This annotated bibliography of instructional resources for Alberta (Canada) introductory French second language teaching in early childhood, elementary, and secondary education consists of citations in 10 categories: audio/video recordings; communicative activity resources (primarily texts and workbooks); dictionaries and vocabulary handbooks; games and puzzles; kits; magazines and newspapers; posters, maps, and charts; reading collections; teacher reference materials; and workbooks. Within each category, resources are listed in alphabetical order by title. Each annotation provides basic bibliographic data, ordering information, and information about price, age level, components, appropriate fields of experience, curricular emphasis, and suggested use. A list of useful Canadian addresses is appended, and citations are indexed by both title and format. (MSE)

Introduction

The new French as a Second Language (FSL) Program of Studies will consist of nine levels of proficiency: Beginning French 1, 2, 3, Intermediate French 4, 5, 6 and Advanced French 7, 8, 9.

The Beginning level may be introduced in Early Childhood Services, grade 4, grade 7, grade 10 or at other grade levels, depending on community aspirations and available financial and human resources.

This document, French as a Second Language: Annotated Bibliography of Learning Resources. Beginning Level. Early Childhood Services – Grade 12, contains print and non-print resources suitable for use with students at the Beginning level of the new French as a Second Language Program of Studies for Alberta schools.

This listing is not an exhaustive one and does not claim to include all of the excellent French as a second language resources available.

Selection Criteria

The following criteria were used in selecting learning resources for this bibliography. Each resource included in this document meets all (or most) of these criteria.

1. The materials can be used in a variety of French as a second language programs in Alberta.
2. The fields of experience, language and activities are appropriate to the students' age and level of French language learning.
3. The content and suggested learning activities promote positive attitudes toward and a greater understanding of the French language and culture.
4. The materials take into account different styles of learning.
5. The materials depict aspects of francophone community life in Canada and in other countries.
6. The content is current, accurate and free of obvious bias.
7. The materials support the development of all language skills.
8. The materials can be adapted to a variety of teaching styles.
9. The general physical format (design, print, illustrations) is appealing.

10. The materials are reasonably priced, durable and readily available.

Contents and Format

This annotated bibliography is designed to help select and locate learning resources for students at the Beginning level of the Alberta French as a Second Language Program of Studies.

A similar publication is being planned for the Intermediate level. Teachers who have suggestions for inclusion may communicate directly with the Language Services Branch.

The resources are categorised as follows:

- Audio/Video
- Communicative Activity Resources
- Dictionaries and Vocabulary Handbooks
- Games and Puzzles
- Kits
- Magazines and Newspapers
- Posters, Maps and Charts
- Reading Collections
- Teacher Reference Materials
- Workbooks

In each of these categories, the resources are listed in alphabetical order, by title. Each annotation provides bibliographic information, ordering information as well as information about the price, age level, fields of experience, curricular emphasis and suggested use. Entries use these headings:

- Title
- Author(s)/Producer(s)
- Publisher/Distributor
- ISBN (International Standard Book Number) or BPN (Basic Program Number)
- Publication Date
- Price
- Age Level
- Component(s) Available
- Field(s) of Experience
- Summary
The prices included for each resource are effective as of June 1, 1991. Please contact the Learning Resources Distributing Centre (LRDC) or the distributor for current prices, including G.S.T. and shipping charges.

This document also provides lists of publishers/distributors, Regional Offices of Education and media centres. A format index, which lists resources by category, and a general index, which lists all resources in alphabetical order, complete this annotated bibliography.

Those entries marked with an asterisk (*) are support materials and are available from the Learning Resources Distributing Centre. All other entries may be purchased directly from the publisher/distributor. It is our suggestion that, prior to purchasing resources, teachers request copies from publishers for preview purposes. This will enable them to ensure that the materials meet their teaching and learning needs.

Summary:
À la radio, based on a series of French radio programs addressing everyday life topics such as the weather, sports and current events, is specifically designed to develop listening skills. The choice of language and speed of speech are natural. The fourteen themes reflect the interests and needs of today’s adolescents in grades 7 – 12; however, this material can also be used with grades 4 – 6 for less complex listening tasks.

The 100 activities in this resource provide the basis for many group or pair communicative activities such as role-playing and interviewing to promote productive oral skills and creativity.

An excellent, versatile, ready-to-use resource for the busy FSL teacher.

Summary:

This excellent, high-quality resource for Beginning level secondary school students consists of twenty modules or mini-programs based on everyday life themes, such as the market, leisure activities and being at a restaurant. It develops all four language receptive and productive skills in an authentic cultural context. Each module is composed of three segments: first, the cultural opener gives the context of the theme with narration, second, a dialogue develops the theme, and third, interactive activities focus on the language aspect of the experience viewed and heard, and encourage students to speak.

The User’s Manual offers creative and practical suggestions for activities and projects to develop and refine oral and written proficiency further.

This resource can also be used with grades 4 – 6.

Conservation and the Environment
Summary: Le loup du nord contains twelve rock and pop songs that appeal to students in grades 3 – 7. The content of the lyrics varies; some songs address issues of current concern and interest to youth such as the environment and peace while others are simply whimsical and rhythmic and just plain fun.

This resource is a good supplement to enrich and vitalise classroom instruction.

Summary: This animated, multimedia language program, based on a delightful story, is motivating and enjoyable for elementary and junior high school students. This resource helps develop both receptive and productive language skills and can be used for review or enrichment purposes. As well, Muzzy supports the philosophy and the communicative approach of the new FSL program.

The six components, available separately or in a kit, consist of a seventy-minute animated video cassette with sixty-six scenes, each relating an adventure of Muzzy, a lovable outer space monster; one sixty-minute audio cassette with eleven lively songs focusing on key vocabulary and phrases; a video storybook, referring to video scenes that can be used as pre- or post-activity to video viewing; a songbook with music and lyrics; and, photocopiable blackline activity masters.

The Teacher's Guide contains many ideas to help teachers integrate Muzzy components into a French program with pre-viewing, viewing and post-viewing activities, a vocabulary list, a video script, a planning chart, objectives, direction and solutions to activities and video teaching techniques. Pure enjoyment of this resource promotes a positive attitude toward French language learning.
Pour tout dire – Module I, Module II

Three short films: “Haut les mains!”, “Chambre et pension” and “Livreur à bicyclette”, six to nine minutes each, present authentic situations of high interest to adolescents. This resource contributes to the development of listening, comprehension and speaking strategies and develops a tolerance for ambiguity in the second language learning process. The student is encouraged to use non-verbal clues, cognates and his own experience to interpret messages.

The teaching unit provided is an excellent model and reference for teachers using any other audiovisual material to complement and enrich classroom instruction. The primary function of this module is to develop communication strategies but language and culture components of the new FSL program are well integrated.

The User’s Guide contains a description of communicative strategies and experiential activities, useful teaching notes on language and cultural points, and a transcript of the three films.

Pour tout dire – Module I and Module II, serve as excellent language learning strategies following the resource, Unité zéro.

Publisher/Distributor: TV Ontario, ACCESS NETWORK

BPN: 307000-307030

Publication Date: 1985-86

Price: $97.75 (from ACCESS NETWORK)

Age Level: 7-12

Component(s) Available: Teacher's Guide ($3.00)
4 video cassettes (VHS, Beta and ¾" U-matic formats)
Audio cassette ($4.00)

Field(s) of Experience:
- Weather
- Food
- Trades and Professions
- Vacations
- Fine Arts
- Activities
- Exercise
- People Around Us

Summary:
The thirty ten-minute programs are based on the adventures of two children, Jacques and Sophie, and Ananas, their human-like pineapple friend. Real, everyday-life experiences presented with a hint of fantasy are familiar and enjoyable to the upper elementary students and promote language acquisition through context-rich use of basic vocabulary and sentence structures.

The Teacher's Guide is a useful tool containing a summary of each program, basic vocabulary, key phrases, sentence structures, expressions and songs used in the video episodes. It also suggests a teaching procedure for each program with good pre-viewing and post-viewing activities to promote active listening and better general comprehension. The suggested pair or group activities, such as dramatisations, role-playing, making of posters and writing of invitations, provide for the integration of the FSL program components and develop the four language skills.

For a list of all thirty programs, refer to the ACCESS NETWORK Video Catalogue. To purchase copies, phone the Provincial Educational Media Centre, 1-800-352-8293.

Teaching Guide (under development)

Field(s) of Experience: Trades and Professions, Outdoor Activities, The Future of the World, Trips and Excursions, Social Life

Activities, Fine Arts, Animals, Close Friends, Vacations

Summary: Matt Maxwell's fourth audio cassette contains twelve rock and pop songs and two traditional songs. The lyrics address topics of high interest to adolescents such as jobs, peace and teenage activities including telephone conversations, videos and dancing. This resource is especially suitable for grades 5 – 9 at the Beginning and Intermediate levels. Some songs appeal to younger students also.

Songs and lyrics are practical and motivating for any phase of classroom instruction, such as the introduction of the lesson or enrichment to enhance development of all language skills.
COMMUNICATIVE ACTIVITY RESOURCES
Biéncrit

Biéncrit is a collection of fifteen friendly letters written by adolescents to other adolescents about familiar and interesting topics such as leisure activities, food, clothing and money. It forms the basis for communicative activities for pairs or groups to promote comprehension and production skills for secondary Beginning 3 and Intermediate level students in grades 10 – 12. The letter writing format of this resource supports the process orientation of the FSL program through a hands-on approach to developing writing skills in an authentic and motivating fashion. As a suggestion, letters could be composed and transmitted orally, via audio cassette recordings, to develop oral skills.

Age Level: 12-17

Component(s) Available:
- workbook ($7.20)
- blackline masters ($80.00)
- Teacher's Guide ($15.75)
- audio cassette ($25.00)

Field(s) of Experience:
- People Around Us
- School
- Trades and Professions
- Activities
- Holidays and Celebrations
- Community
- Hygiene and Safety

Summary:

Communication Plus 1 contains seventy-five communicative activities to develop oral and written communication skills of secondary school students and provide motivation for true communication in the classroom by addressing themes and topics close to today's adolescents' emotional and social interests and needs. The focus of this material is primarily communicative/experiential, and culture is integrated in the activities as well. More specifically, the activities address creative expression, message interpretation and negotiation, short research projects and presentations, improvisation, brainstorming, etc. Support documents such as maps, Bingo cards, road signs, songs, games, advertisements and business cards are authentic and interesting.

The Teacher's Guide identifies objectives and gives practical pre-activity and post-activity suggestions.

The format and presentation of this resource make it simple and easy to use for enrichment, review or reinvestment to supplement a basic French language program.

- Holidays and Celebrations
- Hygiene and Safety
- Leisure Activities
- Community
- Health and Exercise
- Weather
- Activities
- Food
- Vacations
- Fine Arts
- Exercise
- Shopping

Summary:

This text contains forty-six different illustrations of cartoon scenarios dealing with everyday life foibles that provide motivation and context for written or oral production and storytelling. This material is especially useful and enjoyable for secondary students with at least 100 hours of previous French language instruction. However, it can easily be adapted for use at all levels of language proficiency. Each cartoon story sequence is accompanied by some basic vocabulary to assist the students in writing or telling a story.

This resource supports the philosophy and approach of the FSL program and can be used to develop or enrich oral and written language skills.
French Practice and Testing: Proficiency Level 1

Summary:
Designed for students in their first year of high school French, this resource develops proficiency in the language through a variety of activities.

The passages in the workbook are grouped by skill: speaking, listening comprehension, reading comprehension and writing. Oral communication tasks require students to participate in situations involving socialising, providing or obtaining information, expressing personal feelings and persuasion. Listening and reading comprehension activities, which make use of many different types of authentic documents, are multiple-choice. Writing exercises require the students to write short notes and lists. For example: “Your friends, who are visiting from Quebec, have asked you to recommend a restaurant. Write them a note in French in which you suggest a good place to eat and explain why.”

Throughout the book, students will find themselves placed in everyday situations to which they can easily relate.

Each component of the resource is available separately. The Teacher Manual and key contain activities involving oral production and oral comprehension, as well as sample responses and a complete answer key. The four audio cassette programs use the voices of native French speakers. Included on these are various sample sequences for the oral communication tasks and 100 listening comprehension passages.

A particularly useful resource for student evaluation.
Imprimé en France

Title:

Author(s)/Producer(s): Derek Utley and Dave Moores

Publisher/Distributor: The Resource Centre

ISBN: 0-560-02265-2

Publication Date: 1988

Price: $9.95

Age Level: 13-17

Component(s) Available: student activity book

Field(s) of Experience:

- Animals
- Food and Drink
- Leisure Activities
- Community
- Vacations
- Weather

Summary: This collection of authentic documents and accompanying questions focuses on the skill of written comprehension.

Extracts taken from magazines, newspapers, brochures and pamphlets published in France have been arranged so that they gradually get more difficult. There are thirty different selections which include: posters, charts, advertisements, signs, travel guides, cartoons, tickets, TV guides, department store sale flyers, newspaper headlines and many others.

Each passage is accompanied by a short introduction and a series of questions asked in English about information given in the document. Important vocabulary is translated at the bottom of each page. The exercises involve short-answer, true-or-false, fill-in-the-blank and multiple-choice questions.

An excellent resource for developing comprehension skills as well as cultural understanding.
Title: Initiation au voyage

Author(s)/Producer(s): M. Duplantie, R. LeBlanc and R. Tremblay

Publisher/Distributor: L'Association canadienne des professeurs de langue seconde

ISBN:

Publication Date: 1988

Price: $20.00 per kit

Age Level: 13-17

Component(s) Available:
- Teacher's Guide
- Student text
- Workbook and answer key
- Audio cassette

Field(s) of Experience:
- Vacations
- Trips and Excursions

Summary: Initiation au voyage is a unit based on the philosophy of the National Core French Study designed for grade 8 students with a minimum of 125 hours of previous French language instruction. It integrates the four FSL program components: experience/communication, culture, language and general language education. Using the communicative-experiential approach, students are first guided through the planning of a holiday in Montreal. They are then invited to use the skills and knowledge which they have acquired to plan a short trip to Quebec City. The Teacher's Guide provides detailed lesson planning for effective use of the audio cassette, workbook and student textbook.

A good teaching model for the communicative/experiential approach.
Le nouveau service compris

Author(s)/Producer(s): Various
Publisher/Distributor: The Resource Centre
ISBN: 0-267-7571
Publication Date:
Price: $115.00 per year
Age Level: 12-18
Component(s) Available: 2 audio cassettes in a ring binder format (available by annual subscription)
Field(s) of Experience: Vary with each issue

Summary: Le nouveau service compris is a useful teacher resource issued twice a year - September and January. It is comprised of two parts: “Teacher Update” and “Classroom Resources”.

“Teacher Update” contains information on language, culture and other professional information to keep the teacher in touch with new teaching approaches, ideas, techniques, methodology and information of other professional organisations.

“Classroom Resources” presents language activities divided by topics and skills, graded in three levels – Beginning, Intermediate and Advanced, all cross-referenced to indicate at a glance where each one might fit in with your FSL basic program. Included are ready-to-use student resources such as worksheets, activities (with authentic French material), audio cassette recordings, theme-based modules for games, songs, recipes and a variety of communicative group activities.

The culture component is comprehensively addressed. All material can be photocopied.

A must for the language teacher's professional library.
L'immeuble

Author(s)/Producer(s): Francis Debyser
Publisher/Distributor: Hachette
Publication Date: 1986
Price: 15-18
Age Level: soft-cover text
Component(s) Available: Housing
Field(s) of Experience: Community
People Around Us
Holidays and Celebrations
Weather
Trades and Professions
Animals
Food
Vacations
Activities
Fine Arts

Summary: L'immeuble (the apartment building) is a teacher resource that forms the basis for the creation, animation and narration of dialogues, scenarios, descriptions and other discourse commonly found in the everyday life experiences of apartment dwellers. The students are placed in an active and creative role, creating names, addresses, jobs, etc., for those who live in the apartment building and involving them in conversation situations and familiar activities.

The communicative group activities in this resource comprehensively exploit all four oral and written language skills in a very creative and challenging fashion. The activities motivate the adolescent second language learner and can be used at any proficiency level. A dynamic resource to involve the language learners from the start and motivate them to use the target language while doing the activities.
Title: Tu parles!

Author(s)/Producer(s): Vee Harris and Liz Roselman

Publisher/Distributor: The Resource Centre

ISBN: 0-17-439444-6

Publication Date: 1986

Price: $9.95 per book

Age Level: 14-16

Component(s) Available: Book A
Book B

Field(s) of Experience: Vacations
Food and Drink
Clothing
People Around Us
Leisure Activities

Summary: Based on the information gap concept, this two-part resource (Book A and Book B) contains twenty personal and tourist-type scenarios based on such subjects as the family and camping, which are suitable for enrichment or review for students in grades 8 – 11. The main focus of the communication is on the message received rather than on the form of the message.

Book A and Book B contain complementary requests and information for student A and student B as a basis for dialogues. Every situation is introduced by a preparatory section with useful linguistic structures, dialogue and cartoon-type illustrations to facilitate the ensuing communicative task.

Many activities provide for teaching about the cultures of French and French-Canadian people.

Supplementary reinvestment-type activities are included at the end of the texts. This communicative resource integrates the four components of the FSL program.

Summary:
This student reference dictionary contains approximately 18,000 words and was designed for language students in grades 4 – 9. It includes 250 black-and-white illustrations and fifty-five pages with coloured illustrations for a variety of themes. Every word is defined and contextualised in a clear, simple sentence. This material presents words and terms that reflect linguistic, social, historical and geographic realities of Francophones in North America, and more specifically in Quebec. Thus, it includes "les québécismes" – terms and expressions commonly used and accepted in Quebec as well as terms coined and commonly used by adolescents, and other words that reflect technological and social changes in society, such as feminine forms for various trades and professions.

The clarity of presentation and contemporary content of this dictionary will appeal to the FSL student.

Field(s) of Experience: Various

Summary:
This illustrated dictionary contains 3,336 French and English terms or expressions frequently used in a variety of contexts in everyday life situations. The entries are listed alphabetically in English and numbered chronologically for easy cross-referencing with the French index. This system enables a quick reference when receptive or productive skills are required for communicative activities. Nouns are accompanied by an article to indicate gender. Adjectives and certain nouns indicate one gender only, e.g., lovely: belle, jolie; dog: le chien.

This is a good FSL classroom reference text. Twelve copies per class would be sufficient.

Summary:

This thematically illustrated dictionary is a reference text for teachers and secondary students with 3,000 black-and-white clearly labelled illustrations of objects in French and English. This format enables the visual association of the object with its corresponding terminology to facilitate oral and written communication. French and English terms are coded and identified to reflect expressions and culture related to Britain, France, Canada, Quebec and North America in general.

Subjects treated include science, arts, food, animals, sports, weapons, furniture, architecture, transportation, the human body, clothing, fashion and communication. Three indexes (a general index, a thematic index and a specialised index in French and English) provide cross-referencing to facilitate quick and easy word or item search. The thematic presentation of this reference material harmonizes with the fields of experience prescribed in the Program of Studies.

A must in the secondary FSL classroom.

Summary:

This text is an excellent student reference vocabulary handbook, useful for many communicative activities that may take place inside or outside the classroom in French-Canadian and other francophone contexts. Basic and more complex vocabulary, phrases and sentences are organised within twelve common themes and their respective sub-themes. This thematic system enables quick and easy reference for effective communication in such activities as role-playing, field trips or travel in a French milieu.

A good resource to enhance fluency of oral and written expression.

Summary:
This colourfully illustrated dictionary with over 800 basic words commonly used in current expressions can be a very useful reference tool for the FSL student. It addresses thirty-seven themes on subjects familiar to learners 8-14 years of age, and contains a French and English index for quick and easy reference. Feminine and masculine forms of nouns and adjectives are included.

Mon dictionnaire en images allows one to “see” the illustrated words in a familiar Canadian context and “hear” them with masculine and feminine voices on the cassette component.

An excellent resource to foster independent learning.

Housing, People Around Us, School, Trades and Professions, World of Work, Money, Holidays and Celebrations, Weather, Food, Health and Exercise, Vacations, Activities, Exercise, Clothing, Leisure Activities, Fine Arts, Community, Shopping, Animals

Prendre au mot is a thematically organised vocabulary handbook divided into thirty themes based on everyday life experiences for secondary school students with a minimum of 200 hours of French as a second language instruction. It provides enrichment for previously acquired basic vocabulary and facilitates speaking and writing skills.

Each theme presents vocabulary words, vocabulary exercises of varying degrees of difficulty with an answer key, as well as a short introductory anecdote and a literary excerpt – both of which serve to contextualise the vocabulary.

The cultural context is France but it could be adapted to the French-Canadian context.
GAMES AND PUZZLES
Title: Bien joué!

Author(s)/Producer(s): Sarah Fletcher

Publisher/Distributor: The Resource Centre

Publication Date: 1978

Price: $69.95

Age Level: 9-14

Component(s) Available: Complete game pack contains:
- 26 cards
- Teacher’s Handbook

Field(s) of Experience: Animals, Housing
Activities, Trades and Professions
Food and Drink, Weather

Summary: This game pack contains twenty assorted board and card games all of which can be used with a minimum of preparation.

Each game provides practice in many of the linguistic elements (adjectives, present tense verbs, prepositions and so on) and vocabulary of the Beginning level. The games also offer an excellent approach to review.

The Teacher’s Handbook provides notes on the objectives and rules for each game, as well as some suggestions for additional classroom games and activities.

An enjoyable resource which provides a change of pace for students and teachers alike.

The Teacher's Resource Book provides explanations and suggestions in English for games and activities.

This material helps develop language skills and is especially useful for the preparatory stage of teaching and the mini-task portion of the educational project. Carte Blanche provides a good basic picture and activity bank for elementary and junior high school classes.
French Vocabulary through Puzzles

This collection of puzzles and activities provides students with a fun and interesting way to learn French vocabulary.

The fifty self-contained activities in this workbook are grouped into six key topics and can be used in any order. Included are: crossword puzzles, mazes, scrambled word puzzles, secret codes and word searches.

Although designed primarily for students aged 11-14 years, this resource could also be used with Beginning level high school students. All exercises are self-directing and therefore do not require much teacher guidance or supervision.

Teachers would be required to purchase a class set of this resource since no permission for reproduction is given.
La communication par le jeu

La communication par le jeu is a collection of sixty-five communicative games, each of which is presented in an easy-to-read chart format. Each game gives clear, point-form information on specific and general objectives, content, level, number of participants, required material and step-by-step procedures to facilitate preparation and process of the game. Some activities can also be done with grade 5 and 6 students.

These activities, for pairs or small groups, are classified according to degree of difficulty and may be used as described or adapted to suit one's instructional needs. Students may be invited to create their own variations. The text contains two parts, each of which presents two types of games: Part I is composed of “Jouons avec des chiffres et des lettres” and “Le lexique et la grammaire en jeux”, while Part II contains “Les jeux d'interaction sociale” and “Les jeux de création”.

These activities provide great motivation for oral expression and comprehension, and creativity which generally enhance communicative competence.

An excellent resource for the busy language teacher who wants versatile, quick and easy-to-use activities to support classroom instruction.

Summary:
This activity book contains eighty perforated blackline masters based on everyday vocabulary themes. For each crossword puzzle, illustrations are used as clues and a list of key words is found at the bottom of the page.

There are four sets of puzzles (A, B, C, D) for each theme. Each puzzle builds upon the previous one by reviewing the words already presented and then adding new related items. The final puzzle (D) contains all twenty illustrations without the printed word list.

The puzzles can be used for teaching new vocabulary, revision or assessment.

Reproduction rights are granted for the classes of an individual teacher who purchases the book.

An excellent way to increase students' vocabulary!

- Holidays and Celebrations
- Food
- Housing
- Activities
- Animals
- Clothing

Summary:
This teacher resource manual, a collection of thirty-two reproducible communicative group activities for the elementary FSL classroom, is meant to develop and enhance mainly oral comprehension and oral expression (listening and speaking). However, some activities involve reading and writing specifically, while others may be adapted to address these skills. The games are divided into three levels to correspond to language proficiency but the material is versatile. For instance, a level 3 game can easily and quickly be adapted for use by less proficient students or to treat a different field of experience. The teacher and/or students could create variations themselves.

Each game clearly identifies the title of the theme exploited, the levels, the skills developed, the function of the activity, the vocabulary, the procedure and possible variations of the game.

The introduction of this manual contains useful suggestions for grouping strategies.

An excellent resource to support a primary FSL teaching program.

                       Housing
                       Fine Arts

Summary: A kit designed to improve oral comprehension skills, Au micro would be well-suited to students at the Beginning 3 level of the FSL program.

The material is divided into fifteen units which can be used in any order. In each unit, young French people aged 13-17 talk about themselves, their families, their interests, their country and their customs. Canadian students will easily identify with these French teenagers and will have an opportunity to compare and contrast their own culture with that of France.

The oral comprehension activities include three or four short interviews for each topic. Students are guided to listen not only for the general gist of the passage but for pertinent details as well. There are fifteen authentic documents related to the themes which provide a realistic context for introducing new vocabulary. Two additional worksheets per topic provide a range of communicative activities, making this resource ideal for use with classes of mixed abilities.

All activities are on reproducible blackline masters, organised in a ring-binder.

Summary:
This unique introduction unit is designed to help secondary-level language students heighten their awareness of the different strategies they can use to learn a language (beginning with one’s first language). Through a series of activities and exercises, students understand that the strategies they used to learn their first language can also be used to learn a second language. Students learn that they play an important role in the language learning/acquisition process and that they need to assume personal responsibility for their own learning.

The activities are mostly in English to ensure that students understand how and why certain strategies are used. Comic strips and other colourful and authentic material in the student workbook provide motivation and make it fun to use.

Although this unit highlights the general language education component and is designed as an introduction to the communicative approach used in the Élans series, it can be used effectively at any stage of a language learning program.

An excellent follow-up to this language learning strategies resource is Pour tout dire – Module I and Module II.

An excellent tool to develop language learning strategies.

Summary: This kit is designed to teach the essential vocabulary relating to weather and weather forecasting. It is suitable for the Beginning 1 level of the FSL program.

A ten-minute audio cassette (two weeks) provides various activities for developing listening comprehension. Students will also benefit from the geography vocabulary and the maps and weather symbols included in the kit, all of which will help them to prepare and present their own weather forecasts in French.
Title: Le temps des sucres

Author(s)/Producer(s): R. Ullmann, V. Argue and M. Balchunas

Publisher/Distributor: Ontario Institute for Studies in Education

ISBN:

Publication Date: 1978

Price: $32.00

Age Level: 9-16

Component(s) Available: Teacher's Guide, audio cassette, filmstrip, flash cards, flannelgraph sheets, 2 handbooks, lotto activity cards

Field(s) of Experience: Holidays and Celebrations

Summary: Le temps des sucres is a cultural kit containing information and activities about the sugaring-off, which takes place every spring in various regions of Canada.

Vocabulary is introduced and reintroduced throughout the module, which includes a filmstrip and audio cassette describing traditional and modern methods of making syrup. Narration by a young French-Canadian girl provides authenticity.

The follow-up activities are interesting and enjoyable and provide for much student participation.

This kit corresponds well to the “Holidays and Celebrations” field of experience at the Beginning 1 level of the FSL program and would serve as a valuable resource for teaching Canadian culture.
The Magnetic Way into Language

Summary:

The Magnetic Way into Language is a unique manipulative language material composed of a special magnetic board and vibrantly-coloured visuals which are flexible, durable and capable of being layered. Through this resource, students are given the opportunity for hands-on participation in the learning process—through visual, tactile and spatial stimulation.

The basic program consists of four separate kits entitled: The Street, The Country, Indoors and People in Action. Combining any of these provides visuals for a vast array of scenarios that portray everyday situations which are familiar to all students. The components included are: a class board, choice of two different program guides, a package of four dry-erasable markers, a package of metallised plastic sheets (for the teacher's own creations) and over 475 visuals such as storefronts, vehicles, traffic signs, buildings, animals, weather symbols, furniture, appliances, people, actions and emotions.

The material is multi-cultural and multi-dimensional and comes with a lifetime guarantee. Since there are no printed words, it can be used in a variety of subject areas and languages.

In addition to the basic program, there are other packages which can be purchased separately: Into Our Community, Into Children's Literature (nursery rhymes, fairy tales and folktales), Into Life Systems (the human body) and Into Our World: Dinosaurs. A kit of letters and numbers is also available.

Students and teachers of all grade levels would find The Magnetic Way into Language a dynamic and interactive means of communication.

- $179.00 for Boxed Set B
- $179.00 for Boxed Set C

Age Level: 8-15

Component(s) Available: readers, audio cassettes, pupil's activity book, answer cards, Teacher's Guide, library box

Field(s) of Experience: Various

Summary:

Bibliobus is a reading library of three collections of readers. Each collection has five graded levels, which are colour-coded to distinguish them. Within each level, there are five readers, each containing a complete story with accompanying activities and a vocabulary list.

The materials are supplied in a "basic starter pack" library box containing: two sets of twenty-five reading booklets, five colour-coded level answer cards, a pupil's activity book and a Teacher's Guide. Teachers may purchase additional copies to build up a library which matches the size and reading preferences of their classes.

Designed to enable students to read and understand a complete narrative in French on their own, Bibliobus meets the individual needs of students with varying abilities. At each level there is a varied choice of fiction and non-fiction texts so that students may select a story or subject that appeals to them. They can read as many books from each level as they need before progressing to the next.

The illustrations, many in colour, vary in style from one reader to another.

The audio cassette series enables students to listen and read along independently. The pupil's activity book provides the teacher with a variety of follow-up activities based on the readers that can be used to monitor student progress. The answer card for each level enables students to check their own answers to the activities.
Collection Imagination A, B, C

This collection of three "big books" accompanies the Savoir Faire series, but would be stimulating for any young student at the Beginning level.

All are colourfully illustrated and written with only one or two lines of text per page. Many of the stories are humourous and use a great deal of repetition and rhyming.

These books may be purchased separately or as a set and would be enjoyed by students and teachers alike.

Titles include:

- Collection A: Dix kilomètres à pied; Un litre de crème glacée; Badaboum
- Collection B: Bonhomme, Bonhomme; Comme moi!; Une invitation
- Collection C: Il pleut!; À la ferme, à la ferme; En voyage!

Summary: These four colourful children's classics, available in small and big book form, will interest and delight primary students from ECS - grade 4. Class or group readings of the big books will motivate the students to read the small books individually and can also form the basis for dramatisation. Brilliant illustrations and numerous cognates facilitate comprehension. Using the big books will help students associate oral and written language and enhance their individual reading skills.

The Teacher's Guide provides suggestions and interesting activities to complement the books and audio cassettes.

- Leisure Activities
- Hygiene and Safety
- Community
- Vacations

Summary:

Entracte is an exciting collection of six illustrated plays and follow-up material which is suitable for a wide range of abilities.

The plays, which may be purchased separately in packs of five, are attractively presented and contain simple, yet authentic, dialogue based on the themes and language functions of the Beginning level FSL program. All plays are short enough to be read in one or two class periods, but long enough to have many different characters (the suggested minimum number ranges from thirteen to thirty). Teachers may choose to bring in and develop extra characters so as to involve an entire class of thirty or more. Moreover, the gender and age of the majority of characters can be changed without affecting the plot.

At the end of each play is a series of activities designed to verify the students' understanding of the storyline. Additional materials are included in the Teacher's Guide: reproducible project sheets, cue cards for oral work and various ideas for using language creatively. As well, teachers are given pointers regarding directing and staging, and using props and costumes.

This innovative series includes:

- "Ciné-club" – A man finds his home invaded by uninvited guests.

- "La vallée blanche" – Six friends encounter danger after leaving for a hike in the mountains without making adequate preparations.

- "La classe de 2333" – In a futuristic school, students sit in front of a huge screen listening to a cold, mechanical voice.

Entracte (cont'd)

“L’hôtel n’est pas complet” – No guests at all have registered at the hotel so the owner leaves his two young receptionists in charge. The results are disastrous!

“La nouvelle maison des jeunes” – A group of young people get together to build a youth club for children in the surrounding area.

“Objets trouvés” – In St. Just Station and on a train to Paris, two complete strangers experience a mix-up with their lost belongings.

Summary:

This series of six high-interest low-vocabulary cultural readers provides information about modern-day Quebec (size, regions and culture) through a clear text with black and white illustrations, maps and photographs. Each reader contains a glossary and comprehension exercises complemented by a workbook with fun-filled activities, such as puzzles and games, to be completed in written or oral form, individually or in pairs. Accompanying high-quality audio cassettes can be used to develop or test oral comprehension. This series is highly recommended to supplement the culture component of the FSL program at the Beginning 3 or Intermediate level.

Summary:
Le français chez nous is a series of twelve books, approximately fifteen pages each, dealing with everyday experiences. It is divided into three levels of four books each, each level progressing from easy to more difficult vocabulary and sentence structure. Each page is colourfully illustrated and contains two to four sentences that use many cognates. Comprehension questions and a glossary at the end of each text facilitate task-oriented independent reading.

Audio cassettes and texts contribute to the development of oral and written receptive and productive skills.

French-Canadian culture is well integrated in the readings. This resource is especially useful in presenting the idea that French-Canadians live in other provinces besides Quebec.

Summary:
This series of high-interest low-vocabulary readers contains humorous situational dialogues designed to motivate secondary level students. The texts use expressions and discourse found in the everyday life of the adolescent, at a restaurant, at the bank, at a party or in any other common situation.

This series is presented in two levels with each level containing eight readers: a teacher’s guide with warm-ups; activities for listening, writing and speaking using familiar vocabulary; board activities; writing activities for grammar reinforcement; group activities; hands-on and dramatisation activities. Six audio cassettes (three per level) which provide exercises for comprehension and pronunciation, and a student workbook with oral and written exercises accompany this series.

The culture component is well integrated in the reader. This is a good support resource to motivate reading and develop communication skills in the teenagers’ everyday social and practical experiences.

Summary:

This teacher resource shows how to evaluate students using the “teaching for communication approach”. It clarifies fundamental concepts regarding testing and presents models for creating tests for your own program and grade level. This text provides a clear insight on some general principles for effective summative and formative evaluation.

It shows what communicative tests look like (in all four skill areas), how to score for communicative ability and how to develop communicative tests. The “how to” section on suggestions for developing your own communicative tests is excellent.

The author realises that communicative tests tax the imagination and therefore provides many varied examples of such tests for a range of skills and grade levels.

This text is a must for the language teacher’s professional library.

Summary:

Language Learning Strategies is a professional teacher reference text designed to “train teachers to train learners”. Although this book focuses on language teaching, it is useful for educators in any field of teaching. The author offers research to demonstrate the importance of teaching students learning strategies such as memory, cognitive, compensation, as well as metacognitive, affective and social strategies. The students need these learning tools if they are to become responsible for their own learning and be effective learners. To this end, Oxford offers learning strategies to be taught. She uses clear language, diagrams and figures which make for easy and interesting reading. The book abounds with good explanations and examples of learning strategies via activities and exercises. Strategies to develop each of the four language skills are suggested. This resource comprehensively addresses the general language education component of the new FSL program.

Highly recommended for the language teacher's professional library.

Summary: This series of six publications provides teachers with valuable and current information on the theory and research relating to the acquisition of French as a second language. The National Core French Study itself was carried out across Canada and the documents of the Final Report make some interesting observations about FSL teaching throughout the country. Not only do these booklets provide theoretical constructs from which curriculum development can be carried out, they also help teachers understand some of the more difficult tasks of teaching and learning a second language.

A must for all teachers since this study is, in part, the foundation of the new Alberta Program of Studies for French as a Second Language.

$9.90 per module

This program of professional development, which includes nine separate modules and a guide for group leaders, has been written for French as a second language teachers, department heads, coordinators, advisors and teacher trainers.

Each of the modules, available in both French and English, emphasises a particular aspect of French as a second language teaching based on a communicative/experiential model. There are five modules on the development of communication activities related to specific language skills, two modules on classroom facilitations, a module on how to adapt these manuals to the personal experiences of students and teachers and a module outlining an evaluation procedure for communicative/experiential-type learning.

Plan de perfectionnement en français langue seconde (cont'd)

Users will identify their own current teaching practice and will decide how these modules might enhance or improve their personal approach. They will also be guided to make better use of communicative materials as well as to distinguish between materials that are truly communicative and those that profess to be.

Each module presents and studies its subject in four phases: Section A provides an introduction to the topic, Section B discusses basic theory, Section C explains how to develop a lesson plan and Section D presents strategies which will enable the user to implement new activities in his/her approach.

This collection of independent-learning documents is invaluable for teachers exploring their own personal concepts of teaching and how they relate to the communicative/experiential approach.

Summary:

This teacher reference text is a collection of articles focusing on second language acquisition and teaching selected from The Canadian Modern Language Review journals of the 1980s.

Although the readings were originally meant for ESL teachers, the selections relate to teachers of all languages.

This anthology is an excellent source of writings addressing teaching skills, listening, speaking, writing, reading, error analysis and testing, culture and language and the communicative syllabus.

A valuable addition to your professional library.
Teaching Language in Context*

Title: Teaching Language in Context*
Author(s)/Producer(s): Alice C. Omaggio
Publisher/Distributor: Nelson
Publication Date: 1986
Price: $34.90
Age Level: All levels
Component(s) Available: soft-cover text
Field(s) of Experience:

Summary: This book presents the FSL teacher with current information on the knowledge we have about the way people learn languages in the classroom.

It explores and investigates principles, practices and issues of second language teaching from a proficiency based orientation. It directly addresses the second language teachers' age old dilemma of how to assist students in becoming more proficient in their second language in a classroom situation. Because teaching and learning should take place within a real-life context to promote student interest and motivation, the author recognises that the classroom setting presents a special challenge where real-life experiences must be simulated and to this end offers many ideas and illustrations based on sound language teaching principles. She describes a process useful to second language teachers in planning an integrated FSL program.

Current theories on language acquisition and learning, methodological trends in the teaching profession, review of research in first and second language learning, suggestions for contextualising and integrating speaking, writing, listening, reading and culture activities for small group communicative interaction, and testing are just a few of the topics addressed in this document.

Both the novice and experienced language teacher will find practical ideas, new teaching techniques or a different perspective on familiar techniques in this book.

A must for every language teacher's professional library.
Title: Together We Learn*
Author(s)/Producer(s): Judy Clarke, Ron Wideman and Susan Eadie
Publisher/Distributor: Prentice-Hall Canada Inc.
ISBN: 0-13-924556-1
Publication Date: 1990
Price: $24.65
Age Level: All levels
Component(s) Available: handbook
Field(s) of Experience:

Summary: An easy-to-read guide to cooperative small group learning, this resource contains valuable information for teachers of all levels and subject areas.

The 200-page handbook explains the benefits of group work for both teachers and students, makes suggestions for planning group tasks and group interaction, discusses different kinds of cooperative groups and how each can be used in the classroom, and outlines how cooperative skills can be taught.

The teacher's role is discussed as being one of facilitator, which is in keeping with the new FSL program of studies. Suggestions on “intervening supportively” and responding to individual needs are also given.

A practical “how-to” handbook which would certainly help teachers implement cooperative learning strategies in their classrooms.
