The purpose of this bibliographic instruction package is to help a non-library instructor prepare undergraduate students to find and use books, indexes, abstracts, periodical articles, and other printed reference sources in a search for published information on legislation. Special emphasis is placed on sources needed to compile a legislative history of a U.S. government statute. The package is divided into two episodes which can be presented in one class session. Episode I introduces students to the different forms of literature. Episode II teaches students how to locate library materials using the card catalog and indexes and abstracts. The package includes summaries and lists of objectives for each episode, a materials list showing all transparencies and handouts for the training session, and a suggested script for the conduct of the session. For the student, the package provides paper copies of transparencies used by the instructor; these cover information search procedures, forms of literature, Library of Congress (LC) subject headings, catalog filing rules, and the "CIS Index." Also included are copies of transparencies showing a search log form and a checklist of questions for evaluating indexes and abstracts. An annotated bibliography of reference sources for research in legislation and a legislation research exercise conclude the instruction packet. (ESR)
Research in Legislation

Introduction

The purpose of this learning package is to help the instructor prepare students to complete his course assignment. The scope of activities for this learning package has been limited to searches for published information for research on legislation. Students will be prepared to find and use books, indexes, abstracts, periodical articles and other printed reference sources. Special emphasis has been placed on sources needed to compile a legislative history of a United States government statute. Instructions for use of the CIS Index, the most useful source for this purpose, are provided.

The learning package is divided into two episodes. Episode I, Choice of Materials, introduces students to the different forms of literature. Episode II, Access to Materials, teaches students how to find and use these sources. A summary and list of objectives is provided for each episode. A materials list includes all transparencies and hand-outs for the session. A script for the Conduct of the Session is provided. In this script parentheses ( ) are used to denote suggested instructor commentary to accompany the transparencies. You may choose to follow the script as it is or to improvise using the summary, list of objectives and transparencies. In either case, read the Conduct of the Session script first as a guide for your activities.

Episode I is designed to be taught first. Episode II is divided into two main sections: Using the card catalog to find books and using indexes and abstracts. These sections are designed so that you can teach them in any order and emphasize skills in areas you consider especially important. Examples for materials in the learning package have been selected to appeal to a wide range of students and instructors. If you would like to emphasize research on a specific kind of legislation or the use of a specific index or abstract, the library instruction services faculty will provide transparencies and instructional guides for this purpose. Please allow two weeks for production of these materials. For requests or questions about this learning package, call a member of the library instruction services faculty at Extension 3259. Episode II concludes with a review of the forms of literature. This review emphasizes the use of a variety of reference sources for beginning an information search.

The role of the instructor in the use of this learning package is crucial to its success. While a librarian can teach students how to use sources for research, he can not generate the same enthusiasm for their use as can the course instructor. The instructor has had extensive first hand experience using many of the sources cited. More importantly, he knows exactly what he wants his students to learn and the depth and breadth of research he expects.
This learning package can be presented in one class session. The goal of this session should be to make students aware of information sources for research on legislation. Most students will need many hours of practice using these sources to develop effective information searching skills.
Research in Legislation

Purpose: To learn to use published sources to find information for research on legislation.

Structure:

EPISODE I: CHOICE OF MATERIALS. Discusses the different forms of material which can be used for bibliographic searching. Presents examples of appropriate times to use each form. Describes the search strategy process. Emphasizes flexibility in search strategy.

EPISODE II: ACCESS TO MATERIALS. Discusses how to find books, reference books, and indexes.

How to Find Books. Explains the use of the Library of Congress List of Subject Headings to select subject headings for use in the card catalog. Discusses the use of the card catalog to locate books about legislation. Explains how this approach can be used in other libraries with different kinds of catalogs.

How to Find and Use Indexes and Abstracts. Discusses the function of indexes as location tools, sources used to find other sources. Describes the use of the CIS Index. Provides a checklist for evaluating indexes and abstracts. Upon request detailed instruction and transparencies can be provided for any index the instructor chooses.

Materials:

This learning package includes transparencies for use with the instructional script. Copies of these transparencies can be produced and collated for distribution to students in a student materials packet.

A. Reference Sources for Research in Legislation
B. Baruch College Library: A Self-Guided Tour
C. Exercise for Legislation
Summary

A. Objective. To introduce students to the different forms of printed source materials which can be used to find information for research on legislation.

At the end of this episode students will be able to:

--Identify specific forms of source material.
--Describe reasons for a search strategy, an orderly procedure for collecting information.
--Explain why specific forms of material may be best for specific search questions.

B. Episode Activities:

The instructor will review the student assignment. This assignment will provide the context for all activities. Students will be given a copy of the Information Searching Procedure Chart. They will use the chart to describe the function of different forms of source materials for research on legislation. They will also receive a list which defines Forms of Literature. They will use a Search Log Form and a list of Reference Sources for Research in Legislation to discuss methods they can use to find information about legislation.

II. Summary of Episode II. Access to Materials.

A. Objective. To make students aware of the skills required to locate books, reference books, and indexes to find information about legislation.

At the end of this episode students will be able to:

--Use the Library of Congress List of Subject Headings to select subject headings for his topic.
--Use the card catalog at Baruch College Library to locate books on legislation.
--Ask questions to locate books in any library catalog.

--Use the CIS Index to find legislative information by subject and name, title, and bill number.
--Use the abstracts in the CIS Index to find information on legislation.
--Use the List of Reference Sources for Research in Legislation to identify other useful indexes and abstracts.
--Use the Checklist of Questions to Answer about Indexes and Abstracts to evaluate more than one index or abstract.
--Describe several forms of reference books for research in legislation.
--Suggest uses for specific forms of reference books.
--Explain how one other reference book could be used to begin the same information search.

B. Episode Activities:

The instructor will explain the use of the Library of Congress List of Subject Headings to select subject headings for research on legislation. Using transparencies he will explain the filing rules for locating books in the card catalog. It is not expected that students will remember all the cataloging rules. Rather, the purpose of this section is to give them the background to begin to use the card catalog and to ask reference questions.

For some students indexes are a more effective way to begin research than the card catalog. The instructor will explain the purpose of indexes. He will use transparencies to provide instruction in the use of one index, the CIS Index. He will refer students to the Reference List with other indexes and abstracts. He will use a transparency with a Checklist of Questions to Answer about Indexes and Abstracts to help students evaluate other useful indexes and abstracts.

By the end of this session, the instructor will ask students to use the list of Reference Sources for Research in Legislation to select specific reference sources to begin their assignments. He will structure this discussion of reference sources to review the different forms of literature and the methods students can use to find them. The Learning Package includes suggested questions for this purpose.
Conduct of the Session

Episode I: Choice of Materials

1. Describe your student assignment. Using this assignment as the context for learning, explain that the purpose of this session is to make students aware of the many kinds of sources they can use to find information about legislation. Note that all reference sources are not at Baruch College, but that they are available in the New York City area.

3. Transparency 1 - Information Searching Procedure Chart. (Many kinds of sources can be consulted for information. This chart indicates the steps you can take before consulting sources. The chart describes two kinds of sources: access tools or secondary sources and primary sources.)

   a. (Looking at the chart who can explain what an access tool is?)

   b. (Would it be best to begin your search with an access tool or one of the sources on the right hand side of the chart? Why?) Establish that access tools are used to locate information. The other sources contain information.

4. Transparency 2 - Forms of Literature. The Forms of Literature list describes the sources on the right hand side of the Information Searching Procedures Chart. (Take a moment to read this list.)

   a. (What form of literature might you use to begin the information search for your assignment? Why?) Have students explain why they might use either access tools or other sources to find information about legislation. Do not emphasize the card catalog at this point since it will be discussed later. If necessary explain when to use specific kinds of sources. The following list of suggestions for use of specific sources is included as a guide for the instructor.

   1. A current article on the status of this year's Federal budget. (Index - CIS Index)

   2. A listing of the latest publications put out by the House Ways and Means Committee. (Index - Monthly Catalog)

   3. What happened concerning National Health Insurance during 1981? (Index - CIS Index)

   4. The full text of P.L. 93-121. (Statutes - United States Code)

   5. The Correct title of the Kerner report. (Index - Monthly Catalog)

   6. The chairman of the Senate Finance committee. (Directory - Congressional Directory)
7. A brief article on how our laws are made. (Handbook - How Our Laws are Made)

b. Explain that an information search may begin with either an access tool or another source. Emphasize that there is no right way to search for information. The important point is for students to know what they are looking for and to plan a search strategy to find appropriate information.

5. Return to Transparency 1 - Information Searching Procedure. Explain search procedure by following the left hand side of the chart:

   a. (At what point in a search would you use access tools? Why?)

   b. (When would you use other sources?) There are no right or wrong answers to these questions. For example, a student might use an index when he first consults sources. He might want to read more in an encyclopedia to redefine his problem.

6. Transparency 3 - Search Log Form. Explain the sections of the form.

   a. Ask students to use this form to plan their search for information for their assignment.

   b. (Take a moment to plan your search. Who can explain the steps he might take to find information for this assignment?)

   c. You may want to ask yourself specific questions about a piece of legislation. The following questions may help you to choose useful information sources when you plan your search:

   1. Who first proposed the legislation?
   2. What is his background?
   3. What other legislators sponsored the legislation?
   4. Has legislation like this been proposed in the past? What happened to it?
   5. What other related legislation has been passed?
   6. Have there been House or Senate Hearings on this legislation? If yes, who participated in these hearings?
   7. What is the current status of the legislation?
Episode II: Access to Materials

1. (You may want to begin your search for information with a book. To find books you can use the library's card catalog. How do you know under which subject heading you can find information on your topic? The Library of Congress Subject Headings List is used to determine the subject headings under which books are found in the card catalog. The same subject headings are used in the Baruch College Library catalog and the catalogs of most other college and research libraries.)

2. Transparency 4 - Library of Congress (LC) List of Subject Headings

   The instructor should point out:

   a. A word or phrase in bold face is an acceptable subject heading.
   b. sa = see also the following related, more specific headings.
   c. X = heading not used.
   d. XX = related but broader heading.
   e. (The LC List of Subject Headings is arranged in alphabetical order. Look under the subject heading which seems logical to you and you should find references to the appropriate Library of Congress (LC) heading to use in the card catalog).

   The instructor can point out the headings in the two samples from the Library of Congress (LC) List of Subject Headings. The sample on the left has headings for specific information about the United States Congress, House or Senate. The sample on the right is more general. The heading, Legislation, covers all kinds of legislation. Note the sa (see also headings) students can use to find subject headings for specific kinds of legislative research.

3. (To find books in most libraries we must use a catalog. The Baruch College Library has a card catalog. Other libraries may have different types of catalogs. The New York Public Library has a book catalog. We'll spend some time describing the arrangement of the Baruch College Library catalog since most of you will be using it).

4. Catalog Filing Rules. (Every book in the Baruch College Library is listed in the card catalog under its author, its title, and its subject. All books by the same author are grouped together. They are arranged alphabetically by title).

5. Catalog Filing Rules. Catalog cards about a subject are filed according to the following rules:

   a. Transparency 5 - Catalog Filing Rules: Books about a Subject (Law, Act) (Books about a subject are filed under the LC subject heading for that subject. They are grouped alphabetically by author within each subject heading. At the bottom of each catalog card "Tracings" list all the subject headings assigned to a specific book. Thus, this book can be found in the catalog by looking under five different subject headings listed as tracings). The instructor may wish to explain further why student's would want to look under additional subject tracings for listings of other books. Reasons for looking under additional subject headings might include finding more books, broadening a topic, narrowing a topic and developing a greater understanding of a subject area. The instructor should note that this book has two catalog cards. Tracings appear only on the second card.

(From the LC Subject Headings List, you saw that all subject headings have more specific divisions or headings where you can look to locate book titles. You can also locate some House documents in the card catalog. The card here begins with the entry United States Congress, House -- Information Services. Other cards for House legislation are entered in the card catalog in the same way with the name of the House committee as the last part of the subject heading.

6. (The card catalog is an index to all the books in the Baruch College Library. There are specialized indexes to use for more current and greater variety of information sources. These indexes consist of multiple book volumes. Indexes may index books, book reviews, media sources, conference papers, research studies, periodical articles, legislation, newspaper articles or government publications. The advantage of indexes is that they list in one place a wide variety of material on a subject. They are also more current than books since they may be published monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. It is important to check the date of an index. If you need information on a 1981 House bill you must use a 1981 or 1982 index.

7. (The most useful index for information about actions in the United States Congress is the CIS Index. It indexes and abstracts congressional hearings, committee prints, reports, documents and miscellaneous publications. It also provides descriptions and legislative histories of public laws). Transparencies 7 - 12 are to be used as a guide to the different index and abstract sections in the CIS Index.

a. Transparency 7 - CIS Index (Subjects and Names)
This index section is arranged alphabetically by the name of a person, the name of a piece of legislation, or the name of a subject area of legislation. In this sample index page, point out a personal name, Royer, Robert L., a subject, Rubber and rubber industry, and the name of a specific piece of legislation, the tariff act; note that the numbers which follow the listing for every reference under a subject heading refer to abstracts in the abstract section of the CIS Index. PL numbers refer to public laws. H numbers refer to House legislation. S numbers refer to Senate legislation.

b. Transparency 8 - CIS Index (Titles)
(This index section is arranged alphabetically by the title of the specific piece of legislation). Note again, the abstract numbers starting with PL, H and S.

c. Transparency 9 - CIS Index (Bill Number) (When you know the Bill number for a piece of legislation, go directly to this section of the index. It refers you to the PL, H, or S abstract number you can use to locate an abstract with information about the bill).

d. Transparency 10 - CIS Index (Abstracts - Public Law - PL)
(The abstract of a public law highlights all provisions at the law and provides a legislative history of the law. It includes references to House and Senate Hearings and Reports. These Hearings or Reports are referred to by abstract number. Bills are noted by bill number). The instructor should point out the abstract numbers, H781.10 and H783.23 on the transparency. He can also point out the bill number, H.R.3122. He may want to refer back to Transparency 7 to show how this law was indexed under the subject heading, Rubber and rubber industry. In this abstract, provision "c." refers to the subject, rubber.

e. Transparency 11 - CIS Index (Abstracts - House of Representative - H)
This abstract was listed as a House Hearing in Transparency 10. The instructor should show students how one abstract, in this case PL 96-467 on Transparency 10, can be used to refer them to another abstract, this one, H781-10. Point out the information on the top of transparency. Also point out bill numbers. Note the names of witnesses at hearings. Explain that these names are indexed in the name index section of the CIS Index.

f. Transparency 12 - CIS Index (Abstracts - House of Representatives)
Use the transparency if you want to show a reference to this House Report as noted in Transparency 10, PL 96-467. This Transparency is included for the instructor who wants to emphasize use of one abstract to find information in another abstract.

8. Transparency 13 - Checklist of Questions to Answer about Indexes and Abstracts.

a. (While you can use the CIS Index, other indexes and abstracts on the list of References Sources for Research in Legislation may also be useful to you. Each index and abstract journal is unique. It is helpful, however, to examine each index or abstract journal you decide to use before you attempt its use. This is a checklist of questions you should ask about each index or abstract journal you use. Not all questions apply to all sources).
b. (Let's apply some of these questions to the CIS Index. The instructor may wish to refer to Transparencies 7 through 12 to answer these questions. If time is short, the instructor should choose several questions from the list for illustrative purposes. The instructor may wish to borrow sample volumes of the CIS Index from the library instruction services office for this purpose).

c. (Select one other index or abstract from the list of indexes, and abstracts in Reference Sources for Research in Legislation. Why do you think it would be useful for finding information about a piece of legislation?) The instructor may wish to use this question to elicit information from the students about all the appropriate indexes and abstracts.

9. (At the beginning of this session we talked about the many different forms of literature. The list of Reference Sources for Research in Legislation includes specific examples of many forms of literature. Take a moment to look through it).

a. (Who can describe one reference book which might be useful for this legislation research assignment?) Try to elicit enough student answers to describe and discuss a number of specific reference works. Describe specific reference sources which have been especially useful to you in writing your dissertation, preparing a lecture or legislative history or campaign or researching a paper. You may want to borrow several sources you consider important from the library.

b. The following questions may be used to encourage student discussion of reference sources. (Who can choose one reference book to begin an information search? Is there another book you might use to find the same or similar information?) Try to encourage students to use different approaches to finding information. Emphasize the variety of reference materials available.

10. Location of reference materials in the Baruch College Library. The packet of student materials includes the publication Baruch College Library: A Self-Guided Tour. Tell students about this tour. Encourage them to ask the reference librarians for help in finding information sources.

11. An Exercise for Research in Legislation is provided as an optional student assignment. However, the best evidence that students have learned to use legislative research sources is the quality of the research they do for their class assignment. Students should be encouraged to use the Search Log Form, Transparency 3, and to submit it with their class assignment.

Forms of Literature

Books

The most familiar form of literature is the book. A single volume or book is known as a monograph.

Reference Books

Some books are considered reference books because they are designed by their arrangement and treatment to be consulted for specific information rather than to be read consecutively.

Directories

Provide an alphabetical or classified list (as of names and addresses). They may contain biographical and/or organizational listings.

Encyclopedias, Handbooks, Dictionaries, and Yearbooks are reference books. They are usually consulted for concise, factual information. They are a good place to begin an information search. Encyclopedias and Handbooks often include bibliographies. Yearbooks are published annually as reports of statistics or facts.

Bibliographies are lists of publications (books, articles, reports, documents, dissertations) selected and organized around a subject area or theme. These lists may be limited by the specificity of the subject scope, the dates or the type of material covered.

Dissertations or Theses are research papers written in partial fulfillment of an advanced degree. These academic papers compiled by one researcher are often valuable for research in the same subject field.

Periodicals include magazines and journals such as the Journal of Politics. A periodical is a publication issued at regular time intervals and intended to be continued indefinitely.

Indexes provide, in one place, references to works in specific subject areas or works by specific authors. Indexes are often in multiple volumes and cover long periods of time. They are used to locate bibliographic information about journal articles, books, essays and dissertations. All indexes are not the same in structure. Indexes may provide for subject, author, title, time period or other types of access. Instructions on how to use an index usually appear in the first pages of the index.

Abstracts may be included as part of indexes or they may be separate publications. They provide summaries of articles, reports, books, and other forms of published material.

Government Documents include any publications originating in or printed with the authority and expense of any office of a legally organized government. State, Federal and foreign governments as well as the United Nations publish material on many subjects. Some government documents are periodicals. Others are books or pamphlet.

Atlases include any volumes of tables, charts or plates that systematically illustrate a subject: political parties. Bound collections of maps are also atlases.

Reference Sources for Legislation

The sources on this reference list are useful for compiling a legislative history of a United States government statute. This list emphasizes Federal government legislation. The most significant sources for locating primary legislative information and government documents are indexes and abstracts. Indexes and abstracts are emphasized on this list. Other forms of literature included are useful for background information on legislation and the legislative process. All sources noted as "not at Baruch" are available in other libraries in New York City. To locate these sources, ask the Reference Librarian.
