This competency booklet for individualized competency-based instruction is the first of five in the Job Search Skills package. (Instructor program and guides are available separately as CE 031 965 and 966, the other booklets as CE 031 968-972.) It contains 15 operational units related to the job search competency of preparing for the job search. (The competency is divided into tasks which are further divided into operational units or units of work that relate to the task.) Each operational unit is presented in this format: competency, task, operational unit, performance objective, steps to follow to do the unit of work with the procedures outlined, information sheets, worksheets, and evaluation checklist. The tasks (and operational units) covered include (1) choose a job and prepare for employment (determine jobs for which qualified, define hiring practices, meet hiring requirements), (2) compile information for application and/or resume (record personal data; state career objective; list formal education and training, special skills, work experiences, volunteer experiences, military experiences, special credits and activities, references), and (3) prepare resume (choose resume type, prepare draft and final copies). TASK 1.01: Choose a Job and Prepare for Employment

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.01A: Determine the Jobs for Which You Are Qualified

Performance Objective: Given instructions for learning about self and jobs, the learner will be able to identify at least one job for which he or she feels suited to the satisfaction of the instructor.

STEP 1. Identify the job or kind of job you would like.

a. Identify your interests and abilities. Do Part 1 of Worksheet 1.01A.

b. List your interests and abilities. Record them and all information on Part 3 of Worksheet 1.01A.

c. List any jobs you have enjoyed in the past.

e. Make a list of jobs you might consider. Use Part 3 of Worksheet 1.01A.

f. Discuss other job options with participants. Talk with your instructor, too. Get advice.

g. List the kind of job you want to find. Example: computer service technician

STEP 2. Find out the job qualifications.

b. List the education and training requirements. What education and/or training is needed for the job?

c. List the job responsibilities. What tasks would you have to do?

STEP 3. Match your education and skills to the job description.

a. List your education. What diplomas or degrees do you have? high school? GED? college?

b. Identify the skills you have in the job area. Do Part 2 of Worksheet 1.01A.

c. List the skills you have identified on Part 3 of Worksheet 1.01A.

d. Compare your lists to the list of job responsibilities. Do you have the education necessary to meet these responsibilities? Do you have the skills?
STEP 4. Consider personal needs in relation to the job.

a. Find out the salary paid to workers in each kind of work.

b. Find out the employment outlook for each occupation.

c. Find out the working hours.

d. Find out the opportunities for advancement.

e. Find out the location of most job opportunities--downtown office, plant outside of town, etc. Talk with your instructor.

f. List this information on the worksheet.

STEP 5. Select the kind of job you will seek.

a. List the jobs you feel qualified to do. Analyze the information you have gathered.

b. Identify the jobs you are most likely to get. Discuss your list with your instructor. Talk with other participants, too. Get their advice.

c. Choose at least one job that best suits your immediate needs, skills, and goals. You will deal with future, long-term goals later.
NOW . . .

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, complete the evaluation checklist. Then, see your instructor.

Your instructor will review your worksheet, rate you on the evaluation checklist, and advise you if necessary.

TASK 1.01: Choose a Job and Prepare for Employment

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.01B: Define the Hiring Practices for the Job

Performance Objective: Given a specific job choice, the learner will be able to identify the specific hiring practices for the job to the satisfaction of the instructor.

STEP 1. Find out when applications are taken.

a. Find out if there are key times you should apply. For example, retail stores hire many people in October, before the holidays.

b. Find out if there are special days on which you must apply.

STEP 2. Find out if there are any restrictions on hiring.

a. Find out if you have to have lived in the state for a given time . . . or in the town where you will work.

b. Find out if there are many legal restrictions. For example, many restaurants have liquor licenses. In some states, their waitresses and waiters must be 21 years old to serve alcoholic drinks.

Or you may need to be bondable (have no police record for felonies).
c. Find out if there are any restrictions unique to apprenticeship programs. Contact the local or state Bureau of Apprenticeship Training.

STEP 3. Identify any tests you may have to take. For example, do you have to take the Civil Service test? Read Information Sheet 1.01B.

STEP 4. Record this information on Worksheet 1.01B.

NOW . . .

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, complete the evaluation checklist. Then, see your instructor.

Your instructor will review your worksheet, rate you on the evaluation checklist, and advise you if necessary.
There are four basic types of employment tests. You may be asked to take any of these four before you can be hired. Read the information below. It describes these tests. It tells what they try to measure.

Intelligence Tests - These types of tests measure your ability to learn. The I.Q. test is a common type of intelligence test.

Ability Tests - Ability tests measure how well you operate or manipulate things. They measure things like speed, power, and understanding. Typing tests and shorthand transcription are ability tests.

Aptitude Tests - These tests measure your potential to be clever, skillful, knowledgeable, etc. They predict how well you will be able to do something. The GATB (General Aptitude Test Battery) and the Differential Aptitude Test Battery are aptitude tests.

Psychological or Personality Tests - These are not tests in the true sense. They are more like surveys. They show the kinds of things you like to do . . . your interests. They help to identify your character strengths and weaknesses and your values.

Find out the types of tests you may be asked to take. Don't be afraid to take them.

TASK 1.01: Choose a Job and Prepare for Employment

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.01C: Meet the Hiring Requirements

Performance Objective: Given a specific job choice, the learner will be able to take steps to meet the hiring requirements for the job to the satisfaction of the instructor.

STEP 1. Prepare to take employment tests.
   a. Read the Test-Taking Guidelines on Information Sheet 1.01C.
   b. Follow the steps when you take the tests.

STEP 2. Pass any required tests.
   a. Note the dates and locations of the tests. Get this information from your instructor or counselor.
   b. Make arrangements to take the tests. Ask your instructor for help, if necessary.
   c. Prepare for the test. For example, practice typing letters.
   d. Take the tests.
STEP 3. Alter plans to meet hiring conditions.

a. Limit the places you seek work. For example, some government jobs have a residence requirement. (You have to live in the town where you work.) If so, seek a similar job elsewhere—in private industry ... or move.

b. Limit your job responsibilities. For example, be a waitress or waiter at a family restaurant. There you do not have to serve cocktails.

NOW ...

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, complete the evaluation checklist. Then talk with your instructor. Explain the steps you have taken to meet the hiring requirements for the job. Your instructor will make sure you have met all requirements, rate you on the evaluation checklist, and advise you if necessary.
Test-Taking Guidelines

Following are some test-taking guidelines. Read them. Keep them in mind when you are asked to take a test.

1. Get proper sleep the night before the test. You should be alert and well rested when taking any tests.

2. Eat breakfast. Give fuel to your body.

3. Arrive early for the test. Then you will have time to get organized . . . get in your seat, arrange your materials, etc.

4. Practice or study to prepare for some tests, like the typing test. Get a sample of types of questions that are on test.

5. Read the directions several times. Make sure you understand EXACTLY what you must do. You could miss a lot of questions if you do not understand the directions. Ask questions if confused.

6. Find out how the test will be scored. If you don't answer a question, is it marked "wrong?" Or are you graded only on the questions you answer? Know the method that will be used. It will help you decide when and whether to guess.

7. Pace yourself. Don't spend too much time on one question. You should try to answer all the questions, if possible.

8. Expect some tests to get more difficult as you progress. Don't be discouraged. Other people find them difficult, too. Do the best you can.

9. Expect some tests to measure your speed. These tests have more items than you could possibly finish in the allotted time. Do your best. Don't become worried. It will take your mind off the test . . . and slow you down.

Test Schedules

You can take some tests before you interview--like the Civil Service tests. However, other tests will be given after or during the interview.

TASK  1.02:  Compile Information for Applications and/or Resume

OPERATIONAL UNIT  1.02A:  Record Personal Data

Performance Objective: Given the need for complete information about self, the learner will be able to record personal data that is 100 percent accurate.

STEP 1.  Print complete name.

   a. Turn to Worksheet 1.02A. Record all personal data on the worksheet.

   b. Print first, middle, and last name.

   c. Do not use nicknames.

   d. Print in upper and lower case. Example:

      Susan Marie Trout

STEP 2.  Print your social security number.

   a. Make sure you copy the number correctly. Look at your social security card. Or look at your driver's license.

   b. If you don't have a number, apply for one. Go to the Social Security office. If there is none in your town, check your local post office.
STEP 3. Print address information.

a. Print your current address. Include city, state, zip code, county, and township.

b. Print how long you have lived at the address.

c. Print your previous address and the number of years you lived there.

d. Write N/A (not applicable) if you have lived in the same place all your life.

STEP 4. Print telephone numbers.

a. Include the area code.

b. List all the phone numbers where you can be reached. (List the number at this training site.)

c. If you do not have a phone, state where the phone will ring.

STEP 5. Print personal statistics. Have these ready. But sometimes they are not required.

a. Print your weight and height. Some jobs have weight and height restrictions.

b. Print your hair color.

c. Print your eye color.

STEP 6. Print your date and place of birth. Sometimes this is required. Example:

6 October 1958

Day month year

Harvey, Illinois

Performance Objective: Given Work Experience forms, the learner will be able to fill out each form with 100% accuracy.

STEP 1. List information about your employers and your positions and salaries.

a. Turn to Part 1 of Worksheet 1.02E. Fill in the blanks. Work through the following procedures.

b. List your most recent employer first. Work backward from that employer.

d. Fill in the information. Record it neatly, accurately, and completely.

STEP 2. List your specific job duties in each position.

a. Think of the tasks you performed in each job.
b. Think of every task you performed in a given day.

c. List all of your duties in detail.

d. Add other duties later if you think of them.

e. Use technical terms if appropriate. Will they be understood by employers?

STEP 3. List special tools or machines you have used.

a. Take time to remember each piece of equipment you have used.

b. Use technical terms. Do this if employers will understand them.

c. Spell names correctly.

STEP 4. List the length of each term of employment.

a. Write the month and year.

   Employed from _____ to _____.

STEP 5. State reasons for leaving a job.

a. Never use negative responses. Don't use:

   The boss didn't like me.
   I quit.
   I didn't think the pay was high enough.
   I didn't like the other workers.
   I was injured at work.
   I was sent to jail.
   I was fired.
b. Use positive responses like the following.

I wanted more responsibility.
I became a full-time student.
The plant closed.
The company went out of business.
I started my own business.
I took a long-planned vacation.
I wanted more opportunities for advancement.

TASK 1.03: Prepare the Resume

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.03A: Choose a Type of Resume to Prepare

Performance Objective: Given information about two types of resumes, the learner will be able to select the type that best reflects his or her experiences to the satisfaction of the instructor.

STEP 1. Find out about two types of resumes.
   a. Read Part 1 of Worksheet 1.03A.
   b. Determine when it is best to use each type of resume. Do Part 2 of Worksheet 1.03A.

STEP 2. Select the type of resume that is best for you.
   a. Get your record sheets from Task 1.01. (See worksheets from Operational Units 1.02A - 1.02I.)
   b. Look at your employment record. Have you had regular employment?
   c. Look at the type of work you have done. Does it relate to the job you seek?
   d. Select the type of resume that is best for your purposes.
NOW . . .

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

WORKSHEET 1.03A

Part 1

Chronological resumé:
This type of resumé shows education, training, and experiences arranged in order of date of occurrence. (See the sample on page 113.) This resumé is best to use if you have no gaps in employment.

Functional resumé:
This type of resumé shows education, training, and experiences arranged in order of type of activity. (See the sample on page 115.) This resumé is best to use if you do have gaps in employment. Use it to highlight specific types of experiences, too.

Part 2

Read the examples below. Try to decide the type of resumé to use in each case.

Job Goal: Medical Secretary

Work Experiences:
- 1979 - 1981  Typist at Taft General Hospital
- 1975 - 1979  File Clerk, J.C. Scott, Inc. (makes hospital supplies)
- 1971 - 1975  Receptionist, Samuel Hunter, M.D.

Are these work experiences related to the job? Do they reflect regular employment? Yes? Then use the chronological resumé.

Job Goal: Medical Secretary

Work Experiences:
- 1979 - 1981  Butcher, Harts Meats
- 1975 - 1977  File Clerk, Grayson Lab
- 1972 - 1973  Dog Groomer, Self-Employed

Are these different, unrelated types of jobs? Are there large gaps in employment? Then use the functional resumé.

TASK 1.03: Prepare the Resume

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.03B: Prepare Draft Copy of the Resume

Performance Objective: Given a resume worksheet, the learner will be able to fill in the information with 100% accuracy.

STEP 1. Record personal data.

a. Turn to the resume worksheet on Worksheet 1.03B.

b. Look at the samples of completed resumes on pages 113 and 115. Find the correct sample. Look at it as you prepare your own.

c. Begin at far left margin of the page. Begin about one and one-half inches from top of page.

d. Print your name in all capital letters.

e. Print your address.

f. Leave a space.

g. Print your telephone number(s).

h. Record birthdate and marital status at far right margin. This information is not required. List only if you feel it may help you get a job.
STEP 2. List your career objective.
   a. Get your record sheets. (See worksheets from Operational Units 1.02A-1.02I.) Read what you wrote for a career objective.
   b. Make any changes you wish. Remember, don't be too specific. Leave yourself open for a number of jobs.

STEP 3. List work experiences.
   a. Copy the facts from your record sheets.
   b. Copy in the proper style for your type of resume. See Part A of Information Sheet 1.03B.
   c. List job duties after each entry. Keep to one or two sentences.

STEP 4. List additional experiences (e.g., military experience). See Information Sheet 1.03B.
   a. List job title and classification.
   b. List description of job duties.

STEP 5. List education and training.
   a. Get the facts from your record sheets. (See Operational Units 1.02A-1.02I.)
   b. Copy in the proper style for your type of resume. See Part B of Information Sheet 1.03B.
STEP 6. List any special training.
   a. List the name of the institution.
   b. List the course title.
   c. List any accomplishments.
   d. State if you have a record of your competencies. (See Part C of Information Sheet 1.03B.)

STEP 7. List personal items.
   a. List any personal activities that relate to the job, e.g., volunteer activities, professional organizations, etc.
   b. List several of your work maturity skills.
   c. List any special conditions you would accept. For example, I would work evening shift; I would travel to other cities.

STEP 8. Check for spelling or grammatical errors.
   a. Check the spelling of words. Look in the dictionary for correct spellings.
NOW . . .

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? Then, take your draft copy of the résumé to the instructor. Your instructor will check for accuracy, comprehensiveness, spelling, and grammar . . . and advise you, if necessary.

Next, complete your evaluation checklist. Ask your instructor to rate you also.
INFORMATION SHEET 1.03B

Part A: List Experiences

Find the rules for the résumé you selected. Follow those rules. Look at the sample résumé as you work. Record your own information on your résumé worksheet.

Chronological Résumé:
1. Copy most recent experiences first.
2. List dates on left.
3. List facts on right.

Functional Résumé:
1. Include dates within your job descriptions.
2. Underline your job title.

Part B: List Education and Training

Follow the rules for the résumé you are preparing. Refer to the sample résumé.

Chronological Résumé:
1. List dates on left; facts on right.
2. List most recent education first.
3. Leave a space between entries.
4. List accomplishments.

Functional Résumé:
1. Add the date to your education facts.
2. Space between entries.
3. List most recent school or degree first.
4. List accomplishments.
Part C

Have you had the chance to become involved in other individualized competency-based programs? All programs have one thing in common. They provide a record of what you can do. They show each task you can do. They identify each competency you have achieved.

For example: A competency record for a secretarial training program would look like this:

COMPETENCY RECORD

Name: John Doe

Occupation: Secretarial

☐ TRANSCRIBE AND PREPARE TYPEWRITTEN COMMUNICATIONS
  ☐ Perform basic typewriting operations
  ☐ Type from recorded dictation
  ☐ Take dictation in shorthand notes and transcribe from notes
  ☐ Take and transcribe minutes from meetings ☐ Type minutes
  ☐ Perform personal/professional typing
  ☐ Develop typewriting production power
  ☐ Type or prepare copy for reproduction
  ☐ Type for general office functions
  ☐ Prepare and type insurance forms
  ☐ Type manuscripts
  ☐ Proofread and correct typewritten material
  ☐ Type wills and codicils
  ☐ Type legal briefs
  ☐ Handle copies of material

Each time you complete a task, your instructor checks a box. At the end of the program, you will have a record of your achievements. This record is kept on file. You may get it from the school. Make copies of it to take with you. Use this record in your job search. Show the competency record to employers. It tells them your exact skills.
Record your résumé information on this worksheet. Look at the samples on pages 113 and 115.

TASK 1.03: Prepare the Resume

OPERATIONAL UNIT 1.03C: Prepare the Final Copy of the Resume

Performance Objective: Given a draft of his or her resume, the learner will be able to prepare a neat and accurate copy of the resume to the satisfaction of the instructor.

STEP 1. Get advice from other participants.

a. Ask a person to check your resume. Ask him or her to check words that look misspelled. Ask him or her to find grammar errors. Provide a dictionary and English usage book.

b. Ask the person to check for clarity. Is the information easy to understand?

c. Ask the person for suggestions. What are some ways you could improve the resume?

d. Form a group with several people. Get their advice.

STEP 2. Make changes.

a. Follow the good suggestions you received.
b. Make sure the résumé is no longer than two pages. One to one and one-half pages is best.

c. Change the copy. Make sure it says what you want it to say.

d. Take it your instructor for approval.

STEP 3. Type final copy.

a. If you cannot type, find someone who will do it for you.

b. Use a machine with a dark ribbon. Use good bond paper.

c. Type the information correctly. Follow the same style throughout. For example: Double space before each new title; type titles in all capital letters.

a. Proofread the copy.

b. Correct any typing errors. Do this carefully. Don't leave smudges. (Retype if necessary.)

c. Look at the final copy. Is it neat and attractive-looking? If not, type it again. Your résumé gives the employer an impression of you. You want it to be a good one.

STEP 5. Make copies of the final, perfect résumé.

a. Find out where you can have this done cheaply. Talk with your instructor.

b. Order more copies than you need. If you have your résumé printed, the first copies cost the most.
NOW . . .

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? Then, take your résumé to the instructor for evaluation. Your instructor will check your final copy of the résumé, rate you, and advise you if necessary.
