This curriculum guide was developed to help teachers and administrators in Connecticut Regional Vocational Agriculture Centers to update and upgrade their vocational agriculture curriculum in the areas of career development, supervised agricultural experience (SAE), and Future Farmers of America (FFA). The curriculum incorporates the competencies related to each area and integrates them with elements of Connecticut's Common Core of Learning. An emphasis is placed on new and emerging, as well as current, occupations. The three sections of the curriculum guide, Career Development, FFA, and SAE, provide two to six units for each of the three areas. Information provided includes the following: length of study, when taught, competencies, course outline, teacher and student activities, evaluation criteria, references and resources, and a unit review for teachers to return to the curriculum committee. Topics covered in the career development curriculum are as follows: career exploration and self-awareness, goal setting and job exploration, obtaining employment and job application, and post high-school plans. The FFA curriculum includes the following: introduction to the FFA, programs and activities, FFA leadership, applications and programs, banquets and beyond, and parliamentary procedure. The two units of the supervised agricultural experience curriculum are SAE programs and ideas for SAE projects. Two appendices provide sample forms and records and explain the relationship of vocational education in agriculture to the Connecticut Common Core of Learning. A bibliography lists 20 references. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Project Director and Project Assistant wish to express their appreciation to those who have contributed to the success and completion of the curriculum. A sincere thank you is extended to the curriculum writers for their conscientious efforts throughout the project. Special recognition is due to Dr. David Calchera, Paula Colen and Ginny Cardner, EASTCONN, whose knowledge of project grant procedures and expert skills made the completion of the project possible.

Special appreciation is extended to Mr. Roger Lawrence, State Consultant, Vocational Agriculture, Mr. Milton Natusch, FFA Executive Secretary, Dr. Valerie Dunn, Project Officer, and Ms. Leslie M. Averna, Chief, Bureau of Vocational Services, for their involvement in the initiation and direction of the study. We would also like to extend our gratitude to Frances Marotta for her efficiency and expertise in entering the curriculum on the word processor. Her efforts will make future revisions of the curriculum much easier.

Finally, to the teachers of vocational agriculture education in Connecticut, for whom this curriculum is intended, appreciation is extended for their cooperation in providing input and support throughout the study.

PREFACE

These materials in Career Development, Supervised Agricultural Experience, and FFA for the Connecticut Vocational Agriculture Curriculum have been designed for use in the Connecticut Regional Vocational Agriculture Centers. These centers are multi-staffed with two or more teachers of Vocational Agriculture who have each developed an expertise in one or more of the major areas of agriculture: Animal Science, Plant Science, Agricultural Mechanics, and Natural Resources and Aquaculture.

A full program of Vocational Agriculture Education consists of four years of enrollment. In the first two years, students usually enroll in exploratory units of study in each of the four major areas. Emphasis in each area is on the development of fundamental skills and a general understanding and appreciation for the field of Vocational Agriculture Education. In addition to their classroom studies, students are encouraged to develop leadership talent through their involvement in the FFA chapter and to find practical application of units studied through the supervised agricultural experience program. In the third and fourth years of enrollment it is recommended that students elect special units of study which will best prepare them to meet their individual objectives and goals.

The three curriculum areas originally prepared ten years ago - Career Development, Supervised Agricultural Experience, and FFA - have been critically reviewed and updated for this volume. They have been fully developed, incorporating the competencies relevant to each area. In addition, through a process of group consensus, the focus of each area has been expressed in terms of the elements of Connecticut's Common Core of Learning.

There was an emphasis on involvement in new and emerging, as well as current, occupations. The activities and materials included in the Career Development area and the lists of possible Supervised Agricultural Experience projects both serve to provide teachers with the tools by which they may give direction into the extensive array of opportunities provided by a curriculum in vocational agriculture education.

Throughout the revisions, the participating teachers were cognizant that one objective of the project was to address the needs of current enrollees, including the special needs population. The three curriculum areas herein revised were particularly suited to addressing the needs of all students: self-awareness and job requirements; self-development in interpersonal and leadership skills; and individualized supervised experience projects. A number of useful resources for meeting the needs of special populations are listed in the bibliographies.

Although the bibliographies included at the end of each section are extensive, they are not exhaustive. It is hoped that the teachers using these materials will consider the listings a starting point for thorough review of the literature and teacher resources.
CAREER DEVELOPMENT CURRICULUM

UNIT: Career Exploration and Self Awareness

LENGTH: One week. Select areas of content according to student needs and time available.

WHEN TAUGHT: Grade 9

COMPETENCIES: The student will be able to:

THE COMMON CORE

ATTRIBUTES AND ATTITUDES

A positive self-image and self-esteem are crucial to learning. These attributes determine goals, behaviors and responses to others. Furthermore, people depend on and influence one another. Therefore, it is important that students take responsibility for their lives and set appropriate goals for themselves. In doing so, they develop lifelong attitudes.

The family and societal forces other than schools play major roles in fostering student growth, and schools can provide a supportive climate for that growth. While it is inappropriate for schools to accept the sole or even primary responsibility for developing these attributes and attitudes, it is also inappropriate to deny the critical importance of these factors as preconditions to learning, as consequences of the teaching of all disciplines, and as desired outcomes for all students.

Positive Self-Concept

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. appreciate his/her worth as a unique and capable individual and exhibit self-esteem;
2. develop a sense of personal effectiveness and a belief in his/her ability to shape his/her future;
3. develop an understanding of his/her strengths and weaknesses and the ability to maximize strengths and rectify or compensate for weaknesses.

Motivation and Persistence

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. experience the pride of accomplishment that results from hard work and persistence;
2. act through a desire to succeed rather than a fear of failure, while recognizing that failure is a part of everyone’s experience;
3. strive toward and take the risks necessary for accomplishing tasks and fulfilling personal ambitions.

Responsibility and Self-Reliance

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. assume the primary responsibility for identifying his/her needs and setting reasonable goals;
2. initiate actions and assume responsibility for the consequences of those actions;
3. demonstrate dependability;
4. demonstrate self-control.

Intellectual Curiosity

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. demonstrate a questioning attitude, open-mindedness and curiosity;
2. demonstrate independence of thought necessary for leadership and creativity;
3. pursue lifelong learning.

Interpersonal Relations

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. develop productive and satisfying relationships with others based upon mutual respect;
2. develop a sensitivity to and an understanding of the needs, opinions, concerns and customs of others;
3. participate actively in reaching group decisions;
4. appreciate the roles and responsibilities of parents, children and families.

Sense of Community

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. develop a sense of belonging to a group larger than friends, family and coworkers;
2. develop an understanding of the importance of each individual to the improvement of the quality of life for all in the community;
3. examine and assess the values, standards and traditions of the community;
4. understand and appreciate his/her own historical and ethnic heritage as well as that of others represented within the larger community.

Moral and Ethical Values

As part of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. recognize the necessity for moral and ethical conduct in a society;
2. recognize that values affect choices and conflicts;
3. develop personal criteria for making informed moral judgments and ethical decisions.

SKILLS AND COMPETENCIES

All educated citizens must possess a core of basic or enabling skills and competencies that provide the critical intellectual foundations for broader acquisition of knowledge. These enabling skills, applied in diverse ways, form the heart of an academic experience as each contributes to the development of understanding within and among disciplines.

Reading

As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. identify and comprehend the main and subordinate ideas, details and facts in written work and summarize the ideas in his/her own words;
2. identify, comprehend and infer comparisons, contrasts, sequences and conclusions in written work;
3. recognize different purposes and methods of writing, identify a writer’s point of view and tone, and interpret a writer’s meaning inferentially as well as literally;
4. set purposes, ask questions and make predictions prior to and during reading and draw conclusions from reading;
5. make critical judgments about written work including separating fact from opinion, recognizing propaganda, stereotypes and statements of bias, recognizing inconsistency and judging the validity of evidence and sufficiency of support;
6. vary his/her reading speed and method based on the type of material and the purpose for reading;
7. use the features of books and other reference materials, such as table of contents, preface, introduction, titles and subtitles, index, glossary, appendix and bibliography.

Writing

As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. write standard English sentences with correct sentence structure, verb forms, punctuation, capitalization, possessives, plural forms, word choice and spelling;
2. select, organize and relate ideas and develop them in coherent paragraphs;
3. organize sentences and paragraphs into a variety of forms and produce writing of an appropriate length using a variety of composition types;
4. use varying language, information, style and format appropriate to the purpose and the selected audience;
3. conceive ideas and select and use detailed examples, illustrations, evidence, and logic to develop the topic;
4. gather information from primary and secondary sources; write a report using that information; quote, paraphrase and summarize accurately; and cite sources properly;
5. improve his or her own writing by restructuring, correcting errors and rewriting.

Speaking, Listening and Viewing
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. engage critically and constructively in an oral exchange of ideas;
2. ask and answer questions correctly and concisely;
3. understand spoken instructions and give spoken instructions to others;
4. distinguish relevant from irrelevant information and the intent from the details of an oral message;
5. identify and comprehend the main and subordinate ideas in speeches, discussions, audio and video presentations, and report accurately what has been presented;
6. comprehend verbal and nonverbal presentations at the literal, inferential and evaluative levels;
7. deliver oral presentations using a coherent sequence of thought, clarity of presentation, suitable vocabulary and length, and nonverbal communication appropriate for the purpose and audience.

Quantitative Skills
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. add, subtract, multiply and divide using whole numbers, decimals, fractions and integers;
2. make and use measurements in both traditional and metric units to measure lengths, areas, volumes, weights, temperatures and times;
3. use ratios, proportions and percents, powers and roots;
4. understand spatial relationships and the basic concepts of geometry;
5. make estimates and approximations, and judge the reasonableness of results;
6. understand the basic concepts of probability and statistics;
7. organize data into tables, charts and graphs, and read and interpret data presented in these forms;
8. formulate and solve problems in mathematical terms.

Reasoning and Problem Solving
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. recognize and use inductive and deductive reasoning, recognize fallacies and examine arguments from various points of view;
2. draw reasonable conclusions from information found in various sources, and defend his or her conclusions rationally;
3. formulate and test predictions and hypotheses based on appropriate data;
4. comprehend, develop and use concepts and generalizations;
5. identify cause and effect relationships;
6. identify and formulate problems;
7. gather, analyze, synthesize and evaluate information pertinent to the problem;
8. develop alternative solutions to problems, weigh relative risks and benefits, make logical decisions and verify results;
9. use critical and creative thinking skills to respond to unanticipated situations and recurring problems.

Learning Skills
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. set learning goals and priorities consistent with stated objectives and progress made, and allocate the time necessary to achieve them;
2. determine what is needed to accomplish a task and establish habits conducive to learning independently or with others;
3. follow a schedule that accounts for both short and long term project accomplishment;
4. locate and use a variety of sources of information including print and nonprint materials, computers and other technologies, interviews and direct observations;
5. read or listen to specific information and take effective and efficient notes.

UNDERSTANDINGS AND APPLICATIONS
Skills and competencies cannot be ends in themselves. Unless students have the knowledge and experiences needed to apply those learnings and develop a fuller understanding of life, their education will be incomplete. Schools must therefore accept responsibility for leading students through a body of knowledge and its application. This is what comprises the major content of the curriculum.

These understandings and applications have been grouped here under the usual disciplines, but it is important to recognize the interrelationship among the disciplines and to promote students' ability to transfer knowledge and applications across subject areas.

The Arts: Creative and Performing
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. express his or her own concepts, ideas and emotions through one or more of the arts (art, music, drama and dance);
2. appreciate the importance of the arts in expressing and illuminating human experiences;
3. understand that personal beliefs and societal values influence art forms and styles;
4. identify the materials, processes and tools used in the production, exhibition and public performance of works of art, music, drama and dance;
5. use and understand language appropriate to each art form when discussing, critiquing and interpreting works in the visual and performing arts;
6. identify significant works and recognize the aesthetic qualities of art, music, drama and dance from different historical periods and cultures.

Careers and Vocations
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. demonstrate positive attitudes toward work, including acceptance of the necessity of making a living and an appreciation of the social value and dignity of work;
2. demonstrate attitudes and habits (such as pride in good workmanship, dependability and regular attendance) and the employability skills and specialized knowledge that will make the individual a productive participant in economic life and a contributor to society;
3. consider the range of occupations that will be personally satisfying and suitable to his or her skills, interests and aptitudes;
4. identify, continue or pursue the education and training necessary for his or her chosen career/vocation;
5. understand personal economics and its relationship to skills required for employment, promotion and financial independence;
6. exhibit the interpersonal skills necessary for success in the workplace (such as working harmoniously as part of a team, and giving and taking direction).
Cultures and Languages
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. recognize characteristics common to all people, such as physical attributes, emotional responses, attitudes, abilities and aspirations;
2. respect differences among people and recognize the pluralistic nature of United States society;
3. demonstrate an understanding of other cultures and their roles in international affairs;
4. analyze the structure of spoken and written language;
5. recognize the commonalities and the differences that exist in the structure of languages;
6. understand and communicate in at least one language in addition to English.

History and Social Sciences
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. recognize and analyze events, personalities, trends and beliefs that have shaped the history and culture of Connecticut, the United States and the world;
2. demonstrate a knowledge of United States history and government and understand the duties, responsibilities and rights of United States citizenship;
3. understand the basic concepts of economics;
4. analyze and compare the political and economic beliefs and systems of the United States with those of other nations;
5. apply major concepts drawn from the disciplines of history and the social sciences—anthropology, economics, geography, law and government, philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology—to hypothetical and real situations;
6. demonstrate basic knowledge of world geography;
7. apply critical thinking skills and knowledge from history and the social sciences to the decision-making process and the analysis of controversial issues in order to understand the present and anticipate the future;
8. understand the roles played by various racial, ethnic and religious groups in developing the nation’s pluralistic society;
9. appreciate the mutual dependence of all people in the world and understand that our lives are part of a global community joined by economic, social, cultural and civic concerns.

Literature
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. understand that literature reflects and illuminates human experiences, motives, conflicts and values;
2. understand the essential elements of poetry, drama, fiction and nonfiction;
3. understand and appreciate selected literary masterpieces, both past and present, that manifest different values systems and philosophies;
4. recognize symbolism, allegory and myth;
5. identify literary themes and their implications;
6. evaluate selected literary works and support each evaluation;
7. enjoy reading as a lifelong pursuit.

Mathematics
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. understand that mathematics is a means of expressing quantifiable ideas;
2. apply mathematical knowledge and skills to solve a broad array of quantitative, spatial and analytical problems;
3. use mathematical skills and techniques to complete consumer and job-related tasks;
4. select and use appropriate approaches and tools for solving problems, including mental computation, trial and error, paper and pencil, calculator and computer;
5. use mathematical operations in describing and analyzing physical and social phenomena;
6. demonstrate a quantitative sense by using numbers for counting, measuring, comparing, ordering, scaling, locating and coding;
7. apply basic algebraic and geometric concepts to representing, analyzing and solving problems;
8. use basic statistical concepts to draw conclusions from data.

Physical Development and Health
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. understand human growth and development, the functions of the body, human sexuality and the lifelong value of physical fitness;
2. plan and implement a physical fitness program with a variety of conditioning exercises and/or leisure activities;
3. understand the basic scientific principles which apply to human movement and physical activities;
4. understand the role physical activities play in psychological and social development;
5. understand and apply the basic elements of proper nutrition, avoidance of substance abuse, prevention and treatment of illness, and management of emotional stress;
6. recognize the need for a safe and healthy environment, practice proper safety skills, and demonstrate a variety of basic life saving skills.

Science and Technology
As a result of education in grades K-12, each student should be able to:
1. understand and apply the basic principles, concepts and language of biology, chemistry, physics, earth and space science;
2. understand the implications of limited natural resources, the study of ecology and the need for conservation;
3. identify and design techniques for recognizing and solving problems in science, including the development of hypotheses and the design of experiments to test them—the gathering of data, presenting them in appropriate formats, and drawing inferences based upon the results;
4. use observation and analysis of similarities and differences in the study of natural phenomena;
5. demonstrate the ability to work with laboratory measuring, manipulating and sensing devices;
6. understand the implications of existing and emerging technologies on our society and our quality of life, including personal, academic and work environments;
7. recognize the potential and the limitations of science and technology in solving societal problems.
