This learning module is one of a series that teaches the competencies of "Job Search Skills," part of the "Work Skills" package—a set of competency-based instructional materials written for low-level readers that prepares students with specific job search and job keeping skills. ("Work Skills" is part of the "Connections" package, which represents a synthesis of significant work on education and employment and presents a coordinated set of resources to assist school administrators, counselors, teachers, and employers in helping students in their school and work transitions.) The following tasks are covered in a series of operational units: maintaining regular attendance (being punctual and dependable), being thorough and diligent (completing tasks willingly and on time, being persistent and persevering, and maintaining professional knowledge), and following safety practices (identifying and following general safety rules, operating equipment safely, and identifying and demonstrating first aid techniques). Each operational unit contains some or all of the following: a competency statement, a task statement, a unit title, a performance objective, steps entailed in completing the performance objective, and one or more information sheets. Introduction

The Work Maturity Skills training program is designed to help you develop the skills you need to keep a job. These skills, which are called work maturity skills, are skills that relate to a worker's behavior on the job. They are as important as job skills. They enable workers to function in a job setting.

Why Do You Need Work Maturity Skills?
All workers interact with other people—their bosses and co-workers, their customers and suppliers, mail workers, telephone operators, and many others. Even people who work alone interact with at least one other person. Therefore, workers must know how to get along with others.

Work maturity skills have a lot to do with relationships with others. Think about your—

- appearance,
- ability to accept responsibility,
- method of communicating,
- work attitudes,
- ability to cooperate with others, and
- work habits.

All these factors affect interpersonal relationships.

Another part of work maturity is doing a good job. There are special attitudes, habits, and practices that enable people to do their work well... to be productive. Some of these are—
• being dependable,
• accepting new ways of doing things,
• maintaining confidentiality,
• being punctual,
• using good communication,
• managing responsibilities,
• completing tasks willingly and on time,
• operating equipment safely, and
• dealing with frustration.

All of these factors affect quality of work.

Do you know the main reason people lose their jobs? It is not because they lack job skills. It is because they cannot get along with others and do a good job. They lack work maturity skills.

Can you understand why people need skills in these areas? These skills affect how people see you . . . and feel about you. They affect how you do your job. They may determine whether or not you keep your job.

Once you learn these work maturity skills, you will be able to function in many kinds of jobs. That is true because these skills are transferable. That is, they can be transferred (taken) from one job to another. These are valuable skills to have in our changing society. They are skills that will keep you employable.

What Is So Special about the Work Maturity Skills Program?
The Work Maturity Skills training program follows a special course of instruction. It is called individualized competency-based instruction.

Individualized Competency-Based Instruction

That is a long title!
• Individualized means it is designed for you and your needs.
• Competency-based instruction means the instruction is based on (built around) competencies or sets of skills.
Individualized competency-based instruction is special. It allows you to work on skills you need . . . not the ones you already have. For example, do you arrive on time for classes? Meetings? Work? Yes? Then you do not have to develop this competency. You already have it. You can spend your time on competencies you need.

There is another advantage to an individualized program. You can progress at your own pace. You may find that some skills are easy for you. They will require little time to develop. Other skills may be especially difficult. Developing those skills will require more time. You can determine the time you spend on each skill. You can set the pace.

What Are the Competencies Required for Work Maturity?

Employers have identified seven main sets of skills or competencies they want their workers to have. These competencies are:

1.0 Present a Positive Image
2.0 Exhibit Positive Work Attitudes
3.0 Practice Good Work Habits
4.0 Practice Ethical Behavior
5.0 Communicate Effectively
6.0 Accept Responsibility
7.0 Cooperate with Others

How Is This Individualized Program Built around These Competencies?

Instructions for developing each of the seven work maturity competencies are in seven separate modules. This module contains instruction for Competency 3.0: Practice Good Work Habits.

Look at the outline that follows: Find the competency statement. It is listed by whole number. Example:

3.0: Practice Good Work Habits
3.0: Practice Good Work Habits

3.01: Maintain Regular Attendance
   3.01A: Be Punctual
   3.01B: Be Dependable

3.02: Be Thorough and Diligent
   3.02A: Complete Tasks Willingly and on Time
   3.02B: Be Persistent and Persevering
   3.02C: Maintain Professional Knowledge

3.03: Follow Safety Practices
   3.03A: Identify and Follow General Safety Rules
   3.03B: Operate Equipment Safely
   3.03C: Identify and Demonstrate First Aid Techniques

Each competency is broken down into tasks. These tasks are parts of competencies. They are the tasks you must do to develop the competencies. The tasks are numbered with decimals. Example:

3.01: Maintain Regular Attendance
3.02: Be Thorough and Diligent

Each task is broken down into operational units. Operational units are units of work. They are parts of tasks. The operational unit to each task is designated by letter. Example:

3.01A: Be Punctual
3.01B: Be Dependable
Read through the outline. Get to know the content areas.

How Should I Begin?
First, learn how the module is organized. Turn to the first operational unit. Each operational unit is titled in this way:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Competency 3.0:</th>
<th>Practice Good Work Habits</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Task 3.01:</td>
<td>Maintain Regular Attendance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Operational Unit 3.01A:</td>
<td>Be Punctual</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Next is the performance objective. This objective is a statement. It describes—

- the conditions under which you begin your performance:

  Given a time to report to work

- the job-related performance expected of you:

  you will be able to be on time

- and the standards of performance:

  100% of the time

Next are the steps you will follow to do the unit of work. Example:

Step 1. Find out the time you must report to work.

And following are the procedures you will follow to do the steps. Example:

a. Talk with your instructor. (Talk with your supervisor too, if you are employed.) Ask for the time you are to report to work.
b. Write the hours on Worksheet 3.01A. Note if they are different each day.
The information sheets for this module are included. Get worksheets and evaluation checklists from your instructor. Keep your completed worksheets and other pages. You will refer to them throughout the program.

After you complete all the procedures and steps, stop. This is the time you must decide if you are in doubt about any part of the unit. If so, you must seek help from your instructor and repeat the unit.

If you feel you have satisfactorily completed the unit, rate yourself on the evaluation checklist. (The evaluation checklist is at the end of the unit.) Then see your instructor. Give him or her your completed worksheet and the evaluation checklist. Your instructor will check your work and rate you on the checklist. Then you will begin another operational unit.

Now, read the evaluation checklists in the operational units. Can you perform any of the skills? If so, see your instructor. Demonstrate the skill required. Ask the instructor to evaluate you. There is no need to work on competencies you already have.

Then, begin to work on a competency you need.

Good luck! Enjoy the Work Maturity Skills training program.
Task 3.01
Maintain
Regular Attendance
Competency 3.0: Practice Good Work Habits
Task 3.01: Maintain Regular Attendance
Operational Unit 3.01A: Be Punctual
Performance Objective: Given a time to report to work, you will be able to be on time 100% of the time.

Step 1. Find out the time you must report to work.

a. Talk with your instructor. (Talk with your supervisor, boss, if you are employed.) Ask for the time you are to report to work. Try to report to work at least 15 minutes before the scheduled starting time.
b. Write the hours on Worksheet 3.01A. Note if they are different each day.
c. Post a copy of your schedule in your bedroom. Check it before you set your alarm each night.

Step 2. Make arrangements for children or other people who depend upon your care.

a. Find a responsible person or agency to care for any children, elderly parents, and so forth.
b. Set a time for the child or adult to arrive at the care site. Or set a time for the care person to arrive at your home.

Step 3. Make arrangements for transportation.

a. Find one type of transportation you can use (for example, car, bus, or train). Record it on Worksheet 3.01A.
b. Find another type of transportation you might use. Sometimes the first choice is not possible. (For example, your car may not start.) Record the name on Worksheet 3.01A.
c. Get any facts or items you need. (For example, get a bus schedule, facts about where the bus stops, or a train schedule.)
d. If you share a car with other people, find out when you can use it.

Step 4. Determine the amount of time you need to travel by car.

a. Find out the amount of time it takes to get to work. Find this for each type of transportation you chose. Add time for parking. Add ten extra minutes so you can arrive early. Record these facts on Worksheet 3.01A.
b. Add time for unexpected delays, such as snow or heavy traffic. Record this time on the worksheet.
c. Add time if you must drive to a child care or adult care site. Record this time on the worksheet.
d. Find the total time. Add the numbers you wrote on sheet 3.01A.
e. Find your departure time. Subtract your total travel time from the starting time. Write this time under Departure on the worksheet. This is the time you must leave for work.

Step 5. Determine the time you need to travel by bus or train.

a. Look at the amount of time you need for transportation. Look at Worksheet 3.01A.
b. Find out which bus or train will get you to work on time. (Allow ten extra minutes so you can arrive early.) Check the bus or train schedules. Record this time on Worksheet 3.01A under Schedule.
c. Allow extra time if you must walk or drive to a bus or train stop. Record under Extra Time.
d. Record your departure time on the worksheet. Subtract Extra Time from Schedule time. This is the time you must leave for work. Write this time on the worksheet.

Step 6. Call your supervisor if you are delayed.

a. Telephone your supervisor (or instructor) if you think you will be late.
b. Explain the problem.
c. State when you will arrive.
d. Avoid being late in the future. Plan ahead so it will not happen again. Employers are not happy with workers who are often late for work.

Step 7. Arrive at work on time.

a. Record the time you report to work each day. Write the time you get to this training program. Write the time you get to your job if you have one.
b. Correct any problems that cause you to be late.

Now...
Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, rate yourself on the evaluation checklist. Then, take your worksheet and evaluation checklist to the instructor for evaluation. Your instructor will observe your punctuality during this training program and rate you. He or she will contact you if you are not punctual for this program.
Competency 3.0: Practice Good Work Habits
Task 3.01: Maintain Regular Attendance
Operational Unit 3.01B: Be Dependable
Performance Objective: Given a work environment, you will be able to exhibit dependable behavior to the satisfaction of the instructor.

Step 1. Be ready to work at the starting time.
   a. If you need extra time after arrival, plan for it. Arrive early.
   b. Avoid visiting with other workers. Wait until lunch time or rest break.

Step 2. Be absent only for valid reasons.
   a. Find out reasons for which you may be absent. Your illness? Death in the family? Paternity or maternity leave? Doctor appointments?
   b. Find out company rules about absences. Find out rules about absences from this training program.
   c. When you have been absent, present an acceptable excuse as soon as you return to work.

Step 3. Let other workers know when you leave your work station.
   a. Tell your instructor, secretary, or a co-worker where you can be reached.
   b. Tell appropriate personnel when you will return.
Step 4. Get permission ahead of time for late arrival.

   a. If you know you will be late some morning, plan ahead. Get permission from your instructor or supervisor ahead of time.
   b. Explain your reasons for arriving late. Don't plan to arrive late often.

Step 5. Take breaks only at approved times.

   a. Do not leave your work area early for lunch or rest breaks.
   b. Take only the amount of time allotted. Return to your work area at the specified time. Do this even if other employees don't.

Now . . .
Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, rate yourself on the evaluation checklist. Then ask your instructor to observe your behavior, rate you, and advise you if necessary.

After the instructor verifies each item on the checklist, begin the first unit for the next task in this module.
Task 3.02
Be Thorough and Diligent
Competency 3.0: Practice Good Work Habits
Task 3.02: Be Thorough and Diligent Operational Unit 3.02A: Complete Tasks Willingly and on Time

Performance Objective: Given a list of tasks, you will be able to organize and perform tasks so that they are completed on time to the satisfaction of the instructor.

Step 1. Set goals and objectives.

a. Find out and list current tasks. Talk with your supervisor or instructor or both. Write your list on Part 1 of Worksheet 3.02A.
b. Make a list of your goals and objectives for each task you must do:
   - Goals: What you want to do.
   - Objectives: How you will do it.
Ask your supervisor or instructor for help if necessary.

Step 2. Set priorities.

a. Ask your supervisor or instructor to tell you your deadlines. List them on the worksheet.
b. Determine the order in which tasks should be done. If confused, ask your supervisor or instructor. Make sure you know his or her wishes.
c. Number the tasks on your worksheet. Use No. 1 for the task you must do first.

Step 3. Manage time and resources effectively.

a. Plan how much time it will take you to do each task.
b. Find out if there are better or faster ways to complete the tasks. Talk with your supervisor, instructor, or other workers.

c. Do you foresee any problems? Discuss them with your supervisor or instructor. Do this immediately! It is important to plan ahead! For example:

John has three days to type a lengthy report. The report has lots of charts. John thinks it will take five days to type the report. That is two days more than he has. So, John talks with his supervisor. Together they decide the following:

1. John will type everything but the charts.
2. Another typist will type the charts.

Knowing about problems early makes it easier to solve them. In this case, the supervisor had time to act. He could find another person to type the charts. If John had not spoken up, the report would have been late.

Step 4. Work under pressure when necessary.

a. Find ways to relax tensions. Read Part A of Information Sheet 3.02A.

b. Find ways to renew energy. Read Part B of Information Sheet 3.02A.

c. List four steps each you might take to relax tensions and renew energy. Write your list on Part 2 of Worksheet 3.02A.

d. Follow these steps when you are under pressure to complete a task.

Now...

Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, rate yourself on the evaluation checklist. Then take your worksheet and evaluation checklist to the instructor. Your instructor will check your answers, observe your behavior, rate you, and advise you if necessary.

After the instructor verifies each item on the checklist, begin another unit.
Part A
Stress is common to many jobs. When people are under stress, they feel tense. There are several ways to relieve the tension caused by stress. Some are listed below.

Exercise:
Exercise can relax tightened muscles. It can provide a mental break from problems. For example, a person who is playing tennis is thinking about the game...not work. He or she is relaxing tightened muscles by using them.

Express feelings:
Don't keep your feelings hidden. Admit them. Say, "I'm so frustrated!" But express your feelings in a nice way. Don't hurt the feelings of other people.

Meditate:
Sit in a quiet place. Sit on a chair with feet on the floor. Relax. Let your mind wander to pleasant thoughts. Think of a peaceful, relaxing scene. Imagine yourself in that scene. For example, think of sitting alongside a peaceful stream. Imagine the quiet. Picture the sunbeams coming through the trees.

Part B
There are several things you can do to renew energy during the work day:

- Eat a high-protein snack. A hard-boiled egg or a piece of cheese will provide the fuel your body needs to get it going again. The natural sugar in fruit provides another pick-me-up.

- Exercise. Take a brisk walk during lunch. Take the stairs instead of the elevator to reach another floor. Follow a regular physical fitness program.

- Stretch. Relieve tired or tense muscles. Stretch to reach a shelf. Bend to pick up a book or some papers.

- Develop interests. Do things you enjoy. Talk about them. People who are enjoying life have more energy.

Read about other habits that promote physical fitness and increase energy level. Read Operational Unit 1.02B.

d. Check off each task item as you do it.

Step 2. Use slack time productively.

   • review operational units,
   • do more units,
   • organize your tool box, or
   • catch up on filing.
b. Check off each extra task as you do it.

Step 4. Attend staff development programs.

a. Note when special programs are given at your work or school.
b. Ask your supervisor or instructor for permission to attend
c. Attend the programs. Take notes.
d. Keep the notes in a special file. Make sure you can find them if or when you need them.

Now...
Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, rate yourself on the valuation checklist. Then take your worksheet and evaluation checklist to the instructor. Your instructor will check your answers, observe your behavior, rate you, and advise you if necessary.

After the instructor verifies each item on the checklist, begin the first unit for the next task in this module.

b. Find the hazard in each picture.
c. List the hazard under the picture.

Complete Part 3 of the worksheet.

Now . . .
Are you in doubt about any part of the unit? If so, seek help from your instructor. Repeat the entire unit.

Do you feel that you have satisfactorily completed this unit? If so, rate yourself on the evaluation checklist. Then take your worksheet and evaluation checklist to the instructor. Your instructor will check your answers, observe your behavior, rate you, and advise you if necessary.

After the instructor verifies each item on the checklist, begin another unit.
Safety is based on knowledge and skill. Workers must know about the safest ways to perform work. They must practice working carefully. They must follow rules.

But there is one more thing that is important. It is attitude! Workers must believe in the importance of safety. They must be willing to give time and effort to find the safest ways to do their work.

Following are some rules for you to think about. Read them. Think about how they fit into the work you do or want to do.

Part A: Work Attire

2. Wear sturdy, thick soles to protect feet from nails and other hazards.

Headgear:
1. Wear hats that provide protection from the sun.
2. Wear bands or hats to keep hair from eyes.
