In an effort to review the effectiveness and the impact of the Office of Institutional Research (OIR) at El Paso Community College (EPCC) and to identify and report any significant problems with the quality of service being provided to the college president and other key policy and decision makers, an evaluation plan and survey test instrument were developed. Specifically, the evaluation would seek to answer the following key questions: (1) What is the impact of the OIR? (2) Does the office provide analytic studies and services that contribute in a positive way to a quality educational environment? (3) How effective is the operation of the office? (4) Does the office do needed studies or provide needed services? and (5) Does the office have necessary resources available to do such tasks and provide such services? Data collection for the study will involve extensive personal interviews with those directly involved with institutional research, brief personal interviews with senior managers, group brainstorming interviews with staff members having knowledge of or contact with institutional research, and mail surveys of decision makers on the OIR mailing list. This evaluation plan includes the following: a review of the OIR's purpose and clients served; a description of the purpose of the evaluation, the audience for whom the evaluation will be conducted (e.g., the director of the OIR, and the president of the college); data collection procedures and timetables; the names and titles of the individuals to be surveyed and interviewed; data collection and analysis procedures; the reporting strategy; and a copy of the 68-item test instrument. Program

Office of Institutional Research

Program's Purpose

1. To do applied research about EPCC as directed by the President of the College or his designates.

2. Fulfill specific reporting requirements of the EPCC Board of Trustees, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the U.S. Department of Education.

3. Assemble quantitative and qualitative information for use in periodic or ad hoc reviews of perspective or ongoing EPCC programs or organizational units.

4. Provide information about EPCC's environment to provide a comprehensive view that can be used for planning, policy formulation and decision making.

5. Identify institutional problems based on research findings for decision and policy makers.

6. Provide comparative data about other educational institutions for decision and policy makers.

Program Clients

President of the College
Vice President for Academic Affairs
Vice President for Financial Services
Vice President for Human Resources and Administrative Services
Vice President for Management Information Systems
Director of Systems and Programming
EPCC Board Of Trustees
Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board
Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS)
U.S. Department of Education

Program Basic Operation

The office does many periodic tasks to provide data for required reports for a variety of agencies. Staff accesses computerized data bases to write reports. The office maintains the EPCC Factbook, which provides both historical and current information about EPCC. The EPCC Factbook is supplemented irregularly by FACTSHEETS that provide both comparative and specific data about EPCC's organizational environment. Specific studies are performed as required. These requests come most often from the Director of Systems and Programming, the President of the College or College Vice Presidents. The Director of IR has considerable discretion in selecting topics for study.

FOCUS SUMMARY

Focus of Study

The major focus of the evaluation is the Office of Institutional Research (IR), a unit of Systems and Programming, in Management Information Systems at El Paso Community College (EPCC). The Office of IR operates as an administrative research arm of the College president and other key policy and decision makers. Its primary purpose has been to provide accurate and timely information about the college and its operational environment.

Periodically, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) assesses IR's effectiveness and impact on the college as part of its accreditation review of EPCC.

The primary focus of this evaluation is to review the effectiveness and impact of IR and to identify and report any significant problems with the quality of service provided to the college president and other key policy and decision makers.

A secondary focus is to recommend appropriate corrective action for any problems found in the current level of service provided by IR and to identify and report any opportunities for improved service if they exist.

Purpose

Specifically, this evaluation focuses first, on those programmatic areas that are reviewed by SACS. Special emphasis will be put on those operational areas that have been problem areas for EPCC in the past. This evaluation will provide information to the Director of Institutional Research. Hopefully, any deficiencies in the quality of service provided to the college president and other key policy and decision makers will be corrected so that they can make decisions and formulate policy more effectively.

Audiences

The client for this evaluation is the Director of the Office of Institutional Research. The Director has responsibility to oversee and direct institutional research for El Paso Community College.
Other audiences include:

1. The Director of Systems and Programming, the immediate superior of the Director of IR, will provide input during the evaluation process and respond to any proposed major changes to the Office of IR's mission or operating procedures.

2. The Vice President for Management Information Systems, the immediate superior of the Director of Systems and Programming, will provide input during the evaluation process and respond to proposed changes to the Office of IR's mission that impact EPCC organizational units that are external to Systems and Programming.

3. The President of the College will provide significant input during the evaluation process. The president also needs to approve any critical organization modifications that are beyond the authority of the Vice President for Management Information Services.

Interested stakeholders who will provide input during the evaluation process include:

4. Staffers in the Office of Institutional Research who also will provide input about current operations and respond to proposed changes in operating procedures.

5. Staffers in Systems and Programming

6. The Vice President for Academic Affairs

7. Academic Deans

8. The Assistant to the President

9. The Director of Planning and Institutional Development

10. The Director of Public Relations and Marketing

11. The Director of Institutional Evaluation

12. Vice President for Financial Services

13. Vice President for Human Resources and Administrative Services
Major Contextual Factors

1. The evaluation must be completed by 1 November 1990, so that necessary changes to IR's mission and operating procedures can be approved and implemented before the SACS accreditation team begins its review process.

2. Evaluation must be conducted within existing budget constraints, no new funds will be appropriated for this evaluation.

3. This is essentially a self evaluation in that all evaluation personnel will come from existing staff members.

4. Input for the evaluation must come from personnel who already have heavy work loads. This constraint should be considered when instruments are developed or purchased.

5. Instruments must either be tailored from previously developed instruments or developed from scratch.

6. An evaluation director must be temporarily appointed to chair the evaluation process. This will decrease the assignee's ability to do other tasks for the duration of the process.

Evaluation Questions

1. What is the impact of the Office of Institutional Research on EPCC's management?
   1.1 Does the office provide management with pertinent information for decision purposes?
   1.2 Does the office provide timely information to management for decision purposes?
   1.3 Does the office help management anticipate and deal with issues and problems?
   1.4 Does the office provide quality information that might not otherwise be available?
   1.5 Does the office contribute to ongoing institutional information systems design and consistency?

Importance

It is necessary to determine if the Office of Institutional Research is having sufficient impact on the institution. It is the very root of the question. Does it need to exist?
2. Does the office provide analytic studies and services that contribute in a positive way to a quality educational environment?

2.1 Is the acquisition of needed resources enhanced?

2.2 Are institutional resources used effectively?

2.3 Is the ability to deal with external agencies and clients improved?

2.4 Are internal evaluations and reviews of institutional programs or departments improved?

2.5 Is institutional planning improved?

2.6 Is institutional budgeting improved?

2.7 Are policy decisions made by well-informed decision makers?

2.8 Is the operation of EPCC better understood?

Importance

It is necessary to decide if the office has a positive impact on the prime mission of EPCC, that of providing quality education. Do those directly responsible for delivering education to students make better decisions.

3. How effective is the operation of the office?

3.1 Does the office anticipate institutional problems and information needs?

3.2 Can the office find out from management specific analytic study needs?

3.3 Does the office understand the organization?

3.4 Does the office maintain good working relationships with all other offices at EPCC?

3.5 Does the office communicate well and does it have clear report formats and contents?

3.6 Does the office follow through on completed studies to see if they fulfilled their intended use?

3.7 Is the office aware of trends and concerns in U.S. and Texas higher education?
Importance

It is necessary to determine if the office operates effectively to meet its objectives.

4. Does the office do needed studies or provide needed services?
   4.1 Does the office interact campus-wide?
   4.2 Does the office cover appropriate topics that relate to faculty, students, and management?
   4.3 Does the office make appropriate priority decisions among internal and external demands for information?

Importance

It is necessary to determine if the office meets the needs of those who rely on timely and accurate information.

5. Does the office have necessary resources available to do necessary tasks and provide necessary service?
   5.1 Is the staffing level adequate?
   5.2 Is the budget level adequate?
   5.3 Does the office have adequate equipment and supplies?
   5.4 Does the office have adequate office space?
   5.5 Does the office have sufficient effective research skills, knowledge, and methods?

Importance

It is necessary to determine if the office has adequate resources to do its mission.

Analysis and Interpretation Plan

Question 1

What is the impact of the Office of Institutional Research on EPCC's management?

1.1 Does the office provide management with pertinent information for decision purposes?
1.2 Does the office provide timely information to management for decision purposes?

1.3 Does the office help management anticipate and deal with issues and problems?

1.4 Does the office provide quality information that might not otherwise be available?

1.5 Does the office contribute to ongoing institutional information systems design and consistency?

Collection Procedures

In-depth interviews (1) with the three administrators directly responsible for overseeing the operation of the Office of Institutional Research and Office of Institutional Research staff members.

Structured interviews (2) [to be developed] with EPCC college president and other key senior administrators.

Decision maker survey (4) [to be developed] with select EPCC decision makers.

Data Analysis

Interview responses will be transcribed. Tendencies will be identified and categorized into question areas and reported in a Strength/Weakness format. Surveys will be tabulated using SPSSX. Item frequencies will be reported in both tables and graphical formats.
Criteria

No legal requirements, but the focus is whether the Office of Institutional Research is having sufficient impact on EPCC.

Procedure for Making Judgments

Results will be presented to Director of the Office of Institutional Research in form of an oral presentation and a written report with accompanying graphics. Any apparent weaknesses or areas of concern will be highlighted in the report and stressed in the presentation.

Question 2

Does the office provide analytic studies and services that contribute in a positive way to a quality educational environment?

2.1 Is the acquisition of needed resources enhanced?

2.2 Are institutional resources used effectively?

2.3 Is the ability to deal with external agencies and clients improved?

2.4 Are internal evaluations and reviews of institutional programs and departments improved?

2.5 Is institutional planning improved?

2.6 Is institutional budgeting improved?

2.7 Are policy decisions made by well-informed decision makers?

2.8 Is the operation of EPCC better understood?

Reporting Summary

The evaluation of the Office of Institutional Research will span four months from 6 August 1990 to 5 December 1990. This timeframe will provide ample opportunity for the evaluator to complete the evaluation and report the results. The evaluation will also be completed long enough before the SACS accreditation process begins to give the Director of Institutional Research and other policy makers time to make changes if they are determined to be necessary. The very nature of the instruments used get to the very heart of reporting. The goal is to give every client an opportunity to "report" their feeling about the office. A Gantt chart has been prepared to indicate the schedule of key work tasks. All reports are listed on it. A description of report specifics are listed below.

1. Briefing with Director of Institutional Research -- will take place every Friday from 31 August to 2 November. These will be short informal discussions intended to get the director "up to speed" about the evaluation and obtain feedback about any recent development. Goal is to lessen chance of major surprises when evaluation report is written and make corrections to evaluation plan if needed.

2. Draft Evaluation Report -- will be submitted to Director of Institutional Research 9 November 1990. It will be in every way possible complete. It will be written in chart essay format with graphics incorporated into the text. The results of the surveys and interviews will be reported and the evaluator will make recommendations about any changes that may appear to be necessary. An executive summary will be included. The Director of Institutional Research will have one week to review the Draft Evaluation Report. The Director will meet with the evaluator on 16 November to communicate any problems and concerns with the report.
3. Final Report -- (three copies) will be submitted to Director of Institutional Research on 30 November 1990.

4. Final Report Presentation -- the evaluator will be prepared to make a formal oral presentation (one hour in length) to the Director of Institutional Research and any other individuals selected by the director. Presentation will take place between 3 December and 5 December 1990.
Management Plan: Work Schedule

The Evaluation Plan Work Schedule (Gantt Chart) shows all major tasks, the start and finish parameter and the estimated duration of each task. These are estimates and serve as a guide to the evaluation plan. Unforeseen events and evaluation plan changes may cause this schedule to be modified as warranted.
