This unit is designed to introduce students to individuals who have been important in U.S. history and who contributed to society. Students are asked to research, study, and portray an important person from one of the following fields: leaders, sports figures, humanitarians/philanthropists, industrialist/business figures, entertainment, scientists/explorers, and literary/arts. Some of the activities students are asked to do include reading a biography of the person, developing a time line, writing a letter to the person's mother, presenting an original monologue, designing a tee-shirt, creating a tombstone with an appropriate epitaph, and creating a map and developing a graph. The document includes information concerning the unit: goals and objectives, outline, projects, forms, resources, correspondence, sample projects, questions and answers, and bibliography. (DB)

![People on Parade]
INTRODUCTION

People on Parade is an interdisciplinary unit designed to introduce students to individuals who have shaped and changed America. By investigating and learning about important persons in America's past and present, students will realize that people regardless of cultural, ethnic, religious, or racial backgrounds can strive for and achieve success.

Each student will research, study, and portray an important person. Some of the activities are reading a biography of the person, developing a time line, writing a letter to the person's mother, presenting an original monologue, designing a tee-shirt, creating a tombstone with an appropriate epitaph, creating a map and developing a graph. Reading, writing, research and critical thinking skills will be reinforced as students investigate their chosen person and complete the required and optional activities. The culminating event is when the students, dressed as their selected person, transform the media center into a cornucopia of color and culture for their peers, parents, and other guests.

People on Parade can be used with all grades and achievement levels. More advanced students can work independently and present projects to the other students according to the timetable established. Less advanced students can complete and present the projects in the classroom setting.

As students are given the opportunity to learn about persons who have made America great the content areas become alive. Students will experience the disappointments and achievements of interesting and important people.
GOALS & OBJECTIVES

Goals

People on Parade will help acquaint students with important Americans, past and present. As the students research and study about their selected person, they will develop a greater understanding of people who have been successful and contributed to society. Through application, this interdisciplinary unit will demonstrate the relationship of the various subjects in the curriculum. Additionally, People on Parade incorporates skills related to the state adopted curriculum frameworks.

Objectives

"Biography can inspire us not only by adulation, but also by realism. It helps us to see not only the qualities in others that we hope to emulate, but also the weaknesses that made them "human." By helping us to identify with the subject on a more personal level, they help us to feel that we, too, can achieve such goals."

Matina Horner
Former President of Radcliffe College

The quotation above captures the essence of People on Parade.
OUTLINE

TIMELINE

People on Parade should be completed in a six to eight week period of time. It can enhance the existing curriculum or be a separate unit of study.

Week One
- Explain People on Parade to students
- Explanatory letter to parents sent home*
- List of People on Parade persons and selection sheet sent home*

Week Two
- Required and optional activities/project sheets and due dates are given to students*
- Take class to media center to select appropriate materials

Weeks Three through Seven
- If possible, field trip to public and/or university library
- Required activities/projects presented to class
- Optional activities presented to class

Week Eight
- Culminating activity—People on Parade will transform the media center into a cornucopia of color and culture

* Samples/handouts included in packet
PROJECTS

PEOPLE ON PARADE

The following activities/projects are required and must be turned into the subject area teacher on the due date:

Language Arts (Due Date)
- Read a biography of your person's life. If one is not available, read five periodicals and/or encyclopedia entries. A bibliography for periodical and/or encyclopedia entries must be submitted. Obtain approval from your language arts teacher for your choice of material.

Math (Due Date)
- Design a circle graph pertaining to your person's life.

Language Arts (Due Date)
- Write a letter from the person to his mother describing personal achievements and accomplishments. Design and/or use appropriate stationery.

Social Studies (Due Date)
- Make a map showing where your person lived, traveled, and worked.

Science (Due Date)
- Design a birth certificate. Use as many facts as you can; approximate the rest. Include: baby's legal name, parent's names, weight, height, time and date born, place born, footprints, attending physician's signature. Size: 8½" by 11". (This may not be done on a computer.)

Math (Due Date)
- Design a tombstone with an appropriate epitaph.

Social Studies (Due Date)
- Design a tee-shirt. The design could be a picture of your person, a slogan he/she might have used, or a design pertinent to his/her life. A paper tee-shirt form will be distributed in class or you may put the design on a real tee-shirt.

Dear Parents,

(NAME OF SCHOOL/TEAM) TEACHERS ARE BEGINNING WHAT WE HOPE WILL BECOME A TRADITION--PEOPLE ON PARADE. WE HAVE PUT MUCH TIME AND PLANNING INTO THE UNIT. IT HAS BEEN SET UP AS AN INTERDISCIPLINARY UNIT INVOLVING THE CORE ACADEMIC SUBJECTS (LANGUAGE ARTS, MATH, SCIENCE AND SOCIAL STUDIES.) EACH STUDENT WILL BE REQUIRED TO RESEARCH, STUDY AND PORTRAY AN IMPORTANT PERSON IN AMERICA'S HISTORY. SOME OF THE ACTIVITIES INCLUDE: READING A BIOGRAPHY OF THE PERSON, DEVELOPING A TIMELINE, WRITING A LETTER TO THE PERSON'S MOTHER, PRESENTING AN ORIGINAL MONOLOGUE, DESIGNING A TEE-SHIRT, WRITING AN EPITAPH, AND MAKING A CIRCLE GRAPH. SEVERAL WEEKS OF VERY HARD WORK WILL GO INTO THIS PROJECT. THE CULMINATION OF THIS INTERDISCIPLINARY UNIT WILL BE PEOPLE ON PARADE WHEN ALL OF THE COSTUMED STUDENTS WILL CHANGE THE MEDIA CENTER INTO A CORNUCOPIA OF COLOR AND CULTURE.

PLEASE PLAN ON JOINING US ON______, 19____ FOR PEOPLE ON PARADE!

Sincerely,

List teacher's names.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. Can People on Parade be used in a single subject area?
A. Yes. For example, a science teacher could adapt this unit or parts of this unit to be used in a science classroom project titled Famous Scientists.

Q. Can People on Parade be used in an ESE classroom?
A. Certainly. Adjustments would need to be made to meet the needs of the students.

Q. Can students select a person that is not on the list the teacher hands out?
A. Yes. The person must fit into the established time frame and meet the other project criteria.

Q. Can this project only be used in United States History classes?
A. No. It is easily adaptable for other subject areas, time periods and grade levels. It could be easily adapted to world figures, past and present, literary figures, etc.

Q. Did the students use note cards when delivering the monologue?
A. They had note cards with key cue words on them. However, most students did not need to refer to the note cards. Again, adjustments to fit the ability level of the students should be made.

Q. What happened to the students who did not come in costume on the designated day?
A. Only two students did not participate in People on Parade in the media center. They were sent with an assignment to another classroom.
Q. Did the students have to hand in a written report?

A. No. Students only presented the required and optional projects in class and made a display of all of their work for the media center display.

Q. Was there student and parent feedback about People on Parade?

A. Yes. Both students and parents reacted positively about the project. Students are looking forward to the next People on Parade.

Q. What happens if a student can not locate enough information about the person selected?

A. The student should be able to make another selection, as long as no other student has already selected the person and all other criteria is met.
