This document comprises forms (and directions for their use) used in Oregon which meet the state regulations for Early Childhood Special Education (ECSE) as well as the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Forms are identified as either required or optional and are presented in a two-page format, with one page identifying the form, explaining its purposes, and providing directions for completing it and the other page containing a copy of the form. A flow chart shows the procedural process from referral to implementation and periodic review, with the forms required at each step identified. Forms include: referral for early childhood special education evaluation; prior notice and consent for initial evaluation; statements of eligibility (for early childhood special education, visual impairment, hearing impairment, speech/language impairment, orthopedic impairment, learning disability, serious emotional disturbance, mental retardation, autism, deaf/blind, other health impairment, and traumatic brain injury); physician's statement; prior notice and consent for initial placement in early childhood special education; notice of Individual Family Service Plan meeting; Individual Family Service Plan; notice of placement meeting; placement/service determination; prior notice of reevaluation and/or consent for intelligence or personality testing; prior notice of proposal or refusal to initiate a change; permission to obtain and release information; program/school officials having access to student records; and record of request for or disclosure of student records. Appendixes address parent rights in ECSE and provide photocopy-ready forms. (DB)

Introduction

The forms and materials included in this document were developed to meet state regulations for Early Childhood Special Education (ECSE). The ECSE program must meet all requirements of the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) and state statutes and administrative rules. By using the forms and the Parent Rights statement found in the appendices, ECSE contractors and subcontractors will meet these requirements. Because this is a state-operated program, the use of the materials is mandatory. Programs may not change the materials.

The forms and directions included in this document will be revised in the future. Federal and state laws may change, the federal monitoring process to be conducted during 1992-93 may require modifications, and new ideas for formatting and directions may emerge as programs use this document. However, because the Department of Education is assuming responsibility for the program July 1, 1992, the document is being published now, so the programs may begin with forms and procedures that meet current state standards.

Using the Document

The forms and directions in this document are organized in chronological order from the referral of a child through the development of the child's individual family service plan (IFSP) and, after placement decisions are made, through any changes to the student's identification, evaluation, placement, or provision of services. All of the forms are numbered for ease of use.

Each form follows a two-page format:

At the top of each form in the right corner is a space to indicate the date the form was filled out.

For further information about this document, please call the Office of Special Education, 378-3598.

- obtain and document parental consent for an initial placement of their child in early childhood special education; and

This form is to be used for placement into early childhood special education, not a particular program or school.

   - public health nurse tracking,
   - community preschool,
   - other programs/services that do not require early childhood special education, and/or
   - other early childhood special education services that may have been considered.

Purpose

• comply with ORS 343.521 which mandates the contents of the individual family service plan (IFSP); and

• comply with OAR 581-51-980 which mandates participants at the IFSP meeting.

Directions

1. Enter child’s complete legal name (do not use a nickname) and date of birth, including month, day, and year.

2. Enter parent(s) or guardian’s name, home phone and work phone numbers, and address.

3. Enter name and agency of the IFSP coordinator, and resident school district.

4. List all pertinent dates, including the IFSP meeting date, date when child’s eligibility for early intervention/early childhood special education services was established, next review date, annual review date, transition information (ECSE only), and information regarding extended year services (ECSE only). If the child will be making a transition in the next year, “yes” should be checked and the steps supporting the transition of the child to preschool or kindergarten should be addressed in the IFSP.

5. List all the IFSP team members attending the meeting including their name, role, and phone number (do not need signatures).

6. OPTIONAL — List the IFSP team members not in attendance at the meeting, but who have contributed information leading to the development of the IFSP.

7. Indicate the extent of participation by early childhood special education (only) children with non-disabled peers. Indicate by the percent of time the child will be in a regular education program (when not in specialized classroom), or list the specific regular activities the child will be attending during their preschool day.

8. List the specific early childhood special education services necessary to meet the unique needs of the child and family to achieve the identified goals and outcomes. Also list in this section the “other services” necessary to enable the child to benefit from ECSE services (during the time that the child is receiving the ECSE services). Identifying “other services” does not impose an obligation to provide or pay for those services. This section is completed after the child’s goals and objectives have been addressed. The list of ECSE services must include:

   Service/Method — Specify what the service is (i.e., home, classroom, adapted physical education) and whether it will be provided on an individual, group, direct service, or consultative basis. If modifications (supplementary aids and services) to a community preschool program are necessary to ensure a child’s participation (ECSE only) in the program, list those modifications in this column.

   How Often — Specify frequency and intensity of services (i.e., amount of service provided per day, per week, or per month).

   Where — Specify where service will take place (i.e., day care, preschool, or home).

   Who will do this — Specify agency, name, and/or role of person providing the service.

   Who will pay — Must specify financial responsibility for each service, such as ECSE, private insurance, Medicaid, Head Start, or family. If the source of funding is undetermined for an identified “other service,” information should be included regarding who will explore options, check into scholarships, etc.

   Start Date — Specify beginning date (month, day, year) of each service.

   Stop Date — Specify anticipated duration of each service.

9. OPTIONAL — Parents may sign this section when the IFSP is completed. Explain to parents that their signature only indicates that they have participated in the development of this plan and does not indicate their approval of the plan or services.

10. Enter the name of the agency providing the early childhood special education services and the mailing address.

Purpose

Page 3 of this 5-page form is used to:

- comply with ORS 343.521 which mandates that the IFSP shall include a statement of the child’s present level of development.

This page is developed during the initial IFSP meeting and is added to at subsequent reviews.

Directions

1. Enter child's name and date of the most recent assessment information (entered after “Summary as of ______”) at the top of this page.

2. OPTIONAL — This section contains a description of the child's strengths and interests. The child's strengths and interests are supportive comments made by parents and other team members. Comments are intended to highlight positive child characteristics.

   Examples of child's strengths and interests: Mary is a highly motivated learner. She is interested in most of the activities at Toddler Group. Mary is fun for other kids and adults to be with and she enjoys being the center of attention.

3. OPTIONAL — Enter the sources of information used to obtain information about the child in developing the IFSP: evaluations, program assessment, reports, observations, and parent report. Include any pertinent information from medical reports and screenings.

   Examples of sources of information: Bailey Scales of Infant Development, Evaluation and Programming System (EPS), Vineland, teacher observation, parent report, and physical therapy reports from the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center (CDRC). Hearing and vision have been screened and are within normal limits.

4. Summarize the child's present levels of development in each area: cognitive, social, fine motor, gross motor, communication, and self-care. The present levels of development give a summary sketch of the child and lay the foundation for the succeeding components of the IFSP. The present level statements are brief narratives which summarize how the child is functioning in each area of need on which the IFSP focuses. There must be a direct relationship between the present levels of development, the annual goals, short-term objectives, and the specific EI/ECSE services to be provided to the child. Descriptive information for each area is to be provided in a positive, strength-based format. This information may be obtained through reviewing eligibility testing, screening information, program assessment, parent input, observation of the child, and any other relevant reports. It is not appropriate to list specific test scores in this section.

   Examples of child's present levels of development:

   Gross Motor: "Mary has good head control while sitting independently and is beginning to crawl forward on her stomach," as opposed to, "Mary is unable to move to a sitting position without assistance."

   Self-care: "Mary feeds herself finger food, can drink out of a cup with assistance, and is beginning to show some interest in eating with a spoon," as opposed to "Mary is unable to use a spoon and requires assistance in dressing."

Purpose

- comply with ORS 343.521 which mandates that the IFSP shall include a statement of the annual goals and short-term objectives expected to be achieved for the child, and the criteria, evaluation procedures, evaluation schedules and timelines for each short-term objective.

Additional goal pages may be added as needed, either initially or at the IFSP review.

Directions

1. Enter child’s name, the date, and the developmental area that the goal addresses such as language, gross motor, cognitive, etc.

2. Long-term goals are statements describing what the child is expected to learn or be able to do within the next 12 months. Long-term goals are brief, measurable statements. They use language that is easily understood by all team members. Long term goals are developed and written at the initial IFSP meeting (and at subsequent IFSP meetings by the team that will be working with the family).

3. Indicate who will work on goal and who will keep track of progress.

4. This section addresses the child’s short-term objectives, which are steps or milestones leading toward the long-term goal. The short-term objectives section of this page is filled out by the IFSP team that will be working directly with the child and family.

Short-term objectives should be functionally stated in terms of what is to occur (the observable behavior), when it is to occur (conditions), how it shall occur, and how much is expected (the criteria). Required elements for writing short-term objectives include: observable behavior (what, when, how), criteria (i.e., 70% of the time), evaluation procedures (i.e., observation, testing), and evaluation schedule (i.e., monthly).

5. OPTIONAL — The family resources/other resources column relates to each of the identified short-term objectives and may be added as they are identified. This column is optional and should only be used when the family identifies their own strengths or interests. The information recorded in this column may be based on conversations with the family or a Family Interest Survey that may have been completed by the parents.

5. OPTIONAL — The purpose of this section is to specify the start date (month and year) for each objective, and to provide an opportunity for the team to review (twice a year at the review and annual review) the current status of each objective. This status is coded using the following scale:

Purpose

- address family outcomes.

This page is OPTIONAL.

Directions

1. Enter family’s name and the date.

2. Families have the choice whether or not they want to have their strengths and interests assessed. If a family chooses not to participate, request that they initial and date the box in the upper right hand corner of this page. This will document that the provider has given this option to the family.

3. This section contains a statement of the major outcome desired by the family (outcomes are identified by families and not other team members). A need or concern exists only if the family perceives that they are important. The outcome can focus on an area of family life that a family feels is related to its ability to enhance the child’s development. The outcome should be functionally stated in terms of what is to occur (process) and what is expected as a result of these actions (product). In addition, it is important to use the family’s language in wording the outcome statement. This page is filled out by the IFSP team member(s) that will be working directly with the child and family.

Examples of family outcomes:

- Mom and Dad want to become more involved in Susie’s program so that they can carry out activities at home.
- Mom would like to learn some specific activities to increase Susie’s talking at home.

4. How We Will Do It (activities): List the strategies and activities that will be used to bring about a family’s chosen outcome. Activities can be identified by reviewing the child, family, program, and community strengths and resources available to meet the outcome. Also note family strengths or interests that will assist in meeting this outcome.

Examples of activities:

- Susie’s classroom teacher will send home a communication notebook each day to describe Susie’s day at school.
- Mom only works a half-day on Wednesdays and Fridays. She will “volunteer” in Susie’s class on Friday mornings for two hours.

5. Family Resources: The strengths, abilities, formal and informal supports that can be mobilized to meet family concerns, interests, or outcomes are listed in this column.

Examples of Family Resources:

- Grandma helps with transportation to therapy.
- Aunt Judy helps with feeding on the weekends and will babysit on short notice.

6. Other Resources: Resources not mentioned previously are listed here, such as family support services, YMCA, ARC respite, and DD case management services.

7. Ratings to Review Family Outcomes: Ratings are used to determine the status of each activity written on the IFSP. Ratings are assigned by the family to determine when an outcome or activity has been achieved, needs to be changed, or omitted.

Rating

0  Decided not to do (state reason)
1  Haven’t started yet
2  In progress, going well . . . continue
3  In progress, need to rewrite the outcome
4  Completed to family’s satisfaction

This form is used to:

• meet requirements of 34 CFR 300.504(a), 34 CFR 300.505, ORS 343.531, ORS 343.527, OAR 581-15-940, and OAR 581-15-075 which mandate that the early childhood special education program provide the parent with an explanation regarding why it plans to reevaluate, what options were considered and why any of the options were rejected; and

• meet the requirements of OAR 581-21-030(2)(a) which mandates that before administering individual intelligence tests or personality tests, parents shall be informed and consent in writing.

NOTE: Form ECSE-22 can be used as the prior notice form rather than this form. Both forms meet the regulations. However, if Form ECSE-22 is used, consent must be granted on a separate form if intelligence or personality testing is planned.

Directions

1. Check the box or boxes that apply. You may end up checking both if you want to do intelligence and/or personality testing in your reevaluation. Prior notice must always be given. Consent is only needed on this form if the program plans to conduct an individual intelligence test or personality tests as part of the evaluation.

2. Enter child’s complete legal name; do not use a nickname.

3. Indicate reasons for the reevaluation by checking a box next to the explanation which best describes the reason for this reevaluation.

4. Provide reasons why no other options were considered prior to conducting this reevaluation. If the multidisciplinary team is considering a significant change in programming/placement, explain what program/placement options have been tried and/or those that do not seem feasible.

5. Explain why no options will be considered until the results of the reevaluation are reviewed. If you are considering a significant change in program/placement, provide a description of any options that were considered and reasons why those options were rejected before it was decided that a significant change of placement must be considered.

6. Add any other relevant information here.

7. This section meets the requirements for 34 CFR 300.505, ORS 343.527, and OAR 581-15-075. The law requires a description of each evaluation, procedure, test record or report used as a basis of a proposed evaluation. Indicate the areas to be tested from the list below. You must name and describe each test used. Also indicate if you are using observation, review of parent reports, previous testing, or medical information for a particular area. Acronyms must be explained.

   • cognitive development
   • receptive language
   • self-help
   • vision
   • social/emotional/behavior
   • gross motor
   • medical/health
   • hearing
   • expressive language
   • fine motor

8. This box is checked only if notice is required. Parent signature is not required for reevaluation unless the program conducts an individual intelligence test or personality test as part of the reevaluation.

9. Check this box if consent is required because an individual intelligence or personality testing is needed.

10. This section must be signed and dated by the parent/guardian/surrogate parent before an intelligence or personality test is given.

11. Place a copy of this form in the child’s file.

Parent Rights in Early Childhood Special Education
Parent Rights in Early Childhood Special Education

Early childhood special education (ECSE) is a program provided through the Oregon Department of Education to children in Oregon, ages three until school-age who experience developmental delays or disabilities. This program provides specially designed instruction to meet the unique needs of a child. It does not provide all or other services that the child and family may receive. The following is a list of rights which parents have relating to the education of their preschool child with a disability.

Individual Family Service Plan

The individual family service plan (IFSP) is the written educational plan for your child. You and the service providers design the IFSP together and review it yearly.

You have the right to:

1. Take part in the meeting to write the IFSP;
2. Receive written notice early enough so you can attend;
3. Have the meeting at a time and place which allow you to attend;
4. Bring someone (advocate, friend, case manager) to the meeting;
5. Take part in the meeting in another way, such as by phone, if you cannot get to the meeting;
6. Receive a copy of your child’s IFSP if you ask.

Notice

You have the right to:

1. Receive a written notice at least seven (7) days before your child’s service provider proposes or refuses to initiate or change the identification, evaluation or educational placement of your child, or the provision of free, appropriate public education to your child. The notice shall include:
   a. A copy of your rights;
   b. A description of the action the service provider proposes or refuses including telling you:
      • why the service provider wants to do something or why they are refusing to do it;
      • about other choices the service provider discussed;
      • why the service provider rejected those choices;
      • about any other information the service provider used in making its decision.
2. Receive the notice in writing most people can understand. If you do not speak English, the service provider must translate the notice into your native language or communicate the information to you in some way. If you cannot communicate in writing, the service provider must read the notice to you out loud or give you the information by other means and show that you understand what is in the notice.

Surrogate Parents

A “surrogate parent” is a person who stands in for the parent to make decisions about the child’s education. A “parent” is the child’s natural or adoptive parent, guardian, or a person acting as a parent (e.g., child living with relatives).
1. The service provider must appoint a surrogate parent when:
   a. The parent cannot be identified;
   b. The parent cannot be found after reasonable efforts; or
   c. The child is a ward of the state and there is reasonable cause to believe that the child has a disability.

2. The surrogate parent protects the rights of the child. The surrogate may represent the child in all matters relating to a free, appropriate public education including identification, evaluation, and educational placement.

3. A surrogate parent shall have no interest that conflicts with the interest of the child. The surrogate must have knowledge and skills that ensure effective representation. The surrogate shall not be an employee of any agency involved in the care or education of the child.

Written Consent

Written consent means that you agree to and approve of certain services for your child.

You have the right to:

1. Receive complete information so you are able to understand what will be happening with your child and why.

2. Agree through written consent before the service provider evaluates your child for the first time to see if he/she has an educational disability.

3. Agree through written consent before your child receives early childhood special education services for the first time.

4. Agree through written consent before your child receives a personality or intelligence test.

5. Refuse, withhold, or revoke consent.

6. Be informed that if you refuse to give your written consent, the service provider may ask for a hearing to evaluate your child and provide early childhood special education services.

Evaluation Procedures

You have the right to:

1. A full and individual evaluation of your child’s educational needs before the service provider initially places your child in a special education program. Your child must be tested in all areas related to the suspected disability(ies). The tests and other evaluation materials must be given:
   a. In your child’s language unless it is clearly not possible to do so.
   b. By trained persons according to the instructions by the test makers and used for the purpose for which the tests were made.
   c. So that the test results correctly reflect your child’s aptitude or achievement level rather than reflect a sensory impairment your child has.
   d. So that they are not culturally or racially discriminatory.

2. Have the evaluation made by a group of persons, including at least one person who has knowledge in each area of suspected disability, which:
a. Ensures that the evaluation is designed to assess specific areas of educational need. The evaluation must include more than an intelligence test;
b. Ensures that no single test is used on which to make a decision;
c. Ensures that data from the evaluation is carefully considered; and
d. Ensures that your child is placed in the least restrictive environment.

3. Have your child reevaluated at least every three years, and more frequently if conditions warrant, or if you or the child's teacher requests an evaluation.

4. Ask that an independent educational evaluation be done at no cost to you if you do not agree with the evaluation that has been completed by the service provider. If you ask, the service provider must give you information about how and where to get an independent evaluation.

   a. The service provider may take you to a due process hearing to show that its evaluation is appropriate.
   b. If a due process hearings officer requests an independent educational evaluation as part of the hearing, you cannot be charged for the evaluation.
   c. If the final decision in the hearing is that the service provider's evaluation is appropriate, you still have the right to an independent educational evaluation, but you must pay for it.
   d. Whenever the service provider makes decisions about your child, it must consider the independent evaluations even if you pay for them. You may present the results of an independent educational evaluation at a due process hearing.

Records

At times, it is important for you to review your child's files.

You have the right to:

1. Look at your child's education records in the presence of someone qualified to explain them to you:

   a. Without delay unless the service provider cannot avoid it;
   b. Before any meeting or hearing about your child's special education; and
   c. No later than 45 calendar days after you ask.

2. Ask for a list and the location of the kinds of education records the service provider collects, maintains or uses.

3. Ask the service provider to give you copies of records if you have no other way to look at the records. The service provider may charge you for the copies, unless the charge would keep you from looking at the records. The service provider may not charge you a fee to search for or to collect the records.

4. Have someone else look at the records with your written consent.

5. In some instances, give or withhold consent to give other people information in your child's records. (Check your local records policy.) If you move, the service provider must get written consent from you before it transfers behavioral records to the new school. Behavioral records include evaluations and other information about your child.

6. Be informed that the service provider must keep a record of the persons who receive information from your child's record.

7. Look at only the information relating to your child, even if the record contains information about another child.
8. Ask the service provider to amend the information in the record if you believe that it is not correct, is misleading, or violates your child’s privacy. The service provider must give you its decision within a reasonable time after it receives your request.

9. A hearing if the service provider refuses to amend the record as you asked.

10. Place a statement in the records stating why you do not agree with the service provider’s record.

11. Be informed before the service provider destroys your child’s records.

12. Have records destroyed which are no longer needed to provide educational services to your child.

Placement in the Least Restrictive Environment

You have the right to:

1. Be part of the multidisciplinary team that determines where your child will receive the early childhood special education services.

2. Have your child placed in early childhood special education services based on his/her IFSP and have that placement reviewed annually.

3. Have the team review the community’s array of services before determining where your child will be placed.

4. Have the types of support your child may need considered when deciding on educational placement.

5. Have consideration of any potential harmful effects that an educational placement may have on your child.

6. Have consideration of what modifications may be needed by your child to implement his/her IFSP.

7. Have your child’s services provided in the types of settings in which children without disabilities would participate to the extent determined appropriate by the multidisciplinary team.

Resolving Disagreements About the Education of Your Child

Your child has the right to a free, appropriate public education if he/she is eligible for early childhood special education. At times you may disagree with the identification, evaluation or proposed placement of your child or how the service provider delivers services to your child. Every attempt should be made to resolve these disagreements as they arise through informal meetings with your child’s service provider as soon as they arise.

If you are not satisfied, you may do any of the following:

Grievance Procedure

File a complaint with the service provider if you believe your child has been discriminated against because of his/her disability. You may also file a written request for a hearing with the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Oregon Department of Education, 700 Pringle Parkway SE, Salem, Oregon 97310-0290. Include your name, address, and phone number.
Mediation

Ask the service provider or the Oregon Department of Education (378-3598) to appoint a mediator to help resolve the dispute. A mediator is a trained person not involved with your service provider. The mediator will sit down with you and the service provider, if you both agree, to try to work out an agreement. Mediation is strictly voluntary and free. You are not required to go through it before asking for a hearing or filing a written complaint.

Written Complaint to the Oregon Department of Education

If you believe that the service provider has violated a federal procedural law with respect to the provision of early childhood special education services, you may file a written complaint with the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Oregon Department of Education, 700 Pringle Parkway SE, Salem, Oregon 97310-0290. Include your name, address, and phone number.

Due Process Hearing

You have the right to:

1. Ask for a due process hearing on any matter relating to the proposal or refusal of a service provider to initiate or change the identification, evaluation, educational placement, or free appropriate public education of your child. Send a written request for a hearing to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Oregon Department of Education, 700 Pringle Parkway SE, Salem, Oregon 97310-0290. Include your name, address and phone number.

2. Have the hearing conducted by an impartial hearings officer who is not employed by any agency involved in the education of your child. The hearings officer may not have a personal or professional conflict of interest.

3. Have the hearing set at a time and place which allow you to attend. During the hearing process, you have the right to:
   a. Attend and be advised by counsel and by persons with special knowledge or training about preschool children with disabilities.
   b. Present evidence and confront, cross-examine, and compel the attendance of witnesses.
   c. Prohibit the introduction of any evidence at the hearing that has not been disclosed at least five days prior to the hearing.
   d. Obtain a written or taped record of the hearing.
   e. Open the hearing to the public, if you wish.
   f. Have your child present during the hearing.
   g. Receive a decision no later than 45 calendar days after you asked for the hearing. The hearings officer may extend the timeline if asked by one of the parties.

4. Be informed of any free, low-cost legal or other relevant services (e.g., names of expert witnesses) if you request the information or the service provider initiates a due process hearing.

5. Have your child remain in his/her current educational placement unless you agree in writing to other arrangements.

6. Appeal the decision to court or bring a civil action. The service provider also has the right to appeal. If you are successful, you may be awarded your reasonable attorney's fees.
