs.

Eight-year-old Dorothy Hamill put on the $6.95 pair of Christmas ice skates, and the rest is history. The reader shares Dorothy's life from this point through the long practice hours, the nervousness, the compulsory figures, to her final triumph at the 1976 Winter Olympics. Black and white photos.

Although the major focus is on Rote's six seasons with the Dallas Tornado, much attention is given to Kyle Rote, the man, his personal goals and values.

In 1980 Andrea Jaeger became the youngest tennis pro ever. The first-person narrative, illustrated profusely with action photographs, gives an immediacy to the account of Miss Jaeger's tournament play.

Wesley Paul has been a runner for six of his nine years. The reader follows Chinese-American Wesley as he works to build up his speed and endurance for competing in the New York City Marathon, at which he hopes to set a new record. Black and white photos.

The glorious history of baseball with its remarkable catchers, home run hitters, and strikeout pitchers, and three outstanding teams of the past and present are brought together in this readable overview of the sport. Action photographs of the players enliven the stories.

The Harlem Globetrotters have been putting on funny shows for fans for more than forty years. The team won so many games at the beginning that something had to be done to encourage competition. This was why the comedy acts were introduced. Their history and activities are chronicled.

Profiles of famous soccer players including Pete, Kyle Rote, Jr., Jim McAlister, Shep Messing, Al Trost, and Werner Roth are written in an interesting and readable style for sports fans.

Up-to-date brief biographies of Bobby Clarke, Julius Erving, Chris Evert, Franco Harris, and Pete Rose are written in a simple style for the young sports fan. Perseverance is an underlying theme in each account. Illustrated with photographs; index included.

Among the famous Americans born in Greensboro, North Carolina, the most recent is Bob McAdoo, superstar of the New York Knicks. At the age of four he started to shoot baskets. His supportive family encouraged his education and sports activities until he became a professional. Many photographs, glossary, and index included.

Car enthusiasts will learn how one of the greatest drivers in auto racing has advanced in a most dangerous sport. Johnny Rutherford's life is traced from action in sprint and midget cars to his ultimate victory in the Indianapolis 500. Safety precautions and proper training are emphasized.

Jenner, Bruce, and R. Smith Kilmer. The Olympics and Me. Doubleday, 1980. 10-12

Bruce Jenner, the 1976 Olympic decathlon champion, gives a brief history of the ancient games and describes several of the events. He then tells about his own training for and participation in the Munich Olympics, as well as his work with handicapped children who compete in the Special Olympics.

In 1904 when women were first allowed to compete in the Olympics, it was decried as "scandalous" and the "downfall of womanhood."
The dozen biographical sketches include information about the competitors' early lives and how they eventually became gold medal winners. Black and white photos show some then-and-now pictures.

An easy-to-read book about three men who made auto racing history. Roger Ward, Lee Petty, and Don Garlits are American racing car drivers.

This is the story of a "champion." The book simply allows Ali to make statements about his own feelings toward life and the sport of boxing. It is direct and honest and well written. The last statement in the book may be the best summation: "Muhammad Ali once said, 'I don't believe all the stuff I say!'"

The setting is Churchill Downs in Louisville, Kentucky when the reader first meets Steve Cauthen riding Affirmed in the Kentucky Derby. What follows is the story of his early years, captured in words and photographs. The many successes of this teenage hero are captivating. Easy to read. Glossary included.

This fast-moving story of the outstanding A. J. Foyt opens with the 1961 auto race at Indianapolis and concludes with the 1977 event. Why he has become so successful is apparent throughout the book. Illustrated with photos.

After brief highlights of Janet Guthrie's childhood, school years, and brief career as a physicist, the focus is on her struggle to be accepted in the world of auto racing and to become eventually the first woman to drive in the Indianapolis 500. Illustrated with photographs.

The story of Chris Evert from early childhood to her first victories at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. The emphases are on her relationships with her family, her schoolmates, and her tennis contemporaries. Indexed.

This short book tells of Kurt Thomas, the young gymnast who brought home the United States' first gold medal in forty-six years from the World Games in 1978. One of the Sports Stars books, other biographies in the series are about Nancy Lopez, Steve Garvey, Renaldo Nehemiah, Janet Guthrie, Walter Payton, Reggie Jackson, and Tracy Austin: Photographs.

When Tracy Austin won the match at Wimbledon in June 1977, she encouraged aspiring youngsters and charmed the crowds attending the yearly event. This exciting biography will interest a wide range of readers. Many excellent photographs complete the text. Glossary of tennis terms included.

In this timely autobiography Pete Rose recounts events of his early life. The influence that his father exerted on his decision to become a hardworking ballplayer is evident throughout the story.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias excelled in many sports including basketball, baseball, track, and golf. This remarkable woman won one silver and two gold medals in the 1932 Olympics and went on to win more gold titles than any other woman before being named the World's Greatest Woman Athlete of the Century in 1954. Her life, including her death due to cancer, is chronicled in this most interesting account.

"Once a Yankee, always a Yankee." That was the story of Joe DiMaggio's spectacular life as a baseball player. While still a teenager, he fell and injured his leg which threatened to ruin his career before it had started. An interesting account of the "Yankee Clipper," illustrated with photographs.

Biographies of 1976 Olympic Gold Medal winners Bruce Jenner, Sheila Young, Lasse Viren, Nelli Kim, Kornelia Ender and Alberto Juantorena. Brief stories provide background on the events leading up to the winning of the awards. Illustrated with black and white photographs, excellent portrayal of the qualities of a superstar.

Catfish Hunter's career is followed from his childhood on a farm, where he used to practice pitching corn cobs through a hole in the barn door, to his winning of the Cy Young Award. Anecdotes enliven this recounting of Hunter's life as a pitcher in the major leagues. Black and white photographs.

Winner of four gold medals at the 1976 Montreal Olympic Games, the first in Olympic history, Nadia Comaneci captivated her audiences and inspired young gymnasts throughout the world. Young readers will be impressed by her determination and dedication as she achieved success. Many photographs demonstrate her skill as a gymnast.

A compact, easily read biography of Steve Cauthen, the young jockey who began his professional career at sixteen. This book also contains information about racing and about being a jockey. Well illustrated with many black and white photos.

Van Steenwyk, Elizabeth. Stars on Ice. Dodd, Mead, 1980. 10 up

The biographies of outstanding figure skaters who represented the United States in the 1980 Olympics and other international competitions are told. Also included are biographies of former champions and possible future stars. The skaters comment on the regimen, sacrifices, triumphs, and heartbreaks. Several stories describe the overcoming of severe physical handicaps. Photographs.

This book tells about the men who have made the sport of hockey great. The short biographical sketches show the progress of modern hockey through some outstanding players' success in the sport. They include Howie Morenz, Maurice Richard, Bobby Hull, Bobby Orr, Terry Sawchuk, Glenn Hall, and Jacques Plante. Photographs.

Entertainers

This account of Will Rogers relates that he was an Oklahoma cowboy of Indian descent who loved ranch life. He learned to combine his roping skill with entertainment to become a star of stage and screen and a noted humorist. He was world famous when he was killed in a plane crash in Alaska in 1935.

Tiny Charles Stratton attracted the attention of P. T. Barnum who renamed him Tom Thumb and made him famous. The book describes Tom's meetings with Abraham Lincoln and Queen Victoria, and tells the story of his marriage to Lavinia. The author conveys Tom's zest for life in spite of his frustration at having to live in a world of giants.

The names of famous child stars tumble from the pages of this book—Rooney, Garland, Temple, Taylor—all the great and near-great. Snippets of biographies are given, with the reminder that acting is not an easy life. Superficial, but fun for film buffs. Many photos.

When today's stars were young, they often had the same problems that face their young fans today: being shy, unathletic, too short, etc. Their dreams helped them overcome their problems. Young readers will enjoy learning more about The Fonz, Bruce Jenner, and Cheryl Ladd, among others, through quizzes, short biographies, and baby photos.

Bill Pickett, a black cowboy born in Texas in 1860, became a legendary figure by introducing the art of bulldogging steers, performing with Will Rogers, and touring America and England in Colonel Zack's famous 101 Wild West Show before World War I. An easy-to-read book.

Born in Hungary in 1874, Harry Houdini knew hard times in the U.S. as a child, leaving school in the fourth grade to work for a locksmith. Fascinated by magic and tricks, he became one of the world's greatest escape artists and magicians. Numerous black and white photographs augment the text.

Much of this fascinating biography of Stevie Wonder concerns his childhood. His first hit song, written at the age of twelve, called Political Leaders

When an eleven-year-old girl wrote to Abraham Lincoln suggesting that more people would vote for him if he grew whiskers, he took her advice. This appealing account of the incident brings into focus both the humor and sadness of Lincoln's character. Sepia and white illustrations.

This well-written biography, authoritative and documented, covers Adolf Hitler's rise to power through brute force and his ability to influence people. His victories convinced his followers of his infallibility. The book takes the reader from Hitler's youth to his self-destruction in a bunker. Illustrated with photographs.

Dwight Eisenhower's leadership qualities are emphasized, especially as they affected his military and political careers. An easy-to-read biography with suggestions for further reading and an index.

An entertaining biography of King George III, with funny and poignant everyday-life touches that enable the reader to see George as a person. We follow him from a bashful boy with turned-in toes to a senile old man with a wild white beard. Illustrations appropriately complement the text. Carefully researched.

More mature readers will enjoy this well-written biography of the popular Stonewall Jackson. His complex personality is revealed in his early youth, his training at West Point, and his performance during the Civil War. Illustrated with a map and soft pencil drawings.

This easy biography of the multi-talented Benjamin Franklin is done in the usual Fritz style: careful research revealing little-known but... fascinating tidbits to give the subject flesh and blood. Notes at the end expand the text. Sketches in both black and white and color.

The efforts of the nineteenth-century feminist, Abigail Scott Duniway, who led the struggle for women's suffrage in Oregon, are recounted. As editor of The New Northwest, a women's rights newspaper, she wrote of injustice and hardship suffered by women. She traveled, wrote, lectured, and worked for forty-one years until, in 1912, the goal was achieved.

Told in terms of United States history, not personal life, this biography recounts the life of Tecumseh, the Shawnee chief who was born in 1768 in the Ohio Valley. He united a confederacy of Indians and fought against the white man's encroachment on native land.

Another volume for presidential buffs, this book shows the reader some familiar and not-so-familiar photographs of presidential residences. Accompanying the photos are brief biographies that include anecdotes associated with the houses themselves. A "How to Get There" section completes the book.

Religious Leaders

Pope John Paul II emerges as a very likeable youth, adult, and Pope in this brief, easy-to-read biography. His many talents find fulfillment in acting, intellectual pursuits, hiking, skiing, and canoeing. A map of the Vatican, a glossary, and a list of important events are included.

Katie and Margaretta Fox, who lived during the last two-thirds of the nineteenth century, claimed that they were able to communicate with ghosts. Various investigators tested the Fox sisters, but none proved that they were frauds. The author concentrates on the early years of the women who started the Spiritualist movement in the United States.

The first half of the biography of Martin Luther King, Jr., is devoted. to his life from early childhood to maturity. The second half not only reports his death but also identifies various theories about the events leading up to the assassination, as well as questions yet unanswered. Bibliography and index.

The Bible Story of Esther is successfully retold for the young child in text and black and blue naive illustrations. Ahasuerus, the Persian king, was looking for a wife. Esther, a Jewish girl, was chosen. Through much strife she was able to save the Jews living in exile.

Irving Krick, who loves to forecast weather, has an eighty-five percent accurate prediction rate. The weather bureau does not exactly love him, but it is fun to find out how this meteorologist has achieved such phenomenal success. The biography describes how Krick has developed a method to produce accurate long-range weather forecasts.

The biography of Susan La Flesche, daughter of the last chief of the Omaha Indians, is the remarkable story of a spirited, quick-minded woman dedicated to serving her people. She overcomes sexual and cultural prejudices to become the first American Indian woman physician.

The political aspect of science is as important today as it was in 1633 when Galileo Galilei was forced by the Inquisition to say that the earth does not move. The excitement of the explosion in scientific discoveries is conveyed well in this biography of the famous mathematician, physicist, and astronomer. Excellent, full-page black and white illustrations.

This dramatic episode in medical history revolves around Alexis St. Martin who, when he was shot in the abdomen, had his stomach and lungs exposed in the wound. Even when the wound healed the stomach remained exposed. Dr. William Beaumont realized that he could perform scientific experiments on his patient. The result was fame for the doctor, a lifetime of employment for the patient, and new knowledge of the digestive system.

Lazzaro Spallanzani, an eighteenth-century Italian biologist, is the focus of this biography. His discovery of the truth about microbe reproduction disproves the spontaneous generation theory and becomes a foundation for the work of future scientists.

This brief, well-told biography of Margaret Mead covers the period of her life in Samoa preparatory to the writing of Coming of Age in Samoa. Children reading this book will gain not only an acquaintance with the lively and curious Margaret Mead, but also with the tasks facing an anthropologist exploring another culture.

The work of eleven women who study wild animals, both in zoos and in their natural habitats, is discussed. Short vignettes show the dedication, hard work, and valuable research of these women in an important field of science. Black and white photographs, a bibliography, index, and list of organizations to contact are valuable supplements.

This well-written biography provides girls with an unusual role model. As a child, Eugenie Clark spent Saturdays at the New York City Aquarium while her Japanese mother sold newspapers. She grew up to be a world-renowned ichthyologist, head of a marine laboratory, teacher, author, and fearless shark investigator.

A simple, highly readable biography of an intellectual leader of eighteenth-century America who looked on each day of life as an adventure in learning. Benjamin Banneker was a black man whose achievements were in the fields of astronomy, mathematics, and surveying. Well-chosen illustrations depict the highlights of his life.

The picture biography of Charles Goodyear describes the trials of the inventor from 1832-1841 when he was obsessed with finding a way to perfect rubber. Many apparent successes failed until a chance act brought a major breakthrough. Cartoon-like drawings add humor to the story.

Charles Darwin's exciting discoveries on his voyage around the coast of South America and to the Galapagos Islands are formulated into startling conclusions about how the earth and its creatures evolved into their present states. Darwin's character is clearly drawn; the context of family and national life and religious beliefs is interestingly presented.

This well-written account describes the scientific study of the sixteenth-century astronomer Nicolaus Copernicus, who questioned the accepted theories of his day. Rebuffed by his peers, he continued his observations and writings about the motions of stars and planets. Only after his death was his work acknowledged.

This brief, carefully researched biography tells of Marie Curie's exhausting search for radium. The well-written text conveys the frustrations and joys that lay in this formidable task. The author develops both scientific knowledge and human understandings. The charcoal illustrations do much to illuminate this story of a brilliant and determined woman.

The only two-time American winner of a Nobel Prize, for chemistry in 1954 and for peace in 1963, has had a varied career. Recently a crusader for Vitamin C, Dr. Linus Pauling is a controversial figure in health and nutrition. The inspiring life story is illustrated with black and white family photographs.

Writers

Begley, Kathleen A. Deadline. G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1977. 12 up

As a young girl, Kathleen Begley decided to become a newspaper reporter. At age eighteen she did. A ten-year period encompassing the late sixties through the mid-seventies is background for the young reporter who observed the nation’s top news stories. An autobiography written in fast-paced, journalistic style.

Biographical sketches of Judy Blume, Erma Bombeck, Erica Jong, Jessamyn West, and Phyllis A. Whitney point up the personal feelings that consumed the writers as they struggled to succeed. The author’s introduction sets the tone for this view of writer as woman. Illustrated with black and white photographs.

From a very early age Harriet Beecher Stowe was intensely interested in the complex problem of slavery. The day-to-day experiences and impressions of her nineteenth-century life formed the basic structure of her book, Uncle Tom’s Cabin, which brought the issue to the attention of many. Soft wash drawings enhance the text.

The moving story of Sarah Winnemucca, the first Native American to publish a book in English, is based on her autobiography, newspaper accounts, reports to the Secretary of the Interior and the letters of Indian agents. This Paiute Indian woman, who lived in the 1800s, also started the first school taught and administered by Indians.

Naylor, Phyllis Reynolds How I Came to Be a Writer. Atheneum. 1978. 10 up
This autobiography recounts Phyllis Naylor’s early experiences in grade-school writing through her successes of later years. Her problems and progress as a published author are detailed. Includes excerpts of books and photographs.

Walden, Henry David Thoreau’s setting for “an experiment in economy,” comes to life as his day-to-day life is recounted. The building, food, clothing, and fuel are clearly described in text and pen and ink drawings. A fascinating and detailed account of this New England philosopher. Maps and bibliography appended.

Sanderlin, George Mark Twain: As Others Saw Him. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. 1978. 12-up.
This good introduction to Mark Twain contains a brief biography as well as chapters devoted to Twain’s own opinions and the opinions of those who have written about him. Includes bibliographies and photographs.

This carefully researched biography of Lorraine Hansberry relates her brief life, which is crowded with unusual achievements. She grows up in Chicago in a close-knit family. Her interest in writing leads to the writing of the popular play A Raisin in the Sun. Easy to read with attractive format.

---

This brief biography is intriguing for the young reader because of the carefully drawn illustrations that supplement the text. Depicted are a scale drawing of the cross section of a ship, a map of the period, a chart of the crew, and plants of the New World.

---

This is a moving account of the final year of a real girl who developed leukemia ten years after exposure to radiation in the bombing of Hiroshima. Sadako Sasaki died before folding the thousand paper cranes that Japanese legend said would cure her. But schoolchildren place thousands of paper cranes under her statue every August 6, Peace Day.

---

An interesting biographical sketch of Charles Lindbergh, the well-known aviator. His determination, skill, and courage are highlighted throughout the story and culminate in his successful solo flight from New York to Paris on May 21, 1927. Green and black illustrations complement the text.

---

A well-balanced portrayal of one of the United States’ most controversial military leaders. Highlighted are MacArthur’s tours in World War I, World War II, and the Korean conflict. Indexed.

---

The story of Christopher Columbus is told in a chatty manner that suggests a personality filled with stubbornness and greed, seldom noted in other biographies. The facts are interesting, the asides are sometimes startling. Many colorful drawings add to the pleasurable reading experience. Notes and an index are appended.

Major Robert Rogers was a fighting hero of the French and Indian War. The book deals with his life on and off the battlefield. The theme of the book is that being any kind of hero is not easy.

Sixteen-year-old Sybil became a heroine after riding alone to warn her neighbors about the advancing British soldiers. The reader will chuckle when the real reason emerges! The story is based on a little-known episode during the American Revolution. Muted pastels and greys add to the early American charm.

Mary McLeod Bethune’s numerous contributions to education for Afro-Americans are noted in this simply written biography. There were no schools for black children near Mayesville, South Carolina, where she was born. Laboring under many hardships, she obtained an education and was determined to help others who were in unfortunate circumstances. Interesting pencil sketches.

Hoff, Syd. Scarface Al and His Uncle Sam. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1980. 8–12.

“Scarface Al” Capone bullies his way into the wealth made through illicit liquor trade during Prohibition, confident that someday he will run the country. But in Al’s uneasy dreams, Uncle Sam tells him that only the people can run the country. Humorously illustrated, good for discussion of social responsibility.

This touching story of the author’s mother tells the plight of the Armenians in Turkey in the early 1900s. A young girl survives dreadful physical ordeals and terrible religious persecution. She is deported and at the age of sixteen goes to America as a mail-order bride. Poignant; for the advanced reader! 1980 Newbery Honor Book.

This autobiography presents the atrocities of World War II from the inside. Young Ilse did not know she had one Jewish grandparent when she was forced to become a member of the Hitler Youth, children who were treated harshly and unfairly as they underwent vigorous, often cruel training. An important look at Nazism.

The experiences are told of a real girl, Kahtahah, who lived and played in Juneau, Alaska, before the white people came. This collection of little stories tells of the families and lives of the people known as Tlingit Indians in the nineteenth century.

Karen, a seventeen-year-old girl, writes about her grandfather Morris Kaye as she sees him. He in turn writes about his life as he sees himself. Beautiful black and white photographs help tell this unusual story. Could provide introduction and discussion on the topic of aging.

The colored pencil drawings of a young Cheyenne warrior who was imprisoned in Florida in 1975 illustrate his tragic life story as he struggled to survive white domination, was chained in prison, and returned to the reservation, a brainwashed, educated Christian convert. The afterword by Jamake Highwater gives additional perspective to this account of indoctrination.

Ancona, George. Growing Older. E. P. Dutton, 1978 10 up

Interesting interviews highlighting the experiences of thirteen elderly citizens of the United States provide history in the making. Photographs of the subjects as young children are contrasted with current ones that depict them in their present situation. A definite motivator for getting children interested in their grandparents and family trees.

The White House is the setting for excerpts from the lives of the children and grandchildren of Presidents Washington, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Kennedy, and Carter. Based on fact, these interesting anecdotes are presented in a simple flowing text. Line drawings complement the easy-to-read narrative.

While discrimination still exists, progress in women's rights is documented by fifteen women of varying ethnic backgrounds and occu-
Using large type and black and white photos, text tells of the women's early lives and struggles to reach their desired goals.

Objective treatment is given to the life of Captain James Cook, a famous English seaman, surveyor, navigator, mapmaker, and discoverer of the Pacific Islands. Fictional tendencies are omitted and the reader is given a true picture of the times. Part of the Troll Adventurer's series, other titles include Christopher Columbus, Eric the Red and Leif the Lucky, Ferdinand Magellan, Francis Drake, Henry Hudson, John Cabot and Son, and Vasco de Gama.

The spotlight is focused on the lives of thirty-five black men and women who were prominent in the growth of the middle and western United States, from Ohio to California, Wisconsin to Texas. Here tofore unpublished chronicles round out the reader's historical perspective. The short biographical sketches are interesting, entertaining, and at times inspiring.

Leone, Bruno. Maria Montessori: Knight of the Child. Greenhaven Press. 1978 10 up Nineteenth-century Italy is the setting for this biographical sketch of a young girl who was determined to assist those in unfortunate circumstances. After becoming a doctor, Maria spent much time with children and perfected methods to teach them. This is one of the Focus on Women Series that highlights the determination, success, and failures of Indira Ghandi, Margaret Mead, Carol Burnett, Dorothy Day, Billie Jean King, and Rose Kennedy. Attractive format.

In this realistic portrayal of life among the Caribbean buccaneers in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the line distinction is made between privateering and piracy. We also get a glimpse of political corruption. The "Brotherhood" included two women, as well as Captain Kidd, Jean Lafitte, Henry Morgan, and Edward Teach.

Additional Biography Books

Biography

Daugherty, James H. Daniel Boone. Viking Press, 1939. 11-15

Douglass, Frederick. Life and Times of Frederick Douglass. Edited by Barbara Ritchie. Thomas Y. Crowell, 1966. 12-16

Lawrence, Jacob. Harriet and the Promised Land. Simon & Schuster, 1968 6 10

Sterling, Dorothy. Captain of the Planter. Doubleday, 1958. 8-12

Aeronautics and Space

Outstanding color photographs and a minimum of explanatory text make this a good choice for space-minded readers. Three sections of information—classes of old airplanes, their restoration, and their enjoyment—provide a framework for viewing the topic of antique and classic airplanes.

A chronicle of the events in the United States space program is highlighted by actual photography of the projects. Biographical sketches of the astronauts from Alan Shepherd to Vance Brand are included.

An examination of the “first reusable spacecraft” developed for travel in space, this book is well illustrated with numerous photos and drawings. Speculations for the future are given; a glossary and index are included.

New products that were designed for the space program but that have been adapted for our more practical use are described with simple text and clear photographs.

This is a first book of space exploration for beginning readers. Full-page illustrations and photographs of the planet Mars taken by the Mariner and Viking spacecrafts, many in color, are explained simply and clearly.
Mohr, Peter B  The Golden Knights. Childrens Press. 1977. 8 12

The Golden Knights, a United States Army parachute team, open the air show and excitement builds as Leverett unfastens his seat belt to jump. What goes on in a jump school and how these performers are chosen are clearly explained. Glossy colored photographs add to the information. Other titles in the series include  The Silver Eagles (helicopters),  The Thunderbirds (aerial demonstration team), and  The Blue Angels (naval demonstration squadron).

A history of airplanes and their pilots is chronicled from the first attempts at flight to the World War II aces. Information on related topics such as blimps, air races, air circuses, and passenger service is included. The black and white drawings capture the excitement and thrill of flying.

Spectacular photographs highlight this look at the Apollo 17's journey to the moon. Names and details of the flight are given only in the credits at the end of the book. The easy text is personalized so that young readers can gain a beginning understanding of space flight.

From making the reservations to coming in for a landing, a jet journey is explained in detail. Photos, drawings, and diagrams explain how baggage is loaded, what keeps an airplane aloft, and what happens when the sound barrier is broken. Other books in this series include  Super Machines,  Television Magic, and  Space Frontier.

Animal Kingdom

Animal Behaviors

New Zealand's remote sheep raising country is the setting for six excellent true animal stories. The accounts, written in the first person, concern an outcast duckling nurtured back to health by a cat, a handsome kea bird who seems to enjoy being mischievous puppies, possums, paradise ducks, and hedgehogs. Accompanied by six beautiful color plates.

Excellent information presented in a lighthearted manner by Old Crinkleroot, who “can hear a fox turn in the forest and spot a mole hill on a mountain.” Soft brown and black drawings are clear, attractive, and informative.

Simple, clear language describes the various societies such as a kettle of hawks, a swarm of bees, a school of fish, and others. Black and green illustrations. A worthwhile supplementary science book.

This exciting book describes how animals learn other than by instinct. Imitation, trial and error, and exploring are a few examples. Black and white illustrations.

One rarely gets to see an okapi cleaning dust from one eye with its long tongue! Small children will delight in learning how birds and animals satisfy the basic need for cleanliness and comfort. Simple, clear text and unusual, fascinating photographs.

Mythical animals contained in bestiaries of long ago are compared with today’s real insects and animals. Habits of some creatures commonly found in backyards are so fascinating that they resemble the fabled rocs and phoenixes. A handsomely illustrated, intriguing book.

Color and black and white close-up photographs of eighteen tiny “monsters” are fascinating. Beside each photo of bats, fish, spiders, and caterpillars, an easily read text tells actual size, food, habitat, and survival techniques of the creature pictured.

Suggestions on how to follow sounds in the forest by day and night are clearly explained. The more familiar sounds are identified in the text and in the soft, sensitive illustrations. Flying squirrels, raccoons, owls, and beavers are but a few of the animals described.

Tongues are handy devices for people, but even handier for animals who use their tongues to eat, groom, cool, and even heal their bodies. Humorous lines of poetry and three-color illustrations introduce many animals, along with some information on the wonders of their tongues.

This early concept book encourages the young to carefully observe, discover, and compare numbers of legs of people, animals, and insects that walk, hop, run, and jump. Especially appealing and informative are the illustrations, which match the brief text.

This introduces the subject of ethology, the study of the way animals behave in their natural environments. Clear and simple phrases describe how animals see, touch, and smell differently from humans. References included are scientific, literary, and philosophical. The book makes readers realize what a small part of the universe they are.

Merrill, Margaret W. Skeletons That Fit. Illus. Pamela Carroll. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. 1978. 8–12

Beautiful illustrations and clear text blend together to make this a very special informational book about vertebrates. Explanation is given why the skeletal structure helps each animal to adapt to its environment. A vertebrate chronology, glossary, bibliography, and index are appended.

Rinard, Judith E. Creatures of the Night. National Geographic Society. 1977. 6–9.

Nocturnal animals and their after-dark activities are explained and shown in full-color photographs. Teacher's guide is available.

Animals fight for territory, mates, and rank, but seldom injure each other seriously because they follow clear-cut rules of combat and surrender. The fast-paced text includes a lucid explanation of the survival-of-the-fittest theory. Beautifully illustrated with black and white drawings.

When Ben Franklin found ants in the molasses pot, his lively mind devised an experiment to show that one of them could deliver a message to the rest. This and other experiments with the "hidden messages" of insects are described for very young scientists in this well-illustrated, easy-to-read book.

Animal Defenses

The author stresses that some animals are poisonous and sometimes deadly, but emphasizes that they use their poison to defend themselves. The animals are classified by the means through which they dispense their poison, such as stingers, teeth, and fangs. Precise line drawings.

Staying alive is an animal's first concern. Weapons needed to do this include quills, sprays, teeth, claws, horns, poisons, and stingers. The electric eel shocks its enemies. Simple, straightforward writing and large print make this a valuable supplementary science book. Excellent photographs and index.

Selected animals are discussed and the special sounds they make at night are explained. This short book contains photographs of each animal in its natural setting.

Animal Habitats

Shiny little green lizards, intriguing horned toads, frogs, garden snakes, and turtles are a few of the pets for which a terrarium home can be made. Directions are given for plants, soils, rocks, and water to create the proper habitat for each animal. Many excellent photographs.

One can never tell to whom a burrow belongs because after being abandoned by one occupant, another one comes along and a new cycle is begun. Vivid description of a burrow's design and building along with fine sketch-pencil illustrations showing cut-away views add to the reader's interest.

The guessing game format of this informative picture book will appeal to the young reader. Text and striking photographs bring natural history clues close to the child for careful observation and include information on the ostrich, python, bullfrog, monarch butterfly, penguin, and turtle eggs. Index.

The Pribilof Islands are in the middle of the Bering Sea off the coast of Alaska. Millions of fur seals and seabirds come in the spring to mate and rear their young. The lovely, sensitive black and white illustrations capture the island's world.

The construction and function of fifteen animal homes are described, including termites, spiders, frogs, crabs, ants, chimpanzees, and others. Each home is amazing and just right for the species. Two-color illustrations.

What happens when related animals in a wild community compete for food and space? A study of garter snakes, warblers, minnows, and rodents answers the question. This easy-to-read book offers a deeper understanding of the ecology of animals in various communities. Detailed wash drawings, glossary, suggested readings, and index.

The unusual ecosystem of animals and plants that live under rocks is explored. The author describes where to look and what one will find in these hidden worlds. Excellent black and white photographs illustrate the text.

Birds

Amon, Aline. Roadrunners and Other Cuckoos. Illus. by author Athenium, 1978. 8-12

The cuckoo is named for the sound it makes. Other members of this unusual species of birds are the South American hoatzin and the roadrunner. The different and sometimes odd characteristics of the cuckoo family are discussed in detail. Black and white drawings of each bird are included.

Five different empty nests are pictured in the beginning: Who will care for babies who are about to hatch? Brief chapters, written with easy-to-understand yet scientifically accurate text, describe contrasting species of birds’ care of their young. Drawings are beautiful and meticulous. Indexed.

The author gives fascinating descriptions of several unusual and remarkable birds. The illustrations accurately depict these peculiar birds. Included are the puffin, the California condor, and the bowerbird.

A summer in the life of a pair of swans is described for beginning readers. The illustrations reflect careful observation and make the text vivid.

The story of the growth of a chicken from fertilized embryo to hatching is told simply for young readers. The graphic black and white photographs are carefully integrated with the clear, concise text.

Comparing birds to airplanes and using what scientists have discovered through high-speed photography, the author presents fascinating facts on how birds fly. Elegant pencil drawings show the majesty of birds in flight.

In simple text the author describes the different kinds of feathers that birds have, how they change them, and how feathers grow. Colorful detailed drawings illustrate the basic information.
Sciences

This book is packed with information that is easily comprehended and answers the questions many children have about birds: kind, size, eating habits, migration, and more. Numerous handsome duotone drawings.

The life of a young whooping crane is interestingly portrayed from the time of the parent birds' care of the egg in Wood Buffalo Park, Canada, until maturity a year later, including the dangerous cross-continental seasonal migrations. Scientists' care protects this endangered species. Beautiful drawings in black and white.

This attractive book on birds will be a welcome addition to the classroom because of its simple language and clear, accurately labeled diagrams. The functions of bones, muscles, and feathers and their part in the flight process are explained.

The clearly written text presents interesting and precise information about birds. Many beautifully exact and well-labeled drawings convey information about how birds fly, build nests, and migrate. Difficult concepts are presented in a way that makes them accessible to young readers. A useful glossary and index are included.

A life cycle description of the domestic fowl is supported by distinctive color photographs. Background narrative includes environmental and feeding information, mating, and egg-laying habits.

A very complete explanation about the life and habits of a unique bird, the tern. The photographs give a graphic history of the tern from birth to maturity.

Illustrated with many excellent black and white photographs of Canada geese in flight or on the ground, this book provides much factual information about the life and habits of the geese. Migration, mating habits, rearing of goslings, and danger from hunters are discussed.

Rich language and a profusion of exquisite photographs present the history and life of the egret, that lovely white bird that dwells with cattle and whose strange migratory habits have baffled ornithologists. A great amount of information is conveyed with artistry.

Smuttynose Island is a gull breeding ground off the New England coast. Through words and black and white photographs, the reader spends one breeding season with gulls, learning their survival threats and responses and other general information about gulls.

The cormorant, a fascinating bird, is presented through interesting bits of information including history, ecological niche, courtship and breeding rituals, diving ability, and use by fishermen. Clear, action-filled black and white photographs supplement the text.

This story of a brood of Eastern wild turkeys through the first three years of their life is informational and readable. Illustrated with detailed black and white pencil drawings.

This small book uses black and white photographs of exceptional quality and composition to capture the life of a flamingo from the making (picted) to birth and several weeks after. The sparse text is packed with information.

Domesticated Animals

Packed with information on buying, stabling, feeding, grooming, and caring for the horse, this book is a boon to prospective horse owners. Well illustrated with photographs. A glossary is included.

This collection of easy-to-read factual stories presents descriptions of the evolution of the modern horse. Ponies, mustangs, and donkeys are included. A fine introduction to other horse stories by Marguerite Henry. Includes index and bibliography.

Lavine, Sigmund A. Wonders of Camels. Dodd, Mead, 1979. 10-12

In spite of their evil reputation, camels have long been useful to people, particularly in the Middle Eastern countries. This book using black and white photographs and old prints, covers the facts and folklore of camels.

Delightful and informative, this volume tells how the donkey has been useful to humans, and discusses wild donkeys and donkeys as pets and show animals. Illustrated with photographs, old prints, and drawings.

The goat was one of the earliest animals to be domesticated. In addition to being a social animal, goats have been of great use to humans. They supply milk, cheese, fine wool, meat, skins, and in some countries have been trained to work. Excellent supplementary book with photographs.

Hippologists, students of the horse, tell us it is impossible to define a pony accurately. To be classified as a purebred, all of the pony’s ancestors must be of the same breed and registered. Interesting facts illustrated with photographs.

Outstanding silhouettes of horses are so superb that they nearly overshadow the history and description of various breeds. The book gives information on uses of horses and literary allusions. A browsing book for some; an informative text for others. No index.

New opinions and images of the goat emerge with the reading of this book. The history, characteristics, habits, and usefulness of goats are discussed. Six popular breeds are explored and illustrated with black and white photographs.

"How does a brown cow eat green grass and give white milk?" This question and many others are answered in this informative book. The many uses of cattle are explained and their value throughout many countries emphasized. Covers breeding, raising, dairying, and even discusses rodeos. Photographs, sketches, and index.

This brief informative guide answers the questions involved with having a horse for a pet. Different breeds are discussed along with the history, feeding, and care of horses. Also included are tips on how to ride. Black and white pictures, glossary, index.

Fish

The characteristics of many strange, frightening sea creatures, such as the Saber-Toothed Viperfish and the Deadly Stonefish, are described. Combined here is accurate information written in verse, blended with delightful action-filled drawings. Read aloud to find out about real, not mythical, monsters.

The sea horse, like the catfish and dogfish, is really a fish. Yet it has a horse's head, chameleon's eyes, kangaroo's pouch, monkey's tail, and armadillo's armor! Here is fascinating information on varieties of sea horses, their history, behavior, and suitability as pets. The text is well illustrated with photographs and drawings.

Superior text and paintings show the dramatic life of a female octopus as she obtains her food, escapes from the moray eel with one arm bitten off, accepts the exciting attentions of her mate, and cares for her multitude of eggs until, dying, she sees them hatch.

A vivid picture of the life cycle of the sand shark is provided in picture book format. Biological information is reinforced by dramatic color illustrations. The fierce existence of the predator is emphasized.

Description and photographs, some close up and enlarged, provide life cycle information on a trout from egg to maturity. Excellent for science unit.

An overall view of the many varieties of freshwater fish—including characteristics, location and migration, feeding habits, coloration, and the effects of pollution—is provided by this informative book. Final chapters deal with creating a native aquarium and with the future. Profusely illustrated with black and white photos. Index.

A short introductory text describes the life cycle of this small freshwater fish. Enlarged color photographs portray each step in the cycle. They show the translucent egg, the embryo developing, the male caring for the nest, and the newly hatched young.

The tiny hydra can replace its own worn-out cells or whole body parts. The photomicrograph illustrations in this book show hydras in almost every stage of development.

Frogs

The Hyla crucifer is a tiny frog that sings for its mate in early spring, jumps with incredible lightness, and titillates observers with amphibian antics. The life cycle of Hyla is described, and a how-to section on peepers as pets is included. Beautiful gray and white drawings.

A frog spends part of its life in the water and part on the land. A bullfrog captures insects with its special flip-out tongue. These facts and more make this a good source for an animal study unit or science investigation. Diagrams and photographs.

Uncommon photographs tell the life story of the common frog. Full-page color photographs are accompanied by one sentence of text in attractively simple print. At the beginning is a brief information section. Beauty is combined with the scientific accuracy appropriate to nature study.

Insects

By observing the praying mantis she keeps for a pet, the author is able to describe the interesting characteristics of this unusual insect. Information is also given on how to take care of a mantis. Black and white drawings.

Jason encounters bees in his backyard tree and in the hives of Mr. Weiss, a neighbor and beekeeper. Sister Elsie nearly ruins Jason's new interest. Authentic information about bees is presented in story form. Well-illustrated.

Clear black and white photographs illustrate the physical characteristics, habits, and natural environments of various kinds of ants. The author, an entomologist, describes many fascinating features of these insects and discusses their place in the balance of nature.

The master teller of life cycle stories makes the dragonfly’s life a fascinating tale. McClung uses no anthropomorphism or cuteness; he tells a straightforward story that teems with the life and death escapades of a true nature story. Handsomely illustrated in black and white sketches.

What goes on inside a hive of honeybees is clearly portrayed by exceptionally beautiful close-up photographs. The introductory text supplies background information on the habits of the honeybee. Young children who cannot read will be able to obtain meaning from the pictures.

Stages of the life cycle of a butterfly are clearly shown with color photographs. The introduction supplies background information for those who can read, while nonreaders can learn easily from the pictures.

Dragonflies are some of the oldest insects in the world. This unique book of photographs and brief text shows this species' physical characteristics and habitat.

Susan and Tom visit their uncle and learn all about honeybees. The book, which includes a great deal of information about the life cycle of the bee, as well as the business of collecting honey, is profusely illustrated with black and white photos and drawings.

Lower Animals

A clear and simple book describing the characteristics and habits of the earthworm is filled with interesting facts. Large black and white photographs illustrate the text. Includes some experiments.

Black and white photographs highlight this concise discussion of these fascinating sea creatures. Both harmful and useful specimens are examined, as are the life stages and habits of jellyfish. Index, glossary, and annotated bibliography are appended.

Characteristics of a variety of snails and slugs, snails without shells, and their many uses are explained. Supplementary science book. Photographs, sketches.

An easy-to-read book that gives a great deal of information about snails in a straightforward and interesting fashion. A life-cycle story.

The reader will find enjoyment in this very informative book. The characteristics and functions of the jellyfish are described in text and in appealing black and colored washes. Emphasis is placed on the types to avoid.
Monkeys and Apes

This informational book describes the behavior, physical appearance, identifying characteristics, and natural habitat of thirty-two species of monkeys. The table of contents classifies them into four groups: Pre-Monkeys, New World Monkeys, Old World Monkeys, and Apes. Illustrations in color and black and white.

A well-researched study of the great ape of the Far East. Chapters alternate between fiction and nonfiction. The fiction chapters recount the day-to-day activities of a mother orangutan and her offspring. The nonfiction chapters trace the orangutan from early history and myths to the present. Bibliography and index.

The stories of the research of three women primatologists working with chimpanzees, gorillas, and orangutans in their natural habitats: Jane Goodall in Tanzania, Dian Fossey in Rwanda, and Birute Galdikas in Borneo. Some biographical material is included. Bibliography and index.

This readable, well-organized, accurate look at the gorilla may change the reader's view of this animal. The physical characteristics and habits are described while photographs depict the gorilla in the wild and in captivity as a shy, gentle creature.

Here is an introduction to the life and characteristics of central African gorillas. Illustrations blend with text, informing the young reader about the importance of protecting this fierce-looking, yet gentle and rather shy primate. An easy-to-read index is included.

As Baby Chimp grows to be Big Chimp, he has basic life experiences that parallel those of human children. There is family care and affection as well as sibling jealousy. Authentic information on chimpanzees is given in text for beginning readers and in the many attractive drawings.

Nim, the chimp, cooperates with an extensive research project and proves his ability to communicate using a 125-word vocabulary. Born in 1973, he is pictured in his infancy, first with his family and then as a student. Easy text and photographs combine for a fascinating book for the young.

This easy-to-read book describes the characteristics of the Japanese macaque or snow monkey who lives farther north than other species of monkeys. Information and research for this appealing informational book were obtained from the Jigokudani center in the Japanese Alps. Bibliography and index included.

This documentation of the Asian gibbon living in its natural treetop environment is informative and interesting. The black and white photographs that blend with brief text give the young reader a close-up view of this wooly-haired aerialist.

An average day in the life of Goblin, a young African chimpanzee, is described. The primatologists, those who study the chimpanzee, continue to be interested in Goblin since his birth in 1964. Feeding, playing, wandering, and nesting are clearly described in words and photographs. Picture map included. Excellent informational book.

A companion book to Goblin, A Wild Chimpanzee, this book is based on observations made in Gombe National Park in Tanzania. The aging Leakey is not the leader of the chimpanzee community, but sets an example as community protector. The story covers the years 1968-70 when Leakey dies. Enlightening photographs.

Pets

This easy-to-read book includes a brief history of remarkable feats dogs have been trained to do. Outstanding is the story of Silver, a collie who becomes blind, and Sascha, a dachshund who is trained. to be Silver’s guide dog. Black and white illustrations. Index and bibliography included.

Granny Twinkle has free kittens and lots of information about the history, lore, breeds, and proper care of cats. The soft color pencil illustrations of various historic periods add to the visual delight. Good with units on pets and their care.

Sarah’s Easter present is Buttercup, a white rabbit, who soon has seven bunnies of her own. Sarah’s friends each get bunnies and the reader learns about the care and habits of pet rabbits. Large full-color photographs are fresh and appealing.

Instructions on handling six common pets. The text is well written with detailed drawings showing exact positions of the handler and the pet. A worthwhile book for pet owners.

Fox, a noted authority on animal behavior, discusses the ways in which dogs use body language to communicate to humans. A clear question-and-answer format with many black and white photographs provides valuable information for young dog owners.

Whitepaws is a coydog, the offspring of a dog and a coyote. Throughout his puppy months, his wild instincts often emerge. Finally, his child owners must decide what is best for their pet: domesticity or the freedom of a wild animal. Written by an authority on animal behavior.

A thorough discussion of dogs including a brief history, explanation about purebreds and mongrels, information on well-known types representing the six official categories of dogs, and how to select, care for, and show a dog. Profusely illustrated with beautiful black and white photographs. Index.

The owner’s Shetland sheepdog is pregnant when she is brought home from the animal shelter. Photographs are taken of the birth of the litter and the first eight weeks of puppyhood. The appealing pictures help tell the story of the dog's care and the training of her puppies.

Kittens rescued from a sack in a stream introduce Mindy, a female cat. This book is an extremely well-illustrated plea on behalf of abandoned animals and the importance of spaying. Excellent introduction to the responsibility of caring for pets.

Hunting dogs, working dogs, dogs for the blind, and 101 breeds recognized by the American Kennel Club are discussed, with the special qualities of each mentioned. This informative, attractive book includes photographs.

This easy-to-read book instructs the young dog owner on how to train a pet to sit, come and be housebroken. Humorous, instructive illustrations blend with text in emphasizing the use of gentleness, praise, and love in caring for a pet.

In a black and white photo essay, brief captions relate the characteristics, folklore, and charm of cats. Exemplifying the outstanding photos and book design are two pictures placed side by side showing the remarkable changes in the pupils of cats' eyes, which account for their excellent vision. A browsing book that informs.

The authors emphasize that making a dog what you want it to be is based on an understanding of the dog's personality, its feelings, and its reactions. Black and white illustrations. List of related free materials.

This pet care book covers the more common pets with advice on selection, care, and housing. Information is included on insects (how to establish an ant colony and construct insect cages), birds, small mammals, water animals, amphibians, and reptiles. Photographs.

After the birth of Cassy's kittens, black and white photographs are taken daily for the first three weeks, and then frequently after that to show the kittens' growth and change. The animals are caught in delightful kittenish acts.

Informative text and excellent black and white photographs present useful and interesting materials about cats. Not only is this a compendium on the care of cats, it is also a study of the cat in history, literature, psychology, and art. One of a series of the same authors' books about animals.

Gerbils, natives of Mongolia and imports to be used as research animals, make wonderful pets. Information is extensive and includes mating and care of these tiny animals. Black and white photographs. A fine guidance book for pet care.

The mother dog's behavior prior to the birth of her litter and the care required after their birth begin the book. Additional information tells the owner how to choose and care for a new puppy, its early training, required shots and other pet care tips. Soft charcoal illustrations.

Reptiles

Bare, Colleen Stanley. The Durable Desert Tortoise. Photographs by author. Dodd, Mead 1979. 6-9.

At dawn the male tortoise leaves his shelter to seek food before the summer air becomes too warm. The physical characteristics and habits of tortoises are described in the text and complemented with clear photos. Possible extinction is discussed. A valuable addition for the science curriculum. Index.

Observations of early settlers are responsible for the many false notions concerning the habits and behavior of the alligator. Conservationists are determined to protect this useful but endangered species that has survived since the great age of reptiles.

Thus introduction to the study of snakes includes thirty-nine species that are identified by habitat, habits, and the like. Of particular note are the outstanding photographs, many of which are unusual action shots. Bibliography and index are appended.

McClung, Robert M. Snakes: Their Place in the Sun. Garrard Publishing, 1979. 8–12.

A black racer snake suns itself after a chilly May night, then glides silently, hunting for food, to the meadow. Short chapters tell about the habitats and lives of common snakes. Profusely illustrated with photographs and drawings in both color and black and white. Excellent information resource. Indexed.

Factual stories about crocodiles, cobras, sea turtles, lizards, and eight other common reptiles. Colorful full-page illustrations and small drawings, accurate in detail, extend the concepts. An introductory chapter, index, and pronunciation guide make this volume an excellent science resource. One of a series including Album of Sharks and Album of Whales.

A Chinese legend tells the story of a giant Pa Snake that was large enough to eat an elephant. The anaconda can grow to be the length of a school bus, and that is not a legend. The anaconda, four types of pythons, and the boa constrictor are discussed. Excellent sketches.

Seals and Whales

In simple language the life cycle, habits, and unique features of the elephant seal are interestingly presented. Nearly extinct by 1889 because they were discovered to be a source of oil, they have made a remarkable comeback. Photographs and sketches.

The miracle of grace and intelligence evident in the gigantic seaborn mammals known as blue whales is depicted through life-like paintings and a well-written text. Other whales, penguins, and sea creatures integral to the lives of blue whales are included. End papers are vivid paintings of whales of the world.

Interesting facts about whales are written in an easy-to-read style. The muted blue illustrations add to the brief text. A good book for early science investigations.

This detailed information book describing the characteristics and habits of the whale has clearly labeled illustrations that assist and clarify the text. Need for the whale's survival is emphasized. Illustrations encourage the beginning reader to observe and classify these mammals.

The yearly visitation of elephant seals to Ano Nuevo Island in the Pacific Ocean is described in simple language for the young reader. The experiences of a male pup are described from birth until he is able to care for himself. An easy-to-read book.

This book helps to dispel myths about killer whales and describes their life in the open sea and in captivity. The clearly written text presents fascinating information about one of the largest and most intelligent animals in the world.

The birth of a humpback whale, one of nature's largest animals, is told simply. The brilliant monoprints help convey the motion and feeling of the sea environment.

Spiders

This beginning reader's book describing the shamrock spider and how it spins a web almost every day of its life is very informative. Delicate line drawings enhance the text.

Detailed photographs demonstrate how the garden spider and the net-throwing spider spin their webs and catch their prey. Background information is given at the beginning of the book. The beautiful step-by-step photographs are captioned.

Fascinating and unusual facts about spiders encourage the reader to appreciate them more. Basic information is presented in simple, authentic text, illustrated with superbly detailed drawings of many kinds of spiders and their body parts. Index.
Wild Animals

An interesting and informational account of a she-grizzly and her cub in the Montana uplands is given. The ordinary search for food, the mating season, her new cub, and the constant encounters with her enemies make this an exciting and worthwhile book.

This book, done in narrative style and black and white photos, follows the complete life cycle of an engaging ground squirrel from the end of hibernation through mating and the new generation.

Wolves are described in a well-written, interesting text that bespeaks the author as a caring person. A strong argument is given against having wolves as pets or keeping them in captivity. Accompanied by outstanding black and white photographs, this is a book with sensitive impact.

Hyenas are shown to be well-organized animals whose daily routines and food-gathering techniques serve well their needs in the Serengeti Plains of east Africa. Large photographs show hyenas from nursing babyhood through predatory adult activities as the clan goes through the day from morning to preparation for evening rest.

A coyote finds a mate. Together they hunt, escape danger, and make preparations for the family they will raise together. The text and illustrations create a clear positive image of this beautiful, misunderstood creature.

Follow a skunk for twenty-four hours and have adventures and harrowing escapes that would leave a human exhausted, but are all in a day's work for the skunk. Large, realistic ink drawings in black and white vividly and accurately portray skunks and other woodland creatures.

Chui's two leopard cubs, Kali and Pesi, are born in the Nairobi Game Park in Kenya. Their playful day-to-day antics are described as they grow to maturity. One lesson they soon learn is the survival of the fittest in their predatory environment. Black pen sketches.

The ponies who live on Assateague and Chincoteague have been there for several hundred years. No one is certain of their origins. Their home is protected as public land and here scientists observe their living habits and their effect on the environment. A useful addition for an ecology unit.

Young readers will meet many kinds of bears in this interesting, easy-to-read collection. Victor wrestled, Queenie danced, Teddy sang, and Grizzly Jack loved honey. Three other comic and entertaining stories are included. Informative introduction, index, and bibliography; black and white illustrations.

From birth in a hollow stump through her long life, Mattie is an adventurous hedgehog. Her relationship with humans is most interesting. Although hedgehogs are native to Europe, Asia, and Africa, but not the United States, this informative book will be enjoyed by all students.

Fascinating and scientific facts about the problems and pleasures of having an elephant as a pet include such items as the elephant's ability to bring in firewood. This Far-Fetched Pets series includes Your Pet Beaver and Your Pet Bear. The humor is delightful; the illustrations are loaded with fun. (Picture book)

An informational story of a mother otter's care and concern for her three cubs during their first year is complete with coverage of the otters' homes, food, protective measures, and pleasures. A valuable supplementary science book with meaningful brown and green illustrations.

Facts combine with setting to create an involving description of the life cycle of a giraffe. Black and white etchings contribute to the total work. A strong addition to the study of science or social studies in middle grades.

Teddy of Quantas Airlines is probably the best-known koala. The author describes the habits of these native Australian animals and the conservation efforts by that country to preserve this species of marsupials.

Lavine, Sigmund A. Wonders of Marsupials. Dodd, Mead, 1978. 8–12.
This informative book, which discusses some of the 248 species of marsupials, is divided into the various types: herbivorous, arboreal, phalangus, and carnivorous. Concern for the animals’ survival in the future is expressed since they supply fur, leather, and pet food. Clearly presented with accompanying photographs. Index.

Lavine, Sigmund A. Wonders of Mice. Dodd, Mead, 1980. 10–up.
Zoologists have identified hundreds of species of mice. Rodents make up over half the living species of mammals. No matter which group they comprise—house, field, hunter, or climbing—they are fascinating creatures. The mouse lore section is especially interesting. Many photos and sketches.

Early Rocky Mountain explorers reported bighorns as plentiful as buffalo. Now fewer than 15,000 remain. Using both text and dozens of black and white photos, the reader learns about the bighorns’ habits, enemies, and hazards to survival. Useful with ecology units.

The habits of elephants are explored as the reader follows the life and training of a baby African elephant. Soft black and white sketches supplement the text. Good read-aloud book.

The first two years in Little Lion’s life are described in detail in the surroundings of his close-knit family. His mother’s training, the search for food, his playtime, and encounters with other animals are depicted in gray-shaded drawings. An easy-to-read book.

Here is the amazing life of a koala bear in Australia, from birth, when, as a fly-sized pink speck, it smells its way to its mother’s pouch, to the time of its independence more than a year later. Beautifully written and illustrated.

Unusually detailed close-up photographs and objective information on the house mouse combine science and art. Included are photographs of newborn mice, mating mice, habitat, eating habits. Descriptive material develops the relationship with humans without overemphasizing destruction and human antagonism.

This remarkable book depicts the wild rabbit with many outstanding colored photographs of the natural surroundings and the various developmental stages. Enjoyable at many levels of reading.

Details of the panda’s life cycle include facts of feeding, mating, and rearing of the young. Geographic and historic highlights are included

A detailed report of a year in the life of a female kangaroo provides insight into special characteristics of the eastern gray kangaroo and of the other creatures and plants in its life community.

Outstanding color photographs highlight this look at the African elephant and follow one herd’s daily trek through the tropical forest and grassland as the giant animals search for food and water. Glossary, further readings, and appendix are included.

A beautiful book that tells the story of the tiny key deer of Florida. The photographs are so clear, vivid, and lifelike that the reader almost feels a part of the deer's environment. Discusses the threatened survival of this species.

Here is a detailed chronicle of a year in the life of a red squirrel. Reaching maturity, this busy chickaree passes through winter days, mates when spring arrives, and brings up two sets of babies. Illustrations assist in describing the complex lives of these familiar animals.

Here is a well-written book about the proud lions of the Serengeti National Park in Africa. The authors give an accurate description of the lion's family life, hunting habits, and daily routine. Fine photographs show the lions at work and play.

Porcupines are lucky to have protective quills, to be able to climb easily, run swiftly, float and swim, eat a variety of plants, and find cozy dwellings. Beautiful, accurate drawings.

Sir Harry Johnston, an Englishman of many talents, discovered the okapi about 75 years ago, probably the last-found mammal. The reader shares in investigative techniques natural scientists use for proper identification, making class, order, family, genera, and species more understandable. Black and white sketches.

A beautifully written text combines with powerful black and white photographs to tell the story of the wild horses of Assateague Island. The book explore the history of this band and the life cycle of the horses, and introduces some of the problems involved in protecting the Chincoteague ponies today.

Prairie dogs are accomplished diggers, engineers, and homemakers and are found only in North America. This content-rich book examines their society, enemies, characteristics, and history along with the ecosystem in which they precariously exist. Black and white photographs.

Mice have a reputation for sneaking about, but most people have some sympathy for them. They appear in literature from Mother Goose to the Pied Piper of Hamelin. Should we get rid of them? Would this destroy the balance in nature? This book examines the habits, characteristics, and history of mice.

Various members of the squirrel family are briefly described and pictured in clear black and white photographs. Woodchucks, prairie dogs, marmots, and ground and tree squirrels are included. Traits of the species are given, such as color, size, range, and diet.

Jumbo, the name of an elephant in this book, is familiar to us because it means “big.” Other stories include all kinds of elephants, circus elephants, work elephants, wild elephants, and royal elephants. The introduction provides background and recent research findings. This easy-to-read book includes index and bibliography.

The Young

Six species of wild animal babies are sketched from infancy to independence. The large, softly colored drawings are authentic in every detail, showing habitats and stages of growth, and are accompanied by stories about how the mothers care for their babies. Excellent for science lessons.

Unusual and interesting facts about different baby mammals are presented for the young science reader. Information is included on how they are born, fed, and protected, and how they play and learn. Simple text encourages further nature investigation of mammals.

What newborns can do while less than one hour old is astounding! With fascinating text and black and white drawings and photographs, birth is documented from the time of egg fertilization in fish to hatching, live births of kittens, dolphins, and horses are also shown. Difficult words are written phonetically.

Animals carry their young in many different ways. Some of the less common are included in this book. Black and white photos and the text explain how and for how long young animals are carried. Pictures invite lingering and looking.

Five brief chapters describe the maturation process of a young moose. The reader learns what it eats, how it coexists with other animals, how it defends itself, and how it physically matures. One of the See and Read Nature Story series, the illustrations add much.

This story observes the early experiences of a baby porcupine from birth to learning to protect himself from enemies. Pen and ink illustrations are amusing and informative. A nature story, simply and sympathetically told; a good read-aloud book.

Detailed information about the eggs of mammals, reptiles, birds, amphibians, insects, and lower forms of animals is given, including their production, fertilization, and development. Black and white sketches and diagrams highlight the facts.

The first three days of a newborn foal, a Welsh Mountain pony, are described in simple text and appealing black and white photographs. The foal lies in the soft grass and soon learns to stand on wobbly legs. Illustrations convey the wonder of birth and the mother’s loving care for her young.

Gentle, full-page watercolor illustrations make the reader actually feel present as the mare Daisy gives birth to her foal. Joy and tenderness come into the pictures when Daisy licks her baby, nuzzles it to stand, and nurses it. Daisy is cared for by a young girl. A valuable life-concept book.

A scientist studies two sea otters, Garbo and her pup Bo, living in the cold Pacific Ocean. Illustrations clarify the simple informative text. The reader can see how the mother sea otter cares for and teaches her baby to become independent. An easy-to-read book.

Factual information about the care of orphaned wild baby animals and birds is given by a veterinarian. He also includes how to tell if human care is needed and explains government regulations and special precautions. Illustrated with many superb photographs.

Zoos

A crocodile with a broken jaw and an appealingly ugly baby rhino are among the zoo babies presented in this volume of the very popular Books for Young Explorers series.

From baby aardvarks through adult spider monkeys, Loretta feeds them, burps them, and changes their diapers in the zoo nursery. Told in diary form, with irresistible black and white photos, this is a hard book to put down.

Black and white and color photographs highlight this overview of zoo activity. Special emphasis is given to obtaining, housing, breeding, feeding, and caring for a wide variety of animals, including many who are endangered species. A glossary is included.

In addition to the residents of the zoo, the author looks at the operations and problems of zoos. Carefully researched information and exceptional photographs of outstanding zoos in the world complete this interesting book. Plans for the zoos of tomorrow are discussed.

Astronomy

This up-to-date overview of astronomy is written in a style suitable for the young scientist. What is known about the universe is clearly explained; recent discoveries, such as the rings of Uranus, are included. Black and white photographs and charts are helpful. Glossary and index.

The effects of objects in the sky upon Earth and its inhabitants are discussed from both the astrological and the astronomical points of view. Bibliography and index.

Americans see a man in the moon, Japanese see a rabbit, and Scandinavians see Jack and Jill. These and other fascinating facts, weather lore, and suggested experiments are given for the very scientifically gifted student. Black and white line drawings; divided by month and season.

An introduction to space for young children. Earth's place in the universe is expressed in poetic prose enhanced by effective double-page illustrations.

This articulate book on the sun is a valuable addition to the home or classroom. Beginning with sharp warnings on optical care in viewing the sun, the book continues with myths and historical opinions on the sun's makeup. Contemporary facts are also examined. Excellent photographs and drawings; glossary, and index.

Black and white drawings illustrate the many interesting facts about the stars, constellations, moon, and the zodiac. Instructions are given for projects about the night sky, such as how to find the constellations, how to make a simple astrolabe, and others. A Brown Paper School Book.

The question-and-answer format includes a great deal of information about space and our study of it. Planets, stars, and galaxies within the universe are explained and illustrated in full color. Appendices include a list of famous astronomers, names of the constellations, glossary, and index.

Knight, David C. Galaxies: Islands in Space. William Morrow. 1979. 10–12

An introduction to our galaxy, the Milky Way, this book is well illustrated with photographs and diagrams. It also discusses other galaxies their evolution and phenomena. Includes glossary and index.

The planets are accurately described in a language the young child can understand. Curiosity is stimulated by the colorful illustrations and the double-page spread that presents the star patterns. An excellent informational book.

An awesome look into space, starting with our nearest neighbor, the moon, progressing past the planets, through our galaxy, and ending up with galaxies so far away that they are barely visible through the most powerful telescopes. Interest is further stimulated by stunning black and white photographs, and a simple, straightforward text that at times achieves a poetic quality.

Beginning observers are told how to look at the stars and how to understand what they see. The difference between astrology and astronomy is explained. A chapter is given to the explanation and use of the telescope. Information for further reading and research is included. Clear diagrams complement the text. Index.

What is on the moon? Are there any creatures living there? Is there any water? In the twentieth century there are answers to some of these questions. The easy-to-read text and easy-to-understand explanations will be enjoyed by many at home or at school. Clear photographs.

Zim, Herbert S. The New Moon. William Morrow. 1980. 6-9

Specimens brought to earth from moon voyages, photographs, and powerful telescopes provide information about the earth's only natural satellite. Structural features of minerals found there are examined and explained; comparisons of earth and lunar features are made. Diagrams and photographs.

Conservation and Ecology

Brown, Joseph E. Oil Spills: Danger in the Sea. Dodd, Mead, 1978 10 up

Oil spills are shown to present a dangerous problem affecting life on our planet, the reader learns how oil is used, transported, and spilled.
what oil spills do, how to stop them, and alternatives for future energy supplies. Illustrated with many photographs. Glossary and index.

A flock of whooping cranes was started when sandhill cranes adopted five whooping crane eggs. Four years later the flock has grown to seventy-four birds. Sea otters have been taken off the endangered species list. The people, strategies, and laws that made these and other ecological success stories possible are described in lively detail, accompanied by appealing black and white photographs and engravings.

Readers spend the summer of 1977 on the Back Bay of a southern California seaside marshland, with father and son Jack and Mike Couffer. Unparalleled photographs bring alive the narratives about birds, plants, and animals, as well as the efforts of naturalists and nature lovers to preserve the endangered wildlife environment.

This provocative, fact-filled book makes children aware and prepares them for the critical decisions they will face concerning conservation. A helpful index is supplied. Simple, clear illustrations show how electricity is generated. Basic information for a unit on electricity.

Harley and Joan learn that in the deceptive quiet of the forest lives a fascinating variety of animals, birds, reptiles, insects, and plants. Beautiful color photographs of sights rarely seen so closely expertly extend the teachings of the text.

The causes of floods are discussed: how they can be prevented and how they are forecast. The reader is given five basic rules to follow in case of a flash flood. Illustrated with photographs and diagrams.

A lively and lucid account of our machine age’s noisy assault on our ears, our brains, and even our personalities. A concluding chapter provides young citizens with practical suggestions for saying no to noise.

The forest environment, with all its elements, is discussed and analyzed in a question-and-answer format. Black and white photographs and drawings illustrate the diverse topics. The section devoted to projects to do in the forest is clear and sufficiently detailed. Students, teachers, and resource persons will find this a useful tool.

Causes of polluted air and water and possible solutions for pollution problems are examined. Appendices include a glossary, lists of organizations and governmental agencies concerned with environmental problems and policies, a bibliography of suggested further readings, and an index.

While the information presented about endangered species is brief, beautiful cheetahs, marmosets, sea otters, and other species are represented in very handsome photographs.

This basic-science picture book introduces the natural world to the reader. A huge Douglas fir tree crashes to the ground and the process of decay is explained. Its value to the biological community is clearly depicted in text and excellent black and white drawings.

According to this book, forest fires aren't always bad. Some fires cause new seedlings to sprout, or clear the forest floor. Rangers and ecologists are learning more about this natural force and how it maintains the balance of forests. Excellent in an ecology unit.

A grim tale of the loss of species due to humans' assault on the environment. Included is the poignant story of Ishi, the last Yana Indian, illustrating the difference between a culture that lived in harmony with the earth and one that killed off bison, beavers, and passenger pigeons with little regard for the ultimate consequences.

An overview of the main problems that wild animals face in our world today is discussed, including animal habitats, deadly substances in the environment, and the killing and sale of wildlife for commercial purposes. Excellent color photographs highlight the text. A classroom activities folder contains ditto masters, games, puzzles, and fact sheets.

Loud, unwanted sound is noise. Nine activities/experiments help students learn more about noise, its effects, and what can be done about noise pollution. With well-captioned black and white photographs, a serious problem is dealt with in an understandable manner. Contains glossary and index.

Five wordless stories are connected by simple objects. The plots deal with the exciting and violent life within the environment. The latter part of the book contains textual explanations of the stories. The format is unique and most interesting. Excellent for discussion; pen and ink drawings.

Worldwide efforts to preserve endangered wildlife are discussed. The author describes species that have been rescued from extinction throughout the world and brings into sharp focus the interrelatedness of economics, food, changes in habitat, and breeding. For the good reader with special interests.

Earth Science

Fourteen different types of rocks are described with anecdotes in this book that encourages young people to become rockhounds. Rules are included for safety and observing privacy, as well as practical suggestions for learning more about rocks. Packed with information and illustrated with pen and ink drawings.

Plate tectonics, a new theory, explains the wonders of our changing world. Twelve giant plates comprise the entire surface of the earth. The moving of these plates is responsible for earthquakes and volcanoes. Clear drawings illustrate the text. Index included.

This introduction to coal begins with a simple explanation of the Formation and evolution of America’s most plentiful source of energy and continues with a close look at the mining industry. Safety and ecological concerns are discussed and the present and future uses of coal are explored. Index and glossary are appended.

Photographs and drawings highlight this introductory look at geology. Land features of each part of the country are explored; coastlines, lowlands, highlands, and valleys are discussed, followed by information on islands, caves and caverns, glaciers, and deserts. Index and maps aid the reader.

Wetlands are formed when water is unable to drain off lowlands. The three forms—bogs, marshes, and swamps—differ greatly in appearance, plants, and animals. A map of the United States indicates these areas. Interesting, informative drawings complement the easy-to-read text. List of wetlands and index included.

Jungle Girl sinks slowly as Jungle Boy carefully explains scientific facts about the quicksand into which she has fallen. He gives an illustrated lecture on ways to avoid quicksand and how to get out of it. Popular illusions are dispelled as Jungle Girl goes down, until the surprise ending. Colorfully illustrated.

Like others in the Let’s Read and Find Out series, this book presents a concept in picture book format. Simple text and clear illustrations provide a good introduction to the formation, past uses, and distinguishing characteristics of caves.

Water, the most common element on earth, regulates our lives and controls our environment. Simple explanations of the unique properties of water and experiments to study its molecular action enable readers to understand the basic scientific laws of our natural world.

Interesting, introductory information needed to begin a rock collection is written in a clear, concise manner. Facts about the identification of rocks, cleaning, and necessary equipment are given. A table of rocks and minerals is most helpful. Includes bibliography, index,
Lye, Keith Our Planet the Earth. Lerner Publications, 1980 7-10

A tightly packed, yet appealing format answers many questions about the earth, including theories on its origin, its physical features, and its resources. Full-color illustrations, a glossary, and index provide further information.

McCall, Christie Wonders of Dust. Illus by author Dodd, Mead, 1980.

Everywhere one goes there is dust. It comes from many sources, volcanoes, the soil, pollen, and even the sea send out dust particles. It presents a major concern in many areas of the country, especially for ecologists. Many meaningful photographs and sketches. Index.

A youngster takes an imaginary trip through the center of the earth and learns about its internal structure. This informative and interesting text is matched with colorful illustrations. An excellent beginning science book for the young reader.

The tragedy at Tangshan and the Great San Francisco Quake are recounted at the beginning of the book. The causes and effects of earthquakes are examined. Earthquake predicting is discussed, with the need for disaster planning stressed. Glossary appended.

This carefully researched information-packed book reviews some of the world's worst earthquakes and discusses their causes, ways to predict them, and what to do when one occurs. Black and white photographs, maps, charts, and drawings add graphic detail. A three-page glossary is appended.

Earthquakes' causes and effects make interesting reading for young science buffs. The author gives instructions on what to do if an earthquake occurs and many details of how scientists are measuring and tracking them.

Various kinds of glaciers are described and related to geographic areas. Included are valley, tidewater, retreating, piedmont, and outlet... glaciers. The changes brought about by glaciers are described in text and with informative drawings and photographs. Background information on the ice ages is given and predictions for the future set forth.

The novice rockhound will find helpful information in this book that explains the formation of rocks and minerals and describes their location, characteristics, and identification. Procedures for polishing and cutting minerals are also given.

This is an understandable and interesting discussion about earthquakes, how and why they occur, where they are most likely to happen, and how to stay safe when an earthquake hits. Informative photographs, graphs, and index are included. Text contributes to dispelling fears of quakes by sorting legends from scientific facts.

Many colored pictures help the young reader to interpret the simple text written in an easy-to-read style. Active and dormant volcanoes are described, listed, and the locations given. Maps are provided and new words are included. A First Fact Book.

Energy

Sixteen projects dealing with the sun and its potential uses for energy await the young experimenter. Good information and diagrams.

Today's oil problem is focused upon in this book from the How Did We Find Out series. The physical composition of oil, its development, and its importance throughout history are explained in an understandable style. Speculations are offered on oil's role in the future. Black and white drawings.

Humans need to learn how to make better use of the vast amount of solar energy available. Five brief chapters of easily understood text tell what the sun can do, how to catch and use its energy, and some interesting classroom projects. Simple, attractive illustrations clarify the content. Indexed.

Branley, Franklyn M. Feast or Famine? The Energy Future. Illus. Henry

This seventy-six-page book is filled with information on solar, hydrogen, and nuclear energy alternatives for transportation, houses, and electricity. It is useful for challenging academically gifted children.
Black and white photographs and diagrams; list of further readings.

Brown, Joseph E., and Anne Ensign Brown. *Harness the Wind: The Story

Windmills have been called symbols of sanity, and this book traces the windmill’s role in history through photographs and anecdotes ( Did you know the Dutch gave them clothing and names?) Rising costs and finite quantities of fossil fuels now make this perfect ecological device worth a second look. Good for reports.

Extensive photographs and drawings highlight this comprehensive coverage of the historic use of wind to pump water, generate electricity, sail ships, and grind grain. Free, nonpolluting, and available, windpower is regaining importance as a major source of energy after many years of disfavor. Bibliography, index, and sources of further information are appended.

12-up.

Uses and explanations concerning lasers make up this book. The ideas for laser, Light Amplification by Simulated Emission of Radiation, were developed during the 1950s, with the first operating model built in 1960. Highly technical information for interested and scienttically aware readers.

An extremely readable book about using the earth’s heat energy to heat buildings and make electricity. A series of simple experiments clearly illustrates the scientific principles governing volcanoes, hot springs, fumeroles, and geysers.

10-up.

Explanations are given of laser beams, a special kind of light used in large and small tasks for common and uncommon purposes.
Experiments are outlined, and descriptions and definitions are given for this newly discovered energy tool. Easy-to-understand examples.
Engineering

For the student interested in lasers, this book provides an extremely well-illustrated introduction and explanation. Some simple experiments are given. Index

Facts about historic bridges and landmarks from around the world are given. The unique illustrations, which are line drawings traced from photographs and then colored, add interest to the text.

This book makes the whole history of bridges and bridge construction exciting reading. Bridges from ancient times to the present are discussed. Pen and ink drawings of famous bridges of the world give the book an artistic feeling.

The author traces developments in the electronics field that have led to production of the microelectronic chip. He describes how new technology has made possible minicomputers, digital wristwatches, calculators, and many other devices. For the mature science reader.

Many questions concerning the building of earthfill and masonry dams will be answered after reading this book. Types of dams and equipment are thoroughly explained. The design and construction of the dam are stressed rather than its function. Many illustrations clarify and extend the text.

In this introduction to computers, how they work, and their role in modern life, emphasis is given to the people who operate them. Easy-to-read style, clear explanation of terms, sufficient detail, and almost computer-like print combine to make this an enticing book.

Cutaway drawings and narration describe the immense complex of wire, pipes, and foundations under a large modern city. methods and materials for subways, sewers, and telephone and power systems are described. Step-by-step procedure is shown. Excellent for social studies or art integration.

For anyone interested in robots, past, present, and future, this handsomely illustrated volume is a gold mine of information. The history and origins of robots are given; robots at work and robots in literature, art, and entertainment are explored. Construction of robots and their future uses are considered. Excellent introduction to the subject.

Metcalf, Thomas H Robots A-Z. Julian Messner, 1980  7 10

This well-illustrated examination of the past, present, and future of robots is intended for younger readers. Famous mechanical creations of the past are introduced. Index

Olney, Ross R  They Said It Couldn't Be Done. E. P. Dutton, 1979  12 up

Each of the ten chapters highlights a separate accomplishment of engineering believed to have been impossible. The lives and the works of those responsible for the Brooklyn Bridge, the Holland Tunnel, Mt. Rushmore, and seven other feats are described. Photographs illustrate this book designed for mature readers.

Weiss, Harvey  How to Be an Inventor. Illus by author. Thomas Y Crowell, 1980. 10 up Practical advice is given on how to invent something from the first vague glimmer of an idea until a patent is sought and awarded. The author uses examples of his own cleverness to illustrate his points. Excellent black and white photographs, drawings, and humorous sketches.

Experiments

The first book of experiments stresses using food to understand basic principles, while this one uses the principles to learn about food. Interesting experiments are written in an understandable style with listings of materials and equipment. Includes cottage cheese, cola, and pudding. Black and white illustrations.

Science can be fun as shown by these sixty impossible tricks that are based on scientific principles. The reader who tries these tricks is bound to have a good time. Excellent book with carefully drawn illustrations to simplify some of the tricks.

The book explains how to do science experiments using materials found within the home. The photographs are clear and the step-by-step procedures are easy to follow. A young science buff would find it a helpful reference.

This handbook provides an introduction to journals, observations, and record keeping. It includes simple projects to discover and record mini-climates, effects of light on plants, and activities of animals in their habitat. Simple illustrations and texts.

General Nature Concepts

The study of one-celled plants and animals, called microbes, is interestingly introduced in understandable terms. Excellent, detailed illustrations assist scientific explanation. Suggested experiments are clear and concise. A great resource for independent or small group study.

Berenstain, Stan, and Jan Berenstain. The Berenstain Bears' Science Fair. Random House, 1977. All ages.

Actual Factual Bear provides simply worded scientific generalizations as Papa Bear introduces his family to the concepts of machines, matter, and energy. Practical examples apply to basic things in the lives of modern children. Colorful cartoon-style drawings present a good-humored approach to knowledge. Fine motivation for a classroom science fair.

Evocative essays, invoking each month in turn, present the all-encompassing view of the golden circle of the year. Exquisite full-color paintings give the close-up view of the small unique plants associated with each calendar change.

Fascinating bits of information about all aspects of time make this book interesting reading. Nearly every piece of information is reinforced by an intriguing activity that involves the child, either through.
imaginative thinking or acting. Topics range from railroad time to jet lag. A Brown Paper School Book with humorous drawings and diagrams.

A young child speculates on how the world began after gazing at the beauties of nature. Many puzzling answers are offered by an old man, a woman, an Indian, and a young boy. An artistic arrangement of text and illustrations. A discussion starter for science and appreciation of nature.

Humans are included in this interesting discussion of the great variations in life spans of animals, birds, and insects. New research on cellular regeneration sheds light on aging factors and ways to extend life. There are many unusual photographs in this unique contribution to science studies.

Goeffstein, M. B. Natural History. Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 1979 3-5.

"Low trees hold fruit and vegetables lie warmly in the dirt or hide on vines." "Every living creature is our brother and our sister." The young reader or listener is gently reminded to celebrate and appreciate the joys of nature in simple text and clear, appealing watercolors.

Using black and white micrographs, which are photographs taken through the scanning electron microscope, the authors show us familiar objects in new and unusual ways. Internal structures of the peppercorn, magnified sixty times, and chalk, magnified 16,000 times, are but two of thirty-one items revealing previously unknown beauty. Filled with fascinating facts and photographs.

Children who marvel at the wonder of a firefly enjoy learning more about bioluminescence. In this readable book a variety of plants and animals that make their own light are described. Detailed information on collecting fireflies for scientific laboratories is included.

In each of the brief chapters a human invention is described, followed by an explanation of how plants and animals had the innovation first. The content is interesting and each example is clearly developed. Includes inventions such as electricity, flight, jet propulsion, chemical warfare, and crop cultivation.

Did you know that a newborn fawn has no scent at all? That the fierce crocodile lets a tiny bird pick its sharp teeth for food? That the black panther is really a black leopard and has yellow spotted babies? Here are many of nature’s wonders, accurately portrayed in glowing colors and interesting text. Picture book format.

The relationship between life and death is highlighted; the dependence of one upon the other is clearly described. Questions are raised. How does the death of a plant or animal affect others of its kind? Striking photographs complement the text. Glossary, index, supplementary reading list included.

The femme fatale firefly lures males of other species to their death by mimicking their special mating signals. The bolas spider captures her prey by tossing out an adhesive line. These luring and trapping creatures are described in clear and fascinating detail, along with the Venus’s-flytrap, angler fish, and ant lion. Includes glossary, excellent diagrams and photographs.

Maybe you think that you are the longest sleeper in the world, but it isn’t so. One tiny dormouse observed in England slept for six months and twenty-three days. Twenty-five other plants and animals that have unusual characteristics are described. Large colored illustrations.

Some scientists do not believe in biorhythms, but this attractive book offers the findings of research concerning “time sense.” Clear examples observable in animals, plants, and humans are explained. Children will enjoy making their own biorhythm charts. Attractive illustrations, bibliography, and index are included.

Human Growth

Emotional

Children of different races and sexes engage in a limited exploration of themselves and things around them. They use words such as mine.
yours, and ours to introduce the concepts of owning and sharing in a good-natured manner.

A series of black and white photographs with one accompanying word to describe the emotion on the face. This is an introduction to the names of very familiar feelings and a good discussion-starter.

Growing up is puzzling and children need help in sorting out their feelings about themselves and others. The everyday situations presented in this book offer ways to help children adjust in a complex world. Sensitive photographs extend the text. Discussion-starter.

These are actual paragraphs written by children about their fears and frightening experiences, humorously and effectively illustrated with ink drawings. Readers will gain in self-acceptance and take comfort in knowing other people have fears. Excellent for discussion of feelings.

Intended for the older youngster who is prematurely confronted with problems posed by death of a family member, the book is a helpful supplement for a child receiving personal counseling. Particularly valuable to the adult helping a child cope with loss are the bibliographies and lists of service organizations.

Many questions frequently asked by children concerning death are answered in simple, honest, and understandable language. Why people die, afterlife, burial, and grief are all brought together as a part of the chain of life. Exceptional sensitive photographs.

The physical and emotional aspects of death and dying are explored. The general American attitude toward death is compared with those of other cultures. Related controversial subjects of abortion, suicide, and euthanasia are considered forthrightly. References are made to how death is handled in great literature. Selected bibliography included.

An old woman tells her granddaughter about the good and bad things of being old. The rhymed verse is realistic and tender and is eloquently complemented by the illustrations. A good read-aloud book.

A fascinating account of how the memory works is combined with information and exercises designed to improve the reader's memory. For mature readers.

Friendship is looked at from a variety of perspectives: how to make friends, how to be a friend, how to quarrel, and how to learn to look at yourself. A self-help book for children.

These humorous expressions of pet peeves and commonly encountered fears will help young children discover that negative feelings need not threaten their basic well-being, and that life isn't always bad. Colorful illustrations.

Physical

Photographs tell the story of Pablo from his birth until he walks. The spare narration works well describing the new life surrounded by his loving family. Excellent to use as follow-up to the how-babies-are-born books.

As exciting as a mystery is this account of how scientists worked together to solve the riddle of the strange disease that struck the Legionnaires in Philadelphia in 1976. The work of bacteriologists, toxicologists, and virologists is clearly presented, as is the complexity of the task that faced them.

This uniquely illustrated book answers common questions about health and explains some of the many mysteries of the human body, including its ability to heal itself. It entertains as it educates children about their bodies.

Explicit and detailed drawings and text provide a knowledge of the body's muscle structure. The various kinds of important muscles and their relationships to bones are discussed. Emphasis of this science book is on how to use and exercise these body parts.

This introduction to skin, its properties and functions, provides interesting information about this vital part of the body. Hair, nails, warts, and moles are discussed, with suggestions for first aid and skin care. Photographs and drawings expand the coverage; glossary and index add to its usefulness.

In an effective style and an attractive format this small book informs the young inquisitive child about bones and joints. "If you didn't have any bones, you would flop around like spaghetti." Attractive collage pictures.

By following two children from birth until their third birthdays, the authors explain the steps all children go through as they explore their world, become mobile, and learn to communicate. Written with both children and adult readers in mind, the book succeeds in conveying much information without talking down.

A fresh approach to the recognition of the parts of the body, the senses, and the functions of each. Rhymed text and pencil sketches enhance this book as it highlights the uniqueness of the individual. An excellent book for both parents and teachers.

Full-page photographs of a small girl's feet, showing left and right, walking, running, jumping, and even tripping! The obvious joy of what feet can do is cleverly depicted. (Picture book)

The various skills that young children are capable of accomplishing.
Human Growth/Physical

with their hands are simply and attractively illustrated. Hands can button buttons and zip zippers. They can do good, they can hurt, and they can show others how we feel.

This photodocumentary follows a young boy to the emergency room where he must get stitches in his cut knee. Medical terms and procedures are clearly explained as the nurse and doctor tell Eric exactly what they are doing. The book is a successful attempt to acquaint children with hospital procedures.

A graphic account of the search for a safe and effective anesthetic, and of the unseemly struggle among four men—two dentists, a doctor, and a scientist—to receive credit for the discovery of ether. The descriptions of pre-anesthetic operations will make readers thankful that they are living in the twentieth century.

This overview discusses such topics as various types of cancer, possible causes and cures, advances in research, and cancer prevention.

An overview of genetics from Mendel to recombinant DNA and on into a future of both terrifying and fascinating possibilities is presented. Will genetic engineering unleash a deadly virus on the world? Or will it eliminate diseases like Tay-Sachs and hemophilia, or even make it possible for humans to grow replacement arms and legs? Clear presentation of an exciting subject.

The symptoms of diabetes are discussed along with its history, diagnosis, and treatment. Implications for the future of current research are explained in an intelligent and sensible style.

What you eat turns into you. Tracing food from the time it enters the mouth, this sixty-one-page book is surprisingly thorough in discussions of digestion, food groups, nutrients, and calories. Black and white and pink line drawings illustrate well the simple, easy experiments. An excellent resource for nutrition education.

The young scientist is introduced to new inventions in medicine to be used as replacement body parts. The working functions of the kidneys, eyes, ears, heart, arms, legs, and several other replacement machines are explained in detail. Some very unusual possibilities open to modern science today are explored.

A conversational text addressed to the child and numerous candid black and white photographs of children, teenagers, and adults discovering themselves and others in an atmosphere of love and responsibility set this book apart from the usual sex education texts that treat sexual development as a topic. The author frankly and sensitively discusses masturbation, puberty, making love, childbirth, families, and growing old. Certain content and illustrations may be considered too frank by some.

Machines

Adkins, Jan Heavy Equipment. Illus. by author. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1980. 7-10

Careful drawings with just enough detail to be understandable complement the brief informative text. This is a factual book that holds appeal for all children who are interested in the world of machines and construction. Large machines such as excavators, pipe layers, off-road trucks, and cranes are featured. Well designed.

"Never lift what you can drag, never drag what you can roll," advises the author. Clever people look for easier ways that are often simple and direct. Techniques from many workers and craftsmen offer suggestions and advice. Tools and procedures for lifting are presented in clear black and white illustrations.

Machines, from zippers and coffeepots to nuclear reactors and solar heaters are described in detail with suitable diagrams, a note on the history of each one, an explanation of the scientific principle that makes it operate, and frequently a reference to its effect on the environment or its possible future development. Not an easy book.
but one that provides much-needed information for various science and social studies units.

Gibbons, Gail. Clocks and How They Go. Thomas Y. Crowell, 1979. 6-9

Everyone tiFes clocks. Curiosity about what makes them tick is pleasantly satisfied b' the simple explanation... and precise, brightly colored illustrations of this book. Basic types of clocks, ancient and modern, are discussed. Interesting to all ages; a good read-aloud book for younger children. Picture book format.

A picturesque accounting of lock and key devices is traced from the early ones used by the Egyptians to modern combination locks used on safes. Accurate drawings accompany the text.

A hat-tipping machine and a hair-cutting device are among the intriguing inventions from the files of the U.S. Patent Office. Illustrations are adaptations of the original drawings. A multiple-choice quiz format challenges the reader, who then turns the page for a detailed explanation of each invention.

Mathematics

This book simply and clearly explains the Roman numeral system. An amusing Roman stonecutter carefully clarifies this text. The young student is eased into learning the principles of Roman numerals by the use of coins, paper, cardboard, scissors, and a pencil. One of a series of Young Math Books.

Clear, lucid descriptions are given of computing devices ranging from fingers and an abacus to modern calculators. Historical background and practical examples lend interest to this subject. For students who like to experiment with numbers, and for teachers and parents who want to expand modes of using numbers and mathematics.

A light approach and lively illustrations in halftones and color add interest to this different math book. Dividing is certainly not formidable when choices are available on how to use remainders. Encourages estimating and common sense with examples from everyday life.

In Normal City, Jill is running a campaign for Student Council. To prove she is average, therefore representing everyone, she provides everyday examples of mean, median, and mode. Interesting illustrations and examples. Fun to read.

Pictures of groups of rabbits and rhyming lines work together to reinforce the concept of addition in multiplication. The operations are given from one to twelve. Small figures, interesting activities, a worthy addition to a math collection.

This easy-to-read book explores a range of mathematical concepts: counting, shapes, sizes, and various activities are shown in colorful contemporary playground settings.

Clever thumbprint animals illustrate the multiplication tables up to 12 x 12. Once children have the directions in the book explained to them, they enjoy practicing on their own. Colorful, humorous illustrations invite creating new animals in the same style.

Taking chances is part of life. Learning to analyze chances helps individuals make intelligent decisions. In this introduction to probability, attention is given to problems of chance in science, politics, gambling, and everyday life. Diagrams, illustrations, and examples are provided for clarity and interest. Excellent for small group projects.

Short chapters deal with separate ideas and terms of statistics. Characters and problems pertinent to the age group contribute to high interest and readability. Cartoon-like graphs and illustrations illuminate the narrative. A useful classroom addition for math enrichment.

Susan, Ann One Meter Max. Prentice-Hall, 1979 4-7

The Meter, Gram, and Liter families are members of the metric measuring system. Kid Kilogram measures things that are heavy.
Millie Millimeter measures things that are very small. Max Meter measures things that are long or tall. Meeting these families and their members helps clarify the metric system.

Introduces the concept of zero. Example after example is provided to illustrate the many functions of that special number. Lively black and white illustrations and ample margins contribute to an inviting format.

Members of a family always have at least one thing in common. For instance, John’s family lives in apartment B. Basic number families are simply explained, odd and even. times. prime numbers. square and triangular numbers. Questions and answers are included. Animal families and ink blots. precise and whimsical, illustrate the concepts.

Everything takes up space. Everything has volume. The concept of volume is explained with examples and illustrations. Easy-to-try experiments add interest and practical application.

Cartoonlike illustrations, varied printing style, question-and-answer format create an inviting well-paced discussion of an arithmetic puzzle. Everyday life examples of this puzzle, a finite arithmetic system, are given. Teachers can use these examples in learning stations and classroom activities. Youngsters can experiment independently with the ideas.

In an African marketplace people from various tribes indicate numbers with their fingers. The book is a fascinating melding of mathematics, culture and language. Handsome pencil drawings give a strong sense of setting.

Meteorology

Beer, Kathleen Costello. What Happens in the Spring. National Geographic Society, 1977. 5-8

Springtime becomes more meaningful than ever before as the reader peruses these expertly produced photographs of plants, animals.
birds, and insects in their vernal phases. Colors and details, magnified at times, are bright and clear. The text gives interesting information in a way that is easy for young children to understand.

This collection of thirty rhymes about weather is delightful to read and chant. The black and white illustrations are handsome. An outstanding feature for children's further perusal is the set of notes that indicates the reliability and locale of the weather folklore. A fine blend of humor and weather science.

Hays, James D. Our Changing Climate. Atheneum, 1977 10 12

The author discusses the factors that govern climate and the effects of atmospheric changes on weather conditions. Among the fascinating topics are people's impact on climate and the impact of climatic change on people. Photographs, charts, and diagrams clarify concepts.

Oceanography

Cook, Jan Leslie. The Mysterious Undersea World. National Geographic Society 1980 8 12

Outstanding color photographs of the undersea world are the chief feature of this handsome volume. The text deals with geographic features and ways of exploring the oceans. Attention is given to diving and snorkeling, sunken treasures, and aquariums. A teacher's guide with games and activity sheets is available.

This colorful and informative book about the great ocean frontier discusses technical solutions to the problems of undersea exploration. The illustrations are clear, the book is filled with many exciting concepts. A most useful edition.

The colorful history of this strategic waterway and its important role in the development of trade among Mediterranean civilizations is described in understandable language and pen sketches. The new scientific theory of plate tectonics is considered as a possible reason for the widening of the sea. Classroom use.

In the underwater world sounds are made by rapidly moving currents, avalanches or mountain slides, and by the animals. The croaker... and drumfish create unusual and distinctive noises. Marine catfish sound like stampeding cattle. Modern technology enables humans to listen to the world.

Physics and Chemistry

The author, a science teacher, presents simple experiments that demonstrate the properties of water. The directions are clear and the materials used are easily found in a classroom. A section on the relevance or application of each property is included following the experiment. Good step-by-step illustrations.

A basic introduction to the world of color is presented very clearly. Included in the aspects of color are light waves and energy, the color spectrum, the physiology of the eye, current theories, and the psychology of color. Many drawings and colored illustrations simplify the text.

Although this looks like an easy reader, its message is to older children, who may find the format too young. Nevertheless, it is a book well worth introducing, especially to precocious children who always want to know whether space is curved or straight, or whether they will be going backward or forward in time if they travel to the sun.

This comprehensive guide to the scientific study of motion contains clear explanations and many experiments that children can perform to study the phenomenon. Speed records are discussed, as are methods of motion in people, animals, and machinery.

Smith, Norman F. If It Shines, Clangs & Bends, It's Metal. Illus. Tom Huffman. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1980. 7-10

Many useful and decorative objects made of metal surround us daily. Silver, copper, aluminum, and iron are indispensable to us. Without these metals we would live as cave dwellers. The origins and properties are described in clear text and illustrations. Simple experiments are included. Excellent for classroom use.
Plants

The giant redwood trees of California and Oregon are described in an easily-read text with excellent pictures and diagrams. Concepts are developed by using comparisons with objects familiar to children. Commercial use and conservation are discussed.

Cactus plants usually live where little water is available. Long thin roots or short fat roots seek and hold water. Other adaptations of stems and leaves help retain life in harsh conditions. Drawings and diagrams in color and black and white.

A rare combination of historic, scientific, and visual information about sixty common U.S. wildflowers. The flowers and their parts are introduced. Scientific and common names are carefully traced with suggested methods for recalling common names. Illustrations are accurate, meticulously detailed, and in four fifths actual size.

A lovely book that describes the history and other background information of each state flower. The flower illustrations are precise and at the same time artistic. The book gives charm and excitement to a subject often neglected.

Henbane, lovage, parsley, rue, thyme, betony, monkshood, hyssop the history and uses of these and dozens of other herbs are chronicled here. This is a book to be treasured for its fascinating information about medicine, magic, poison, dyestuffs, flavorings, and air fresheners of bygone ages, and also for its truly beautiful full-color illustrations.

The tree, a most wonderful and useful plant, is presented in an exciting and dramatic way. Simple sentences make this a valuable tool for beginning readers. Colorful illustrations, bright and bold, encourage close observation of trees. A delight for all.

For a few weeks in the early spring the forest floor is alive with the blossoms of wildflowers. The sun-loving plants bloom while the sun’s light can still penetrate the canopy of leaves above. Detailed illustrations and life cycle descriptions.

Between the forest and the field there is a narrow strip that is the forest edge. In this strip live more plants and animals than can live in either full shade or full sun. Details, illustrations, and descriptions clarify this significant environmental concept. Excellent for an ecology unit.

A resource book filled with funny and interesting facts about unusual plants, including those that give off light and those that walk. Illustrations are small but plentiful and assist text descriptions. Table of contents is an added bonus. A Step-Up-Book.

The dandelion is a most successful plant. From its strong tap root to its composite flower it has developed means to survive and spread. Handsomely illustrated with color and black and white detailed photographs, this well-written life cycle book is a worthwhile addition for plant study.

Welch, Martha McKeen. Sunflower! Dodd, Mead. 1980. 7-10.

The sunflower and its life cycle are described in easily-read text and bold black and white photographs. Good for classroom science work.

Here is affirmation of the charm and usefulness of the dandelion, one of nature’s beauties that a child appreciates on sight. Interesting information, including some dandelion games. Delightful text and photographs.

Prehistoric Life

Mammoths, huge beasts like elephants, lived thousands of years ago. Their relics and pictures painted on cave walls show how they lived. Engaging illustrations depict these extinct animals as they were.

This is a story of a fifty-foot-long prehistoric crocodile mother caring for and protecting her nest of eggs. When the young are newly hatched, she defends them from attacks by bird-eating dinosaurs and Tyrannosaurus Rex. Illustrations dramatize the interesting and imaginative account of this reptile's past.

Known facts about dinosaurs are presented and many conflicting theories related to their existence and disappearance are discussed. Black and white sketches aid description and explanation.

One of four books in a series that studies prehistoric land, sea, and air reptiles and why they became extinct. Vivid physical descriptions, food gathering habits, and how scientists learn from fossilized remains are discussed. Colorful illustrations and pronunciation guides are included in each book. Other titles are Flying Dragons, Sea Monsters, and Last of the Dinosaurs.

A series of questions about different dinosaurs and what happened to them are asked. The authors suggest answers to the mysteries and provide other interesting facts based on scientific research. A pronunciation guide for the dinosaur names is included.

Starfish, horseshoe crabs, and cockroaches can be called living fossils because they are creatures who survived with little change from the time of dinosaurs. Time charts from 400 million years to 65 million years ago show when the creatures described lived. Characteristics that helped their survival are discussed. Black and white photographs.

Although parts of the text may be difficult for some readers, the colorful illustrations and question-and-answer format of this volume will appeal to most children. A short dictionary of prehistoric terms, a glossary of dinosaurs, a gazetteer of dinosaur localities, and an index are most useful.

An easy-to-read general description of dinosaurs precedes the discussion of eighteen specific reptiles in the dinosaur family tree. Pronunciations, charts, and simplified drawings make this a very interesting book for young enthusiasts. Several theories concerning the disappearance of the giant animals are presented.

This excellent informational book shows how archaeologists work and how readers can work in the same manner and evaluate their findings. Fascinating stories about the Dead Sea Scrolls and Black Death are included. Many appropriate pictures, maps, and diagrams in sepia tone illustrate the content. Addresses for materials and glossary appended.

This book is not a typical treatment of dinosaurs. Instead, it investigates the problems people face in searching for dinosaur remains and then exhibiting them. It restates the theories of the Age of Dinosaurs and then permits readers to draw their own conclusions. Some very old myths are exploded.

The rise and development of mammals following the age of the giant reptiles is traced in an easy-to-read manner. The three eras, Paleozoic, Mesozoic, and Cenozoic, can readily be followed on the helpful chart at the beginning of the book. Black and white illustrations.

A brief, informative introduction discusses the environment in which the dinosaurs lived. Each type of dinosaur is alphabetically arranged with a description and a black and white illustration. The meaning of its name, its type, and the period in which it thrived is given. Valuable for the classroom.

Information about prehistoric sea beasts is presented with clarity and style. Facts are meaningfully related to known things in youngsters’ present-day life. Absorbing illustrations include full-color paintings, photographs of fossils, meticulous ink drawings, and a simple, attractive chart. Read aloud or use for research. Picture book format.

The bones of the biggest meat-eating animal that ever lived on earth were excavated in Montana around 1900. This is a fascinating account of that project, and of the exciting, painstaking reassembling of the Tyrannosaurus Rex skeleton at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Photographs, bibliography, and index are included.

Stuart, Gene S Secrets from the Past. National Geographic Society. 1979 10-up Beautiful colored illustrations highlight the text about mysteries of the earth's past. Information is included about pyramids, archaeological digs, Indians, lost cities, treasures from the sea, and other interesting puzzles. A classroom activity packet is attached, containing a poster, games, activities, and dittos for teacher use.

Unexplained Phenomena

Allen, Martha Dickson Real Life Monsters. Prentice-Hall. 1978. All ages

In 1917 a French naturalist announced that all the world's animals had been found. Since then the gorilla, Komodo dragon, and giant squid have been discovered. Accounts of these and the Loch Ness Monster, Big Foot, and the Abominable Snowman are written in a concise and easy reading style. Supplemented with pen sketches.

Theories explaining eleven mysteries, and some puzzling natural phenomena, are presented. Included are the mystery of the stranded whales, the spitting cobra, the South African sea serpent, and other readable accounts. Illustrated with photographs.

Cohen, Daniel Missing! Stories of Strange Disappearances. Dodd, Mead. 1979 10 12

This collection of six famous disappearances is surefire for young mystery fans. Included are the true stories of Dorothy Arnold, Judge Crater, Michael Rockefeller, the crew of the Mari Celeste, the bones of the Peking Man, and the Bermuda Triangle's Flight 19. Various theories and explanations are explored.

Cohen, Daniel Mysteries of the World. Doubleday. 1979 8 12

This book should delight Forteans, those followers of Charles Fort (1874-1932), who love to collect odd bits of information. Ten unexplained happenings such as the Siberian explosion, cattle mutilations, human spontaneous combustion, and others are explained. Black and white photographs and sketches.

This book tells of vampires old and modern, east and west, horrible and more horrible, like Vlad the Impaler, the original Count Dracula. The last chapter provides possible explanations for vampires. Includes some gruesome black and white illustrations; not for the squeamish.

A collection of nine mysterious cases that have been documented but not solved is presented. The author details the facts and offers several suggestions as to what might have occurred, but allows readers to draw their own conclusions.

Although unexplained phenomena have been reported since Old Testament times, only recently have people reported being abducted and questioned by humanoids. Many close encounters of all three kinds are described by responsible people. Ten pages of black and white photographs.

Did you know Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter once lived in a haunted house in Plains, Georgia? This story, along with thirteen other short tales about haunted houses, phantom stallions, deadly bracelets, and other mysterious phenomena, is included. Large print and black and white photographs will invite lingering and imagining.

In a detailed, balanced examination of the Loch Ness Monster legend, evidence both pro and con is given. Sightings are recounted, scientific expeditions and modern technological investigations are described. Many photographs add to the completeness of this well-done survey. Bibliography and index included.

The author explores relationships between ancient myths and modern scientific explanations for such natural phenomena as volcanos, earthquakes, medicine, space, and human relationships to animals. A strong plea is made for ethics in scientific research. Human superiority over computer is firmly stated. Illustrated with photos and diagrams. Index.
Additional Science Books

Andrews, Roy Chapman All about Strange Beasts of the Past Illus Matthew Kalmenoff Random House, 1956 10 14
Asimov, Isaac Building Blocks of the Universe Abelard-Schuman, 1961 12 up
Baylor, Byrd The Desert Is Theirs Illus Peter Parnall Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1975 5-8
Bendick, Jeanne The Shape of the Earth Rand McNally, 1965 8 12.
Bitter, Gary G, and Thomas H Metos Exploring with Metros Julian Messner, 1975 8-up
Branley, Franklyn M Air Is All Around You Illus Robert Galster Thomas Y Crowell, 1962 6-8
Eberle, Irmengarde Bears Live Here Photos Doubleday, 1966 8 11
Elliott, Sarah M Our Dirty Air Julian Messner, 1973 8 up
Froman, Robert Rubber Bands, Baseballs, and Doughnuts Illus Harvey Weiss Thomas Y Crowell, 1972 9-12
George, Jean Craighead The Hole in the Tree E. P. Dutton, 1957 6 8
George, Jean Craighead “Thirteen Moons” Series Thomas Y Crowell, 1967 1970 8 up
Goudy, Alice E Here Come the Lions Illus Garry MacKenzie Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1958 8 12
Henry, Marguerite All about Horses Illus Walter D Osborne Random House, 1967 8-12
Holling, Holling C Minn of the Mississippi Houghton Mifflin, 1951 10 14
Hutchins, Ross E The Travels of Monarch Y Illus Jerome P Connolly Rand McNally, 1966 8 11
Knight, David C Harnessing the Sun William Morrow, 1976 12 up
Reed, W Maxwell The Earth for Sam Rev ed Illus Paul Brandwein Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1960 12 up
Scott, Jack Denton Discovering the American Stork Photos by Ozzie Sweet Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1976 10 14
Selsam, Millicent E Animals as Parents Illus J Kaupmann William Morrow, 1965 12 14
Selsam, Millicent E How Puppies Grow Photos by Esther Bubley Four Winds Press, 1971 5-8
Selsam, Millicent E Play with Seeds Illus Helen Ludwig William Morrow, 1957 8 12
Shuttlesworth, Dorothy Clean Air, Sparkling Water Photos Doubleday, 1968 8 10
Weiss, Ann F Save the Mustangs Julian Messner, 1974 8 up
Zim, Herbert Spencer Dinosaurs Illus James Gordon Irving William Morrow 1954 8 12
Sports and Games

Chess

Written by a chess Grandmaster, the book uses excellent diagrams, black and white photographs, and a pace suitable to making chess understandable. The authors explain how chess pieces are named, how they move and many helpful hints. Includes both boys and girls in the photographs.

Unique in form, this book gives 616 numbered statements that explain the game of chess. The instructions begin at the most basic introductory level and move into an actual game with some thoughtful discussions about the play. The style is interesting with occasional analogies to literature or football.

Eight- to ten-year-olds should have few difficulties with the chapters that identify the chess pieces and explain the basic moves in this step-by-step self-instruction manual. The elaboration on chess openings probably requires explanation by someone conversant with the game.

Cycling

This book is about bicycles: how to recycle them, fix them, and make things with bike parts. Lots of useful information for do-it-yourselfers or young inventors.

It was a revolutionary idea: people could sit on two wheels, not touch the ground, and move! The evolution of bicycles, once called Boneshakers for good reason, is told briefly in large print and using colored sketches. Useful to show how inventions build on previous developments.

Motocross is big business and a popular, fast-growing sport. This book teaches young readers how to ride and race motocross, as well as the importance of maintenance, safety, conditioning, and protective clothing. Black and white photos.

Through the years bicycles have had an effect on road building and fashions. Bicycle shops were often inventors' training grounds. Bicycles old and new are discussed with black and white and color photos and sketches that add to the reader's interest.

While not a complete technical manual, this book gives basic repair and maintenance tips on tires, wheels, pedals and chains, brakes, and derailleurs using a few select tools. Cartoon-style drawings, tongue-in-cheek style writing.

Much needed safety information is given to bicycle riders since statistics show that 30,000 riders are killed annually. Practical guidance includes proper dress, equipment and its functions, maintenance, traffic safety, and local ordinances. Written in an easy-to-read style.

Flying

The excitement of aerobatics, sometimes known as trick flying, is shown in excellent color photographs and a clear text that discusses the history of the sport. The specially designed planes are described as well as the men and women who fly them. Diagrams show some of the popular maneuvers.

The hang glider is described in simple terms, covering its construction and information on flying. Full-color photographs and authentic text make this a useful resource book.

The sport of hang gliding is thoroughly described, including the intricacies of the sport and the thorough, formal training required to participate. The importance of safety is stressed. Clear photographs contribute to the text.

Gymnastics

Originally done by soldiers to develop combative skills, this ancient sport is enjoying new popularity. The book, filled with black and white photographs labeled to match printed instructions, discusses equipment, wearing apparel, and safety rules. Appealing to both sexes, it contains mostly beginner’s stunts, with some intermediate ones. Short bibliography, good index.

An exciting story of ten-year-old Torrence York who is already the best gymnast in New York City. Through the text and excellent photographs, the reader is taken through her daily routine and becomes aware of her ambitions and struggles.

This informative book describes three forms of gymnastics in which girls can compete. Olympic artistic gymnastics, sports acrobatics, and modern rhythmic gymnastics. After a brief history of the sport, the apparatus, program, performance, judging, and scoring are clearly explained. Diagrams and photographs included.

This clearly explains for the beginner the terminology used by the gymnast. Balance beam, floor exercises, high bar, parallel bars, uneven parallel bars, rings, side horse, team gymnastics, trampoline, tumbling, and vaulting. Photographs clarify the text. Index included.

A photo-filled, technically accurate book on a popular subject that stresses grace, precision, and flexibility. The book is divided into sections on floor exercises, balance beam, vaulting, and uneven parallel bars. Contains glossary and sources of additional information. Olga Korbut and Nadia Comaneci are spotlighted.
Gymnastics Basics. Illus. Bill Gow

Photographs by Don Carter. Prentice-Hall, 1979 9 12

This book stresses both the fun and safety aspects of gymnastics, as well as other benefits that include increased concentration, willpower, and physical stamina. Sketches of the movements are interspersed with black and white photos. One-page index included

Hockey

An easy-to-read discussion of the history, rules and playing techniques of ice hockey includes play-by-play descriptions of important games. Information on famous players and the impact of the recent popularity of the game are highlighted by black and white photographs.

Gitler, Ira. Ice Hockey A to Z. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books, 1978 6 up Important hockey information is packed into this book including anecdotes, rules and regulations, and advice to the hockey player. Photographs illustrate the text.

Olney, Ross R. This Game Called Hockey: Great Moments in the World’s Fastest Team Sport. Dodd, Mead, 1978 7 up

Hockey is a fast, hard, exacting team sport. This book presents the players as competitive athletes who love the game, the challenge, and the danger of hockey. Each chapter produces many complicated aspects of an exciting sport that is played throughout the world.

Clear explanations of both offensive and defensive strategy for girls’ field hockey are clarified further by numerous drawings and full-page diagrams. Included also are pointers on equipment, conditioning exercises, drills, an appendix of rules, and a glossary. Particularly helpful are the several tips at the end of each chapter.

Horseback Riding

Kriemanz, Jill A Very Young Rider. Photographs by author Alfred A Knopf, 1977 8 10

Photographs capture both the splendor of the horse show and the wearying routine for horse and rider that must precede a show. The rider is a dedicated young girl and the book expresses both a professional attitude and her youthful exuberance.
Kite Making and Flying

This book covers the basics of forward-seat riding and beginning jumping as well as care of the horse. The conversational style gives the reader the feeling of having a chat with an expert. Black and white photographs are well chosen and convey excellent detail. Diagrams, index and glossary provide other important information.

In simple language and with informative illustrations, the author gives the basic information a beginning rider needs to know about the horse and tack, as well as how to approach, mount, dismount, sit, and ride the various gaits. Glossary is included.

Kite Making and Flying

The excitement, fun, and techniques of kite flying are communicated by a master of kite making, flying, and the ancient sport of kite fighting. The text includes some descriptions of types of kites and their construction. Detailed guidance is given for launching and flying kites with or without wind.

Kautmann, John. Fly it! Illus by author. Doubleday, 1980 8 up

Instructions on how to make and fly kites, boomerangs, helicopters, hang gliders, and hand-launched gliders are simple. Each step is illustrated and detailed with excellent line drawings. The hints and suggestions provided to prevent problems with the different craft projects are invaluable.

Directions are given for making classic kites, space cruisers, and sky monsters. Construction tips, techniques, and a guide to flying are also included. Humorous detailed black and white illustrations enhance the text. Appendices include lists of supply sources and kite organizations.

Good advice for flying kites, kite fighting, and making kites is combined with a short history of kites. Excellent photographs accompany the text.
Skating and Skateboarding

Many outstanding color photographs highlight this comprehensive volume that includes sections on speed and figure skating, ice dancing, ice hockey, and competitive skating. Recent champions are pictured and Olympic and other competition winners are listed. Techniques are shown, including a clear explanation of the International School Figures. Glossary and index are appended.

Beginning with clear instructions for making your own skateboard, the book proceeds to a detailed explanation of various techniques of both simple and advanced riding skills. Safety is stressed throughout, with special emphasis on equipment and approved riding locations.

Hess, Jeff Skateboarding Skills. Illus. Kevin Pederson Creative Education, 1979 8 12

Basic skateboarding positions and safety tips, along with consumer information about selection of skateboard blanks and wheels, are stressed in this short book. Magazines and books to help improve skateboarding techniques are listed. Cartoon-style drawings.

Krementz, Jill A Very Young Skater. Photographs by author. Alfred A. Knopf, 1979 7 10

Katherine Healy is ten and has been skating since she was three. The camera follows her through her demanding, supremely disciplined schedule of skating and ballet classes, regular school, and special performances. A superbly photographed example of the personal determination and family support needed for a young skater to excel.

Enthusiasts caught up in the revitalized sport of roller skating will enjoy the many black and white photographs as well as the clear explanations of techniques, equipment, and trick maneuvers. A list of organizations, stores, and publications specializing in skating is appended.

Skiing

Church, Margaret Beginning Cross-Country Skiing. Photographs by Laszlo Kondor. Children's Press, 1979 8 up

A fine book to help the beginner learn how to ski cross-country.

Liss, Howard Skiing Talk for Beginners. Illus Frank Robbins Julian Messner, 1977 10-up

A dictionary format is used to explain a variety of skiing terms and phrases. Although cross references are used throughout, some prior knowledge of skiing is necessary to understand most of the concepts. Difficult words are broken into syllables but accents are not given. Black and white line drawings.

Specific instructions on moves and procedures for beginning skiers are given. The author also discusses equipment, safety, conditioning, and different kinds of skiing. A complete list of definitions and terms makes this a beneficial book to be used during the learning period.

The designation "A Complete Beginner's Book" fits this book precisely. There is enough, but not too much, information on history, ski design, wearing apparel, and technique. Appendices include ski areas, guidebooks, United States Park Services, and a glossary of ski terminology. Black and white photographs.

Soccer

Clements, David Soccer Tips. Photographs by Gary Nichamin Julian Messner, 1971 8 12

The simple and brief text sets forth the fundamentals of soccer for beginning players. Discussed are such topics as how to control the ball, techniques for passing, and goalkeeping. A glossary of terms and the rules of soccer are included. Photos or drawings illustrate each technique described.

Liss, Howard The Great Game of Soccer. Illus Bruce Curtis G P Putnam's Sons, 1979 8 12

The growing popularity of soccer as an amateur and professional sport is traced, along with its history and famous players. Details of game skills, techniques, and rules are given and illustrated by many action black and white photographs. Glossary and index are provided.

Pollock, Robert Soccer for Juniors Charles Scribner's Sons, 1980 8 up

Here is an excellent introduction to the game of soccer including basic skills, equipment, injuries, diet, and rules. Advanced skills and tactics are described in concise text and illustrated with good action photographs.

Clear text and how-to photographs show player positions and demonstrate how the game of soccer is played. The history, equipment, and basic rules are included in this informational book.

Sullivan, George This Is Pro Soccer. Dodd, Mead, 1979 10 up

Why soccer, one of the oldest sports in the world, has captured so many fans is explained along with background information on how it is played. A glossary, NASI records, and index are provided. Frequent photographs and diagrams help clarify the text.

Tennis

Huss, Sally Moore How to Play Power Tennis with Ease. Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1979 12 up

Addressing persons who play tennis and wish to improve their game, the author, in a casual second-person style, promises immediate and dramatic results. Illustrated with humorous cartoonlike drawings.

This very complete tennis book, including terms, people, rules, and playing tips, has been carefully arranged in an alphabetic format. A great help to young tennis enthusiasts.

Ravelli, Anthony What Is Tennis? Illus by author. Abbeem, 1977 7 up

Tennis is a sport of fast moves and graceful play. This book includes the history of tennis and how to play the game. The illustrations are artistic and helpful.

Volleyball

Lyttle Richard B Basic Volleyball Strategy: An Introduction for Young Players. Illus John Lane. Doubleday, 1979 12 up

Precise instructions on playing techniques for volleyball are described in the text and black and white illustrations. A valuable book for the beginner and the more experienced player.

Sullivan, George Better Volleyball for Girls. Dodd, Mead, 1979 12 up

Text and photographs clearly demonstrate the basic plan of the game and techniques for developing skill. A short history of volleyball and a glossary are included.

A young volleyball team learns the basics of the game. The text describes skills needed for serving, blocking, spiking, and passing. Readable text and good black and white photographs.

Water Sports

This information-packed book explains basic facts about catching sunfish, equipment needed, best time of year, most likely spots, types of bait, and how to clean the sunfish. Nonsexist, a needed book on fishing.

A careful step-by-step introduction to surfing that shows equipment, training, and safety procedures. Clear, full-color photographs make this a most helpful book for any beginner.

Facts about three popular water sports are given in dictionary format. Humorous illustrations add information and each definition is keyed with an easy-to-recognize symbol indicating the particular sport. Other topics in this illustrated dictionary series include gymnastics, ballet, auto racing, tennis, and skating.

Various fishing terms and phrases are discussed in dictionary format. Techniques of the sport as well as equipment and types of fish are discussed. Cross references and numerous illustrations further clarify the text.

Fundamentals of swimming for beginners include instructions for the four basic strokes used in swimming competition and a guide for water safety. Excellent illustrations and photographs clarify and extend the text.

Various Sports and Games

Clear illustrations and detailed explanations are given on the sport of racquetball for beginning players.

The history of vanning as a sport and hobby is explained. Some vans contain genuine woodburning fireplaces, and other facts are included in the discussion of the interior and exterior customizing. This is a book that is sure to be popular and lead to shared reading with other family members. One of a series on “Superwheels and Thrill Sports.” Another book in the series is Motocross Motorcycle Racing.

The first-person narrator, a young enthusiastic sports buff, shares his experiences in learning fundamental rules and techniques. He is a Little League player and gets to meet a baseball hero. The realistic text is supported by exceptional photographs. Appealing for beginners. One of a series that includes books on basketball, fishing, ice skating, swimming, volleyball, soccer, and tennis.

The book outlines the fundamental skills needed to become a reasonably successful lacrosse player. The authors have drawn upon their personal experiences in coaching the game. Emphasis is on the thinking aspect. A solid basic resource.

This is a very thorough introduction to backpacking. It covers everything a beginner needs to know from how to cover blisters to which stove to buy. The photographs are clear and the explanations carefully worded to avoid misinterpretation.
Various Sports and Games

An appealing, informative A to Z encyclopedia about football. Outstanding players, coaches, and teams are included. Rules, equipment, and strategies are clearly described. Illustrated with diagrams, drawings, and photographs.

Racing cars such as Indy-types, formula one sprint, stock, and midget are described, compared, and contrasted. Some historical information is included.

A useful book for both beginning and experienced racquetball players. Included are such items as needed equipment, basic and advanced strokes, game strategies, and rules. Brief biographical sketches of some racquetball champions conclude the text.

Anyone can start running for fun and fitness by following these simple basic directions in text and pictures. Safety and equipment are emphasized. Photographs are in full color. One of the Gemini series that includes books about hang gliding, women's gymnastics, skateboards, motorcycles, bicycles, and water skiing.

The authors give a history of the ancient Oriental martial arts from Kung Fu to Vinjitsu, explaining their development and techniques. The book traces the evolution of unarmed combat in terms of religion, national pride, and modern sport. Many unusual facts and stories are shared with the reader.

History, types of batons, learning to twirl, and having fun with the baton are discussed in this book that has many black and white photos. Very few books are available on this subject.

More frisbees are sold than baseballs, basketballs, and footballs combined. Red Morrison is credited with the frisbee's invention. Spinning, curving, throwing, and catching the plastic disc are explained. in this nicely illustrated book. It also has an index, lists record-holders, and gives the address of the International Frisbee Disc Association.

One of the greatest amateur races, the All-American Soap Box Derby is an exciting event. The history of the derby, from its beginning in 1933 through the 1979 race, is well told with personalized anecdotes. Attention is given to girls who race in the derby.

Frisbee playing requires practice in order to acquire the proper techniques. The history and basics of throwing and catching are given. Readers are urged to invent games. The book is useful for science enrichment as gravitational, frictional, and lifting forces are what make the frisbee work. Cartoon-style drawings.

Both team and individual sports are discussed in this compendium of sports talk. Beginning with a brief history of women's participation in athletics, the authors describe eighteen different sports, giving complete scoring, rules, general and specific information about the players, fields, equipment, vocabulary, clothing, skills, and sources of further information.

Sullivan, George. Better Basketball for Boys. Doubleday, Mead 1980 10 up

The popular game of basketball is explained in depth, starting with the simper aspects of ball handling, footwork, and passing. Photographs and diagrams illustrate the text. One of a series, related books are Better Basketball for Girls, Better Football for Boys, Better Roller Skating for Boys and Girls.

Regulated running can make us feel and look better. Sound advice on footwear, clothing, safety, and running form is given. Short sentences and paragraphs are illustrated with a mixture of black and white photographs and sketches.

After an excellent introduction, the author tells fascinating anecdotes of superstitious behavior by famous athletes in every major sport. Black and white photos.
Sports and Games

Additional Sports and Games Books

Epstein, Sam, and Beryl Epstein The Game of Baseball Illus. Hobe Hays Garrard Publishing. 1965. 10 12

Hano, Arnold. Greatest Giants of Them All G P Putnam's Sons. 1967 10 up

Howard, Elston Catching Illus Robert Osonitsch Viking Press. 1966 12-16

Lindsay, Sally. Figure Skating. Rand McNally, 1963. 11-16

Van Riper, Guernsey, Jr The Game of Basketball Garrard. Straus & Giroux, 1967 8-11
The Arts

Architecture

Vivid and dramatic photographs combine with an informative text to focus attention on gargoyles, those fascinating stone carvings that adorn buildings. The author skillfully uses myth and history to explain the significance and purpose of the carvings. Particularly fascinating is a detailed account of the construction of a gargoyle.

The fine pen drawings and knowledge about architecture make this a treasure of information on medieval life. The thirteenth-century castle rises from page to page along with a nearby town. The details of the castle’s interior are fascinating. 1978 Caldecott Honor Book

The dismantling and moving of the Empire State Building is the focus of this fictional account. There is much humor in the story, but the sketches, diagrams, and textual explanations of the demolition of a skyscraper are accurate. Outstanding illustrations.

Circus

Walt Disney Productions Disney’s World of Adventure Presents the Circus Book. Random House, 1978. 8–16

A W. Disney version, illustrated in color, of Toby Tyler begins this volume that immerses the reader in the realities and delights of the circus environment. Included are interesting articles on P. T. Barnum, the Lipizzaner Stallions, how to be a clown, chimpanzees, and a Mickey Mouse circus adventure story. All drawings and photographs are in color.

Most readers wonder how the big circus tent is set up and how it is dismantled. Circus life in general is explained and the expertise of certain personnel needed for a successful circus is described. Clear photographs and text.

Krementz, Jill. A Very Young Circus Flyer. Photographs by author. Alfred A. Knopf. 1979 10 up

This large appealing book in the A Very Young series features Armando, a nine-year-old aerialist of the Farfan Family. The reader is taken through his daily schedule of work and recreation and is informed of the many skills necessary for his art. Outstanding photographs.

Dance

The exciting relationship of dance to geography, climate, and historical events is clearly and interestingly shown from primitive dances to the hustle. Illustrated with photographs and pen and ink copies of ancient drawings. Excellent for studies of various cultures and history.

Davis, Jesse. Classics of the Royal Ballet. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. 1980 10 up

Stories of six ballets, including Swan Lake, The Nutcracker, and The Sleeping Beauty, are told via brief text and many stunning black and white photographs of the Royal Ballet’s interpretations. A book to be enjoyed by itself or as a splendid introduction to a live performance.

Dell, Catherine. The Magic of Ballet. Rand McNally. 1979 10 up

The fascinating beauty and challenge of classical ballet is presented through its history, technique, training, and the stories of great ballets and ballet companies. The expertise of the text, vividly enhanced by colorful photographs and drawings, make this a helpful book of authentic information for anyone interested in dance.

Odette, the exquisite swan maiden, is betrayed by her princely lover when he is tricked into mistaking the wicked Odile for his beloved. A composite adaptation from several Russian texts, this book is beautifully illustrated with large double-page spreads in misty, shadowy tones of gray and white.

Elliott, Donald. Frogs and the Ballet. Illus Clinton Arrowood Gambit. 1979 8 12

Frogs doing plês, entrechats, pas de deux, and pirouettes? Astonishingly, they are, in this improbable exposition of the five basic ballet positions, plus various steps and attitudes. The splendid illustrations and witty text will amuse and instruct balletomanes of all ages. A book to be shared.

Three best-loved classical fairy tale ballets are retold here and vividly illustrated with pictures by a famed photographer of famous dancers. American Ballet Theatre's productions of Swan Lake and The Sleeping Beauty, and the New York City Ballet's The Nutcracker. Good for class use with recordings of the ballet music.

A beginning ballet student goes from the dressing room to class, through the technical routines and movements in the dance studio, and happily meets Father afterwards. She describes the happy feelings and the hard work. Full-page drawings are true to good ballet technique.

Famous dancers, ballet companies, and techniques fill this special subject dictionary. A short history of the ballet that precedes the alphabetical listings, coupled with the black and white illustrations, makes this a good reference source.

One of a series of books that focuses on a young person pursuing the arts, this gives a comprehensive look at the world of ballet. Written in the first person with minimal text, the photodocumentary stresses the pain and joy of a young girl chosen to dance with the New York City Ballet.

Merry, Suzanne. Dancer. Photographs by John Running. Charles Scribner's Sons, 1980 12 up
The true story of Celeste Jauckenski and her current life as a bright young trainee on scholarship with the junior performing ballet company Joffrey II is both informative and inspiring. Excellent photographs.

Nearly fifty brief topics directly related to the training and career of a show business dancer are interestingly discussed. Fascinating full-page photographs for the young reader. Helpful in career studies.
Drama

Walker, Katherine Sorley, and Joan Butler. Ballet for Boys and Girls. Prentice-Hall, 1979. 8 12

This wide-ranging examination of ballet includes basic techniques, history, stories of individual ballets and performers, plus interesting details of backstage life. Good choice of black and white photographs.

Packed with information, this book describes the comedic elements that are unique to outstanding American comedy teams. Much history of American entertainment from vaudeville, radio, film, and television is contained in the engrossing chapters that move from Laurel and Hardy to Cheech and Chong. Numerous humor routines are excerpted. Includes glossary, chronology, bibliography.

This survey of American comedy from the colonial theatre of 1700s to the present day introduces the highlights and headliners from minstrel shows, vaudeville, stage shows, radio, movies, and television. It also gives a brief introduction to and analysis of the changing concept of comedy. Lavishly illustrated with photographs.

A book for animal movie fans. Not only is there a behind-the-scenes peek at Lassie, Flipper, and Morris the Cat, but also a section on how they are selected, trained, and pampered. Numerous successes and fiascos are recounted in detail. Black and white photos.

For young film buffs, this survey of movie actors from Bogart and Robinson to Hackman and Pacino provides a fast-paced overview of the "tough" hero tradition in films. One chapter is devoted to women. Numerous black and white movie stills.

Snow White, Pinocchio, Brer Rabbit, Bambi, The Lady and the Tramp, and twelve other classic and contemporary tales that were made into animated films by Walt Disney Studios are told. Each story is followed by an article telling how the movie was made. Beautifully illustrated with movie and studio scenes.
Quackenbush, Robert. Movie Monsters and Their Masters: The Birth of the Horror Film. Illus. by author Albert Whitman, 1980 8-12

The text traces fifty years of horror films from Edison's Frankenstein to Hitchcock's The Birds. Eerie green, black, and white illustrations carry out the spirit of the text.

Imaginary worlds and creatures from Swift's Lilliput to Godzilla are discussed with deft humor. Authors mentioned include Edgar Rice Burroughs, H G Wells, Jules Verne, and Arthur Conan Doyle. Creatures from television and movies are depicted. Many black and white movie stills.

Fine Arts

Behrens, June. Looking at Beasties. Childrens Press. 1977 7 10

The fifteen glossy, colored reproductions of animals are simply explained. The time period for each picture and brief remarks about the artist are included. Animals portrayed are ibis, monster head on the prow of a Viking ship, serpent, lion, leopard, and others. Informational with a pleasing format.

Behrens, June. Looking at Children. Childrens Press, 1977 7 10

This fine collection introduces readers to famous paintings of children. The meaningful introductory statement tells how artists express their ideas and the media they use. Children of the past and present are brought to life in the glossy, colored reproductions. One of a series of art books.

An artist's sketchbook provides his personal and often humorous insight into the characteristics of such creatures as the bat, crow, falcon, skate, mandrill, skunk, rattlesnake, and others. Some of these are drawn from life, others are stuffed, and one is in a state of decay.

Clear photographs and text supply a step-by-step account of changing a 300-pound marble block into an artistic sculpture. Sketches are made, clay forms are created, and finally the chisel is used. Available materials are listed for children who want to do their own carving.

The history of the modern comic strip makes interesting reading. The examples of early cartooning techniques give the reader an opportunity to see the progress in design, characters, and story lines.

The book is an efficient reference and a fun experience.

10-up

History, folklore, and customs of the Norsemen are inextricably woven with explanations of their many treasures preserved today in metal and wood. Beautiful jewelry reflects the level of their cultural advancement. The information provided will complement the study of the Vikings. Photographs capture the strength of their art.

9-up

Beautiful watercolor illustrations depict an artist trying to recreate God's world on canvas by using his talent with paints.

8-12

The horse stories of Marguerite Henry have always been a great favorite. This book pays tribute to the fine illustrations that helped her books come alive through the pictures. Wesley Dennis, Robert Lougheed, Rich Rudish, and Lynd Ward are the artists who are described. A very beautiful edition.

12-up

A collection of color and black and white illustrations of animals as portrayed by famous painters throughout the ages. Artists included range from Chagall and Durer to Kate Greenaway and Beatrix Potter. A companion volume is Enchanted World Excellent introduction to art appreciation.

10-up

The clay artwork of people throughout the world is traced from ancient times. Each pot is appealingly illustrated with pencil drawings. A helpful picture map locates the various types of pottery.

Proddow, Penelope. Art Tells a Story: The Bible. Doubleday, 1979

10-12

Biblical stories pave the way to appreciation of fine works of art representing a variety of art forms. Artists include Corot, William Blake, Ben Shahn, and Tintoretto. Legends of creation, Noah, Isaac, Jacob, Esther, and the Queen of Sheba are the inspiration for six of the stories. Photographs.

Proddow, Penelope. Art Tells a Story: Greek and Roman Myths. Doubleday, 1979

10-12

This is a new approach to mythology to help children appreciate literature and art. Twelve works of art by different artists that span the centuries depict the stories. The reader is introduced to different art forms including pottery, pen and ink, and oils. Illustrated with color and black and white photographs.

Music

Folksongs and Ballads

A collection of Native American music that encompasses historical and regional differences. The book describes the creating of various types of songs and the differences between American Indian and European music. This is a fascinating and informative research guide that includes pronunciation aides, bibliography, source list, and an index to songs by area and tribe.

A glorious spirit of fun enticed people of eighteenth-century Devonshire to the annual Widecombe Fair. Seven old gentlemen had to get there, so they borrowed Tom Pearse's old grey mare, intending to return her. The tale is based on a folk song and on conversations with contemporary Widecombe dwellers.

Fifty familiar and brand new fingerplays with piano arrangements and guitar chords are collected by a popular folksinger. The easy-to-read music and delightful illustrations provide hours of fun for young children.

Unknown and well-known traditional songs, with guitar chords, are divided into eight main sections ranging from songs of dance and play to nursery rhymes. The remarkable full-color illustrations make this a look-along as well as sing-along choice.

This handsomely illustrated collection of old English street cries provides words and music with appeal for singers of all ages. A brief essay introduces the thirty street cries, some of which have been specified for singing at the same time: hot cross buns, strawberries, old rags for sale.

Skip-rope songs and street chants with a distinctly Irish vocabulary and flavor make up this handsome book. Notes at the end give some definitions. Both the full-color and black and white illustrations are haunting in their beauty and stylized suggestion of a child's eye view of Belfast life.

The old folksong about the husband and wife who decide to trade jobs for a day and end up being happy to return to their old jobs is delightfully adapted: in this case, the two are bears. Block print illustrations in orange, brown, and black are striking. Music is included.

A distinguished illustrator gives an old lullaby a fresh interpretation after singing it to her own child for a year and a half. The familiar vignettes can be read aloud or sung. The music is included. Tempera illustrations depict the Victorian setting.

Instruments and Styles

"They have neither speech nor language, but their sound is gone out to all nations." From 4000 BC to our July 4, 1976 bell extravaganza, text and black and white photos cover bellringing, handbells, carillons, and famous bells like Liberty and Big Ben. An interesting, fact-filled book.

Busnar, Gene. It's Rock'n'Roll. Julian Messner, 1979, 6-12.

A fine and fairly complete chronological history of the music explosion of the fifties. The rock'n'roll artists are discussed and their contributions explained. The book has photographs of many groups along with lists of their songs. Index.

Outstanding illustrations grace this version of the classic musical story. The left page carries the story in large type with an instrument pictured next to a line of music. The right page is a large full color scene of the adventure. A beautiful book.

This stunning black and white photographic essay illustrating the parts of a violin and their relationship to each other will certainly enhance any child's appreciation of both the visual and tonal beauty of the stringed instruments.

Andrés Segovia shares his knowledge and techniques of playing the guitar for the beginner. Beautiful color photographs and excellent black and white photos and diagrams make this book a superior learning text. Also included are a dictionary of musical terms and thirteen pieces of music written by great guitar composers.

Plays for Children

These four original plays, each a mystery, are great fun. One play concerns a werewolf, one is a take-off on Sherlock Holmes, one a courtroom drama, and one a funny detective tale. Each requires few props. Simple enough to encourage children to act them out, funny enough to keep the interest of the audience.

This play about the young Frederick Douglass captures the drama, cruelty, and injustices of his early life. Eventually, he escapes to freedom in the North and becomes an advisor to Abraham Lincoln. He was the first black to hold a diplomatic post, and one of the first to speak for women's rights.

These plays are designed as dramatic vehicles for children's groups and as an introduction to the art of reading plays. Simple production techniques suggested, charming illustrations can be helpful to young producers. Notes for parents and teachers included.

Mahlmann, Lewis, and David Cadwalader Jones. Folk Tale Plays for Puppets. Plays, 1980 8 up

Thirteen folktales from around the world have been adapted for use as puppet plays. The authors include production notes on what kinds of puppets to use, types of costuming, sets, props, lighting, and sound effects for each play. Includes The Gingerbread Boy, Baba Yaga, and other.

The pourquoi tale tells why the rooster crows each morning and digs for worms. Directions are given for preparing and presenting a shadow puppet play. Published in cooperation with the U.S. Committee for UNICEF.

Additional Arts Books

Audsley, James The Book of Ballet Rev ed Frederick Warne, 1968 12-16
Borten, Helen Do You See What I See? Abelard-Schuman, 1959 5-8
Carlson, Bernice Wells Act It Out Illus Laszlo Matulay Abingdon Press, 1956. 8-12
Chute, Marchette Stories from Shakespeare World, 1956 12-16

Hawkinson, John Pastels Are Great! Albert Whitman, 1968 7 12
Malcolmson, Anne The Song of Robin Hood Music arranged by Grace Castagnetta Illus. Virginia Burton Houghton Mifflin, 1947 9 up
Mills, Alan The Hungry Goat Illus Abner Graboff Rand McNally, 1964 All ages
Price, Christine The Story of Masisian Art E.P. Dutton, 1964 10 14
Prokofieff, Sergei Peter and the Wolf Illus Frans Haacken Franklin Watts, 1962 5-9
Seeger, Ruth C American Folksongs for Children Illus Barbara Cooney Doubleday, 1948 All ages
Spier. Peter The Fox Went Out on a Chilly Night Doubleday, 1961 4 up
Spilka, Arnold Paint All Kinds of Pictures Henry Z. Walck, 1963 7 12
History of Language

The first Frisbee was a pie plate from the Frisbee bakery. A man took a long lunch hour and overmixed some soap and the slogan, “It Floats!” was born. The author explains the naming and development of such products as the zipper, Levis, and Chiclets.

A delightful collection of information about such famous Annes as Raggedy Ann, Princess Anne, Annie Laurie, and Anne Morrow Lindbergh. The book includes a recipe for Potatoes Anna, a jump rope rhyme for Anne, and a “Song for Anne," written by the author. One of the All About Your Name series.

Using brief chapters this book gives an interesting introduction to the history of the English language. Topics such as early linguistic roots, the influence of the dictionary, altered word meanings, euphemisms, and slang are included.

Hazen, Barbara Shook. Last, First, Middle and Nick: All about Names. Illus. Sam Weissman. Prentice-Hall, 1979. 8–12.

Names have interesting stories and this book is packed full of short, fascinating bits of information about all kinds of names. Historical studies, coincidental quirks, and structural forms are discussed. Nearly every page has a humorous drawing or decoration. An excellent book for an interest center.

From A to Z, examples of folk idioms active from 1815 to 1950 are given. Chin music is what people say when they sit around and talk. Many words are made up, such as “a snitch” for a small amount and "a do-little" for a lazy person. Glossary and source notes are useful.

Common words from our everyday language and their derivatives are carefully explained and illustrated. An enticing book to enrich the vocabulary as the reader discovers that words like "hamburger" and "sandwich" were named after real persons. Ninety-nine other interesting facts.

This introduction to the origin of common words is cleverly presented and written for the young reader. Used for enrichment or independent study, this book can help the student learn how the meanings of words have changed over the centuries.

Vocabulary

Humorous and detailed drawings of an elderly lady, her snake, and her parrot illustrate the words "in, out, on, up, over, off, down, and under." The author presents a unique way to teach prepositions and provide fun in practicing reading.

Compound words are presented in guessing-game fashion; the answers are given when the page is flipped. More compound words are pictured than are mentioned in the text. Adding to the challenge of the book Bright pink, orange, and purple illustrations put this book in a superstar category.

This first dictionary for early readers has nearly 1500 words and 500 brightly colored illustrations. A special alphabet page begins each letter section. Excellent format.

Hanson, Joan. Plurals. Lerner Publications, 1979. 7-10

The rule for forming plurals is given in three sentences in the introduction. As the reader turns the pages, on the left page is an example of the singular form and on the right page is the same word in plural.
Humorous sketches add to the visual appeal. Also recommended is Possessives: Words That Show Ownership.

This new addition to the American Heritage Dictionary line includes over 1,600 main entry words, including the 500 most frequently used in children's reading materials. Every word used in the definitions is entered in the volume. Sample sentences illustrate words in contexts and further clarify their meanings. Full-color illustrations.

Common homophones and homographs are simply defined in this little picture book. The black and white drawings further aid comprehension.

These busy, labeled illustrations are designed to make middle graders giggle. An "Ugh Page" pictures a moldy cucumber, fish guts, and a dead mouse. Other pages detail the junk in a giant's pocket and CB radio talk.

Colorful pictures tell the story of an elephant and a clown who go through their busy day at the circus. Each page portrays the activity of the single word printed on it. The word is always a verb in gerund form: waking, marching, waving. Useful for models during language studies.

Definitions of numerous TV terms from ABC to zoom are presented with clever black and white illustrations and easy-to-read text. A brief history of television and an explanation of the growth and popularity of this medium are also given.

This humorous, yet meaningful language skills book supplies numerous opportunities for development through word play. It provides the introduction to and practice for using more difficult dictionaries. Example: candidate (KAN-di-dayt), a fruit with a sugar coating (candied date). Black and white cartoon-like illustrations and index.
Writing

Children enjoy word anagrams where they rearrange letters in words to make new words. This book attempts something more complex, sentence anagrams. "A decimal point" can be reordered to read, "I'm a dot in place." "Hibernate" becomes "Bear's in." Useful for encouraging students to write their own word plays.

This excellent writing enrichment book discusses eight basic ways of developing riddles. Teachers may despair about the finished products, but the writing process is what's important in this book. Very useful ideas; humorously illustrated.

A good source book for students who wish to express themselves through the medium of writing. The author addresses the areas of fiction, nonfiction, and poetry and suggests that skill in writing can be developed by attending to specific detail.

Budding young authors, as well as those just curious about the techniques of bookmaking, are fascinated with the information found in this comprehensive volume. People and processes are emphasized, from the author's first idea through the writing, editing, printing, and binding of the finished book.

The rhyme-maker man, sitting under a tree, suggests putting words together into new and funny rhymes, such as "Can you tickle a pickle for a nickle?" This clever book helps to develop a feel for words and encourages experimentation.

Children's writing is juxtaposed with dramatic black and white photographs to create a striking and imaginative book that may inspire children to make their own books.
Additional Language Books

Crafts

Costume Making

Directions for a collection of monster masks from materials such as paper, cloth, boxes, foil, foam rubber, and straw are given. Black and white illustrations.

Historical lore of masks as instruments of magic and celebration is interestingly told. Organized around seasons and holidays, the book can be used to bring memorable experiences into the lives of children. Directions for creating masks are explicit and clearly illustrated with ink drawings so that students can follow them independently.

Easy-to-follow directions using simple materials show the reader how to be transformed into a monster. Hints on how to throw a monster bash and transform a house into a chamber of horrors are given. Photographs and black and white illustrations.

Published in association with the Metropolitan Museum of Art, this book provides clear, workable instructions for making medieval costumes. Handsomely illustrated with photographs of reproductions of museum treasures and children making and wearing costumes, it is a visual introduction to the world of the middle ages.

This volume is excellent resource material for students of costume design. Many details are included and the costume plates are excel-
Drawings, Painting, Printing

Step-by-step illustrations include the Empire State Building, the tower of Pisa, the Parthenon, an American Indian tepee, the Brooklyn Bridge, and a native house in Sumatra. The drawings are ambitious, but worth the effort. Based on the theory that "mimicry is prerequisite to creativity," this is one in a popular series of how-to-draw books. Also recommended are Draw 50 Famous Cartoons, Draw 50 Famous Faces, and Draw 50 Dinosaurs.

The author, in his unique style, has written another fun, easy drawing book with step-by-step instructions on how to draw people and animals using line and circle combinations. Illustrations in black and orange appropriately show off the numerous Halloween drawings.

In a format made familiar by the artist's other drawing books, sketches show how simple thumbprints can be made into a variety of faces, animals, and other objects by adding lines, squiggles, and circles. Easy-to-follow directions and many examples encourage children to explore the technique.

The first part of this book presents watercolor pictures of a small animal named Patty Swish. The reader may supply the words to the story. The second part gives information about materials for painting and demonstrates very clearly the technique of pat, swish, and twist with watercolors.

Greeting cards, wrapping paper, stationery, and bookmarks are but a few items that can be created from inexpensive materials using a stamp pad and paper. The clear text along with photographs and diagrams combine to make this a handy, entertaining source for home or school. Index and sources of supplies included.
Paper Crafts

Aspiring artists will enjoy the black and white drawings that demonstrate how simple lines, used in various combinations, make pictures. Perspective, shape, and shadow tell a story. Focus is on the power of the pen stroke.

The principles of drawing in perspective are illustrated in a step-by-step manner. Children will be interested in practicing the easy steps shown in this cartoon story. Home or school use.

Artistic shapes are given as a basis from which to draw. Attention is called to the fact that these basic shapes can be seen everywhere one looks. Step-by-step drawings are provided and many clear photos.

Paper Crafts

The history of Chinese papercutting is told with beautiful illustrations of various intricate papercuts. Instructions are given for several beginning projects that the reader can try.

Just the right book for the amateur builder. Gives a brief history of van development and includes a metric conversion chart, suggested readings, and an index. Step-by-step directions for twelve types are given for building and modifying the basic cardboard van. Drawings and photographs clarify the instructions.

Through words and diagrams, directions are given for prosing with simple materials two- and three-dimensional objects to use in storytelling. Included are the texts for nine traditional tales to tell.

Paper cutting, a simple and unique Chinese art form, is introduced in a very clear way with concise directions and illustrations. Each
Crafts

Letter and number is shown in a series of easy-to-follow steps. A practical book for school or home.

Paint, paste, cutout paper designs, and varnish are the everyday materials needed to try one's hand at the craft of decoupage. Nine projects are shown in clear step-by-step photographs.

Sixteen suggestions for making playhouses, tepees, cannons, walkie-talkie helmets, and other play items are clearly described in this attractive craft book. Photographs and diagrams make the step-by-step directions clear to the builder. Children need assistance with the more difficult constructions.

This useful book for older children introduces cardboard and its creative uses. How to cut, bend, and join cardboard is clearly shown in drawings and photographs. The last chapter explains how paper is made. A helpful tool for class projects.

Toy Making

How to make dinosaurs from material or paper is presented with numerous illustrations. Clear and detailed text leads the skilled crafter through the somewhat intricate steps in making these delightful creatures.

Beautiful, quality handicrafts for which the Swedish people are noted are clearly illustrated in color. Background notes are supplied along with simple and clear directions for making the objects. Christmas, Easter, and other seasonal events are included. Many projects could be correlated with the study of Swedish folklore.

Clear instructions are given for making simple soft toys from pieces of material or scraps of heavy plastic. The simple drawings picturing each step of the projects encourage readers to try this craft.
Woodcrafts

This concise guide containing eleven projects gives basic information about woodworking materials, hand and power tools, fasteners, and finishes. The book issues a safety warning and advises adult supervision. A good beginner's guide.

This book discusses basic tools available in most homes and how to use them safely for woodworking and wood finishing. Step-by-step directions and plenty of photographs guide the beginner in simple projects. Included are ecology boxes, checkerboards, planters, and chopping blocks.

The care and use of basic woodworking tools is given and many interesting projects are suggested using scrap wood. Although the author emphasizes using wood scraps, the text serves as an excellent how-to-do-it book for beginning serious woodworkers.

Various Handicrafts

Craft artists who like to make decorations and homemade gifts can assemble the simple materials needed, follow the readable directions, and design their own eggshell art. Illustrations clarify the text. A variety of patterns is supplied. Index.

After suggestions are given for finding needed materials, more than fifty interesting contraptions are described in clear, concise language. Helpful diagrams assist the project maker. Practice in metric system measurement is provided. Supervision not necessary.

Flower lovers can enjoy the products of their gardens all year round with the many helpful suggestions offered in this book. How to dry and preserve flowers and other plants for bouquets and arrangements.
is discussed in text and illustrated with photographs and clear drawings. Practical homemade gift suggestions.

Crook, Beverly Courtney. *Invite a Bird to Dinner: Simple Feeders You 1978. 8 12

Instructions for constructing various types of bird feeders are given with sound suggestions for ease of building and for safety features.
Some fine recipes are included and many terms and types of foods are defined. Clever informative drawings enhance this very practical and interesting book.

1979. 10 up.

The traditional craft of basket weaving is explained and directions for some simple, practical, and decorative objects are given. Explanations of tools, supplies, and the unique properties of weaving materials are also included. Index, bibliography, and sources listed.

Addison-Wesley Publishing. 1977. 10-12

For budding builders and or architects, this book gives directions on how to build houses made of cans, milk cartons, newspaper logs, snow, sod, and hay bales, among others. Windmills, greenhouses, and solar heating techniques are briefly discussed. Familiarity with some building terms would be helpful. Useful in gifted programs.

A craft book with something to do every day of the year includes magic tricks, games, puzzles, nature crafts, hobbies, art crafts, and science experiments. Each activity is ranked according to difficulty.
Clear illustrations and concise directions.

Haas, Carolyn, Ann Cole, and Barbara Naftzger. *Backyard Vacation:
Outdoor Fun in Your Own Neighborhood*. Illus. Roland Rodegast.
Little, Brown. 1980. 10 up.

This unique craft book contains activity ideas planned for your own backyard. Games, nature projects, neighborhood gatherings such as ice cream socials, outdoor theatre, and county fairs are described.
Numerous drawings add to the text.

Hodgson, Mary Anne, and Josephine Ruth Paine. Fast and Easy Needle-point. Photographs by Michael Pitts and Richard Fowlkes. Doubleday. 1978. 8 12

A helpful book for beginners with clear directions, diagrams, and photographs. Basic needlepoint stitches are given and twelve simple. attractive patterns are shown. The reader is guided into original designs for practical objects such as belts, pillows, and tennis racquet covers.

This book of instructions on how to make games, puzzles, and handicrafts presents many interesting and simple projects for young people. Numerous drawings highlight the text.

Detailed directions and clear sketches guide the hobbyist in creating dollhouse furnishings from scrap materials found at home. A useful book for teachers, parents, and children.

Four basic kinds of puppets are described: hand, rod, shadow, and marionettes. Materials used are mainly scraps or inexpensive items. The thirteen ideas presented are clearly explained and illustrated with diagrams and photographs. Ideal suggestions for folktale characters.

A sampling of projects using materials that are usually discarded from homes or businesses is shown. Innovative and resourceful items to make include water clocks, pinhole cameras, prints, tops, flip books, and others. Developed by the Boston Children's Museum.

All the fun and excitement of a fair are brought to the reader in the brightly colored pictures of this attractive handicraft book. There are step-by-step illustrations showing how to construct toys, games, and other fun activities. A rainy day book for home or school.

An extensive array of musical instruments made from easily obtainable materials is described in words and illustrations. Many different skill levels are represented but younger children may need assistance.

Resource list.

This fun guide to the art of blowing bubbles includes how to make gigantic and unusual bubbles and bubble sculpture. Other books in this series include Milk Carton Blocks and Ball-Point Pens.

Additional Crafts Books

Cooking

The author, an inexperienced cook, shares simple and nourishing recipes with her readers. Sequential pictures with clearly worded directives tempt the young cook. Table of contents and safety precautions are included. Other recommended titles in the series are What to Do with . . . a Potato and What to Do with . . . Fruit.

Stories and nursery rhymes inspired recipes for this cookbook. The up-to-date recipes are nutritious and delightfully matched with full-page pen and ink illustrations. A glossary of cooking terms encourages vocabulary development. Use to extend enjoyment and understanding of well-known fairy tales and rhymes.

The recipes and format of this large cookbook are very attractive and appealing. Helpful information is given at the beginning of the book on how to get started and what to do while cooking. Recipes are indexed.

Recipes for Mooncake, Surprise Eggs, and Celery Trees are illustrated by brightly colored cartoons of bears at work preparing each dish. The twenty-three easy-to-follow recipes include snacks, salads, drinks, and desserts. Measurements are given in ounces and pints rather than tablespoons and cups. A table of equivalents is included.

Here is an excellent cookbook for the beginner. The author presents his cooking methods in detailed step-by-step drawings. Recipes are included for breakfasts, lunches, and dinners, along with a variety of different cuisines including Japanese, Chinese, French, Italian, and South American.

Clearly written recipes, designed to follow the calendar year, are fun to make, good to eat, and ensure success. Both metric and standard measurements are used and cooking terms are defined. Most of the recipes have child appeal; kitchen safety is stressed. Contains puzzles, cartoons, jokes, and riddles.

Excellent nutritional advice is offered in this diet cookbook for young people. Suggestions for losing weight, counting calories, and keeping records are included, along with good low-calorie recipes. Easy-to-follow format.

A recipe format, readable instructions, and interesting ideas combine to make this how-to herb book fun and informative. Four sections include gifts to make, crazy cure-alls (including one for removing freckles), food recipes, and instructions for growing herbs. Useful for home or classroom experimenting.

Jewish cooking has a long heritage and each holiday has food associated with it. The celebrations are introduced and handed-down recipes appropriate to each are given. All in accordance with dietary laws. Cooking, safety tips, and measurement tables are provided. Thirty-six cooking terms are defined. Black and white sketches.

Useful as a supplement to the Little House series, this cookbook also stands well along as an interesting collection of information on pioneer cooking. Recipes are given for pioneer foods discussed in the Wilder books. Many quotations from those books are used relating to the recipes.

An excellent cookbook for young cooks. Simplified recipes and directions (many set to a familiar melody for singing) are given for food that is both tasty and nourishing. Illustrations are delightful and helpful.

Recipes in this cookbook intended for the primary aged child do not require using a stove or knives. Simple, easy directions for preparing snacks kids will enjoy using such favorites as bananas, bologna, chocolate, and peanuts are provided. Colorful, easy to read.

Gardening

Using black and white photos and sketches, all phases of growing vegetables in a pot are shown. From selecting the container and preparing the soil to actual planting and care, each step is carefully demonstrated. Germination time and expected growth of twenty-eight vegetables and addresses of seed catalog companies are given.

Hanging carrots, coleus cuttings, hydroponic tomatoes, summer vegetables grown in plastic "pillows": these are among the relatively simple and inexpensive projects described in this well-organized and clearly illustrated book. Most of the projects can do double duty in the classroom, adding both to the learning environment and the decor.

While plants are essential to our survival, we can also enjoy their life-enriching qualities. Nineteen simple garden hobbies, plant experiments, and art projects, like weed weaving, are demonstrated in black and white sketches. Addresses of plant suppliers are given.

Sound advice for indoor gardening is given in a brief, readable text highlighting thirty-three unusual house plants. Each double-page spread gives a description with a black and white drawing of the plant and its namesake. Snake plants, Venus’s flytraps, and kite orchids are some of the plants used. Index.

All aspects of terrariums are discussed, from their origin to the unique creations that readers can make. Instructions for selecting containers and appropriate plants and for assembling the terrariums are given in clear terms with many diagrams and black and white photographs. A useful resource for indoor gardeners.

An idea for growing initials in the garden and many other interesting garden projects are described. Materials, equipment, and directions are given for flower and vegetable gardens. Helpful diagrams complement the text. Planting chart and index are included.

Magic

Magic depends on both the magician's skill and the audience's willingness to believe. The book gives a bit of magic's history and suggests ways to handle an audience, along with several easy tricks requiring some preparation and practice. Cartoonlike drawings.

Six of the greatest tricks of magic are clearly explained in a format designed for easy reading. Among them are Houdini's walk through a brick wall, the Indian basket trick, and the floating princess. Appealing for young magicians, the book is well illustrated.

A readable, well-written manual for aspiring magicians. Clear line drawings illustrate the tricks. Showmanship is the overall theme. The author presents general principles for doing tricks, points out the pitfalls, and shows how to do convincing illusions.

This book introduces the world of magic tricks, giving many hints on how to prepare the tricks and carry them out dramatically. The illustrations help the young magician see the steps to each illusion. A nice start for a future Blackstone.

Numbers and calculations play a significant role in magic, prediction, and mindreading. Here are directions for magic tricks and explanations of why and how they work. Hints and ideas for practicing and performing are also included. For beginning magicians and people who like to read about numbers

Models

Flying radio-controlled sailplanes is a growing hobby in the United States. Here is an introduction to the sport written for the beginner and describing the equipment and techniques necessary to operate these models. Excellent color photographs encourage the reader to try this sport.

A model railroading guide to help the beginner construct an inexpensive train layout. The simple pictures and drawings are helpful in planning and building train collections.

Careful directions and clear illustrations and photographs characterize this book on how to make model buildings. The two sections deal with cardboard and wood. Tool requirements and procedures are explained. Of interest to the future architect.

Photography

This helpful book from The Complete Beginner's Guide series clearly describes how a camera works, how to select one, techniques for use, and the developing of film. Many illustrative photographs show what good pictures should look like.

An imaginative book for kindergarteners written by a famous photographer who believes that photography teaches children to observe and stretch their creativity. Basic photographic directions, using items from the child's world, are shown in black and white photographs. The author explains how to invent stories and make backgrounds.

This simple guide to making movies is illustrated with excellent black and white photographs. Step-by-step directions from how to plan the story and rehearse it to techniques of filming make this a good aid for the young filmmaker.

The long and gradual development of the art of photography is traced in a simple manner through the text and many illustrations. When the book pages are flipped quickly, the silhouette of the acrobat in the upper right-hand corner demonstrates the principle of motion pictures. One picture flows into the next.

Various Hobbies

This comprehensive volume on coins and coin collecting includes a general introduction to numismatics and information for the beginner on how to build a coin collection. For the serious collector it includes a chapter on investment. A complete list of sources, bibliography, and index are appended. Excellent illustrations and photographs.

Emphasizing each individual's uniqueness, this book is an excellent source for teaching or learning beginning genealogy. It has examples of pedigree, family group charts, and even how to rub a gravestone. Gives instructions on compiling information and makes suggestions for special projects. Black and white illustrations, glossary, and index.

A fascinating history of the yo-yo from its beginnings in the primeval jungles to the modern yo-yo. Directions for basic manipulations plus numerous tricks are described and illustrated by black and white photos.

Thorough, detailed, and explicit information is given for starting an aquarium. Facts are interspersed with bits of advice and humor. assortment of color, and types, scientific drawings, and cartoons makes the subject appealing to youngsters.

Additional Hobby Books

Amusements

Curiosities and Wonders

Why do people celebrate Halloween? What games do Eskimos play? These and a variety of questions about people are answered in a readable style and in sufficient depth to satisfy the curious child. Peanuts gang cartoons and color photographs with index.

Do you know the largest land animal living today? Do you know how fast things go? Do you know that an acorn is a seed? Answers are supplied. Clearly labeled items and colorful illustrations combine to make this a valuable book.

When you talk, what word do you say the most? What mammal has the most children? (Answers: "I", the pig, who can have thirty-four piglets at a time.) This easy-reading miniature Guinness Book of Records is bound to be fun for beginning readers.

This fun and zany list of kids' accomplishments includes unusual and outstanding feats, such as the first girl to pitch a no-hit game in Little League baseball and the boy who discovered the first doughnut with a hole. Black and white photographs.

An array of unusual facts on plants, animals, manners, photography, history, and other topics is reported. For example, pigs can get sunburned like humans. Beautiful full-color photographs illustrate this zany collection of science miscellanea. A booklet of games and puzzles and a poster-size calendar are included.
Jokes, Puns, Riddles

An archer fish aiming his bow-and-arrow, a wise owl holding a straight-A report card: which is fact, which is fable? Why? A flick of the page gives these and eighteen other answers in this witty and informative book for browsing. Outstanding full-color illustrations.

Did you know Santa Claus can spend only half of 1/10,000 seconds at each home? that 10 tons of space dust fall on earth daily? no one knows why dogs bury bones? An enjoyable collection of funny and fascinating trivia accompanied by humorous black and white drawings. Especially highlights children's feats.

Jokes, Puns, Riddles

Puns, plays on names, and rib-tickling line-drawn cartoons that convey ideas are presented in this collection of familiar and fun knock knock jokes. The book stimulates imagination and listening acuity. Cultural and literary allusions extend interdisciplinary concepts

"What did the irate circus owner say to the stubborn elephant? Pack your trunk and get out." Children enjoy repeating these jokes and riddles. An interesting foreword explains how riddles originated and that each country has its own tradition of riddles. Comic pen sketches.

Puns fill this book. Each page contains several cartoons with gags in the word balloon. Some are riddles, some are jokes, and all are funny. Humorous black and white drawings are highlighted with orange and gold.

Doty, Roy. Tinkerbell Is a Ding-a-ling. Doubleday, 1980. 8 12

This book of riddles, illustrated with action-filled, cartoonlike drawings, is funny in an extravagantly slapstick manner.

Children will enjoy reading and sharing these knock knock jokes—some new, some old, and all silly. The pen and ink sketches add to the fun.

"If a dog loses his tail, where does he get another one?" Eighty pages are filled with jokes and riddles, old and new, about dogs, cats, and an occasional goldfish, flea, parrot, or turtle. A sure-fire hit, with appropriately cartoony illustrations. (Answer "At the retail store, of course."

Accompanying this hilarious collection of riddles, wry wit, and puns are contemporary black and white line drawings that add to the fun. They depict people from a broad range of races, professions, and economic levels. For all lovers of laughter.

This collection of forty-five jokes is new to children, but quite recognizable to teachers. Joke books are always popular and this one is no exception. Several of the black and white drawings are quite clever.

Well-organized into sixteen categories, Cricket's stuff is lots of fun for everyone, and useful for reinforcing reading skills. A surprise ending lets the reader view the antics of a performing cricket as the book pages are flipped backwards.

"What grows up while it grows down? A baby duckling." Crows, hens, ducks, eagles, pheasants, turkeys, and even jailbirds come to life in these humorous jokes for the young child. Each page has one or more pen drawings for more enjoyment.

"How do you find a lost rabbit? Make a sound like a carrot." Knock knocks, elephant jokes, riddles, puns and Tots of old favorites are collected. Colorful illustrations add to the action and help the young jokester remember the punch lines.

Children will enjoy such "daffinitions" as "Long distance the best way to talk to a monster," and "Sassafras: what you shouldn't do to a 250-pound fras." This book could be a good springboard for writing.

According to the author, this collection of jokes places emphasis on wordplay. Included are over a thousand jokes from one-liners to elaborate story jokes, from classics every jokester knows to brand new ones. Simple black and white line drawings illustrate the humor. Readers will also enjoy How Do You Make an Elephant Laugh? by the same author.

Young children interested in Spanish-English language will enjoy these body riddles. Parts of the body, black and white photographs, and a two-language text comprise this useful and fun book.

A new addition to the author's other easy-to-read books, this collection of tongue twisters offers bellylaughs to all ages while firming up the skills of young readers. Electric colors and nonsensical creatures add to the hilarity.

It is never any fun being sick, but this book can help you laugh a little at the problem. Jokes, recipes, and a daytime TV Guide all help to bring out a good chuckle and a warm smile. When you're sick, that isn't always easy.

Thaler, Mike. Never Tickle a Turtle: Cartoons, Riddles and Funny Stories. Franklin Watts, 1977. 8-12
This classroom-tested volume of cartoons, riddles, and wordplay about animals lends itself to a variety of language arts activities.

What is the best-educated insect? A Spelling Bee, of course! Limericks, tongue twisters, jokes, and anagrams fill this little book with many good laughs for children. Humorous pen sketches accompany most of the content.
Puzzles

Walk through the cool green woods with award-winning illustrator Anno and try to find the camouflaged animals. This wordless picture book is designed to sharpen one’s perceptions and to develop visual skills.

The traveler goes on a delightful tour through Italy, past and present. The reader searches for the hundreds of images from myths, folklore, fine arts, architecture, and history in this country rich in culture. A unique imaginative experience in a wordless book.

The reader journeys with the artist throughout northern Europe and views sights from fine paintings, folktales, Sesame Street, and religious legends. The artist continues to play with perspective and visual puzzles. Some stories unfold page after page. Drawn in the style of a Japanese scroll, this wordless book tells many stories.

The rhino and his animal friends are playing hide and seek. Pre readers can search the fanciful illustrations to find the camouflaged animals in their natural habitat.

Super-colossal is the right term to describe this assortment of entertainment ideas for children or adults working with children. Lively puzzles, tricks, self-tests, pencil and paper games, quiet and party games are included. A must for home or school. Answers to puzzles and a guide to age suitability are appended.

The unique quality of a flip book enables the reader to combine pages to make pictures of 1000 imaginative inventions. Good for stimulating creative ideas in language arts and art, or just for fun. Also recommended is 1000 Monsters by the same author.

Photographs depict three characteristics of each farm animal: horse, squirrel, duck, cow, chicken, and pig. These clues are followed by a complete picture with the answer below. Good for arousing the curiosity of the preschooler and encourages them to make associations.

Demi. Where Is It? Doubleday, 1979.4-7

This is an entertaining book of puzzles to captivate young and old. A box in the upper right-hand corner of the page contains an object; the observer must locate its duplicate among many colorful and similar objects. Some are easy, and some are difficult. Answers are included.

Hot Lips Dragon and Curly Pig are among the creatures revealed when young readers follow the directions and hold each page up to the light. The unusual art technique is explained; it might present a challenge to older students interested in drawing.

An excellent section on the techniques of problem-solving introduces this stimulating collection of mathematical teasers, logical absurdities, word plays, and inventive games. While there is something for everyone, this is especially good for children who enjoy games of logic.

Most, Bernarde. Turn Over. Prentice-Hall, 1980.4-7

A charming little book that invites one-to-one sharing. Each page has a question that can only be answered by turning over the page. Black and white ink sketches help teach such concepts as behind, turn over, and others.

Thirty-two full-color, full-page scenes are cut in half horizontally, thus creating a flip book. Each half-scene lines up with the other to make unusual combinations. The flag pole bases once support flags, another time giant lamp shades, and still another time a huge wedding cake. A humorous, highly imaginative experience.

The book consists of eleven puzzles, including jungle hunt, spot the mistakes, shapes and sizes, odd man out, help the farmer count, and others. The bold illustrations are brightly colored. Some are stylized, while others are personified.
This heads-bodies-legs book has pictures of nine unique characters, each divided into three sturdy flip cards that can be alternated to make 729 different characters. A sentence part is on each card, making the same number of silly sentences possible. A fun-filled aid for sentence expansion lessons.

A wordless book filled with pictured parts of whole objects. By putting the pieces together mentally and then turning the page, readers are able to see if their guesses are correct. This imaginative visual puzzle book is useful for developing perceptual and relational concepts.

Weissman, Sam Q. An Apple to Eat or Cross the Street. Prentice-Hall, 1980 6-9.
The author describes fifteen common objects in uncommon ways: a banana as a boat, a hat as a monster, and a shoe as a house. Colorful drawings add to the humor. Useful in creative writing or drawing as imagination stretchers.

Additional Amusement Books
Gwynne, Fred. The King Who Rained. E P Dutton, 1970 5 up
Heaton. Alma Double Fun 100 Outdoor and Indoor Games Brigham. 1975 8-12.
Sarnoff, Jane, and Reynold Ruffins The Code Cipher Book Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1975 8-12.
Tashjian, Virginia A With a Deep Sea Smile Illus. Rosemary Wells Little, Brown, 1974 5 11
Authors’ Essays

In this handsome collection of Randolph Caldecott’s work, the author has carefully dealt with the growth of the artist’s work rather than with the details of his personal life. Intriguing comparisons of certain landmarks are made: photographs of the buildings today placed beside Caldecott’s sketches in the nineteenth century. An excellent book for studying the art of a master illustrator.

Commire, Anne. Something about the Author: Facts and Pictures about Authors and Illustrators of Books for Young People. Gale Research, 1980, 10-up.

This ongoing reference set now includes, with volume 18, biographical sketches of nearly 57,000 authors of children’s books. Of these authors, contemporary and past, many are little known. The commentaries contain facts, sidelights, and book notes. Useful for the child who becomes intrigued with an author.

Compiled from a series of lectures, these essays on writing for children give insight into the craft of writing and into this particular author’s philosophy and style. Hunter discusses technique, language, and genre as powerfully as she uses them in her books for children.

A British author includes his first attempt at criticism in this collection of essays on ten American and eight English authors. The comments are sometimes scathing, sometimes praising, but decidedly non-American in viewpoint. Useful for contrasts.

Essays on fourteen contemporary writers of children’s books make up this extension and revision of _A Sense of Story_. Eight new writers are included: Nina Bawden, Vera and Bill Cleaver, Peter Dickinson, Virginia Hamilton, E. L. Konigsburg, Penelope Lively, and Jill Paton Walsh. Seven other essays are updated.

Bibliographies

The first third of this book reviews studies on giftedness, the education of gifted children, and reading experiences for the gifted. The remainder annotates approximately 150 books that are termed "intellectually demanding." Full-page discussions summarize and suggest why the books are particularly useful for high-ability children. Reading levels are placed in three groupings. A useful compilation. Indexes.

The bulk of this book is a well-annotated listing of selected children's books published from 1940-1975 that portray handicapped persons. Several chapters describe the state of literature on this topic. Subject and title indexes are included. Informative and usable.

This compilation of more than 100 picture books is annotated in a highly personalized style reflective of the author, teacher's use of the books with children from age four to seven. A choice listing.

This is an excellent reference when selecting books for children about coping with separation and loss. Books chosen have contemporary, realistic themes, and are good literature. Selections are for children from age three through sixteen. Helpful indexes are included to facilitate use by teachers, counselors, librarians, and parents.

Annotations are especially informative in this compilation of books on handicaps. Certain books are unreservedly recommended, others are definitely not recommended, and many are characterized by both good and bad qualities. In all cases, explicit evaluative statements are given. Handicaps include auditory, visual, orthopedic, speech, mental, emotional, and learning disabilities.

This work categorizes current children's books according to psychological, behavioral, and developmental topics of concern to children from two to fifteen. A unique split-page format permits the user to locate a subject and to find annotations for the books listed under that subject at the same time. All the forms in which the books are available are detailed; including Braille versions. Talking Books, audiovisual treatments, and paperback editions.

Stressful situations in children's lives, and books that might be useful in coping with these problems, are the focus of this book. Topics include death, separation, hospitalization, and lifestyle changes. The author is a child psychologist and a specialist in children's literature. The text is quite readable and gives many practical suggestions.

An efficient aid for teacher or parent in finding the right book at the right time to help a child through difficulty. Reviews are brief, but give information pertinent to selection. Books are located under subject headings: cross-referencing is complete. Valuable for helping children from preschool through sixth-grade levels.

Here is an annotated bibliography of high interest, easy vocabulary books. Each review includes reading and interest levels, story synopsis, price, and an evaluative comment. Excellent tool to help choose the better quality book for the less able reader.

Approximately 1450 items, including books, films, filmstrips, and recordings, are annotated with full bibliographic information. The nonprint materials are based on children's books and are especially helpful for introducing books and for providing varied program formats related to literature. This edition contains materials received prior to 1976.

The purpose of this volume is to assist librarians and students in choosing sports books wisely, fitting both interest and reading ability. Eighty-nine sports, from the familiar to the more exotic, are listed. Fry reading levels, author and title indexes, and selected periodical guide are included.

Outstanding American children's books that would be of particular interest to young people in other countries are listed here. There are approximately 350 books, culled from about 900 books suggested by earlier American Library Association committees as being worthy of translation and distribution abroad. A choice list.

Books of fiction, biography, and history dealing with Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri are annotated in this bibliography. Reading levels are grades four through ten. Other titles in the series include The Great Plains, The Middle Atlantic, The Southeast, and The Rocky Mountains. Extensive indexes of subjects and states.

Following an analysis of single-parent family books for children is an annotated bibliography listing books written between 1966 and 1976. Indexing is separated into three categories predominant parent, subject, and author. An appendix of audiovisual materials is included. An excellent resource for teachers and counselors, working with intermediate and junior high students.

More than 800 books for young people dealing with American Indians and Eskimos are listed. They are ranked good, adequate, or poor. Well-written summaries, age levels, and full bibliographic information are included. Each book was read by two reviewers. The introduction provides a fine statement on stereotyping. Index.

Approximately 1650 recommended fantasies are categorized under thirteen subject headings. Annotations are brief, quality ratings and bibliographic information are given for each book. Sources of reviews are listed. The ages range from preschool through secondary school. Out-of-print books are listed separately as are those available in the United Kingdom. Several indexes.

Published prior to the hostage crisis in Iran, some of the listings in this bibliography are incomplete or contain errors, but the pertinence of the geographic area and the uniqueness of this compilation make textual inaccuracies less significant. The books are categorized by country as nonfiction, fiction, or folklore. Includes brief annotations and grade levels. Spiral bound.

Over 200 mathematics books for preschool through grade six are annotated with indications of content, activities, single or multiple concepts, accuracy, illustrations, writing style, and grade levels. Four quality designations are given. The book is divided into sections on counting, geometry, measurement, number concepts, time, and a general category.

Extensive listings of books for preschoolers make up this bibliography. The fifty lists are divided into several age groups. Additional sections deal with the values and effects of using books with young children, general guidelines for selection, and suggestions for reading aloud. Complete bibliography.

This British compilation includes many books available in the United States and provides valuable discussions and comparisons within each annotation. A comprehensive index is appended.

This useful collection of children's books dealing with Africa has well-prepared annotations that give pro and con features of the books from an anthropological viewpoint. Biographical notes about the authors are included. The cutoff date for materials was summer of 1977. Many indexes are included.

Written for teachers' use, the book discusses ways of teaching the culture of Mexicans and Mexican-Americans. The author recommends only a few of the books listed and gives specific reasons for not recommending the others. The reader’s awareness is heightened by the author’s guidance.

Designed as an aid for librarians and teachers who are interested in exposing students to the cultures of Hispanic people. Annotations are provided and recommended books are indicated.

Books for elementary-age children are singled out in this revised bibliography and are categorized for primary and intermediate grades. This very useful and comprehensive resource points out both good and bad features about the books. Introductory chapters are helpful in providing readers with an overview of Native American literature.

Although many of the recommended books are available only in England, the evaluative annotations and comparative analyses are valuable resources for the American teacher. In addition to 109 separate entries, many other titles are discussed within the main entries.

Compiled to meet the professional needs of those interested in children and their books, this valuable tool has much to offer elementary teachers who wish to expand their use of books in the classroom. The careful selection of books falls into eight categories.

Here is an excellent resource for selecting books that offer sensitivity to individual problems and to social issues of today. Picture books make up some of the selections. Busy librarians and teachers will find this valuable when suggesting individual student selections. Each book has a short annotation.

Picture books are listed in fifty-five main subject categories.
groupings are especially helpful to primary teachers who want to find stories on specific topics. Cross-references are included. Covers books published prior to October 1978. Bibliography.

Criticism

The first ten speeches presented in the Arbuthnot Lectures series are collected here. International in scope, the lectures deal with criticism and issues, bringing the new insights and new emphases to the field of children's literature that were originally envisioned when this series was created to honor May Hill Arbuthnot.

Essays and reviews of children's nonsexist materials are compiled from the two years of newsletters published in 1974–1976, offering thoughtful, perceptive commentaries that transcend the particular books and make statements about the topic.

Speakers from ten countries who assembled at a Canadian conference shared their individual ideas on childhood and children's literature. Thirteen papers make up the international section while eight papers treat the specifics of children's literature in Canada. These thoughtful, in-depth essays are most insightful. Index.

Articles expressing a wide variety of views concerning children's books make this an outstanding collection of literary criticism. This is similar to A Horn Book Sampler and Horn Book Reflections, compilations from earlier years. Thoughtful reading for teachers.

A content analysis of 1000 American children's books published from 1776–1976 was conducted for information within the books concerning social characteristics that reflected the growth of the country. The chapters, arranged chronologically, relate the quantitative and qualitative findings of the analysis. A scholarly study presented in an interesting, readable style.

Although many teachers and librarians may complain about the authors' "nit-picking" concerning adverse references to Native Americans, Asian Americans, Black Americans, and females, this analysis of approximately 150 children's books will do much to raise the consciousness of those readers who are able to take it in stride.

Fifty essays by British and American specialists in children's literature deal with four themes: the relationship between the text and the reader's worlds, the role of authors, the literary criticism of children's books, and the ways teachers might move forward in the study of reading and literature.

These first-person essays on selected old and modern classics of children's literature are written for adult perusal, not for teachers needing suggestions on using the books with children. The content is energizing; it theorizes that the books transcend childhood and offer inspired thoughts to be contemplated for a lifetime. Enjoyable reading.

Illustrations

This resource book for teachers of children's literature at the high school or college level traces the development of illustrations, with examples from early until modern times, from William Blake to Maurice Sendak. Art lovers, children's illustrations experts, and serious students will enjoy the magnificent colored plates.

This compilation of information about the history and process of illustrating children's books is more than a collection of readings. The articles, all from Horn Book, have been edited and placed specifically, striving to show that the essence of the story must be entwined with the sensitivity of the artist. Illustrations from children's books extend the ideas.

A singularly beautiful volume befitting the most distinguished contemporary illustrator of children's books, this is at once an intimate... personal biography and a scholarly study of the sensitive development of an illustrator's style. Superb.

Beautiful is the appropriate word for this collection of Nancy Ekholm Burkert's art. Many illustrations from her children's books are included. A brief biographical and critical commentary precedes the colored plates.

Puppetry

An excellent reference book on using puppetry as a teaching tool to develop language, reading, mathematics, and other skills. Step-by-step directions are also given for making hand, glove, shadow, and rod puppets, and simple puppet theaters and scenery.

Here is a good resource book on puppets for the teacher, librarian, nurse, camp leader, and parent. The authors discuss how to use puppets in numerous settings as well as how to make many different kinds of puppets.

This text thoroughly describes how to organize and implement a library program, using puppets to effectively communicate with children. Puppets are used as library mascots, to teach library concepts and to tell stories. Informative photographs, diagrams, and directions are included for making puppets and stages. Many helpful resources are listed.

Here are experience-tested and clever ways to create original stories, puppets, and dramatizations. Directions for making many kinds of puppets are given and illustrated with photographs and entertaining drawings. Tips are added for a successful puppet play production. Highly motivating; emphasis is on deaf children, but well applicable to all.

Storytelling and Booktalks

This book covers story selection, preparation, presentation, and program planning in special settings, such as hospitals and outdoors, for children with special needs. The appendix outlines an inservice education workshop and sources for the storyteller.

Here is the definitive handbook on storytelling. Suggestions abound for everything related to story programs including gathering an audience. Topics go beyond the classic forms to the use of magic, nonprint media, and music. Many sources of stories are given; sample programs for all ages are offered. Index.

Twelve international folktales and stories are presented for reading or telling. Each is introduced by a game, verse, or audience-participation story. Following each tale are directions for craft activities that relate to the story. An excellent resource book for extending and appreciating folktales. Illustrations extend the understanding of the craft projects.

This book on various techniques of storytelling draws heavily from a rich background of folklore as a source for story material and programs. Suggestions on how to develop themes and extend them are given. Six sample programs are included. Excellent reference.

For each of seventy-two contemporary works of fiction there is a detailed plot summary, a brief discussion of theme, booktalk suggestions, sources of information about the author, and recommendations of other related books. Directed toward professionals dealing primarily with students in sixth through eighth grades.

Source materials and reference tools are brought together in this short softcover book that lists hundreds of stories and poems from many lands and on many subjects. Ideal for sharing with children during informal library programs. Useful for introducing children to the world's literature.

Commentaries on books of related themes make a useful introduction to books for children. The sections are grouped into six topics: the outdoors, animals, holidays, family life, activities, and miscellaneous. A final grouping offers suggestions for parents, teachers, and librarians.

This scholarly work is intended for adults interested in historical aspects of storytelling and the oral tradition out of which children’s literature grew. The author encourages storytellers to share with the audience something of the culture and society within which the stories are told.

This is a useful handbook of suggestions for using literature with toddlers (ages 2-3), preschoolers (ages 4-5), and primary grade children (ages 6-8). The sections deal with story programs, flannel boards, finger plays and action stories, creative dramatics, and puppetry. Patterns, music, and explicit directions are given. Index.

The author shares practical tips on choosing learning, and telling stories to audiences of varying ages. Citations for books and audio-visual media are given, as well as an excellent listing of seventy-one folktales with active heroine protagonists.

This sequel to Introducing Books offers plot summaries, discussion suggestions, and related materials to be used with the books. Titles are grouped by nine themes that include making friends, developing values, identifying adult roles, and appreciating books. A valuable teaching aid for intermediate grades.

Teaching Methods

Reporting the results of his studies on the stories children tell and children’s responses to stories they hear or read, the author offers a theory of the developmental stages of children’s responses to literature. A scholarly text.

This documentation of the importance of books in aiding the development of a severely handicapped New Zealand child is a testimony to the value of literature as a communication link. story of the young parents and the extended family who worked diligently for the first four years of Cushla’s life to bring her that link is heartwarming and courageous.

A textbook that uses a thematic approach and then subdivides into the more common genre divisions, this compendium includes a wide variety in the more than 160 selections that illustrate aspects of the themes. A section on explorations at the end of each chapter offers intriguing methods for using the literary selections.

The creative uses of media are described in this slim paperback. The author suggests numerous innovative projects that he has used successfully with students; their appeal should encourage the most faint-hearted person’s use.

Eleven essays concern the use of literature with preschool children. Topics deal with the kinds of growth that can be nurtured through literary experiences and the ways books and nonprint materials can be presented advantageously to children. In addition, a list of 100 best books and authors makes this a resource of continuing usefulness.

Results are described of a study that found relationships between Piaget’s developmental stages and fairy tales by Andersen, Perrault, and the Grimms. Between ages six and eight, children’s egocentrism and concepts of animism, causality, magic, and morality seem closely related to components and structures of age-old tales. A scholarly report.

This survey of children’s literature offers practical suggestions for building literature units and a literature curriculum. A unique feature is the series of issues that juxtapose differing viewpoints on children’s book topics. A readable introductory text.

Creating exciting and lively environments for effective use of litera-
Teaching Methods

...ture is what this bonanza is all about. Numerous tested activities are offered in a readable style. All types of classrooms can profit from this versatile treasury of the author's column in Teacher magazine.

An introduction to the art of mime and suggestions for its use with children, especially the deaf, is combined with numerous themes and suggestions on how to do the different motifs in mime. Excellent resource.

This stage-by-stage guide to using literature with young children, from newborn to beginning reader, is helpful for parents and teachers. The suggestions for sharing books are practical, intriguing, and worthwhile. An excellent addition to the books for parents concerning children's literature.

A collection of addresses, essays, and lectures by noted authorities in the field of reading makes this monograph. Subjects include selection of books, library, and involving children with literature.

Holiday fun with books is the focus of this fine teacher's guide. For each of ten holidays summaries and activities for several books are listed. Directions are explicit; in some cases samples are given. A final chapter suggests how seasonal celebrations can be used to nurture independent study activities.

This fourth in a series of teacher's guides offers suggestions for using twenty books with children from ages three to seven. Activities are geared to responding orally and answering by cutting and pasting, making X's, and drawing lines. Vocabulary development experiences are simple. Storytelling is emphasized; good practices in reading aloud are noted.

Essays on using literature and poetry and examining children's attitudes toward reading have been written, selected, and published by reading authorities. Each article contains a bibliography of additional references.

Suggestions for using twenty-seven books are given. The titles range from picture books to fully developed novels. Each guide is about three pages in length and offers discussion questions, various activities, and a list of related resources. The books are modern classics, all popular with children.

A helpful book for parents, teachers, and those involved in working with the very young child. Critical skills that lead to reading are stressed. Various types of games are described. Materials mentioned are readily available. Book and record list included.

Six essays support the philosophy of using trade books to teach reading and language arts skills. Topics concern linguistics, vocabulary growth, literature study, visual and verbal literacy, composition, and reading comprehension. These articles are good examples of applying theory to practice.

Current articles on motivating children to read have been collected. Subjects include methodology, interests, selection, and nonprint media. The many practical ideas presented have been tested and are based on learning theory. Good resource.

Practical ideas to enliven the library program are suggested according to months in the school year. Bulletin board ideas, storytelling selections, art activities, authors' birthdates, and many facets of library operations are described in this readable text. Useful for teachers and public librarians, too.

This softbound volume contains an enthusiastic, detailed description of the values of creative drama. The author attempts to "re-create in print a living workshop experience." Packed with ideas and suggestions about "how-to-do-it."
Textbooks

This comprehensive textbook was updated to include books published from 1975-1978 and to revise briefly certain chapters and listings. The book gives an excellent survey of children's literature; the focus on teaching literature is an outstanding feature.

Contemporary issues that are reflected in children's books are the focus of this textbook. Topics include altered family groupings, sex, aging, death, minority groups, ecology, war, and humor. A final section deals with controversy and creative ways of teaching literature. Extensive bibliographies; index.

There are four parts to this college textbook: one discusses the various genres and how literature relates to children's growth and creativity; another section focuses on authors; a third deals with many ways of using books with children; the final section lists resources for using books. Many suggestions for the college reader and extensive bibliographies.

Several of the genre chapters in this comprehensive textbook have a section on sharing books with children that focuses on a particular mode of use: drama, storytelling, writing, art activities. The treatment is fresh and intriguing. Examples of good and bad literature are given; the content encourages discussion. A usable text.

Many changes are included in this revision of the textbook, long a standard in the field. Chapters are reorganized to give a more specific genre approach. Focus is on major authors rather than a myriad of titles. New sections of books for early childhood and methodology are included.

Developed in part genre approach, part thematic unit, this textbook offers many interesting activities for the college student. Sections within each chapter suggest areas for further exploration, for research, and for additional reading. Written in lively style, the book is stimulating.
Directory of Publishers

Abingdon Press, 201 Eighth Ave., Nashville, TN 37202
Harry N. Abrams, Publishers Inc., 110 E. 59th St., New York, NY 10022
Academy Chicago Limited, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60601
Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., Inc., Rea ling, MA 01867
Alaska Northwest Publishing Co., 130 Second Ave., S., Edmonds, WA 98020
Allyn and Bacon Inc., College Division, Rockleigh, NJ 07647
American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611
Andre Deutsch, c/o Elsevier-Dutton, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016
Atheneum Publishers, Dist. by Book Warehouse, Inc., Vreeland Ave., Boro of Totowa, Paterson, NJ 07512
Bahá'í Publishing Trust, 415 Linden Ave., Wilmette, IL 60091
Bala Books, 340 W. 55th St., New York, NY 10019
Barron's Educational Series, Inc., 113 Crossways Park Dr., Woodbury, NY 11797
Beaufort Books, Inc., 9 E. 40th St., New York, NY 10016
Beginner Books, Division of Random House, Inc., 400 Hahn Rd., Westminster, MD 21157
John F. Blair, Publisher, 1406 Plaza Dr., Winston-Salem, NC 27103
R. R. Bowker Co., P.O. Box 1807, Ann Arbor, MI 48106
Carolrhoda Books, Inc. Dist. by Control Data Arts, 474 Concordia Ave., St Paul, MN 55103
Children Press, 1224 W. Van Buren St., Chicago, IL 60607
Clarion Books, Imprint of Houghton Mifflin Co., Wayside Road, Burlington, MA 01803
Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, Inc., 1050 W. Wall St., Lynhurst, NJ 07071
Creative Education, Inc., 123 S. Broad St., Mankato, MN 56001

425

434
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Address</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Crown Publishers, Inc.</td>
<td>1 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Delacorte Press, c/o Dell Publishing Co.</td>
<td>1 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, 245 E. 47th St., New York, NY 10017</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dell Publishing Co., Inc.</td>
<td>1 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, 245 E. 47th St., New York, NY 10017</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Design Enterprises of San Francisco</td>
<td>P.O. Box 14695, San Francisco, CA 94114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dial Press</td>
<td>1 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, 245 E. 47th St., New York, NY 10017</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dillon Press, Inc.</td>
<td>500 Third St., Minneapolis, MN 55415</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dodd, Mead &amp; Co.</td>
<td>79 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doubleday &amp; Co., Inc.</td>
<td>501 Franklin Ave., Garden City, NY 11530</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E. P. Dutton, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY</td>
<td>10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William B. Eerdmans Publishing Co.,</td>
<td>255 Jefferson Ave., S.E., Grand Rapids, MI 49503</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elsevier-Dutton Publishing Co., Inc.</td>
<td>2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elsevier/Nelson Books, Inc.</td>
<td>2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emerson Books, Inc.</td>
<td>Reynolds Lane, Buchanan, NY 10511</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ERIC Clearinghouse on Early Childhood Education</td>
<td>University of Illinois, 865 W. Pennsylvania Ave., Urbana, IL 61801</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evans &amp; Co., Inc.</td>
<td>Dist. by E. P. Dutton, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exposition Press, Inc.</td>
<td>900 S. Oyster Bay Road, Hicksville, NY 11801</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farrar, Straus &amp; Giroux, Inc.</td>
<td>19 Union Square, W., New York, NY 10003</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feminist Press, SUNY/College at Old Westbury</td>
<td>Box 334, Old Westbury, NY 11568</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follett Publishing Co. Div. of Follett Corp.</td>
<td>1010 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago, IL 60607</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Four Winds Press, Div. of Scholastic Book Services</td>
<td>50 W. 44th St., New York, NY 10036</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Free-Press, Div. of Macmillan Publishing Co., Inc.</td>
<td>866 Third Ave., New York, NY 10022</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gale Research Co.,</td>
<td>Book Tower, Detroit, MI 48226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gambit, 27 North Main St., Meeting House Green</td>
<td>Ipswich, MA 01938</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garrard Publishing Co.,</td>
<td>1607 N. Market St., Champaign, IL 61820</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>David R. Godine, Publisher, Inc.</td>
<td>796 Dartmouth St., Boston, MA 02116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Golden Press</td>
<td>Imprint of Western Publishing Co., Inc., Dept M, 1220 Mound Ave., Racine, WI 53404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stephen Greene Press</td>
<td>Fessenden Road, Indiana Flat, Brattleboro, VT 05301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greenhaven Press</td>
<td>577 Shoreview Park Road, St Paul, MN 55112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greenwillow Books, Div. of William Morrow &amp; Co., Inc.</td>
<td>Wilmore Warehouse, 6 Henderson Dr., West Caldwell, NJ 07006</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grosset &amp; Dunlap, Inc.</td>
<td>51 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10010</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc.</td>
<td>757 Third Ave., New York, NY 10017</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
427

Harvard University Press, Customer Service, 79 Garden St., Cambridge, MA 02138

Harvey House Publishers, 128 W. River St., Chippewa Falls, WI 54729

Hastings House, Publishers, Inc., 10 E. 40th St., New York, NY 10016

Herald Press, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottsdale, PA 15683

Holiday House, Inc., 18 E. 53rd St., New York, NY 10022

Holmes & Meier Publishers, Inc., 30 Irving Place, New York, NY 10003

Horn Book, Inc., Park Square Bldg., 31 St. James Ave., Boston, MA 02116

Houghton Mifflin Co., Wayside Road, Burlington, MA 01803

Independence Press, Div. of Herald House, Drawer HH, Independence, MO 64055

Indiana University Press, Tenth & Morton Sts., Bloomington, IN 47405

International Reading Association, 800 Barksdale Rd., Box 8139, Newark, DE 19711

Jewish Publication Society of America, 117 S. 17th St., Philadelphia, PA 19103

Judson Press, Valley Forge, PA 19489

Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., 400 Hahn Rd., Westminster, MD 21157

Larousse & Co., Inc., 572 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10036

Seymour Lawrence, Dist. by Delacorte Press, 1 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, 245 E. 47th St., New York, NY 10017

Lerner Publications Co., Dist. by Control Data Arts, 474 Concordia Ave., St Paul, MN 55103

Little, Brown & Co., 200 West St., Waltham, MA 02154

Lollipop Power, Inc., P.O. Box 1171, Chapel Hill, NC 27514

Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Books. Div. of William Morrow & Co., Inc., Wilmor Warehouse, 6 Henderson Dr., West Caldwell, NJ 07006

Manzanita Press, P.O. Box 4027, San Rafael, CA 94903

Mar Vista Publishing Co., 11917 Westminster Place, Los Angeles, CA 90066

McClelland and Stewart, Ltd., 25 Hollinger Rd., Toronto, Ontario, M4B 3G2

McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1221 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10020

David McKay Co., Inc., 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016

Julian Messner, TheSimon & Schuster Bldg., 1230 Ave. of the Americas, New York, NY 10020

Meeting Street School, Rhode Island Easter Seal Society, 667 Waterman Ave., East Providence, RI 02914

William Morrow & Co., Inc., Wilmor Warehouse, 6 Henderson Dr., West Caldwell, NJ 07006

Mosaic Press/Valley Editions, Box 1032, Oakville, Ontario L6J 5E9
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Address</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>National Council of Teachers of English</td>
<td>1111 Kenyon Road, Urbana, IL 61801</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>National Geographic Society</td>
<td>17th &amp; M Sts. N.W., Washington, DC 20036</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Plays Books</td>
<td>Trolley Place, Rowayton, CT 06853</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Seed Press</td>
<td>P.O. Box 3016, Stanford, CA 94305</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Victoria Publishers</td>
<td>7 Bank St., Lebanon, NH 03766</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New York Public Library</td>
<td>c/o Readex Books, 101 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10003</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Northland Press</td>
<td>P.O. Box N, Flagstaff, AZ 86002</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oceana Publications</td>
<td>75 Main St., Dobbs Ferry, NY 10522</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oryx Press</td>
<td>2224 N. Central Ave., Phoenix, AZ 85004</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oxford University Press, Inc.</td>
<td>16-00 Pollitt Dr., Fair Lawn, NJ 07410</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Panjandrum Books</td>
<td>Dist. by Publisher's Group West, 5855 Beaudry, Emeryville, CA 94608</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pantheon Books</td>
<td>Div. of Random House, Inc., 400 Hahn Rd., Westminster, MD 21157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S. G. Phillips, Inc.</td>
<td>305 W. 86th St., New York, NY 10024</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Platt &amp; Munk, Publishers</td>
<td>Imprint of Grosset &amp; Dunlap, 51 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10010</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plays, Inc.</td>
<td>8 Arlington St., Boston, MA 02116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prentice-Hall, Inc.</td>
<td>Box 503, Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Press Pacific</td>
<td>P.O. Box 1277, Kailua, HI 96734</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Putnam Publishing Group</td>
<td>1050 Wall St., W., Lyndhurst, NJ 07071</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. P. Putnam's Sons</td>
<td>1050 Wall St., W., Lyndhurst, NJ 07071</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Raintree Publishers, Inc.</td>
<td>205 W. Highland Ave., Milwaukee, WI 53203</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rand McNally &amp; Co.</td>
<td>P.O. Box 7600, Chicago, IL 60680</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Random House, Inc.</td>
<td>400 Hahn Rd., Westminster, MD 21157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nancy Renfro Studios</td>
<td>1117 W. 9th St., Austin, TX 78703</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rodale Press, Inc.</td>
<td>33 E. Minor St., Emmaus, PA 18049</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scarecrow Press</td>
<td>Div. of Grolier Educational Corp., 52 Liberty St., Metuchen, NJ 08840</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schenkmann Publishing Co., Inc.</td>
<td>3 Mt. Auburn Place, Cambridge, MA 02138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scholastic Books, Inc.</td>
<td>200 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scholastic Magazines</td>
<td>50 W 44th St., New York, NY 10036</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott, Foresman &amp; Co.</td>
<td>1900 E. Lake Ave., Glenview, IL 60025</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charles Scribner's Sons</td>
<td>Vreeland Ave., Boro of Totowa, Paterson, NJ 07512</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seabury Press, Inc.</td>
<td>Seabury Service Center, Somers, CT 06071</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sierra Club Books</td>
<td>Dist. by Charles Scribner's Sons, Vreeland Ave., Boro of Totowa, Paterson, NJ 07512</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: The text appears to be a list of publishers and their addresses. The list is organized alphabetically by publisher name. Each entry includes the name of the publisher, followed by the address. The addresses vary widely, indicating that the publishers are located across the United States. Some publishers are noted for their involvement in specific genres or audiences, such as educational materials or general trade books.
Simon & Schuster, Inc., 1230 Ave. of the Americas, New York, NY 10020
Sisters' Choice Press, 2027 Parker St., Berkeley, CA 94704
Slaffen Court Books, c/o Atheneum Pubs., 597 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10017
Stermer House Publishers, Inc., 2627 Caves Rd., Owings Mills, MD 21117
Sterling Publishing Co., Inc., 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016
Todd Tarbox Books, 2523 Ashton Rd., Jackson, MI 49203
Thimble Press, Lockwood, Station Road, South Woodchester, Stroud, Glos. GL5 5EQ
Third World Press, 7524 S. Cottage Grove, Chicago, IL 60619
Troll Associates, 320 Rte. 17, Mahwah, NJ 07430
Tundra Books of Northern New York, 51 Clinton St., Box 1030, Plattsburgh, NY 12901
Charles E. Tuttle Co., Inc., P.O. Drawer F, Rutland, VT 05701
University of Chicago Press, 11030 S. Langley Ave., Chicago, IL 60628
Vanguard Press, Inc., 424 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10017
Viking Press, c/o Vikeship Co., 299 Murray Hill Pkway., East Rutherford, NJ 07073
Walker & Co., 720 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10019
Frederick Warne & Co., Inc., 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016
Franklin Watts, Inc., 730 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10019
John Weatherhill, Inc. Dist. by Charles E. Tuttle, Co., Inc 28 S. Main St., Rutland, VT 05701
Western Publishing Co., Inc., Dept. M, 1220 Mound Ave., Racine, WI 53404
Westminster Press, Order Dept., P.O. Box 718, Wm. Penn Annex, Philadelphia, PA 19105
Albert Whitman & Co., 560 W. Lake St., Chicago, IL 60606
Author Index

Aardema, Verna, 10, 37
Aaron, Chester, 149
Aaseng, Natha- , 279, 280
Abercrombie, Barbara, 224
Adams, Florence, 335
Adkins, Jan, 133, 252, 346
Adler, C. S., 172, 206
Adler, David A., 183, 347, 352
Adoff, Arnold, 214, 215, 217, 222
Aesop, 9
Agostinelli, Maria, 265
Ahlberg, Allan, 35, 92
Ahlberg, Janet, 35, 92
Aiken, Conrad, 219
Aik-n, Joan, 70
Ainsworth, Ruth, 70
Albert, Burton, Jr., 252, 341
Aleichem, Sholem, 236
Alexander, Lloyd, 67, 68
Alexander, Martha, 39, 164
Alexander, Sue, 70, 183, 240, 380
Aikin, 206, 274, 353
Allamand, Pascale, 39
Allan, Mabel Esther, 123
Allard, Harry, 71, 76, 201
Allen, Marjorie N., 179
Allen, Martha Dickson, 313, 356
Allen, Maury, 280
Allen, Thomas B., 254
Ames, Gerald, 398
Ames, Lee J., 386
Ames, Mildred, 172
Amon, Alme, 304, 313
Ancona, George, 295, 342, 343
Anders, Rebecca, 249
Andersen, Hans Christian, 82, 83
Anderson, Bernice G., 10
Anderson, Lenza, 26
Anderson, Lucia, 339
Anderson, Margaret J., 100, 121, 124
Anderson, Mary, 192
Anderson, Mona, 300
Angel, Judie, 149, 172, 183
Annixter, Jane, 140, 320
Annixter, Paul, 140, 320

Anno, Mitsumasa, 244, 245, 406
Applegate, Arthur N., 419
Arbuthnot, May Hill, 423
Armour, Richard, 309
Arnold, Caroline, 305
Arnold, Oren, 382
Arnold, Susan Riser, 391
Arnowsky, Jim, 1, 301
Arnov, Boris, 351
Arnn, Ben, 10
Arthur, Catherine, 179
Arthur, Ruth M., 121
Aruego, Jose, 406
Ash, Frank, 39, 234, 242, 244
Asher, Sandy, 130
Ashley, Bernard, 149
Asian Cultural Centre for UNESCO, 11
Asimov, Isaac, 263, 335
Association for Childhood Education International, 164
Atkinson, Mary, 201
Atwood, Ann, 222
Augarde, Steve, 40
Avi, 115, 116
Aylesworth, Jim, 183
Aylesworth, Thomas G., 27
Babbit, Natalie, 101
Bach, Alice, 40
Bahadur, Dinesh, 363
Bailey, Bernadine, 379
Baker, Alan, 40
Baker, Augusta, 7
Baker, Betty, 93
Baker, Jeanette, 207
Baker, Will, 192
Baldwin, Anne Norris, 179
Baldwin, Lorn, 314
Ballan, Lorna, 93, 230
Bancheck, Linda, 383
Bang, Molly Garrett, 11
Bore, Colleen Stanley, 317, 320
Barkin, Carol, 348
Barrett, John M., 40, 150
Barrett, Judy, 76, 93, 193
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page Numbers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Bawden, Nina</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bayley, Nicola</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baylor, Byrd</td>
<td>141, 172, 198, 222, 263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beatty, Patricia</td>
<td>119, 120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bedini, Silvio A</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beer, Kathleen Costello</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Begley, Kathleen A.</td>
<td>291</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Behrens, June</td>
<td>270, 376</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bellairs, John</td>
<td>71, 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Belpré, Pura</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Belsky, Dick</td>
<td>280</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Benchley, Nathaniel</td>
<td>115, 141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bendiek, Jeanne</td>
<td>335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Benjamin, Alan</td>
<td>406</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bennett, Jill</td>
<td>410</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bere, Rennie</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berends, Polly B</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berenstain, Jan</td>
<td>41, 230, 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berenstain, Stan</td>
<td>41, 230, 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berg, Annmarie</td>
<td>271</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berger, Gilda</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berger, Melvin</td>
<td>258, 327, 332, 343, 373</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berger, Terry</td>
<td>41, 265, 342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berkey, Barry</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berkey, Velma</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berliner, Don</td>
<td>299, 360</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bernstein, Joanne E</td>
<td>342, 385, 410</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bernstein, Margery</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berrell, Jacqueline</td>
<td>301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berry, E.</td>
<td>391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Benson, Harold</td>
<td>11, 41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bester, Roger</td>
<td>406</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bethell, Jean</td>
<td>301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bible, Charles</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bielewicz, Julian A</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bierhorst, John</td>
<td>378</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Billings, Charlene W</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Billington, Elizabeth T</td>
<td>409</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Billo, Guy</td>
<td>267, 337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bishopp, Patricia</td>
<td>410</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bitter, Gary G</td>
<td>347</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blake, Ann George M</td>
<td>III, 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blackburn, John B</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blackburn, Lorraine A</td>
<td>220, 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blaine, Marge</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blanchet, Francoise</td>
<td>395</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blatt, Joseph</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blevad, Erik</td>
<td>35, 278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blevad, Lenore</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blos, Joan W</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blumberg, Rhoda</td>
<td>27, 301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blume, Judy</td>
<td>130, 183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boccaccio, Tony</td>
<td>368</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bødker, Cecil</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boegh hold, Betty</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bosen, Victor</td>
<td>289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boegh hold, Judith A</td>
<td>411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bohdal, Susi</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bolognese, Don</td>
<td>379</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boman, Godfried</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bond, Michael</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bond, Nancy</td>
<td>101, 133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bonham, Frank</td>
<td>106, 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bonsall, Crosby</td>
<td>150, 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Borja, Cornne</td>
<td>389</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Borja, Robert</td>
<td>389</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Borland, Hal</td>
<td>339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bornstein, Ruth Lether</td>
<td>84, 99, 164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bosse, Malcolm J</td>
<td>101, 207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bottier, Barbara</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bourke, Linda</td>
<td>390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bourne, Eulalia &quot;Sister&quot;</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bourne, Miriam Anne</td>
<td>295</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bowden, Joan Chase</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bowen, Gary</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boynton, Sandra</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bradley, Buff</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brady, Esther Wood</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brady, Irene</td>
<td>325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bram, Elizabeth</td>
<td>184, 199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brandenberg, Franz</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Branley, Franklyn M</td>
<td>328, 336, 351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Branscum, Robbie</td>
<td>134, 150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Branson, Karen</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brenner, Barbara</td>
<td>12, 278, 303, 305, 352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brewton, John E</td>
<td>220, 224, 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brewton, Sara</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bridgman, Elizabeth</td>
<td>175, 184, 246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Briggs, Katharine</td>
<td>12, 13, 71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Briggs, Raymond</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brightman, Alan J</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brittain, Bill</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadsky, Beverly</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brooks, Gregory</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brooks, Jerome</td>
<td>1/2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brower, Pauline</td>
<td>270</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Brown, Anne Ensign, 309, 336
Brown, Dee, 28, 267
Brown, Joseph E., 329, 336
Brown, Louise C., 318
Brown, Marc, 42, 93, 224, 237
Brown, Marcia, 28, 244
Brown, Margaret Wise, 42, 141
Brown, Marion Marsh, 289
Brown, Palmer, 42
Browne, Anthony, 42
Brustlein, Janice, 141
Bryan, Ashley, 13
Budbill, David, 134
Bulla, Clyde Robert, 84, 111, 150, 164
Bulychev, Kirill, 106
Bunting, Eve, 84, 134, 150, 151, 238, 364
Bunting, Glenn, 364
Burch, Robert, 128
Burchard, Marshall, 280
Burchard, Peter, 116, 118
Burningham, John, 42, 77
Burns, Marilyn, 265, 339
Burr, Lonnie, 375
Burstein, John, 343
Burt, Olive W., 330, 332
Burton, Hester, 134
Busch, Phyllis S., 352
Bush, Chan, 363, 364
Busnar, Gene, 379
Butler, Dorothy, 419
Butler, Francesca, 420
Butler, Hal, 280
Butler, Joan, 375
Byars, Betsy, 151, 165
Cahn, Rhoda, 375
Cahn, William, 375
Caines, Jeannette, 165
Calhoun, Mary, 43
Callen, Larry, 134
Calloway, Northern J., 134
Cameron, Ann, 93
Cameron, Eleanor, 125
Campbell, C W, 285
Campbell, Maria, 28
Canfield, Jane White, 305
Caputo, Robert, 320
Carr, Roger, 320, 356
Carle, Eric, 43, 93
Carlson, Bernice Wells, 13, 418
Carlson, Natalie Savage, 13, 43, 141
Carmichael, Carolyn W., 420
Carrick, Carol, 151, 309, 354
Carrick, Malcolm, 13, 43, 175
Carroll, Lewis, 220
Carroll, Theodore C., 230
Cartlidge, Michelle, 43, 44
Casey, Brigid, 308
Cassedy, Sylvia, 385
Cauley, Lorinda Bryan, 44, 395
Cavagnero, David, 234
Cavagnero, Maggie, 234
Cavanaugh, Arthur, 19
Ceserani, Gian Paolo, 293
Chaffin, Lillie D., 165
Chatkin, Miriam, 28, 128
Chambers, John W., 142
Chapman, Carol, 71, 84
Cheatham, K. Folli, 114
Chen, Tony, 323
Cheney, Cora, 271
Cheng, Hou-tien, 20, 238, 389
Chess, Victoria, 242
Child Study Children's Book Committee at Bank Street, 173
Children's Writers and Artists Collaborative, 256
Chin, Richard, 369
Chorao, Kay, 201
Chukovsky, Korney, 44
Church, Margaret, 364
Cipriano, Anthony J., 299
Clark, Ann Nolan, 13, 151
Clay, Patrice A., 307
Cleary, Beverly, 165, 175
Cleaver, Bill, 165, 207
Cleaver, Vera, 165, 207
Clements, Bruce, 112, 166
Clements, David, 365
Clifford, Eth, 207
Clifton, Lucille, 166, 179
Clymer, Eleanor, 44, 135, 207
Clune, Patricia Edwards, 71
Coatsworth, David, 28
Coatsworth, Emerson, 28
Cobb, Vicki, 289, 338
Cober, Alan E., 376
Coburn, Doris, 333
Coerr, Eleanor, 120, 293
Cohen, Barbara, 14, 29, 175
Cohen, Daniel, 354, 356
Cohen, Joel H., 281
Cohen, Miriam, 201, 202
Cohen, Peter Zachary, 135
Coile, Ann, 254, 392
Cole, Brock, 77
Cole, Joana, 305, 310
Cole, William, 214, 217, 220, 403
Coletta, Irene, 242
Collins, David R., 77, 293
Colmar, Hila, 152
Colver, Anne, 124
Comins, Jeremy, 389
Commire, Anne, 409
Concannon, Tom, 420
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page Numbers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cone, Molly</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conford, Ellen</td>
<td>202</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conklin, Gladys</td>
<td>311</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Constant, Alberta Wilson</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cook, Jan Leslie</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cookson, Catherine</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coombs, Charles</td>
<td>299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coombs, Patricia</td>
<td>14, 71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooney, Caroline B.</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooney, Nancy Evans</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooper, Jane</td>
<td>395</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooper, Susan</td>
<td>72, 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Corbett, Scott</td>
<td>106, 337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Corcoran, Barbara</td>
<td>192, 208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cosgrove, Margaret</td>
<td>344</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Couffer, Jack</td>
<td>330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Couffer, Mike</td>
<td>330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cowill, Bruce</td>
<td>85, 94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cowill, Katherine</td>
<td>85, 94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cowing, Sheila</td>
<td>333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Craft, Ruth</td>
<td>77, 208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Craig, M. Jean</td>
<td>14, 301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crambit, Joella</td>
<td>391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crayder, Dorothy</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cressey, James</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Creswell, Helen</td>
<td>184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crews, Donald</td>
<td>5, 244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Croll, Carolyn</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crook, Beverly Courtney</td>
<td>152, 392</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cross, Helen Reeder</td>
<td>118, 286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crowe, Robert L</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crowley, Arthur</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crowther, Robert</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cullinan, Bernice E</td>
<td>470</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cuneo, Mary Louise</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cunliffe, John</td>
<td>77, 85, 94, 193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cunningham, Bronnie</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cunningham, Julia</td>
<td>67, 152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Curley, Daniel</td>
<td>14, 127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Currell, David</td>
<td>417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Curry, Jane Louise</td>
<td>101, 193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Curtis, Edward S</td>
<td>14, 265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cushman, Doug</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cutt, Nancy</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cutt, W Towne</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cuyler, Margery</td>
<td>235, 236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D'Amato, Alex</td>
<td>271</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D'Amato, Janet</td>
<td>271</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dabovich, Lydia</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dahl, Roald</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dann, Cohn</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Danziger, Paula</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Darling, Kathy</td>
<td>15, 338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dasent, Sir George Webbe</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dauer, Rosamond</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>David, Jonathan</td>
<td>400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davidson, Margaret</td>
<td>308, 314, 325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davies, Andrew</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davies, Eryl</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davis, Burke</td>
<td>287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davis, Enid</td>
<td>415</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davis, Hubert</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davis, Jesse</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Davis, Ossie</td>
<td>380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dawson, Linda</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Beaumont, Madame</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Brunhoff, Laurent</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Huff, Elizabeth Willis</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Paola, Tomie</td>
<td>5, 15, 29, 46, 85, 94, 202, 231, 259, 263, 315, 333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Regniers, Beatrice Shenk</td>
<td>15, 225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Roo, Anne</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Wit, Dorothy</td>
<td>29, 418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dean, Anabel</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Degen, Bruce</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>deGroat, Diane</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Delaney, Ned</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dell, Cath.-one</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Delton, Judy</td>
<td>45, 46, 135, 166, 176, 202</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Demi, 15, 72, 407</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>De:uth, Jack</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Demuth, Patricia</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dennis, Landt</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Devaney, John</td>
<td>281, 287, 293, 369</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Devlin, Harry</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Devlin, Wende</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dewey, Arane</td>
<td>406</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dexter, Paul R</td>
<td>368</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DeWeese, Gene</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Diamond, Donna</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dickinson, Emily</td>
<td>725</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dickinson, Mary</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dickinson, Peter</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dickmeyer, Lowell A</td>
<td>368</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dicks, Terrance</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinneen, Betty</td>
<td>321</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dionetti, Michelle</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Walt Disney Productions</td>
<td>231, 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Distad, Audrey</td>
<td>152, 259</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ditzel, Paul C</td>
<td>268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dixon, Paige</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dolan, Edward F Jr</td>
<td>281, 361</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dolan, Sheila</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domanska, Janina</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Donovan, John</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doornekamp, Rinke</td>
<td>395</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dos Santos, Joyce Audy</td>
<td>16, 199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doss, Helen</td>
<td>344</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doty, Roy</td>
<td>257, 403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Douglas, Robert W</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dowden, Anne Ophelia</td>
<td>352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragonwagon, Crescent</td>
<td>46, 153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Author</td>
<td>Page(s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------------------------</td>
<td>---------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drescher, Joan</td>
<td>256</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dreyer, Sharon Spredemann</td>
<td>411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Driz, Ovsei</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drucker, Malka</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>du Bois, William Pène</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dubois, Daniel</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duff, Maggie</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dugan, Michael</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dumas, Philippe</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duncan, Jane</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dunn, Judy</td>
<td>143, 315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duvoisin, Roger</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edelson, Edward</td>
<td>286, 375</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edmonds, I. G.</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edwards, David L.</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Egoff, Sheila A</td>
<td>415</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ehrlich, Amy</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eichelberger, Rosa Kohler</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eiseman, Robert</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eiseman, Fred</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eisenberg, Phyllis Rose</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eldred, Patricia</td>
<td>257</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eldridge, David</td>
<td>354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eldridge, Roger</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ellerby, Leona</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elliott, Donald</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elmore, Patricia</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elting, Mary</td>
<td>354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elwood, Roger</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emanuel, Elizabeth</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emberley, Ed</td>
<td>6, 242, 388, 407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Engdahl, Sylvia</td>
<td>328</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Engel, Beth Bland</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Englebardt, Stanley L.</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>English, Betty Lou</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Epstein, Beryl</td>
<td>289, 290, 330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Epstein, Sam</td>
<td>289, 290, 330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Erdoes, Richard</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Estes, Arnulf K</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Estes, Louise A</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Estes, Eleanor</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Etter, Les</td>
<td>204, 362</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everton, Macduff</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faber, Doris</td>
<td>287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Facklam, Margery</td>
<td>290</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fanshawe, Elizabeth</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairer, Norma</td>
<td>72, 85, 214, 222, 246, 341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farley, Walter</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farmer, Penelope</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farris, Stella</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fassler, Joan</td>
<td>411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Favat, F André</td>
<td>420</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feaver, William</td>
<td>416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feder, Jane</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feder, Paula Kurzband</td>
<td>202</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Author Index

Gackenbach, Dick, 48, 78, 234
Gage, Wilson, 73, 185
Galbraith, Catherine Atwater, 254
Galbraith, Kathryn Osebold, 167
Galdone, Joanna, 16
Galdone, Paul, 16
Gallant, Roy A., 343
Gana, Roma, 305, 333
Gantos, Jack, 48, 78
Ganz, David L., 400
Gardiner, John Reynolds, 153
Gardner, John, 214
Gardner, Robert, 339, 346, 351, 368
Garelick, May, 306, 352
Garfield, Leon, 117
Garner, Alan, 122
Garigue, Sheila, 180
Garrison, Christian, 127
Gates, Doris, 143
Gates, Frieda, 387
Gates, Wende' Devlin, 315
Gauch, Patr ee Lee, 16, 294, 378
Gault, William Campbell, 205
Ges, Darlene, 375
Gelman, Rita Golden, 194
Gemme, Leila Boyle, 299
Gemming, Elizabeth, 264, 274
Gennaro, Joseph, 346
George, Jean Craighead, 136, 143
Geras, Adele, 122
Geringer, Laura, 321
Gerson, Corinne, 154
Geeser, Arnold A., 124
Gibbons, Gail, 78, 347
Giblin, James, 259
Giff, Patricia Reilly, 185
Gulchist, Theo E., 78
Gillespie, John T., 418
Gillis, Ruth J., 411
Gilson, Jamie, 185
Ginsburg, Corinne, 173
Girion, Barbara, 144, 208
Giwler, Ira, 362
Gittings, Robert, 23
Glazer, Joan 1, 420
Glazer, Tom, 378, 382
Gleasner, Diana C., 292, 367
Glubok, Shirley, 376, 377
Goble, Paul, 17, 30
Godden, Rumer, 49, 194
Goffstein, M. B., 173, 208, 340, 377
Gold, Phyllis, 180
Goldsch, Augusta, 333
Goldrech, Esther, 250
Goldrech, Gloria, 250
Goldsmith, Howard, 72
Gonzalez, Gloria, 153
Goodall, John S., 6
Goodman, Ann, 354
Goodman, Paul, 278
Gordon, Sheila, 154
Gordon, Shirley, 154, 173, 203
Graaff, Stewart, 274
Graham, Ada, 317
Graham, Frank, 317
Grahame, Kenneth, 49
Grant, Anne, 294
Graves, Michael F., 411
Gray, Genevieve, 113
Greaves, Margaret, 86
Greenberg, Barbara, 154
Greenberg, Jan, 154
Greene, Constance C., 129, 154, 167, 173
Greene, Ellyn, 411, 417
Greene, Laura, 263
Greenfield, Howard, 237, 382, 385
Greenfield, Eloise, 102, 177, 208, 216, 294
Greenwald, Sheila, 186
Gretz, Susanna, 395
Greene, Arnold A., 124
Griffiths, G. D., 321
Griffiths, Helen, 144
Grillione, Lisa, 340
Grimes, Nikki, 176, 217
Grimm, Jakob, 17, 18, 19
Grimm, Wilhelm, 17, 18, 19
Gross, Ruth Belov, 344
Grosvenor, Donna K., 318, 327
Guillo, Stephen V., 342
Gutman, Bill, 281, 282
Gutman, Nahum, 123
Haas, Carolyn, 392
Habrink, Bodil, 254
Hahn, Mary Downing, 155
Haldane, Suzanne, 372
Haley, Gail E., 30, 86
Hall, Brenny, 419
Hall, Carol, 134
Hall, Donald, 118
Hall, Lynn, 30, 144
Hall, Malcolm, 19, 49
Halsey, William D., 383
Halter, Jon C., 274
Hamilton, Virginia, 69
Hamlun; Margorie, 421
Hamsa, Bobbie, 321
Hancock, Sibyl, 144, 286
Hankey, Peter, 378
Hanlon, Emily, 180
Hann, Jacque, 153, 186
Author Index

Hansen, Joyce, 173
Hansen, Rosanna, 374
Hanson, Joan, 383
Hansen, June Andrea, 145
Hapgood, Miranda, 155
Harling, Lee, 106
Harley, Ruth, 296
Harper, Anita, 250, 254
Harrah, Barbara K., 411
Harris, Christie, 19, 30, 194
Harris, Dorothy Joan, 49
Harris, Karen H., 410
Harris, Lorle, 306, 321
Harris, Mark Jonathan, 155
Harris, Robie H., 155, 205, 344
Harrison, Sarah, 95
Hartelius, Margaret A., 6
Hartling, Peter, 208
Harvey, Anthony, 354
Haskins, James, 282, 288
Hass, Patricia Cecil, 137
Hassler, Jon, 194
Hathaway, Nancy, 239
Haugeard, Erik Christian, 112, 124
Haviland, Virginia, 412
Hawkesworth, Eric, 389
Hawkinson, John, 388
Hayes, Geoffrey, 49, 67
Haynes, Henry Louis, 180
Hays, James D., 350
Hayward, Max, 44
Haywood, Carolyn, 203
Hazen, Barbara Shook, 168, 265, 344, 382
Hearne, Betsy Gould, 95
Heide, Florence Parry, 180, 186, 194
Heide, Rosanne, 194
Heilman, Grant, 259
Heins, Paul, 415
Helbig, Alethea, 225
Heller, Linda, 6, 186
Henriod, Lorraine, 400
Henry, Marguerite, 377
Henry, Sarah Ann, 403
Herda, D. J., 391, 397
Herda, Judy Bock, 391
Herman, Charlotte, 168
Hermes, Patricia, 180
Herold, Ann Bixby, 137
Hertz, Irene, 50
Hess, Jeff, 364, 398
Hess, Lilo, 303, 312, 315, 316
Hewett, Joan, 327
Heyman, Anita, 123
Hickman, Janet, 120
Hick, Clifford B., 194, 195
Higdon, Hal, 282
Highwater, Jamake, 31
Hildick, E. W., 195
Hill, Helen, 225
Hiller, Catherine, 50
Hilton, Suzanne, 268
Himler, Ronald, 199
Hinman, Dorothy, 412
Hinz, Martin, 372
Hirsch, Linda, 186
Hirschmann, Linda, 302
Hirsh, Marilyn, 73
Hoban, Brom, 311
Hoban, Lillian, 50
Hoban, Russell, 50, 79
Hoban, Tata, 244
Hoberman, Mary Ann, 247
Hodges, C. Walter, 231
Hodgson, Mary Anne, 392
Heft, Syd, 51, 232, 294
Hoffman, Elizabeth P., 73
Hoffmann, E. T. A., 99
Holland, Isabelle, 155, 209
Holme, Bryan, 377
Holmes, Efner Tudor, 145, 209
Holzenthaler, Jean, 344
Hoober, Dorothy, 274
Hoober, Thomas, 274
Hooker, Ruth, 195
Hooks, William H., 145, 195
Hoover, H. M., 107
Hopf, Alice L., 303, 322
Hopkins, Lee Bennett, 73, 155, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 223, 234, 239, 420
Horn, Geoffrey, 19
Horner, Catherine Townsend, 412
Horsburgh, Peg, 340
Hoskins, Robert, 107
Houghton, Eric, 51
Houston, James, 137
Howard, Katherine, 246
Howe, Deb. .ah, 67, 100
Howe, James, 67, 100
Hoyt, Edwin P., 272
Hua, Miriam, 320
Huang, Paul C., 395
Huck, Charlotte S., 423
Hughes, Monica, 107
Hughes, Shirley, 6, 156
Hunt, Joyce, 319, 322
Hunter, Mollie, 87, 95, 176, 409
Huntington, Harriet E., 316
Huntington, Lee Pennock, 264
Hurd, Edith Thacher, 79, 145
Hurd, Thacher, 199
Hurnmence, Belinda, 176
Huwitz, Johanna, 130, 186, 187
Huss, Sally Moore, 366
Hutchins, Pat., 156, 187

Plain text: Author Index

Hansen, Joyce, 173
Hansen, Rosanna, 374
Hanson, Joan, 383
Hansen, June Andrea, 145
Hapgood, Miranda, 155
Harling, Lee, 106
Harley, Ruth, 296
Harper, Anita, 250, 254
Harrah, Barbara K., 411
Harris, Christie, 19, 30, 194
Harris, Dorothy Joan, 49
Harris, Karen H., 410
Harris, Lorle, 306, 321
Harris, Mark Jonathan, 155
Harris, Robie H., 155, 205, 344
Harrison, Sarah, 95
Hartelius, Margaret A., 6
Hartling, Peter, 208
Harvey, Anthony, 354
Haskins, James, 282, 288
Hass, Patricia Cecil, 137
Hassler, Jon, 194
Hathaway, Nancy, 239
Haugeard, Erik Christian, 112, 124
Haviland, Virginia, 412
Hawkesworth, Eric, 389
Hawkinson, John, 388
Hayes, Geoffrey, 49, 67
Haynes, Henry Louis, 180
Hays, James D., 350
Hayward, Max, 44
Haywood, Carolyn, 203
Hazen, Barbara Shook, 168, 265, 344, 382
Hearne, Betsy Gould, 95
Heide, Florence Parry, 180, 186, 194
Heide, Rosanne, 194
Heilman, Grant, 259
Heins, Paul, 415
Helbig, Alethea, 225
Heller, Linda, 6, 186
Henriod, Lorraine, 400
Henry, Marguerite, 377
Henry, Sarah Ann, 403
Herda, D. J., 391, 397
Herda, Judy Bock, 391
Herman, Charlotte, 168
Hermes, Patricia, 180
Herold, Ann Bixby, 137
Hertz, Irene, 50
Hess, Jeff, 364, 398
Hess, Lilo, 303, 312, 315, 316
Hewett, Joan, 327
Heyman, Anita, 123
Hickman, Janet, 120
Hick, Clifford B., 194, 195
Higdon, Hal, 282
Highwater, Jamake, 31
Hildick, E. W., 195
Hill, Helen, 225
Hiller, Catherine, 50
Hilton, Suzanne, 268
Himler, Ronald, 199
Hinman, Dorothy, 412
Hinz, Martin, 372
Hirsch, Linda, 186
Hirschmann, Linda, 302
Hirsh, Marilyn, 73
Hoban, Brom, 311
Hoban, Lillian, 50
Hoban, Russell, 50, 79
Hoban, Tata, 244
Hoberman, Mary Ann, 247
Hodges, C. Walter, 231
Hodgson, Mary Anne, 392
Heft, Syd, 51, 232, 294
Hoffman, Elizabeth P., 73
Hoffmann, E. T. A., 99
Holland, Isabelle, 155, 209
Holme, Bryan, 377
Holmes, Efner Tudor, 145, 209
Holzenthaler, Jean, 344
Hoober, Dorothy, 274
Hoober, Thomas, 274
Hooker, Ruth, 195
Hooks, William H., 145, 195
Hoover, H. M., 107
Hopf, Alice L., 303, 322
Hopkins, Lee Bennett, 73, 155, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 223, 234, 239, 420
Horn, Geoffrey, 19
Horner, Catherine Townsend, 412
Horsburgh, Peg, 340
Hoskins, Robert, 107
Houghton, Eric, 51
Houston, James, 137
Howard, Katherine, 246
Howe, Deb. .ah, 67, 100
Howe, James, 67, 100
Hoyt, Edwin P., 272
Hua, Miriam, 320
Huang, Paul C., 395
Huck, Charlotte S., 423
Hughes, Monica, 107
Hughes, Shirley, 6, 156
Hunt, Joyce, 319, 322
Hunter, Mollie, 87, 95, 176, 409
Huntington, Harriet E., 316
Huntington, Lee Pennock, 264
Hurd, Edith Thacher, 79, 145
Hurd, Thacher, 199
Hurnmence, Belinda, 176
Huwitz, Johanna, 130, 186, 187
Huss, Sally Moore, 366
Hutchins, Pat., 156, 187
Author Index

Hutchins, Ross E., 311, 340
Huygen, Wil, 95
Hyde, Margaret O., 266
Hyman, Inge, 51
Hyman, Robin, 51
Hyman, Trina Schart, 243
Ibaraso, Marilyn Berg, 418
Inkiow, Dimiter, 187
Irwin, Hadley, 119, 209
Isadora, Rachel, 203, 374
Israel, Elaine, 266
Italiano, Carlo, 268
Iverson, Genie, 176
Jaber, William, 328
Jacobs, Francine, 350
Jacobs, Joseph, 20
Jacobs, William Jay, 126
Jacobson, Jane, 156
Jacobson, Morris K., 312
Jaffe, Evan, 374
Jagendorf, M. A., 20, 31
James, Elizabeth, 348
Janosch, 95
Janner, W. K., 235
Jaspersohn, William, 250
Jenner, Bruce, 282
Jenness, Aylette, 259
Jensen, Virginia Allen, 156
Jewell, Nancy, 209
Jobb, Jame, 328
Joerns, Consuelo, 51
John, Naomi, 145
John, Timothy, 378
Johnson, Jan, 397
Johnston, Johanna, 145, 292
Johnston, Norma, 176
Johnston, Tony, 73, 232
Jones, David Cadwalader, 380
Jones, Diana Wynne, 69
Jones, Harold, 100
Jones, Penelope, 156
Jones, Ron, 181
Kahl, Virginia, 187
Kalak, Robert, 245
Kalb, Jonah, 205
Kamen, Janet, 262
Karl, Jean E., 70
Katz, William Loren, 296
Katzman, Susan Mannin, 396
Kauffman, John, 306, 363
Kavalier, Lucy, 330
Keats, Ezra Jack, 156, 173, 195
Keene, Luqman, 70
Keen, Martin L., 333
Keenan, Martha, 51
Keiper, Ronald R., 321
Keith, Harold, 120
Keithahn, Edward L., 20
Keller, Charles, 404
Kellogg, Steven, 95, 235
Kelly, James E., 337
Kendall, Carol, 20
Kennedy, Richard, 51, 87, 96
Kennedy, X. J., 220
Kent, Deborah, 181
Kent, Jack, 87
Kenworthy, Leonard S., 264
Kerrod, Robin, 328
Kesselman, Wendy, 209
Kessler, Ethel, 247, 302
Kessler, Leonard, 36, 52, 79, 235, 247, 302
Kesteven, G. R., 107
Kettelkamp, Larrv, 336
Kevles, Betty Ann, 13
Keysell, Pat, 421
Kherdian, David, 294
Kihper, R. Smith, 282
Kimmel, Eric, 52
Kingman, Lee, 181, 416
Klein, Norma, 176
Knab, Linda Z., 199
Knight, David C., 328, 355
Knox-Wagner, Elaine, 176
Knudson, R. R., 205
Kobrin, Janet, 27
Koehn, Ilse, 294
Kohl, Herbert, 302
Koubsburg, E. L, 177
Kotzwinkle, William, 73, 107
Kovalik, Tibor, 20
Krahn, Fernando, 7, 52
Kramer, Jack, 397
Krassilovsky, Phyllis, 187
Kraske, Robert, 398
Kraus, Bruce, 52
Kraus, Joanna Halpert, 380
Kraus, Robert, 52, 146
Krementz, Jill, 361, 362, 364, 373, 374
Krensky, Stephen, 74, 79, 87, 96, 384
Kroeber, Tueodora, 88
Kroll, Steven, 74, 209
Kronzek, Allan Zola, 398
Kudrna, C. Imbhor, 384
Kurelek, William, 232
Kuskin, Karla, 79, 225, 329
Kwitz, Mary DeBall, 52
L'Engle, Madeleine, 107, 157
Laklan, Carli, 282
Lamme, Linda Leonard, 421
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page Numbers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Lamperti, Noelle</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Landis, James David</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Landshoff, Ursula</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lanes, Selma G.</td>
<td>416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lang, Andrew</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Langstaff, John</td>
<td>378</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Langton, Jane</td>
<td>88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lapp, Eleanor J.</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larkin, David</td>
<td>417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larrick, Nancy</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larsen, Hanne</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larson, Randy</td>
<td>368</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lasker, David</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lasker, Joe</td>
<td>181, 246, 275</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lasky, Kathryn</td>
<td>210, 268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lass-Woodfin, Mary Jo</td>
<td>412</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Launder, Patricia</td>
<td>304, 336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lavine, Sigmund A</td>
<td>308, 322, 397</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawson, Annette</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laycock, George</td>
<td>399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Le Guin, Ursula K.</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Le Tord, Bijou</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leach, Marsa</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lear, Edward</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lee, H. Alton</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leech, Jay</td>
<td>31, 139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leen, Nina</td>
<td>316, 317, 399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leonard, Charlotte</td>
<td>418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leonard, Marcia</td>
<td>404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leone, Bruno</td>
<td>296</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lerner, Carol</td>
<td>353</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lerner, Mark</td>
<td>250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leaskin, Joan</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levine, Betty K.</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levine, Michael L.</td>
<td>400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levitin, Sonia</td>
<td>120, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levy, Elizabeth</td>
<td>187, 206, 344</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewin, Betsy</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewin, Ted</td>
<td>261, 304</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis, Bruce</td>
<td>336, 337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis, Claudia</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis, Gogo</td>
<td>100, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis, Thomas P.</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lexau, Joan M.</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LeSieg, Theo</td>
<td>80, 250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Li, Yao-wen</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Libby, Bill</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lindblom, Steven</td>
<td>359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lingard, Joan</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>limeimer, Walter</td>
<td>341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linsley, Leslie</td>
<td>390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lionni, Leo</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lippman, Peter</td>
<td>384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liptsyte, Robert</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liuowski, Gabriel</td>
<td>7, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lisa, Howard</td>
<td>365, 367</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>List, Albert, Jr.</td>
<td>331</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>List, Ilka</td>
<td>331</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Litchfield, Ada B.</td>
<td>181</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little, Jean</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little, Leslie Jones</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lively, Penelope</td>
<td>102, 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Livermore, Elaine</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Livingston, Myra Cohn</td>
<td>221, 225, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lloyd, Errol</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lobel, Anita</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lobel, Arnold</td>
<td>36, 53, 88, 239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lodge, Bern</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leobell, Jo Ann</td>
<td>391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loeper, John J.</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lösflgen, Ulf</td>
<td>21, 390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lombardy, William</td>
<td>359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Longman, Harold S.</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Löffl, Jan</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lopshire, Robert</td>
<td>402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lorimer, Larry</td>
<td>366, 369</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lorimer, Lawrence T.</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lorning, Ruth M.</td>
<td>422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Love, Sandra</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Low, Alice</td>
<td>63, 235</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Low, Joseph</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lowry, Louis</td>
<td>130, 157, 168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LRune, Alison</td>
<td>21, 31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lutters, Valerie A.</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luzzatto, Paolo Cabaora</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lye, Keith</td>
<td>334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyfick, Warren</td>
<td>404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lynn, Ruth Nadelman</td>
<td>412</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyons, Grant</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyttad, Mary</td>
<td>415</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyttle, Richard B.</td>
<td>281, 365, 366</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maar, Leonard</td>
<td>257</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Macaulay, David</td>
<td>337, 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mack, Bruce</td>
<td>203</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mack, Stan</td>
<td>55, 243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacCann, Donnarae</td>
<td>416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacCann, Donnarae</td>
<td>416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacClintock, Dorcus</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacKeller, William</td>
<td>96, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MacLachlan, Patricia</td>
<td>88, 168, 177, 181</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madhubuti, Safisha L.</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madison, Arnold</td>
<td>266, 272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maehr, Jane</td>
<td>413</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mjestro, Betsy</td>
<td>89, 246, 384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maguire, Gregory</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maher, Ramona</td>
<td>22, 218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mahlmann, Lewis</td>
<td>380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mahlqvist, Stefan</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maitland, Anthony</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Malloy, Judy</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maintgren, Ulf</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Malone, Robert</td>
<td>338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mangurian, David</td>
<td>254</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Author Index

Manley, Seon, 100, 232
Mann, Peggy, 157
Manniche, Lise, 22
Manning-Sanders, Ruth, 22
Manton, Jo, 23
Marino, Barbara Pavis, 345
Mark, Jan, 137, 174
Marko, Katherine D., 318
Marks, Burton, 363
Marks, Rita, 363
Marshall, Bette, 359
Marshall, Edward, 108
Marshall, James, 36, 55
Marston, Hope Irvin, 268, 269
Martinband, Gerd*, 80
Marzollo, Jean, 169, 218
Mathews, Louise, 348
Matteson, George, 250
Matthias, Margaret, 413
Maury, Inez, 188
Maurer, Pat Rhoads, 138
Mayer, Mercer, 7, 23
Mayne, William, 90
Mazer, Harry, 125
McCaffrey, Anne, 107, 108
McClenathan, Day Ann K., 421
McClenathan, Louise, 89
McCling, Robert M., 311, 318, 326
McCune, Gillian, 54
McCord, David, 226
McCord, Jean, 157
McCunn, Ruthanne Lum, 256
McDaniel, Suellen R., 137
McDearmon, Kay, 313, 322
McDermott, Beverly Brodsky, 32
McDermott, Gerald, 32
McFall, Christia, 334
McGee, Myra, 200
McGovern, Ann, 21, 80, 290
McGovern, Edythe M., 413
McGowen, Tom, 318
McGraw, Eloise Jarvis, 74
McHargue, Georgessa, 357
McKee, Roy, 404
McKinley, Robin, 32
McLeannan, Valjean, 21
McLoone, Margo, 370, 396
McLoone-Basta, Margo, 402
McMullen, David, 275
McJury, Faith, 54, 146, 334
McPhail, David, 54
Mearan, Judy Frank, 158, 210
Meddaugh, Susan, 55
Meek, Margaret, 416
Mehta, Rama, 254
Meltzer, Milton, 256, 275
Mendoza, George, 380
Mercer, Charles, 272, 334
Merrill, Margaret W., 302
Merrill, Susan, 169
Merry, Suzanne, 374
Metos, Thomas H., 338, 347
Meyer, Carolyn, 387
Meyer, Miriam Weiss, 275
Meyers, Susan, 313
Michel, Anna, 313, 314, 322
Miklowitz, Gloria D., 55, 158, 334
Miles, Bernard, 32
Miles, Miska, 56, 146
Miles, Patricia, 97
Millard, Reed, 331
Millay, Edna St Vincent, 226
Miller, Carolyn Handler, 384
Miller, Edna, 56
Miller, Jane, 326
Miller, Lynne, 393
Millstead, Thomas, 111
Milford, Jerry, 158
Milford, Sue, 158
Mintz, Lorene Miller, 259
Mitchell, Barbara, 119
Mitchell, Cynthia, 216
Mitschnitt, Helen, 23
Mizumura, Kazue, 223
Mobley, Jane, 89
Moer, Louise, 146
Mohn, Peter B., 300
Monto, F. N., 112, 16, 117
Monroe, Lynn Lee, 359
Monson, Dianne L., 421
Moore, Clement, 232
Moore, Emily, 158
Moore, Lillian, 223, 226
Moore, Ruth Nulton, 159
Moosher, Stephen, 357, 387
Morey, Walt, 146
Morgan, Tom, 257
Morris, Christopher G., 383
Morris, Dean, 306
Morrison, Bill, 203, 385
Morrison, Dorothy Nafus, 288, 292
Morrison, Lillian, 226
Moskin, Maretta, 126
Moss, Howard, 221
Most, Bernard, 407
Mueser, Anne Marie, 283
Murdoch, Tony, 361
Murphy, Barbara Beasley, 159
Murphy, Jim, 347
Murphy, Shirley Rousseau, 97, 108
Murray, Jerry, 360
Musgrove, Margaret, 255
Myers, Amy, 97
Myers, Steven J., 74
Myers, Walter Dean, 89, 169, 188, 196
Myler, Rolf, 253

Naden, C. J., 33
Nafziger, Barbara, 392
Naub, Ogden, 221
National Geographic Society, 331, 402
Navarro, John Gabriel, 269, 334
Naylor, Phyllis Reynolds, 188, 196, 292, 343
Neal, Harry Edward, 251
Ness, Evaline, 56, 97
Newman, Robert, 196
Newman, Winifred Barnum, 89
Newton, James R., 331
Newton, Suzanne, 126
Nixon, Heresh H., 334
Nixon, Joan Lowery, 120, 238, 334
Nobena, C. A., 138
Noble, June, 159
Noble, Trinka Hakes, 89, 203
Noguere, Suzanne, 323
Noiin, Dennis, 235
Norris, Louanne, 200
Norton, Browning, 196
Norvell, Fio Ann Hedley, 390
Nostlinger, Christine, 108
Numeroff, Laura Joffe, 174
Nussbaum, Hedda, 304, 355

O'Connor, Jane, 188
O'Connor, Kasek, 251
O'Connor, Vincent F., 348
O'Dell, Scott, 114, 116
O'Hare, Colette, 379
Oakley, Graham, 56, 407
Obrist, Jürg, 23
Ofek, Uriel, 159
Okimoto, Jean Davies, 159
Olesky, Walter, 357
Oliver, Robert S., 215
Oneal, Zibby, 57
Orbach, Ruth, 188
Orgel, Doris, 125, 138, 221
Or, C. Rob, 367
Overbeck, Cynthia, 335
Owen, Dyls, 74
Oxford Scientific Films, 306, 310, 311, 312, 319, 323

Packard, Edward, 108, 121
Pagliaro, Penny, 226
Page, David, 251, 327
Paine, Josephine Ruth, 392
Palacios, Argentina, 112, 405

Pandolfini, Bruce, 359
Pape, Donna Lugg, 57
Parenteau, Shirley, 115
Pargment, Lila, 25
Parish, Peggy, 90, 188, 189
Park, Dorothy M., 423
Park, W. B., 169
Park, William R., 337
Parker, Nancy Winslow, 57, 80, 146, 189
Paterson, Diane, 80, 159, 189
Paterson, Katherinie, 115, 130, 160, 174, 233
Paterson, Geoffrey, 275
Patterson, Lillie, 290
Paul, Aileen, 396, 398
Paul, Frances Lackey, 295
Paulsen, Gary, 108
Pavey, Peter, 57, 246
Pearce, Philippa, 74
Pearson, Susan, 57
Peck, Richard, 75
Peck, Robert Newton, 129, 189, 204
Peekner, Ray, 108
Peet, Bill, 57
Pellowski, Anne, 419
Pelta, Kathy, 251
Pender, Lydia, 147
Pernier, Lucille Recht, 259
Peppé, Rodney, 348, 407
Perceval, Don, 276
Perkins, Agnes, 225
Perl, Lila, 160, 204, 260
Perrault, Charles, 23
Pevrier, Evelyn, 363
Peterson, Carolyn Sue, 419
Peterson, Jeanné Whitehouse, 262
Petit, Florence H., 388
Pfeiffer, Susan Beth, 160
Phelan, Mary Kay, 272, 273
Phelan, Terry Wolfe, 189
Phelps, Ethel Johnston, 23
Phillips, Betty Lou, 283
Phipson, Joan, 138, 196
Pierce, Jack, 269
Pinkwater, Daniel Manus, 58, 67, 70, 81, 109, 189, 316
Pinkwater, Jill, 316
Pittaway, Margaret, 70
Place, Marian T., 138
Platt, Kin, 81
Plume, Ilse, 23
Polette, Nancy, 421
Politi, Leo, 138
Pollock, Robert, 365
Pollowitz, Melinda, 210
Polushkin, Maria, 97
Poochoo, 81
Author Index

Pool, Eugene, 147
Porell, Bruce, 355
Postma, Lidia, 75
Potter, Marian, 160
Power, Barbara, 169
Powers, Thetis, 404
Poynter, Margaret, 369
Prager, Annabelle, 190
Prather, Ray, 33
Pretutsky, Jack, 219, 221, 235
Price, Christine, 377
Price, Michelle, 204
Pringle, Laurence, 304, 331, 341, 355
Proddow, Penelope, 377
Prokoshev, Sergei, 379
Provensen, Alice, 58
Provensen, Martin, 58
Pursell, Thomas F., 360
Quackenbush, Robert, 196, 233, 240, 290, 376
Quin-Harkin, Janet, 81
Quinn, Gardner, 238
Rabe, Berniece, 129, 177
Rabinowitz, Sandy, 326
Radlauer, Ed, 269, 360, 369
Radlauer, Ruth, 261
Rahn, Joan Elma, 341
Raphael, Elaine, 379
Raskin, Ellen, 197
Rau, Margaret, 255, 314, 323
Rauch, Hans-Georg, 389
Ravelli, Anthony, 366
Rayner, Mary, 58
Raynor, Dorka, 255
Reasoner, Charles F., 421
Reed, Graham, 398
Rees, David, 125, 409
Reeves, James, 33
Reig, June, 112
Rent, Seymour, 121, 269
Renfro, Nancy, 417
Rennert, Amy, 251
Resnick, Michael, 361
Reuter, Margaret, 182
Ribner, Susan, 369
Riccitti, Edward R., 333, 335
Rice, Eve, 9, 58, 197, 200
Richards, Norman, 269
Richards, Pat, 260
Richer, Joan, 194
Ricks, Charlotte Hall, 75
Riedel, Manfred G., 348
Rinaldi, Ann, 160
Rinaldi, Judith E., 302
Riordan, James, 24
Roach, Marilynne K., 115, 292
Robb, Brian, 97
Roberson, John R., 276
Roberts, Nancy, 75, 357
Roberts, Willo Davis, 160, 197
Robison, Nancy L., 97, 284, 361, 369
Roche, F. K., 58, 393
Rockwell, Anne, 24, 58, 75, 243, 258, 260
Rockwell, Harlow, 260
Rockwood, Joyce, 114, 116
Roddick, Dan, 369
Rogers, Edmund, 323
Romanek, Enid Warner, 59
Ronan, Margaret, 261
Rose, Anne, 24, 33, 81, 125
Rose, Gerald, 59
Rose, Pete, 284
Rosenbaum, Michael, 46
Rosenberg, Arthur D., 359
Rosenblum, Joseph, 197, 221, 355, 384, 405
Rosenbloom, Richard, 300
Rosenthal, Sylvia A., 370
Ross, Ann, 295
Ross, Blanche, 24
Ross, Frank, Jr., 270
Ross, Laura, 393
Ross, Pat, 138
Roth, Charles E., 331
Roth, David, 210
Rothman, Joel, 405
Rounds, Glen, 81, 147
Roy, Ronald, 59, 147
Ruck-Pauquet, Gina, 59
Rucks, Meredith, 314
Ruffins, Reynolds, 169
Ruskin, John, 60, 90
Russo, Susan, 223
Ryden, Hope, 323
Ryder, Joanne, 200, 312
Ryder, Randall, 411
Sabin, Francene, 316
Sabin, Louis, 316
Sachs, Marilyn, 174, 177
Sadker, David Miller, 423
Sadker, Myra Pollack, 423
Sage, Alison, 90, 395
Sale, Roger, 416
Salus, Naomi Panush, 82
Salway, L., 413
San Souci, Robert, 33
Sanderlin, George, 292
Sargent, Sarah, 98
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Contributions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sarnoff, Jane</td>
<td>240, 400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sattler, Helen R.</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saul, Jane</td>
<td>422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saul, Wendy</td>
<td>251</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Savage, Lee</td>
<td>389</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Savitt, Sam</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scagell, Robin</td>
<td>300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scagnozzi, Jack</td>
<td>366</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scarry, Hucz</td>
<td>270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scarry, Patry</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scarry, Richard</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schaff, Peter</td>
<td>264, 380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schaller, George</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schaller, Kay</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scheider, Catharine</td>
<td>279, 293</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schick, Eleanor</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schilling, Betty</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schimmel, Nancy</td>
<td>419</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schlein, Miriam</td>
<td>262, 302, 324, 343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schmidt, Nancy J.</td>
<td>413</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schneider, Herman</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schneider, Rex</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schneurberger, Lynn Edelman</td>
<td>387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schoeder, Judith</td>
<td>296</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schoensfeld, Madalynne</td>
<td>411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schon, Isabel</td>
<td>413, 414</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schoor, Gene</td>
<td>284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schraff, Anne</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schreiber, Elizabeth Anne</td>
<td>306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schulman, Janet</td>
<td>197, 236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schulte, Emerita S.</td>
<td>414</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schumacher, Craig</td>
<td>370</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schwarts, Alvin</td>
<td>24, 37, 258, 273, 382</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schweniger, Ann</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott, Jack Denton</td>
<td>306, 307, 308, 324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott, Jane</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scribner, Charles Jr.</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scuro, Vincent</td>
<td>308, 309</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seabrooke, Brenda</td>
<td>139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sebasta, Sam L.</td>
<td>422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sebestyen, Ouida</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seed, Suzanne</td>
<td>252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Segal, Joyce</td>
<td>417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Segal, Lore</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Segan, Ann</td>
<td>348</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Segovia, Andrés</td>
<td>380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Segel, Beatrice</td>
<td>279</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sexas, Judith S.</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Selsam, Millicent E.</td>
<td>260, 319, 353, 355, 356</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seuling, Barbara</td>
<td>60, 169, 258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seuss, Dr.</td>
<td>405</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sewell, Marcia</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shapiro, Irwin</td>
<td>291, 345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shapiro, Jon E.</td>
<td>421</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shapiro, Milton J.</td>
<td>276</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sharmat, Marjorie Weinman</td>
<td>60, 61, 62, 82, 160, 161, 170, 190, 197, 239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sharmat, Mitchell</td>
<td>62, 170, 190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sharon, Mary Bruce</td>
<td>279</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sharp, Margery</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shaw, Evelyn</td>
<td>319, 326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shebar, Sharon Sigmond</td>
<td>312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scheeter, Ben</td>
<td>62, 197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shedenheim, W. R. C.</td>
<td>335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shire, Ellen</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sholinsky, Jane</td>
<td>363</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shoetuk, Stanley</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shreve, Susan</td>
<td>161, 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shulevitz, Uri</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shura, Mary Francis</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shuttleworth, Dorothy E</td>
<td>260, 327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shuttleworth, Gregory J.</td>
<td>260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shyer, Marlene Fanta</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sibell, Anne</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sichel, Marion</td>
<td>387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siegel, Alice</td>
<td>370, 396, 402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silman, Roberta</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silverstein, Alvin</td>
<td>317, 325, 341, 345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silverstein, Virginia B.</td>
<td>317, 325, 341, 345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silverthorne, Elizabeth</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simon, Hilda</td>
<td>273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simon, Marcia L.</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simon, Norma</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simon, Seymour</td>
<td>198, 317, 318, 319, 329, 335, 339, 341, 345, 376, 403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Simon, Robin</td>
<td>393</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singer, Julia</td>
<td>255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sitter, Harry</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sitter, Mindel</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skolosky, Mindy Warshaw</td>
<td>127, 129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skurzynski, Gloria</td>
<td>34, 162, 346</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Slater, Jim</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sleator, William</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Slepian, Jan</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Slote, Alfred</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Jerry</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Carole</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Doris Buchanan</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Howard E. Jr.</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, James A.</td>
<td>423</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Jim</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Lucia B.</td>
<td>182</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Norman F.</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, William Jay</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smucker, Barbara</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snow, Richard</td>
<td>270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snyder, Anne</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snyder, Carol</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snyder, Gerald S.</td>
<td>357</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snyder, Zilpha Keatley</td>
<td>70, 139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sobol, Donald J.</td>
<td>198, 403</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Tripp, Wallace, 36
Trivett, Daphne, 247
Trivett, John, 247
Tucker, Alan, 414
Tudor, Tasha, 218, 240
Turkle, Brinton, 7, 119
Turner, Dona, 148
Turner, Stephen C., 332
Tuttle, Anthony, 285
Tyler, Jane B., 367

Uchida, Yoshiko, 131
Van Allsiburg, Chris, 76 van der Land, Spike, 34 van der Meer, Atie, 91
van der Meer, Ron, 91
Van Leeuwen, Jean, 64
van Soelen, Philip, 332
Van Strewnyk, Elizabeth, 285, 288
Van Woerkom, Dorothy O., 26, 91, 113, 303

Van Wormer, Joe, 325
Vanhel, Sparidon, 170
Veglahn, Nancy, 291
Ventura, Marisa, 191
Ventura, Piero, 191, 293
Vestly, Anne-Cath, 171
Vigna, Judith, 171, 236
Viorst, Judith, 191
Viss, Anna, 100
Vogel, Ilse-Margret, 210

Watkins, Mary S., 281
Watson, Clyde, 227
Watson, Jane Werner, 109
Watson, Nancy Dingman, 218
Watson, Pauline, 65, 191, 396
Watts, Franklin, 260
Waxman, Stephanie, 346
Wayne, Bennett, 285
Weber, William J., 327
Webster, David, 351
Weil, Lisi, 10, 743, 289
Weinstein, Grace W., 258
Weisburg, Hilda K., 422
Weiss, Ann E., 383
Weiss, Harvey, 338, 390, 399
Weiss, Joan Talmage, 163
Weiss, Malcolm E., 349, 357
Weiss, Peter, 391
Weissman, Sam O., 408
Welch, Martha McKeen, 353
Weng, Virginia, 20
Westall, Robert, 103, 125
Wetherbee, Holden, 7
Wexler, Margaret, 91
Wexler, Jerome, 355
Wheat, Jarus Knudsen, 300
White, Florence Meiman, 286, 291
White, Paul, 263
White, Virginia L., 414
Wibberley, Leonard, 103
Wiedel, Janne, 256
Wild, Jocelyn, 65, 244
Wild, Robin, 65, 244
Wilde, Oscar, 91
Wilder, Cherry, 169
Wilder, Rosilyn, 422
Wildsmith, Brian, 34, 245
Wilkin, Binne Tate, 414
Wilkinson, Brenda, 178
Willard, Nancy, 191
Williams, Barbara, 65, 163, 239, 252, 325, 353
Williams, Gurney, III, 420
Williams, Jay, 35, 91, 98
Williams, Lee Ann, 362
Williams, Leslie, 99
Williams, Vera B., 233
Willoughby, Elaine Macmann, 163
Wilner, Isabel, 227
Wilson, Beth ., 286
Wilson, Karen, 35
Wilson, Mike, 300
Winter, Paula, 7
Wintrop, Elizabeth, 66, 171, 206
Wise, William, 312
Wiseman, Ann, 393
Wiseman, Bernard, 82, 110, 206
Wittman, Sally, 211
Wold, Jo Anne, 163
Wolf, Bernard, 204, 257, 263
Wolkoff, Judie, 164, 192
Wolkstein, Diane, 26, 66, 91
Wood, Nancy, 218
Woodard, Gloria, 416
Woodside, Dave, 261
Worth, Valerie, 216
Worthington, Janet Evans, 422
Wright, Dare, 100
Wrigley, Elsie, 390
Wuorio, Eva-Lis, 76
Wyeth, Betsy James, 68
Wyler, Rose, 398

Yano, Shigeko, 201
Yarbrough, Camille, 171
Yates, Elizabeth, 149
Yellow Robe, Rosebud, 35
Yip, Laurence, 178
Yerkow, Charles, 360

Yolen, Jane, 66, 92, 99, 110, 222, 244
Yonkers Public Library Children’s Services, 414
Yoo, Edward Yushin, 92
York, Carol Beach, 211
Young, Aida E., 121
Young, Ed, 26, 37, 381
Young, Helen, 178, 182

Zalben, Jane Breskin, 66
Zaslavsky, Claudia, 349
Zei, Alki, 117
Zemach, Kaethe, 66
Zemach, Margot, 26, 171, 279, 379
Zhitkov, Boris, 123
Zim, Herbert S., 329
Zimelman, Nathan, 140, 149
Zimmerman, Ruth, 412
Ziner, Feenie, 10
Zoli, Max Alfred, 307
Zolotow, Charlotte, 99, 164, 171, 172, 178
Zubrowski, Berrie, 394
Zweifel, Frances, 397
A. J. Foyt. The Only Four Time Winner, 283
Abbey Lubbers. Banshees and Boggarts, 12
About the Foods You Eat, 345
Absolute Zero: Being the Second Part of the Bagthorpe Saga, 184
Accident, The, 151
Acorn People, The, 181
Adam Smith Goes to School, 204
Adventures of Nanabush, The Ojibway
Indian Stories. 28
Adventures of Yemira, The, 9
Aerial Apes. Gibbons of Asia. 314
Aerobatics, 360
Africa Dream. 102
Age of Aquarius You and Astrology. 328
Agha the Terrible Demon. 35
Akinma and the Magic Cow A Folktale from Africa. 24
Alan and the Animal Kingdom, 155
Alan Mendelsohn, the Boy from Mars, 109
Alaska in Words and Pictures, 261
Alaska Indians, Eskimos, Russians and the Rest, 271
Alaskan Igloo Tales, 20
Albert B Cub & Zebra An Alphabet
Storybook. 243
Album of Reptiles, 318
Alcohol What It Is, What It Does, 266
Aldo Applesauce 186
Aldo's Doghouse Drawing in Perspective.
389
Alex's Bed, 167
Alexander, Who Used to Be Rich Last Sunday, 191
Alfred Summer, The, 174
Alfred's Alphabet Walk, 242
Algonquian and Iroquois Crafts for You to Make, 271
Algonquian Indians at Summer Camp, 270
Algonquin Cat, 68
Alice, 106
Alice Yazzie's Year, 218
All about Our 50 States, 26
All about Your Name, Ann 382
All-Around Pumpkin Book, The, 235
All in the Woodland Early An ABC Book.
244
All the King's Horses, 86
All the Little Bunnies A Counting Book.
246
All the Money in the World, 76
All Times, All Peoples A World History of Slavery, 275
Alligator and His Uncle Tooth, The, 67
Alligator's Toothache, 5
Alligators, 317
Alphabet Art Thirteen ABC's from around the World, 253
Alvin Fernald, TV Anchorman, 194
Alvin's Swap Shop. 195
Amend and the Giggling Ghost, 74
Amazing Bone, The, 98
Amazing Dandelion, The, 353
Amazing Earthworm The, 312
Amazing Egg, The, 326
Amazing Memory of Harvey Bean, The,
152
Amazing Voyage of the New Orleans, The, 273
Amazing Yo-Yo, The, 400
Amelia Bedelia Helps Out, 188
America's Journeys into Space The Astronauts of the United States, 299
Amifika, 166
Amy for Short, 174
Amy Goes Fishing, 169
Amy's Goose, 145
An Apartment House Close Up, 264
An Eye on the World Margaret
Bourke-White, Photographer, 279
An Illustrated History of the Chinese in America, 256
Anastasia Krupnik, 168
Ancestor Hunting, 400
And for Short, Children's, 164
And Then the Mice, 19
Andrea Jaeger Tennis Champion, 281
Angels and Other Strangers Family
Christmas Stories, 233
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Angry Waters: Floods and Their Control, 330</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Fact/Animal Fable, 403</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Rescue: Saving Our Endangered Wildlife, 332</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Rights: Stories of People Who Defend the Rights of Animals, 265</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Snackers, 215</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals and Their Niches How Species Share Resources, 304</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals in Danger Trying to Save Our Wildlife, 331</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals of the Bible, 263</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals of Farthing Wood, The, 142</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals Build Amazing Homes, 304</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals Who Changed Their Colors, The, 39</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anna's Silent World, 263</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annabelle, 99</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anno’s Animals, 406</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anno’s Counting Book, 245</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anno’s Italy, 406</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anno’s Journey, 466</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anupa An American Indian Odyssey, 31</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Antarctica The Great White Continent, 262</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ants Who Took Away Time, The, 107</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anybody Home?, 199</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anywhere Else But Here, 166</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appalachian Ghosts, 75</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apple to Eat or Cross the Street, An, 408</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apple Pigs, 188</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aranea A Story about a Spider, 64</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arbuthnot Lectures, The 1970-1979, 415</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ardzijzone’s H. A. Andersen, 82</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are You Sad, Mama?, 171</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Argentaybee and the Boonee, 50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arion and the Dolphins, 26</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arklful of Animals, An, 214</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art of the Comic Strip, The, 376</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art of the Vikings, The, 377</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art of Maurice Sendak, 1he, 416</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art of Nancy Ekholm Burkert, The, 417</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art Tells a Story Greek and Roman Myths, 377</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Art Tells a Story The Bible, 377</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur, for the Very First Time, 177</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur’s New Power, 50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur’s Nose, 42</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur’s Pen Pal, 50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur’s Prize Reader, 50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arthur’s Valentine, 237</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Artst, An, 377</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arts of Clay, 377</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ashanti to Zulu African Traditions, 255</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aunt Possum and the Pumpkin, Man, 5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aurora and Socrates, 171</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Autumn Street, 130</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Awakening Water, The, 107</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Awful Evolina, 160</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Babar’s Mystery, 45</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Babe Didrikson The World’s Greatest Woman Athlete, 284</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Backpacking for Fun and Glory, 368</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Backyard Bestiary, 301</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Backyard Vacation Outdoor Fun in Your Own Neighborhood, 392</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bad Luck Tony, 153</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bad Thad, 157</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Badger on His Own, 64</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bagthorpes Unlimited, Being the Third Part of the Bagthorpe Saga, 184</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bagthorpes V the World Being the Fourth Part of the Bagthorpe Saga, 184</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bah! Humbug?, 230</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bake-Off, The, 44</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baker Street Irregulars in the Case of the Crooked Kids, The, 193</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bakery Factory, The Who Puts the Bread on Your Table, 259</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Balder and the Mistletoe A Story for the Winter Holidays, 27</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ballet for Boys and Girls, 375</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ballpark, The, 250</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Banana Twist, 186</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barney Bipple’s Magic Dandelions, 71</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baryshnikov A Most Spectacular Dancer, 278</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baseball Is for Me, 368</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baseball’s Most Valuable Players, 280</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Basic Field Hockey Strategy An Introduction for Young Players, 362</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Basic Lacrosse Strategy An Introduction for Young Players, 368</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Basic Volleyball Strategy An Introduction for Young Players, 366</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Basket Weaving, 392</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bassumyte Treasure, The, 193</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Batheinte, 301</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bathtub Ocean, The, 80</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baton Twirling, 369</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Be a Rockhound, 333</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Be Ready at Eight, 188</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bean Boy, The 12</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beany, 143</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear and the Kingbird, The, 17</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear in the Air, A, 99</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear Hunt, 42</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear Who Wanted to Be a Bear, The, 62</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear’s Heart, 295</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bears’ ABC Book, The, 244</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bears’ Bazaar, The A Story Craft Book, 43</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pearskinner, The, 17</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Title Index

Bearymore, 47
Beast of Lor, The, 111
Beat the Drum: Independence Day Has Come, 239
Beat the Story-Drum, Pum-Pum, 13
Pat the Turtle Drum, 154
Beautiful Rat, The, 66
Beauty and the Beast, 15
Beauty: A Retelling of the Story of Beauty & the Beast, 32
Bees and Honey, 311
Before You Were Three, How You Began to Walk, Talk, Explore and Have Feelings, 344
Beginning Cross-Country Skiing, 364
Beginning Rider, The: A Common Sense Approach, 363
Beginning Surfing, 367
Beginnings Creation Myths of the World, 29
Behind the Scenes at the Zoo, 327
Behind the Sealed Door: The Discovery of the Tomb and Treasures of Tutankhamun, 276
Behind Enemy Lines: American Spies and Saboteurs in World War II, 276
Bells, Bells, Bells, 379
Belonging, 181
Beloved Benjamin Is Waiting, 70
Benjamin and the Box, 40
Benjamin Banneker: Genius of Early America, 290
Benjamin Bounces Back, 40
Berenstain Bears and the Missing Dinosaur Bone, The, 41
Berenstain Bears' Christmas Tree, The, 230
Berenstain Bears' Science Fair, The, 339
Bernard into Battle, 68
Bernard of Scotland Yard, 47
Best of the Little Books, The, 405
Best of Book Bonanza, The, 420
Best of Enemies, The, 133
Best of Grimm's Fairy Tales
Best Book of Riddles, Puns & Jokes, The, 403
Best Burglar Alarm, The, 139
Best Mom in the World, The, 176
Bet You Can't Science Impossibilities to Fool You, 338
Betsy's Play School, 203
Better Basketball for Boys, 370
Better Gymnastics for Girls, 361
Better Kite Flying for Boys and Girls, 363
Better Volleyball for Girls, 366
Between Dark and Daylight, 129
Between Friends, 180
Beware! These Animals Are Poison, 303
Beyond the Mountain, beyond the Forest, 111
Bible Stories for Children, 19
Bicultural Heritage: A Themes for the Exploration of Mexican and Mexican-American Culture in Books for Children and Adolescents, 413
Bicycles on Parade, A Brief History, 360
Big Anthony and the Magic Ring, 85
Big Bad Bruce, 57
Big Fat Enormous Lie, A, 82
Big Find, The, 134
Big Fire in Baltimore, 126
Big Max in the Mystery of the Missing Moose, 81
Big Orange Splot, The, 189
Big Red Barn, The, 150
Big Rigs, 268
Biggest, Smallest, Fastest, Tallest Things You've Ever Heard Of, The, 402
Bill and Pete, 46
Bill Pickett: First Black Rodeo Star, 286
Billy Ber, and the Bull, 14
Binding of Isaac, The, 29
Bing Bang Bang and Fiddle Dee Dee, 80
Biography of a Giraffe, 322
Biography of a River Otter, 321
Biography of a Whooping Crane, 306
Bionic Parts for People: The Real Story of Artificial Organs and Replacement Parts, 346
Bird and Flower Emblems of the United States, 273
Birds, 306
Birds Are Flying, 306
Birth of a Foal, 326
Birthday in Kishirev, 123
Birthday Trombone, The, 6
Birthday Wish, A, 6
Black Pearl and the Ghost or One Mystery after Another, The, 196
Black People Who Made the Old West, 296
Black Stallion Picture Book, The, 143
Black Sunshine: The Story of Coal, 332
Blackface Stallion, 144
Blind Guards of Easter Island, The, 275
Blind Outlaw, 147
Blood Feud, 113
Blue Colt, 141
Blue Horse and Other Night Poems, The, 223
Blue Jackal, The, 28
Blue Sea, 245
Blue Stone, The, 87
Blue Whale, The, 318
Title Index

- Blue-Wings-Flying, 166
- Blueberries Lavender: Songs of the Farmer's Children, 218
- Boat to Nowhere, A, 140
- Bob McAdoo, Superstar, 282
- Bobby and Boo, the Little Spaceman, 110
- Bones on Black Spruce Mountain, 134
- Bong Nam and the Pheasants, 92
- Bonzo Beaver, 44
- Book about Your Skeleton, A, 344
- Book of the Goat, The, 308
- Book of Kings and Queens, A, 22
- Book of Spooks and Spectres, A, 22
- Books about Children's Books: An Annotated Bibliography, 414
- Books about Handicaps for Children and Young Adults, 410
- Books for the Gifted Child, 410
- Books on American Indians and Eskimos: A Selection Guide for Children and Young Adults, 412
- Books to Help Children Cope with Separation and Loss, 410
- Books: From Writer to Reader, 385
- Bored—Nothing to Do!, 139
- Borns and the Monsters, 163
-  Borrowed Feathers and Other Fables, 10
- Boy and the Tree, The, 225
- Boy Who Ate More than the Giant and Other Swedish Folktales, The, 21
- Boy Who Loved Music, The, 278
- Boy Who Saw Bigfoot, The, 138
- Boy Who Wanted a Family, The, 154
- Branded Runaway, 139
- Brave Little Tailor, The, 17
- Bravest Babysitter, The, 154
- Break in the Sun, 149
- Breakfast in the Afternoon, 383
- Breakthrough: Women in Writing, 267
- Bremen-Town Musicians, The, 23
- Brendan the Navigator A History Mystery about the Discovery of America, 30
- Bridge to Terabithia, 174
- Bridges, 357
- Bring...e All of Your Dreams, 218
- Bringing Children and Books Together: A Teacher's Guide to Early Childhood Literature, 421
- British Folk Tales, 12
- Brotherhood of Pirates, 296
- Brothers Grimm: The Popular Folk Tales, 18
- Bullfrog and Gertrude Go Camping, 45
- Bullfrog Builds a House, 45
- Bumper Tubbs, 54
- Bumps in the Night, 71
- Bunch of Poems and Verses, A, 225
- Bunches and Bunches of Bunnies, 348
- Bunnicula: A Rabbit-Tale of Mystery, 67
- Burny of Berkeley's Creek, The, 98
- Burn's Hill: A Traditional Rhyme, 35
- Bus Ride, 209
- Busy Day: A Book of Action Words, 384
- But No Elephants, 82
- Butcher, Baker, Cabinetmaker: Photographs of Women at Work, 251
- Butterfly Cycle, The, 311
- By Camel or by Car: A Look at Transportation, 267
- By Crumbs, It's Mine!, 119
- By Myself, 217
- Cactus in the Desert, 352
- Caesar, Cock of the Village, 46
- Callooh! Callay! Holiday Poems for Young Readers, 240
- Can't You Make Them Behave, King George?, 287
- Canada Goose, 306
- Cancer, 345
- Captain of Battery Park, The, 147
- Captain James Cook, 296
- Captain Toad and the Motorbike, 54
- Captain Grey, 115
- Captive, The, 114
- Careers at a Zoo, 250
- Careers in a Library, 249
- Caricatures, 49
- Carnival and Kopeck and More about Hannah, 126
- Carolina Hurricane, 139
- Carpentry for Kids, 391
- Carrie Hepple's Garden, 208
- Carrige's Gift, 209
- Carrot Nose, 64
- Carrusel, 88
- Cart and Cwidder, 69
- Cartoonist, The, 165
- Case of the Double Cross, The, 192
- Case of the Phantom Frog, The, 195
- Car of the Semi-Human Beams, The, 109
- Case of the Snowbound Spy, The, 195
- Case of the Vanishing Corpse, The, 196
- Casey at the Bat: A Ballad of the Republic Sung in the Year 1888, 221
- Casper and the Rainbow Bird, 51
- Castle, 372
- Castles in the Air and Other Tales, 87
Cat on the Dovrefell, The: A Christmas Tale, 230
Catch a Sunbeam: A Book of Solar Study and Experiments, 335
Catch the Wind: A Book of Windmills and Windpower, 336
Catch Calcot!, 149
Catch Me & Kiss Me & Say It Again, 227
Catch That Cat!, 7
Cats, 316
Cats: All about Them, 317
Caught in the Rain, 247
Cave beyond Time, 101
Cave of the Moving Shadows, 11
Caves, 333
Celebrating with Books, 421
Certain Magic, A, 138
Charge of the Mouse Brigade, The, 63
Charlie Brown's Fourth Super Book of Questions and Answers: About All Kinds of People and How They Live!, 402
Charlie Brown's Third Super Book of Questions and Answers: About All Kinds of Boats and Planes, Cars and Trains and Other Things That Move!, 267
Charlotte & Charles, 90
Chatterbox, The, 204
Chess for Children and the Young at Heart, 359
Chess for Children, Step by Step: A New, Easy Way to Learn the Game, 359
Chester Chipmunk's Thanksgiving, 239
Cheesnut Farm, 1860, 275
Chuck Hatches, A, 305
Chucklebee: A Red Squirrel, 324
Chicken and the Egg, The, 306
Chief Sarah: Sarah Winnemucca's Fight for Indian Rights, 292
Child and Tale: The Origins of Interest, 420
Child of the Owl, 178
Children and Books, Fifth Edition, 423
Children and Literature, 423
Children of the Fox, 113
Children of the Incas, 254
Children of Lapland, 254
Children Are Children: An Activity Approach to Exploring Brazil, France, Iran, Japan, Nigeria and the U.S.S.R., 254
Children's Bible from The Good News Bible in Today's English Version, The, 29
Children's Books for Times of Stress: An Annotated Bibliography, 411
Children's Books of International Interest, Second Edition, 412
Children's Faces Looking Up: Program Building for the Storyteller, 418
Children's Literature in the Elementary School, Third Edition, Updated, 423
Children's Mathematics Books: A Critical Bibliography, 413
Children's Museum Activity Book, A Bubbles, 394
Child's Bestiary, A, 214
Child's Christmas in Wales, A, 233
Child's Concept of Story, The Ages Two to Seventeen, 419
Child's Garden of Verses, A, 227
China: Music, Tail Talk and Other Talk, 382
China from Manchu to Mao (1699-1976), 276
Chinese Americans, The, 256
Chinese New Year, The, 238
Chinwe, 118
Chop, 192
Chris Evert: First Lady of Tennis, 283
Christmas Card, A, 233
Christmas Feast, A Poems, Sayings, Greetings and Wishes, 230
Christmas Ghosts, 232
Christopher Columbus, 293
Church Mice at Bay, The, 56
Cider Days, 175
Cinderella, 16
Cinnamon Cane, 210
Circus Workin's, 372
City Horse, 249
City: Sing for Me: A Country Child Moves to the City, 156
Classics of the Royal Ballet, 373
Clean Air, Clean Water for Tomorrow's World, 331
Clever Gretchen and Other Forgotten Folktales, 21
Climbing Sun: The Story of a Hopi Indian Boy, 127
Clipper Ship, 117
Clocks and How They Go, 347
Close Look at the Moon, A, 129
Close Your Eyes, 218
Clotilda, 87
Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs, 76
Clown of God, The, 29
Cober's Choice, 376
Color From Rainbow to Lasers, 351
Come to the Edge, 152
Come to the Fair, 259
Come Away from the Water, Shirley, 77
Come Fight a Kite, 363
Title Index

Come Follow Me: to the Secret World of Elves and Fairies and Gnomes and Trolls, 94
Come Spring, 167
Common Frog, 310
Complete Beginner's Guide to Gymnastics, The, 361
Complete Beginner's Guide to Photography, The, 399
Complete Beginner's Guide to Skiing, The, 365
Conrad's War, 101
Contest Kid Strikes Again, The, 191
Cool Web, The: The Pattern of Children's Reading, 416
Cornrows, 171
Cornstalks and Cannonballs, 119
Cornucopia, 215
Costume Reference 7: The Edwardians, 387
"Could Be Worse", 191
Count on Your Fingers African Style, 349
Covered Bridge House and Other Poems, The, 226
Cowardly Clyde, 57
Coyote for a Day, 320
Crackle Gluck and the Sleeping Toad, 48
Cranberry Christmas, 231
Creative Puppetry in the Classroom, 417
Creatures from Lost Worlds, 376
Creatures of the Night, 302
Creatures of Paradise Pictures to Grow Up With, 377
Creek Indians, The, 272
Cricketer in the Grass and Other Stories, 332
Cricketer Boy, 10
Cricketer's Cookery, 396
Cricketer's Jokes, Riddles and Other Stuff, 404
Crime of Martin Coveny, The, 103
Crinkleroot's Book of Animal Tracks and Wildlife Signs, 80
Criss on Conshelf Ten, 107
Crocodile under Louis F. Nemn's Bed, The, 146
Crocodile's Eggs for Supper and Other Animal Tales from Northern Uganda, 11
Crocodiles Still Wait, The, 354
Crocus, 47
Cromwell's Boy, 112
Cross-Country Cat, 43
Cross-Country Skiing: A Complete Beginner's Book, 365
Cross Fox, 147
Cry from the Earth, A: A Music of the North American Indians, 378
Cry of the Crow, The, 143
Crybaby, 155
Crystal Is the New Girl, 173
Cultural Conformity in Books for Children: Further Reading in Racism, 416
Curiosity for the Curious: A Further Reading in Racism, 416
Curly and the Wild Boar, 144
Cushla and Her Books, 419
Custard and Company, 221
Cut-Rate Quarterback, 205
Daddy, 165
Daddy Is a Monster Sometimes, 170
Daffy Dictionary: Fun Abridged Definitions from Aardvark to Zuider Zee, 384
Dam Builders, The, 337
Dame Wiggins of Lee and Her Seven Wonderful Cats, 60
Danbury's Burning: The Story of Sybil Ludington's Ride, 294
Dance of the Planets: The Universe of Nicolaus Copernicus, 291
Dancer, 374
Dancing Granny, The, 13
Dancing Man, The, 84
Danger from Below, 335
Dangers of Noise, The, 330
Daniel's Duck, 150
Dark Princess, The, 87
Darwin and the Enchanted Isles, 291
Daughter of the Moon, The, 102
Daughters of the Law, 130
Davey Come Home, 170
David and Dog, 156
Day in the Life of a Forest Ranger, A: 251
Day in the Woods, A, 330
Day of the Blizzard, 126
Day I Was Born, The, 170
Day Is Waiting, The, 199
Day Jimmy's Boa Ate the Wash, The, 203
Days with Frog and Toad, 53
Deadline, 291
Deadly Game at Stony Creek, 135
Deadwood City, 121
Death Is Natural, 341
Death Penalty: The Case of Life vs. Death in the United States, 267
Deborah the Dybbuk: A Ghost Story, 73
Decoupage for Young Crafters, 190
Deep in the Forest, 7
Demetrius and the Golden Goblet, 84
Detective of London, The, 52
Developing Active Readers: Ideas for Parents, Teachers, and Librarians, 421
Devil in Vienna, The, 125
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Devil's Bridge, The, 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Diary of the Boy King Tut-Ankh-Amen, 112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionary of Dinosaurs, 355</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Did You Hear What Happened to Andrea?, 158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Digging the Past: Archaeology in Your Own Backyard, 355</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dingle Ridge Fox and Other Stories, The 147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaur Days, 355</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaur My Darling, 79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaur Mysteries, 354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaurs and Beasts of Yore, 214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinosaurs and People: Fossils, Facts, and Fantasies, 355</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Discovering the Mysterious Egret, 307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Discovering What Puppies Do, 317</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disease Detectives, 343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disney's World of Adventure Presents the Circus Book, 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Diviner, The, 16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do You Have Any Carrots?, 52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do You Know?, 402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Your Ears Hang Low? Fifty More Musical Fingerplays?, 378</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doctor Rabbit's Foundling, 65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doctor Rabbit's Lost Scout, 65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dodo Every Day, 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Does Anybody Care about Lou Emma Mil'er?, 126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dog by Your Side, A, 315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dog of the Bondi Castle, 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dog Called Kitty, A, 148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dogs and Dragons, Trees and Dreams, 225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dollars from Dandelions 101 Ways to Earn Money, 258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dollhouse Magic: How to Make and Find Simple Dollhouse Furniture, 393</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Donkey Planet, The, 106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Donkey Prince, The, 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Ask Miranda, 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Be a Victim! Protect Yourself &amp; Your Belongings, 266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Forget to Come Back, 155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Forget Tom, 262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Hurt Laurie!, 160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dorothy Hamill Olympic Skating Champion, 281</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dorne and the Screebut Ghost, 71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dotty's Suitcase, 129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Douglas MacArthur: Something of a Hero, 293</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Down in the Boondocks, 185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Down the Road, 53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Down to Earth at Walden, 292</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dr Beaumont and the Man with the Hole in His Stomach, 289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Draggetmen, 250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragon Circle, The, 74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragon Hammer and The Tale of Oniroku, The Two Plays from the Far East, 380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragonflies, 312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragonsinger, 107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dragonsong, 108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Draw 50 Buildings and Other Structures, 388</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dream of Dark Harbor, 73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dream Eater, The, 86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dream Runner, The, 152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dream Weaver, 92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drowned Amnet, 69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dumb Old Casey Is a Fat Tree, 150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Durable Desert Tortoise, The, 317</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dustland, 69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dvora's Journey, 127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dwight Eisenhower, 287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Each Peach Pear Plum An 'I Spy' Story, 35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Earthquake, 334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Earthquake', 334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>East of the Sun &amp; West of the Moon, 23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Easter Buds Are Springing Poems for Easter, 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Easy to Make Contraptions, 391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Easy to Make Monster Masks and Disguises, 387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Easy Money Making Projects, 257</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Easy Reading: Book Series and Periodicals for Less Able Readers, 411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eats, 215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ed Emberley's A B C. 242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ed Emberley's Amazing Look Through Book, 407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ed Emberley's Big Orange Drawing Book, 388</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ed Emberley's Great Thumbprint Drawing Book, 388</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eddie Spaghetti, 185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eddie, Incorporated, 188</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edith and Midnight, 100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edna St Vincent Millay's Poems Selected for Young People, 226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eggshells to Objects A New Approach to Egg Craft, 391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Egyptian and Sudan se Folk-tales, 23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Einstein Anderson Shocks His Friends, 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elementary School Librarian's Almanac A Complete Media Program for Every Month of the School Year, 422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elephant &amp; Friends, 47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elephant Seal Island, 319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elephant Seals, 318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title Index</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elephant Who Couldn't Forget, The, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elephants, 323</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eliza's Daddy, 162</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ella of All of a Kind Family, 128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elsa's Bears, 100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elves, Fairies, &amp; Gnomes, 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Emma, 209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Empty Window, The, 151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Enchanted Sticks, The, 74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Encyclopedia Brown Carries On, 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Encyclopedia Brown's Record Book of Weird and Wonderful Facts, 403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Endings: A Book about Death, 342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Enormous Crocodile, The, 44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eric Carle's Storybook, 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eric Heiden: Winner in Gold, 279</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eric Needs Stitches, 345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Escape to Freedom, 380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Escape If You Can: 13 Tales of the Preternatural, 76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Escape! The Life of Harry Houdini, 286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Esther, 289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everett Anderson's Nine Month Long, 166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everett Anderson's 1-2-3, 166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyday Train, The, 136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyone Goes as a Pumpkin, 236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyone is Good for Something, 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyone Knows What a Dragon Looks Like, 98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exeter Blitz, The, 125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exit from Home, 123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exploring the Sun, 328</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exploring with Pocket Calculators, 347</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exploring Books with Children, 423</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exploring Fields and Lots, 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eyes of the Amaryllis, The, 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fables, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fabulous Fox, The: An Anthology of Fact &amp; Fiction, 145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faces on Places About Gargoyles and Other Stone Creatures, 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Factories, The, 271</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fair Annie of Old Mule Hollow, 152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairground Games to Make and Play, 393</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairy Poems, 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairy Tale Book of Ballet, The, 374</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairy Tales and After From Snow White to E.B. White, 416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fallen Spaceman, The, 106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family, 67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family Christmas Tree Book, The, 231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family MINUS, The, 52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Family Secrets: Five Very Important Stories, 161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Famous Stanley Kidnapping Case, The, 139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fanny's Sister, 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fantastic Bicycles Book, The, 359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fantasy for Children: An Annotated Checklist, 412</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Far-Out Facts, 402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faraway Island, The, 208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farms for Today and Tomorrow: The Wonders of Food Production, 260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fast and Easy Needlepoint, 392</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fat Men from Space, 109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feast or Famine? The Energy Future, 336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feeling Free, 262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ferris Wheel, 178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fiddle with a Riddle: Write Your Own Riddles, 385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fiddle-1-Fee, A Traditional American Chant, 35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fierce: The Lion, 56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>File on Fraulein Berg, The, 124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Finders Keepers, 128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Finding the Magic Circus, 136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fine Trades, 252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Finger Rhymes, 224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Look at Whales A, 319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Morning, The: An African Myth, 27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Two Lives of Lukas-Kasha, The, 68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fish for Supper, 208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fish Hatchers, A, 310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fisherman and His Wife, The, 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fishing for Sunfish, 367</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fishing Talk for Beginners, 367</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Five Fat Raccoons, 47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Five Little Foxes and the Snow, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Five Nests, 305</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flamingo is Born, A, 307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flapdoodle: Pure Nonsense from American Folklore, 37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fledgling, The, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flight of the Sparrow, 152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flower Moon Snow A Book of Haiku, 223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flowers of a Woodland Spring, 353</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flowers Are for Keeping: How to Dry Flowers and Make Gifts and Decorations, 391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fly into Danger, 196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fly with the Wind, Flow with the Water, 222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fly It!, 363</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flying Horses, The Tales from China, 23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folk Tale Plays for Puppets, 380</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folk Tales from Asia for Children Everywhere Book One and Book Two, 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follow the River, 199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follow That Ghost!, 194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fool and the Dancing Bear, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foolish Giant, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Football Book, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Footprints of Young Explorers by Children from around the World</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Footsteps</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>For Kids Who Cook: Recipes and Treats</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forbidden Forest, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forest Log</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forever Formula, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foundling, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Four Miles to Pinecone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Four Scary Stories</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fourteen Rats &amp; a Rat-Catcher</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox at Drummer's Darkness, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox in the Ball Park, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox Eyes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox Mykytya</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frankenstein Moved in on the Fourth Floor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Free to be Muhammad Ali, 283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Freight Train</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Freight Train Book, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friend Dog</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friends of the Road, 174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friends of Abu Ali, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friends Are Like That! Stories to Read to Yourself, 173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frisbee Disc Basics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frisbee Fun</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fritz's Winter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frog and Toad All Year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frog Band and the Onion Seller, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frog's Body, A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frogs and the Ballet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>From A to Z The Collected Letters of Irene and Halie Coletta</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>From Dr. Mather to Dr. Seuss: 200 Years of American Books for Children</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>From Ice Mountain, Indian Settlement of the Americas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>From Tale to Tale An International Collection of Children's Stories</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>From Where You Are, 248</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frozen Fur: A Tale of Courage</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fun and safety on Two Wheels Bicycles, Mopeds, Scooters, Motorcycles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funny Drawing Book, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Furl of Fairy Wind, A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Galaxies Islands in Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Game of Hockey, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garden of Abdul Gasazi, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gardening without Soil</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garth Pig and the Ice Cream Lady, 58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gathering of Days, A New England Girl's Journal, 1830-32, 118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gaucho, 153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Genetics Explosion, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>George and Martha Tons of Fun, 55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>George the Drummer Boy, 115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geraldine, the Music Mouse, 53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gerbils: All about Them, 317</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Get-Away Car, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Get Those Rebounds!, 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Getting Along with Your Friends, 343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Getting Born, 325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Getting Nowhere, 154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Getting There. Frontier Travel without Power, 268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghost Lane, 193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghost Poems, 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghosts I Have Been, 75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giant at the Ford and Other Legends of the Saints, The, 34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giant Dinosaurs, The Ancient Reptiles that Ruled the Land, 354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giant Panda at Home, The, 323</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giant Poems, 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giant Who Swallowed the Wind, The, 85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giants, 94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giants Go Camping, The, 99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gift from a Sheep, The Story of How Wool Is Made, 136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gift of the Sacred Dog, The, 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gift of Magic Sleep, The Early Experiments in Anesthesia, 345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gift-Giver, The, 173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gigantic Joke Book, The, 405</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giggle Puss, Pet Jokes for Kids, 404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gila Monsters Meet You at the Airport, 160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gillie and the Flattering Fox, 10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girl Who Had No Name, The, 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girl Who Loved Wild Horses, The, 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girl Who Married a Ghost and Other Tales from the North American Indian</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girls in the Velvet Frame, The, 122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girls Can Be Anything They Want, 295</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girls Who Talked to Ghosts, The, The Story of Katie and Margaretta Fox</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glaciers Nature's Frozen Rivers, 334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnome, 95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Go to Bed', 218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Go with the Poem, 226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Go Away, Stay Away, 86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Go Tell It to Mrs Golightly, 179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goblin, A Wild Chimpanzee, 314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gods in Winter, The, 97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gods, Stars, and Computers Fact and Fancy in Myth and Science, 357</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Title Index

Gogo's Pay Day, 258
Golden Circle, The: A Book of Months, 339
Golden Girls: True Stories of Olympic Women Stars, 282
Golden Knights, The, 300
Golden Serpent, The, 89
Goldenrod, 98
Golem, The: A Jewish Legend, 32
Good-Bye, Chicken Little, 151
Good-Bye, Funny Dumpy-Lumpy, 64
Good Mousekeeper, The, 52
Good Night to Annie, 243
Goodnight, Goodnight, 200
Goof That Won't He Pennant, The, 205
Gorilla Wants to Be the Baby, 168
Gorillas, 313
Graham Oakley's Magical Changes, 407
Grandfather, 207
Grandma's Joy, 208
Grandmother, 207
Grandpa's A Young Man Grown Old, 295
Granda's Ghost Stories, 72
Granfa' Grig Had a Pig and Other Rhymes without Reason from Mother Goose, 36
Granny Reardun, 122
Grasshopper and the Unwise Owl, 75
Grasshopper on the Road, 53
Gray Kangaroo at Home, The, 323
Great American Comedy Scene, The, 375
Great Animals of the Moines, 375
Great Aquarium Book, A The Putting-It-Together Guide for Beginners, 400
Great Baseball Stories, 281
Great Big Box Book, The, 390
Great Big Elephant and the Very Small Elephant, The, 60
Great Big Golden Make It & Do It Book, The, 392
Great Dragon Competition and Other Stories, The, 85
Great Game of Soccer, The, 365
Great Gilly Hopkins, The, 160
Great Kids of the Movies, 286
Great Rat Island Adventure, The, 140
Great Song Book, The, 378
Great State Seals of the United States, 271
Greatest Guessing Game, The, A Book about Dividing, 347
Green Darner: The Story of a Dragonfly, 311
Green Man, The, 30
Green Recruit, The, 108
Gregory Griggs and Other Nursery Rhyme People, 36
Gregory, The Terrible Eater, 62
Grip: A Dog Story, 144

Griselda's New Year, 239
Grouchy Ladybug, The, 43
Ground Squirrels, 320
Groundhog's Horse, 116
Growin', 176
Growing up Feeling Good: A Child's Introduction to Sexuality, 346
Growing Older, 295
Growl When You Say R, 182
Grumley the Grouch, 60
Guess What?, 406
Guess Who My Favorite Person Is?, 172
Gulls of Smuttynose Island, The, 307
Gymnastics and You: The Whole Story of the Sport, 361
Gymnastics for Girls, 361
Gymnastics Basics, 162
Haiku-Vision in Poetry and Photgraphy, 222
Half-a-Ball-of-Kenki, 10
Half a Kingdom: An Icelandic Folktale, 21
Half-a-Moon Inn, The, 72
Halfway up the Mountain, 78
Halloween Pumpkin Smasher, The, 236
Halo Wind, The, 121
Hamdaani: A Traditional Tale from Zanzibar, 11
Hand over Wheels, 181
Handbook for Storytellers, 418
Handbook of Motocross, The, 360
Handling Small Pets: Step by Step, 315
Hang Gliding, 361
Hanging On How Animals Carry Their Young, 326
Hanukkah: Eight Nights, Eight Lights, 237
Hans Andersen: His Classic Fairy Tales, 83
Hansel and Gretel, 18
Hanukkah Money, 236
Happy Baker, The, 138
Happy Birthday, Sam, 156
Happy Dromedary, The, 47
Happy Jack, 13
Harriet and the Runaway Book: The Story of Harriet Beecher Stowe and Uncle Tom's Cabin, 292
Harness the Wind: The Story of Windmills, 336
Harness and the Runaway Book: The Story of Harriet Beecher Stowe and Uncle Tom's Cabin, 292
Harriet Goes to the Circus, 246
Harry (the Monster), 93
Harry and the Terrible Whatzit, 78
Title Index

Harry and Shellburt, 91
Harvey, the Beer Can King, 185
Hats, Caps, and Crowns, 264
Hattie Be Quiet, Hattie Be Good, 48
Hattie, Tom, and the Chicken Witch A Play and a Story, 234
Haunted Dolls, The, 100
Haunting of Julie Unger, The, 157
Have You Ever Heard of a Kangaroo Bird? Fascinating Facts about Unusual Birds, 305
Hawk High, 137
Hawk, I'm Your Brother, 141
Heavenly Zoo, The: Legends and Tales of the Stars, 31
Heavy Equipment, 346
Hello, Dandelion!, 353
Helping Children Cope, 411
Helping Day, The, 137
Herb & Spice Book for Kids, The, 396
Herbert Hated Being Small, 79
Here a Ghost, There a Ghost, 73
Here Is Your Career, Airline Pilot, 252
Hester in the Wild, 41
Hey Diddle Diddle, 36
Hey Hey Man, The, 94
Hey Presto! You're a Bear!, 95
Hey! Don't Do That, 50
Hickory, 42
Hidden Messages, 303
Hidden World, The Life under a Rock, 304
Hiding Game, 62
High on a Hill A Book of Chinese Riddles, 37
High Ridge Gobbler, A Story of the American Wild Turkey, 307
Hilarion, 127
Hilda The Hen Who Wouldn't Give Up, 68
Hispanic Heritage, A Guide to Juvenile Books about Hispanic People and Cultures, 414
History of Helpless Harry, The, 116
Hitler, Mad Dictator of World War II, 287
Hobberdy Dick, 71
Hoboken Chicken Emergency, The, 81
Hockey Hotshots, 285
Hogboon of Hell and Other Strange Orkney Tales, The, 14
Holiday Song Book, The, 240
Home, 95
Home for a Stranger, 163
Home Alone, 177
Home Is the High Country, 300
Homeward the Arrow's Flight, 289
Honey Book, The, 259
Honey, I Love, and Other Love Poems, 216
Honk Honk!, 58
Horace Morris, 186
Horatio Solves a Mystery, 44
Horse and a Hound, a Goat and a Gander, A, 58
Horse for X.Y.Z, A, 146
Horses As I See Them, 308
Hospitals, The, 271
Hot Cross Buns and Other Old Street Cries, 378
House on Stink Alley, The: A Story about the Pilgrims in Holland, 112
House Is a House for Me, A, 247
House Mouse, 323
Houses: Shelters from Prehistoric Times to Today, 264
How the Moolah Was Taught a Lesson, 25
How the Rooster Saved the Day, 88
How to Be an Inventor, 338
How to Dig a Hole to the Other Side of the World, 334
How to Grow Fruits and Berries, 39
How to Play Power Tennis with Ease, 366
How to Repair Your 10-Speed Bike, 360
How to Run a Railroad Everything You Need to Know about Model Trains, 399
How to Travel with Grownups, 184
How Beastly! A Menagerie of Nonsense Poems, 222
How Birds Fly, 305
How Did We Find Out about Oil?, 335
How Djedja-em-ankh Saved the Day, 22
How Do I Put It On?, 265
How Does It Feel to Be Old?, 343
How Does It Feel When Your Parents Get Divorced?, 265
How Far, Felipe?, 113
How I Came to be a Writer, 292
How I Found Myself at the Fair, 138
How I Hunted the Little Fellows, 123
How Lazy Can You Get?, 188
How Much Does America Cost?, 257
How We Live, 254
How We Work, 250
Howard, 63
Huck Scarry's Steam Train Journey, 270
Hug Me, 63
Humorous Books for Children, 413
Humphrey the Number Horse Fun with Counting and Multiplication, 348
Humphrey, the Dancing Pig, 49
Hundreth Dove and Other Tales, The, 92
Hungry World, The, 266
Hunt the Thimble, 112
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hunter's Stew and Hangtown Fry: What</td>
<td>260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pioneer America Ate and Why</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hush Up!,</td>
<td>183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hush, Little Baby,</td>
<td>379</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Huts, Hovels &amp; Houses,</td>
<td>392</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hydra, The,</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hyena Day,</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I and Sproggy,</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Am an Orthodox Jew,</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Am the Running Girl,</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Am Eyes: Ni Macho,</td>
<td>201</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Am Not a Pest,</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Am Not a Short Adult! Getting Good at</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Being a Kid,</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Can Count to 100, Can You?</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Can Do It by Myself,</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Carve Stone,</td>
<td>376</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Feel: A Picture Book of Emotions</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Hate to Go to Bed,</td>
<td>183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Hate It,</td>
<td>343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Have a Horse of My Own,</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Have a Sister, My Sister is Deaf,</td>
<td>262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Have Feelings Too,</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Know a Monster,</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Know a Salesperson,</td>
<td>252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Like Poems and Poems Like Me,</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Stood Upon a Mountain,</td>
<td>340</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Sure Am Glad to See 'm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blackboard Bear,</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Want to Be Big,</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Wish Laura's Mommy Was My Mommy,</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I, Heracles,</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ice Hockey A to Z.,</td>
<td>362</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ice Skating,</td>
<td>364</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'd Like to Try a Monster's Eye,</td>
<td>247</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ida Early Comes Over the Mountain,</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ida Fantanny,</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ideas of Einstein, The,</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Idle Jack,</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If I Could Be My Grandmother,</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If I Could, I Would,</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If I Were a Horse,</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If I Were a Toad,</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If It Shins, Clangs &amp; Bends, It's Metal,</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If It Weren't for Benjamin I'd Always Get</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>to Lick the Icing Spoon,</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If You Are a Hunter of Fossils,</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If You Listen,</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If You Say So, Claude,</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ike and Mama and the Block Wedding,</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'll Take Care of the Crocodiles,</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrated Ballet Dictionary,</td>
<td>374</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrated Marguerite Henry, The,</td>
<td>377</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrated Step-by-Step Beginner's</td>
<td>395</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cookbook, The,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrated Swimming, Diving and Surfing</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionary for Young People,</td>
<td>367</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrated T V. Dictionary,</td>
<td>384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illustrator's Notebook, The,</td>
<td>416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm Mad at You,</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm Nobody! Who Are You?,</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm Not Moving!,</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm Taggerty Toad,</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm Terrific,</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Imagine and Make Up Your Own Book,</td>
<td>385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Immigrant Kids,</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Impossible Major Rogers, The,</td>
<td>294</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Impressions: A Trip to the German</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Democratic Republic,</td>
<td>255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In a Lick of a Flick of a Tongue,</td>
<td>302</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In a Meadow, Two Hares Hide,</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the Circle of Time,</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the Land of Small Dragon: A Vietnamese</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folktale,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the Morning Mist,</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the Saddle, Horseback Riding for Girls</td>
<td>363</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and Boys,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the Witch's Kitchen: Poems for</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Halloween,</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In Granny's Garden,</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In Summertime It's Tuffy,</td>
<td>183</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In This Proud Land: The Story of a</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mexican American Family,</td>
<td>257</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In Your Own Words: A Beginner's Guide to</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing,</td>
<td>385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>India. Now and through Time,</td>
<td>254</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indian Signs and Signals,</td>
<td>253</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Innkeeper's Daughter, The,</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inside a Sand Castle and Other Secrets,</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inside My Feet: The Story of a Giant,</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Into the Dream,</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Into the Unknown: Nine Astonishing Stories,</td>
<td>357</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introducing More Books A Guide for the</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Middle Grades,</td>
<td>419</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction to Children's Literature</td>
<td>420</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction to Radio-Controlled Sailplanes,</td>
<td>399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>An,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Invitation, The,</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Invite a Bird to Dinner: Simple Feeders</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You Can Make,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iron Road, The. A Portrait of American</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Railroading, 270</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ironclad! A True Story of the Civil War,</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is It Red? Is It Yellow? Is It Blue?,</td>
<td>244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is There a Loch Ness Monster? The Search</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>for a Legend,</td>
<td>357</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Island of Wild Horses,</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Island Ponies, The An Environmental Study</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>of Their Life on Assateague,</td>
<td>321</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It Ain't All for Nothin',</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It All Began with Jane Eyre,</td>
<td>186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It Could Always Be Worse: A Yiddish Folk Tale,</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's a Baby!,</td>
<td>343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's a Girl's Game Too,</td>
<td>370</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's a Gingerbread House Bake It, Build It, Eat It!,</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's About Birds,</td>
<td>306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's All Done with Numbers: Astounding and Confounding Feats of Mathematical Magic,</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's Halloween,</td>
<td>235</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's Not Fair,</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's Rock'n'Roll,</td>
<td>379</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's So Nice to Have a Wolf around the House,</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Itzo,</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack and the Wonder Beans,</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack-in-the-Box Planet,</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack the Bum and the Halloween Hardout,</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack the Bum and the Haunted House,</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jacob Have I Loved,</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jakó or Dodo?,</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Marshall's Mother Goose,</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James's Tiger,</td>
<td>182</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Janet at School,</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Janet Guthrie First Woman at Indy,</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Janet Reachfar and Chickaord,</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January Fog Will Freeze a Hog and Other Weather Folklore,</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jason and the Bees,</td>
<td>311</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jason and the Golden Fleece,</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Java Jack,</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jellyfish Is Not a Fish,</td>
<td>312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jenny's Cat,</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeremiah in the Dark Woods,</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jesse's Dream Skirt,</td>
<td>203</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jet Journey,</td>
<td>300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jethro and the Jumbe,</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jethro's Difficult Dinosaur,</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewish Cookbook for Children,</td>
<td>396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jewish Holidays,</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jigsaw Continents,</td>
<td>332</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim Bridger's Alarm Clock and Other Tall Tales,</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joe DiMaggio: A Biography,</td>
<td>284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joe Morgan: Great Little Big Man,</td>
<td>281</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joel and the Great Merlins,</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Paul II: The Pilgrim Pope,</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnny Rutherford Indy Champ,</td>
<td>282</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jonah: An Old Testament Story,</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jonathan's Friends,</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joshua, the Czar, and the Chicken Bone Wish,</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Journey of the Shadow Barons,</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Journey Home,</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Juice, The Football's Superstar O J Simpson,</td>
<td>280</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Julia and the Hand of God,</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jumping Bean,</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Junk Food, Fast Food, Health Food: What America Eats and Why,</td>
<td>260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just an Overnight Guest,</td>
<td>170</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just Enough to Make a Story: A Sourcebook for Storytelling,</td>
<td>419</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Justice and Her Brothers,</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kahtahah,</td>
<td>295</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kassim's Shoes,</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Keep Running, Allen!,</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kenton Year,</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kettle of Hawks and Other Wildlife Groups,</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kickin' Snifters and Other Fearsome Critters,</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kids Outdoor Gardening,</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kids' Book of Lists,</td>
<td>402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kids' Cat Book,</td>
<td>315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kids' Diet Cookbook,</td>
<td>396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Killer Whales,</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kilroy and the Gull,</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kind of 1'd Justice,</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kindle of Kittens,</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King of the Cats and Other Tales,</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King of the Golden River,</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King Krakus and the Dragon,</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King Midas and a Gold Complex,</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King Tut's Game Board,</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kingdom of Wolves,</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King's Birthday Cake,</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King's Cat Is Coming!,</td>
<td>243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King's Collection,</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>K Flora,</td>
<td>244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King, Queens, Knights &amp; Jesters: Making Medieval Costumes,</td>
<td>387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King's Tea,</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kites for Kids,</td>
<td>363</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kites, Cats, Lions, and Tigers,</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kitten from One to Ten,</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kitty in the Middle,</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kitty in the Summer,</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Knight and the Dragon,</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Knight and the Squirrel,</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Knight of the Lion,</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Knock Knock: The Most Ever,</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Know About Alcohol,</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Koalas,</td>
<td>322</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Konrad</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kurt Thomas International Winner</td>
<td>284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kyle Rote, Jr American-Born Soccer Star</td>
<td>281</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lacy Makes a Match</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ladies Were Not Expected / Novak Scott</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lady of Guadalupe, The</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ladybug and Dog and the Night Walk</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lamb Who Went to Paris, The</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lamb for Dinner</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Land of the Iron Dragon</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laser Light</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lasers: The Miracle Light</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last of the Centaurs, The</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Guru, The</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Mission, The</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Monster, The</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Puppy, The</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last, First, Middle and Nick All about Names</td>
<td>382</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Latik: and the Lightning Lizard</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leakey the Elder: A Chimpanzee and His Community</td>
<td>314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning to Read w... Picture Books</td>
<td>410</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning with Puppets</td>
<td>417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leese Webster</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Legend of New Amsterdam, The</td>
<td>273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Legend of Scarface, The A Blackfeet Indian Tale</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lentil Soup</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leo Possessed</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leprechaun's Story, The</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leprechauns Never I.e.</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let's Go to the Moon</td>
<td>300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let's Look at Dogs, The</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let's Play Chess!</td>
<td>359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Letter, the Witch, and the Ring</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis Carroll's Jabberwocky</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liang and the Magic Paintbrush</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Life and Death of Martin Luther King, Jr</td>
<td>288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Life Begins for Puppies</td>
<td>315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Light beyond the Forest, The Quest for the Holy Grail</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Light the Candles' Beat the I...ms' A Book of Holidays</td>
<td>340</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Light Summer, The</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lily at the Table</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lines Are Coming</td>
<td>389</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linus Pauling: Scientist and Crusader</td>
<td>291</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lion and the Mouse</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lion Sneezed, The Folktails and Myths of the Cat</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Listen for the Singing</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Listen to a Shape</td>
<td>244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Listen to Your Kitten Purr</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature and Young Children</td>
<td>420</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature by and about the American Indian: An Annotated Bibliography</td>
<td>414</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Alphabet</td>
<td>243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Badger and the Fire Spirit</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Book of Anagrams</td>
<td>385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Book of Big Knock Knock Jokes</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Book of Daffinations</td>
<td>404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Book of Fowl Jokes</td>
<td>404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Deer of the Florida Keys</td>
<td>323</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Devil's ABC</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Dogs of the Prairie</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Goat, The</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>little Hen and the Giant</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little House Cookbook, The Frontier Foods from Laura Ingalls Wilder's</td>
<td>396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Classic Stories</td>
<td>396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Koala</td>
<td>323</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Lamb, The</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Monsters</td>
<td>301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little One Inch</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Otter Remembers and Other Stories</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Rabbit, The</td>
<td>315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Swineherd and Other Tales</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Time, A</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Wee Tyke, The An English Folktale</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Who's Zoo of Mild Animals</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Wild Chimpanzee</td>
<td>313</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Wild Elephant</td>
<td>322</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Wild Lion Cub</td>
<td>322</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Living with a Parent Who Drinks Too Much</td>
<td>266</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Living Light: Exploring Bioluminescence</td>
<td>340</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lizard Music</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Locks and Keys</td>
<td>347</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lollyg... of Limicks, A</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loner, The A Story of the Wolverine</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lonesome Whistle: The Story of the First transcontinental Railroad</td>
<td>267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Long Ago When the Earth Was Flat</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Long View into Space</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Look Along the Way</td>
<td>211</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Look at Aunts, A</td>
<td>311</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Look at Me, A</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Look at the Night Sky: An Introduction to Star Watching</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Looking at Beasts</td>
<td>376</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Looking at Children</td>
<td>376</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Looking at Iran, 256
Make Me a Hero, 172
Loss and How to Cope with It, 342
Make Your Own Thing Games, Puzzles,
Lost and Found, 216
Gimmicks & Gifts, 393
Lost and Found House, The, 51
Making Chinese Papercuts, 389
Lost and Found Princess, The, 86
Making It in Photography, 251
Lost in the Museum, 201
Making Musical Things Improvised
Lost Christmas Star, The, 230
Instruments, 393
Lost in the Museum, 201
Making Soft Dinosaurs A Dinosaur Craft
Lost City in the Clouds: The Discovery of Book, 390
Machu Pichu, 274
Making Soft Dinosaurs A Dinosaur Craft
Lost Treasures of America Searching Out
Book, 390
Hidden Riches, 272
Lost Umbrella of Kim Chu, The, 153
Magic Castle Fairytale Book, The, 22
Louie’s Search, 156
Magic Castle, The, 69
Lost James Hates School, 203
Magic through Science, 339
Maggie and the Goodbye Gift, 158
Magic Amulet, The, 1
Maggie and the Pirate, 195
Magic Boat and Other Chinese Folk Stories,
Magic and the Night Riser, 134
The, 20
Magic of the Gits, The, 172
Magic Castle Fairytale Book, The, 22
Magic of Ballet, The, 373
Magic Castle, The, 69
Magic through Science, 339
Magic Lantern, The How Movies Got to
Magic Amulet, The, 111
Move, 400
Magic Boat and Other Chinese Folk Stories,
The, 20
Magic Orange Tree and Other Haitian
Magic Castle Fairytale Book, The, 22
Folktales, The, 26
Magic Castle, The, 69
Magic Lantern, The How Movies Got to
Magic of Ballet, The, 373
Move, 400
Magic of the Gits, The, 172
Magic Lantern, The How Movies Got to Magic World of Words, The A Very First Move, 400
Dictionary, 383
Magic Lantern, The How Movies Got to Magical Miracles You Can Do, 398
Move, 400
Magicians Do Amazing Things, 398
Major Corby and the Unidentified Flapping
Major Corby and the Unidentified Flapping
Object, 106
Object, 106
Melissa’s Medley, 206
Memory: How It Works and How to Meet the Vampire, 357
Improve It, 343
Meet the Vampyre, 170
Meet the Vampyre, 170
Meet the Computer, 337
Meet the Vampyre, 170
Meet the Giant Snakes, 318
Meet the Vampyre, 170
Meet the Vampyre, 170
Meet the Snakes, 313
Meet the Vampire, 357
Meet the Vampire, 357
Meet the Vampire, 357
Melissa’s Medley, 206
Merrily Comes Our Harvest In Poems for
Merrily Comes Our Harvest In Poems for Thanksgiving, 239
Thanksgiving, 239
Merrily Comes Our Harvest In Poems for
Thanksgiving, 239
Merrily Comes Our Harvest In Poems for Thanksgiving, 239

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Merry Christmas! A History of the Holiday,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Merry Christmas, Henrietta!, 233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Merry Ever After: The Story of Two</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medieval Weddings, 275</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Merry, Merry February, 221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Methuselah’s Gang, 81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mice on Ice, 66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mice Twice, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mice: All about Them, 325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Middle East, The An Annotated</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bibliography of Literature for Children, 413</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mime Themes and Motifs, 421</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mirrors, Yours, Ours, 341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miracle Chip: The Microelectronic Revolution, 337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Misquing, Second Degree My Childhood in Nazi Germany, 294</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miss Nelson Is Missing!, 201</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miss Piggy, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Missing! Stories of Strange Disappearances, 356</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mister Wolf and Me, 148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Misty and Me, 144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mitzvah Is Something Special, A, 208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Model Buildings and How to Make Them, 399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Modern Olympic Superstars, 284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Modern Racing Cars, 369</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Modern Soccer Superstars, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mojo and the Russians, 188</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Molly Moves Out, 57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Molly’s Lies, 201</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moments, 223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Money of Your Own, 258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Money, Money, Money How to Get and Keep It, 257</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monroe’s Island, 93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monster in the Mailbox, A, 154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monster Fun, 387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monsters in the Earth: The Story of Earthquakes, 334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monsters, Ghoules and Creepy Creatures, 73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mooch the Messy, 61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mooch the Messy Meets Prudence the Bear, 61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moon of the $-$ Dog, 31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moon Bear, 39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moon, Stars, Flags, and Friends, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moon’s the North Wind’s Coat, The, 223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moonshadow, The, 113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse Baby, 326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More from Hound and Bear, 48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More Codes for Kids, 252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More Juniorplots A Guide for Teachers and Librarians, 418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More Minden Curses, 197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More Science Experiments You Can Eat, 338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More Small Poems, 216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morgan for Melinda, A, 143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morning, Noon and Nighttime, Too, 216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morris Has a Cold, 82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morris Tells Boris Mother Moose Stories and Rhymes, 82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Most Amazing Hide-and-Seek Alphabet Book, The, 242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Most Delicious Camping Trip Ever, The, 40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Most Welcome Visitor, The, 233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mother Rabbit’s Son Tom, 48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mother, Aunt Susan and Me, 126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Motivating Children and Young Adults to Read, 422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse and the Magician, The, 51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse and Tim, 146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse Called Junction, A, 67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse God, The, 51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse: Six and the Happy Birthday, 56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse Soup, 53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mouse Woman and the Mischief-Makers, 30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Movie Monsters and Their Masters The Birth of the Horror Film, 37c</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moviemaking A Guide for Beginners, 400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moving Heavy Things, 346</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moving Molly, 156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moving Right Along A Book of Science Experiments and Puzzles about Motion,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. and Mrs. Button's Wonderful Watchdogs, 141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Fong's Toy Shop, 138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Goshing and the Great Art Robbery, 193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Jameson and Mr. Phillips, 61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Lincoln's Whiskers, 287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Little, 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Marley's Main Street Confectionery A History of Sweets &amp; Treats, 272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. P. and Family, 50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Plum's Paradise, 200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Skinner's Skinny House, 80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Yowder, the Paupertistic Sign Printer, 81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. and Mrs. Gately the Ghost, 73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ms. — Architect, 249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Much Ado about Aldo, 187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mumble Bear, 59</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Mummies Made in Egypt, 274
Muskrat War, The, 134
My Ballet Class, 374
My Brother Never Feeds the Cat, 169
My Brother Steven Is Retarded, 262
My Brother, the Thief, 161
My Cat Pearl, 148
My Daddy's Mustache, 82
My Feet Do, 344
My First Dictionary, 384
My Friend the Monster, 84
My Friend Jacob, 179
My Feet Can, 344
My Island Grandma, 210
My Kitchen, 260
My Mane Catches the Wind, 215
My Minnie Is a Jewel, 190
My Mother and I Are Growing Strong
Mi mama y yo nos hacemos fuertes, 158
My Mother Didn't Kiss Me Good-Night, 168
My Mother Is Blind, 182
My Mother Sends Her Wisdom, 89
My Other-Mother, My Other-Father, 266
My Puppy, 148
My River Runs Through It, 179
My Village, Northbridge, 118
Mysteries of the World, 356
Mysteries of Nature Explained and Unexplained, 356
Mysterious Rays, The Marie Curie's World, 291
Mysterious Tadpole, The, 95
Mysterious Undersea World, The, 350
Mysterious Universe, The, 328
Mysterious World of Honeybees, The, 312
Mystery at the Edge of Two Worlds, 194
Mystery at Number Seven, Rue Petite, The, 198
Mystery in Peru The Lines of Nazca, 275
Mystery of the Flying Orange Pumpkin, The, 235
Mystery of the Forgotten Island, 194
Mystery of the Giant Footprints, The, 7
Mystery on Bleeker Street, The, 195

Namesake for Nathan, A, 116
Nate the Great and the Phony Clue, 197
Nathaniel, 5
Natural Fire Its Ecology in Forests, 331
Natural History, 340

Nature Invented It First, 340
Nature's Champions The Biggest, The Fastest, 341
Neighbors, 173
Net to Catch the Wind, A, 86
Never Hit a Porcupine, 65
Never Say Ugh to a Bug, 214
Never Tickle a Tug cartoons, Riddles and Funny Stories, 405
New Dog Next Door, 184
New Food Book, The, 258
New Girl at School, The, 202
New Moon, The, 329
New York Kid's Book, The, 256
Next Year I'll Be Special, 185
Nice New Neighbors, 42
Nick Joins In, 181
Nickels, Dimes, and Dollars How Currency Works, 257
Night before Christmas, The, 232
Night Journeys, 115
Night Sky Book, The An Everyday Guide to Every Night, 328
Night Swimmers, The, 165
Nightmares of Geranium Street The, 198
Nightmares Poems to Trouble Your Sleep, 219
Nini at Carnival, 173
No Good in Art, 202
No More Baths, 77
No Place to Run, 159
No Time for Me, 150
No-Return Trail, The, 120
Noah's Ark, 31
Noah's Ark, 34
Noelle's Brown Book, 245
Noises in the Woods, 301
Noisy Gander, 56
North of Danger, 124
Northern Nativete, A Christmas Dreams of a Prairie Boy, 232
Notes from a Different Drummer A Guide to Juvenile Fiction Portraying the Handicapped, 410
Now upon a Time A Contemporary View of Children's Literature, 423
Now Is Not Too Late, 209
Number Families, 349
Nursery Rhymes, 36
Nutcracker, The, 99
Oak Tree Dies and a Journey Begins, An, 200
Oak, The, 275
Obstinate Land, The, 120
Title Index

Ocean Frontiers, 350
Octavia Told Me a Secret, 161
Octopus, 309
Odds and Chances for Kids: A Look at Probability, 348
Of Course a Goat, 164
Of Quarks, Quasars, and Other Quirks: Quizzical Poems for the Supernormal Age, 224
Ogre's Banquet, The, 90
Oh Lord!, 91
Oh Say Can You-Say?, 405
Oh, Such Foolishness!, 220
Oh, That Koala!, 59
Oh, Were They Ever Happy!, 190
Oh, What an Awful Mess! A Story of Charles Goodyear, 290
Oil Spills: Danger in the Sea, 329
Okay, Good Dog, 316
Old Blue, 144
Old Hippo's Easter Egg, 234
Old Magic, An, 121
Old Man and the Mule, The, 190
Old Tiger, New Tiger, 59
Old Woman and Her Pig and 10 Other Stories, The, 24
Old-Time Bicycle Book, The, 359
Older than the Dinosaurs: The Origin and Rise of the Mammals, 355
Olga Carries On, 41
Oliver Button Is a Sissy, 202
Olympics and Me, The, 282
Oma, 208
On the Forest Edge, 353
On the Frontier with Mr. Audubon, 278
On the Track of the Mystery Animal: The Story of the Discovery of the Okapi, 324
On to Widecombe Fair, 378
On Stage, Please, 162
On Wings of Love, 265
Once in a Wood: Tales from Aesop, 9
Once Upon a Dinkelsbuhl, 16
One Day I Closed My Eyes and the World Disappeared, 199
One Dragon's Dream, 246
One-Word Words and How They Began, 383
One I was a Plum Tree, 130
One Meter Max, 348
One Ocean Touching Papers from the First Pacific Rim Conference on Children's Literature, 415
One Old Oxford Canal, 415
One Spring Day, 201
1000 Inventions, 406
One, Two, Three—Ah-Choo!, 179
Ookie-Spooky, 79
Oops, 7
Open Road, The, 49
Orangutan: Endangered Ape, 313
Ordeal of Byron B Blackbear, The, 80
Ordinary Jack: Being the First Part of the Bagthorpe Saga, 184
Orphans, The, 129
Oscar the Selfish Octopus, 40
Ostrich Girl, The, 33
Other Side of a Poem, The, 224
Other Way to Listen, The, 222
Our Changing Climate, 350
Our Noisy World, 332
Our Planet the Earth, 334
Our Wild Wetlands, 333
Our World Is Earth, 328
Our World: The People's Republic of China, 255
Out in the Dark and Daylight, 216
Owl and the Pussy-cat, The, 220
Owl and Other Scrambles, 243
Owl's Kiss, The, 90
Owney: The Traveling Dog, 144
Ox-Cart Man, 118
Paddington at the Seaside, 41
Paddy's New Hat, 6
Painter's Trick, The, 191
Pancake, The, 21
Pancakes for Breakfast, 5
Paper Cutting, Making All Kinds of Paper Shapes and Figures, 389
Passage to Space: The Shuttle Transportation System, 299
Passover, 237
Pat, Swish, Twist and the Story of Pitty Swish, 388
Path of the Orange Peels: Adventures in the Early Days of Tel Aviv, 123
Patrick and the Fairy Thief, 91
Patty Scarry's Big Bedtime Storybook, 60
Peaceable Kingdom, A: The Shake: Abecedarius, 243
Peanuts, 260
Pearl in the Egg, 113
Pease-Urridge Hot: A Mother Goose Cookbook, 395
Pecos Bill Finds a Horse, 15
Pencahn Mystery, The, 195
Penny-Wise, Fun-Foolish, 45
People, 255
People of New China, The, 275
Peppermints in the Parlor, 127
Perfect Pets, 316
Pens of Putney, The, 79
Person in the Potting Shed, The, 192
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pete Rose My Life in Baseball, 284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter and the Wolf, 379</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter Lippman's One and Only Wacky Word Book, 384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter Penny's Dance, 81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter, 163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phantom Fisherboy, The, 70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phantom Ice Cream Man, The: More Nonsense Verse, 220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phoebe and the Hot Water Bottles, 136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picking &amp; Weaving, 264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pickle in the Middle and Other Easy Snacks, 397</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Book A B C, 243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Story of Catfish Hunter, The, 285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Story of Jockey Steve Cauthen, The 283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Story of Nadia Comaneci, The, 285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Story of Terry Bradshaw, The, 281</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture That!, 418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pilgrims Plantation, 270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pinballs, The, 151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pop &amp; Pod, 44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirates' Adventure on Spooky Island, The 79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plain Lane Christmas, 231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Planets Stars and Galaxies, 327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plants Do Amazing Things, 353</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Playtime, 216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pleasant Fieldmouse's Valentine Trick, 238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Please Don't Say Hello, 180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Please Try to Remember the First of October', 80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plurals, 383</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pluto Brave Lipizzaner Stallion, 124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pocket of Silence, A, 102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poems of Christmas, 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poetry Books for Children, 414</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poetry Troupe, The An Anthology of Poems to Read Aloud 227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poison Tree and Other Poems, A, 226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poofy Loves Compaw, 189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor Tom's Ghost, 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Popcorn, 260</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Popcorn Book The, 259</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Popcorn A Frank Asch Bear Story, 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Porcupine A. abv., 326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portly IceSwine, 55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Positively No Pets Allowed, 149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pot, What It Is, What It Does, 267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Potato Eaters, The 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Praying Mantis The Garden Dinosaur 311</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Preparing Your Preschooler for Reading A Book Names, 422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Presidents at Home, 288</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Presto or The Adventures of a Turnspit Dog, 115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Price of Free Land, The, 274</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prickly Pig, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prince of the Dolomites, The, 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess and the Pea, The, 83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prison Window, Jerusalem Blue, 112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prisoners of the Scrambling Dragon, 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Professor Coconut and the Thief, 194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Promise Is for Keeping, A, 175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puma, The, 153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumpkin People, The, 214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puppet Corner in Every Library, A, 417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Puppetry and the Art of Story Creation, 417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pups, Dogs, Foxes and Wolves, 215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purim Goat, The, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Putting the Sun to Work, 335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Queen of Ene and Other Poems, The, 221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Queen of Hearts, 207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Queen's Tears and Elephant's Tears A Guide to Growing Unusual House Plants, 397</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quick Wits and Nimble Fingers, 13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quicksand Book, The, 333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quiet Evening, The, 199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rabbit Island, 63</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rabbit's New Rug, 46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rabbits' Search for a Little House, 52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rachel, 180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rachel and Obadiah, 119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Racquetnail Bases, 368</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Racquetball Book, The, 369</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Railroad Yard, 268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Railroads, The, 268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rainbow Colored Horse, The, 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rainbow Fairy Book, The, 21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rainforest Children, The, 70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rains of Eridan, The, 107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Raising Readers A Guide to Sharing Literature with Young Children, 421</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramona and Her Father, 16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramona and Her Motner, 195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Randolph Caldecott Treasury, The, 409</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rapunzel, 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rascals from Haskell's Gym, The, 204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reading for Young People: The Midwest</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Real Life Monsters</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Real Tom Thumb, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rebel on a Rock, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Recyclopedia: Games, Science Equipment, and Crafts from Recycled Materials</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Red Lion, The: A Tale of Ancient Persia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Red Sea, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reddy Rattler and Easy Eagle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Redwoods Are the Tallest Trees in the World</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Refugee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reggie Jackson: The Three Million Dollar Man</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Remarkable Return of Winston Potter Crispily</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rescued: America's Endangered Wildlife on the Comeback Trail</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Response Guides for Teaching Children's Books</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Return of the Loose</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Revenge of the Incredible Dr. Rancid and His Youthful Assistant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rhyming Nell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richard Scarry's Best First Book Ever</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riddles of Mermaid House, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riddles That Rhyme for Halloween Time</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ride the Pine Sapling</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rinehart Lifts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ring of Endless Light, A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ring of Fire, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>River Bank, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>River Rats, Inc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Road from Home, The: The Story of an Armeran Girl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roadrunner</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roadrunners and Other Cuckoos</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robbers, Bones &amp; Mean Dogs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robbers, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robin Hood: His Life and Legend</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robot and Rebecca, The: The Mystery of the Code Carrying Kids</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robot Book, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robots A-Z</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rock-a-Bye Whale: A Story of the Birth of a Humpback Whale</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rockhound Trails</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rocking Chair Rebellion, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rocking Horse Secret, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rocky Mountain Bighorns, A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rudolph Pepper's Puzzle Book</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roller Skating</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roman Numerals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ron Guindry: Louisiana Lightning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ronnie and Rosey</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rooster's Horns, The: A Chinese Puppet: Play to Make and Perform</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rosie's Double Dare</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rufus the Doofus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rum Pum Pum, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Run, Run Fast</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Runaway to Freedom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Runaway: Marie Louise</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russian Farewell, A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Safe as the Grave</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sails, Rails, and Wings</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Salt Marsh Summer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Salted Lemons</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sam Who Never Forgets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sanctuary Tree, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sand Dollar, Sand Dollar, the</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sand Tiger Shark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sandy and the Rock Star, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sara and the Door</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sara Summer, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarah Bishop, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarah's Giant and the Upside Down House</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarah's Unicorn</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Save the Raccoon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saving of P.S. The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saving Electricity</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Say Hello, Vanessa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Say It, 172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saying It without Words</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scarecrow Book, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scaredy Cat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scareface Al and His Uncle Sam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scenes from Childhood</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>School Mouse and the Hamster</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scissor Cutting for Beginners</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scrap Puppets: How to Make and Move Them</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scrap Wood Craft</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scrub Fire</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sea Glass</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sea Masters of Long Ago</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sea Otters, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Search for Two Bad Men, Inc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Searching for Shona</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Season In-Between</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret in a Sealed Bottle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret in the Garden</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret of the Sabbath Fish, The</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret Clocks, The: The Time Senses of Living Things</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Title Index
Title Index

Secret Dreamer, Secret Dreams, 180
Secret Friend, A, 174
Secret Inside, The, 49
Secret Languages Communicating in Codes and Ciphers, 253
Secret Service in Action, The, 251
Secrets from the Past, 356
Secrets of Alkazar, The, A Book of Magic, 396
Secrets of Scarlet, 115
Seeing Stuck, The, 92
Segovia: My Book of the Guitar, 380
Self-Portrait: Erik Blegvad, 278
Self-Portrait Marjot Zemach, 279
Sending Messages, 253
Septimus Bean and His Amazing Machine, 81
Serpent Treasure, 137
Seven Feet Four and Growing, 205
729 Puzzle People, 408
Seven Ravens, The, 18
Seven True Bear Stories, 321
Seven True Dog Stories, 314
Seven True Elephant Stories, 325
Seven True Horse Stories, 308
17 Gerbils of Class 4A, The, 145
Seventh Day, The, The Story of the Jewish Sabbath, 28
Seventh One, The, 149
79 Squares, The, 207
Shadow of the Gloom-World, The, 69
Shadow of the Hawk and Other Stories by Marie de France, The, 33
Shadow on the Hills, The, 123
Shadow Cage and Other Tales of the Supernatural, The, 74
Shadow Guess, The, 70
Shamrocks, Harps, and Shillelaghs: The Story of the St. Patrick’s Day Symbols, 238
Shape of Water, The, 333
Shared Room, The, 160
Sharing Literature with Children A Thematic Anthology, 420
Shark Lady True Adventures of Eugene Clark, 290
She Never Looked Back Margaret Mead in Samoa, 290
She’s Not My Real Mother, 171
Ship in a Storm on the Way to Tarshish, A, 85
Shopping Basket, The, 42
Sick of Being Sick Book, The, 405
Sick Day, The, 168
Sick Story, The, 186
Sidewalk Racer and Other Poems of Sports and Motion, The, 226
Silas and the Black Mare, 133
Silas and Con, 110
Silent Bells, The, 232
Silly Verse (and Even Worse), 221
Silver on the Tree, 101
Silver Coach, The, 206
Simple Pictures Are Best, 191
Simple Prince, The, 92
Simple Shelters, 264
Sir Andrew, 7
Sisters Impossible, The, 168
Six New Students, 42
Skateboarding Skills, 364
Skateboards How to Make Them, How to Ride Them, 364
Skates of Uncle Richard, The, 205
Skeletons That Fit, 302
Snake Talk for Beginners, 365
Skunk and Possum, 63
Skunk for a Day, 320
Sleeping Beauty, The, 18
Sleeping Beauty, The, 23
Sleighs, The Gentle Transportation, 268
Slim Goodbody What Can Go Wrong and How to Be Strong, 343
Sloppy Kisses, 66
Small Deer’s Magic Tricks, 12
Small Habitations, 303
Small One, The, 231
Small Plays for Special Days, 240
Small Rabbit, 56
Small Wonders, 222
Small Worlds Close Up, 340
Smallest Life around Us, The, 339
Smoke over Golan, 159
Snail in the Woods, 312
Snake Fights, Rabbit Fights, & More A Book about Animal Fighting, 302
Snake In, Snake Out, 383
Snake, The A Very Long Story, 247
Snakes, 317
Snakes Their Place in the Sun, 318
Snow Maiden, 30
Snow Monkey at Home, The, 314
Snow Queen, The, 83
Snowman The, 5
Snow and Woody, 47
So You Want to Be a Dancer, 374
Soap Box Derby Racing, 370
Soccer, 360
Soccer for Juniors, 365
Soccer Tips, 365
Soft Toys, 390
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Solomon Grundy, Born on Oneday,</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>So've It! A Perplexing Profusion of Puzzles,</td>
<td>407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Some Basics about Hang Gliding,</td>
<td>360</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Some Basics about Running,</td>
<td>369</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Some Basics about Vans,</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Somebody Else's Child,</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Someone New,</td>
<td>178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Someone Slightly Different,</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Something about the Author Facts and Pictures</td>
<td>409</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>about Authors and Illustrators of Books for</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Young People,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Something on My Mind,</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Something to Count On,</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sun for a Day,</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sound of the Dragon's Feet,</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sound of Flutes and Other Indian Legends,</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sound to Remember,</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sounding of Storytellers, A New and Revised</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Essays on Contemporary Writers for Children,</td>
<td>409</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sounds in the Sea,</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sounds of Animals at Night,</td>
<td>303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soup for President,</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soup's Drum,</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>South Star,</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Southern Ghosts,</td>
<td>357</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Space Case,</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Space Story,</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Space Where Anything Can Happen,</td>
<td>422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spaces. Shapes, and Sizes,</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sp... Up More Rhymes of the Never Was and Always</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Gift,</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Kind of Sister,</td>
<td>182</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Trade,</td>
<td>211</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spider in the Sky,</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spider Jane,</td>
<td>66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spider Makes a Web,</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spider Might,</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spider's Web,</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spine-Chillers,</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spit Is a Piece of Land, A Landforms in the</td>
<td>333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>USA,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports Books for Children An Annotated Bibliography,</td>
<td>411</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports Hero, Jimmy Connors,</td>
<td>280</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports Superstitions,</td>
<td>370</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports,</td>
<td>271</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sports Looking Forward to a Career,</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soot's Dogs and the Alley Cats,</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spotted Flower and the Ponokomita,</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spotted Stones,</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spring Peepers Are Calling,</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Springfellow,</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Springs of Joy,</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Squarehead and Me,</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Squeeze a Sneeze,</td>
<td>385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Squirrels,</td>
<td>325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Patrick's Day in the Morning,</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stage Brat,</td>
<td>178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stamp-Pad Printing Book, The,</td>
<td>388</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star Child,</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Star Husband,</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Starring Sally J. Freedman as Herself,</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stars on Ice,</td>
<td>285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>State Flowers,</td>
<td>352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Statue of Liberty,</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Staying Power, Performing Artists Talk about Their</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lives,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steadfast Tin Soldier,</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stepchild,</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steve Cauthen, Boy Jockey,</td>
<td>385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stevie Wonder,</td>
<td>286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stickleback Cycle,</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Still Going Bananas,</td>
<td>404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Still More Small Poems,</td>
<td>216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stitch in Time,</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stone &amp; Steel A Look at Engineering,</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stone Book,</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stone Fox,</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stonewall,</td>
<td>287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening,</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stores,</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stories and Lore of the Z-bac,</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stories from the Bible,</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stories A List of Stories to Tell and to Read</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aloud, Seventh Edition,</td>
<td>418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Storm Boy,</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Storm Irving Krick vs the U S Weather Bureaucracy,</td>
<td>289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of the Louisiana Purchase, The,</td>
<td>272</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of Dragons and Other Monsters, The,</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of Kwanza,</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of Nim, The Chimp Who Learned Language,</td>
<td>314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of Vampires,</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of World War II,</td>
<td>274</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story Programs A Source Book of Materials,</td>
<td>419</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Storytelling Art and Technique,</td>
<td>417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Straight on Till Morning Poems of the Imaginary</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strange and Supernatural Animals,</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strange Monsters of the Sea,</td>
<td>309</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strange Servant, A Russian Folktale,</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stray,</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>String in the Harp,</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stuff &amp; Nonsense,</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Title Index

Subee Lives on a Houseboat, 256
Submarine Bird, The, 307
Sugar Disease, The: Diabetes, 345
Summer Is Icumen In: Our Ever-Changing Language, 382
Summer of the White Goat, 142
Summer to Die, A, 157
Summer Maker, Thé, 27
Summer Secret, A, 197
Summer's Lease, A, 177
Summer: A Looking Game, 408
Sun Dogs and Shooting Star Skywatcher's Calendar, 328
Sun Flight, 32
Sun Horse, Moon Horse, 113
Sunflower!, 353
Super-Colossal Book of Puzzles, Tricks & Games, 406
Super-Vroomer!, 134
Superacers, The, 270
Superdrivers. Three Auto Racing Champions, 283
Superfudge, 183
Supermarket, The, 260
Superplanes, 269
Superpup ly How to Choose, Raise, and Train the Best Possible Dog for You. 316
Superstars of the Sports World, 282
Supplement to Children's Books on Africa and Their Authors. An Annotated Bibliography, 413
Surprise Party, The, 190
Surprise Picnic. The, 6
Surprising Things Maui Did, The, 35
Survival Thesaurus in Fiction for Children and Young People. 414
Susannah and the Blue House Mystery. 193
Swan, Cove, 305
Swan Lake, 373
Swedish Toys, Dolls and Gifts You Can Make Yourself, 390
Swedish Tales, from China. 20
Swifty Tiltin Planet, A, 107
Swimming Basics, 367
Swing, The, 180
Symbols & Their Meaning, 233
Symbols A Silent Language, 252
Talibpo, The A Ghost Story, 16
Taking Care of Me, 361
Taking Pictures, 399
Tale of Mesh'ma the Kvetch, The, 84
Tale of Three Leopards, A, 321
Talent Is Not Enough, 409
Tales from the Arabian Nights, 15
Tales from Tartary Russian Tales. Volume Two, 24
Tales of Oliver Pig, 64
Talking Bones Secrets of Indian Burial Mounds, 273
Talking Stone, The: An Anthology of Native American Tales and Legends, 29
Talking Turnip, The, 81
Tall Ships, 268
Tapping Earth's Heat, 336
Tatterhood and Other Tales, 23
Teach Us, Amelia Bedelia, 189
Teddy, 59
Teddy Bear's Scrapbook, 100
Teddy bears Cookbook, 395
Telephone, The, 44
Tell Me a Trudy, 190
Tell Me No Lies, 152
Tell Them My Name Is Amanda, 163
Ten Copycats in a Boat and Other Riddles, 37
Tennis Book. The, 366
Tepee Tales of the American Indian, 28
Term Paper, 160
Terrible Nun Gwama, The A Chinese Folktale, 26
Thanksgiving Crafts and Cookbook, 239
That Terrible Halloween Night. 236
That's One Ornery Orphan, 120
Then There Were None, 331
There & Back Again, 100
There Are Two Kinds of Terrible, 157
There Goes Featherpl, 72
There's a Bat in Bunk Five, 185
They Do Things Right in Albernn, 23
They Found a Way Lorraine Hansberry, 293
They Found a Way Mary Cassatt, 279
They Lived with the Dinosaurs, 354
They Said It Couldn't Be Done, 338
They're Never too Young for Books Literature for Pre-Schoolers, 413
They've Discovered a Head in the Box for the Bread and Other Laughable Limericks, 220
Think of Shadows, 223
Third Eye, The, 176
Third Planet from Altair, The, 108
This Book Is about Time, 339
This Can Lick a Lollipop Body Riddles for Kids, 405
This Game Called Hockey Great Moments in the World's Fastest Team Sport, 362
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>This Is the Way It Works A Collection of Machines, 346</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This Is Pro Soccer, 366</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This Little Pig, 56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This Little Pig-a-Wig and Other Rhymes about Pigs, 214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This Noble Harvest, A Chronicle of Herbs, 352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thornton the Worrier, 61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Those Terrible Toy-Breakers, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thousand Pails of Water, A, 147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Ducks Went Wandering, 59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Friends Find Spring, 46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Little Kittens Lost Their Mittens, 36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Little Pigs, 20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Strikes and You're Out, 21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Throne for Sesame, A, 178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Through Grandpa's Eyes, 181</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Throwing Shadows, 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thumbelina, 83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thunder and Lightnings, 174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tried Together, Topics and Thoughts for Introducing Children's Books, 418</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiffy Doolly, 62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiger-Skin Rug, The, 59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tigers and Other Lions, 221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tilabel, 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time for the White Egret, 43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time for Clocks, 247</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time to Get Out of the Bath, Shirley, 77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time to Keep A, The Tasha Tudor Book of Holidays, 240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tina Gogo, 172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tinkerbell Is a Ding-a-ling, 403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To the Tune of a Hickory Stick, 134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Hilda for Helping, 171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Look at Any Thing, 223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Ravensrige, 114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Spoil the Sun, 114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Stand against the Wind, 151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toad on Capitol Hill, The, 118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Today Is Shrew's Day, 43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tom Cat, 41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tom Fobble's Day, 122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tomas and the Talking Birds, 159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tomboy, 176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tonweya and the Eagles and Other Lakota Indian Tales, 35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too-Great Bread Bake Book, The, 78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too Many Babas, 185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too Short Fred, 55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tooth and Claw A Look at Animal Weapons, 503</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Top Secret Projects of World War II, 274</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tornado! Poems, 222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tough Guys and Gals in the Movies, 375</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tough Tiffany, 176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Town Cats and Other Tales, The, 67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Town Mouse and the Country Mouse, 9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tracy Austin. Teenage Superstar, 284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tramp, 175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Traps &amp; Lures in the Living World, 341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tread Softly, 167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treasure of Alpheus Winterborn, The, 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treasure, The, 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treeful of Pigs, A, 88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tremendous Tree Book, The, 352</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trenches, The Fighting on the Western Front in World War I, 274</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trial Valley, 165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trickster Tales from Prairie Lodgefires, 10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tit, 189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trip and Other Sophie and Gussie Stories, The, 62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trip, The, 173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triplets, The, 169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triumphs of Fuzzy Fogtop, The, 24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Troll in Passing, A, 96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trouble with Princesses, The, 19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truck, 5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trucks and Supertrucks, 269</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trucks, Trucking and You, 269</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Book of the Mars Landing, The, 299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Book of Spinnoffs from Space, The, 299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Gross, The, 34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truffles for Lunch, 41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truth about Dragons, The, 27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truth about Gorillas, The, 313</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truth on Trial The Story of Galileo Galilei, 289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tryouts, The, 206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tulku, 122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turkeylegs Thompson, 157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turn Over, 407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turnabout, 379</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turtle and Snail, 53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turtle Tale, 244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turtles' Rain and Other Nonsense Stories, The, 41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twelve Clever Brothers and Other Fools, The, 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twelve Dancing Princesses, The, 19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twenty Elephant Restaurant, The, 79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two for the Show Great Comedy Teams, 375</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two of Them, The, 206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two Homes for Lynn, 159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two Homes to Live In A Child's-Eye View of Divorce, 265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two Kittens are Born From Birth to Two Months, 316</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Title Index

Two Pairs of Shoes, 25
Two-Way Words, 384
Two Ways about It, 158
Two, Four, Six, Eight: A Book about Legs, 302
Tyler Toad and the Thunder, 44
Tyrannosaurus Rex, 356
Ty's One-Man Band, 210

Uncle Louie's Fantastic Sea Voyage, 80
Under the Autumn Garden, 137
Under the Early Morning Trees, 217
Under the Lemon Tree, 145
Under the Shade of the Mulberry Tree, 15
Underground, 337
Unhurry Harry, 158
Until the Celebration, 70
Up and Down the River Boat Poems, 225
Up and Up, 6
Up the Down Elevator, 246
Up Day, Down Day, 186
Up, Up, and Away! The Story of Ballooning, 268
Useless Donkeys, The, 147
Using Literature & Poetry Affectively, 421
Using Literature in the Elementary Classroom, 422
Using Media for Creative Teaching, 420

Valentine Crafts and Cookbook, 238
Valentine Mystery, The, 238
Vanishing People, The Fairy Lore and Legends, 13
Vans to Build from Cardboard, 389
Vans: The Personality Vehicles, 368
Vegetables in a Pot, 397
Very Young Circus Flyer, A, 373
Very Young Dancer, A, 374
Very Young Gymnast, A, 361
Very Young Rider, A, 362
Very Young Skater, A, 364
Veterinarian, Doctor for Your Pet, 252
View from the Oak, Th: Th Private Worlds of Other Creatures, 302
Violin Close Up, Th, 380
Walt Disney's Treasury of Children's Classics, 375
Wanda Gag's The Sorcerer's Apprentice, 19
Wanda Gag's Jorinda and Joringel, 19
War in the Deep Pacific Submarine Action in World War II, 272
War Cry on a Prayer Feather Prose and Poetry of the Ute Indians, 218
War Party, Th, 114
Washday, 169
Watch Out! A Giant!, 93
Watching the Wild Apes: The Primate Studies of Goodall, Fossey, and Galdikas, 313
Watching Them Grow Inside a Zoo Nursery, 327
Water of Life, Th, 91
Water Experiments to Understand It, 351
Waterway West, The Story of the Erie Canal, 273
Way to Start a Day, Th, 263
Wazza Wins at Windy Gulch, 120
We Are Mesquakie, We Are One, 119
We Be Warm Till Springtime Comes, 165
We Be Warm Till Springtime Comes, 165
We Remember Philip, 161
Webster and Arnold and the Giant Box, 58
Weird & Wacky Inventions, 347
Wendy Henry Berg, 98
Wentletrap Trap, Th, 136
Westing Game, Th, 197
Westing Game, Th, 197
Whaleboat Raid, 116
What a Good Lunch!, 65
What Difference Does It Make, Daddy?, 182
What Are Friends For?, 172
What Are You Up To, William Thomas?, 126
What Can She Be? A Computer Scientist, 250
What Can She Be? A Computer Scientist, 250
What Can She Be? A Computer Scientist, 250
What Difference Does It Make, Danny?, 182
WAZA Wins at Windy Gulch, 120

Wake Up, Jeremiah, 199
Walk in the Forest, A. The Woodlands of North America, 331
Walk in Wolf Wood, A, 103
Walking Coat, Th, 191
Walking Shoes, 75
Walls Are to Be Walked, 140
Wally, 192
Walthol, 51
Walt Disney's Treasury of Children's Classics, 375
Wanda Gag's The Sorcerer's Apprentice, 19
Wanda Gag's Jorinda and Joringel, 19
War in the Deep Pacific Submarine Action in World War II, 272
War Cry on a Prayer Feather Prose and Poetry of the Ute Indians, 218
War Party, Th, 114
Washday, 169
Watch Out! A Giant!, 93
Watching the Wild Apes: The Primate Studies of Goodall, Fossey, and Galdikas, 313
Watching Them Grow Inside a Zoo Nursery, 327
Water of Life, Th, 91
Water Experiments to Understand It, 351
Waterway West, The Story of the Erie Canal, 273
Way to Start a Day, Th, 263
Wazza Wins at Windy Gulch, 120
We Are Mesquakie, We Are One, 119
We Be Warm Till Springtime Comes, 165
We Hide, You Seek, 406
We Remember Philip, 161
Webster and Arnold and the Giant Box, 58
Week Mom Unplugged the TVs, Th, 189
Wendy Henry Berg, 98
Wentletrap Trap, Th, 136
Werewolf Family, Th, 78
Wesley Paul, Marathon Runner, 281
Westing Game, Th, 197
Wet and Sandy Day, A, 200
Whaleboat Raid, 116
Whales Giants of the Sea, 318
What a Good Lunch!, 65
What the Moon Saw, 245
What to Do with An Egg, 395
What Are Friends For?, 172
What Are You Up To, William Thomas?, 126
What Can She Be? A Computer Scientist, 250
What Difference Does It Make, Danny?, 182
Title Index

What Do You Feed Your Donkey On? 379
What Do You Mean by 'Average'? Means, Medians, and Modes, 348
What Does a Para-edic Do?, 251
What Happened in Hamelin, 34
What Happens in the Spring, 349
What If They Knew?, 180
What If You Couldn't...? A Book about Special Needs, 262
What Is a Laser?, 336
What Is Tennis?, 366
What Is Your Dog Saying?, 315
What Makes Popcorn Pop, 261
What Really Happened to the Dinosaurs?, 354
Whatever Happened to Beverly Bigler's Birthday?, 163
Whatever Happened to Uncle Albert? And Other Puzzling Plays, 380
What's in a Name: Famous Brand Names, 382
What's Inside the Box?, 247
What's the Big Idea, Ben Franklin?, 287
What's Happening to Daisy?, 326
What's Hatching Out of That Egg?, 304
What's That You Said? How Words Change, 383
Wheat Country, 259
Wheels, 267
When the City Stopped, 138
When the Leaves Begin to Fall, 174
When the New Baby Comes, I'm Moving Out, 164
When the Wind Blew, 141
When Birds Change Their Feathers, 305
When Grandfather Journeys into Winter, 162
When I Grew Up Long Ago, 273
When People Die, 342
When We Were Young: An Album of Stars, 286
When We Were Young: Two Centuries of Children's Book Illustration, 416
When Will I Read?, 202
When Windwagon Smith Came to Westport, 22
Where the Elf King Sings, 164
Where to Now, Blue?, 139
Where Children Live, 254
Where Do You Think You're Going, Christopher Columbus?, 293
Where Does the Teacher Live?, 202
Where Is It?, 407
Where Is My Little Joey?, 57
Where Wild Willie?, 717
Where's Hennetta's Hen?, 48
Where's My Cheese?, 55
Which Is the Witch?, 235
White House Children, 295
White 'Wave', 91
Whitepaws: A Coyote-Dog, 315
Who Will Believe the Kitten?, 65
Who'll Vote for Lincoln?, 202
Who's in Rabbit's House? A Masai Tale, 10
Who's Afraid of the Dark?, 150
Who's Afraid of the Dark?, 162
Whose Cat Is That?, 187
Whose House Is It?, 303
Why the Tides Ebb and Flow, 12
Why Does a Turtle Live Longer Than a Dog?, 340
Why Worry?, 52
Wicked One, The, 95
Wide-Mouthed Frog, The, 60
Wild and Woolly Mammoths, 353
Wild Animal Families, 325
Wild Animals, Gentle Women, 290
Wild Babies: A Canyon Sketchbook, 325
Wild Orphan Babies: Mammals and Birds, 327
Wild Rabbit, The, 323
Wildflowers and the Stories Behind Their Names, 352
Wildlife Alert! The Struggle to Survive, 331
Wiley and the Hairy Man, 11
Wilkin's Ghost, 128
Will It Be Okay?, 153
Will Rogers, 285
Will You Count the Stars without Me?, 66
Willaby, 203
Willie's Garden, 200
Willy Runs Away, 58
Wily Witch and All the Other Fairy Tales and Fables, The, 84
Wind Eye, The, 103
Wind Is Not a River, The, 124
Wind Thief, The, 93
Windsong Summer, 137
Wings: The Early Years of Aviation, 300
Winners Never Quit: Athletes Who Beat the Odds, 280
Winter of the Owl, 145
Winter's Tales, 231
Wishing Bottle, The, 142
Witch of Glen Gowrie, The, 96
Witch to otal, 235
Witch Herself, The, 196
Witch Who Was Afraid of Witches, The, 235
Title Index

Witch, Goblin, and Sometimes Ghost, 70
Witch's Garden, The, 75
Witches Four, 93
Witt a Wave of the Wand, 155
Wizard of Gauze and Other Gags for Kids, The, 104
Wobbly Tooth, The, 152
Women at Their Work, 249
Wonder Ring, The: A Fantasy in Silhouette, 7
Wonders of Car, 308
Wonders of Ca., 309
Wonders of Donkeys, 308
Wonders of Dust, 334
Wonders of Goats, 308
Wonders of How Animals Learn, 301
Wonders of Jellyfish, 312
Wonders of Lions, 324
Wonders of Marsupials, 322
Wonders of Mice, 322
Wonders of Nature, 341
Wonders of Pones, 308
Wonders of Sea Horses, 369
Wonders of Snails & Slugs, 312
Wonders of Terns, 306
Wonders of Terrariums, 397
Woodland Crossings, 87
Wodruff and the Clocks, 184
Woodworking for Kids, 391
Wool Gathering: Sheep Raising in Old New England, 264
Word Music and Word Magic: Children's Literature Methods, 423
Words by Heart, 126
Words in Our Hands, 181
Working with Cardboard and Paper, 390
Working with Horses, 251
World of Ben Ughthart, The, 182
World of Coins and Coin Collecting, The, 400
World of Dance, The, 573
World of Freshwater Fish, The, 310
World of Storytelling, The, 419
World of the Dinosaurs, The, 354
World Within a World: Baja, 261
World Within a World: Pritilofs, 304
Worm for Dinner, A, 45
Worse than Rotten, Ralph, 48
Wor's' Person in the World, The, 98
Wounded Wolf, The, 143
Wreck of the Blue Plane, 196
Wretched Rachel, 159
Wriggles: The Little Wishing Pig, 60
Wuggie Norgle Stors, The, 158
Year and a Day, A, 96
Year of the She-Grizzly, The, 320
Yes My Darling Daughter, 162
Yesterday's Airplanes, 299
Yesterday's Snowman, 200
You and Your Pet Horses, 369
You Can't Count a Billion Dollars & Other Little-Known Facts about Money, 258
You Think It's Fun to Be a Clown, 183
Young Rockhound's Handbook, The, 335
Your Family, My Family, 256
Your Muscles and Ways to Exercise Them, 344
Your Old Pal, Al 173
Your Own Best Secret Place, 198
Your Own Horse: A Beginner's Guide to Horse Care, 307
Your Pet Elephant, 121
Your Skin Holds You In, 344
Yours Till Niagara Falls, Abby, 188
Zed and the Monsters, 90
Zero Is Not Nothing, 149
Zooar Blue, 120
Zoo Babies, 127
Zoos in the Making, 127