This handbook suggests to parents ways to plan, develop, and implement an after school child care program. Following a description of the initial child care needs assessment in the community, guidance for deciding the appropriate program type and step-by-step administrative instructions for establishing the program as a business are given. The next section, on staffing, provides basic information for policy formation and hiring and training of staff. Next, daily program development is discussed in terms of planning, equipment and supplies. Budgeting and financial management concerns are then outlined, and public relations coverage is suggested. Finally, a list of possible areas for program evaluation is provided. Related materials for the Somerset, Connecticut, Elementary Child Care Association are appended, including by-laws, various record-keeping forms, the Connecticut Public Health Code Regulations for Day Care Centers and Homes, and the Connecticut Day Care Licensing Program forms. Introduction

Much has been written for professionals about programs that meet the needs of children who require supervision after school. This handbook is an attempt to assist parents in the planning, development and implementation of such a program.

Although the process is a complex one, it can be managed by persons who have a strong commitment to positive, sound after-school care. The handbook outlines a process and gives specific suggestions as to the procedure for organizing a program that will provide such care.

It is important to note that this process is only a tool. The results will depend on the neighborhood, the community, and the resources available.

This effort was a result of a commitment by The University of Connecticut Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H and the Collaboration for Connecticut's Children, Inc. to the development of quality school age child care in Connecticut.

We thank the Auerbach Foundation, Eastern Connecticut Parent Child Resource System, Inc. and Casey Family Program East for the financial support for the printing and distribution of this handbook.

The Collaboration for Connecticut’s Children and the Extension Service of the University of Connecticut (4-H Program) are both available for further consultation toward a successful program.

CHAPTER I

STARTING WITH YOU
The Needs Assessment

You have determined that there is no adequate School Age Child Care program in your community. Are there other parents who need the same service and are willing to work with you? The easiest way to find out is to work through the PTA or PTO at your child's school.

Bring up the subject of school age child care at the next PTA/PTO meeting and ask to meet with any interested parents. It is possible to form a core group and together, with support from the PTA/PTO, survey parents of the entire school population. Two questions that are the most important to ask are (1) how many children might use the day care service and (2) what parents might be willing to work with you? Develop a questionnaire that pinpoints the need with a cover letter to parents. This letter must be approved by the school system, signed by a representative of the PTA/PTO and then sent home with every child in the school system.

A letter to parents

A suggested letter follows:

Dear Parent,

The Somerset PTA/PTO had a request from concerned parents to see if there is a need for before and after school child care in our community. They wish to do a needs survey to find out if there are Somerset families interested in a program similar to the community-sponsored programs in East Valley and Pleasantville.

A school age child care program would be available to all children, those with parents working outside the home, and those who would enjoy being involved with the activities the program would provide. Based on the needs of the Somerset community, the program would operate during the school year: before and after school, during school vacations, and during school holidays.

Please take a minute to answer the attached questionnaire and return it to your child's teacher or your school office by November 1. Your cooperation will help the PTA/PTO and parents to organize a committee and determine the type of program that will be best for the children.

Thank you for your time, and we look forward to your support and interest.

Sincerely Yours,

Mr. John Good
Program Chairman,
Somerset PTA/PTO

The First Organizing Meeting

You have tallied the survey and the need is conclusive. Call together members of the PTA/PTO who have already expressed an interest plus those parents who have responded yes to the question, “Are you willing to serve on the committee to organize a School Age Child Care Program.” Send notes to each of the people you are inviting, clearly stating the time, the place and the purpose of the meeting.

Purpose

This session has many purposes:

- To meet actively concerned parents.
- Draw up a membership list with phone numbers and “best time to call”.
- Select leaders.
- Select a recording secretary to take notes at each session, starting now!
- Make sure the purpose of the committee is clear and acceptable to all.
- Decide where and how often to meet.
- Decide on a title for the group — examples: Committee, Task Force, Work Group, Steering Committee, etc.
- Consider ways to gain support for and attendance at a public information FORUM.

You may wish to be assisted by a community leader who supports the program and will help you define your purposes and set an agenda for the meeting.

Agenda

Sample Agenda

— Meeting on School Age Child Care —

- Date
- Time
- Place

1. Welcome and Introductions
2. Membership List
3. Elect Leadership
4. Elect Recording Secretary
5. Purpose of the Group
6. Plan for Public Forum

The meeting site should be comfortable with coffee and refreshments.
Brainstorming

Brainstorming is a tool that can be put to good use at your first meeting. It has been used successfully by politicians, scientists, inventors and corporate leaders to allow the free exchange of ideas. This technique calls for an open atmosphere where people say whatever comes to mind allowing them to be creative and free to express themselves. Criticism and put downs are not allowed as they inhibit participation. Ideas can be recorded, reviewed and prioritized.

Planning The Forum

Whom To Invite

The FORUM is a good way to inform, as well as involve, the overall community in the planning. It is also a way to build bridges with other civic groups and people who can help in later stages of development. Members of the Planning Group should personally invite representatives of as many community groups as possible. For example: Civitans, Jaycees, Junior League, Women’s Club, Lion’s Club, church groups, Town Council, Principal, Superintendent, Board of Education, Police Department, Fire Department, 4-H, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, a local attorney, and other community groups that your committee feels are important. An announcement can accompany a hand written note. We recommend an invitation be sent to all teachers in the school system. This stresses the importance of working together.

DO NOT HESITATE TO ASK ANY AND ALL PEOPLE FOR THEIR HELP! Begin to assign jobs to the members of your committee according to the members’ preferences, talents, and time availability; one member may have toll free telephoning and can make telephone calls finding out officials’ names and addresses; another member may have a typewriter and be able to share in the letter-writing to officials; members with artistic talents can design flyers; and those with little time to spare can stuff envelopes and do mailings.

The FORUM should have speakers from nearby towns which have school age child care programs already in place, someone from the State Department of Education (The Early Childhood Unit), the State Health Department (the Day Care Licensing Unit), and someone from the Small Business Administration. Representatives from these groups will be able to answer many questions.

The FORUM should be conducted by someone who has good public speaking and leadership experience and can channel the session toward the desired positive end.

Be sure to have name tags, coffee and refreshments the night of the FORUM. Have several sign-up sheets available for participants’ names, addresses, phone numbers, and if they would be willing to help.

BUILDING THE ORGANIZATION
The Work Group

AFTER THE FORUM, your work group should include:

CORE WORK GROUP
- ten parents
- a teacher
- a civic leader
- an accountant
- a realtor

BACK-UP COMMITMENTS FROM
- a media person
- an attorney
- a police/fire person
- a town official

With representation from all these areas, everyone’s job will be easier.

After the FORUM, hold a meeting with all interested parents to address the following:

- The specific needs of the community. For example:
  - What hours and days do families need services?
  - Should kindergarten children be involved?
  - What kinds of activities should be planned?

- The structure of the program. Possible options are:
  - Expand an existing private child care program.
  - Request an agency to establish a School Age Child Care Program in your community.
  - Design your own School Age Child Care Program.

Researching Existing Programs

Once your community has some idea of the things they want in a program, contact the Maternal and Child Welfare section of the State Department of Health to obtain a list of School Age Child Care Programs in your area. Ask members of your committee to visit several programs. This will help you to understand and gather information on programs, policies, staffing patterns, ages, rates, personal policies, hours and days of operation, and parent involvement and control. Complete a program information sheet similar to the one on page 8 for each program visited.

Decision Making

Which Program Type Suits Your Community Needs?

The answers to the visitation questions will provide the basis for your decision to (1) ask an existing private program to expand to meet your needs or (2) ask an agency, such as the Y.W.C.A. or the Y.M.C.A. to begin a program for your community or (3) design your own School Age Child Care Program.

To analyze the information collected, make a chart. Across the top list all the programs you are considering. Down the left side list the areas covered by the questions on the visitation sheet. Then list who makes the decision or who is responsible for performing the function for each area listed.

Information Chart

There are obvious differences in the amount of control and responsibility that the parents and community assume in each of the programs. Your committee should also consider the quality of each of the programs you observed. Then the parents can decide how they wish to proceed. If the committee decides, at this point, to ask an agency, private center, or another community to provide the program, your job is complete. If you decide to organize your own community-operated program, your job is just beginning.

The Work Plan

Once you have decided to begin a parent-run program, the next step is to list your purpose and goals and design a work plan for reaching them.

At this point it would be helpful to contact the State Department of Education (Early Childhood Unit) and ask for help in stating goals and setting up a realistic work plan. Following is a sample plan:

Taking Care of Business

Why Incorporate?

The process of incorporation makes an informal group a legal business, with rights to own property, do business in accordance with the laws, receive and give money, be insured against loss or damage, and develop a credibility in the community. Because your group has formed to provide a public service, you are further eligible to incorporate under the Non Profit laws, giving you extra benefits. In general, incorporating as a non-profit organization enables you to look for funds and grants from the public, businesses, foundations and government sources, and to ask for donations of materials, supplies, and services. Businesses will give to non-profit programs because they are able to deduct these gifts and donations from their taxes each year. A further bonus of non-profit incorporation is the ability to use the Federal Surplus Food Program and to buy supplies directly from the Federal Surplus warehouses. Non-profits are exempt from local and state taxes, after the proper forms are filed.

Is An Attorney Needed?

If you have found an attorney who would be willing to volunteer services to your group, contact him or her to help in the filing of the papers to incorporate as a non-profit. Many attorneys routinely serve on Boards of Directors of non-profit agencies and do not charge fees. If you have not found an attorney to serve, contact a Legal Aid office, your state Law School, the Voluntary Action Center, or the president of your largest local business. You may also contact your County Bar Association for the name of the local representative.

If you are unable to find an attorney, you can fill out the papers yourself. The necessary forms can be obtained by calling the Secretary of State’s Office.

The Incorporation Papers

If you are filling out your own incorporation papers, the following suggestions will aid you in the process.

If you incorporate as a non-stock, not-for-profit corporation, and wish to file for Federal Tax Exempt Status, known as 501(c)(3), your incorporation certificate must include the following statements:

"In the event the Association is dissolved and/or ceases operation then in such event assets and/or monies owned by the association at that time shall not inure to the benefit of any director or member of the association, but shall be distributed to another organization qualified as a section 501(c)(3) organization pursuant to the Internal Revenue Code.

Notwithstanding any other provision of these articles, the organization is organized exclusively for educational purposes, as specified in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, and shall not carry on any activities not permitted to be carried on by a corporation exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954."
No part of the earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of any member, trustee, director, or officer of the corporation, or any private individual (except that reasonable compensation may be paid for services rendered to or for the corporation), and no member, trustee, officer shall be entitled to share in the distribution of any corporate assets upon dissolution of the corporation.

No substantial part of the activities of the corporation shall be carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation (except as otherwise provided by Internal Revenue Code section 501(h), or participating in, or intervening in (including the publication or distribution of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office.''

The incorporators must be three members of your work group. They must sign on the bottom of page 1 of the incorporation papers.

On page 2 (the Biennial Report) list all of the officers and directors and their home addresses. Post office boxes are not acceptable.

Page 3 is the form for appointing a Statutory Agent. This person receives official correspondence from the Secretary of State or papers served by the court against the organization. The Statutory Agent may be changed by filing a form and paying a fee. Make sure to include the business address. If the person is not employed, write "none".

It is recommended that someone hand deliver these papers to the office of the Secretary of State in Hartford and pay the filing fee of approximately $50.00.

The IRS (Internal Revenue Service)

The IRS office may help you through the process of securing 501(c)(3) tax exempt status. In order to apply for this status, you must have filed your Certificate of Incorporation with the state. It helps to work with your attorney and/or CPA on these applications, as they are somewhat difficult to understand.
By-Laws

The By-Laws of an organization define how it operates by outlining the following:

- Purpose for which the organization was formed
- Who can be members
- The Board of Directors and Officers—
  - purpose and responsibilities
  - how they will be elected
  - term of office
- Committees of the organization
  (finance, executive, nominating, etc.)
- Frequency of Board meetings
- Number of Directors needed for a quorum
- Dates of the organization's fiscal year
- Parliamentary procedure

Generally, attorneys who do corporation business will be able to help establish By-Laws. (see Appendix).

Charitable Organization Solicitation Permit

With the IRS 501(c)(3) letter in hand, apply for the Connecticut Charitable Organization Solicitation Form from the Department of Consumer Protection. This document allows your organization to solicit charitable donations in the state. There is a $10.00 fee. We again recommend that your attorney or CPA assist with these papers. ALL STATE OF CONNECTICUT FORMS MAY BE OBTAINED BY CALLING THE APPROPRIATE STATE DEPARTMENTS AS LISTED IN THE BLUE PAGES OF YOUR TELEPHONE DIRECTORY.

The License

The State Department of Health issues the license for the facility, staff, program policies, and procedures. It would be wise to obtain copies of the license forms from the Health Department. (see Appendix). The following items must be in place before a license can be issued.

The Facility: Probably one of the best places to look for space is a school in your community. Any building currently approved for use as an elementary school automatically meets the state requirements, building codes, fire codes, and zoning codes for a School-Age Child-Care Program.

If the school can not be used in your community, investigate all other possible sites. This includes churches, fire hall, commercial buildings, granges, and any other facility.
It is important that you determine what the zoning regulations for childcare are in your town. Ask the zoning official for a letter stating that your selected site does not violate any zoning codes. If child-care is not addressed in the codes, and he refuses to give you the letter, immediately apply to the zoning board of appeals for a hearing. This can take many months, so it is important to get the process started.

Make sure that your selected space meets the fire and building codes; for example, carpeting must be fire rated and plumbing adequate.

Obtain necessary certificates:

1. Building code compliance—Obtain this form from your town building inspector. You need this form even if you are operating in a school.

2. Zoning code compliance—This letter or form states that your use of the facility does not violate any of the town zoning regulations. The town zoning official will issue this statement.

3. Fire Marshal’s Certificate of approval of Child Day Care Center. This is actually a form. You will want three copies, one for submitting with your license, one for posting at the site, and one for your file.

Statement of purpose: Use the one from your incorporation papers and elaborate.

Personnel and operating policies: You may use a copy of the operating policies given to parents. Your personnel policies should include hours staff work, sick days, vacation time, benefits, and plan for evaluation.

Staff Development: Contact the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H Program, and the department of Human Resources, Child Day Care division to learn what training opportunities are available locally. Include these in your plan. You might also check with other day care centers in your area to learn about their training programs and to see if your staff might participate.

Outline Program Objectives. For example:

- Children will learn the nutritional value of foods.
- Children will develop their small motor skills.
- Children will develop their creative abilities.

List program activities and relate them to an objective.

- Weekly cooking club relates to objective 1.
- Bi-weekly arts and crafts projects for children relates to objectives 2 and 3.

Health Program:

1. Make sure to include plans for medical emergency care and for care of a sick child. Copies of these must be posted at your center.

2. A staff member is required to have a current American Red Cross Certificate, not only training.
Sanitation: You will need the results of a current water test. Your town sanitarian should provide this for the school. For other sites you may need to use a private laboratory. The test is a complete chemical and bacteriological analysis.

Complete other portions of the license including diagrams of your room and play space. Submit this portion of the license as soon as possible. It is better to submit the application minus some information that to wait until the staff is hired, etc. to begin the process. This will enable the State Department of Health to begin processing your application.

IT IS AGAINST THE LAW TO OPERATE A CHILD CARE PROGRAM WITHOUT THE APPROVAL OF THE LICENSING AGENT

Contracts

From the initial contract with the Board of Education to the Contract Agreement drawn up with the maintenance staff, it is good policy to have your attorney read and approve each one. The lease will probably be drawn up by the attorney working for the Board of Education, if a public school is used, but it still should be checked by your attorney. JOB DESCRIPTIONS and MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT FOR HIRING should also be approved by counsel. Contracts will be required by the Federal Surplus and State Surplus Programs, and others who furnish items for the program.

Insurance

This is necessary for your program. If housed at school, check with the Principal or Board of Education to determine the kind of coverage you will need. In many communities, the school system carries “umbrella” liability coverage on all its properties and programs, and can extend their coverage to your program.

If the school’s coverage is unacceptable or not available to your program, check with local churches and other non-profit agencies in your community; get quotes from their agents and compare before making a selection. Once you have chosen an agent, ask him for a reference from another non-profit organization, and check with that agency.

General Liability: This type of insurance covers negligence, from whatever source within the program. Generally, it is good practice to look at coverage in excess of $500,000, with “blanket liability coverage” of $1,000,000. Although these figures sound huge, the difference in premiums from a $250,000 policy to a $500,000 policy is not great, considering that one serious accident on the premises resulting from someone’s negligence can result in a costly lawsuit.

Fire and Theft: This type of coverage may not be required or necessary in your program, unless you have extensive equipment and supplies. Check to see if other non-profits carry it, and if your agent recommends this coverage.
Automobile: If your program owns vehicle(s), this coverage is mandatory. If your program’s staff may transport children to or from the program, again coverage is mandatory. Check with your agent to determine adequate coverage.

Bonding: Employees who have access to money, materials or supplies should be covered by a surety bond. This coverage protects the program from theft or improper use of equipment, and is recommended. The premium is usually low for this type of coverage.

Officers and Directors (O&D): It is recommended that the Board of Directors be covered by O&D insurance. This type of coverage insures Board Members against law suits resulting from complaints of “poor decisions” or poor treatment received by a child in the program.

Developing Policies

A well designed program will have policies to help you meet the goals and objectives of the group. The first step in developing policies is to review the program information sheets compiled by your group. These will provide you with information about policies that other centers have developed and it is possible to use parts of these to develop your policies.

Personnel Policies

A program can only be as good as its staff and it is wise to develop policies concerning their treatment to ensure predictability and morale. You should cover the following areas in your PERSONNEL POLICIES:

1. How staff will be recruited and selected
2. What benefits they will receive: sick time, vacation, personal days, holidays
3. Evaluations
4. Raises
5. How to report unplanned lateness or illness
6. Expectations concerning dress, behavior, personal calls
7. Gross misconduct: intoxication, violence, theft, abuse of children
8. Disciplinary action or termination
9. Employee grievance procedure
10. Resignation procedure
11. Employee safeguarding supplies
12. Emergencies
13. Training
14. Staff meetings
15. Equal Opportunity Employer policy
Standard Operating Practices and Procedures

Along with Personnel Policies STANDARD OPERATING PRACTICES AND PROCEDURES are requested for licensing and must be written.

In general, you should plan to cover the following:

1. Admission criteria, who can participate
2. Hours of operation
3. Calendar for the year—days you will be open
4. Snow days or early closing
5. Types of activities offered
6. Discipline
7. Attendance procedure
8. Registration
9. Fee payment schedule/security deposit/late payment
10. Food and snacks
11. Health forms
12. Medical emergencies
13. Medication
14. Facility arrangements
15. Equipment and supplies
16. Emergencies
17. Fire drills
18. Travel procedures
19. Budget reporting
20. Financial management/accounting/recordkeeping/paying bills
21. Parental involvement
22. Statement of parent’s rights and responsibilities.

Note that some of these policies require reporting forms and some must be filled out by parents or guardians. (see Appendix)
CHAPTER III

STAFFING THE PROGRAM
Job Descriptions

Before you begin advertising for staff you will need to develop a job description for each position — Director, teacher, aide. Be clear about what your expectations are for each person. There are simple job descriptions in the appendix that can be modified for your use. (see Appendix).

Salaries

Usually, salaries are described in ranges. This allows you some flexibility in determining the final salary based upon the applicant’s educational background and experience. In 1985 in Central Connecticut typical rates were: Director—$7.50/hr.; teacher—$5.50/hr.; aide—$3.85/hr. Fringe benefits, if provided, usually total 20% of the salary.

Fringe Benefits

Some of these must be provided, such as Workman’s Compensation, unemployment insurance and social security. Others, such as health insurance, life insurance, and retirement plans are optional. If you have limited funds you might allocate a certain amount for benefits and let the staff help decide the specific benefit(s) they would like most.

Lines of Responsibility

The Board of Directors has the ultimate responsibility for all that happens; however, many functions may be delegated to staff. The Director needs to know the decisions she/he can make and the areas that require Board approval.

The Director should also be responsible to one person. This might be the Board President or the Chairperson of your personnel committee. All Board members and parents should then go through that person. This will avoid having the Director responsible and responsive to the direction of ten or twenty people. A sample line of authority might be:

Board of Directors
President
Program Director
 Teacher
Aide

This indicates that the President takes direction from the Board of Directors and the Principal, who in turn supervises the Director, who supervises the teacher and the aide. The dotted line between the Principal and the Director indicates that she/he may give informal direction, for formal directives she/he must go through the Board President.
If your program is not located in a school, someone else may have the authority over your site. Relations with this person are often critical and everyone must understand this.

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO)

Under Federal regulations, Equal Employment Opportunity means that you hire people who are qualified for the job regardless of race, ethnic origin, sex, age, or handicap. Your job application may not ask for date of birth, race, sex, marital status, ethnicity, or handicap, unless the handicap would prevent someone from doing the work. It means that people should be hired for their capability. Be sure that your job application addresses the strengths that you are looking for in personnel. If the Licensing regulations require a person with no history of felony convictions, ask this question on the application of all candidates, and screen out any positive responses.

Finding Staff

There are several places to look for competent staff. Plan to hire the director first. Contact the State Employment Service and ask them to list your job with the job bank. Place short “ads” in the help wanted section of your local papers. Contact the placement offices at all local colleges. Check the substitute teacher list at your school. And finally, mention the jobs to everyone you meet.

Preliminary Screening

Assign the Personnel Committee of your Board to do the preliminary screening. This process entails checking each application to be sure the applicant meets the qualifications. Notify unqualified candidates by letter that you are unable to consider them at this time. Schedule interviews with the remaining applicants - generally one each hour. Notify them in advance that you will be interviewing twice, once to narrow the field down to the top three candidates, and again to decide on the final candidate.

Interviewing

In order to be as fair as possible to all candidates, The Personnel Committee of the Board should draw up a list of questions it will ask each applicant. Rate their answers and add up the totals to give an objective scoring. Discuss any unusual variances between scores; this may indicate bias for or against a person rather than an objective rating. Once you have narrowed the field to the top three, add any other questions you determine important, reschedule and repeat the process with the Officers included.

ONCE THE DIRECTOR IS CHOSEN, SHE/HE SHOULD BE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SCREENING OF ANY ADDITIONAL STAFF.
Staff Evaluations

Although it is not the entire base of excellence, your staff is your most important asset.

It is important to keep open channels of communication with program staff. By working together to set priorities, solve problems and build a sound service, you will establish a good working relationship that will assure smooth program functioning. Staff satisfaction with the program, working conditions, supervision, training and other vital areas should be monitored regularly. Concerns should be taken seriously and explored to determine their validity, then resolved.

In the regular evaluation process, staff members should be reviewed regarding their job performance, work habits and overall functioning in the program. An initial evaluation is recommended at three months, six months and annually thereafter, using an evaluation form. This form should be discussed with the staff member and signed by both the staff member and the supervisor. A copy of the form should always be given to the employee.

Staff evaluations, along with the application, resume, references, health certificate, job description and hiring memorandum are to be filed in the employee's Personnel File. The evaluation may be used as the basis for promotion and salary increase.

The written evaluation may serve as the basis for disciplinary action, salary decrement or, if necessary, termination. The evaluation may also be important if there is a claim for Unemployment Compensation.

Staff Training and Development

As the school age child care field is a relatively new, developing profession, the kinds of training and staff development available to those in this field is generally limited, but very necessary! The University of Connecticut through the 4-H Youth Program of the Cooperative Extension Service, the Department of Human Resources and the Wellesley School Age Child Care Project provide staff training. You may contact your local Cooperative Extension Service or the Collaboration for Connecticut’s Children for information and assistance.
CHAPTER IV

DAY TO DAY PROGRAMMING
Program Planning Simplified

There are many lengthy books written on program planning. A simple way to ensure a good plan is to remember the key word, S.O.M.E. Consider the following:

S. — Situation
O. — Objectives
M. — Methods
E. — Evaluation

While the specifics for day-to-day programming will fall upon the staff, the Board sets policies in relation to the total program. Therefore, it is necessary to look at your situation, set objectives, then determine methods and evaluation techniques which are all part of the program planning process. This will enable your Board to determine policies.

S. Situation

In reviewing your situation, you should include the basic purpose as stated in your By-Laws, the number of children enrolled, the budget, space and staff. Based upon this information, the objectives you set can be realistic and measured.

O. Objectives

An objective is a statement of who will be able to do what. A measured objective will tell us that a specific number of people will do a specific number of things. For example, if your group thinks self defense is an important skill for children, your measurable objective would be:

26 children will be able to demonstrate 5 ways to protect themselves.

If your group thinks children should learn to eat nutritional foods the objective might be:

12 children will learn to prepare nutritious snacks.

M. Method

After the objectives are set, your Board and Staff would then determine the methods to be used, i.e., "we will budget $300.00 to pay someone to instruct the children in basic karate skills." The Director would then set up the program. The method for the second objective might be to have staff contact the Cooperative Extension Service for 4-H project Guides and establish a cooking club.

E. Evaluation

Evaluation is the final step in program planning. To evaluate the two objectives, the Board might establish an annual family night where the children demonstrate karate skills and serve snacks to their parents that they have prepared.
Equipment and Supplies

The content of your program will determine the equipment and supplies that will be needed. In the beginning most programs have a small budget to spend on these items. Try to select basic equipment that can be used in many ways: balls, crayons, scissors, paper, scraps of fabric, yarn, tape, large pillows, etc. These are necessary to ensure a basic yet full program.

Accept donations of second hand toys, record players, cards, board games, etc. All will be welcome additions to your basic supplies. Also accept recycled items. These have multiple purposes when used creatively. They include egg cartons, grocery food bags, yogurt containers, magazines, tin cans, paper bags, computer sheets, thread spools, scraps of lumber, etc.

If your program is fortunate enough to have exclusive use of a space, try to have someone donate comfortable furniture, a carpet, fish tanks - those that leak can be used as terrariums - and other items to make your room look like a warm inviting place.

Your director should be involved in making major equipment and supply decisions.
CHAPTER V

MONEY MATTERS
Money Matters

Money, unfortunately, will often dictate whom you may hire as staff, what projects the children may do and to some extent which children may participate. You will need to estimate your income and expenses as closely as possible.

The Budget

The budget is the estimate of what you think your income and expenses will be for one year. Both parts of your budget should be equal. They will influence each other to a large extent. It may be helpful to look at a budget from a similar program, to see what types of expenses are incurred. (see Appendix.)

Income

This is the money your program will be receiving from fees, grants, donations and fund raising.

Fees

Fees are the payments parents make for their children to attend the program. These should be set to reflect what the parents said they are willing to pay on the initial survey. They are calculated by multiplying the number of children times the number of days times the daily rate to equal the total fee.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Children</th>
<th>Days</th>
<th>Rate</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>School Days</td>
<td>15 × 180 × $4.00</td>
<td>= 10,800</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Full Days</td>
<td>10 × 50 × 10.00</td>
<td>= 5,000</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Fees</td>
<td>= $15,800</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

You may also have separate fees for ½ days, kindergarten children and those who only participate part time.

Grants

Grants may be another source of income. The State Department of Human Resources sometimes offers grants to communities to subsidize low income children or to pay staff salaries for new programs. These funds have come from Social Service Block Grants and their continuation is never guaranteed. Applications for the grants are usually made 90 days prior to the grant period. The Department of Human Resources Day Care Unit can tell you the dates and assist you with the applications. It is wise to check with town and state agencies about funding. Start at the top and be referred down. Be persistent!

Donations

These are another source of potential income. It will help if you already have tax-exempt status. Even if you do not, some community groups may be willing to support your program.
Fund Raising

This is an activity that some parents might enjoy and it gives them the opportunity to make a contribution to the program. This source of funding should be discussed, but guard against over-extending people who are needed to complete other tasks. Once your group is well organized, you may wish to do more fund raising.

Expenses

This section deals with the money you need to expend in order to run your program. The most typical expense items for a day care program are:

- Salaries and Wages
- Fringe Benefits
- Rent
- Utilities
- Equipment and Supplies
- Food
- Insurance
- Telephone
- Postage
- Printing
- Travel and Transportation
- Legal and Accounting
- Licensing and other fees
- Miscellaneous

We also recommend that you begin to look for a volunteer bookkeeper. It will be helpful for him/her to work with you from the beginning; this way he/she will have a sound grasp of the figures when the program is in operation. Volunteer bookkeepers may be found through the same channels we suggested to find an attorney or accountant/CPA.

Budget Reports

Your accountant/CPA or bookkeeper can devise a monthly financial report for use at monthly Board meetings. This report can be a simple breakdown of the income and expenses in each category outlined in your budget. This will show how the program is doing against your projected budget. It is important that the Board keep tabs on the program's finances. Neglect by the Board may result in crisis and in some cases, bankruptcy. It is easier for any Board to take preventive action rather than remedial action. Keeping cash outflow on a par with cash inflow is the key to stability.
Ongoing Budget

After the first year, your Board will want to set a regular budget process with a timetable and assigned responsibilities. A year of experience will also help in setting realistic amounts for both income and expenses; the entire process will become easier.

Financial Management

We noted earlier that you should have a bookkeeper or someone with accounting knowledge to set up and maintain the program’s books. The accountant will assist in developing the format and method, but will not do the routine work. It is best to use the accountant’s time for an annual audit and certain tax preparation work. The bookkeeper should set up the following records:

1. Payroll and Personnel
   a. Time sheets
   b. Attendance sheets
   c. Payroll summaries
   d. Personnel files
   e. Incident/accident files

2. General Ledger
   a. Accounts receivable
   b. Accounts payable
   c. Cash receipts
   d. Cash disbursements

These simple records will generate adequate information to prepare the payroll and tax reports necessary, and will provide financial accountability to funders and the Board.
CHAPTER VI

PUBLIC RELATIONS
Media Coverage

It is helpful to have experienced media people working with you to develop a public relations campaign. If you are doing your own publicity, check with a reference librarian for a media directory to help find the following information:

1. How to write a press release.
2. The names and addresses of local newspapers.
3. The names and addresses of your T.V. stations.
4. The names and addresses of local radio stations.

Public Relations is an ongoing process, contact with the media begins with the distribution of the initial survey, and continues throughout the life of the program.

Program Announcement

Another way to let the community know about the program is with a flyer. In designing this special flyer, include the five “W’s”: WHO, WHAT, WHERE, WHEN, WHY, as well as information on how to register. Find your most creative artist and design an eye-catching “READ ME!” advertisement. Use brightly-colored paper - SHOUT YOUR MESSAGE! Distribute the flyers to every child in the school system, and place them in public places and retail outlets in your community. Don’t hesitate to approach churches and other civic and social organizations to assist in the distribution. You want saturation!

Posters

Large, bright, eye-catching posters are another inexpensive way to announce your opening. Most local merchants will allow you to place a poster in their shop as a community service.

A “Big Splash”

Plan a special event to recognize your opening. Invite the general public, including: parents and children who might use the program, town officials, school representatives, Board members, donors, and the media.

You may wish to plan a short program to acknowledge the staff and donors, and to emphasize the importance of caring for children in the community.

Allow time for refreshments and socializing. Provide name tags for all and a sign in list for future reference.
Opening Day

Your license, emergency procedures and plans for care of a sick child are posted conspicuously on site. The snack menu is in place and the health forms are filed. The room has been painted, and looks beautiful! The staff has planned the activities, the dolls are waiting to be hugged and the games waiting to be played.

It’s 7:05 a.m. Children arrive and eagerly join in the activities. You go off to work wondering how the day will be for your child. For you, it goes by very slowly.

Finally it is 5:00 p.m. You walk in the door not knowing what to expect. Your child does not notice you are there! You look around the room and see all the happy smiling faces on busy, playful children. Then you know it’s all been worthwhile!

Program Evaluation

One of the very last planning items needed at this point is a tool for Program Evaluation, making sure that the program is doing what you planned it to do. Evaluation is essential to sound operation. A good initial design does not guarantee that positive outcomes will automatically follow. Programs should be monitored and evaluated periodically.

In the first few months of operation, you will need to revise some of the procedures you just wrote. Don’t be afraid to do this. By-Laws and Budgets are only planning tools. Once you have arrived at specified procedures, there should be a process created to make sure that they are being followed, and that the program is providing the needed services.

The process of evaluation of the program becomes fairly simple once it is broken down into basic components.

Quotas

The concept of looking at quotas is a good first step in the overall evaluation process. When you first designed the maximum capacity and made estimates of the average daily attendance expected, you were setting goals or quotas, which you expected would be met by the program. It will be helpful, especially in the early months, to measure your actual attendance against your expected attendance on a monthly basis. Attendance figures can be included with the Financial Report done by the bookkeeper. The difference between the actual attendance and the expected attendance is called Variance, and can alert the Board as to how well the program is servicing the numbers of children it hoped to serve. If the variance should begin to grow on the negative side month by month, the Board will know that it is time to take some investigative action to determine why attendance is falling off, and some remedial action to change the pattern.
Observations and Monitoring

Members of the Board should make a point of stopping in for on-site visits during hours of operation. A visit every six weeks initially, and perhaps quarterly, thereafter, can be helpful in keeping tabs on the condition of the physical plant and supplies, the way staff interact with the children, discipline and order in the program, adherence to activities, schedules, etc. After each visit, the Directors visiting should make notes on their observations, and file them for safekeeping with the other evaluation tools.

Interviews and Questionnaires

A simple form can be devised which asks parents and children to rate their satisfaction with (1) various components of the program, (2) the staff running the program, and (3) the activities scheduled in the program. Interviews can be held informally, by phone or in person, and the comments and suggestions made by the parents and children should be noted. It is best that these tools be used on a random basis, every third parent on the alphabetical roster will receive a phone call; every fifth child on the roster will be interviewed (with parent present); every tenth parent will receive a questionnaire, etc. The parents and children should be able to note any complaints, which can be reviewed by the Board.

Feedback From Outsiders

Another evaluation tool which is simple to use is outside feedback. If your program is in a school, meet with the principal periodically and ask for input on the program's functioning. Ask teachers who share neighboring classrooms, or the librarian, what they see and think is happening with the program. Licensing is an ongoing procedure. The State or local health department will make a periodic visits for evaluation. Request a copy of evaluation and share it with the Board and staff. Ask the program funders, after they have received information from you, how well their expectations were met. Keep copies of this feedback, and file them with the other evaluation materials. At this point, you have a comprehensive evaluation system which should satisfy the State and potential grantors.

Finances

Like the quota variances, the Financial Reports can be viewed against the budget (the expected inflow and outflow of money) in the same way as average expected versus real attendance is seen. The Financial Report will also show variances, which begin to show trends that the Board may wish to encourage or stop. Particularly important is the overall balance between income and expenses. Expenses should be kept in line, with the income received to cover them. When a program spends more than it has received, the resulting net figure is called a deficit, and should be given serious attention by the Board. NOTE: It is often possible, especially where State grants are concerned, to receive state checks much later than they are due. As bills continue to accumulate during this time, the result is not an actual deficit, but a lag in Cash Flow. Inform your vendors if this happens.
Staff-Board Relationships

To develop an exciting viable program that meets your goals and objectives and to sustain it over a long period of time, you must establish a clear understanding of the role of your Board and the role of your Director.

Up until the time your Director is hired, the members of your Board perform the functions of both the Board and the staff. Once your Director is hired, she is in a position to assume some of these functions. As your program grows, staff will take on the daily tasks of operation.

Clarification of who performs what function is necessary. Basically your Board will always retain overall responsibility for everything that happens in the program. Your Board must continue to make the policies under which the program operates. The staff’s responsibility is to implement these policies. Your Board has final financial responsibility for the program, although staff may spend funds within the guidelines you establish.

To accomplish this division satisfactorily, there needs to be good communication between the Board and the staff. A good rule to follow is to have the Board make requests of the staff through one individual, usually the President. No one can work for a large number of people, each with individual ideas on how things should be done. Generally, the Director is responsible for the supervision of other staff. The President should communicate with them through the Director. It is best to solve any communication problems in their infancy and to keep the way clear for a good positive working relationship.

Parent Involvement

Parents will want to be aware of what their children are doing and the future direction of the program. A newsletter is a good way to keep parents informed. It may be written by the staff and/or the Board.

Parent or family nights are another good way to involve parents. When planning these, it is important to remember that parents work and the event needs to be easy to attend. For example, a pizza and salad supper at a reasonable cost is probably easy. A pot luck meal, to which you must bring your own plates, silverware, and a dish to pass, is difficult.

Most parents will do what they can cheerfully. The problems come when they are asked to do something that is difficult. For example, one parent may be able to type a newsletter with ease. She knows how to type, is a secretary and can do it in ten minutes on her lunch hour. A parent who must do it at night, after teaching all day might find it difficult. Know your parents and ask them to do the things that are easy and possible for them.
A Final Note

This handbook was written to help parents and communities through the process of establishing a School Age Child Care Program. It is based upon the experiences of a group of parents in Marlborough, Connecticut who began a program in 1984. As we worked through the process we realized that the needed information was scattered among several state agencies and many books and pamphlets. This handbook is an attempt to put this information in a clear and logical sequence.

As a result of the efforts in Marlborough the Marlborough Elementary Child Care Association was formed. MECCA currently operates a successful program with full enrollment and a long waiting list. Many of the sample materials in the Appendix were developed by the MECCA Board of Directors and are currently in use.

In looking back this group of parents feels a great sense of accomplishment and has a clearer understanding of community process.

You can do it too!!

REGISTRATION INFORMATION FOR PARENTS

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE - To provide quality activities and child development program for children during the before and after school hours.

ADMISSION - Admission to SECCA is open to all children who are residents of Somerset and are enrolled in grades K through 6. We do not discriminate based on age, sex, race, color, handicap, or religion.

Your child may attend, 2, 3, 4, or 5 days a week or you may register for drop-in attendance. Children attending full-time (4 or 5 days) will have preference over part time (2 or 3 days), and part time will have preference over drop-in. Children with siblings attending the program will have preference. We are limited in the number of children we can serve so within these guidelines, admission will be on a first come, first served basis.

HOURS OF OPERATION - SECCA will be open from 7 a.m. til 6 p.m. You may sign up for full time attendance (before and after school) or for before or after school only.

opt 1 CALENDAR - We will be open 52 weeks a year including school holidays and during the summer. On early closing days, we will be open until 6 p.m. as usual. On school holidays we will be open all day from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. However, a sign up sheet will be available before each of these holidays for those who plan to attend. We feel we must have at least x children signed up to warrant being open. The registration materials included here are only for the Winter session (during the school year). A separate registration form will be required for the Summer session.

opt 2 CALENDAR - We plan to open all days during the regular school year. On early closing days, we will be open until 6 p.m. as usual. On school holidays we will be open all day from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. However, a sign up sheet will be available before each of these holidays for those who plan to attend. We feel we must have at least x children signed up to warrant being open.

opt 3 CALENDAR - We are open when Somerset Elementary School is open. On early closing days, we will be open until 6 p.m. as usual.

opt 1 SNOW DAYS - When Somerset Elementary School closes the program will not be in session. Closings are broadcast by 8 a.m. on xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx. If weather conditions necessitate our closing early - before 6 p.m. - the staff will contact you or your designee to come pick up your child.

ACTIVITIES SCHEDULE - Children will be able to leave SECCA to attend other activities in the school (i.e. gymnastics, drama club, etc.). Each child's schedule must be on file with SECCA and a form is available for this purpose. If there is a temporary or permanent change to this schedule, the director must be notified.

DROPOFF AND PICKUP - Each child attending the before school session must be signed in by a parent each morning. You must come into the building in the evening to sign out your child. No child may be left at the Somerset Elementary School unless a SECCA staff member is present.
SICK DAYS - If your child is sick, or will not attend for any reason, please call xxx-xxx. It is extremely important to notify us if your child will not be present on a certain day as we are responsible for your child.

ALTERNATE PICKUP - If at any time a friend is picking up your child, please notify the director ahead of time.

TRIAL PERIOD - Each child will be admitted to SECCA for a 1 month trial period so that we can evaluate the appropriateness of our day care program for your child.

REGISTRATION - An annual registration fee of $20.00 is required to hold a position open for each child. Families with more than one child attending the program pay only one registration fee. This fee is not refundable unless space is unavailable.

TUITION - A schedule of tuition fees is attached. Fees are due in advance and are payable on the Monday of each week. Payments (by check please) should be given to the staff member present.

No refund can be given for absences. The fee remains the same even if your child is out sick on a scheduled day. Special arrangements can be made for extended illnesses.

Families with two or more children enrolled in the program will have a 10% reduction in fees for the older child or the child participating in the fewest number of sessions.

SECURITY DEPOSIT - A security deposit of two weeks' tuition is also required. This deposit is designed to cover 1) the cost associated with an open position in the event of a child's premature withdrawal from the program, 2) the cost associated with excess damages to equipment, or 3) the cost of your child's last two weeks in the program.

The security deposit is to be paid in four installments with each of the first four regular weekly payments. That is, your first four payments will be one and a half times the regular weekly rate.

The security deposit will be refunded provided a notice of withdrawal from the program is given at least one month in advance or if your child's place can be immediately filled.

CHANGE IN ATTENDANCE - One month's notice is required if there is a change to a decreasing number of days per week. Parents are responsible for payment of present status for that 30 day period. A change of attendance form must be completed and is available at the program.

LATE PAYMENTS - If in arrears more than two weeks, a 10% late fee must be charged. If four weeks tuition is not paid, your child will not be enrolled for the succeeding month. No child can be permitted to register for a new session unless all bills from the previous session are paid.

A $5.00 fee must be charged for checks not honored by a bank.
LATE PICKUP - In consideration of our dedicated teachers, please try to pick up your child before 6 p.m. If you are late one or two times, no fee will be charged. If children are picked up repeatedly later than 6 p.m., a late fee will be charged according to the following rates:

- 6:06 - 6:15: $5.00
- 6:16 - 6:30: $10.00

FOOD - If your child attends the morning session, and arrives before 7:45, you may send in breakfast with them. If you arrive later there will not be time for your child to eat before school starts.

SECCA will provide snacks for those (afternoon Kindergarten) children who attend all morning, and there will be afternoon snacks for all children at about 4 p.m.

Kindergarten children must provide their own lunch and all children must bring their own lunch on early closing days and school vacation days.

HEALTH FORMS - State law requires that we maintain up-to-date health records on all children in our program. We must have permission to use the school's health records or the enclosed health form must be filled out before your child can be admitted.

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES - If a medical emergency arises, the SECCA staff will first attempt to contact you. If you cannot be reached, the SECCA staff will contact your child's doctor. If the emergency is such that immediate hospital attention is necessary, SECCA will take your child to the hospital.

MEDICATION - SECCA staff members will administer medications only with the permission of parents. An authorization form, which must be signed by both the doctor and the parent, is available from the director. The staff will not administer non-prescription drugs.

INSURANCE - If your child is not covered for minor injuries by either the mother's or father's insurance, we recommend that you elect to use the student accident policy available through the school.

TELEPHONE - The telephone number of the program is xxx-xxxx.

ANNUAL MEETING - A meeting of all parents of children participating in SECCA, and other interested people, will be held in the spring of each year. At that time the Board of Directors will report on the year's activities and you will have the opportunity to elect the governing Board for the next year.

SECCA is a non-profit organization incorporated under the laws of the State of Connecticut. A copy of our By-Laws is available on request.

COMMUNICATIONS - We want SECCA to be an excellent program. To this end we feel communication between the staff, parents, and the Board of Directors is very important. The Board will be available to answer any questions you may have and to receive your input on the program throughout the year.
