In August 1988, a survey of State University of New York (SUNY) archives and special collections was sent to all SUNY library directors, who were asked to distribute the questionnaire to individuals responsible for the archives and/or special collections in each library. This report presents the responses from 41 libraries (65% rate of return). The entries are listed alphabetically by the name of the institution under the following headings: (1) SUNY university centers; (2) colleges of arts and sciences; (3) health science centers; (4) specialized colleges; (5) colleges of agriculture and technology; (6) community colleges; and (7) statutory colleges. Each entry includes the name, address, and telephone number of the library as well as information about its collections, users, hours, personnel concerned with archives and special collections, whether there is a separate budget for special collections, and specific aspects, issues, or problems mentioned by the respondent. Conclusions based on the findings of the survey are also presented, and it is recommended that resource sharing among these types of SUNY libraries be implemented, and that those with specific expertise in this area create a special collections/archives caucus, workgroup, roundtable, or other appropriate organization. Appendixes include a list of the institutions whose libraries responded to the survey and copies of both the survey questionnaire and a checklist in the form of questions about special collections and archives. INTRODUCTION

The idea for a SUNY Special Collections/Archives survey was initially due to curiosity. I wondered if it would be possible to generate within the active and collegial atmosphere of SUNYLA a network of "Friends of Special Collections/Archives." Would there be any interest in a SUNYLA '89 presentation on Special Collections/Archives?

My colleague Judith Wellman, Professor of History, and I coordinate Special Collections in Penfield Library at SUNY College at Oswego. Within the last several years, Special Collections has served as a resource for the college's 125th year celebration and a presidential inauguration. Our resources are accessed by campus and community individuals, groups and programs. We offer the opportunity for undergraduate and graduate students to do primary source research. Utilizing the SUNY Retention and Disposal Schedule, we have been able to identify and make decisions about college records. We, as are many other SUNY archives and special collections, operating with minimal staff, minimal processing, and minimal open research hours. What, we wondered, were some of the other archival issues for our sister institutions?

Encouragement for the survey came from SUNYLA President Chris Bulson, and further encouragement came from SUNYLA '89 Program Chair Tim Hartnett. My library director, Anne Commerton, offered further encouragement, suggesting that SUNY library directors be the recipients of the survey, because they were in the best position to direct the survey to the individual or individuals responsible for Special Collections/Archives in each library.

The survey was sent in August 1988, to library directors in University Centers, Colleges of Arts and Science, Health Science Centers, Specialized Colleges, Colleges of Technology/Agriculture and Technology, Community Colleges, and Statutory Colleges. There was a 65% return. No follow-up occurred due to lack of time during the school year.

Please see Appendix A for the List of Respondents.
RESULTS OF THE SURVEY

An examination of the returned surveys revealed that a tabular form for reporting results would be difficult. The decision was made to use the form of the survey itself for a reporting framework. The numbers below correspond to the questions on the survey. A copy of the survey is in Appendix B. Institutions are listed below as they appear in SUNYLA's Directory of Librarians of the State University of New York 1988-1989.

SUNY College at Cortland
Memorial Library
Cortland, NY 13045
(607) 753-2525

1) Special Collections/Archives
2) The archives relate to the college program. Special Collections consists of some rare books, one of a kind local history texts and books that are old, needed for the collection, and in poor condition
3) Students, alumni, faculty. Special Collections was used extensively by an English professor who taught a course on descriptive bibliography; the professor is now retired

4) Archives and special collections are open all regular library hours.

5) We do not have an archivist; we depend on community volunteers. Special Collections is the responsibility of the Collection Development Librarian, Public Services Librarian, and the Conservation Catalog Librarian.

6) We do not have a separate budget for either program. We provide few budgetary resources for these programs.

7) We have not assigned anyone to cover these programs specifically because of previous staff cuts.

Empire State College
State University of New York
2 Union Avenue
Saratoga, NY 12866
(212) 279-7380

1) ESC has two special collections but does not have a library per se. At the Van Arsdale Center in New York City, we have a labor library.

2) As part of the New National Center on Adult Learning in Saratoga Springs, we have a small library on non-traditional, innovative, and alternative education.

3) Administrators and faculty use the Saratoga Library; in NYC, students, faculty, and administrators use the labor library. In the future we plan to open the Saratoga library to all those interested in nontraditional education.

4) Normal hours for these locations.

5) Timothy Lehmann, Assistant Vice-President, Research and Evaluation

6) No

7) Staffing, reference, service, grantwriting

SUNY College at Fredonia

7) Staffing, space, administrative awareness of need and functions of an archives

SUNY College at Geneseo
Milne Library
Geneseo, NY 14454-1498
(716) 245-5595

1) Special Collections/Archives

2) College archives, records and publications of the College from 1869 to the present; Genesee Valley Historical Collection
   (more than 3,000 volumes on county, town, village, family, and church history in counties of Orleans, Monroe, Genesee, Livingston, Wyoming, and Allegany); Carl Schmidt Collection in Historic Architecture; Wadsworth Family Papers; Martha Blow Wadsworth Photography Collection

3) Students and faculty, local residents; others working on genealogical or local history research

4) Special Collections available only when reference librarians are on duty: M-Th 8:00 a.m. - 10:00 p.m.; F 8:00 a.m. - 4 p.m.;
   Sa 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.; Su 2:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

5) No one has major responsibility; Head of Cataloguing Department catalogs all materials; Head of Reference Department handles most mail queries and requests to use collections

6) $1,000 per year for Genesee Valley Historical Collection; other funds from general budget as needed

7) None listed
SUNY College at New Paltz
Sojourner Truth Library
New Paltz, NY 12561
(914) 257-2214

5) The archives is in the library administration area and mainly the responsibility of the library director's administrative assistant, but the director and his secretary also help
6) No
7) We do not have the time or staff to handle this as we should

State University College at Oneonta
James M. Milne Library
Oneonta, NY 13820
(607) 431-3454
1) Special Collections/Archives
2) 19th and early 20th century textbooks, methods books and popular fiction; NYS verse; faculty publications; Folio Society; private presses; college history, photographs and yearbooks
3) Mainly students; some community and faculty
4) Monday-Friday 1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m.
5) Diane A. Clark, Acting Head of Cataloguing, Special Collections Librarian
6) Yes
7) Have had successful bibliographic instruction with some Education Department faculty using early textbooks; we host about six public programs a year; mainly interested faculty contact the SCC librarian. These are mostly humanities and literature lectures, but some slide presentations are made on community interests

State University of New York College at Oswego
Penfield Library
Oswego, NY 13126
(315)341-3537/3538/3110
1) Special Collections/Archives
2) College archives; local history; rare books. Millard Fillmore and Marshall Papers.
3) Undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, staff, community members, local historians, genealogists, State, other states, and other countries
4) Monday and Thursday afternoons 1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. during the semester. At these times, we have two staff members to serve researchers. Available other times by special arrangement, but we can serve researchers better during our regular open hours
5) Nancy Seale Osborne, Associate Librarian, and Judith Wellman, Professor of History, are Coordinators of Special Collections. The Special Collections Coordinating Group meets monthly; it consists of Dr. Wellman, librarians, staff members, and student archival interns. This staff provides excellent information and research assistance. We have been especially busy during the past several years during which time the college has celebrated its 125th year and the inauguration of our new president, Dr. Stephen L. Weber
7) Our collection has been thoroughly evaluated by a conservator from the Northeast Document Conservation Center, and we are slowly attempting to follow her excellent suggestions. We have received two NYS conservation/preservation grants: one for disaster workshops which were held in two New York State locations last year, the other for microfilming Oswego City Directories. Penfield Library Associates, a "Friends of the Library" organization, has granted funds for indexing 19th century Oswego newspapers and for microfilming the college's student newspaper. Auxiliary Services has completed the funding requirements begun by the Associates and by The Friends of Tyler Art Gallery, to restore a charcoal drawing of Edward Austin Sheldon, the college's founder. We need to continue writing grants; we wish to continue working with archival interns, who receive three credit hours for their semester's work and who are the only current processors of our collections at the present time; we are in great need of support staff assistance, for both secretarial and processing activities. We have an ever-increasing backlog for which we are able to provide storage but no access.

SUNY Plattsburgh
Benjamin F. Feinberg Library
Plattsburgh NY 12901
(518). 564-5180 (Administration) 564-5206 (Special Collections)
1) Special Collections/Archives
2) Materials dealing with New York State in general, with particular emphasis on the Northern New York area; rare books if applicable to the curriculum; college archives; thesis master collection
3) Students, faculty, and area residents; some researchers from other areas of the state and from other states
4) Monday through Friday 9:00 a. m. - 12:00 noon; 1:00 p. m. - 4:00 p. m. Saturday 1:00 p. m. - 5:00 p. m.
5) Joseph W. Swinyer, Documents/Special Collections Librarian
6) Separate materials budget; temporary service allocation for technical assistants who assist with informational queries and processing
7) We have adequate staff to provide excellent reference and informational assistance. We do have a backlog of unprocessed or incompletely processed manuscript materials due to several very large gifts in the past few years. One collection numbered over 100,000 pieces.
Potsdam College
Frederick W. Crumb Library

5) Professor Robert W. Gleason, Director of Library Services

6) No, but we have a current allocation for 1988-89 for microfilming.

7) There is a growing need for an institutional commitment for a separate budget for microfilming, professional archival preservation, materials, equipment, and staffing. We currently have a volunteer archivist at ten hours a week and need a half-time paraprofessional and student workers in the future.

Schenectady County Community College
Washington Avenue
Schenectady, NY 12305
(518) 346-6211

1) Special Collections/Archives

2) In 1987 the collection was surveyed by a representative from the New York Historical Resources Center at Cornell University and entered into the RLN database. Two of the buildings on Campus are significant to the history of the City of Schenectady and historic photos, blueprints, and correspondence are maintained. A second part of the collection consists of files and newspaper clippings related to community efforts to establish a college. Also items that relate to the ongoing history of the institution are stored.

3) Faculty and administrative staff; occasionally students

4) Monday - Friday 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. by appointment

5) Nancy M. Heller, Director of Library Services

6) No. Materials have been donated. Supplies are purchased out of the library's supplies budget.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

An examination and analysis of the survey results leads one to several conclusions* and one recommendation. The conclusions are listed below:

* SUNY Special Collections/Archives constitute a wealth of resources, in some instances untapped.

* An up-to-date SUNY Retention and Disposal Schedule which includes archives is very much needed if campuses are to manage records well and thus retain the history of SUNY institutions.

* At a time of economic stringency, Special Collections/Archives appear to suffer the greatest.

* There is a serious question as to whether SUNY's mission includes the affirmation and maintenance of its unique heritage.

* The diversity of individual institutional support and awareness of SUNY Special Collections/Archives is evident.

* Resource sharing among and between SUNY Special Collections/Archives appears to be an idea whose time may have come.

* Assistance from and cooperation with SUNY Central Administration and the State Archives are extremely necessary if SUNY Special Collections/Archives are to survive and thrive.

* There are a number of individuals in SUNY with the expertise to serve as consultants to SUNY libraries who have relatively undeveloped Special Collections/Archives.

* Each SUNY institution has historically related to its community in unique ways; these relationships deserve to be documented.

* Town-gown relationships are enhanced by a strong Special Collections/Archives.

* Those who have specific expertise in Special Collections/Archives, could be enabled to share that information with others within the framework of SUNYLA through the creation of a Special Collections/Archives caucus, workgroup, roundtable, or whatever form SUNLYA might endorse.

The recommendation is a checklist that addresses issues raised by the survey. See: "Questions About Special Collections/Archives in SUNY Libraries: A Checklist" in Appendix C. This checklist may be utilized by librarians in SUNY to provide dialogue, muster advocacy, create change, and develop strategy with the overall objective of removing the risk to SUNY's heritage through providing for its preservation, conservation, and access.

QUESTIONS ABOUT SPECIAL COLLECTIONS/ARCHIVES

IN SUNY LIBRARIES:

A CHECKLIST

1) Does Special Collections/Archives in my library support the curriculum of the institution?

2) Is Special Collections/Archives indispensable to the administration of the institution? To the institution's public affairs office? To the institution's Alumni Association?

3) Are Special Collections/Archives holdings, services, and research opportunities publicized on campus and in the community?

4) Are manuscript collections, faculty publications, local history publications, and rare books accessible through NUCMC, OCLC or RLN?

5) Are there active advocates for Special Collections/Archives within the library, on campus, and in the community?

6) Are library professionals being kept informed by the institution's Grants Officer about grants for preservation, conservation, and research opportunities?

7) Are professional development opportunities in Special Collections/Archives offered to both library professionals and support staff?

8) Is Special Collections/Archives utilized for special programs in oral history, local history, Friends of the Library presentations?

9) Is an active effort made to incorporate Special Collections/Archives into the library's bibliographic instruction program? Is Special Collections/Archives included when library tours are offered for new students or faculty, community members, visiting parents, or specialized populations (international, non-traditional, off-campus students)?

10) Are Special Collections/Archives reference services an integral part of the library's reference and information services?

11) Is staff time provided for the creation and maintenance of adequate inventories and finding aids for Special Collections/Archives? Is adequate processing space and time available to provide access to collections?

12) Is there a regional resource organization available for assistance to Special Collections/Archives personnel (NC3Rs; RCHA--Regional Conference of Historical Agencies) for everything from acid-free archival materials to workshops on specialized needs (organization of photograph collections, grantwriting)?

13) Have all librarians and support staff had an opportunity to become familiar with the wealth of resources in Special Collections/Archives through actual hands-on experience with the materials?

14) Are at least two staff members available for open research hours in Special Collections/Archives (one for retrieving materials, and one for providing security--both for the provision of references services)?

15) Are efforts made to network and resource share with local historical societies, museums, architectural heritage groups?

16) Have local educators responsible for the New York State Regents mandate to teach local history in fourth grades been made aware of Special Collections/Archives resources? This mandate offers teachers the opportunity to utilize primary source materials (oral history, diaries, letters, census) in classroom settings, thus encouraging a new generation of historians!

17) Is Special Collections/Archives perceived as a place to deposit important local history and institutional-related materials when individuals, groups, departments, programs, corporations, or city or... county officials move, retire, clean desks, files, and houses?

18) Is there a multicultural emphasis on collections solicited for Special Collections/Archives? Does the collection reflect the diversity on SUNY campuses and in their local communities: immigrant, ethnic, racial, class, religious, gender, sexual preference, disability, age?

19) Does the collection reflect social history, that of ordinary people, men, women, and children, as well as the history of wealthy, powerful, or influential individuals?
