Designed to acquaint persons conducting library research in Chicano Studies with the reference materials found in the University Library at the University of California-Santa Barbara, the manual provides information on the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque, relevant subject headings, and a useful search strategy. Resources, staff, assigned reading service, circulation policy, publications, computer search services, exhibits, tours, bibliographic instruction, and hours of service are discussed for the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque, which serves as a focal point for information services relating to the Chicano/Mexicano experience in the United States. An overview of the following departmental resources is provided: resources in education, government documents, Department of Special Collections, Map and Imagery Laboratory, Arts Library, and Curriculum Laboratory. Sixty-nine subject headings and 26 Library of Congress call numbers relevant to Chicano Studies are listed. Five steps for forming a useful search strategy are reviewed: finding an overview of the general subject, reviewing available bibliographies for the field, finding books for the topic, finding materials through indexes and abstracts, and locating useful directories. Computerized literature searching and procedures for requesting a computer search are described. The manual concludes with a list of 112 standard reference materials on the Chicano and a key word and subject index. (LFL)

The Colección Tloque Nahuaque draws together the specialized resources of the University Library in one place for study and research on the historical and contemporary Chicano experience. Tloque Nahuaque, Lord of the Close and the Near, in his aspect as Quetzalcoatl, patron of learning and the arts is recalled in motif and symbol. It is in the calmecac (House of Knowledge) and amoxcalli (House of Books) that the skills of in tlilli, in tlapalli (the red, the black), the ancient Mexican metaphor for writing and knowledge are taught, practiced and conserved. The figures are adapted from the Codex Mendoza, a 16th century document describing Aztec society.

PREFACE

As you prepare to carry out your research in Chicano Studies we hope that you will find this guide helpful as you attempt to locate and use appropriate library materials which you will need.

Locating information on Chicano topics at UCSB will involve consulting some of the numerous and diverse sources of information in the University Library.

While the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque (Chicano Studies Library Collection) is a natural focal point for such research, given its extensive coverage in this field, it should not be overlooked that much useful information can also be found throughout the main library.

This manual will acquaint you with a number of pertinent reference materials and will help you to form a useful search strategy. It will also introduce you to the most relevant subject headings to aid you in looking up the information you will need. This revised edition, in addition to updating the previous edition, provides new material, including a separate chapter on computerized literature searching which was written by Richard Chabran of the UCLA Chicano Studies Research Library.

Various individuals from different libraries reviewed the text and contributed valuable suggestions, references, and other useful information. Among these were Richard Chabran, UCLA; Carol Beth Gibbens, UCSB; David Guttman, UCSB; Dennis Hamilton, UCSB; and Roberto G. Trujillo, Stanford University. Very fine assistance was provided by Raquel Quiroz Gonzalez, who has been invaluable in the production of this; and many other publications generated by the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque over the years. And finally, credit is also due Carmen T. Ramirez who helped to revise the index in the second edition.

A half-hour videotape version of this booklet, entitled ADELANTE! A GUIDE TO LIBRARY RESEARCH IN CHICANO STUDIES complements this written guide and is available for classroom and individual use.

GUIDE TO LIBRARY RESEARCH IN CHICANO STUDIES was produced on computer by using CMS (Conversational Monitor System), an interactive operating system which runs on the IBM 4341. mainframe computer at UCSB. The text was arranged through the use of the SCRIPT formatting system, developed by the Department of Computer Services at the University of Waterloo, Ontario.

Chapter 1
COLECCION TLOQUE NAHUQUE

The University Library Chicano Studies Collection is located on the second floor of the South Wing. Established as part of the University Library in 1971, the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque serves as a focal point for information services relating to the Chicano/Mexicano experience in the United States.

As a collection development and reference service unit, the Coleccion specializes in the multidisciplinary area studies that make up the field of Chicano studies. Here you will find information on the historical and contemporary Chicano experience, including subject areas such as bilingual education, U.S.-Mexico border studies, and to a more limited extent, information on Mexico. In this latter case, materials from Mexico are occasionally acquired, with emphasis on literature and history, as it relates to the heritage of Chicanos. An extensive collection on Mexico is housed in the open stacks of the main library. The Coleccion is also a popular study area. Available study space, which is shared with the adjoining Black Studies Unit, seats 65 students.

RESOURCES

The Coleccion is one of the largest Chicano collections in the U.S., housing close to 9,000 volumes and annually adding about 500 new titles in Chicano Studies.

The Coleccion also has several hundred current and retrospective serials, including journals and newspapers in hardcopy as well as in microform. These provide a great source of information on issues, events, and concerns relating to Chicanos. The Coleccion, therefore, has all major Chicano Studies publications and serials. The unit also maintains and adds to its files of pamphlets, periodical articles, newspaper clippings, book reviews, and posters. Article/newspaper files include numerous published works on Chicano literary criticism, Latino mental health, education, and sociology.

Particular subject strengths within the Coleccion are history, literature, bilingual education, and bibliography.
A variety of unusual collections have also been acquired, including microfilm editions of New Mexican archival collections, the Papers of the U.S. Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy, and a complete archival videotape collection "Califas in Aztlan" which covers Chicano art and theater in California. It should be pointed out that locating information in the Colección is no problem, since virtually all of the library materials in this unit are indexed in author, title, and subject catalogs located within the Colección itself.

STAFF

Reference and research assistance to students, faculty, scholars, and community users requires the availability of helpful and knowledgeable staff. In this respect, library users can count on a full-time Chicano Studies Librarian, and a Senior Library Assistant, both bilingual and are ready to assist. Colección reference assistance is available weekdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ASSIGNED READINGS SERVICE

Assigned readings, largely in Chicano Studies and Bilingual Education, are available in the Colección. These readings are circulated for use within a two-hour period inside the Unit.

CIRCULATION POLICY

Since the Colección is basically a reference collection, materials do not circulate. This is due to the fact that many of these materials are available nowhere else, and if lost, cannot be replaced. The Colección often has the only copy in a geographic area ranging from Los Angeles to Berkeley. Therefore, this policy makes it possible for many people to have access to the collection during all hours that the Colección is open. Duplicate copies are obtained for the main stacks when heavy use is expected, or when greater accessibility may be needed.

PUBLICATIONS

The Colección has been associated with a variety of bibliographic and indexing projects. Its biannual acquisitions publication, CHICANOS: A CHECKLIST OF CURRENT MATERIALS is a selected list of new books added to the Colección, reflecting the multidisciplinary nature of Chicano Studies. Another related CHECKLIST publication is a SPECIAL ISSUE ON CHICANO STUDIES SERIALS. For readers interested in a better understanding of a very intriguing and not very well understood aspect of the Mexicano/Chicano experience, the Day of the Dead, the Coleccion has collaborated with the Center for Chicano Studies in the publishing of DIA DE LOS MUERTOS: AN ILLUSTRATED ESSAY AND BIBLIOGRAPHY.

Collaborative publications involving the Coleccion have included the CHICANO THESAURUS FOR INDEXING CHICANO MATERIALS: MEXICAN SOLDADERAS AND WORKERS DURING THE REVOLUTION: AN EXHIBITION CATALOG, A DECADE OF CHICANO LITERATURE(1970-1979) CRITICAL ESSAYS AND BIBLIOGRAPHY, and LUIS LEAL: A BIBLIOGRAPHY WITH CRITICAL AND INTERPRETATIVE ESSAYS. Other on-going publications involving the participation of the Coleccion include the CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX and MAGAZINES FOR LIBRARIES.

COMPUTER SEARCHING IN CHICANO STUDIES

Computerized literature searching is available at the university library, providing for sophisticated subject searches in a variety of fields, including Chicano Studies and Bilingual Education. A computer search may save time and effort and could possibly retrieve items not readily located manually. In most cases, a computer search leads to a list of journal articles or other publications on a specified subject. Most of the computer files correspond to traditional printed indexes.

The cost for a computer search is passed on to the requester, and it depends on the subject, time at the terminal, and the amount of printed citations. Typical searches usually cost between $10 and $35.

The Coleccion Librarian is only one of a number of Reference librarians trained in computer searching, and may be contacted for an appointment. This service is available to members of the University of California community. For more information you may call:

Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque (961-2756)
General Reference Desk (961-2478)

EXHIBITS

Thematic library exhibits are periodically displayed throughout the year. Several recent major exhibits have included "Chicano Popular Arts and Literature," "Homenaje a Luis Leal: An Exhibition Honoring His Contributions to Mexican and Chicano Literature", and "Carlos Fuentes Regents Lecturer".

TOURS

Any group of five or more may request in advance a group tour of the Coleccion and general library. Individual and group orientations to the Coleccion are conducted throughout the year.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC INSTRUCTION

The Coleccion librarian teaches a course entitled "Documentary Research in Chicano Studies" (Ch. St. 191-0) during each Winter Quarter. Offered through the Department of Chicano Studies, the course is designed to help students increase their knowledge of library research, computerized information systems, family research, and oral history.

HOURS OF SERVICE

For the convenience of users, the Unit is open 73 hours per week, from Fall to Spring, according to the following schedule:

Monday-Thursday 8 a.m. - 10 p.m.
Friday 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Summer and Recess Schedule:
Monday-Friday 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Service hours are extended during dead week and final exams.
Chapter 2

DEPARTMENTAL RESOURCES

RESOURCES IN EDUCATION

--- Among the questions asked at the Colección is: "Where can I find current articles on bilingual-bicultural education?" While there is no separate 'department' for education-related materials in the library, numerous resources are located within the Reference Department on the second floor. You will find ERIC (Educational Resources Information Center) to be one of the most useful sources of information about materials relevant to education. The ERIC system provides access to selected education reports, bibliographies, journal articles, books and monographs.

--- The two major indexes to ERIC materials are RESOURCES IN EDUCATION (RIE) and the CURRENT INDEX TO JOURNALS IN EDUCATION (CIUE). Both are shelved on the index tables in the South Wing of the second floor. Most of the reports listed may be found in the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) microfiche collection housed in the microform room of the library (inquire at Reference desk). To determine the best subject heading to use in researching your topic, use the THESAURUS OF ERIC DESCRIPTORS shelved next to the index. Major subject terms relating to Chicanos used here will be Mexican Americans, Mexican American Literature, Mexican American History, Mexican American Education, and Hispanic American Culture--Mexican Americans.

--- The EDUCATION INDEX is another helpful source. In this index you will use the terms Mexican American, Mexicans in the United States, Spanish speaking Students, Bilingual Education, or Children of Migrant Laborers.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

--- The Government Publications Department, located on the 1st floor South Wing of the Library, is a collection of federal, state, local and international governmental publications.

--- These government publications cover a wide variety of subjects. Students in Chicano Studies will find that many of these materials will be of interest.
The MONTHLY CATALOG OF U.S. GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS will be particularly useful for locating government documents. This is essentially a comprehensive bibliography of publications issued by all branches of the federal government.

Among the government agencies specializing in areas relating to Chicanos have been:

California, Mexican Fact-Finding Committee
U.S. Commission on Civil Rights
U.S. Presidents Commission on Migratory Labor
U.S. Interagency Committee on Mexican American Affairs
U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission
U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity
U.S. Federal Interagency Committee on Migrant Labor

To locate the publications of the above listed agencies as well as others, ask for assistance from librarians on duty at the Reference Desk in this department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

Located on the third floor of the Main Library, this department houses non-circulating specialized materials such as rare books, first editions, manuscripts, local history, oral history, and University archives. Many of the materials from its Wyles Collection on westward expansion include important historical coverage of the American Southwest following the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

Major Chicano collections which you will soon find here include the archives of El Teatro Campesino, a world renowned Chicano theater company, and the papers of the Chicano playwright Luis Valdez. You will also find here the archives of several Chicano art organizations, including those of Self Help Graphics and Art, a Los Angeles based group, and those of La Galeria de la Raza, based in San Francisco. Also found here are the archives of the Sleepy Lagoon Defense Committee which include material on the Sleepy Lagoon Case and the Zoot Suit Riots in Los Angeles, 1942-43.

Other materials which are relevant to Chicano Studies are masters theses and doctoral dissertations completed at UCSB, the archives for the UCSB Department of Chicano Studies, and the Center for Chicano Studies Research.

MAP AND IMAGERY LABORATORY

The map collection is world-wide in scope and exceeds 250,000 sheet maps and charts. The Imagery Collection contains about 200,000 images, including aerial photography, NASA transparencies, satellite photographs, and scanned images. Materials include 2,000 general and subject atlases. The Map and Imagery Collections staff provides reference service to closed stack collections and should be consulted to identify and locate maps which are relevant to Mexican Americans.

ARTS LIBRARY

Located in a wing of the Music Building, you will find art materials in the first floor, with music materials located on the second floor. The music collection includes books, pamphlets, scores, disc, and tape recordings. Art materials include books, periodicals, and art exhibition catalogs. The Arts Library has separate card catalogs for art and music. Art and Music reference staff are available to assist you in locating materials on Mexican Americans.

CURRICULUM LABORATORY

Located on the first floor of the North Wing, the Curriculum Lab includes elementary and secondary education textbooks, a collection of children's literature, and multi-media materials for use in instruction. You will find many bilingual education classroom materials here.
Chapter 3

SUBJECT HEADINGS

The key to finding library material on any topic is the proper use of subject headings. If you need information about people, places, ideas, or things, the subject catalog or a subject index will lead you to the sources.

Subject headings used for Chicano materials, however, will vary. For example, books about pachucos are listed under the subject heading Juvenile delinquents; braceros are listed under Agricultural laborers, Mexican; Chicanos are listed under Mexican Americans; Mexicans in the United States, or even Spanish Americans! Most of the material relating to Chicanos will be found under the subject heading Mexican Americans.

How to find help. When you have difficulty finding a heading you can turn to several sources:

1. Subject headings used in the UCSB Library and the Coleccion Tloque Nahauque are taken from the large, red, two-volume LIBRARY OF CONGRESS SUBJECT HEADINGS AND ITS SUPPLEMENTS, kept on the Catalog Assistance Desk. These volumes list the headings, their cross-references, and explain how they are used.

2. The UCSB Library has published a brochure on the uses of the subject catalog. The brochure gives clear and concise information which is useful for all subjects. The brochure is free and available at the Information Desk.

The staff of the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque and librarians at the Reference Desk and Catalog Assistance Desk are prepared to help you find your material.
The following is a selected list of subject headings:

Chapter 5
FORMING A SEARCH STRATEGY

To research a Chicano Studies topic at UCSB the methods which will be used will actually vary with the subject in question, the purpose for the research, and its desired scope.

In many cases the best sources may be books and articles from periodicals. The latter may include scholarly journals as well as those of a more popular nature. Many such materials are located in the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque. Other materials may include non-Chicano newspapers, such as the LOS ANGELES TIMES.

Alternately, one's search might lead into other directions, such as dissertations, theses, government documents, pamphlets, audio-visual materials, or other special library resources.

Begin your search strategy by developing and refining your study topic. For the uninitiated, much time and effort can be saved by determining at an early stage whether the topic is manageable. If the topic is so narrow that there is little material on it, then it is not manageable. At the other extreme, a topic might be too broad and all-encompassing, which may again make the topic unmanageable. It would be helpful to consult with the Chicano Studies Librarian for assistance in selecting a topic.

Once a topic has been defined, a comprehensive search method might be as follows:

Step 1 - Subject Overview

Find an overview for the general subject. Consult an encyclopedia for that subject to obtain background information. Look for a list of books or articles which may be listed in the bibliography at the end of the article. Also make note of any dictionaries which can define the terms related to your topic.

For example, if you were to choose the topic "Chicano interest groups and public policy," a good starting point would be to look up the term "interest groups" in the index volume to the INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES (FIGURE 1).

Interest, Conflict of: see Conflict of interest
INTEREST GROUPS 7:486-492

You will also discover other related subject references, such as "Political participation" and "Pressure groups". While these articles do not relate specifically to Chicanos, the theoretical and conceptual base of the more general subject will be important to familiarize you with the wider topic from which you can extrapolate key concepts. Another helpful source would be the DICTIONARY OF MEXICAN AMERICAN HISTORY (figure 2).

In the field of education, a useful source would be the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH. You will find this in the reference books section of the Coleccion's book stacks. population that in 1940 was over 30 percent Mexican-born. The movement was taken by both the United States and Mexico with some seriousness. Although the Sinarquistas claimed a large membership in the Southwest, probably not more than two or three thousand joined the organization. Carey McWilliams,* who was on the scene, felt that Sinarquismo was a factor in the Zoot Suit Riots.*

SLEEPY LAGOON (1942-1944), a famous court case during World War II. On August 2, 1942, young José Díaz was found on the outskirts of Los Angeles so severely beaten that he died from a fractured skull without regaining consciousness. On the basis of a gang fight the night before at a nearby popular swimming hole (that the press dubbed the Sleepy Lagoon), twenty-three Mexican Americans and one Anglo member of the 38th Street

Step 2 - Subject Bibliographies

Review the bibliographies available for that field. This will help you as you compile a list of books on your topic. One of the best, and most up-to-date, is THE MEXICAN AMERICAN: A CRITICAL GUIDE TO RESEARCH AIDS, by Barbara Ahd and Cordell Robinson. Here you will find that subjects are divided into the various fields of study.

Following our sample topic of "Chicano interest groups," in the Robinson book is a chapter on "Social and Behavioral Sciences." Listed there, for example, you will find SELECTED RESEARCH BIBLIOGRAPHY ON ASPECTS OF SOCIO-ECONOMIC and Political Life of Mexican Americans (Figure 3). Also listed is "Politics and the Chicano: On the Status of the Literature." Those would relate nicely to the sample topic.

Step 3 - Book Material

Find books for your topic. This calls for locating books on the subject using the card catalog. After selecting the appropriate subject headings, you will look up relevant books listed in the Main Subject Card Catalog. You will not want to miss non-Chicano related books on the general subject, as well as those which apply directly to Chicano Studies.
For example, following the sample topic, and using the Subject Catalog, you will find an excellent historical case study "The Alianza Movement of New Mexico: the Interplay of Social Change and Public Commentary," which discusses one of the most controversial of all organizations representing Spanish-speaking people in the U.S., led by Reif Lopez Tijerina (Figure 4), although the above essay was the only chapter relating to Chicanos in a book titled MINORITIES AND POLITICS. This book was listed in the Subject Catalog under the heading "Minorities--Addresses and essays." (Figure 5).

Consult the main Card Catalog to identify all cataloged materials found throughout the library, including circulating books and non-circulating reference materials. Since the Coleccion Tiique Nahuasite is the primary collection development point for Chicano area studies there is a specialized card catalog located therein which is used to find non-circulating books and other materials on Chicanos housed in the Unit. Again, it is organized in author-title, subject, and shelf list sections.

Another major access tool is MELVYL: the UC online catalog. Designed to be "user friendly," this is a computerized catalog of books and periodicals located on all nine campuses of the University of California. While not a complete listing, additional titles are being added to the database on a daily basis. Reference librarians are available to assist you at any point in your search.

Step 4 - Indexes and Abstracts

Find materials through indexes and abstracts. Indexes and abstracts are reference books which are generally guides to articles in journals and magazines. Since these are particularly reliable for locating current information, they should never be overlooked. Indexes supplement the Card Catalog of the Library by making accessible large amounts of periodical literature, including information found in newspapers, theses, and dissertations. Indexes will usually give the author and title of the article, the title of the journal in which it appeared, the volume, issue number, the date of publication, and pagination (Figure 6). An abstracting service such as SOCIOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS will also provide a summary of the contents of the publication.

To find information on Chicanos in "mainstream" indexes such as the SOCIAL SCIENCES INDEX, you will find that the indexing terms may vary between publications. Some examples of subject headings to use for the indexes are as follows:

- Agricultural labor
- Bilingualism
- Discrimination
- Education
- Ethnic groups
- Mexican Americans
- Mexico
- Mexicans
- Mexicans in the United States
- Migrant labor
- Minorities
- Race problems

Other references to additional related subjects will be found using the above headings. Particular attention should be called to the CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX, located in the Coleccion Tioque Nahuaque. This will be extremely useful for Chicano Studies since it is the only index which exclusively provides significant access to Chicano periodical literature.

638 Tirado, Miguel David. Mexican American Community Political Organization: "The Key to Chicano Political Power". AZTLAN. Vol. 1. No. 1. Spring, 1970. p. 53-78. Notes. English. DESCRI: Council of Mexican American Affairs (Los Angeles, CA); Cultural Organizations; Lazaro Cardenas Society (Los Angeles, CA); Leadership; League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC); Liga Protectora Mexicana (Kansas City, KS); Mexican American Political Association (MAPA); Mexican Congress; Orden Hijos de America (San Antonio, TX); *Political History and Conditions; Politica. Parties and Organizations.

Again reverting to the sample topic, "Chicano interest groups and public policy," several relevant subject terms would be "Political History and Conditions," and "Public Policy." Using the former term, for example, you would find the article "Mexican American Community Political Organization: the Key to Chicano Political Power," by Miguel David Tirado (Figure 7). Notice that each entry lists other descriptors (related subject terms) under which this, and other articles associated with the topic can be found.

Step 5 - Directories

Use directories. You may find it appropriate to your study to use available directories. These will help you to identify relevant organizations or individuals you might like to contact in order to get first-hand information. A good example would be the CHICANO ORGANIZATIONS DIRECTORY (1985), or CHICANO SCHOLARS AND WRITERS: A BIO-BIBLIOGRAPHICAL DIRECTORY (1979).

You should be aware that as you use the sources listed above, many of the journal articles and books which are cited will likely have bibliographies of their own. You should review the books cited there and add them to your list as they relate to your topic. Thereafter, you can look them up in the Author-Title Card Catalog in the Library.

In review, a useful search strategy could be as follows:

1. Find an overview for the general subject
2. Review available bibliographies for the field
3. Find books for your topic
4. Find materials through indexes and abstracts
5. Locate useful directories.
Computers have become commonplace in modern-day libraries. One of the most important has been the development of computer-assisted searching, which is the searching of bibliographic and non-bibliographic (textual and numeric) data bases using computers. These data bases are compilations of citations stored on magnetic tapes or disks. There are hundreds of data bases on a wide range of topics. They include references to books, articles, dissertations, documents, and reports. Many data bases have printed counterparts. For example, PSYCHOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS is the printed counterpart to the PSYCINFO data base. These data bases are produced by both private and public agencies. For example, the UCSB Library is one among a number of campuses which are contributors to MELVYL the U.C. online catalog. Several important data bases for Chicano research include BORDERLINE of the UCLA Latin American Center and the Chicano Data Base of the UCLA Chicano Studies Research Library. Both of these two data bases are accessible through ORION, the UCLA Online Catalog and Information System. These can be searched for you free of charge at UCSB. Other online bibliographic data bases which can be searched for you free include RLIN, the Research Libraries Information Network.

Data bases, which may actually be located thousands of miles away, are accessed through direct (online) telecommunications. These connect us with information retrieval systems such as DIALOG, ORBIT, and BRS. These information retrieval systems are configurations of software and hardware which are designed to search data bases.

Requesting a Computer Search

If you are considering having a computer-assisted search carried out for you, you will need to consult the Chicano Studies Librarian, or a General Reference Librarian. Remember that there is no charge for searching the MELVYL catalog. There is a charge, as indicated earlier, for searching commercial data bases. The librarian will use a search request form to identify the major concepts of your research, such as "Mexican Americans," "cultural assimilation," and "ethnic identity." You will be asked to indicate if you want information on books, dissertations, articles, etc. You will also be asked if you want your search limited in certain ways, such as materials published only in certain years, materials only in English or Spanish, or limited to a specific chronological time period.

Many databases have their own specialized terms to describe the contents of the information they contain. A list of such terms is called a thesaurus. These thesauri, or subject heading lists, are used by reference librarians trained in computer searching to help them develop a search strategy on topics. The reference librarian can combine various terms using boolean operators such as "OR" and "AND." The boolean operator "OR" expands, or broadens a search, by retrieving citations which contain two or more terms such as "Mexican Americans" "OR" "Ethnic Identity." The boolean operator "AND" restricts or narrows a search such as "Mexican Americans" "OR" "Ethnic Identity." The first search statement retrieves citations which are either about Mexican Americans or ethnic identity. The second search statement will retrieve citations which contain information on the ethnic identity of Mexican Americans. The ven diagram on the next page (figure 8) serves to illustrate these relationships:

The search "Mexican Americans" AND "Cultural Assimilation" AND "Ethnic Identity" will retrieve only materials concerning ethnic identity and cultural assimilation among Mexican Americans. This is represented by the shaded area of the ven diagram.

Free computer searches can be performed for you on the variety of Chicano/Latino data bases - ask the Coleccion Librarian.
Concept No.1: Mexican Americans
Concept No.2: Cultural Assimilation
Concept No.3: Ethnic Identity

SELECTED CHICANO REFERENCE SOURCES

The following list is a selection of reference materials identified as standard items for information on the Chicano. Except for descriptions of some of the major bibliographies listed, only brief annotations have been occasionally provided since detailed discussions for most can be found in the bibliographies cited below. All can be found in the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque:

Chicano Reference Books

Major Bibliographies

Foster, David. SOURCEBOOK OF HISPANIC CULTURE IN THE UNITED STATES. Chicago: American Library Association, 1982. (Z 1361 S7 564)

Garcia-Ayvens, Francisco; Fisher, Darien; and Villareal, Hilde. QUIEN SABE? A PRELIMINARY LIST OF CHICANO REFERENCE MATERIALS. Los Angeles: Chicano Studies Research Center Publications, University of California, Los Angeles, 1981. (Z 1361 M4 U55)

An important representative listing of 101 primary Chicano reference works in use at the UCLA Chicano Studies Research Library. The scope of the list includes Mexican studies as well as Spanish language dictionaries, but excludes Latin American studies. Annotations are concise and informative.

A selective list of sources which emphasizes bibliographies from either monographs or periodicals published from 1979 to 1983. It is more evaluative, descriptive, and selective than Barbara and J. Cordell Robinson's THE MEXICAN AMERICAN: A CRITICAL GUIDE TO RESEARCH AIDS. It only includes those pre-1978 bibliographies covered by the Robinsons which are considered to be most helpful to students and scholars.

One of the most useful guides to reference materials on Chicanos published through 1978. A total of 668 reference works are analyzed. Included are "...published and unpublished works: books, government publications, periodical articles, pamphlets, bibliographies appended to other works, theses and dissertations, and mimeographed manuscripts." The citations are organized into 17 broad categories which include: General Bibliographies, Biographical Sources, Statistical Sources, Directories, Newspaper and Periodical Sources, Literature, Social and Behavioral Sciences, and Women. The larger sections, which reflect the greater output of material, are the Education and History sections. Author, title, and subject indexes are provided.

Trejo, Arnulfo D. BIBLIOGRAFIA CHICANA: A GUIDE TO INFORMATION SOURCES. Detroit: Gale Research, 1976. (Z 1361 M4 T3)

This is a compilation of 349 monographs on the Chicano, dating from 1848 to 1976. Annotations describing the titles provide essential information. Arranged in five broad categories, reference works include bibliographies, dictionaries, directories, guides, and indexes.
Indexes and Abstracts

CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEXING PROJECT. CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX: A CUMULATIVE INDEX TO SELECTED PERIODICALS, 1982-83. Berkeley: Chicano Studies Library Publications Unit, University of California, 1986. (Ref. Z 1361 M4 C474)

An indispensable major work which retrospectively indexes articles relevant to the study of the Chicano. Several editions are available, covering the period from 1967 to 1976, 1979-1981, and 1982-83, respectively. Includes a helpful up-to-date directory of Chicano related periodicals, including journals, magazines, newsletters, newspapers, and student newspapers.

Comité de Mexico y Aztlan (COMEXAZ). NEWS MONITORING SERVICE. Oakland, Calif.: COMEXAZ, Nov. 1972 - Dec. 1980. (E 184 M5 C64)

A good retrospective source for photocopies of clippings on Mexican American events and Mexico. Seven major Southwestern newspapers are monitored through November, 1980. Includes an extensive monthly index which is cumulated annually.

HISPANIC AMERICAN PERIODICALS INDEX. Los Angeles: UCLA Latin American Center Publications, 1975- (Ref Z 1605 H49)

An annual subject and author index of articles, reviews, documents, and original literary works appearing in close to 250 journals which cover Latin America or Latin Americans in the U.S. Chicanos are also covered to a more limited extent. Nevertheless, the companion volume HAPI THESAURUS AND NAME AUTHORITY lists at least 10 subject terms used for indexing materials on the Mexican American.

Directories

A current listing of organizations as well as a directory of Chicano Studies programs in the U.S. While not comprehensive, it is a useful reference guide.

SELECTED SUBJECTS

Art

Important reference work which provides subject, author/artist, and title access to over 2,000 articles, books, catalogs, exhibit brochures, and art works. Similar in format to the CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX.

History

Includes books, journal articles, and dissertations covering the time span from 1589 to 1975.

450 YEARS OF CHICANO HISTORY IN PICTURES- 450 ANOS OEL PUEBLO CHICANO. Albuquerque, N.M.: Chicano Communications Center, 1976. (E 184 M5 C447)

Important source for pictorial material, arranged chronologically.

Extensive bibliography of selected social and economic sources, including bibliographies and historiographies.
books, articles, theses, dissertations, and unpublished materials.

An excellent historical dictionary to several hundred Mexican American, Puerto Rican, and Cuban organizations in the U.S. Entries consist of brief articles arranged alphabetically by name of organization.

A comprehensive research bibliography, partially and briefly annotated. It covers many different types of materials, including journal articles, monographs, theses, dissertations, government documents, and pamphlets. Author and subject indexes are provided. An excellent reference aid for a variety of topics.

Meier, Matt S. and Rivera, Feliciano. DICTIONARY OF MEXICAN AMERICAN HISTORY. Westport, Conn.: Greenwood Press, 1981. (Ref. E 184 M5 M453)

Brief subject coverage to a wide array of topics. Includes a historical chronology, statistical tables and the text of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. Alphabetically arranged, some of the articles end with a list of suggested books for further reading on the subject. Subjects include such topics and individuals as Cesar Chavez, Ernesto Galarza, Zoot Suit Riots, and National Council of La Raza.

Border Studies

A comprehensive, one-volume handy reference book to source materials on border-area topics. This masterwork features about 60 bibliographic essays and an extensive reference bibliography, which includes books, articles, cited dissertations and theses; public documents, and miscellaneous resource materials; and a topical list of dissertations and theses.
