A handbook detailing the expectations and requirements of the internship program at the Department of Communication at Mount Vernon Nazarene College, Ohio is presented. It offers information on the interrelationships among the sponsoring agency, the department, and the student. Eight sections focus on the following: internship program goals; eligibility requirements; procedures for application; procedures for agency selection; procedures for program initiation and operation; procedures for evaluation; summary of responsibilities (Communication Department, agency, and student responsibilities); and program timeline. Sixteen appendices provide examples of: policy regarding internships; policy regarding field work/practicum; application for acceptance into the internship program; faculty recommendation; professional resume; sample cover letter; midterm internship evaluation: (faculty supervisor feedback, agency supervisor feedback, and student feedback); final internship evaluation (faculty supervisor feedback, agency supervisor feedback, and student intern feedback); internship referral (external reference); internship syllabus; intern/supervisor goal worksheet; and weekly intern report. Contains 5 references. (SM)

  Midterm Internship Evaluation: Agency Supervisor Feedback . 24
Introduction

The Department of Communication at Mount Vernon Nazarene College believes that internships play a vital role in the preparation of students for a variety of careers in organizational communication, mass media, broadcasting, journalism, theater, public relations, and other related professions. The internship experience should be one that is mutually beneficial to the student, the sponsoring agency, and this department. This handbook details the expectations and requirements of our internship program as well as the interrelationships among the sponsoring agency, the department and the student.

The program outlined herein meets and exceeds the general college guidelines for "Internships" and "Field Work/Practicum" adopted by the faculty, 9-11-1984. (See Appendices A and B.)

Internship Program Goals

1. To provide the student with on-the-job experience which facilitates the application of theory and skills learned in the classroom to work related problems.

2. To provide the student with on-the-job experience which facilitates the acquisition of new understandings, ideas, and skills that cannot be achieved in the classroom.

3. To provide an experience that develops the student's appreciation of professional work standards and practices.

4. To provide an experience which develops the student's leadership and teamwork potential.

5. To provide an opportunity for the student to examine closely the nature and function of communication processes within a professional organization.

Department Goal

6. To facilitate student preparation for professional work in human communication, broadcasting, or drama.

Institutional Goals

7. Continue to develop the ability to listen receptively, think critically, reason clearly, evaluate objectively, and communicate cogently and clearly.

8. Develop appropriate career plans.
Eligibility Requirements

1. The applicant must be a qualified Senior or second semester Junior.

2. The applicant must be a Communication major; may be in any of the four tracks.

3. The applicant must have substantially completed the core and track requirements; the final decision regarding sufficiency of completion will be the Department Head’s.

4. The applicant’s grade point average must be at least 2.75 overall.

5. The applicant’s grade point average in the major must be at least 3.0.

6. The applicant must attend an Internship Orientation Workshop prior to application and placement.

Procedures for Application

1. Complete application form (Appendix C) and submit a clear photocopy to the Communication Department Head by mid-term, the semester before the desired internship.

2. Secure references from: 1) your faculty advisor, 2) one other faculty member, (See Appendix D) and 3) one from an appropriate off-campus referee (See Appendix M) and submit with your completed application.

3. Develop a professional resume and cover letter for mailing to possible placements. (See Appendices E, F)

4. Schedule a meeting with the Department Head when you submit your application and references. The meeting will focus on: a. any issues relevant to your application b. your professional objectives c. possible placement opportunities d. evaluation and revision of resume and cover letter.
Procedures for Agency Selection

The kinds of agencies that may sponsor an internship in Communication are varied. Examples of kinds are:

Mass Media
- Radio Stations
- Television Stations
- Magazines
- Public Relations Firms
- Advertising
- Newspapers

Government Agencies
- Schools
- Telephone Companies
- Public Utilities
- Travel Agencies
- Churches
- Theater Companies
- Private Retail Firms
- Law Firms
- Political Offices/Parties
- Political Campaigns
- Social Service Agencies
- Public Interest Groups

The primary factors in making a choice of agency are professional and scholastic advantages. Only those agencies having the potential to meet those will be considered for internship placement. This is protect the student, the department, college and future interns. If you know of organization you think is appropriate, contact the Department Head about it for consideration. The selection of an agency should be carefully correlated with the student’s area of concentration in communication. Therefore, contacts should be initiated only after careful analysis of the student’s academic and professional interests has been completed in consultation with a faculty advisor or supervisor. Also, contact of an agency may not be initiated until the intern has attended an Intern Orientation Workshop and completed a professional resume.

Procedures for Program Initiation and Operation

1. Immediately after acceptance, the student should arrange a meeting with the Communication Department faculty member who will act as "Faculty Supervisor" in order to formalize a syllabus for the course. A copy of the syllabus should be retained by the student, Faculty Supervisor, and one submitted to the Department Head to keep on file. (See Appendix N)

2. The syllabus is intended to provide a structure for the internship. The student and supervisor must establish reasonable and useful specific objectives to be accomplished over the semester and adhere to them as closely as possible.
3. No later than the end of the first week of the semester, the student will submit to the Faculty Supervisor and Department Head, a detailed timetable of hours to be spent in the sponsoring organization signed by the Agency Supervisor.

4. Using the college’s semester schedule, the student must distribute mid-term and final evaluation forms to the agency supervisor, and make sure the forms are completed and returned to faculty supervisor. (See Appendices G and H, J and K)

5. At mid-term and final, the student should arrange a meeting with the faculty supervisor. The student should bring his self-evaluation (See Appendices I, L) to the conferences. The evaluations of the faculty supervisor, the agency supervisor and the student will be the focus of the meetings. If necessary, the evaluations may be discussed at the sponsoring agency with Faculty Supervisor, Agency Supervisor and student attending.

Procedures for Evaluation

The internship is a privilege extended to students who have distinguished themselves throughout their tenure in this department; it is considered complementary to traditional academic coursework. Since it is non-traditional, evaluation will be different from that of the classroom. Interns will be evaluated by the agency supervisor and faculty supervisor using the following criteria:

1. Regular, prompt attendance at the worksite as scheduled.
2. Positive attitude toward associates, supervisors, and work manifested by such actions as:
   a. willingness to learn new skills, information, and procedures
   b. willingness to flexibly respond to emergent employer needs
   c. willingness to take direction
   d. willingness to assume responsibility
   e. willingness to take criticism
   f. ability to work constructively with others.
3. Timely, accurate completion of all work assigned at the work site or by faculty supervisor characterized by:
   a. neat, carefully proof-read submissions that reflect care in preparation
   b. thoughtful, thorough work that demonstrates concern for content quality.
4. Systematic fulfillment of all requirements as specified in this handbook.
5. Meritorious evaluations from Agency Supervisor and Faculty Supervisor.
6. Successful completion of ONE of the three projects below chosen in consultation with the agency supervisor and faculty supervisor.

a. The student will assemble a portfolio containing samples of work completed during the internship. The portfolio could include: articles, correspondence, press releases, scripts, descriptions of interviewing assignments or transcripts of interviews completed, descriptions of or copies of research assignments, or any other relevant activities that constituted a learning activity for the student.

The contents should be logically arranged in a three-ring binder with a table of contents showing how items are arranged. An introduction should provide an overview of the project highlighting the nature or overall theme of the contents.

b. The student will keep a detailed daily journal of work activities. The journal must be kept up to date and contain the following information: the date and time of entry; a detailed description of the work assigned and completed that day; descriptions of any activities essential to the completion of the work assigned; descriptions of any interactions with co-workers or supervisor that are relevant; notes on your personal feelings about the experience; your strengths and weaknesses in relation to the task assigned; reflections on the knowledge or skills you are acquiring through the internship experience.

c. This project will be specifically tailored to meet needs of the student intern and placement agency when special circumstances or needs arise. This option will be utilized in cases where the entire internship is geared toward the production of one very specific product for the sponsoring agency. Evaluation of that product will be according to current professional standards for such a product.
SUMMARY OF RESPONSIBILITIES

Communication Department Responsibilities

1. The department will screen applicants for internships and recommend only those who have demonstrated: academic ability, skill in writing, an ability to work with people, a sense of personal responsibility and discipline, an ability to take criticism, and leadership potential. Interns will be Seniors or second semester Juniors who have substantially completed the course work for the Organizational, Broadcasting or Drama tracks and maintained a 3.0 G.P.A. in the major.

2. The Department will provide a required Internship Orientation Workshop before the student contacts any agencies.

3. The faculty member supervising the internship will be the "Faculty Supervisor" and will maintain regular communication with the intern and the "Agency Supervisor" (the person in the organization overseeing the intern) throughout the internship period. The Faculty Supervisor will review the intern's weekly reports, meet with the intern at least three times during the experience, and coordinate the evaluation procedure.

4. The Faculty Supervisor will generally be expected to make an on-site visit at least once during the term.

The Department will, if necessary, withdraw a student from the program should the student fail to carry out assigned responsibilities or decline to work toward goals established by the student, agency and department.

Agency Responsibilities

1. The importance of the sponsoring agency cannot be underestimated. While the student performs as a member of the organization during the internship, the student is expected to learn more than the performance of the job assigned. In accepting an intern, the agency agrees to be an active educational resource for the student, providing both information and support. The student should be given meaningful work and training in a variety of areas that nurtures and expands the student's prior training.

2. The Agency Supervisor of the intern will be asked to meet weekly with the intern to jointly establish specific goals for the week and review the previous week's activities. A supply of "Intern/Supervisor Goal Worksheets" will be provided for the supervisor. (See Appendix O) The supervisor will be asked to return the worksheets and an evaluation of the interns work to date to the Faculty Supervisor at mid-term and end of semester. The Agency Supervisor should contact the Faculty Supervisor if any problems arise at any time during the semester.
3. The agency becomes an evaluator of the student's performance, attitude, and understanding on the job. A final evaluation of the intern by the agency will be requested. The Faculty Supervisor, using the final agency evaluation, along with the evaluations and evidence accumulated during the semester, will assign a grade for the internship.

4. The agency should develop a clear job description and set up a specific work schedule for the intern. The student should be expected to work a minimum of 10 hours per week for the 14 week term (140 hours) or 8 hours per day for 18 days during the January or summer sessions.

We request that agencies do not pay interns. Consistent with that, it is expected that the intern will not be replacing a regular full or part-time employee.

Student Responsibilities

1. The student must apply for an internship by mid-term the semester before the requested placement. Applications will be picked up and returned to the Department Head. Students will also submit three recommendations: one from the faculty advisor, one from another faculty member on campus, and one from a referee off-campus. Recommendations must accompany the submission of application. All applications must be current.

2. The student will interview with the Department Head and attend the Internship Orientation Workshop before interviewing with any organizations. The student must have developed a current resume before interviewing with any agency. If these requirements are not met by the student, permission to intern will not be granted.

3. The intern has responsibilities to both the sponsoring agency and the Communication Department as a credit-earning student. On the job, the intern is expected to perform tasks required by the sponsor at the times and places stipulated. Absenteeism and tardiness will not be tolerated. The intern is expected to learn and perform job related skills at the level stipulated by the agency. The student should display energy, and initiative in creatively applying theory to practice.

4. The student will work a minimum of ten (10) hours per week for the fourteen week semester (140 hours). For January internships, the student will work eight (8) hours per day for each day of the term (minimum 18 days in the organization for a total of 144 hours).

5. The intern must make weekly reports based on goals set in discussion with his or her agency supervisor at their weekly meeting. These reports must be delivered or mailed to the Faculty Supervisor at the end of each week. The student intern will also make a final evaluation of the internship experience at the end of the semester. The intern must meet with the Faculty Sponsor three times during the semester: after two weeks on the job; within one week of mid-term; one week before the end of the term. In January internships, the student will meet with the Faculty Sponsor once a week when delivering weekly reports. It is the student's responsibility to set up meetings with the Faculty Sponsor.

The internship can be performed only after approval by the Department of Communication and completion of all prerequisite courses. The internship must be completed during the term for which the student is registered for internship credit.

The internship is a commitment to a particular organization and should be honored. If, however, for some unforeseen circumstance the student must withdraw from the internship, the student MUST FIRST CONTACT THE FACULTY SUPERVISOR AND DEPARTMENT HEAD. Second, the student must talk with the agency supervisor. The agency should be given two weeks notice before withdrawal.

This policy statement emphasizes the importance of responsibility, cooperation and communication among the Department of Communication, the sponsoring agency, and the student intern.
Program Time-line

1. Substantially complete the track requirements by second semester Junior year or first semester of Senior year.

2. Apply for internship by mid-term the semester before the anticipated placement.

3. Attend an Internship Orientation Workshop.

4. Develop a professional resume and cover letter.

5. Secure all necessary references.

6. Schedule a meeting with the Department Head between mid-term end of semester before placement.

7. Find an appropriate Communication Faculty Supervisor.

8. Once accepted, with assistance from the Department, find an appropriate agency for internship.

9. Meet with faculty supervisor to develop a course syllabus before placement begins.

10. By end of first week of internship, submit to Faculty Supervisor a detailed schedule of hours in the sponsoring agency.

11. At end of second week of internship, meet with Faculty Supervisor.

12. Within one week of mid-term, (before, during or after) meet faculty supervisor.

13. During last week of semester, meet with faculty supervisor and submit final project.

POLICY REGARDING INTERNSHIPS

1. Internships are special privileges generally available only to seniors.

2. Internships will be permitted only in the area of a student's major.

3. Prior to serving in an internship setting, approval must be obtained in writing from
   (a) the sponsoring department
   (b) the supporting organization, and
   (c) the Assistant Academic Dean's Office.

4. Approvals must be obtained in that specific order, and registration in the course is not official until all required approvals have been obtained.

5. The general guideline is that for each credit hour of internship earned, the student must provide between 30 and 40 hours of service to the supporting organization.

6. In general, internship placements will be in the geographic proximity of the College to permit quality supervision by the faculty member.

7. No intern will be permitted to serve an internship in an organization operated by the intern's family or supervised in the organization by a member of the family.

8. In general, internships will not be permitted on campus.

9. Current employment cannot be considered for internship placement unless additional or alternate responsibilities are given.

10. The necessary applications and contracts will be typed in a professional manner.

PROCEDURE FOR INTERNSHIP PLACEMENT

1. At the time of preregistration, the department will give the prospective intern a specific procedures sheet and guidelines applicable to the student's major department.

2. A minimum of six weeks before the student desires to begin the internship, the student will secure the necessary contract forms from the Assistant Academic Dean's Office and contact the supervising faculty member.

3. The supervising faculty member will make an initial contact with the possible supporting organization.

4. The student and supervising faculty member will draw up the contract for the internship, giving specific details relative to time commitments, duties to be performed, and methods of evaluation.

5. When completed, the contract will be used to secure the department's approval, the approval of the supporting organization, and the Assistant Academic Dean's approval.

6. When all approvals have been received, the contract duly recorded in the Registrar's Office, the Assistant Academic Dean's Office will notify the supervising faculty member in writing.

7. The Assistant Academic Dean's Office will send a copy of the contract to the supporting organization. A copy will be sent to the student by the Registrar's Office.

Adopted by Faculty, 9-11-1984
POLICY REGARDING FIELD WORK/PRACTICUM

1. Field work and practicum placements are an experiential type of learning supplementing traditional textbook and lecture-discussion forms.

2. Field work/practicum contracts will be completed for all such placements that are not a part of the published schedule of courses for that academic term.

3. Prior to serving in a non-scheduled field work/practicum placement, approval must be obtained in writing from
   (a) the sponsoring department
   (b) the supporting organization, and
   (c) the Assistant Academic Dean's Office.

4. Approvals must be obtained in that specific order, and registration in the course is not official until all required approvals have been obtained.

5. The general guideline is that for each credit hour of field work/practicum earned, the student must provide between 30 and 40 hours of service to the supervising organization.

6. In general, field work/practicum placements will be in the geographic proximity of the College to permit quality supervision by the faculty member.

7. Field work/practicum experiences are not permitted in an organization operated by the student's family or supervised in the organization by a member of the family.

8. In general, field work/practicum placements are not permitted on campus.

9. The necessary application and contract will be typed in a professional manner.

PROCEDURE FOR FIELD WORK/PRACTICUM PLACEMENT

1. At the time of preregistration, the student will indicate to the appropriate faculty an interest in securing a field work/practicum placement.

2. A minimum of three weeks before the student desires to begin the field work/practicum, the student will secure the necessary contract forms from the Assistant Academic Dean's Office and contact the supervising faculty member.

3. The supervising faculty member will make an initial contact with the potential supervising organization.

4. The student and supervising faculty member will draw up the contract for the field work/practicum, giving specific details relative to time commitments, duties to be performed, and methods of evaluation.

5. When completed, the contract will be used to secure the department's approval, the approval of the supporting organization, and the Academic Dean's approval.

6. When all approvals have been received, the contract duly recorded in the Registrar's Office, the Assistant Academic Dean's Office will notify the supervising faculty member in writing.

Mr. Phillip Johnson
College Recruitment Director
General Telephone of Indiana
1633 North Meridan Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46208

Dear Mr. Johnson:

Mr. Jones of the Placement Bureau, Indiana University, has suggested I write you concerning your search for public relations personnel.

As my enclosed resume indicates, I am about to graduate from Indiana University with a double major in public relations and organizational behavior. I am very much interested in pursuing a career in public relations, preferably with a large organization. My past work experiences have taken me into several organizations where I assisted in advertising efforts, worked with the layout and design of company brochures, wrote newspaper articles, and made speeches. This past summer I worked part-time for the Bloomington branch of your organization—particularly with the designing of public relations brochures. I found my experiences with General Telephone to be rewarding, and I am eager to investigate the possibility of full-time public relations employment.

Would it be possible for us to discuss this further in an interview? I am available every afternoon (1:00 to 5:00), Monday through Friday. I may be reached at (812) 337-4697. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Emily C. Henson
