Children's Libraries; Elementary Education; Films; Guidelines; Handicrafts; Music; Poetry; *Preadolescents; *Public Libraries; *Reading Programs; *Recreational Reading; Scripts; Seafarers; *Summer Programs

Described for use by children's librarians in organizing and conducting a summer reading program for children 5 through 12 years of age, this "log book" contains suggestions for activities related to a seafaring theme together with lists of selected materials relevant to the particular activities. Samples of a press release and several public service announcements are provided as well as a suggested script for a school visit by the librarian prior to the beginning of the program. Each journey (section) has suggested stories, booktalks, poetry, music, crafts, games, community resources, and assorted other ideas. The journeys include: (1) Down to the Sea in Ships (boating skills and seamanship; barques, brigs, and galleons; and adventures on the high seas); (2) Jolly Rogers (pirates); (3) Blow Ye Winds (storms at sea and lighthouses); (4) Beneath the Sea: Underwater Treasures (fish and other sea creatures, including mermaids and mermen); (5) Land Ho! (visits to islands and their inhabitants); and (6) A Booty of Buried Treasure. A final section, Epilogue, contains a maze/puzzle ("Amazing Weather") and a script for a puppet show based on "The Ghost in the Lagoon" by Natalie Savage Carlson. A master bibliography brings together all of the materials cited in the manual, including books, records and cassettes, periodicals, and an annotated listing of state library films. Answer sheets for games and an index by types of activity conclude the manual. (BBM)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As with almost any endeavor that has wide impact, many people are responsible for successful completion. Never more so than with the Summer Library Program which is underwritten and supported by the administration of the State Library. Barratt Wilkins, State Librarian, Lorraine Summers, Assistant State Librarian, Virginia Grigg, former Chief of the Bureau of Library Development, and Sandra M. Cooper, Chief of the Bureau of Library Development, wholeheartedly support the concept of a statewide summer program for children and see it as an important component in strengthening service to youth.

The statewide Planning Committee, whose names are listed on the title page, choose the theme, advise on materials and administration, contribute to the manual and workshops and are in large part responsible for the direction the program takes each year. Participatory planning is one of the outstanding components of Florida’s program.

This year, Carole Fiore and Jana Fine edited the workshop portion of the manual and are presenting five regional workshops in Panama City, Jacksonville, Ft. Lauderdale, West Palm Beach, and Clearwater.

The Florida State University Center for Professional Development, under John Brennan, administers our LSCA grant for this Program. John always works with our best interests at heart, willing to adapt to changes and adjustments as our Program develops each year. His flexibility and good humor are great assets and we are grateful.

The consultant staff, the clerical staff, in particular secretary Teresa Lee, provided input and help with which the success of this task would not be possible. Helen Moeller, Library Services Manager, compiled a list of suitable films from the State Library collection. State Library staff assisted in untold ways. Without fail, everyone pitched in to guarantee the success of this important Program.

The energy and enthusiasm that each Youth Specialist Librarian brings to this venture, from the smallest to the largest library, makes for the incredible variety and success we call the Florida Summer Library Program. You are the key to the treasure the children of Florida will discover this summer. Haul up the anchor and unfurl the sails as we set forth together on this great adventure.
INTRODUCTION

AHOY THERE, MATES! Welcome Aboard the twenty-second annual voyage of the FLORIDA SUMMER LIBRARY PROGRAM. Our theme, "Summer Bookaneers, Sign on with Captain Book," is simply an anchor or focus for the summer's activities. It provides direction for programming and reading but should not be limiting in any way. Help children to discover that reading is the treasure.

Captain Book wishes to remind you of the guidelines under which we sail:

The Summer Library Program is designed primarily for school-aged children (5 through 12 years of age). Its purpose is to encourage library use for leisure and continued learning during the months when school is out. The Program tends to be recreational rather than educational in nature. This is more a matter of emphasis than a true difference in content. The SLP should allow children the freedom and time to follow interests and inclinations that may or may not be found in the school curriculum.

Although we realize that toddlers and preschoolers also have library needs, the primary thrust of this Program is not for that age group. This does not mean, of course, that storytime must be eliminated, only that suggestions for programs, bibliographies and materials will be aimed at a higher age level.

This year, you will be receiving doubloons as reading incentives. The Florida Program does NOT give prizes to children in competition with each other to see who can read the most books. It is not a competitive program in which one child is the winner and others are losers. Rather, in as many ways as possible, we should devise methods to make every child feel a sense of achievement and pride in accomplishment. This is where we walk the thin line between incentives and competition. Rewards for completing contracts, rewards and recognition for each book read, or for team work can be handled in such a way that there are no losers. Exactly how this is done varies and requires good judgement on the part of the librarian.

Captain Book has some additional suggestions for utilizing the rest of the treasure that you will be receiving from the FSU Center for Professional Development through the LS\CA grant funding the Program. Please call John Brennan at (904) 644-7540 if you do not receive your materials by April 1, 1990.

Posters - Space is provided for you to include additional information. If you need more space, mount the poster on a larger sheet of poster or railroad board.

Bookmarks - These are your first form of publicity. Use them freely during your school visits.
Reading Log and Rubber Stamps - This year the cover of the Log has a place for the reader's name. Large lines are provided in the Log for the Bookaneers to keep track of their reading. Two activities are also included. Use the rubber stamp to stamp each book read if you so desire or as part of the Crew I.D.

Repro Sheets - Logo sheet, letter head, certificate, and a game sheet are provided.

Evaluation Forms - Please read the forms as soon as you get them and then put them in a safe place. This way, you will know what figures and records to keep. Program attendance figures are important because it is a concrete measure of the impact of the Summer Library Program.

To ensure a successful program, advance publicity must not be neglected. Utilize the posters as well as the press release and public service announcements which are found in this manual. Make a costume (a pirate hat and a vest) and you, a staff member, or a child can become the mascot, Captain Book.

School visits do make a difference. We have included a script for a school visit to promote the Program thus making it easier for you. Do remember though, advance planning is a must. Contact the Director of Media Services, Media Specialist, Principal, or whoever is responsible for arranging such in-school visits early to determine how to proceed. Stay in touch and follow up to make sure all proceeds as planned.

Make your library an inviting place for the youth of your community. Many ideas for displays and decorations to arouse interest are included in the manual. These tips and ideas are limited only by your imagination and space constraints.

Captain Book hopes that you will utilize the tips in this manual and the ideas you gain at the workshops to help you chart a course to adventure. Smooth sailing to all.
A FEW WORDS OF THANKS

This period of transition at the State Library has provided us a unique experience while working to develop the Summer Library Program manual. While we put lots of love and hard work and an uncountable number of hours into this project, we would like to personally thank the following people for their efforts, time, and support:

Virginia Grigg, for starting us off in the right direction;

Sandy Cooper, who picked up the project and helped us chart our course;

Susan Craig, for the marvelous art work which incorporated all of our ideas and requests;

Numerous editors, sales representatives and publishers who provided us with information and advance copies of 1990 publications thus allowing us to include them in this manual;

Viking Penguin, Inc. for allowing us to use the illustrations by Robin Jacques from the book THE SEA, SHIPS AND SAILORS: POEMS, SONGS, AND SHANTIES SELECTED BY WILLIAM COLE as part of this manual;

The Summer Library Program Planning Committee members—Alma Brown, Shirley Collins, Karen Jensen, Marlene Lee, Marsha McGrath, Laura Pegues, Betsy Purdy, Ann Spady and March Staples -- and any persons who helped them with their contributions to this manual;

Molly Kinney, for her fellowship, assistance and advice in preparing this manual, above and beyond the call of duty;

John Adams, Director, Joe Stines, Manager, Youth Services Section, and all the Youth Specialists at the Tampa-Hillsborough County Public Library System, and especially the staff of the Seminole Branch Library for their support, understanding and assistance;

Linda Mielke, Director, Marsha McGrath, Youth Services Coordinator, and the entire staff of the Clearwater Public Library System for their support and artistic abilities;

Natalie Savage Carlson, for allowing us to adapt her marvelous book into a puppet show;

Virginia Rivers, for creating the memorable puppet show;
Mark Weddell, Creative Consulting, for helping and persevering through the hardships of the print-out;

Merle MacNab, for writing the PSA’s and press releases;

Bert Weber and Kathleen Matheny for searching for materials at the last moment;

Everyone else we may have forgotten about while crossing these stormy seas;

And last but not least, our families (Carole’s husband Stan and Jana’s mother Ruby) for cooking for themselves, doing laundry and housework, and generally putting up with us while we worked overtime to give this project our very best efforts.

Carole Fiore and Jana Fine

ABOY THERE, MATES! Captain Book has arrived to begin the twenty second voyage into the Florida Summer Library Program. The Captain is recruiting a willing and jolly crew to accompany him on this expedition.

Some of you may be familiar with the Captain’s exploits, but for those who are not, let us introduce you to him.

The Captain was born on a deserted island in the South Seas. His mother, a mermaid, released him to the care of his father, a merchant sea man.

At an early age, he was apprenticed to the Captain of the Sloop John B. (otherwise known as the Sloop-bee), who had a deep love of knowledge, travel and books. He spent so much time in the galley reading that he received the nick name “Galley N. Book.”

When Galley was a teen, the Sloop-bee was boarded by a band of pirates. Though he himself became a pirate (for his own survival), Galley never lost his love of reading, poetry and music. Due to his fair treatment of all, the crew adopted Galley as one of their own and he rose through the ranks to become Captain.

Many years later, Captain Book’s ship was blown off course and became shipwrecked near the Florida coastline. He and his crew found refuge in many of the libraries they visited while on land. They still survive there -- in books and our imagination.

The accompanying log book is a guide to the voyage Captain Book wants you to take your young Bookaneers on this summer. You will sail through sections on sailors and their vessels, pirates and their exploits, storms, underwater adventures, escapades on islands, and experience the pleasure of finding your own treasures.

Captain Book and his crew have designed this log book to assist you in charting your course throughout the summer. Each journey (section) has suggested stories, booktalks, poetry, music, crafts, games, community resources, and assorted other ideas. FEEL FREE TO PLUNDER MATERIALS FROM OTHER JOURNEYS WHILE ON YOUR WAY TO THE TREASURE. Remember, this manual is actually a bibliography of SELECTED materials. You have the ultimate responsibility of planning, developing and presenting the individual programs which are most suited to your clientele.

To prepare yourself to Captain your vessel, appropriate preparations must be made. A pirate hat and vest will help your Bookaneers identify you as the Captain during the commissioning of the Program. You may wish to embellish your Captain’s outfit with a sword or cutlass, a sash, and bags of jewels and other priceless items. Enlist the aid of the sail maker and have them create a complete pirate costume for you using Butterick pattern number 6731 (adult), Butterick pattern number 6730 (child), or Simplicity pattern number 7651 (child). Another source for decorating and costume tips is:

SECRET SPACES IMAGINARY PLACES (McCoy)
To start your own pirate adventure, use the directions for making pirate costumes and a pirate ship.

Turn your library into a pirate ship. Refrigerator cartons can be plundered from local appliance stores and turned into ships, room dividers, bulletin boards, treasure chests, etc. All it takes is a little bit of time and imagination. Ropes, wheels and other ship paraphernalia, island scenes, underwater panoramas, tropical foliage and animals will all contribute to a nautical ambience.

Launch your voyage to the accompaniment of chanteys and sea songs. Create an atmosphere of bygone days of square riggers and the teamwork needed to sail the seven seas by singing and playing work songs, forecastle songs, ballads and laments. Many of these songs can be found in and on:

AMERICAN SEA SONGS AND CHANTEYS (Shay)
THE OXFORD BOOK OF SEA SONGS (Palmer)
WIND IN THE RIGGING (cassette)
Contains arrangements of traditional and contemporary music of the sea.

Relate Captain Book’s love for poetry of the sea by sharing selections from:

OXFORD BOOK OF POETRY FOR CHILDREN
The section entitled "The World of Waters is Our Home" can be used throughout the summer.

THE SEA, SHIPS & SAILORS: POEMS, SONGS AND SHANTIES
This is a veritable treasure trove which crosses all program sections.

To assist you in netting your Bookaneers, the Captain has developed several items for your use in garnering publicity from the local media. When utilizing the press releases and public service announcements found on the following pages, make sure you include the name of a contact person in the library who can answer additional questions that the press may have about your Program. Make your press release noticeable by placing it on Captain Book’s masthead (letter head repro sheet). Don’t forget to include the date you want publicity to start and end.

CAPTAIN BOOK'S SCHOOL VISIT

PROPS NEEDED:
Mailing box with large mailing labels.
Scroll
Bag of Gold and Silver coins (Doubloons)

COSTUME:
Captain Book should be adorned in Pirate costume—hat, vest—and weird shoes (clown, oversized, strange looking, etc.)

(Captain Book enters from off stage or from back of class room and begins speaking.)

Good Morning, Good Morning. I’m Captain Book from the Library. Just as I left my pirate ship this morning, the mailman gave me this package.

(Lifts and displays a large mailing box.)

The label says it’s for the boys and girls at School, but the letter carrier delivered it to me. So, I’m sure it’s mine. I waited till I got here to open it because I was in such a hurry to get here. I couldn’t find my pirate boots. That’s why I’m running late. I looked and looked for almost an hour, and they were nowhere to be found, so I had to borrow these. Pretty awful, don’t you think?

(Takes off one of the shoes he/she is wearing. Holds it up. Make sure it’s a really weird shoe.)

Whew, what a smell!

(Holds nose and drops the shoe quickly.)

Now let’s see what’s in my package.

(Opens package slowly and carefully. Peers in. Eyes get wide with wonder.)

Oh, my goodness! I’ve won the lottery.
Very excitedly, Captain Book reaches into the box and pulls out a coin bag, some loose coins, and a scroll. Allow loose coins to drop through fingers into mailing box.

Oh, look! There's a scroll in here. It's some kind of letter.

(Spoken as an aside.)

I wonder how much money I've won. I love money.

(Continues jingling coins)

I can hardly wait to read this letter. Maybe it will tell me what else I've won.

(Jingles coins again.)

This is a lot of money.

(Pears into box again.)

I'm going to buy a gold anchor for my pirate ship, a silver eye patch, some designer jeans, a new skateboard, and I think I'll take a trip to Disney World to see the Pirates of the Caribbean. And what else? What else do you think I should use my money for?

(Point to shoes.)

Boots, yes, new boots would be a real good idea.

(Unrolls scroll.)

Hey, wait a minute. This scroll is from the State of Florida.

(Show State seal on the back of the unrolled scroll.)

They must want me to pay taxes on all this money I've won. Oh, well. If I have to pay taxes, I will. There will still be a lot of money left, just for me! Boots, eye patch, skateboard. I can hardly wait to go shopping.

(Reads quietly for a moment. Gets more agitated as he/she reads.)

Oh, no. I don't believe it!

(Reads aloud from the scroll.)

"Dear Captain Book.
Enclosed are many gold coins. They are for the boys and girls of [School]."

(Astonished.)
What? I don’t believe it. I didn’t win the lottery. You boys and girls are getting these coins. I want them.

(Greedily clutches box to chest.)

What about my trip to Pirates of the Caribbean? What about my silver eye patch? What about my new boots?

(Continues reading from the scroll.)

"The State of Florida is looking for boys and girls to be Summer Bookaneers. A Summer Bookaneer is any boy or girl who reads ten books this summer. They will get these coins at their public library."

(Quizzically. With disbelief.)

Do you believe these coins are not for me? Hmmm. I wonder if I could be a Summer Bookaneer. I’ve read a few books in my time. I liked some of them, too. I read that famous one TREASURE ISLAND. Some of my friends were in that. You want to talk about a humdinger of a book, or was that a swashbuckler. I get those words mixed up sometimes. They do sound alike, don’t they? I’ll bet TREASURE ISLAND would count as one of my books. Let’s see what else the letter says.

(Continues reading from the scroll, a little more excitedly now.)

"But these coins aren’t the only treasure. Every book read is a treasure in some way. Be sure to tell the boys and girls that, Captain Book. Florida wants every boy and girl in Florida to be a Summer Bookaneer in 1990. Thank you for talking to the boys and girls of _____________ School. You, Captain Book, are a good friend to libraries. Sincerely, Signed Reed N. Buchs, Florida Librarian."

(Continues speaking, slightly disappointed.)

So, I didn’t win the lottery. But I can read ten books and be very rich indeed. Boys and girls, would you like to be Summer Bookaneers? Then go to the _____________ Library and enjoy a summer of reading.

(Pause, briefly. Speak, wistfully.)

Look at these beautiful coins.

(Allow coins to sift through fingers.)
I have to share them with all of you readers. But, I don’t mind, because I’m going to be a Summer Bookaneer, too! I’m going to start by reading TRUE TALES OF PIRATES AND THEIR GOLD.1

I hope that all of you will be Summer Bookaneers with me. See you at the Library and don’t forget to ask for your gold coin.

(Places scroll back in mailing carton along with coins. Starts to leave.)

I might have to wear these shoes all summer.

(Takes off shoes and carries them.)

(Muttering under his/her breath as he/she walks off/out.)

I wonder if I could trade these coins for a new pair of boots.

* * * * * * * *

It is each library’s decision whether or not to have registration for your Program. If you decide to sign your crew on in advance, you may want your registration sheets to resemble a ship’s log. The form below is only a suggestion. Please feel free to adapt this form for your own use.

DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS

Wherein Captain Book and his crew learn the sailor's craft and set out on their voyage...

Captain Book learned navigation and chart reading, knotting, ship-building, and other important nautical skills while an apprentice seaman. Once he became accomplished at these skills, he was able to set forth on great adventures. Help your Booka-neers learn some basic sailing skills and set forth on your own adventures.

STORIES

BOATING SKILLS AND SEAMANSHIP

THE FAMILY STORYTELLING HANDBOOK (Pellowski)
"The Captain from Krakow" - This paper folding trick tale would be a perfect accompaniment for MONTIGUE ON THE HIGH SEAS and PAPER JOHN.

FERGUS AND BRIDEY (Dunrea)
Fergus and his four-legged friend set out in their boat to follow a treasure map.

FULL SPEED AHEAD (Irving)
"A Seaworthy Craftable Craft," "Ship Shape," and "Who Will Save the Day?" are good choices for nautical participation stories.

JUST ENOUGH TO MAKE A STORY (Schimmel)
"The Rainhat" is another paper folding trick tale. Rescue the heroine by making her a life jacket.

LITTLE TIM AND THE BRAVE SEA CAPTAIN (Ardizzone)
Little Tim had always longed to be a sailor. When the opportunity arises, he seizes the chance and discovers that there is more to being a sailor than he ever dreamed.

SALTY DOG (Rand)
Salty the dog helps his master build a sailboat.

THE VOYAGE OF THE JOLLY BOAT (Rettich)
Eleven year-old Jan proves his seafaring abilities with the help of his sister and a friend.
BARQUES, BRIGS, AND GALLEONS

BOAT BOOK (Gibbons)
Introduces many kinds of boats and ships.

BOATS (Rockwell)
Depicts boats and ships of varying sizes and uses.

A CAPITAL SHIP OR THE WALLOPING WINDOWBLIND (Carryl)
A frolicking adventure aboard a most unusual vessel.

EXPLORING THE TITANIC (Ballard)
Describes the large luxury liner which sank in 1912 and the discovery and exploration of its underwater wreckage.

I SAW A SHIP A-SAILING (Domanska)
Brilliant pictures enliven this classic rhyme of the sea.

THE WRECK OF THE ZEPHYR (Van Allsburg)
Fly with a boy as he adventures in an airborne sailboat.

ADVENTURES ON THE HIGH SEAS

THE AMAZING VOYAGE OF JACKIE GRACE (Faulkner)
Join Jackie as his imagination takes him on a fantastic voyage with amazing adventures.

BOBBY SHAFTO’S GONE TO SEA (Taylor)
Based on an old nursery song, Bobby Shafto’s unhappy experiences at sea change him from a dandy to a tough match for pirates.

FOUR BRAVE SAILORS (Ginsburg)
Four mice are brave sailors who fear nothing except the cat.

JOHN TABOR’S RIDE (Day)
A seafaring tale about a man who takes an incredible journey on the back of a whale.

JOLLY MON (Buffett)
The adventures of a fisherman who finds a magic guitar floating in the Caribbean Sea.

LITTLE FOX GOES TO THE END OF THE WORLD (Tompert)
Join Little Fox as she sets off for adventure across the high seas.

THE MAGGIE B (Haas)
A little girl’s wish to sail for a day on a boat named for her “with someone nice for company” comes true.
MONTIGUE ON THE HIGH SEAS (Himmelman)
After being flooded out of his home, an adventurous mole leads a crew of shipbound mice on a daring rescue.

PETER PENNY'S DANCE (Quin-Harkin)
A rollicking tale based on an English ballad.

SAILOR DOG (Brown)
When Scupper the sailor dog becomes shipwrecked on a deserted island, he discovers a treasure.

SHEEP ON A SHIP (Shaw)
Sheep on a deep-sea voyage run into trouble when it storms and are glad to return to port.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE (Gerrard)
A poetic version of the life of this famous sea captain.

TALE OF THREE LANDLUBBERS (Serraillier)
Three bored landlubbers dream of adventure on the high seas only to find that there's no place like home.

COMMUNITY RESOURCES

The following organizations might be able to spice up your programs on sailing and sailors:

- Dock or Harbor Master (if your community has one)
- Local yachting and boating clubs
- U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and U. S. Power Squadron local chapters:
  - These two organizations offer programs on boating safety as well as courses on navigation. Check to see what programs they may be able to offer in your library during the summer months.
- Scout Groups may be able to provide someone for marlinespike instruction or semaphore demonstrations.
- Local astronomy clubs can sponsor a night sky watch to help your Bookaneers learn to steer by the stars.
THE CROW’S NEST

Keep a sharp eye, mates! Follow the directions of the compass to connect the dots. You will spell out something that Captain Book and his crew are on the watch for!

IDEA! Have children write their names on clip clothespins with permanent marker. Decorate with small shells.

COPYCAT. May/June 1988
Simple directions for constructing a parrot pinata.

EASY ORIGAMI (Nakano)
"Floating boat" can be used to sail off at the end of the program.

EXCITING THINGS TO DO WITH NATURE MATERIALS (Allen)
Shell necklaces are attractive and can be worn on any island. Shells also can decorate your treasure chests or be made into island natives.

THE FINE ART OF GARNISHING (Crowley)
Make a gelatin ocean and plant your carrot and green pepper palm trees on an island made from "greens" (parsley, kale, etc.). Other tasty creations include a watermelon whale and a ship to fill with tropical fruit cargo.
FUNNY BAGS (Pf\ug)
Make a palm tree to plant on your island.

THE INCREDIBLE YEAR-ROUND PLAY BOOK (McCoy)
Make a sand casting of Friday's footprint. Try a sand painting similar to the whale in this book. Sand jar art - Collect baby food jars and other small containers and use the directions for coloring the sand. Underwater binoculars can be made using milk cartons to see underwater clearly.

MAKING THINGS (Wiseman)
Have cardboard sea gulls swoop from your ceiling using these simple directions.

MAKING TOYS THAT SWIM AND FLOAT (Gilbreath)
Underwater creatures come to life through a variety of toy making techniques.

THE MELLOPS GO DIVING FOR TREASURE (Ungerer)
A family of pigs explores the ocean bottom and returns triumphant.

PADDY UNDER WATER (Goodall)
Paddy the adventurous pig saves a baby sea serpent and is rewarded by King Neptune with the treasure.

PIRATE JAKE
This is an original participation story created for this Program by Joan Allen of the Leon County Public Library System.

Have the audience do exactly what the storyteller does. It is more effective if done fast, becoming faster as the tension builds. The storyteller pantomimes all of the underlined words. One person can act out the story while another person reads, if so desired. The person acting may want to dress as a pirate or use props such as a shovel or parrot.

Pirate Jake woke up early. He STRETCHED. Today’s the day he’d find the treasure. He JUMPED out of his bunk and STRETCHED, and YAWNED. Pirate Jake BREATHED IN the salty air and BREATHED OUT the salty air. He PUT ON his golden earring; he PUT ON his boots. He PICKED UP his sword and FED the SCREECHY PARROT. He GRABBED his treasure map and shovel and JUMPED into a rowboat. He ROWED and ROWED and STOPPED. He ROWED and ROWED and STOPPED. He reached the shore. His feet HIT the sand. He LOOKED to the left. He LOOKED to the right. He LOOKED all around. He STUDIED his map. He DUG and DUG. No treasure! He DUG and DUG. He HIT something. What was it? He SCRATCHED his head. It’s a chest. He HEARD a noise. Oh, no! It was a hungry alligator. He GRABBED the chest. He RAN and JUMPED in the rowboat. He ROWED and ROWED and STOPPED. He ROWED and ROWED and STOPPED. He reached the ship and CLIMBED aboard. He PICKED UP the chest. He PUT DOWN the chest. He FLUNG OPEN the chest. Pirate Jake LOOKED SURPRISED. Inside was another treasure map. He FED the SCREECHY PARROT and WENT TO BED so he could get up early to start all over again.

OVERHEAD VIEW OF SET-UP

AUDIENCE
CLOSE-UP OF PLAYBOARD

2 ironing board playboards (see diagram). One is placed at right side of staging area, the other at the left. Playboard on the right has shack on stage right and scarecrow (to be added when action begins) on stage left. Playboard on the right has a small bank with log (puppet stand) on the stage right area and the rest is blue for water.

VIDEO

Stage right playboard has shack in place already. Puppeteer comes out and places scarecrow in place on stage left and pulls hat over it’s face. Puppeteer then goes back to shack and gets father puppet, 2 fishing rods, and lantern.

Father enters from shack and crosses stage to stage left as he speaks, then turns, puts lantern down and looks towards shack waiting for son.

Enter Timmy, Speaking as he enters. Looks around father toward the direction of the lagoon and then at father.

AUDIO

STORYTELLER: Way down South, Timmy Hawkins lived with his parents in a tumble-down shack on a poor piece of land. Their cornfield was guarded by a scarecrow whose clothes were tattered. A shapeless hat flopped over his face, as if the scarecrow did not wish to be seen. One year the corn crop was so poor that there was little food on the Hawkins’ table. Finally the father said...

FATHER: I will go fishing in the lagoon out yonder tonight. There should be plenty of catfish in that muddy water.

TIMMY: Pa, do you think Ma could be right? She said that everyone keeps talking about the lagoon being haunted. No one ever goes there at night.
Father examines rod.

Timmy steps back almost as if he isn't sure he wants to go to the lagoon.

Father walks over to son and puts his arm around him. Looks down on him and pats his shoulder, then turns to go and walks a few steps.

Timmy picks up lantern and runs to catch up with father.

Father and son walk away from playboard on stage right and begin journey to playboard on stage left. This should be a circuitous journey which gives the feeling of travel and allows the storyteller time to deliver the dialogue. Appropriate country music can be playing in the background.

Father and son sit down on log and put lantern down. Father hands small rod to son who casts it into the water area.

Action follows dialogue.

Father helps son up and examines the line.

FATHER: But night's when catfish bite best.

TIMMY: But Pa, she said even hunting dogs chasing a possum turn back if the possum makes a run for the lagoon.

FATHER: Night's when possums come out of their hidey-holes too. If we're going to have some fish for our table, then night's the time we're going to have to do our fishing.

TIMMY: (small pause as if he is making a decision) I'll go with you, Pa.

STORYTELLER: The father carried the fishing poles and the boy carried the lantern. They went whish, whish through the tall weeds and stunted oaks to the water's edge. The lantern's light showed crooked shadows creeping through the trees as if spying on them. Hanging moss brushed their faces like ghostly fingers.

They sat down on a low mound at the edge of the lagoon.

(TIME FOR ACTION)

FATHER: You can throw the line and hold the pole.

(TIME FOR ACTION)

STORYTELLER: There was a sharp tug on the line, and they heard a loud WHISH like the slash of a knife. (TIME) The line broke in two, and Timmy fell backward. (TIME) A loon's mock? laugh came from a nearby clump of cattails.

FATHER: Must have been a granddaddy catfish to break that line. Good thing we brought...
Follow action.

Tug of war between thing at the end of the line and Timmy and his father.

Father and son look into lagoon as if trying to see what took their pole, then turn for home. Journey home to shack.

FATHER: Must have been an alligator pulling on that line. I’ll make a new pole, and best I do the fishing tomorrow night.

BRIEF MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Timmy and Father enter from shack and start on 2nd journey. Father is speaking as they start on journey.

Follow action in dialogue.

Pirate ghost rises up slowly and mysteriously from water.

Pirate ghost moves toward father and son in a menacing manner.

along another fishing pole. Here try this stronger one.

STORYTELLER: Timmy tossed out the line with a WHISH. (TIME) Something grabbed the line and tugged so hard that Timmy and the pole were dragged into the water. (TIME) His father tried to pull him on the bank. But Timmy kept slipping into the weeds and mud at the water's edge. (TIME)

TIMMY: Something’s got hold of me! Something’s trying to drown me!

FATHER: Let go of the pole, Timmy! (SPASH) (TIME) to allow Timmy to get out of the water and onto the bank.

FATHER: This pole I cut this morning is a LOT stouter and the line is much stronger too. But if an alligator gets the hook tonight, I’ll let go of the pole fast.

STORYTELLER: The shadows in the oaks move closer and closer to them. The hanging moss clawed at their faces. But they didn’t see an alligator on the bank, and so they sat down on the mound. (TIME) The father tossed the line, WHISH, into the water... (TIME)

. . . Suddenly, an eerie form appeared. (TIME)

GHOST: Haven’t I given you enough warning to stay away from here? (Waves cutlass at Timmy and Father) Next time, I’ll cut you into bait for your hook!
Timmy and Father hug for protection and then both turn and run for home.

Father and son are at stage left area of right hand playground. Father has arm around Timmy.

Thinking motion.

Father starts toward shack.

Timmy stops him.

Timmy and Father enter shack.

TIMMY: It's a pirate's ghost!

(Journey back to stage right playground - quickly, as if running)

FATHER: (breathing heavily)

That lagoon is haunted by a pirate's ghost, son. He was the one who cut your line and tried to drown you.

TIMMY: He must be guarding treasure buried in the mound. That's why he wants to keep us away.

FATHER: If only HE would go away, we could dig up the treasure. We certainly need it.

TIMMY: Let's go there during the day and dig for it. Ghosts are only about at night. That's what they say.

FATHER: We'll go tomorrow, Timmy.

BRIEF MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Timmy and Father set off on journey to lagoon.

Shovel is pulled by puppeteer from Father's hand, swirls in the air, and then whacks Timmy on the head.

Timmy rubs his head where he has been hit by shovel.

STORYTELLER: The next day, his father took the shovel, and Timmy went with him to take turns with the digging. The oaks didn't look so scary in the daylight. The moss hung gray and still. (TIME - MAKE SURE THERE IS ENOUGH TIME FOR THEM TO GET IN POSITION FOR DIGGING)

STORYTELLER: The father pushed the shovel into the mound.

TIMMY: Oow! I think the ghost did it, even if we can't see him.

FATHER: Best we give up digging and fishing. Better to go hungry then have you get cracked in the head or be drowned.
Father and son return to shack.

STORYTELLER: So the family had less and less to eat. Timmy grew angrier and angrier with the ghost.

BRIEF MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Timmy is covered with sheet when he enters from shack. He peeks around corner of shack before coming out. Then slowly walks towards stage left until he suddenly jumps, startled, when he is even with the scarecrow. Looks over scarecrow, scratching his head as he thinks.

ACTION follows dialogue.

Timmy holds scarecrow ghost over his head.

During storytelling narrative, repeat the journey to the lagoon. Stop to shiver in fright and to look around occasionally.

He wanted to run back home like the hunting dogs. They could scent danger, as well as possums. But he already had come this far.
Ghost rises up from the water.

Ghost becomes even taller.

Pirate backs off and sinks into lagoon.

Timmy returns to shack. Timmy and Father make journey to mound once more.

Timmy and Father start digging. Stop occasionally to look into hole and then continue digging.

They bring up chest, open it, and show gold coins.

TIMMY: I must carry out my plan!

STORYTELLER: When he reached the bank, he held the scarecrow higher.

TIMMY: (in a ghostly voice) 00-oo-oo I’ve come to see you.

GHOST: Who are you, and why have you come here? The treasure is mine.

TIMMY: I am the ghost of one of your victims. I’m not after the treasure. I have come for YOU! They’ve sent me to bring you to the fires below for your wicked deeds.

PIRATE: NO! NO! I won’t go with you.

TIMMY: He seems so scared, I don’t think he will come back soon.

(Music for return journey.)

STORYTELLER: So the next day, they went to the mound with a new shovel. (ALLOW TIME TO REACH MOUND) The father began to dig, STOMP, WHISH, STOMP, WHISH. Timmy held his breath. Had the pirate’s ghost really been frightened enough to stay away? What would happen if he came back? He would surely cut them into bait.

(SCRAPING SOUND - SHOVEL HITS CHEST)

TIMMY: We’ve hit something, Pa!

FATHER: It’s a small rusty chest!

TIMMY: I hope it’s filled with gold coins! . . . (TIME TO OPEN) It is!

FATHER: These are better than catfish! Let’s take this home and show your mother.
Timmy and Father start journey home carrying chest of gold between them. Exit into shack.

Storyteller/puppeteer comes out dressing scarecrow in nice clothes and puts him back in place.

STORYTELLER: So they used the gold to build a nice house on a better piece of land. From then on, there was plenty of food on the table.

And the scarecrow always had good clothes. The pirate’s ghost never returned to the lagoon. But sometimes it is seen in other places way down South. That’s what they say.
MASTER BIBLIOGRAPHY

This bibliography includes all of the materials that have been cited in the manual. Other materials have also been included in the bibliography although we did not suggest them as part of a specific journey. We have done so to assist you in collection development. Not every title listed is appropriate for every collection.

We have tried to limit the number of Out of Print items whenever possible. However, we realize that all libraries will have access to them through their own collections or the FLIN Network (Interlibrary Loan).

ISBN numbers are listed following publisher and copyright data for those items still in print. In italics and flush with the right hand margin will be the pages in this manual where the books appear.

ANIMALS OF A LIVING REEF
248  F  COL  18 min G
Coral reefs contain a richer variety of plant and animal species than any other ecosystem on earth. In this film the audience slips into the clear, sunlit, tropical waters of the Great Barrier Reef to glide alongside sharks, moray eels, mauna rays, sea turtles, starfish, deadly stonefish, and brilliantly colored coral formations. DOLPHIN
1139  F  COL  58 min G
A documentary on these intelligent, graceful, sea-going mammals. "Dolphin" graces the history of dolphin lore from antiquity to present times and gives a sense of respect and affection for this friendly sea creature with as yet untapped intelligence. A crew sets out on a remarkable adventure to meet and make friends with wild dolphins in the crystal blue waters of the Bahamas. An underwater piano is used to attract a school of wild dolphins who join their human companions in an exquisite underwater ballet. FILMS, INC, 1979

DOLPHINS: OUR FRIENDS FROM THE SEA
1140  F  COL  15 min E
An animated sequence illustrates the characteristics that make a dolphin a mammal: breathing air, giving birth to and nursing their young. The dolphin's use of echolocation and eating habits are described. Live action shows dolphins being trained with whistles, hand signals, and reward. The great care taken in capturing dolphins and bringing them to an oceanarium is documented. FILMS, INC

DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS
1152  F  COL  54 min JHA
Since time immemorial, man has gone "down to the sea in ship," leaving behind a wake of adventure, mystery, daring - a history. This story is told from the standpoint of history and of the present. Through historic pictures, and the words of Hesse and Conrad, the film captures the sense of fear and the desire to explore the great unknown. (UNDERSEA ODYSSEY) WALT DISNEY FILMS, INC
