This work is designed to help introduce students in the Master of Public Administration program at Auburn University to the major types of research material that are available in the Ralph Brown Draughon Library. The exercise simulates a typical research process by posing a series of questions about a specific issue in the public administration field, namely the development and implementation of federal government policy on health maintenance organizations (HMO). The questions involve the identification and use of relevant books, articles, dissertations, hearings, reports, statutes, regulations, and court cases. A list of appropriate library reference tools and an answer key accompany the exercise, which is administered following an introductory lecture. The average time required to complete the assignment is approximately five hours.

FEDERAL HMO POLICY:
A LIBRARY RESEARCH EXERCISE

This assignment is designed to introduce you to the rich variety of source materials on American public administration that are available in the Ralph Brown Draughon Library. You will be given a series of questions relating to a particular issue in the public policy field. Each question requires the use of a different published source of information on the topic. By confronting you with a search problem that involves the use of a broad range of primary, secondary, and bibliographic sources, this exercise will help you develop the ability to research most any topic in the area of public administration.

After reading the questions, consult the proper sources and locate the requested facts. Write your answers in the spaces provided. Refer to the class library handout for a list of some appropriate sources. Of course, the library staff will gladly assist you with any problems.

1. You have just been assigned the task of writing a paper on the development and implementation of federal policy regarding health maintenance organizations (HMOs). Your instructor recommends that you consult Lawrence Brown's recent book on politics and health care in order to gain a preliminary understanding of the HMO issue.

   Use a LUIS terminal to find the cataloging record for Brown's book. Search by author.

   What is the call number of the book?

   What are the complete Library of Congress subject headings assigned to the book?

   Make a subject search in LUIS using the first heading assigned to Brown's book. Use the full heading.

   How many items does LUIS list under this subject?

   How many of the listed items were published by the United States government?
Find Brown's book on the shelf and briefly scan the contents. Use Chapter 5 to answer the following questions.

In what year did the federal Health Maintenance Organization Act pass?

Which two Congressional committees held hearings during the early 1970s on proposed HMO legislation?

2. You then decide to find a few relevant journal articles. You are interested in identifying articles published in academic/scholarly journals as well as ones found in professional/medical publications.

A colleague remembers seeing good articles on aspects of the HMO question in recent (1980-85) issues of Policy Studies Journal and Journal of Health Politics, Policy and Law. He believes that someone named Bonanno authored one of the articles. He also recalls a fine article by Bauman on the formulation and evolution of HMO policy. He believes it was published around 1976 in Social Science and Medicine.

Use appropriate indexes to find citations for these three articles. Complete the bibliographic entries listed below.

You then seek to determine whether any articles on HMO policy have appeared in such leading medical journals as JA.A, American Journal of Public Health, or New England Journal of Medicine.
Use an appropriate index to find a relevant article published in one of these journals. Try to find an article that appeared between 1971 and 1975, since you want to see how the professional medical community reacted to the federal HMO legislation. Indicate the article you selected by completing the bibliographic information below.

3. After finding a variety of books and articles dealing with HMO policy, you decide to see if there are any recent dissertations on the topic.

Use Comprehensive Dissertation Index to find a recent (1980) political science dissertation about the development and implementation of federal policy on HMOs. Complete the bibliographic data below.

In order to gain a fuller understanding of what this dissertation covers, you decide to read the corresponding abstract printed in Dissertation Abstracts International.

What does the author consider to be some of the main factors that accounted for the unsuccessful record of the federal HMO program?
4. Now that you have identified several pertinent secondary works, you decide to explore what kinds of government publications are available.

You figure that it would be helpful to find the text and legislative history of the original Health Maintenance Organization Act. Use United States Statutes at Large to answer the following questions.

On what date did the Health Maintenance Organization Act become law?

What is the appropriate legal citation for the act's location in United States Statutes at Large? (Example: 85 Stat. 403)

What is its Public Law number? (Example: P.L. 96-264)

What is the number of the Senate Report that accompanied the bill (S. 14) out of committee? (Example: S. Rpt. 98-56)

Remembering that Congress held hearings during the early 1970s on proposed HMO legislation, you decide to locate the printed documents that record these valuable committee proceedings. Use an appropriate index to identify the House committee hearings held in 1972 and 1973 on the HMO issue. Locate the volumes on the shelf and answer the following questions.

How many separate volumes of 1972 hearings were published?

Who represented the American Medical Association at the 1972 hearings?

Did the AMA representatives support or oppose the passage of the HMO development legislation being considered by the committee?
What is the SuDoc number of the 1973 hearing?

Who represented the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at the 1973 hearings?

Which of the two bills under consideration by the committee did the HEW representatives support?

You then seek to find the text of the Senate Report that accompanied the Senate HMO bill (S. 14) out of committee. Find the report in the "Serial Set" and answer the following questions.

What is the number of the "Serial Set" volume that contains this particular Senate Report?

Which member of the Senate committee submitted a minority view that opposed passage of the HMO bill?

Because the Health Maintenance Organization Act has been amended several times in the years since its original passage, you decide to find the current codification of all federal laws pertaining to HMOs. Use the 1982 edition of United States Code to answer the following questions.

Which title of USC contains the principal federal laws on the organization and operation of HMOs?

Which section of that title requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to submit an annual report to Congress on federal assistance to HMOs?

In order to find out how federal agencies implement the various statutory provisions dealing with HMOs, you decide to examine the body of pertinent federal regulations. Use Code of Federal Regulations to answer the following questions.
Which title of CFR contains the main body of regulations dealing with HMOs?

Which section of that title specifies application requirements for becoming a federally qualified HMO?

You ther decide to identify some relevant publications issued by government agencies concerned with HMO policies and operations. You are especially interested in finding studies prepared by the Department of Health and Human Services and the General Accounting Office. Use an appropriate index to find 1) the HHS annual report on the HMO system for fiscal year 1981 and 2) a 1978 GAO report on the performance of 14 federally qualified HMOs. Complete the bibliographic data below.

Locate the two documents and scan the contents of each. Answer the following questions.

What does the Director of the Office of Health Maintenance Organizations say in his introduction to the HMO annual report regarding future federal involvement with HMO developmental grants?
According to the introductory digest of the GAO report, what three problems with federal implementation of the Health Maintenance Organization Act still hampered development of the HMO concept?

5. After examining assorted government materials, you decide to investigate what sorts of litigation have grown out of the HMO system.

Use appropriate legal sources to identify two federal court cases that involve HMOs or cite HMO statutes. Indicate case names and citations below. (Example: Jones v. United States, 357 F. Supp. 103)
