Foreword

When the MAVCC staff began the process of revising the Food Production, Management, and Services series, it was found that the content presented was relatively sound and that the materials were presented in a logical manner to assist students in mastering the skills of their chosen occupation. This series contains a core publication, Introduction, and five spin-off publications, Service, Production, Baking, Fast Foods, and Management. Students may specialize in any of several occupations related to the food service area.

The success of this series of publications is due, in large part, to the capabilities of the personnel who worked with its development. Appreciation is extended to them for their valuable contributions to the publications.

These materials are not only designed for student use, but to assist teachers in improving instruction. Instructional materials in this publication are based on the competency-based concept of first stating the objectives (objective sheet), teaching to the objectives (information, assignment, and job sheets), and assessing to those same objectives (criterion-referenced evaluation instruments).

Every effort has been made to make these materials basic, readable, and by all means, useable. Three vital parts of instruction have been intentionally omitted from each publication: motivation, personalization, and localization. These areas are left to the individual instructors to present as part of their classroom/laboratory discussion.

Special attention should be given to the suggestions on ways to increase reinforcement of the academic and workplace basic skills. By reinforcing these skills, the instructor should assist students in improving their employability skills.

As you use these instructional materials, we hope that you will find that they contribute to the quality of your program. If any problems occur or if you have any suggestions for improvement of the materials, please call or write us.

Appreciation is extended to those individuals who contributed their time and talent to the development of Food Production, Management, and Services: Management.

The contents of this publication (second edition) were reviewed by the following food management teachers:

Wes Bundy          Northeast Oklahoma AVTS, Afton, OK
Richard Clark      Tulsa County AVTS--Lemley Campus, Tulsa, OK
Carol Hudson       Western Oklahoma AVTS, Burns Flat, OK
Brenda Rzlinio     Great Plains AVTS, Lawton, OK
Ray Stonerock      Great Plains AVTS, Lawton, OK
Georganne Westfall Southern Oklahoma AVTS, Ardmore, OK

Gratitude is expressed to Edna Ruth Mahaffey and Betty True, Oklahoma, for their assistance and support, and to Ron Mehrer, North Dakota, and Donna Brookhart, Colorado, for submitting validated food service task lists which were compared with the existing MAVCC materials.

Appreciation is also extended to the original planning committee and to those individuals and organizations who supported this project. They include:

Gratitude is also expressed to employees of the Graphics Division of the Oklahoma Department of Vocational-Technical Education for artwork, paste-up, phototypesetting, and printing of this text.

A final thank you to Mary Kellum for her assistance in editing and developing this second edition and to Jane Huston for her assistance in coordinating this project.
Use of Introductory Materials

Introductory materials are included in the teacher guide only and contain useful information to assist administrators and teachers in planning for instruction.

In addition to the general information such as the table of contents, foreword, and acknowledgements page, information is included on the following:

1. Use of this publication—Explains the components of a unit of instruction and how they should be used as part of the teaching/learning process.

2. Competency profile—Provides a record of student performance for each task included in a unit of instruction. This becomes a part of the student’s permanent records and should be utilized when directing the student toward employment opportunities.

3. Instructional/task analysis—Provides a quick review of contents of the publication; identifies cognitive (knowledge) skills and psychomotor (doing) skills addressed in each unit of instruction.

4. Related academic and workplace skills list—Classifies unit tasks (assignment sheets) according to related academic and workplace skills being reinforced. Skill areas reflected by skill groups, sub skills, and descriptions have been identified using Workplace Basics: The Skills Employers Want, developed by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor and adapted by MAVCC.

5. Reference list—Provides a comprehensive list of resources used in the development of this publication.

6. Glossary—Provides a list of terms and definitions used in the publication.

As you use these materials, it is hoped that they will provide useful information to meet a variety of needs.
Use of This Publication

Instructional units

Food Production, Management, and Services: Management contains eight units of instruction. Each instructional unit in a teacher guide includes some or all of the following basic components of a unit of instruction: objective sheet, suggested activities for the teacher, answers to assignment sheets, answers to written test, written test, unit evaluation form, teacher supplements, transparency masters, information sheet, assignment sheets, student supplements, and job sheets.

All of the unit components focus on measurable and observable learning outcomes. Teachers are encouraged to supplement, personalize, localize, and motivate with these materials in order to develop a complete teaching/learning process.

Units of instruction are designed for use in more than one lesson or class period of instruction. Careful study of each unit of instruction by the teacher will help to determine the following:

- Amount of materials that can be covered in each class period.
- Skills that must be demonstrated.
- Amount of class time needed for demonstrations.
- Amount of time needed for student practice.
- Supplementary materials, including print and nonprint media and equipment and supplies, that must be ordered.
- Resource people who must be contacted.

Objective sheet (Color code: White)

Each unit of instruction is based on performance objectives which state the goals for successful completion of the course. These performance objectives are stated in two forms: unit objectives which state the expected performance of each student after completion of the unit of instruction, and specific objectives which state what the student must do to reach the unit objective.

The objectives should be provided for students and stressed throughout the teaching/learning process. This will help answer any questions concerning performance requirements for each instructional unit. The objectives can also help determine teaching strategies and instructional methods. Teachers should prepare for each unit by deciding how each objective can best be taught.

Teachers should feel free to modify, delete, or add objectives in order to meet the needs of the students and community. When objectives are added, the teacher should remember to supply the needed information, assignment and/or job sheets, and criterion test items.
Suggested activities (Color code: Pink)

This component is included only in the teacher guide. The suggested activities assist teachers during the preparation stage of the teaching/learning process by providing an instructional plan, teaching suggestions, and a list of supplemental resources. Ways to integrate academic and workplace skills have been included in the teacher suggestions, and skill areas have been noted in bold. (A table of academic and workplace skills with accompanying definitions has been provided on page xv.) The teacher should read the suggested activities before teaching the units and decide how each objective can best be taught. Time should also be allowed to obtain supplemental materials, prepare audiovisual materials, and contact outside resources. Duties of the teacher will vary according to the particular unit.

References used in the development of each unit are listed in the suggested-activities section, along with suggested supplemental resources that may be used to teach the unit. These materials can be used by the teacher to supplement her or his knowledge of the subject area or to help students with particular interests or objectives in the area covered.

Instructions for evaluating student performance on the job sheets are also included in the suggested-activities section. Teachers should select and discuss with students the rating scale that will be used.

Assignment and written test answers (Color code: Pink)

Assignment-sheet answers and written-test answers are designed to assist the teacher in evaluation of student performances.

Written test (Color code: Yellow)

This component provides criterion-referenced evaluation of every cognitive objective listed in the unit of instruction. The test appears in the teacher guide only, but duplication is permitted for student use. If objectives have been added, deleted, or modified, appropriate changes should be made on the written test. It is recommended that the tests be divided into shorter tests covering three or four objectives at a time and given soon after those objectives have been covered. A selection of test items from the units covered may be used for final tests at the end of each term if desired.

Unit evaluation form (Color code: White)

This sheet provides teachers with a record of each student's performance on a unit of instruction. It includes space for assignment sheet ratings, job sheet ratings, written test scores, and teacher comments. The unit evaluation form is included in the teacher guide only, but may be duplicated.
Use of This Publication

Teacher supplements (Color code: White)

This component is included only in the teacher guide. Teacher supplements are optional materials for the teacher to use. They have three purposes: to provide the teacher with higher level materials to stretch the advanced student, with remedial information or practice to assist the less-advanced student, and with state-of-the-art information in which the teacher may not have background or with information that is not readily available in other books. Some teacher supplements may be duplicated for student use and are marked accordingly.

Transparency masters (Color code: White)

Transparencies are included in the teacher guide only and are used to direct the students' attention to the topic of discussion. They may provide illustrations, charts, schematics, or additional information needed to clarify and reinforce objectives included in the unit of instruction.

Information sheet (Color code: Green)

The information sheet provides the content essential for meeting the cognitive (knowledge) objectives of the unit. Teachers will find that the information sheet serves as an excellent guide for presenting background knowledge necessary to develop the skills specified in the unit objective. Students should read the information sheet before the information is discussed in class. Space is provided in margins for students and teachers to add notes that supplement, localize, personalize, or provide information for the teaching of each objective.

Student supplements (Color code: White)

Student supplements are included in the student manual. The information presented in a student supplement may consist of tables, charts, written information, forms, or other information students will need in order to complete one or more of the assignment and/or job sheets. Students are not directly tested over the information presented in a supplement; however, their ability to apply this information may be evaluated in the completion of assignment sheets or job sheets.

Assignment sheets (Color code: Tan)

Assignment sheets provide students with pencil and paper activities that give students the opportunity to make practical application of the knowledge in the information sheet. Criteria are provided to objectively evaluate student performance.
Job sheets (Color code: Blue)

The job sheets provide criteria to objectively evaluate student performance, a list of required equipment and materials, and a step-by-step procedure for performing a psychomotor skill. The teacher should discuss the equipment and materials available in the classroom and/or laboratory and demonstrate the procedure prior to having students practice procedure. When a student is ready to be evaluated, the teacher should follow instructions for evaluating student performance which may be found in the teacher guide.

Job sheets are an important segment of each unit. Job sheets provide potential employers with a picture of the skills being taught during training and the performances that might reasonably be expected from an individual who has had this training.

Disseminating material

Material may be given out a unit or page at a time to keep the material before the student always new. Some teachers ask students to furnish a three-ring binder or folder for the current unit of study. This is convenient for students taking the material home to study. Upon completion, each unit is then placed in a larger binder. Some teachers prefer to store the material by unit in filing cabinets or boxes until needed.

For best results, provide student materials for each student. Student manuals contain objective sheets, information sheets, student supplements, assignment sheets, and job sheets. Students should be allowed to take their materials home at the end of the course.

Competency Profile

Name: ____________________________

Directions: Evaluate the student using the rating scale below. Write the appropriate number to indicate the degree of competency achieved. The descriptions associated with each of the numbers focused on a level of student performance for each of the tasks listed. The written test scoreline is provided for optional teacher use. It may not be applicable in all cases.

Option A

Rating scale:

4 - Skilled - Can perform job with no additional training
3 - Moderately Skilled - Has performed job during training program; limited additional training may be required.
2 - Limited Skill - Has performed job during training program; additional training is required to develop skill.
1 - Unskilled - Is familiar with process, but is unable to perform job.
0 - No Exposure - No information or practice provided during training program, complete training required.
NA - Non-applicable.

Option B

Yes - Can perform with no additional training
No - Is unable to perform satisfactorily

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation
1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
4. Make transparencies from the transparency masters included with this unit. These appear in the teacher guide only and are designed to be used with the following objectives:
   - TM 1—Projected Employment Increases in Restaurant Industry
   - TM 2—Typical Career Ladders
5. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.
7. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application
8. Provide students with unit of instruction.
9. Discuss unit and specific objectives.
10. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
11. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation
12. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
Suggested Activities

13. Make copies of the written test.
15. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.
16. Reteach and retest as required.

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill area appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Invite a manager of a local or area restaurant to talk to the class about management qualifications in large restaurant operations, salaries, and the need for managers in the future. (Communication skills, personal and career development)

2. Invite a manager of a local or area fast food operation to talk to the class about management qualifications in fast food operations, salaries, and future employment potential for managers. (Communication skills, personal and career development)

3. Have students compare management opportunities between large restaurant operations and fast food operations based on information obtained during guest speaker presentations. This may be in a group discussion or assigned as a written activity. (Creative thinking, communication skills, and personal and career development)

4. Review with class Unit 1 in MAVCC's Food Production, Management, and Services: Introduction for additional career information. (Personal and career development)

5. Retain copies of students' career ladders to send to them after they have been in a related food service job for a year. Ask for feedback on their progress in attaining the goals set in their career ladders. (Motivation/goal setting and personal and career development)

6. Assign students to teams of 2 or 3 and have them research a hardship posed by a management position. As part of their research, have them come to a conclusion about possible solutions or ways to deal with the problem. Give students an opportunity to share information with each other. (Reading, communication skills, problem solving, teamwork)

Unit 2

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation

1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.

2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.

3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.

4. Make transparencies from the transparency masters included with this unit. These appear in the teacher guide only and are designed to be used with the following objectives:

   TM 1—Restaurant Organizational Chart (Objective 5)
   TM 2—Job Description (Objective 5)
   TM 3—Weekly Work Schedule (Objective 5)

5. Make copies of any of the transparency masters that you would like to distribute to students. There are small versions of these in the information sheet, but larger copies may be needed.

6. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.

7. Develop teaching plan. Adjust for different learning styles.

8. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application

9. Provide students with unit of instruction.

10. Discuss unit and specific objectives.

11. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.

12. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.
Suggested Activities

Evaluation

13. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.

14. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.

15. Give written test.

16. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.

17. Reteach and retest as required.

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Invite a manager of a family-operated restaurant and a manager of a fast food operation to talk to the class about the management systems they use in their operations. (Communication skills)

2. Invite a restaurant manager to talk to the class about the procedures for making work schedules and the problems encountered in scheduling. (Communication skills)

3. Show actual examples of various forms used by local food service managers such as organizational charts, job descriptions, work schedules, and work improvement plans or procedure sheets. (Organizational effectiveness)

4. Develop assignment sheets to familiarize the class with management responsibilities as listed in objective 5 of the information sheet.

5. Provide career information and MAVCC's Food Production, Management, and Services: Service for students to complete Assignment Sheet 1.

6. Guidelines for proper scheduling and forecasting

a. Daily peaks and valleys must be considered.

Example: A busy restaurant that serves 500 lunches may have fewer than 100 guests for dinner the same evening.

b. Weekly peaks and valleys must be considered.

Example: A restaurant that serves 200 guests on a Saturday night may serve no more than 25 guests at Sunday breakfast.
Information Sheet

c. Yearly peaks and valleys must be considered.
   Example: July and August are usually busy restaurant months; then there is a decline until the end of November, an increase for the holiday period, a sharp drop in January, and slow periods through April.

d. Forecasting for regional variations and special events must be considered.
   Example: A restaurant in a ski resort may be the busiest in January when other restaurants are at a low, and a home football game in a college town can make Saturday the busiest day of the week.

7. General rules for scheduling personnel
   a. Consider the daily, weekly, yearly, or special workload.
   b. Consider the workload and schedule enough people to properly handle it, but do not schedule people in hopes the workload will be there.
   c. Plan for irregular daily demands with irregular schedules as long as no one is overworked or unduly inconvenienced.
      Example: A waitress that does not come in until 11 a.m. Monday and Tuesday may be needed to help with the 6 a.m. breakfast business on Wednesday and Thursday.
   d. Plan for irregular daily demands with split shifts.
      Example: A waiter who works luncheon can take the afternoon off, then come back and work dinner that evening. The split shift helps employees get enough hours to maintain a consistent weekly income.
      Note: This is becoming unpopular, and management is beginning to use a short shift in place of the split shift.
   e. Plan for regional variations or special events with part-time help, and keep files on available part-time help.
      Example: In ski lodges or summer resorts where the seasons are short, a large full-time staff would be impractical.
   f. Schedule at least one supervisor per shift.
   g. Overlap schedules to allow for cleaning, food preparation, and peak hours.

Cost Controls
Unit 3

Objective Sheet

Unit Objective

After completing this unit, the student should be able to determine the cost per portion of given recipes, identify purchasing control and storage control problems, and solve problems concerning ways to reduce labor costs. The student should demonstrate these competencies by completing the assignment sheets and by scoring a minimum of 85 percent on the written test.

Specific Objectives

After completing this unit, the student should be able to:

1. Match terms related to cost controls with their correct definitions.
2. Distinguish among the basic types of costs.
3. Match other types of costs with their correct definitions.
4. List factors affecting food costs.
5. Select guidelines for effective cost control.
6. List five factors included in the cost of a meal.
7. Determine the menu price of a given item.
8. Complete statements concerning requirements for effective purchasing control.
9. Select factors affecting good storage control.
10. List factors affecting labor costs.
11. Complete statements concerning ways to reduce labor costs.
12. Determine the cost per portion of given recipes. (Assignment Sheet 1)
13. Identify purchasing control problems. (Assignment Sheet 2)
14. Identify storage control problems. (Assignment Sheet 3)
15. Solve problems concerning ways to reduce labor costs. (Assignment Sheet 4)
Cost Controls
Unit 3

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation
1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
4. Make a transparency from the transparency master included with this unit. This appears in the teacher guide only and is designed to be used with the following objective:
   TM 1—Cost of a Meal (Objective 6)
5. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.
7. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application
8. Provide students with unit of instruction.
9. Discuss unit and specific objectives
10. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
11. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation
12. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
13. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.
Suggested Activities

15. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.

16. Reteach and retest as required.

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestion refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Review the basic mathematics of ounces, pounds, gallons, quarts, and other measurement conversions students will be required to use for completing Assignment Sheet 1. (Foundation skills--math)

2. Invite an accountant for a food service operation to talk to the class about the importance of cost controls with emphasis on areas that create special problems. (Communication skills, foundation skills--math)

3. Invite managers from two or three different restaurants or hospitality organizations to talk to the class and compare different approaches to menu pricing. (Communication skills, foundation skills--math)

4. Invite a food service manager to talk to the class about the cost of advertising and public relations activities. (Communication skills, foundation skills--math)

5. Have students prepare a list of questions to ask a food service manager about the importance of cost controls. Then, provide manager with the list so that answers can be given as part of his/her presentation to students. Students may be assigned to record answers to the questions for later review/testing. (Foundation skills--writing, listening, and creative thinking)

6. Have students research factors affecting food costs (Objective 4) to determine which ones have the most impact. Before students complete research and share results, orally have class predict which factors will have the most effect on the food costs. (Foundation skills--reading and writing, oral communication, and creative thinking)

7. Have students divide into discussion groups and think of ways to rearrange the kitchen, service areas, and equipment in school cafeteria to save steps for workers. Then have them share ideas with class. Tie this activity in with Objective 11. (Listening, oral communication, problem solving, and teamwork)

Assignment Sheet 2

A. Failure to delegate purchasing responsibility to qualified people only

B. Failure to establish realistic quantity requirement (taking advantage of favorable pricing is no excuse)

C. Yes
To establish quality standards

Note: Student answers should approximate those given.
Answers to Assignment Sheets

Assignment Sheet 3

A. The problem is a worn out ice maker. Get a new one, or get it fixed if it's salvageable.
B. Someone is stealing the black olives or sampling them too often at work. Improve security.
C. The problem is old lettuce. Stock needs to be properly rotated.

Note: Student answers should approximate those given.

Assignment Sheet 4

A. The waitresses are probably taking too many steps, and the equipment and service area should be rearranged to eliminate the problem.
B. The cook is probably not lazy and could use a good electric mixer to help with the work.
C. Encourage employees to talk about the problems, and then help them solve the problems. A suggestion box would be a good way for employees to do this.

Note: Student answers should approximate those given.

Information Sheet

1. Terms and definitions
   a. Cost of recipe — Cost of all ingredients that make up a food item in a recipe
   b. Extension price — Price of the amount used in a recipe
   c. Market price — Price paid for a market unit
   d. Market unit — Size of an item as it is purchased
   e. Markup — Difference between the selling price and the market price
   f. Menu price — Price charged customer
   g. Per portion cost — Cost of each serving
   h. Pilferage — Stealing, especially in small quantities over and over again
   i. Profit — Excess of the selling price of menu items over their cost

Note: There is no profit without effective cost controls.

2. Basic types of costs and their definitions
   a. Directly variable costs — All costs directly related to volume of business
      Examples: Foods, beverages
   b. Fixed costs — All costs associated with a physical property and its maintenance, and all costs that have little direct relationship to the volume of business
      Examples: Rent, insurance, taxes, equipment leasing, loan interest
   c. Semi-variable costs — Costs that vary with volume but not in direct proportion to volume
      Examples: Labor, energy
Information Sheet

3. Other types of costs and their definitions
   a. Controllable costs — Those costs which can be changed without much difficulty, particularly food and labor, but also advertising, maintenance, and equipment replacement.
   b. Noncontrollable costs — Those costs which are basically fixed and difficult to change, especially rent and taxes.
   c. Food costs — The cost of all food stuffs delivered to the food service, whether raw or prepared. These costs should be considered as a percentage of the total sales and will be used to determine food cost percentage.
   d. Labor costs — All direct (wages and salaries) and indirect (benefits) charges incurred for each employee on the payroll.
   e. Operating costs — All costs which are neither food nor labor costs.

4. Factors affecting food costs
   a. Short weights in delivery
   b. Spoilage
   c. Waste in preparation
   d. Careless portion control
   e. Poor utilization of leftovers
   f. Shortages at the cash register
   g. Missing guest checks
   h. Pilferage
   i. Employee meals

5. Guidelines for effective cost controls
   a. Develop an effective menu planning system
   b. Develop an orderly purchasing system
   c. Use standardized recipes
   d. Develop realistic pricing system
e. Use proper storage techniques
f. Develop an efficient labor pool
g. Establish controls for pilferage and waste
h. Inject cost control awareness into the training program

Note: Eliminating waste caused by improperly trained personnel will sometimes more than pay for the cost of a training program.

6. Factors Included in the cost of a meal
   a. Food
   b. Labor
   c. Fixed costs
   d. All other costs

Examples: Paper products and cleaning supplies

   e. Percentage of profit

\text{Food Cost} + \text{Labor Cost} + \text{Fixed Cost} + \text{All Other Cost} + \text{Gross Profit} = \text{Sales}

\text{Sales} &\quad (100\%) \end{align*}
\]
Information Sheet

7. Determining menu prices (Assignment Sheet 1)

a. Figure total cost of items on a per portion basis. You will be dealing with menu items made from recipes or processed items.

(1) Steps in costing recipes

(a) Cost each ingredient separately.

(b) Total the cost of all ingredients.

(c) Divide the total cost by the number of available servings to find the per portion cost.

(2) Steps to determine the per portion cost of processed items

(a) Determine the portions in a market unit.

Examples:

- Hamburger patties are portioned 6-1 or six to a pound.
- Hamburger buns are packaged 6 to a package.
- French fries are purchased in 2-pound packages.

(b) Determine the market price of a market unit.

Examples:

- A pound of hamburger costs 1.38.
- Six hamburger buns cost .48.
- French fries cost .32 a pound and 4 ounces are used per portion.

(c) Determine raw food costs of per portion serving.

Examples:

- One hamburger .23
- One bun .08
- 4 oz. fries .08

$.39 = Raw food cost
Information Sheet

b. Determine the food cost percentage figure

(1) A desirable or projected food cost percentage is calculated by management using the formula: \[ \text{Calculated food cost} = \frac{\text{Anticipated Sales}}{\text{Anticipated Sales}} \times \text{Anticipated Sales} \]

Example: A restaurant anticipates yearly sales of $1,000,000 with food costs of $400,000

\[ \frac{400,000}{1,000,000} = 40\% \]

(2) Determine the figure which will be used as a factor for multiplying food costs by dividing the part into the whole to arrive at the multiplying factor. When the food cost percentage is established, the multiplying factor can be used in determining all menu prices.

Example: 40% food cost percentage

\[ \frac{2.5}{100} = 2.5 \text{ is multiplying factor} \]

\[ \begin{array}{c}
80 \\
200 \\
200 \\ \end{array} \]

c. Multiply the per portion cost by the multiplying factor.

Example: \[ .39 = \text{raw food cost of 1 hamburger} \]

\[ \times 2.5 = \text{food cost percentage multiplying factor} \]

\[ .195 \]

\[ .78 \]

\[ .975 \text{ (which should be rounded up to the next highest 10 percent of $1.00)} \]

d. Add 10% cost of condiments served with a menu item to the raw food costs. Round off figure to the next highest 10 percent to establish menu price.

Example: 10% of .39 is 3.9 cents added to raw food costs = 1.039 which rounded off to the next highest 10% would give a menu price of $1.10.
Information Sheet

8. Requirements for effective purchasing control (Assignment Sheet 2)
   a. Delegate purchasing responsibility to qualified people only
   b. Establish quality standards
   c. Establish realistic quantity requirements
   d. Take advantage of the most favorable prices

9. Factors affecting good storage control (Assignment Sheet 3)
   a. Condition of facilities and equipment
      Examples: Roofs that do not leak and refrigeration units that maintain reliable temperatures
   b. Proper arrangement and handling of food Example: Stock rotation
   c. Proper location of storage facilities between receiving and preparation areas
   d. Effective security
      Example: Lock on door into storage area

10. Factors affecting labor costs
    a. Type of service
    b. Number and variety of items offered on menu
    c. Extent of preparation required
    d. Geographical location
    e. Sales volume
    f. Training
    g. Labor contracts
    h. State and local legislation

Directions: The following situations demonstrate ineffective purchasing control. Read the situations carefully and answer as indicated.

A. An employee who had been on the job for less than two months accepted a food order that included many less-than-quality items and even items that had not been ordered.

   Question: What requirement of effective purchasing control was violated in this situation?

   Answer: ________________________________

B. An employee with considerable purchasing experience was offered a good deal on a supply of tomatoes and doubled up on the order. Twenty-five percent of the tomatoes spoiled before they could be used.

   Question: What requirement of effective purchasing control was violated in this situation?

   Answer: ________________________________

C. An employee authorized to accept purchases turned down an order of ham because the ham was too old. The order was rejected even though the employee knew the restaurant would probably go half a day without ham?

   Question: Did the employee do the right thing?

   Answer: ________________________________

   Question: What requirement of effective purchasing control justifies your answer?

Directions: The following situations demonstrate ineffective storage control. Read the situations carefully and answer as indicated.

A. For the third time in as many weeks an ice maker is on the blink and customers are complaining that there is not enough ice in their tea.

Question: What is the problem and what should be done about it?

Answer: ______________________________________________________

B. The per portion cost of a chef salad has been carefully figured, but on several occasions there has been a shortage of black olives, and the salad maker insists that care has been taken in the salad preparation. The situation has driven up the per portion cost of the salad.

Question: What is the problem and what should be done about it?

Answer: ______________________________________________________

C. The lettuce in the luncheon salads has slight traces of discoloration and simply does not look appealing.

Question: What is the problem and what should be done about it?

Directions: The following problems demonstrate situations where labor costs could probably be reduced. Read the situations carefully and answer as indicated.

A. Waitresses frequently complain of being overly tired at the end of a shift, and specifically complain of tired, aching feet.

Question: Knowing that the waitresses are all in good health, what appears to be the problem and how would you solve it?

Answer: _____________________________________________________________

B. The new cook with a flair for turning out excellent pastries has inspired increased orders from patrons, but the cook complains that it's difficult to keep up with orders because everything has to be mixed by hand.

Question: Is the cook simply lazy or is there a problem here, and if so, how would you solve it?

Answer: _____________________________________________________________

C. There appears to be general discontent among the kitchen staff, but the manager can't decide what the problem really is.

Question: There's an obvious problem here, but how would you solve it?

Answer: _____________________________________________________________

Keeping Records
Unit 4

Objective Sheet

Unit Objective

After completing this unit, the student should be able to complete various food service records including cash reports, food cost and labor cost summaries, and a profit/loss summary. The student should demonstrate these competencies by completing the assignment sheets and by scoring a minimum of 85 percent on the written test.

Specific Objectives

After completing this unit, the student should be able to:

1. Distinguish between common records in a food service operation.
2. List three good record keeping habits.
3. Select characteristics of a production schedule.
4. List requirements of a production schedule.
5. Complete a list of requirements of a meal census.
6. Select requirements of a cash report.
7. List items of information needed for a special meal function sheet.
8. Complete a list of characteristics of a food cost summary.
9. Select requirements of a food cost summary.
10. List requirements of a labor cost summary.
11. Arrange in order the steps for figuring profit and loss.
12. Complete meal census for one week. (Assignment Sheet 1)
13. Complete daily and weekly cash reports. (Assignment Sheet 2)
14. Complete a food cost summary. (Assignment Sheet 3)
15. Calculate labor costs. (Assignment Sheet 4)
16. Complete a labor cost summary. (Assignment Sheet 5)
17. Complete a profit/loss summary. (Assignment Sheet 6)
Keeping Records
Unit 4

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation
1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
5. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application
6. Provide students with unit of instruction.
7. Discuss unit and specific objectives.
8. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
9. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation
10. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
11. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.
13. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.
14. Reteach and retest as required.

Suggested Activities

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Obtain different types of records from a restaurant, fast food operation, or specialty shop (donut shop) to display and discuss with class.

2. Invite a food service manager to class to discuss the importance of good record keeping. (Communication skills, foundation skills—math)

3. To reinforce Objective 7 obtain both completed and blank meal function sheets from local food service establishments and show examples to students.

4. Make copies of a blank meal function sheet for students to use in booking imaginary meal functions. Have students role play as a customer and manager, reversing roles so that all students will have an opportunity to complete a meal function sheet and to create their own function. Have students negotiate meal price as part of activity. (Writing, listening, oral communication, creative thinking, interpersonal relations, and negotiation)

5. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.

7. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application

8. Provide students with unit of instruction.

9. Discuss unit and specific objectives.

10. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.

11. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.
Suggested Activities

Evaluation

12. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.

13. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.

15. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.

16. Reteach and retest as required.

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Arrange for a trip to a local market where students can observe the procedures of receiving and selling commodities such as the local farmers' market. (Communication skills, interpersonal relations)

2. Invite a purveyor of a local market to talk to the class about doing business with various types of food service operations. (Communication skills)

3. Review the buying procedure used in your institution.

4. Have several food items available to demonstrate to the class USDA grading and the importance of labels.

5. Demonstrate can cutting methods to class.

6. Make proper arrangements for students to visit local restaurants or a school's (or vo-tech's) food service department so they can complete Assignment Sheets 3 and 4.

7. Provide samples of specifications so students can complete Assignment Sheet 5.
Suggested Activities

8. Provide students with various food items and have them check for recommended information on food labels (Objective 7) and record their findings for each item. Have them pay particular attention to dietary claims and the terms "artificial" or "preservative." Have students discuss in class how they think the information listed on a label affects an individual's decision to buy that item. (Reading, writing, oral communication, and problem solving)

9. Have students role play to practice techniques for working with salespeople: (Objective 2). Provide them with various situations to act out such as dealing with a pushy salesperson, responding to a salesperson who offers a bribe, or handling a salesperson who attempts to discredit other salespeople and/or their products. A class discussion would be helpful to conclude this activity to enable students to share how they handled the given situations. (Listening, oral communication, problem solving, and interpersonal relations)

USDA Grades

This is the USDA grade shield used on butter. It is printed on the carton and on the wrappers of quarter-pound sticks of butter.

This U.S. grade name or grade shield may be used on canned, frozen, and dried fruits and vegetables. It is also used on a few related products like frozen concentrated juices, jams, and jellies.

The U.S. Extra Grade name or shield may be used on instant nonfat dry milk. It means the milk has a sweet and pleasing flavor, and dissolves immediately when mixed with water.

The USDA grade shield for eggs may be found on the carton.

Although most fresh fruits and vegetables are sold at wholesale on the basis of U.S. grades, not many are marked with the grade in the grocery store.

Information Sheet

1. Terms and definitions

a. Commodity — A product of agriculture

b. Credit memo — Written form used by receiving department to notify purveyor when merchandise is returned, when an order is short by weight or count, or when prices are incorrect and a credit needs to be issued

c. FDA — Food and Drug Administration; governing agency covering production, manufacture, and distribution of food involved in interstate commerce

   Note: Meat and poultry are not governed by this agency.

d. Inventory — A record of all goods on hand

e. Invoice — An itemized statement of goods purchased and their costs

f. Local market — Type of market that receives, stores, and distributes products from secondary markets to local and area users

g. Perishables — Foods that spoil quickly and must be refrigerated

h. Primary market — Type of market that processes basic commodities in centralized locations and sets prices based on supply and demand

   Example: Chicago is a primary market for beef and pork

i. Purchase order — Written request for goods which lists item specifications such as type, quantity, quality, and date needed

j. Purveyor — A company or person that sells and delivers supplies at a marked up price

k. Secondary market — Type of market that serves as a centralized distribution center

   Example: Kansas City is a secondary market for meat products

l. Shelf life — Maximum time that perishables can be stored under refrigeration

m. Specifications — A detailed description of a food product by grade, size, type, and quality required by a given food operation
Information Sheet

n. Staples — Food items that keep indefinitely without refrigeration

Examples: Salt, pepper

o. USDA — United States Department of Agriculture

2. Techniques for working with salespeople

b. Do not give preferential treatment to anyone.

c. Accept the first quote given by a salesperson as the lowest price.

Note: Do not let a salesperson manipulate you by bargaining for the lowest price. Make it understood that the first quote is the only one which will be considered.

d. Dismiss any salesperson who uses questionable tactics.

e. Limit the number of salespeople you see.

f. Accept information from salespeople to update your knowledge.

g. Set aside the allotted amount of time necessary to see salespeople.

Note: This will prevent the loss of your valuable time.

3. Basic methods of purchasing and their procedures

a. Informal buying

(1) Uses quotation and order sheet

4. Optional methods of purchasing
a. Spot buying — Occurs when there is an extreme product shortage in the market and the buyer must order a product without knowing the price.
   Note: This is sometimes called the blank-check method.

b. Cost-plus buying — Occurs when the market is unstable and the buyer is charged a basic cost plus a set markup.

5. Steps in purchasing
a. Establish quality standards.

b. Determine amounts called for in recipes.

c. Determine the amount in inventory.

d. Use estimated purchasing guides.
   Example:
   - 1 head of lettuce = 6 to 8 servings
   - 1 #10 corn = 25 servings, 3-4 oz.
   - 25 lb. ground beef = 100 portions, 3 oz. (cooked)
   Note: These guides are readily available in quantity purchasing texts such as Food for Fifty.

e. Determine amount needed by subtracting amount on hand from amount required.
   Example: 3 cases of 6 #10 green beans (amount required)
   - 2 cases of 6 #10 green beans (on hand)
   = 1 case of 6 #10 green beans to purchase

f. Increase purchase order to full case or lot as required.
Note: Some purveyors will break a case or lot, but many will not.

Example: If you need 3 #10 of carrots, you will probably have to order 1 case of 6 #10 carrots.
Information Sheet

6. Quality standards and their applications

a. Voluntary — Commodities such as fruit and vegetables which do not have to be graded

b. Mandatory — Commodities such as beef and poultry which must be inspected to comply with federal, state, or local requirements

c. Regulatory — Commodities which may carry a USDA grade

This is the USDA grade shield used on butter. It is printed on the carton and on the wrappers of quarter-pound sticks of butter.

This J.S. grade name or grade shield may be used on canned, frozen, and dried fruits and vegetables. It is also used on a few related products like frozen concentrated juices, jams, and jellies.

The U.S. Extra Grade name or shield may be used on instant nonfat dry milk. It means the milk has a sweet and pleasing flavor, and dissolves immediately when mixed with water.

The USDA grade shield for eggs may be found on the carton.

Although most fresh fruits and vegetables are sold at wholesale on the basis of U.S. grades, not many are marked with the grade in the grocery store.
7. Recommended information for food labels
   a. Name of food item
   b. Name and address of packer, manufacturer, or distributor
   c. Contents by weight
   d. Specific names of ingredients in order or amount
   e. All dietary claims
      Examples: "No sugar added," "Salt free," "Packed in water"
   f. Terms "artificial" or "preservative" if present
   g. Must state if product does not meet standard established by government.

8. Functions of specifications
   a. Establishes minimum acceptable quality for all foods
   b. Provides purveyors with knowledge of foods they must keep on hand
   c. Eliminates friction between purchasing and other departments
   d. Aids bookkeeper in keeping proper records
      Example: Asparagus, canned, all green stalks or spears
      10 cases
      U.S. Fancy or Grade A 24/2's
      Quote price per case
      Style shall be stalks no more then 3¾ inches in length; minimum drained weight shall be not less than 12 ounces; size of spears shall be extra large (mammoth). Pack shall be from current stocks. Inspector's certification of grade shall accompany invoice; all cases shall be marked with the certificate number.

9. Functions of USDA grading
   a. Assures that product has been processed under sanitary conditions
   b. Assures that meat products are labeled according to grade
   c. Maintains quality standards in processing
   d. Assures integrity in labeling
Information Sheet

10. The first rules of receiving
   a. If purchased by weight, weigh it.
   b. If purchased by unit, count it.
   c. If purchased by case, open it.
   d. Check for compliance with specifications.

11. Steps in receiving
   a. Check to see if the products delivered agree with the invoice.
   b. Inspect the merchandise to determine if it is in agreement with the purchase order and specifications.
   c. Tag all meats with date of receipt, weight, and other information needed to properly identify the delivery.
   d. List all items received on the daily receiving report.
   e. Note any discrepancies between the purchase order, invoice, and/or actual merchandise delivered, and issue a credit memorandum if needed.

Information Sheet

f. Accept the merchandise by signing the invoice and returning a copy to the deliverer.

g. Store or deliver to the proper place.

12. Guidelines for receiving fresh produce

a. Inspect for kind, quantity, variety, grade, size, and packaging.

b. Open containers and inspect for over or under ripeness.

c. Inspect in refrigerated area so that the produce does not become warm.

d. Check the quantity by weight or count.

13. Guidelines for receiving frozen foods

a. Frozen food containing meat or poultry should have a federal inspection stamp or an establishment number on each package.

b. If packer is not regulated by interstate commerce, plant should be under state inspection.

c. Frozen foods must be delivered at 0°F or under.

d. Check for signs of thawing and refreezing.

14. Guidelines for receiving poultry

a. Poultry from interstate sources must bear a USDA stamp or tag.

b. Poultry from local sources should be under state inspection, picked, fully eviscerated, and clean.

   Note: Eviscerated means that the organs have been removed.

c. Quality poultry should have a shelf life of 40 hours at 35°F.

15. Guidelines for receiving meats

a. Meat should have USDA inspection and grading stamp or inspection by an equally reliable state or local agency.

b. Temperature in delivery truck should be checked to make sure temperature is below 45°F and that the truck is clean.

c. Shelf life should be determined on basis of time since slaughter, temperature at holding plant, and initial bacterial condition.
16. Guidelines for receiving pastries
   a. Product should indicate it came from a reliable, inspected bakery.
   b. Perishable pastries should be delivered under 45°F and the delivery truck should be inspected for cleanliness.
   c. Pastries delivered without wrappers, clean boxes, or single-use coverings should not be accepted.
   d. Pastries delivered in reused and soiled bun or pastry boxes should not be accepted.

17. Guidelines for receiving dairy products
   a. Dairy products must be delivered in refrigerated trucks.
   b. Delivery truck and packaged products should be inspected for cleanliness.
   c. Expiration dates must be checked.
   d. Milk and milk products should have pasteurization labels and should be rejected if above 40°F.
   e. Milk intended for use as a beverage should be packaged in individual containers.

Directions: Using specifications for canned, fresh, and frozen foods provided by your instructor and the following guidelines, write specifications for a canned food, a fresh food, and a frozen food.

Guidelines

Certain information should be included in all specifications:

1. The common or usual trade name of the product
2. The recognized federal, trade, or commonly accepted local grade
3. The unit or container on which the price is quoted
4. The name and size of the basic container

Additional information often needed is:

5. The count and size of items or units in the container
6. The weight ranges
7. Minimum or maximum
8. The type of processing and packaging
9. The degree of ripeness
10. Additional information that would eliminate any possibility of misunderstanding

Example: Canned Food

Product ......................... Peaches
Variety .......................... Clingstone
Style .............................. Halves
Count .............................. 35/40
Pack ............................... 6/10
Dry Weight Minimum ............ 67.1 oz.
Pack Medium ...................... Light Syrup
Grade .............................. U.S. Choice

Unit 6

Objective Sheet

Unit Objective

After completing this unit, the student should be able to identify storage areas and appropriate procedures, prepare storeroom requisitions, and complete a physical inventory and security checklist. The student should demonstrate these competencies by completing the assignment sheets and by scoring a minimum of 85 percent on the written test.

Specific Objectives

After completing this unit, the student should be able to:

1. Match terms related to storing and issuing with their correct definitions.
2. Distinguish among categories of storage.
3. Complete statements concerning dry storage practices and procedures.
4. Select true statements concerning refrigerated storage practices and procedures.
5. Match foods with their recommended refrigerated storage maximums.
6. Select true statements concerning frozen storage practices and procedures.
7. Match foods with their maximum frozen storage periods.
8. Complete statements concerning procedures for storage control.
9. List reasons for keeping good inventories.
10. Complete statements concerning procedures for controlling inventories.
11. Arrange in order the essential steps in taking an inventory.
12. Complete a list of inventory information requirements.
13. Select true statements concerning guidelines for issuing.
15. Identify proper storage areas for given foods and nonfood items. (Assignment Sheet 1)
Objective Sheet

16. Prepare storeroom requisitions. (Assignment Sheet 2)
17. Complete a physical inventory. (Assignment Sheet 3)
18. Complete a food service security checklist. (Assignment Sheet 4)
Storing and Issuing
Unit 6

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation
1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
5. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application
6. Provide students with unit of instruction.
7. Discuss unit and specific objectives.
8. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
9. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation
10. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
11. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.
13. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.
14. Reteach and retest as required.
Suggested Activities

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Invite a storeroom clerk or supervisor to talk to the class about the types of tools and equipment required for proper storage. (Communication skills)

2. Review storage procedures for fresh meat and poultry, fish, fruit, and vegetables.

3. Obtain damaged food items from a purveyor and talk to the class about the control procedure for damaged foods.

4. Make proper arrangements with local vo-tech food service department for students to take inventories as required in Assignment Sheet 3.

5. Emphasize the importance of keeping good inventories and how poor inventory control can affect profit.

6. To reinforce objectives 3 and 4, have students check dry and refrigerated storage practices at home. Then, as a class activity, have students identify existing problems and discuss possible solutions. (Oral communication, listening, and problem solving)

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation

1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
4. Make a transparency from the transparency master included with this unit. This appears in the teacher guide only and is designed to be used with the following objective:

   TM 1—Performance Appraisal Form (Objective 16)
5. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.
7. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application

8. Provide students with unit of instruction.
9. Discuss unit and specific objectives.
10. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
11. Discuss the assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation

12. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
13. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.
Suggested Activities

15. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.

16. Reteach and retest as required.

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Discuss sources for locating employees in your area. (Personal and career development)

2. Check newspapers and trade journals for classified ads and discuss their effectiveness with students. (Personal and career development)

3. Invite a local food service manager to class to discuss methods of interviewing and what you should look for on an application to determine a good employee. (Communication skills)

4. Have students review several application forms and discuss pros and cons of answers given by the applicants. (Problem solving)

6. Display tests which may be used to evaluate applicants for a food service job.

7. Discuss effectiveness of questions prepared by students in Assignment Sheet 2 and evaluate answers recorded in Assignment Sheet 3. Explain which answers indicate a positive strength in an applicant and how the interview can help management hire qualified employees.

8. Have students role play disciplinary problems and discuss solutions. (Problem solving, organizational effectiveness)

9. Make proper arrangements for students to visit a local vo-tech food service department to complete Assignment Sheet 5.
Suggested Activities

10. An alternative to having students visit a school in Assignment Sheet 5 would be to invite a local food service manager to visit the classroom to discuss performance appraisals. Students could complete this assignment during the presentation. (Communication skills)

11. Discuss fair employment practice laws and how they impact on an application form and interview questions. Have students review examples of application forms and lists of interview questions to determine if they comply with the law. (Listening, reading, and problem solving)

12. Assign students to teams of two and have them instruct each other on how to perform a specific food service task. Students should follow techniques for giving instruction (Objective 13). (Oral communication, listening, interpersonal relations, and teamwork)

Unit 8

Objective Sheet

Unit Objective
After completing this unit, the student should be able to initiate change, encourage cooperation, and solve employee problems. The student should demonstrate these competencies by completing the assignment sheets and by scoring a minimum of 85 percent on the written test.

Specific Objectives
After completing this unit, the student should be able to:

1. Match terms related to human relations with their correct definitions.
2. Select true statements concerning goals of management regarding human relations.
3. Complete statements concerning ways to recognize a good employee.
4. Select true statements concerning the procedure for initiating change.
5. Complete statements concerning techniques for encouraging cooperation.
6. Select true statements concerning ways to deal with employee problems.
7. Select true statements concerning guidelines for listening improvement.
8. Solve problems concerning initiating change in the work environment. (Assignment Sheet 1)
9. Solve problems concerning techniques for encouraging cooperation. (Assignment Sheet 2)
10. Solve problems concerning ways to deal with employee problems. (Assignment Sheet 3)
Human Relations
Unit 8

Suggested Activities

Instructional Plan

Preparation
1. Read the unit carefully and plan for instruction.
2. Review Teaching Suggestions section that follows. Plan for classroom activities.
3. Plan for enrichment of exceptional students as well as accommodation of special needs students.
4. Obtain films, videotapes, and other resources to supplement instruction of this unit. See ordering information in the Suggested Supplemental Resources section that follows.
5. Develop teaching plan. Adjust for different learning styles.
6. Make copies of Unit Evaluation Form.

Delivery and Application
7. Provide students with unit of instruction.
8. Discuss unit and specific objectives.
9. Discuss information sheet. Implement teaching plan to localize, supplement, and personalize the unit. Reinforce basic skills when applicable.
10. Discuss assignment sheets. Review criteria for evaluation of these activities.

Evaluation
11. Discuss the use of the Unit Evaluation Form with students. Discuss the rating scale that will be used for student evaluation.
12. Make copies of the written test. Add or modify test questions as needed.
14. Compile assignment sheet ratings and written test scores on the Unit Evaluation Form. Include any additional assignments.
15. Reteach and retest as required.
Suggested Activities

Teaching Suggestions

Note: Skill areas appearing in bold face type in the Teaching Suggestions refer to the academic and workplace skills identified by the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) and the U.S. Department of Labor. These have been adapted by MAVCC.

1. Have students interview a food service manager on the best ways to motivate employees. (Communication skills, interpersonal relations)

2. Provide food service trade journals and have students read and report on at least three articles dealing with human relations. (Foundation skills—reading and writing, communication skills)

4. Invite a food service manager to class to discuss employee turnover and to discuss effective ways to deal with the problem. (Communication skills)

5. To emphasize the importance of constructive criticism, give students examples of destructive criticism, and have them modify these examples in writing into constructive criticism. Then have a class discussion on the advantages of using constructive criticism. (Foundation skills—reading and writing, communication skills, creative thinking, and interpersonal relations)

6. As a group project, have students compile a list of resources in their community that can be used to assist a manager in dealing with serious employee problems such as alcohol/drug dependency, compulsive gambling, marital difficulties (divorce), and financial problems. Discuss their findings in class. (Foundation skills—writing, communication skills, creative thinking, teamwork, and problem solving)

7. Assign students to a team of three, and have them practice their listening skills following the guidelines presented in Objective 7. Let them select a topic of discussion that might take place between a manager and an employee. Then have the two students role play the situation. The third student should act as an observer. Upon completion of the discussion, have each student write down what they heard. Compare responses. This helps students understand that many communication problems are because of ineffective listening. Often the manager or the employee can only see one side of a situation. The observer should help them see both sides. (Communication skills, teamwork, and interpersonal relations)

Information Sheet

1. Terms and definitions
   a. Constructive criticism — Evaluation of a person's performance that includes suggestions for improvement and development

      Note: Criticism from a manager should include both what the employee is doing well and what he/she needs to improve. Criticism should be helpful to the employee, not demoralizing.

      Examples: Destructive Criticism — "You are messy, dirty, and you smell bad!"

      Constructive Criticism — "Pat, I want you to spend more time getting ready for work. We all have to bathe, wash our hair, and wear neat, clean uniforms. If you would do this every day, you would be one of our best employees. You are a very hard worker, and you are always on time. Now if you could spend a little more time on your appearance, you would be top-rate!"

   b. Decision making — Process of choosing a course of action to solve a specific problem

   c. Empathy — To understand and be sensitive to the feelings of others

   d. Feedback — Information returned to the source that helps to evaluate an action or process

A. Over the weekend Manager Jon Patterson decided to rearrange the dining room at his restaurant to seat more customers. On Monday morning, when his staff arrived, everyone acted upset and confused about the change. As he passed the group on the way to his office, he heard one of the employees say, "Who does he think he is? The least he could have done was tell us about it." After a few minutes in the office Jon realized the employees were still standing around talking about the change. At this point he stepped out of his office and said, "Okay, let's get to work." But one employee shouted, "Aren't you going to tell us why you rearranged the seating? We'll have to work twice as hard, and it will be awkward moving between tables to serve the additional customers." Jon responded, "Just be glad you have a job. Besides, you had it too easy before."

B. Amy Chen, manager of the Honey Bun Donut Shop, decided to extend her store hours effective June 1st. Since this would necessitate a change in employee work schedules, she called a meeting for May 1st to discuss her reasons for changing the hours and to get input from the employees as to when they would like to work. Amy told them the extended hours could double the business, and if it picked up, she would be able to offer more benefits such as paid sick leave and annual leave, better wages, and possible job advancement. Amy concluded the meeting by stating that if the anticipated increase in business did not materialize, she would reconsider her decision and make the appropriate changes.

A. Maria Hartley is the supervisor of the salad area in the kitchen at Steak 'n Spuds Restaurant. She makes a point of criticizing employees out in the open so everyone will know she's a tough supervisor. One day Maria was criticizing an employee for poor production when her supervisor walked in. When she finished, the supervisor, Ms. Gamble, called her in the office and asked, "Do you always discipline your workers in public?" Maria responded, "Yes, I want everyone to know that I don't stand for any nonsense or poor work." At this point Ms. Gamble said, "How would you feel if I started yelling about your performance in front of other employees? It's apparent to me you don't know how to tell an employee that a problem exists without causing embarrassment to the individual and creating ill will."

How should Maria handle problem situations without losing the cooperation of her employees?

B. Charlie Thomas, the manager of T's Truck Stop Cafe, decided to implement a new procedure for placing and picking up orders which would affect both the kitchen staff and waitresses in that establishment. He went to each of the employees that would be affected by the change and asked them what they thought. After compiling the suggestions and deciding on the new procedure to be followed, he called a meeting and informed the employees as to what the new procedure would be and when it would take effect.

Do you think Charlie will get cooperation from his employees? Why or why not?

Assignment Sheet 3

B. When Sarah noticed that one of her best employees was missing work frequently and performing poorly, she called him in and asked him what the problem was. Jim, the cook's assistant, was having problems because his wife objected to him having an evening "with the boys" when she had to stay home all day with the baby. Thinking she knew the answer, Sarah gave this advice: "Did you ever stop to think that your wife would like to get out once in a while too? Being shut in with a baby all day can really get on your nerves. How about hiring a babysitter this weekend so the two of you can go out together?" Sarah thought her advice was sound. Unfortunately, Jim continued to have marital problems, and a couple of months later he didn't show up at work for a week. Finally he called and asked that his paycheck be mailed to him. His marriage had broken up, and he was too embarrassed to face his fellow workers.

Was Sarah right/wrong to give him advice? Why?

What could she have done to help the employee without becoming personally involved?
