The Owensboro, Kentucky, Displaced Homemaker Program helps single parents/displaced homemakers in the Green River Area Development District to gain control of their lives by developing skills necessary to secure a job and become independent and self-sufficient. In fiscal year 1986-87, 240 persons applied for the program, which provides an orientation to the world of work, classroom training, personal and career counseling, life skills development, vocational exploration, General Educational Development test preparation, remedial and basic skills classes, and work experiences. After several evaluations, 31 participants were chosen for the fall class, and 25 were chosen for the spring class. Participants were evaluated and placed appropriately. Vocational funds were used to provide orientation, classroom training, child care, transportation, work experience, and job search skills for 23 participants. Of them, 15 are now employed, and the remainder are looking for work. Of the 66 participants enrolled in the program for the year, 42 have found employment. A job club has been formed to help the remaining participants find jobs. An additional 175 people during the year were not enrolled in the program but received a variety of services. The program has proven successful and will continue. Attachments include outlines of the program orientation and classroom curriculum, a sample course outline, and a description of the consultation program. (KC)
ABSTRACT

The Owensboro Displaced Homemaker Program helps single parents/displaced homemakers in the Green River Area Development District gain control of their lives by developing skills necessary to secure a job and become independent and self-sufficient.

Each year eligible displaced homemakers and single parents enroll and participate in an orientation to the world of work, classroom training, personal and career counseling, life skills development, vocational exploration, GED preparation, remedial and basic skills classes and work experience. Additional persons participate in various other services including career assessment workshops, referral and information services and group counseling.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

Two hundred forty persons applied for the training slots in FY 86-87. Following an initial contact with the Displaced Homemaker Program, prospective clients completed an extensive questionnaire, and were interviewed by Displaced Homemaker Program staff at least two times. Clients were then referred to Employment Services for G.A.T.B. and B.O.L.T. testing and determination of eligibility when appropriate. Upon completion of the screening process, thirty-one participants were chosen for the fall class (Phase I) and twenty-five were chosen for the spring class (Phase II).

Two week orientation sessions were held for each phase. Phase I orientation was held September 8 - 19, 1986 and Phase II orientation was held February 2 - 13, 1987. Clients participated in group counseling sessions, tours of area industry, job search training and introduction to the world of work. (Orientation Outline is attached to this report.) Orientation classes were held in the Displaced Homemaker classroom at the Owensboro Board of Education Central Office building.

Each participant received extensive testing during orientation. Tests included the B.O.L.T. (Basic Occupational Literacy Test), the T.A.B.E. (Test of Adult Basic Education), G.A.T.B. (General Aptitude Test Battery) and the Career Assessment Interest Inventory. (Copies of the T.A.B.E. scores are enclosed with this report.) These tests provided valuable information in helping clients identify the appropriate classroom training situation, and in developing the classroom curriculum. Test results indicated that eighteen participants scored below 10th grade level on the T.A.B.E. test overall and thirty-four scored below 10th grade level on math. Strong emphasis was placed on basic skill development in the classroom curriculum.

After completion of the orientation, a class in basic skills (remedial reading, spelling, vocabulary and math), telephone usage, filing, payroll calculation, typing and word processing was offered three hours per day for twelve weeks (curriculums attached). Participants worked very diligently to increase their grade level scores in reading and math as well as learning clerical skills. While most clients participated in the basic skills class, four participants were enrolled in Vocational School, six in Adult Education Classes through the Owensboro Board of Education, and one in Brescia College. Four clients received their GED's while attending the basic skills class.

In order to better meet the complex needs of the single parent, a "Life Skills Development" series was added to the basic classroom format. Staff from the Green River Comprehensive Care Center conducted the classes which covered Assertiveness Training, Stress Management, Child Management and Time Management. (Curriculum outline is attached to this report.) The classes were well received by our clients and enhanced the overall program.

The fall class concluded with a Christmas party for participants, their children and staff held at the Owensboro Area Museum. A picnic for participants, their children and staff was held at the conclusion of the spring class.

In addition to the participants enrolled for orientation and classroom training, ten additional single parents/displaced homemakers were enrolled and completed classroom training, work experience and/or received job search assistance.
Vocational Funds were used to provide orientation, classroom training, child care, transportation, work experience and job search skills for twenty-three participants. Fifteen have successfully completed their job search and are now employed. The remaining seven are actively looking for employment.

In addition, the child care and transportation component provided by Vocational Education funds enabled eight women to participate in training who otherwise would not have had the opportunity to do so.

Of the sixty-six participants enrolled in FY 86-87, forty-two have found employment. A Job Club has been formed that meets each Monday morning at the Displaced Homemaker Center. Job Club provides staff assistance and group support to participants as they continue their job search. Although the Green River Area Region continues to experience high unemployment, plant closings and layoffs, it is anticipated that several more participants will soon find employment.

An additional 175 people were seen during the year who were not enrolled in the program. They received a variety of services that included resume development, job hunt skills, list of job openings, counseling and referral services to vocational school, community college, adult learning center, vocational rehabilitation, Department of Employment Services and other appropriate agencies.
The Owensboro Displaced Homemaker Center worked with the Owensboro Junior League and the Owensboro-Daviess County Girl's Club to develop a program for teens at the club. The Girl's Club is located in the Rolling Height's housing project. All the girls were from very-low to low income families mostly headed by a single parent. They had very limited life expectations and little knowledge of career options or how to plan for a career.

"Envision Yourself" was a series of classes taught by volunteers from the League and community designed to encourage more positive attitudes, improve self-esteem, and explore career options (Class outline attached to this report.)

This program proved very successful with approximately twenty teens involved in the classes. Plans are being finalized to provide this program again in the fall.

RESULTS & CONCLUSIONS

With forty-two of the sixty-six participants enrolled completing their job search and now employed, we feel that our program objectives have been successfully achieved. After an evaluation of last years objectives and results, the same basic program will again be offered in 1987-88. The continued support and assistance provided by Vocational Education will enable the Owensboro Displaced Homemaker
Program to continue to serve single parents/displaced homemakers in the Green River Area Development District.

DISPLACED HOMEMAKER'S CONSULTATION PROGRAMM

I. CLASSROOM SERIES:

A four component series to be included as part of the curriculum for the participant groups. These classes would be presented to both morning and afternoon classes. Classroom presentation would allow informational presentation, "assignments", and follow-up, in groups small enough to be practical. As components of the curriculum, it would insure exposure to all program participants.

Time Management: Three session unit to impart skills and practical exercise in preparing, implementing, and monitoring a time management system for the individual participant.— Time Requirement: Three one-hour sessions.

Stress Management: Three session unit which will present information about stress and its effect on our daily lives, will teach practical skills, and will develop an individualized stress management plan for each participant.— Time Requirement: Three one-hour sessions.

Child Management: Three session unit that will teach a behavioral approach to parenting and child management, emphasizing positive motivators and rewards to deal with both typical childhood behavior and problematic behaviors. Program is designed to assist parents in reducing/eliminating unwanted behaviors, and increasing/teaching desired behaviors.— Time Requirement: Three one-hour sessions.

Assertiveness Training: Three session program with a goal of increasing assertiveness behaviors without increasing or creating aggressiveness. Participants will learn to identify submissive behavior and thinking, and to replace it with more confident alternatives. Program is considered a base on which participant will continue to build and expand assertiveness after completion of program. Time Requirement: Three one-hour sessions.

II. SUPPORT GROUP:

A voluntary participation group meeting in which a variety of issues and needs may be addressed. This group would be open to participants from current classes as well as former class participants, and would be facilitated by a mental health consultant (co-facilitator from program staff if desired). The purpose of this group is to provide a forum for study and resolution of issues related to displacement, adjustment, and reintegration.— Time on-going; estimated one to two hours weekly, late afternoon or evening meeting time.
