This publicity kit is intended to provide adult educators with materials for promoting and recruiting students into an adult education program designed according to the OPTIONS model (i.e., programs geared toward teaching the literacy, technical, and entrepreneurship skills that are necessary to adapt to changing labor market conditions resulting from technological advancement). Materials are provided for conducting three different campaigns. The first two sets of materials offer two approaches to promoting and publicizing a literacy program. The first approach is geared toward enhancing community awareness of the program's role in tackling the literacy problem, whereas the second is geared toward informing local employers of the illiteracy problem, how it affects them, and how the literacy program can help. Two publicity campaigns for promoting an entrepreneurship education program are provided. The first centers around the concept "mind your own business by owning your own business," and the second is based on the concept "own your own business, own your own future." The third group of materials offers two approaches to enhancing institutional awareness of a program. One promotes program services to employers, and the other recruits clients. Copy for a public service announcement and black-line masters for a poster, fliers, stationary, a large ad, descending sizes of slogans for various promotional materials and items, bumper stickers, bus and taxi cards, ads, and pads and tear-off cards are provided for each of the six approaches. (MN)
Promotion and recruitment are necessary for the success of any adult education program. Often, the materials, and the time to develop them, are unavailable. This publicity kit is an attempt to remedy this situation.

The materials in this kit are designed as black-line masters to give you maximum flexibility. To use them as they are, you need only add your institution's logo, when needed. To satisfy a particular promotional effort, you may want to reassemble the prepared copy or strip in additional copy. Paste-up and layout could be handled by your printing facility or a local printer. Newspapers and magazines will make adjustments in the size of ads, usually at no charge to you.

NOTE: Suggestions for use appear on the back of each black-line master.

These materials are designed for three campaigns, each offering two approaches.

LITERACY
(1) An approach for enhancing community awareness of your role in tackling the literacy problem
(2) An approach for informing local employers of the problem, how it affects them, and how you can help.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP
Two different approaches to promote entrepreneurship education in your community.

INSTITUTIONAL AWARENESS
(1) An approach to promote your services to employers.
(2) An approach to recruit clients.
