This bibliography cites books at all levels relevant to Hawaiian studies. In recent years, there has been a growing interest in all aspects of Hawaiian studies as the people of Hawaii seek to learn more about their state, its history and development, its unique culture, and the varied ethnic groups that contribute to Hawaii's rich diversity. It is intended to help school librarians strengthen their Hawaiian collections. Books for adults are also included. Excluded are cookbooks, Pacific area materials, and tourist-oriented materials. The first part of the bibliography is a subject listing by major Dewey Decimal classifications. Only author and titles are provided in this listing. An author listing of the same books is then provided. Full bibliographic information is provided in this listing including the grade level. (Author/RM)

FOREWORD

In recent years, there has been a growing interest in all aspects of Hawaiian studies as the people of Hawaii seek to learn more about their state, its history and development, its unique culture, and the varied ethnic groups that contribute to Hawaii's rich diversity. Librarians, and other educators, have been fortunate in being able to select from an increasing array of printed materials in support of the heightened interest in Hawaiian studies.

In recognition of the need to select and retain accurate, well-written materials, Bibliography for Hawaiian Studies has been compiled to provide a list of books that have been evaluated as being relevant to Hawaiian studies.

Those responsible for selecting materials in this area are encouraged to use this list as part of their on-going task and developing and maintaining high-quality collection of Hawaiian books. It is hoped that the information contained in this document will be an effective aid in acquiring current titles and retaining older, still valuable, titles.

INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS BIBLIOGRAPHY FOR HAWAIIAN STUDIES?

This is a list of book titles to help school librarians strengthen their Hawaiian collections. The list supersedes earlier lists prepared by School Library Services.

WHAT IS THE SCOPE OF THIS LIST?

The list includes book titles pertaining to Hawai‘i, useful to school libraries. The following information is provided for each entry: author, editor, or compiler; title; publisher; date of publication, identifying the latest known edition in cases where there have been several editions of a title. Entries also include author’s intended audience; whether the title is basic, out-of-print, valuable, or should be considered with reservation. (A more detailed explanation of these terms is included under Terminology.) Brief annotations are generally included for basic titles.

The scope of the list is not comprehensive. Certain categories were generally excluded, with exceptions as noted.

1. Pacific area materials - These titles are excluded except when treatment of Hawai‘i is significant.

2. Cookbooks - Cookbooks are excluded except those that contain information about native agricultural products and ethnic customs.

3. Specialized subjects - Books that deal with materials of interest to a very small portion of the population, e.g., realtors, have been excluded.

4. Tourist-oriented materials - Books that emphasize a broad overview of travel in Hawai‘i, designed to be used by a short-term visitor to Hawai‘i, have been excluded.

WHERE WERE TITLES OBTAINED?

The following sources were used:

4. Input from Bibliography for Hawaiian Studies Committee.

5. Miscellaneous lists, such as the Centralized Processing Center order lists; Basic List of Old Titles, Hawaii State Public Library System.
TERMINOLOGY

Levels: The level indicated for each book title is for the author's intended audience. It should be noted that many of the titles are useful to other target groups as well.

J - Juvenile - Grades K-6
YA - Young Adult - Grades 7-12
A - Adult - Beyond Grade 12
TR - Teacher Reference: These titles are useful to teachers but do not necessarily belong in a professional collection; they can be shelved along with the rest of the Hawaiian titles in the central collection.

Basic: Titles identified as basic are those felt to be needed 1) for a strong Hawaiian collection, or 2) because little else is available in the area at the present time. Generally, an annotation accompanies each basic title unless the title is self explanatory.

Valuable: These are titles that are becoming rare and should not be discarded. An indication might be the rising price the title commands. If a school is not using such titles, the librarian should consider transferring the materials to an appropriate library. Transfer possibilities include:

- To another school library.
- To a public library - community, regional, state.
- To the University of Hawaii Hawaiian & Pacific collection.

NOTE: In addition to the titles that are designated as being valuable, early editions of other titles listed may also have an increased value. The librarian may consider consulting with a Hawaiian materials specialist before discarding other editions of a current publication.

With Reservation: These titles should be given careful consideration before purchase. There may be weaknesses in style, content, or format. An annotation accompanies each "with reservation" entry to inform the user of possible shortcomings.

Out-of-Print (OP): Though all titles known to be out-of-print by the Bibliography for Hawaiian Studies Committee are so identified, the user is advised that the designation is by no means comprehensive. In addition, it should be noted that publishers reprint out-of-print titles from time to time.

Users of the list are encouraged to send titles for consideration for possible future supplements. If there are any questions about retaining or discarding a title, users should feel free to contact School Library Services (phone 732-1402). Send titles or comments to:
