This guide contains activities to help teachers give middle school students experience in practical life skills. Techniques include role playing and using classified advertisements from newspapers. The five lessons include teacher tips on conducting the activities. Lessons contain objectives, materials needed, discussion, and suggested dialogue. Worksheets are included for interviews, budgets, transportation, apartment hunting, expenses, and groceries. The guide also contains a list of overall objectives grouped under the headings of: Basic Skills; Self-Conceptualization; Understanding Others; Using Accumulated Knowledge To Interpret the World; and Continuous Learning. Eleven evaluation questions and six general questions on the course as a whole are provided for students as well as a six-item outline for a "summary" of the course experience to be written by students. Finally, three interest surveys, and two sample job applications, conclude the document. (KC)

Introduction

It is important to provide students with the opportunity to practice practical life skills or adult situations. Therefore it is appropriate to design activities and simulations to place students in an adult setting.

This project is to provide students with the practical applications and expectations from real-life situations.

This unit will enable the students to experience practical life skills and to role play, and to respond to future situations with a better understanding of what to expect.

Questions that are appropriate to ask would be: Do you know what the future holds for you? What are the expectations of an adult? What are the responsibilities of an adult? Can you cope with the responsibilities that are expected of an 18 year old in today's lifestyle? What is the difference between a job and a career?

This project will use the imagination of middle school students to pretend they are 18 years old and have just graduated from high school. This is the starting point in which they will experience the real life situations.

Explain to the students that they are now 18 and have graduated from high school. What do they do now? They still live at home and have very little money for college (if that was their choice) and no transportation. First things first; they have to find a job. Where do they look? They look in the newspaper want-ads. At what are they going to work? For what type of job are they qualified? Where is the job located? What are the restrictions? What is the income?

The class project has begun and now the students have found their interesting jobs. There must be a salary listed for the purposes of this unit. Now use the enclosed job application and each student must apply for his/her particular job and provide all the information necessary to qualify for this job.

Once the students have their individual jobs, they now have what we call "earning power". They are now a working person and must contribute their fair share to the federal government in the form of taxes. The money that is earned as net income must be budgeted. What are their priorities? What purchases do your students want or need?
Eventually some form of transportation is necessary. What is preferred; a new car versus a used car? Where do they look for used cars? They should look in the newspaper want-ads. What is considered a good deal on a car? Does the car have any warranty? What does the tax and title cost for a car? How is it figured? Does anything need to be fixed on the car at the time of purchase? Something to remember about buying a used car is that the older the car, the more repairs are going to be necessary on it. What are their responsibilities as a car owner? They must never abuse the privileges or responsibilities bestowed upon them as a driver.

It is also important to point out that the upkeep of a car takes money. The car runs on gas which costs money. This has to be part of the money that is budgeted from their salary.

The job is going well at this point and there is a nice savings account now. Discuss this aspect with your students: their home life is very restricted. It is now time to become independent and find living quarters on their own. A friend could move in with them as a roommate.

Where do they look for a place to live? They should look in the newspaper want-ads. Where do they want their new living quarters to be located? What can they and a roommate afford? What type of housing would they like to move into? What is the difference between owning and renting? What are their responsibilities as apartment dwellers? What are their expectations as apartment dwellers? Will they need to purchase furniture or other necessities for their new surroundings? For what other expenses will they need to budget? It is important to point out that the phone bill and electric bill also need to be budgeted from the monthly income. What other things are useful to know once they are experiencing life on their own? (Students are allowed to bring their belongings from their own room to their new place; including a bed, dresser, lamps T.V. set, couch and chair, kitchen utensils including dishes and silverware.)

The job is going great. Discuss this with your students. Their lifestyle is agreeing with them, but now they have some decisions to make about their future. Do they want or need to go to college? They need to consider the pros and cons of this situation. This can be expanded after the project has been completed.
LESSON 1

Time frame: 1 or 2 class periods
USE "PRACTICAL LIFE SKILLS" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)

Objective: Students will be able to select a job from the want-ads and will be able to give reasons why they want that job and how they qualify for it. Students will be able to buy a car once they've determined how much they have earned and can afford to pay for one. Students will be able to find an apartment for a place to live. Students will be able to use the newspaper to find bargains when they go shopping. Students will be able to evaluate the unit.

Materials needed: Newspapers for each student which includes the classified sections.

Discussion: We are going to pretend for a few days. We are going forward into the future about four or five years. You are now 18 years old. Do you know what the future holds for you? Do you know what your responsibilities are as an adult? What do you do after you have graduated from high school?

Student responses: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Take it easy; look for a job; go to college.

Teacher: Varied lifestyles, I see; well, in order to make this unit work we are going to set some restrictions. If you have a problem with any of these, we can discuss them at this time. First each of you will start out living at home. Can you tell me why this is the best arrangement now for you?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Saving money; not having to do the cooking and cleaning.

Teacher: What are the best alternatives you can think of to earn some money?
(Legally!)

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Working.

Teacher: How can you accomplish this task? Where do you look for work?
Students will discover use of the want-ads from the newspaper. Teacher can lead the discussion for finding work using the want-ads or other methods; What are other appropriate methods?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)
Teacher: Is finding a job necessary? What do you think would happen if you didn't want to find a job? How would you feel about it? How would you feel if your friends were working and you were not?
Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: What alternatives could you think of instead of finding a job? Are these the alternatives you, as an adult, would rather do? Why or why not?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: If finding a job is what you need to do, the want-ads are the place to find them. Let’s take out the classified section of the newspaper. (Each student should have their own paper before the start of this project and proceed to look for a job.) What limitations do you see as you look for a job?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) I’m not qualified for some of them. They don’t list how much money you make. I don’t like what you have to do at this job. It isn’t close to where I live. What is the difference between commission and salary?

Teacher: Why is the location of the job important?

Student: (Discussion on transportation should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: What are the alternatives if you don’t have a car?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Buy one, borrow one, carpool, bus.

Teacher: What jobs have you found so far? Is this something you would want to do for the rest of your life? Why or why not? Would you enjoy your work at this job? How would you know if you liked it or not?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: How do you feel about your choice of a job? Do you have to meet the public? What are the requirements that are needed for this job? Can you handle it?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: Is there a chance for improvement or a promotion in this job? Would that make a difference when you look for your first job? Why or why not? Would you consider staying if you were offered a chance for a promotion? Why or why not?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: Answer these four questions that an employer could ask.

USE "INTERVIEW" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME

(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)
LESSON 2

Time frame: 1 or 2 class periods

USE "BUDGET" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)

Teacher: You have a job in mind that you found from the want-ads. Now we will calculate your salary. If they list a yearly income you will need to multiply it by .25. This amount goes to taxes. Then divide by 12 months per year. If they list an hourly rate, you normally work 40 hours in a week, so multiply that hourly amount by 40. This will give you the weekly amount. Now multiply the weekly amount by 52 weeks. This will give you the yearly salary. Now multiply by .25. This amount goes for taxes. Subtract that off from the "gross" amount. Then divide by 12. This is your monthly net income.

Teacher: What services are provided for your taxes dollars?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: You are now a working person in society and there are things you would like to buy. What would you buy first? Why? What restrictions do you still have? What else would you do with your earned money?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Buy a car, stereo, vacations.

Teacher: A car would be a good start; what restrictions would you have to consider?

USE "TRANSPORTATION" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) You could not spend more than you earn, even with the monthly payments from a loan.

Teacher: What choices do you have for purchasing a car?
Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Used cars are cheaper; new cars are expensive; take a loan to pay it off.

Teacher: Where would you look for a used car?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Car dealerships; used car lots; want-ads or advertisements in the newspaper.

Teacher: That is where we will look for a used car. Find that section in your paper. What type of car would you want? Why? How old would you want the car to be? What considerations do you have to think about when you purchase a used car?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) The car breaking down; expensive repair bills.

Teacher: After finding the car you want to buy, you must deduct it from your net earnings. Take the full amount and divide by 12. (Figure the payments would be for only one year.) This is the amount you would have to budget for each month. Can you afford it? Is there enough left over for you to use on other things that interest you? What alternatives can you think of if there isn't enough money left over?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)
LESSON 3

Time frame: 1 or 2 class periods.

Teacher: Are you content with the job you chose? How do you feel being able to earn money? What restrictions or boundaries do you need to set for yourself? How can you tell if your job is right for you? What adjustments can you make?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

USE "APARTMENT" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)

Teacher: This is the time to evaluate your jobs. The discussion you had was needed, because if you must choose a new job, now is the time to do it. You don't have that many responsibilities yet, but still you need that income. After your commitment to this job, some of you might decide to move out on your own with a friend. You are going to become independent from the people at home. What do you need to consider?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Cost of apartment; cooking, cleaning, other expenses.

Teacher: What expenses do you have to be aware of when looking for a place to live?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Type of place; house or apartment; furniture; utilities; leisure time activities.

Teacher: How much can you afford to pay each month for rent? Remember you already have a car payment. How much would furniture cost? What is your alternative?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Used furniture; take furniture from home; rent a furnished apartment.

Teacher: For what other expenses would you need to budget?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Food, clothes, bills, gas for car; leisure time activities.
Teacher: Are these all the responsibilities that have to be met? Why or why not? How do you feel with all these responsibilities on your shoulders?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: If you feel good enough to be able to cope with the expenses of a car payment, furniture, utensils, and food, can you afford the rent payment? Now let's look for an apartment. What are some of the things you might want to consider?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Location, cost of apartment; the layout of the apartment.

Teacher: Excellent considerations. Now use the want-ads to locate an apartment to rent. Consider these options: size, location, number of bedrooms.

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Size, location, 1 bedroom or 2 bedrooms.

Teacher: How much is the rent per month? You will need to deduct it from your net earnings. Divide the monthly rent payment in half, (between you and your friend). This is the amount to deduct from your monthly earnings. What are your other considerations now?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Do I have enough left over for furniture, food, leisure time activities?
LESSON 4

Time frame: 1 or 2 class periods

Teacher: Today we are going to see what other expenses you may incur while you are living on your own. What types of things would you like to have or own since you are able to live on your own? Make a list of these things you would like to have.

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) T.V., couch, table, chairs.

Teacher: Now we will need to see how much these things cost. T.V. sets can be found in a lot of stores. How can we find the best bargain?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Advertisements in the paper; comparison shopping.

Teacher: Great ideas. What does that tell us about something that we wish to purchase?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Anything can be found in advertisements or by comparison shopping.

Teacher: These items are called big ticket items. They need to be purchased from a store, but you cannot use credit or time payments. These items will need to be paid for at one time. The money you have saved until now will come in handy. Each month you had so much money left over that was not used. This is where your savings started. Let’s find out who has savings. Why do some students have more than others? What does this tell you?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: What do you think will happen with the students who have more money saved?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) They will be able to buy more things.

Teacher: How do you feel about that? Why? What can you do about it?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Find a better job; buy a less expensive car; find a cheaper place to live.
Teacher: Now each item that is purchased has to be deducted from the savings. What alternatives can you think of instead of purchasing items?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Borrowing, renting, sharing expenses, or going without.

Teacher: Good possibilities. Now what you should start doing is noticing when there are sales. Is there a better price when things are on sale? What items go on sale? What happens if you really need something and it's not on sale?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.)

Teacher: What other expenses do we also have to budget for?

Student: (Discussion should follow; answers will vary.) Food, gas for car, clothes.

USE "EXPENSES" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)

Teacher: Now we are going to write out our budget plan:

\text{TOTAL NET INCOME}

Teacher: Let's figure out what each of those expenses would cost per month. Then subtract it from the total net income. What about leisure time activities? Will we have enough money for the movies?

\text{CAR payment (minus)} \quad - \quad \text{$ }
\]
\[
\text{APARTMENT rent (minus)} \quad - \quad \text{$ }
\text{EXPENSES (minus)} \quad - \quad \text{$ }

\text{NET INCOME}

USE "GROCERIES" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME
(This can be made into a transparency or duplicated for each student.)
LESSON 5

Time frame: 1 class period

Evaluation of unit: Answers can be written or oral.

1. What did you do in this unit that you have never done before?

2. Was this helpful to you?

3. Did you enjoy this project?

4. Have you thought about finding a job before? What would you do now to look for a job that you didn't know before? Would you qualify for that job?

5. What new things did you learn during this unit? Would you like to learn some other things?

6. What should your teacher do to improve this project? Would you like to learn more about how to plan a budget?

* USE THE "TEST ON PRACTICAL LIFE SKILLS" AT THIS TIME

* USE THE "CONCLUSION" WORKSHEET AT THIS TIME

* USE THE "SUMMARY" WORKSHEET AS A PRESENTATION TO THE CLASS

* INTEREST SURVEY I, II, AND III CAN BE USED PRIOR TO THIS UNIT TO FAMILIARIZE YOUR STUDENTS ABOUT THEIR LIKES AND PREFERENCES CONCERNING JOBS
OBJECTIVES

I. Basic Skills

1. Students will use acquired information to compute a salary received from a job.
2. Students will use acquired information to tabulate net earnings.
3. Students will use acquired information to tabulate payments for a car.
4. Students will use acquired information to budget their expenses.
5. Students will share information and express meaning through speaking, writing, and non-verbal means.
6. Students will be able to compute a yearly salary when given an hourly rate.
7. Students will be able to compute a 25% tax that is deducted from their salary for Federal taxes.
8. Students will be able to read and locate a job using the newspaper want-ads.
9. Students will be able to read and decide on a car for transportation.
10. Students will be able to compute the amount payable per month for a car payment that is deducted from their monthly net income.
11. Students will be able to read and decide about living arrangements using newspaper want-ads.
12. Students will be able to compute the amount payable per month for an apartment and deduct it from their monthly net income.
13. Students will be able to write and figure out a workable, livable budget to fit their individual lifestyles.

II. Self Conceptualization

1. Students will recognize that self concept is acquired by interaction with other people.
2. Students will share knowledge and interact with one another to reach the best decision or choice suitable for that student.
3. Students will assess their own function in each of several different situations.
4. Students will choose the best job they can obtain in their category.
5. Students will choose the best car they can obtain in their price category.
6. Students will choose their lifestyle and share their findings with others.
7. Students may choose to obtain an apartment with a partner.
8. Students will be able to distinguish between many concepts of self in various role or social situations.
III. Understanding Others

1. Students will base actions and decisions on the knowledge that individuals differ and are similar in many ways.
2. Students will share budget costs of certain products.
3. Students will not interfere with another student's decision on choice of lifestyle.
4. Students will value another person's opinion about their choices.

IV. Using Accumulated Knowledge to Interpret the World.

1. Students will apply basic principles and concepts of the sciences, arts and humanities to interpret personal experiences.
2. Students will need to have acquired basic principles to choose a job to earn money.
3. Students will need to have acquired basic concepts to work with fellow students and offer help and receive help.
4. Students will have to evaluate technological progress to procure a job at a livable wage and standard.

V. Continuous Learning

1. Students will acquire an understanding of how to budget and earn a salary.
2. Students will have to make decisions on priorities of importance when spending money.
3. Students will learn how to read the want-ads for specific jobs they want.
4. Students will learn to interpret sale advertisements.
5. Students will learn about purchasing a car, including the pros and cons about a new car versus a used car.
6. Students will acquire a knowledge about whether to live at home or rent an apartment.
7. Students will acquire a knowledge about the cost of groceries by using the newspaper advertisements.
JOBS! JOBS! JOBS!
PRACTICAL LIFE SKILLS

You are 18 years old. You have just graduated from high school. Do you know what the future holds? Do you know what your responsibilities are as an adult? What do you do after you have graduated high school? What is the difference between a career and a job?

RESTRICTIONS

1. You are living at home.
2. You are 18 years old.
3. You are a high school graduate.
4. You have no previous job experience.
5. The salary must be listed in the want-ad.
JOB INTERVIEW

These questions can be answered orally or written.

1. What is the position you are applying for?
2. What would your responsibilities be for your job?
3. Why do you think you are qualified for this job?
4. Why do you want this job?
5. Why should I hire you for this position?
BUDGET

1. What does the word BUDGET mean?

2. Once you have a job and start earning money, what are you going to spend it on? Why?

SALARY

$ HOURLY times 40 = weekly

$ WEEKLY times 52 = yearly

$ MONTHLY times 12 = yearly

TAXES

Yearly salary times 25%
(divide by 4) or (times 1/4) or (times .25)

Subtract from gross salary.

This is called NET INCOME. Divide by 12.
Now you have your monthly salary.
WHEELS! WHEELS! WHEELS!
TRANSPORTATION

Today you are going to select a vehicle.

1. What are the differences between a new car and a used car?

2. What do you think a car costs to repair?

3. What types of general maintenance are needed for a car?

4. What problems require extensive repairs on used cars?

5. How much mileage do you think you will drive each week?

6. How much will you spend on gas each week?

NEW CAR VERSUS USED CAR

NEW CAR

times 10% finance charge
(x .10)
finance over 36 months
(divide by 36)

USED CAR

pay for 1 year
(divide by 12)
budget for repair bills
APARTMENT

Today we are going to find a place to live. Why would an apartment be better than a house at this point? Why not? What responsibilities go with living in an apartment? Is it better to have a roommate? Why or why not? (You are allowed to bring your belongings which include: bed, dresser, table, lamps, T.V. set, couch and chair, kitchen utensils including dishes and silverware.)
EXPENSES

Now you are going to find different items that you need for your apartment. What is the difference between something you need and something you want?
What is the difference between necessary and luxury items?

MONTHLY INCOME

Salary

rent (minus) - car (minus) -

expenses (minus) -

TOTAL

List 20 items needed in your apartment:

add together and add sales tax (times .04)

TOTAL EXPENSES (divide by 12) monthly expenses

maintenance bills:

electric = $15.00

phone = $20.00

gas (for car) = $20.00

other = $

add to monthly expenses
GROCERIES

Today we are going to do a typical week's grocery shopping.
Start by making a list of things you eat and we'll find the prices in the newspaper. Remember what is already in your cupboards at home.

TOTAL times 4 = monthly shopping expenses
