This manual provides Florida language arts curriculum frameworks for grades 9-12 and for adult basic education. Subject areas include: reading, semantics and logic, literature, journalism, mass media, speech, debate, writing, business English, and English as a second language. Each framework contains a header and four sections: (1) major concepts/content, which provides a concise summary of the course; (2) laboratory activities (those integral to the course); (3) special notes; and (4) intended outcomes. Included in the curriculum framework header are descriptive elements including the major subject area of which the course is a part, the course number and full course title, the amount of credit generated by the course, and applicable grade levels and recommended certification. Also, the header indicates whether courses meet requirements for graduation or the Florida Academic Scholars Certificate program. (ARH)

CURRICULUM FRAMEWORKS FOR GRADES 9-12, ADULT BASIC PROGRAMS

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Division of Public Schools
Bureau of Curriculum Services
INTRODUCTION TO CURRICULUM FRAMEWORKS

The 1983 Legislature provided funds to the Department of Education to develop, maintain, and revise curriculum frameworks for the purpose of ensuring instructional consistency within academic disciplines among Florida high schools. A curriculum framework is a set of broad guidelines which aids educational personnel in producing specific instructional plans for a given subject area or area of study.

On the basis of the 1983 legislation and the need for an underlying structure to enable school districts to design and develop consistent instructional programs, the Bureau of Curriculum Services organized and developed strategies for securing input vital to the development of curriculum frameworks for basic courses in high school and adult education programs. Through an established process, local school districts and other members of the educational community, in a joint venture with the Department of Education, developed curriculum frameworks in nineteen basic academic areas.

Each framework contains a header and four sections: major concepts/content, laboratory activities, special notes, and intended outcomes. Included in the curriculum frameworks header are descriptive elements including the major subject area of which the course is a part, the seven-digit course number and full course title, the amount of credit generated by the course, and applicable grade levels and recommended certification. Also, the header indicates whether courses meet requirements for graduation or the Florida Academic Scholars Certificate program.

Section I, "Major Concepts/Content," provides a concise summary of the course. Section II describes integral laboratory activities. Science is the only subject area which is required by law, to have a laboratory component. However, many of the courses will include laboratory activities. Special notes about an individual course provide information specific and unique to that course. Intended outcomes are broad statements reflecting essential elements which students should demonstrate after successfully completing the course.

The frameworks have omitted prerequisites to allow districts maximum flexibility in establishing course sequence. Districts may establish desired prerequisites and may offer courses for high and adult education in any desired order.

Topics and areas of study listed in each framework are vital components of the course. Districts are encouraged to expand courses as desired to meet local needs.

The curriculum frameworks do not dictate techniques or methodology. Instructional materials may be determined by local school districts.
INTRODUCTION

LANGUAGE ARTS CURRICULUM FRAMEWORKS

The English language arts encompass an extensive range of communications skills and of artistic expression through literature, as well as the body of knowledge about the English language itself. Although the development of communications skills is a lifelong process, the extent to which students become proficient in these skills while at school is vitally related to their future abilities to function independently and productively in life. Literature expresses human imagination and is a primary vehicle for transmitting culture. Literature study provides students with insights into human values, experience, and potential, and enables them to acquire familiarity and appreciation of literary masterworks. Since language itself is an important means of giving shape to experience and knowledge and of expressing human hopes and feelings, students should be instructed in the ways in which language functions and in ways of controlling and using language effectively.

The use of language arts involves the skills of reading, writing, speaking, listening, and observing. The curriculum frameworks in this section provide for courses which address, collectively and individually, the continuing development of these skills. In order to broaden students' insights and provide as wide a range of literary experience as possible, the literature courses provide for the whole spectrum of literary forms, periods, and settings, from classical to contemporary, with special emphasis being given to the literature which forms the basis of our national heritage and the literary traditions of the English language.

Florida statutes require that any course described in this set of curriculum frameworks which generates graduation credit for English language arts must contain components which emphasize both composition and literature instruction. The courses contained in this section adhere to this requirement.
