The handbook is intended to provide school administrators, vocational teachers, special education teachers/supportive personnel, and guidance counselors with the basic guidelines and strategies for implementing the Individual Vocational Education Planning (IVEP) process for disadvantaged, limited-English proficient, and handicapped secondary students in Tucson, Arizona. The handbook is also intended to help educators comply with requirements of the Carl D. Perkins Vocational Act of 1984 and the Vocational Program Standards of the Arizona Department of Education. Background information includes a mission statement, legal compliance requirements, and definitions of students with special needs and the IVEP. The IVEP process is then outlined in terms of a process checklist, and the paper/communication flow for disadvantaged, limited-English proficient, and handicapped students. Sample forms used in IVEP documentation include the High School Student Educational Plan, the Vocational Education Service Plan, and the Request for Assistance. IVEP rule checklists identify responsibilities of the Assistant Principal for Instruction, the guidance counselor, the vocational teacher, and the Special Education Chair. Forms related to local school training are the Local IVEP Training Plan Checklist, the Local School IVEP Action Plan, and a suggested local school training agenda. The last sections provide related definitions including definitions of handicapping conditions.

MISSION STATEMENT

This Handbook provides the basic guidelines and strategies for school administrators, vocational teachers, special education teachers/supportive personnel, and guidance counselors, in implementing the Individual Vocational Education Process for disadvantaged/limited-English proficient and handicapped students. The handbook has been instigated through the new vocational program requirements in the Carl D. Perkins Vocational Act of 1984.

The Carl D. Perkins Act contains several new provisions for addressing the vocational needs of special populations in a comprehensive and systematic manner. The continuum of services to be provided includes communicating vocational program options to disadvantaged and handicapped students and their parents, conducting vocational assessments, counseling for placement of students in the most appropriate vocational program, adapting the vocational curriculum/instruction/equipment/facilities to meet the special learning needs of the student, and facilitating the student's transition from school to employment and a quality adult life.

The vocational program requirements of the Carl D. Perkins Act and the Vocational Program Standards of the Arizona Department of Education extend the existing missions of the departments of Occupational Education, Special Education, and Guidance and Counseling at Tucson Unified School District.

The mission of occupational education is not just to develop a specialized skill but also to prepare learners to make appropriate career decisions, adapt and transfer skills learned to new occupational areas, and develop attitudes toward work that will enable them to succeed in the world of work. The mission of occupational education thus becomes one of providing learners with the opportunity to develop concepts and skills needed in order to reach personally identified career goals. Purposeful action that enables occupational education to reach its statement includes helping learners to:

1. realize a wide variety of occupational options
2. focus on specific occupational problems as well as general problem-solving skills that apply to any occupational life situations
3. apply attitude, skills, and knowledge to various occupational situations
4. understand and use generalized principles and skills in occupational situations
5. acquire information specific to occupational needs as well as develop dependable sources of information-gathering techniques
6. develop a comprehensive understanding of the role of various occupations in meeting human needs
7. integrate general and occupational education
8. view occupational education curriculum as a major part of life-long learning.

... The Special Education Department is committed to:

- Providing a comprehensive array of instructional related service options to provide a free and appropriate education for all handicapped children from kindergarten through 21 years of age. Such services shall be arranged along a continuum to assure that the individual needs of children are met irrespective of the severity of their handicapping conditions.

- Providing a systematic support system to regular education designed to help manage and teach an increasing range of individual differences. Such support should be aimed at mainstreaming children in the regular classroom as appropriate and preventing undue labeling and segregation of children. It also should aid in the integration of children who have been in more restrictive settings into the regular classroom.

... Tucson Unified School District is committed to ensure that all students have the opportunity to develop their intellectual potential, to acquire skills which will prepare them for life and to enable them to function as productive members of society. For the great majority of students regular education is the vehicle for the implementation of this commitment. Students who require additional or different educational opportunities, however, will find their needs addressed through the multifaceted offerings of the Special Education Department.

... The T.U.S.D. Comprehensive Guidance and Counseling Program is designed to address students' needs through three types of services: developmental counseling, remediation, and crisis counseling. Eight generic goals have been identified through surveys and other research processes, and apply to students at all grade levels. These goals are integrated within four developmental domains, and also apply to all students: intrapersonal, interpersonal, academic, and career/life planning.

... All our efforts focus on three constantly evolving questions:

- Who am I? (Identity)

- How do I fit into my environment? (Belonging)

- Where am I going? (Direction)

We live in a society that is complex, frustrating, and in transition. Educators would be doing a disservice to young people and the community if we neglected our students' affective needs for skill development. The context of the eight generic goals is destined to become the foundation upon which students will build their unique brand of independence, cooperation, self-control, and personal aspirations. If these are the qualities we want to foster in young people, then we must stress developmental guidance as we teach and nurture.
There are two primary objectives of this Handbook:

1. To inform school administrators and the vocational, counseling, and special education staff of TUSD High Schools of the compliance requirements of the following:

   - Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act of 1984 requiring specific support strategies for individuals needing special assistance in order to enroll and succeed in vocational education programs leading toward gainful employment.
   - The Arizona Department of Education recommended Vocational Program Standards currently being used to evaluate existing programs and to increase the quality of these programs.

2. To assist district personnel in developing and implementing a district-wide Individual Vocational Education Planning (IVEP) process that will impact on all beginning 9th grade special needs students interested in and/or enrolled in vocational education classes.

The approach the Tucson Unified School District is taking to meet the educational outcomes of the Individual Vocational Education Planning Process, involves the formation of "Special Needs Coordination Teams" (SNC/TEAMS) from each high school. Each TEAM is composed of the following personnel:

1. Assistant Principal for Instruction (team leader)
2. Designated Vocational Education Representative
3. Special Education Representative
4. Counseling and Guidance Representative
5. Vocational L.E.P. Representative (Pueblo/Tucson High Schools)

SNC/TEAM members are responsible for attending inservice training on the IVEP Process and in turn, providing inservice to their local high school site vocational, counseling, and special education staffs, as well as collecting evaluation data on the implementation of the IVEP Process at TUSD.

This IVEP Handbook represents the first DRAFT of a model to implement the IVEP Process at Tucson Unified School District. It is anticipated that the contents will change to reflect the positive outcomes and barriers to implementation as the model is field-tested at each high school in the district.
EDUCATIONAL OUTCOMES OF THE INDIVIDUAL VOCATIONAL EDUCATION PLANNING PROCESS

- Identify students with special needs (disadvantaged, handicapped, limited-English proficient) who are eligible to participate in vocational education programs.

- Assess the student's vocational interests, skills, abilities and potential.

- Provide career/vocational information and exploratory experiences.

- Assist the student in developing a four-year plan of action that identifies vocational goals and support services needed to meet these goals.

- Prepare the student for sustained employment and a quality adult life through appropriate placement in secondary vocational education programs and through provision of needed transitional services for postsecondary placement.

- Evaluate employment and adult living competencies of students and degree to which vocational and special support services have met student needs and vocational potential.
IDENTIFICATION

Students must be identified by name and by the vocational education program in which they are enrolled. They must qualify as either disadvantaged (includes limited-English proficient) or handicapped, and must be determined to need special assistance in order to succeed in the regular vocational education program.

EQUAL ACCESS

Section 204(a) of PL 98-524 states that
"(1) equal access will be provided to handicapped and disadvantaged individuals in recruitment, enrollment, and placement activities;
"(2) equal access will be provided to handicapped and disadvantaged individuals to the full range of vocational programs available to nonhandicapped and nondisadvantaged individuals, including occupationally specific courses of study, cooperative education, and apprenticeship programs;
"(3)(A) vocational education programs and activities for handicapped individuals will be provided in the least restrictive environment in accordance with section 612.(5)(B) of the Education of the Handicapped Act and will, whenever appropriate, be included as a component of the individualized education plan required under section 612(4) and section 614(a)(5) of such Act; and

(B) vocational education planning for handicapped individuals will be coordinated between appropriate representatives of vocational education and special education."

COMMUNICATION OF PROGRAM OPTIONS

Section 204(b) of PL 98-524 states that each local educational agency shall
"provide information to handicapped and disadvantaged students and parents of such students concerning the opportunities available in vocational education at least one year before the students enter the grade level in which vocational education programs are first generally available in the State, but in no event later than the beginning of the ninth grade, together with the requirements for eligibility for enrollment in such vocational education programs.

MANDATED SERVICES

Section 204(c) of PL 98-524 specifies that the following be provided to each handicapped or disadvantaged student enrolled in vocational education:
"(1) assessment of the interests, abilities, and special needs of such student with respect to completing successfully the vocational education program;
"(2) special services, including adaptation of curriculum, instruction, equipment, and facilities, designed to meet the needs described in clause (1);
"(3) guidance, counseling, and career development activities conducted by professionally trained counselors who are associated with the provision of such special services; and
"(4) counseling service designed to facilitate the transition from school to post-school employment and career opportunities."

ADAPTING INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS FOR EQUITY
ADAPTING INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS FOR EQUITY

Instructional materials and teaching behaviors should demonstrate educational equity for all students.

To be sex fair - the following standards should be included in analyzing materials and teacher behaviors:

- Language should be sex fair - avoiding the use of single sex pronouns and other generic and single sex references.

- Sex role stereotypes should be eliminated. Career roles, family roles, and behavioral roles should reflect the expanded possibilities and realities of today's society.

- Non-traditional career roles should be presented in classroom materials and in role model presentations.

- Both girls and boys should recognize that their adult roles will probably include work, parenting, and homemaking.

- Students should be involved in identifying examples of sex discrimination stereotyping, and bias in textbooks, curriculum materials, media and other course-related materials.

Awareness of and implementation of these standards will result in providing an educational environment that is equitable and thus will provide students with a greater reality for their future.

RAP on Sanding Flat Surfaces

MI This paragraph is about how to sand in the direction of the grain of wood.

- First you should remove the pencil marks on the wood with a rubber eraser or a scraper.

- You can sand across the grain first if there is a heavy defect in the grain to remove.

- Then you need to sand with the grain to remove the "cross grain" scratches.

WEIGHT CHANGE
AND PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Body burns off more calories than it takes in = weight loss

Body burns off fewer calories than it takes in = weight gain

Burn off calories with physical activity

Lose 1 lb. means burning 3500 cal.
