Career Orientation and Preparation for Teen Parents Curriculum.

The Career Education and Training for Teen Parents Program at Kishwaukee College (Malta, Illinois) included a vocational orientation and preparation curriculum that focused on nontraditional occupations and local labor market trends. The class met three days a week for six weeks, with most class sessions including a field trip to a local job site. Field trips were planned to correspond to students' career interests, the job outlook for the area, and vocational programs at the college. In order to identify students' occupational interests, a career assessment instrument, the Self-Directed Search, was administered to each student. In addition, the course included activities focusing on values; aptitudes, abilities, and skills; self-esteem; assertiveness; decision making; goal setting; sex role stereotyping; nontraditional careers; career sense; and job resources. The bulk of the course description presents self-assessment instruments, course assignments, and forms used in the class. (AYC)

INTRODUCTION

In the fall of 1986, Kishwaukee College, Malta, Illinois, was granted funding to implement a model Career Education and Training for Teen Parents Program. The objectives of this program were two-fold: (1) to develop a comprehensive and inter-disciplinary program that addressed the multi-faceted education and employment issues affecting teen parents and (2) to establish a regional delivery system and community linkages that integrated training, education, and support services for teen parents.

One of the procedures implemented to accomplish these objectives was the development of a vocational orientation and preparation curriculum that focused on non-traditional occupations and local labor market trends. This curriculum was then tested in a vocational orientation class offered to Teen Parents Program participants.

Course Purpose: to provide a course in career orientation and preparation for teen parents which focuses on non-traditional occupations and reflects current labor market trends.

The term "career orientation" refers to a focus on exposure to different vocations. This was accomplished through field trips, videos, and speakers. The job site tours and speakers provided insight into the reality of the world of work, whereas the videos emphasized non-traditional careers.

Selection of the particular careers to be observed was determined by the following criteria:

1. Individual career interests of teen parents.
   The Self-Directed Search was administered to identify each participant's main occupational interest.

2. The job outlook for the northern Illinois area.
   Data was obtained from the Center for Governmental Studies at Northern Illinois University. Areas of growth in the present and for the future were identified.

3. Non-traditional occupations.
   Particular attention was devoted to those jobs that would offer women greater job opportunities and higher salaries.

4. Vocational programs offered at Kishwaukee College.
   The Teen Parents Program provided funding to enroll participants in vocational programs offered at the college.

Before writing the curriculum, time was devoted to researching the printed materials that were appropriate both to this subject matter (career orientation) and to the teen parent clientele. See the extensive reference list at the back of this curriculum for an idea of the amount of preparation that went into this curriculum. Rather than "re-invent the wheel," materials which were already developed and complementary to this program were adapted and inserted for utilization.
Course Objectives:

As a result of this course, teen parent participants will:

LEARN - Learn about themselves. Find out who they are and identify their interests and strengths.

GROW - Grow in maturity, toward adulthood.

FOCUS - Focus on non-traditional careers, and on career opportunities for today and in the future.

EXPAND - Expand the horizons. Explore the possible careers and educational programs that are available.

SHARE - Share with each other. Share experiences and common concerns as teen parents.

DEVELOP - Develop a sense of their future. Develop skills and a career sense to be a successful and independent adult.

DREAM - Dream dreams. Think big. Set goals. Plan steps and achieve their goals.

EVALUATE - Evaluate what is right for them. Where are they going? What do they want?

Others who implement this curriculum should consider it as an instrument to be used at the discretion of the instructor. Each topical lesson plan is independent and complete; the topics can be presented individually or in any order to meet specific student needs. Flexibility and adaptability are two key components in working with teen parents.
REVIEW OF THE INITIAL CLASS

The class met Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 3:00-5:00 p.m. for six weeks in the Spring of 1987. It was difficult to find a time compatible with everyone's schedule; some participants were in high school while others attended GED classes or community college classes and some also worked. Late afternoon was chosen for the pilot class in hopes of accommodating high school students, but we found out later that it still conflicted with some high school schedules.

The class was held at the Kishwaukee YMCA in DeKalb rather than at the college campus because the YMCA could provide both the classroom and child care facilities in one location. The classroom was provided free of charge, and the Teen Parents Program contracted with the regular YMCA babysitter for child care. This service was paid for by the Program and offered free of charge to teen parents.

A college van was leased and a van driver hired to provide transportation to those teen parents and their children without transportation since there is no public transportation system in this rural area. Without this service, many would not have been able to attend. In addition to providing transportation to and from the class, the van transported the class members and instructor to and from field trip sites.

A highlight to participants was the snack that was served at each class session. Socializing with other teen parents was also rated highly in their evaluation. They truly enjoyed sharing with others like themselves.

Weekly mailers were sent to the prospective students, followed up by phone calls to arrange for van rides to the classes. Complications frequently arose with their children and other family situations. Many of these problems were related to the fact that they are still maturing; they were characteristic of teenagers in general.

As can be seen on the sample of the class schedule enclosed in this curriculum, most days the class included a field trip. The first hour of the class was usually devoted to the trip, and then the second half of the class was spent discussing the field trip and reviewing teaching materials. In retrospect, it would have been better to plan sessions that were 2 ½ hours in length; some days we were pressed for time with the classroom activities when the field trip ran long. Also, meeting three afternoons each week proved to be too much; the recommendation would be to meet only two days per week over a nine-week period.
Class Participants

Diverse is a way to describe the initial class. Ages ranged from 15 to 20 years. Education varied from high school to dropouts to GED enrollees to community college students. Participants had from one to three children. Some were employed, some were on Public Aid; some lived with their parents while others lived on their own or with boyfriends. Three participants were male.

A total of sixteen individuals attended the pilot class, with one having perfect attendance. The one common element that participants shared, in addition to the fact that they were teen parents, was the desire to learn about careers and plan for their future.
The Career Education and Training for Teen Parents Program is now offering a

CAREER EXPLORATION CLASS

Do you dream of what you want to be?
Do you want to make a career for yourself?
Do you wish you could build your own future?
Do you say yes to any of these questions?

If so, here is a program for you! This is a class to explore many different jobs or careers, focusing on occupations that are available in the northern Illinois area. Particular attention will be devoted to non-traditional jobs that are expected to be in high demand.

The class will take field trips to various job sites and will tour Kishwaukee College to gain a better understanding of certain careers. Speakers will share their first hand knowledge of their careers.

CAREER AND JOB RESOURCE DAY

Where can you go to get help? get information? get training?

Sources of information ---

KDK, JTPA, Job Service are service agencies that can:
- provide job training
- pay for schooling
- help place you in jobs

Youth Service Bureau has a program called Second Chance that teaches job readiness skills.

City Library has information resources.

Kish College has GIS which is a career preparation resource.

All of these services are available to each one of you and the best thing: THEY ARE FREE!!!

I am planning a Career and Job Resource Day this summer. But I need your help!

Please select a time and a date that you could and would come---so that we can have a successful turnout to be able to have the workshop.

CHOICES:

ACTIVITY  Careers Study and Tours

OBJECTIVES
Students will gain a more realistic sense of the careers that interest them.

Students will focus on careers in which they are interested as a result of career assessment testing.

Students will observe various people at work in their careers and gain an understanding of each career's responsibilities.

Students will evaluate each career studied with their own interests and career assessment results.

Students will gain knowledge about the careers.

Students will develop a realistic awareness of job roles and responsibilities.

GENERALIZATIONS
Job site visitations help the students bridge the gap between the classroom and the reality of the world of work.

Choosing a career that correlates with one's interests, values, abilities and skills will enhance his/her happiness and success in the career.

PROCEDURE
- Discuss career clusters to be studied.
  List top 20 careers of today and tomorrow in Illinois.
  List occupation categories identified from the students' career assessment tests (Self-Directed Search by John L. Holland).
  List the vocational programs offered at Kishwaukee Community College.

- Questionnaire guidesheet.
  Prior to each tour, give every student a questionnaire sheet. Instruct the students to ask these questions plus additional ones, recording the information on the guide sheet.

- The students will compile a notebook of all of the completed questionnaires.

- Match Yourself handout.
  After each tour ask each student to evaluate this particular career for themselves.
- Class discussion:
  After each career tour, discuss the tour and the students' individual evaluations.
  Summarize and list aspects of the vocation; name the advantages and disadvantages.

- Ask each student to select a career of personal interest from the tour list.
  Have the students chart the approximate time and cost of the learning and training needed for their chosen career. Use the Kishwaukee Community College catalogue as a reference guide.

- Research the starting salaries and lifetime earning potential of the vocation.

- Identify the places where he/she could work in this career in this region. Be specific.
OVERVIEW

Field trips to job sites provide a real insight for the students. The excursions help them bridge the gap between classroom and the reality of the world of work. In selecting the particular tour sites, four criteria were assessed:

1) the individuals' career interests
2) the job outlook for this area
3) vocational programs offered at Kishwaukee College
4) non-traditional occupations

In order to identify the students' occupational interests, a career assessment was given to each individual. The Self-Directed Search, an instrument developed by John Holland, was administered. According to this assessment, all jobs are sorted into six occupational categories: realistic, artistic, social, clerical, investigative and enterprising. Secondly, evaluation of the job forecast for the nation, more specifically this region in northern Illinois was implemented in selecting the occupations for study. Thirdly, the vocational fields offered at Kishwaukee College were considered; since the teen parent program provides funding to enroll in such programs at Kishwaukee College. Lastly, non-traditional occupations were emphasized and the important reasons to consider such a job were discussed.

The compiled list of job sites afforded the students a broad scope of career possibilities among which they could contrast and compare to their own interests.

ACTIVITY

What Are Values?

OBJECTIVES
Students will identify their own values and determine the influence these values have on their lives. Students will assess the impact their parents have had in formulating their values.

GENERALIZATION
A value is any idea or quality that is important, desirable or prized.

PROCEDURE
- Discuss the meaning of values and acquaint the students as to how to identify a value. Encourage the students to name some of their values.

- Activity sheet: Value Survey, "Who Are You?"

- Values and vocations: Have the students decide upon the three values that would be most important in choosing a career. Cross out ones that would be of no importance to them. Discuss in what ways these values would affect choosing a career.

- Work value sheet: Discuss the results after the students have made their choices.

- Summary and evaluation of class.
VALUES

How to identify a value?

Values are those things that you think are important. A value is any idea or quality that is important, desirable, or prized.

Ask these questions to determine if something is a value:

Is it something you believe in?

Are you proud enough of the thing you value to tell your friends?

Did you consider other things when choosing your value?

Did you make your choice freely; no one forced you?

Do you act according to your value; do you practice what you preach?
VALUE SURVEY

Ranking your values. Rate these values in order of importance to you. Rank them from number 1 (most important) to number 15 (least important).

Study the list carefully. This ranking should reflect your beliefs and ideals.

___ Love
___ Happiness
___ Leisure
___ Self-Respect
___ Good Life (prosperous)
___ Faith
___ Friendship
___ Family
___ World Peace
___ Security
___ Success
___ Prestige (respect, importance)
___ Independence
___ Inner Peace
___ Leadership
VALUE SURVEY

Thoughts to ponder:

Did you have trouble selecting the top five values in this exercise?

Do you believe the values you selected are the same now as they were several years ago?

Of the values you picked, how many can be related directly to the career you would like to pursue?

Which of your important values are related indirectly to work?

Were there values in your family that were never really talked about openly?
VALUES AND VOCATIONS

Here are some things that people might value and want to consider in choosing a job. Circle the three values that would be most important to you in choosing a job, then put a line through those values that would not be important to you at all.

Helping other people

Being creative or artistic

Having a daily routine that doesn't change much

Earning a lot of money

Becoming famous

Working with people all the time

Being able to influence other people

Having job security

Being able to work when you want

Doing something that adds beauty to the world

Working outdoors

Finding adventure

Being able to learn new things

Being known as an intellectual person or a "thinker"

ACTIVITY Aptitudes, Abilities, and Skills

OBJECTIVES Students will list positive attributes (abilities) they possess.

Students will identify "work skills" that they have.

Students will assess the importance of their abilities, skills and aptitudes in choosing their careers.

GENERALIZATIONS Abilities can be defined as "What can I do?"

An aptitude is having a natural ability to learn.

Skills are identified as one's abilities, competencies, aptitudes and talents.

Skills are the essence of what you have to contribute to the world of work.

Values + interests + abilities + skills = career choice.

PROCEDURE

- Eye opener: "Things I'm Proud of---." Ask each student to draw one statement from "the hat". Each person will think of a response to the statement and share the response with the class. Encourage other students to add their responses.

- Recognizing your achievements worksheet: Distribute the worksheet. Ask the students to list several of their important achievements. Then have them rank them in order of importance. Discuss the variety of achievements.

- Exploring our strengths worksheet: Ask each student to identify her/his strengths and to underline the ones that are most descriptive of them.

- Assessing your abilities paper: Identify five skills and abilities of a job you would like and could do well.

- Discuss the categories of skills: Those with people, those with information/data, and those with things. Handout the worksheet: Skills, People, Information and Things! Request the
- Discuss as a class careers that need their particular skills. List these careers on poster board.
THINGS I'M PROUD OF---

Write each of the following questions or statements on a piece of paper. Place all papers in a container and have each student draw one. Have each student think of a response to his/her statement or question and share it with the class. Encourage other students to add additional responses.

What is something you are proud of that you can do on your own?

What is a new skill that you have learned recently?

What difficult task have you completed recently?

What is a family tradition that you are very proud of?

Describe something you have made with your own hands.

Describe a time when you made a good bargain.

What is a dangerous thing that you tried and at which you succeeded?

What is something that you have done to add to the beauty of this world?

How have you used your brain lately in a way that you are particularly proud of?

What problem have you dealt with successfully lately?

How have you reached out to someone recently?

What physical feat have you accomplished lately?

How have you shown responsibility and dependability lately?

Summarize with the class how things that we are proud of can suggest areas of career interest.
Recognizing Your Achievements

What do you think of when you think about your abilities (what you are able to do)? Your abilities are your strengths, your best skills. Your achievements are what you have actually done. A person may have the ability but has not done it, or achieved it. Usually abilities and achievements are in close relationship. Most of us like to do (achieve) what we are able to do (ability).

What are your achievements? Name some of the important ones. Rank them in order of importance; #1 being the greatest achievement.

ACTIVITY  Self-Esteem

OBJECTIVES  Students will learn the qualities of a healthy, positive self-image.

   Students will gain an awareness of the symptoms of low self-esteem.

   Students will assess their own self-images to determine if they have a positive self-image or have a lack of self-esteem.

   Students will identify their personal assets and their own limitations.

GENERALIZATIONS  Self-esteem is a feeling of self-worth developed from impressions, feelings, and self thoughts.

   A sense of self-esteem affects how one feels about himself, thinks, learns and creates, relates to others, and behaves.

PROCEDURE  - Eye opener: Quickly list ten words to describe yourself. Circle words that are positive qualities. Add up the positive words, add the negative ones. Which are greater? Does this surprise you? Choose one positive trait and share it with the group.

   - Define self-esteem: List characteristics of a healthy, positive self-image.

   - Self-esteem evaluation worksheet: Determine how "healthy" or lacking the individual's self-esteem is. Ask what the results indicate to themselves.

   - Personal assets/personal limitations worksheet: Ask students to list their main assets and then list their main limitations. Direct them to think of ways to take better advantage of their assets. Develop specific steps to overcome their limitations.

   - Are you a positive thinker? worksheet: Ask each student to complete a worksheet and follow up with discussion.
- Ten ways to improve self-esteem: List these on the poster chart and give the handout when completed.

- How well do you like yourself? worksheet: Each student will do an individual assessment.

- Summarize with characteristics of a person with good self-esteem.
CHARACTERISTICS OF HEALTHY SELF-IMAGE

1. Confident, ability to deal with problems.
2. Self respect; knows own values and supports them.
3. Does not dwell on the past nor worry about the future.
4. Sensitive to others' needs.
5. Feel equal to others as a person.
6. Capable of experiencing a wide range of feelings.
7. Enjoys a variety of activities.
8. Able to make decisions without feeling guilty.

SYMPTOMS OF LOW SELF-ESTEEM

1. Critical.
2. Overly sensitive, take every criticism personally.
3. Blaming others.
4. Afraid of competition.
5. Difficulty in developing relationships, no close friends.
6. Always has excuses, discourages easily.
7. Gossips.
SELF-ESTEEM EVALUATION

Score as follows (each score shows how true or the amount of time you believe that statement is true for you).

0 - Not at all true for me
1 - Somewhat true or true only part of the time
2 - Fairly true or true about half the time
3 - Mainly true or true most of the time
4 - True all the time

1. I don't feel anyone else is better than I am.
2. I am free of shame, blame and guilt.
3. I am a happy, carefree person.
4. I have no need to prove I am as good as or better than others.
5. I do not have a strong need for people to pay attention to me or like what I do.
6. Losing does not upset me or make me feel "less than" others.
7. I feel warm and friendly towards myself.
8. I do not feel others are better than I am because they can do things better, have more money, or are more popular.
9. I am at ease with strangers and make friends easily.
10. I speak up for my own ideas, likes and dislikes.
11. I am not hurt by others' opinions or attitudes.
12. I do not need praise to feel good about myself.
13. I feel good about others' good luck and winning.
14. I do not find fault with my family, friends or others.
15. I do not feel I must always please others.
16. I am open and honest and not afraid of letting people see my real self.
17. I am friendly, thoughtful and generous towards others.
18. I do not blame others for my problems and mistakes.
19. I enjoy being alone with myself.

20. I accept compliments and gifts without feeling uncomfortable or needing to give something in return.

21. I admit my mistakes and defeats without feeling ashamed or "less than".

22. I feel no need to defend what I think, say or do.

23. I do not brag about myself, what I have done, or what my family has or does.

24. I do not need others to agree with me or tell me I am right.

25. I do not feel "put down" when criticized by my friends or others.

SELF-ESTEEM SCORE (total of all scores)

A score of 75 or less indicates a lack of self-esteem; one that handicaps you and keeps you from being all that you can be. Low self-esteem keeps you from feeling good, especially from being loved and loving.

ARE YOU A POSITIVE THINKER?

To find out, answer these questions as honestly as possible using a scale of 1 through 5.

5 - always or almost always
4 - if it is usually
3 - for sometimes
2 - for rarely
1 - for never

1. When the unexpected forces you to change your plans, are you quick to spot a hidden advantage in this new situation?

2. When you catch a stranger staring at you, do you conclude it's because s/he finds you attractive?

3. Do you like most of the people you meet?

4. When you think about next year, do you tend to think you'll be better off than you are now?

5. Do you often stop to admire things of beauty?

6. When someone finds fault with you or something you've done, do you accept it as useful criticism or "sour grapes"?

7. Do you praise your best friend more often than you criticize him/her?

8. Are you surprised when a friend lets you down?

9. Do you believe the human race will survive into the 21st century?

10. Do you think of yourself as happy?

11. If a policeman stopped you for speeding when you were quite certain you weren't, would you firmly argue your case and even take it to court to prove you were right?

12. Do you feel comfortable making yourself the butt of your own jokes?

13. Do you believe that, overall, your state of mind has had a positive effect on your physical health?

14. If you made a list of your 10 favorite people, would you be on it?

15. Do you tend to remember your successes more than failures?

TOTAL SCORE 53
TEN WAYS OF IMPROVING SELF-ESTEEM

1. Accept yourself. Be realistic and honest, but do not exaggerate or minimize.

2. Be true to yourself. Don't compare yourself to others, just to your past history.

3. Appreciate and respect yourself. Identify your values and live up to them.

4. Stop blaming others. Look within yourself for what you want.

5. Expect to succeed. See yourself as attractive and able. Be constantly alert for self-improvement. Pat yourself on the back when you accomplish something.

6. Don't expect success every time. Don't worry about failure.

7. Don't try to change whole personality overnight. Set your goals.

8. Make decisions and choices. Accept the consequences.

9. Enjoy the world. Make it more cheerful. Start each day with: thanksgiving, hope and a smile.

10. Cultivate a sense of humor.

The way we feel about ourselves influences the way others feel about us; and what we do with our lives!

With good self-esteem we do better and achieve more!

Self-image tells you what you can do. Self-image tells you what you can't do. It controls your life--regardless, whether accurate or not.

The importance is not where you have been but where you want to be!
HOW WELL DO YOU LIKE YOURSELF?

Use the following scale to rate each statement:

3 = true all of the time
2 = true most of the time
1 = rarely true
0 = not true

___ I enjoy waking up in the morning.
___ I am usually in a good mood, day or night.
___ I like what I see in the mirror.
___ If I were a member of the opposite sex, I'd find me attractive.
___ I enjoy work.
___ I have plenty of the good things in life.
___ I am an optimistic person.
___ I am able to laugh at my mistakes.
___ There is very little about life I would change.
___ I feel I am an interesting person.
___ I like the direction of growth and change I have experienced.
___ I am kind and loving.
___ My friends value my opinion.
___ I never wished I were someone else.
___ I am not afraid to express feelings.
___ There are not many people I would trade places with in life.
___ I have an interesting and rewarding life.

ACTIVITY  Assertiveness

OBJECTIVES  Students will differentiate between being aggressive, passive, and assertive.

Students will evaluate their own behavior.

Students will assess the importance of responding assertively.

Students will gain an awareness of how to express one's thoughts and feelings, leading to communication.

GENERALIZATIONS  Aggressiveness is being emotionally honest; it involves putting others down, blaming or criticizing them. Deters communication.

Passive behavior is allowing others to make one's choices but resenting it.

Assertiveness means standing up for what we want or believe in without putting others down. Leads to positive communication.

PROCEDURES  - Eye opener: Poster with pictures from magazines illustrating these different ways of communication.

- Discuss the meanings of aggressive, passive, and assertive behavior. Give examples of each.

- Distribute assertiveness worksheet: "What Would You Do?" Distribute the worksheet. Ask each student to respond to each statement.

- Discerning between aggressive, passive, (non-assertive), and assertive behavior. Divide the class into small groups or pairs. Give each group a situation paper. Ask them to study the situation and choose the word that they feel best defines the behavior described. Have each group share with the class.

- Positive communication worksheet. Do this exercise as a group. Explain to the class what "I-statements" mean. Beginning a sentence with "I", one is better able to express one's feelings. Restructure the statements to "I-statements". Write them on poster board.
Questions to ask the class:

How would the two different kinds of statements make the listener feel?

Can you think of sometime you could have used an I-statement and had better communications?

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Assertiveness: Standing Up For Yourself Without Putting Others Down.

Cynthia was so glad school was over for the day. She had two tests that morning, and now she has looking forward to meeting her friends at the nearby fast-food restaurant. She had just enough money for a shake and french fries. She bought her food and went to sit with her friends. Just as she was about to start on her fries, Ritchie came up behind her and took one.

"Mmm, good fries," he said. "Can I have another?" Before she could answer, her friend Angela said, "Oh, can I have one too? I'm still so hungry," and took some before Cynthia could reply.

"Hey, Cynthia," said Jack. "If you sit here you have to share them with us." Jack proceeded to take several.

If you were Cynthia, what would you do? Check "yes" beside the answer you would probably give in this situation.

YES NO

1. Apologize to your friends for not sharing your french fries and let your friends eat all of them, while you think to yourself, "It's my fault for buying them. I'll just have to wait until later to have some."

2. Grab the fries and announce that you had a hard morning and that you are going to eat all of them yourself.

3. Silently pass the fries to your friends, then ignore them so they'll get the message that you're angry with them.

4. Explain to your friends that you had been looking forward to having these fries all morning and that you would be glad to share some with them as long as they leave enough for you.
SITUATION A

Your parents have just criticized your spouse/boyfriend/girlfriend. You feel the criticism is unjustified. You say:

1) Shut up! You're both so stupid and prejudiced.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

2) Well, I see what you mean.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

3) I feel your criticism is unfair. He/she is not like that at all.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

SITUATION B

A friend has just complimented you on your new suit. It's the first time you've worn it and you really like it. You say:

1) Thank you.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

2) This? It's nothing special.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

3) Well...I picked it up at a sale... well...
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

SITUATION C

1) You always pick movies I don't like. You only think about yourself. You're very selfish.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

2) I don't want to see that one. How about a movie over at the Plaza Theatre?
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive

3) Well, I don't know much about that movie. But, I guess, if you want to, we can see it.
   - assertive
   - nonassertive
   - aggressive
SITUATION D

You are returning a faulty item to the department store. You bought a shirt/blouse. When you took it home, you found a misweave in it. You do not want the item as it is. The clerk has just said no one will ever notice it. You say:

1) Well, I'd still like to return it or exchange it. I do not want this one.

2) Look, give me my money. I don't have all day for you to waste my time.

3) Well, are you sure no one will notice it?
RESPONSES TO SITUATION A

1) Aggressive, because you behave hostilely toward your parents and you call them a name (stupid).

2) Nonassertive, because you don't agree with what your parents said, but you imply you do (I see what you mean).

3) Assertive, because you express how you feel (I feel your criticism is unfair).

RESPONSES TO SITUATION B

1) Assertive, because you accept and acknowledge the compliment.

2) Nonassertive, because you do not accept the compliment. You say it's nothing special, although you know it's the first time you've worn it, and you really do like it.

3) Nonassertive, because you do not accept the compliment.

RESPONSES TO SITUATION C

1) Aggressive, because you attack your friend (you're very selfish) rather than saying, "I don't want to see that one" and then suggesting another one.

2) Assertive, because you express your opinion (I don't want to see that one) and make another suggestion.

3) Nonassertive, because you don't express your opinion. You say, "If you want to, we can see it," but you don't really want to see it.

RESPONSES TO SITUATION D

1) Assertive, because you tell the clerk exactly what you want. While acknowledging his point of view, you will still want to return or exchange the shirt.

2) Aggressive, because you accuse the clerk of wasting your time.

3) Nonassertive, because you do not want this faulty merchandise.

ACTIVITY  Decision Making

OBJECTIVES  Students will identify ways in which decisions are made.

- Students will identify the steps to follow in making responsible decisions.

GENERALIZATIONS  Decision making is the act of a person in choosing, selecting or deciding among several possibilities. It is a life-long process: "Using what you know to get what you want!"

PROCEDURE
- Eye opener: Use pictures of road signs. Discussion - what questions do these signs bring to mind? Questions like: Which way do I go? What roadblocks are ahead? Do I turn left or right?

- Brainstorming: How do people make decisions? List ideas on poster board. Evaluate the pluses and minuses of each method. Which is the best method?

- Decision making model handout. List the steps on poster board and set up an example as "buying a car".

- Career Decision Making Model handout. Have each student consider career choices for him/her.
WAYS IN WHICH WE MAKE DECISIONS

By impulse
By procrastinating, or "putting off" making a decision
By not deciding
By letting others make the decision for us
By evaluating all choices and then deciding

MODEL FOR DECISION MAKING

Step 1. Name the choices or alternatives involved in your decision.

Step 2. Gather information about the decision. (Consider your personal values, goals, and list what facts you need to know.)

Step 3. List the advantages and disadvantages of each choice.

COMMON DECISION MAKING MISTAKES

1. Procrastination: Deciding too slowly.

2. Impulsiveness: Deciding too fast.

3. Miscalculating Control.

4. Misinterpreting Information.

5. Unclear Values.

Decision making is: Using what you know to get what you want!

Knowing one's values is important to becoming a good decision maker!
CAREER DECISION MAKING MODEL

Distribute the career decision making model.

Have the student write his/her career question in center. (What job is right for me?)

On lines radiating from center, ask student to list all possible choices of jobs.

Then in spaces under considerations, the student lists the factors that will influence his/her decision.

For example:

-- work with people
-- high salary
-- job located in this area

Rank order these considerations from 1 thru 8, 1 being most important.

Now, begin with the #1 consideration and go around the spokes putting a #1 under each choice that meets that consideration. Continue on thru #8. The career choices that include the most numbers are the best careers to consider.

As a result of this activity each student should have a first, second, and third choice of career that he/she could choose to pursue.
CAREER DECISION MAKING MODEL

Distribute the career decision making model.

Have the student write his/her career question at the top.
(What job is right for me?)

On lines in box A ask students to list all possible choices of jobs.

Then in spaces in box B, the student lists the factors that will influence his/her decision.

For example:

---work with people
---high salary
---job located in this area

Rank these considerations, 1 being most important.

With a different colored pencil for each job choice, draw a line from the job to each of the values that it supports.

The career choices that connect to the most values are the best careers to consider.

As a result of this activity each student should have a first, second, and third choice of career that s/he could choose to pursue.
What job is right for me?

According to the greatest number of values connected to a career choice:

First Choice Career

Second Choice Career

Third Choice Career
ACTIVITY  Goal Setting

OBJECTIVES  Students will discuss the importance of setting goals.

Students will write realistic goals, short term and long term ones for themselves.

Students will prioritize their goals.

GENERALIZATION  Goals are destinations, targets you're aiming at.

PROCEDURE  - Eye opener: If you don't know where you are going, you probably won't get there.

Briefly, discuss what this means.

- Define the meaning of goals.

Discuss kinds of goals - long term, short term.

Identify barriers.

- Develop individual life line/time line.

Note special dates or events in your life, plotting where you want to be in your life the next ten years.

- Personal and family goal sheet.

Distribute individual goal sheets, where each student will develop 1 short term and 1 long term goal for personal and 1 of each for family.

- Each individual writes a short term goal contract.

Identify a particular short term goal.

Develop 3 steps to achieve the goal.

- Read the poem "Dreaming" by Othello Bach from Lilly, Willy and the Mail-order Witch.
INDIVIDUAL LIFELINE

In the frame below draw your lifeline. Begin with your birth and continue through your life up to this point in time. Highlight key events that have happened in your life, indicating what they are and at what age. Consider memorable events, meaningful experiences and important decisions that have shaped your lifeline.
My goals for my family and me.

Write one short term goal and one long term goal for yourself. Then write one short term goal and one long term goal for your family. Plan the steps, completion dates and starting times for the goals.

SHORT TERMS GOALS: MY CONTRACT

I, __________________________, being of healthy mind and body, do hereby declare my intention to achieve the following short term goal on or before _____________________.

My goal is to:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

To achieve my goal, I will complete the following specific steps:

1. __________________________________________
   _______________________________________________________________________

2. __________________________________________

Everyone dreams both day and night; They dream with eyes open and eyes shut tight; They dream of the things they want to be; They dream--and dream--and dream!

Chorus:

Oh, dreaming! Dreaming! Both night and day, Of things we want to go our way! Dreaming of what we want to be-- Dreaming makes reality!

Now, dreams are something wonderful, And you always want to have one; They make your day in every way Just seem to come out right; But now if you should lose one, Or should simply fail to choose one, The things you want will Take a harder fight--take a harder fight!

Chorus:

Some folks have terrific dreams, But then they just forget them, 'Cause someone else has told them That it was a silly dream! Well, this is really sad because There is no dream that's silly; A dream is always such A precious thing--such a precious thing!

Chorus:

So if you have a favorite dream, You never want to lose it, 'Cause someone else with your same dream Will always see it through; And when you are old and gray, You'll wish that you'd stick to it! So you must dream to make your Dreams come true--make your dreams come true!

So dream fantastic dreams, 'Cause dreaming always seems To become reality! So dream!

Activity
Sex Role Stereotyping

OBJECTIVES
- Students will examine stereotyped expectations that American society traditionally places on women and men.
- Students will become aware of their own sex role expectations of themselves as well as other people's.
- Students will examine sources of stereotyped images of females and males, such as television programs and advertisements.
- Students will identify the benefits to be gained by males and females by eliminating stereotypes.

GENERALIZATION
Sex role stereotyping means to expect someone to act a certain way because of his or her sex.

PROCEDURE
- Eye opener: "Who is on the job?"
  - Distribute worksheet. Ask each student to quickly sketch their image of a person for each of the 4 occupations.
  - Discuss how many students pictured each of the jobs as a woman's or a man's.
- Brainstorming: The class will brainstorm for adjectives to describe first the ideal woman and then second the ideal man. Then ask the students to compare the descriptions. Ask the class to examine their own stereotypical expectations of themselves. Also, consider our society's stereotyping.
- Examine sex role stereotyping in advertisements.
  - Divide class into pairs. Ask each group to collect 5 ads from magazines which portray women at work. Each group will then describe the images of a working woman.
  - List their statements on poster board; then ask the students to describe the realities of women and work.
  - Example: Ad shows woman as a business executive, well dressed in a business suit. Reality shows few women in this position; those that are usually earn less than men.
- Visual Aid: How has sex role stereotyping affected my life?
Review the statements on the visual; include others the students offer. Discuss how sex role stereotyping has affected their lives.

- Discuss how stereotyping can hinder a person in his/her career goals.

- Summarize with the class on the benefits the students can gain by eliminating stereotypes.

- Read quote: "Stereotypes give neither young women nor young men support for exploring and preparing for those careers that are non-traditional." (WINC).
"Who Is On The Job?"

Quickly sketch in each square a picture of the person performing the particular occupation:

TO STEREOTYPE BY SEX MEANS TO EXPECT SOMEONE TO ACT A CERTAIN WAY BECAUSE OF HIS OR HER SEX. THIS IS CALLED SEX ROLE STEREOTYPING.

SOME EXAMPLES ARE:

TO EXPECT ALL BOYS TO BE GOOD ATHLETES

TO EXPECT BOYS AND MEN NOT TO CRY

TO EXPECT WOMEN TO NOT NEED OR WANT TO BE WAGE EARNERS

TO EXPECT GIRLS AND WOMEN TO BE WEAK

HOW HAS SEX ROLE STEREOTYPING AFFECTED MY LIFE?
ACTIVITY

Non-Traditional Occupations

OBJECTIVES

Students will define an occupation in terms of traditional/non-traditional occupations.

Students will become aware of non-traditional careers and learn to consider the career rather than stereotyped jobs.

Students will identify the barriers that can arise in choosing or succeeding in non-traditional employment.

GENERALIZATION

A non-traditional occupation is one which is held by members of the sex not traditionally associated with that occupation.

PROCEDURE

- Eye opener: Show the class the cartoon on non-traditional jobs.
  Discussions: What does this cartoon mean? What is it saying to you?

- Define non-traditional occupations. An occupation is traditional or non-traditional on basis of the sex of the worker. Request students to give examples of traditional and non-traditional careers.

- Traditional/non-traditional paper.
  Define traditional/non-traditional. Examples of occupations for each category. Ask students to list people and their occupations that they know as non-traditional workers or that we observed on the career tours.

- Show picture of "Exploring a Non-Traditional Job Will Help You". Discuss this.

- Distribute lists (a) non-traditional for women; b) non-traditional for men.

- Discuss advantages of non-traditional jobs.

- Discuss and list difficulties in working in non-traditional occupations.

- Key Facts on Women's Status in the Work Force. Distribute and discuss.

- Chart showing percentage of women working the main "b fields."
"When I said, 'Go ahead, start a new career,' I had no idea you'd go after my job!"
TRADITIONAL/NON-TRADITIONAL OCCUPATIONS
WHAT ARE THEY?

A. Traditional Occupations:

Are ones which have been typically held by or associated with members of one sex.
Examples:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Women</th>
<th>Men</th>
</tr>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>sales clerk</td>
<td>business manager</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>housekeeper</td>
<td>administrator</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>flight attendant</td>
<td>auto mechanic</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B. Non-Traditional Occupations:

Are ones which are held by members of the sex not traditionally associated with that occupation.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Women</th>
<th>Men</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>airline pilot</td>
<td>homemaker</td>
</tr>

<td>librarian</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>police officer</td>
<td>clerical worker</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>cabinet maker</td>
<td>day-care teacher</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

C. Identifying Non-Traditional Occupations:

Think of people you know and identify their occupations. Are any of them non-traditional? Review the jobs observed on the career tours; can you name ones that were non-traditional? In the space below, list the actual people and their occupations you know and ones that you viewed on the tours.

Non-traditional jobs offer a variety of advantages. Some of the major rewards include the following:

Salary: Non-traditional jobs often afford the opportunity for better pay for women. There is a better chance of getting a better-paying job with more jobs to choose from. Jobs traditionally held by men do pay better wages. Men working in jobs which are non-traditional for them often earn more than women who work in those fields.

Advancement Opportunities: Non-traditional jobs, especially those in the apprenticeable trades, usually have more steps for advancement. For example, in construction work, a worker can move from apprentice to journeyworker, to supervisor, to superintendent, etc.

Benefits: In non-traditional jobs which are unionized, the wages are usually higher; various fringe benefits and job protections may be included.

Satisfaction, Confidence, Pride: The greater the range of experience a job offers, the more options it makes available, the greater the chances for self-satisfaction.

Education, Training: Most non-traditional jobs require specialized skills, which are usually compensated according to the amount of training or education.

Work Hours: Many non-traditional jobs in the skilled trades have potential overtime pay. Also, these jobs often provide a greater variety of schedules or shifts to choose from.
BARRIERS TO NON-TRADITIONAL CAREERS

Barriers to entering a non-traditional field and succeeding in the occupation.

Two kinds of barriers: internal and external

Internal

Sex stereotyping
Lack of self confidence
Age
Feminity

External

Finances
Child care
Transportation
Vocational/academic preparation
Harassment, isolation, discrimination
Hard work, long hours
Supervisor and/or co-workers lack training in helping work group adjust

Contributors to Success

Family and friends support
Strong self-image
Inner strength
Sense of humor
Patience
KEY FACTS ON WOMEN'S STATUS IN THE WORK FORCE

1. More women in the United States are jobholders or jobseekers than ever before in history. By 1990 it is expected that nearly 60% will be in the work force.

2. Women are rapidly increasing their population of the total work force. By the year 2000 it is expected that the proportion of men and women in the work force will be equal.

3. The average length of time that women work for pay is increasing. Ninety percent of women will work during their adult years. The average woman had a paid worklife of 25 years.

4. Women tend to be concentrated in a few occupational categories that are traditional for women—most of which are low paying. (35% and in clerical and 21% are in service).

5. Women are likely to earn less than men, even when they are employed in the same occupations. As of 1977 the fully employed women earned 58.9 percent of men similarly employed.

Choices and Challenges. 1979.
WHERE WOMEN ARE EMPLOYED
Share of all women working

- Clerical workers: 35%
- Schoolteachers: 21%
- Service workers: 15%
- Blue-collar workers: 10%
- Managers, administrators: 6%
- Sales workers: 7%
- Farm workers: 1%
- Professionals: 6%

U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT, Jan. 15, 1979
ACTIVITY Career Sense

OBJECTIVES

Students will become aware of how their interests relate to occupational choices.

Students will correlate how their values relate to their career choices.

Students will examine the influencing factors in their choices of careers.

Students will define the concepts of a job, a career and occupation.

GENERALIZATIONS

A career means a vocation including avocation, hobbies and interests.

A job is defined as various tasks done at different times, usually for pay. Can be short-term.

An occupation is a vocation, a category of work, usually a job that one has trained for and will be long-term. It may have several jobs related to it.

PROCEDURE

- Eye opener: What is Work?
  Brainstorming: Ask the students to complete the statement "Work is _______. List the words on the poster board.

- Define jobs, careers and vocations.

- Play the shipwreck game worksheet.
  Give one to each student to complete.

- Occupations for personality types worksheet.
  Name several jobs for each of 6 categories.
  Select first, second, and third choices of islands (personality types) and 2 individual choices of occupations for each island.

- Six personality types worksheet.
  Discuss the characteristics of each of the 6 personality types. Discuss the student's choices that they feel describe themselves.
  As a class match the job with the personality.

- Vocational Experience Inventory.
  Each student will complete the assessment of his/her working experience and knowledge.
Discuss how these experiences have shaped their perceptions of the working world. Can also address sex-role stereotyping (women--babysit; men--yardwork).

- Life styles worksheet.
  Disperse to each student to complete.
  Discuss: Your life style will be determined largely by the job that earns your living. To be happy, must be happy and satisfied with your job. Need to find a career that has the qualities that make you happy.

- Individual lifeline worksheet.
  Request each student to develop one.

- 5 major influences in making career plans paper.
  Discuss: What influences your choice of a career? List the factors on poster board.

- Summarize.
WHAT TYPES OF PEOPLE DO I MOST ENJOY BEING WITH?

THE ISLAND GAME

This exercise takes some imagination. You are about to be stranded on a desert island. You have your choice as to the island on which you will be stranded. Each island has a different type of people on it. There are 6 islands - R, I, A, S, E and C. Please read below, the description of the people on each of the islands, and write in the space provided the type of person with which you would prefer to be stranded.

R
People here prefer to work with objects, things, machines, tools; have mechanical ability, prefer plants, animals and being outdoors, working with their hands.

I
People here are interested in science, logic, they like to analyze, evaluate and solve problems; they like learning and understanding the causes of events.

A
People here are artistic; they like change, using imagination and creativity; using their feelings and intuitions; they like working in jobs where they are free to set their own schedules and work creatively.

E
People here like to manage others; they like to influence, persuade or lead people; they like working on a team toward goals, competition and business-like activities.

S
People here like to work with other people, to teach; help, develop or cure people; these people are good with words.

C
People here prefer to work with objects, data, numbers; have math ability; like to do things in detail; follow instructions; have clerical ability.
Choose the island on which you would prefer to be stranded. Write the name of that island here, (the letter in the circle).

Imagine that the island you are now stranded on is hit by a hurricane and you are the only survivor. A small boat has been washed ashore by the hurricane. You can move to another island. Pick the next island which you would prefer, by the type of people on the island. Write it here.

Imagine that the second island you chose to move to has been destroyed by a volcano. Pick your next choice for the type of people you would prefer to be with. Name that island here.

The three islands you have chosen really describe the kinds of people you prefer being with and the kind of person you are.

R --- Realistic people
I --- Investigative people
A --- Artistic people
S --- Social people
E --- Enterprizing people
C --- Clerical people

FIVE MAJOR INFLUENCES IN MAKING CAREER PLANS

1. EXPERIENCES
   at home, school, and work

2. INTERESTS
   Your hobbies, leisure activities

3. ROLE MODELS
   persons you want to imitate

4. FRIENDS & RELATIVES
   their ideas and opinions

5. KNOWLEDGE OF CAREER OPTIONS

Source: Influencing factors adapted from a study: Secondary Students' Views on Occupational Sex Stereotyping, Indiana University, Bloomington, 1977.
FACTORS THAT INFLUENCE CAREER CHOICE

Five major factors are involved.

1. Experiences --- The courses you take in school, work -- part-time, summer jobs, and full-time jobs, and your home life experiences.

2. Interests --- Personal interests, hobbies and leisure-time activities.

3. Role Models --- Persons you admire and would like to be like, persons you know or just know about.

4. Friends and Relatives --- Ideas, acceptance, rejection, support, and concern for you by others. Important to be sure your choices are what you want.

5. Knowledge of Career options --- Awareness of job opportunities, skills required, working conditions and responsibilities, earnings and advancement opportunities.
ACTIVITY

Career and Job Resources

OBJECTIVES

Students will identify career information resources in their community.

Students will develop a reference list of career and job resource centers in their community.

Students will be oriented to the use of the Career Resource Center at Kishwaukee College.

GENERALIZATIONS

The career decision making process is an on-going, lifetime task involving vocational choices, training and retraining, schooling and job changes.

There are several career and job resource centers available in the community to assist with schooling, training and retraining and job placement.

PROCEDURE

- Eye opener: Thought questions. Ask students to answer these questions: Where can I go for career guidance? Where can I find help in getting a job?

- Field trip to Kishwaukee Community College to the Guidance Center. The counselor will introduce and explain the GIS (Guidance Information System) to the students. How to operate the system to gather pertinent information will be demonstrated. Then the counselor will explain how to disseminate and utilize the given information.

- Field trip to the community library to learn of the career preparation resources that are available.

- Tour to the KDK and JTPA offices. One of the counselors will explain to the students the meaning of KDK and JTPA, the services these offices offer and how they can be of assistance to these student.

- Speaker: A counselor from Illinois Job Service will speak to the class and address the employment situation of the community, explain their services and how they can benefit the students.
