The ESEA Title I Program in the Austin Independent School District is a continuing program supported by funds from the Education Department under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The purpose of ESEA Title I is to provide for the learning needs of educationally disadvantaged students in school attendance areas having high concentrations of children from low-income families. It is intended to provide supplemental assistance over and above the regular school program.

Participation of schools in the Title I program is determined by both economic and educational criteria. Schools which have a higher concentration of low-income families than the district average are eligible to receive Title I services. Standardized test results and other available information are used to determine which grade levels to serve, which schools to serve and how many students to serve at each school. Participants are identified by ranking the students at each grade in a school and selecting those with the greatest need.

Reading Component: Title I Reading Improvement Program (TRIP)

The main objective of this instructional component is to improve Title I students' reading skills. The specific Reading Component outcome objectives can be found in the Information Needs section of this design.

The Title I Reading Improvement Program is supplementary to and coordinated with the Austin Independent School District's basic reading program. Its primary purpose is to provide additional assistance to students deficient in oral language and/or reading skills. During the 1980-81 school year, Title I services will be provided to eligible students in the following schools:

- Allan
- Blackshear
- Brooke
- Brown
- Campbell
- Dawson
- Govalle
- Harris
- Linder
- Langford
- Maplewood
- Metz
- Norman
- Oak Springs
- Ortega
- Pecan Springs
- Ridgetop
- Rosedale
- Rosewood
- Sanchez
- Sims
- Travis Heights
- Walnut Creek
- Winn
- Wooten
- Zavala

The recently developed Austin Independent School District Elementary Reading/Language Arts Position Paper outlines three aspects of the reading program: basic skills, developmental reading, and application. Title I will supplement the AISD program with activities in the following areas:
Basic Skills
- Oral Language Development
- English as a Second Language
- Vocabulary Development
- Word Attack Skills
- Comprehension

Developmental Reading:
- Supplementary Basal Activities
- Teacher-Made and Commercial Basal-Related Activities

Application:
- Oral Language
- Children's Literature
- Creative Writing
- Content Area Reading

The 26 Title I schools will employ classroom-based and "pull-out" instructional approaches. Where space and instructional conditions permit, Title I teachers will provide instruction in the regular classrooms. In other situations, services will be provided in the Title I Reading Centers or other specified areas reserved for Title I teachers.

Services will be rendered daily in instructional periods of 30 to 60 minutes. Instruction will be delivered in groups not to exceed eight per teacher.

Schoolwide Projects: Allison and Becker

Traditionally, the Title I legislation has required that instruction funded by Title I must be supplemental; i.e., Title I instruction should be distinct from regular instruction and should not supplant instruction provided with state and local funds. The new Title I legislation, however, allows the development of a new kind of Title I program, a schoolwide project, when at least 75% of the students residing within an attendance area are from low-income families. In a schoolwide project, Title I funds are combined with local funds to lower the pupil/teacher ratio, and Title I instruction is no longer distinguishable from regular instruction. All students in the school are considered to be served by Title I. This year AISD will have schoolwide projects at Allison and Becker for the second year.

Early Childhood Education Program: Language Development Through Sensory and Visual Experience

The Early Childhood Program, which is a full-day prekindergarten program designed for low-SES four-year-old children, will provide cognitive and affective preschool instruction. The emphasis will be on oral language development, concept development, and the acquisition of problem-solving skills. Campuses participating in this program are Allan, Brown (2 units), Maplewood, Norman, Ortega, Ridgetop, Rosewood, and Sims. The units at Allan and Ridgetop are funded half out of Title I and half out of Title I Migrant.
Parental Involvement

The objectives of this component are to increase parental support for the Title I program and to elicit parental advice in the planning and implementation of the program. Parental advice is obtained through Parent Advisory Councils (PAC's). A PAC will be established at each campus with a Title I program. In addition, a Districtwide PAC composed of representatives from local PAC's will be established.

The other thrust is to obtain parental support by providing them with training in ways they can help their children improve their school performance.

Each school designates a campus contact person for parental involvement. Each campus also chooses one of three options for gaining assistance in establishing PAC's. They may choose to use the Title I/Title I Migrant Parental Involvement Specialist, the school's Title I Reading Coordinator, or the school's own staff.

Nonpublic/Neglected and Delinquent Component

Title I Programs have been funded for the following nonpublic schools or institutions for neglected and delinquent children:

- St. Austin School
- St. Ignatius Martyr School
- St. Mary's Cathedral School
- Junior Helping Hand Home for Children
- Middle Earth Spectrum
- Salado House
- Settlement Club Home

Title I Reading teachers, aides, or materials are provided for each campus to serve the designated students in the areas of reading and/or math. Middle Earth Spectrum will receive only materials for 1981-82.
The evaluation of the Austin Title I Program serves a number of purposes:

a. To provide information to program staff for use in planning and implementing the program;

b. To provide information to District administrators, the Board of Trustees, and the public concerning the success of the program;

c. To provide evaluation staff with information necessary for the planning and implementation of subsequent Title I evaluation;

The information needs related to these purposes are met by the collection and analysis of needs assessment, implementation, and outcome data. Needs assessment information is provided on both an ad hoc basis as questions arise and in formal ways through the publication of a needs assessment document.

On-going evaluation of the implementation of program components is accomplished through classroom observations, interviews, and the collection of information about whom the program is serving.

Outcome evaluation through the use of standardized instruments will measure the student outcomes produced by the project activities.

The following reports will be prepared by Title I Evaluation this year:

- Title I Final Evaluation Report

  This report is a 10-15 page summary of findings of the Title I Program. It is included in the ORE Evaluation Findings Volume.

- Title I Final Technical Report

  This report presents the technical information relevant to each instrument or information source used in the evaluation.

Staff assigned to carry out the evaluation activities discussed above and described in this document consists of an evaluator, one half-time evaluation intern, one evaluation assistant, a data analyst, and a secretary.
