This class manual for "Information Resources in the Social Sciences," a class offered at the Graduate School of Library and Information Science of the University of Texas at Austin introduces the objectives of the course, an exploration of various fields in the social sciences and the English-language reference tools of the social science disciplines, including online databases and CD-ROM resources. After a session on general sources, class sessions focus on the following disciplines: (1) education; (2) sociology and social work; (3) psychology and political science; (4) business and economics; and (5) anthropology, history, and geography. Each unit contains source lists, quizzes, problem sets, and other information as needed. (SLD)

Objectives

1. To explore the nature of the various fields in the social sciences, their inter-relationships, and their relationships with other areas of knowledge.
2. To become aware of the contents of a representative sample of English-language reference tools, including online databases and CD-ROM products, in social science disciplines.
3. To demonstrate the ability to examine, compare, contrast, and evaluate reference sources.
4. To provide experience in analyzing reference questions to determine the level and extent of information required to satisfy the client, and to give a satisfactory, ethical answer.
5. To develop, through the design of a pathfinder, a technique to provide bibliographic instruction to patrons in a particular library.

Content

Class sessions will focus on the study of reference sources available in seven major disciplines in the social sciences along with services to users. These seven areas are education, sociology/social work, psychology, political science, business/economics, anthropology, and history/geography.

Textbook

No textbooks are required.

Assignments and Responsibilities

June 16; June 29 . . . Annotations of sources . . . 30 points (%)
June 22 . . . . . . . CD-ROM Worksheet . . . . . . . 20 points (%)
July 7 . . . . . . . Pathfinder . . . . . . . . . . . . 40 points (%)
(June 30: Deadline for submitting optional pathfinder draft.)
Each day . . . . . . . Class Participation . . . . 10 points (%)
(includes problem set discussion and general discussion)

Grades: 90-100% = A        80-89% = B        70-79% = C

Grade points are not rounded up: for example, cumulative point scores of 89.5 receive a grade of B+. I neither grade on a curve nor use a 'quota system'; although it is a rough rule of thumb that in elective graduate courses in this department there will be one A awarded for every three B's.

I must submit the grade sheets by 9:00 a.m. on July 14. Call TEX (475-9950) after this date to obtain your grade report.
COURSE POLICIES

1. We will have a fifteen minute break approximately half way through the afternoon (around 2:30). Please return promptly after the break. Class will finish between 3:15 and 3:30 p.m.

2. Class attendance is expected. Failure to attend classes or late arrivals to class will result in reduced credit for class participation. You will receive a deduction of two points for each missed class. This penalty also applies to the first class on June 7. If you must miss a day when an oral presentation is due, you may receive partial participation credit by submitting a tape recording of your presentation that will be played that day.

3. Students are asked to participate in general class discussion throughout the semester. Grades for participation are based on the quality and consistency of student contributions.

4. Please designate and secure the cooperation of one of your classmates who will take notes for you and gather handouts in the event of your being late to class or absent.

5. Assignments are all due on or by the stated due dates. In fairness to those who complete work on time, a penalty of 10% will be assessed for each 24-hours an assignment is overdue. IF A STUDENT MISSES CLASS ON A DUE DATE, the overdue clock will begin at the beginning of the class period that the assignment is due.

6. Please observe my stated office hours for visits and phone calls. This especially applies to the half hour before class begins. If you leave a message on my answering machine, please leave your name, the time and date when you called, a brief note concerning your reason for calling, and repeat twice the number where I might reach you. Please do not call or stop by my office outside of office hours to check on the status of drafts or grades; I will deduct one-fourth point from your grade for each such inquiry.

7. Submit your completed coursework to me in class or to my mail box in EDB 564. Please do not submit completed work to me in my office; I will deduct one-fourth point for work delivered to my office. If you are submitting work late, write the time that you submitting your work on the cover sheet.

8. A grade of incomplete will NOT be given except in extremely exceptional circumstances of a non-academic nature.

9. Students may NOT submit extra credit work in order to raise their grades.

10. I will review one draft of the pathfinder. Drafts must be in typed/word processed form but they do not have to be complete. June 30 is the last date you may submit a draft; I will endeavor to return drafts as soon as possible. YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO SUBMIT A DRAFT. I will not review drafts of the CD ROM Worksheet or the annotations.

11. Note carefully the required page length stipulated in the pathfinder assignments for Parts I and II. One page is the equivalent of 250 words. YOU WILL LOSE CREDIT IF YOU EITHER
12. Be sure to cite sources in the pathfinder and annotations. Use quotation marks or block quotations for direct quotes (five or more words used verbatim from a source or significant words or phrases). Credit sources when you paraphrase. ONE FOURTH POINT WILL BE DEDUCTED FOR EACH SENTENCE THAT IS DRAWN TOO CLOSELY FROM SOURCES WHEN SUCH SOURCES SHOULD BE CREDITED. THIS DEDUCTION IS MADE OFF THE TOP OF THE MAXIMUM CREDIT FOR AN ASSIGNMENT.

13. You will earn one bonus point by preparing your pathfinder for a client.

14. Students are asked to control access to materials in the IP Lab Cabinet. Make sure that you replace sample pathfinders or annotations to the file cabinet after you have examined and/or copied them. My TA and the IP Lab Staff will not monitor access to these items and I will neither search for lost files nor replace missing items from these files.

15. Unless there is a medical reason for doing so (e.g., diabetes), do not eat your meals during class time. You may lose participation credit if you have to be repeatedly reminded of this policy.

16. In class chatter will not be tolerated. More than one incident may result in reduced class credit for participation.

17. I adhere to the "Grading policy of the Graduate School of Library and Information Science." Students should review this policy statement at some point during the semester.

18. I adhere to the UT policy on academic dishonesty: "Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and dismissal from The University. Since dishonesty harms the individual, fellow students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced."

19. "As is true of many ethical issues, much of what has been said here boils down to good manners, acceptance of one's obligations, and integrity." Helen Crawford, "In Search of an Ethic of Medical Librarianship," Bulletin of the Medical Library Association 66 (July 1978), 331.

The following course policies outline expected behavior in this class. These policies should help you to know what you can expect of me, yourself, and your classmates. While the prime purpose of this class is to provide you with an opportunity to meet the objectives as outlined in the syllabus, this course is also an opportunity to reinforce your reputation as a hard working student and someone whom your classmates can respect. Please contact me if situations arise where you feel that these policies are being abridged.

20. As your instructor, I will endeavor to:
   (a) return assignments promptly;
   (b) maintain office hours and inform you if I cannot be available during regular office hours;
(c) meet with you at other times (within reason) if you are unavailable to meet during regularly scheduled office hours;
(d) grade fairly;
(e) tell you in advance what I expect of you;
(f) encourage individual class participation while preventing any one student from monopolizing the discussion, from treating other students without respect or from otherwise making class discussion disagreeable;
(g) make explicit a rationale for assigning grades;
(h) help maintain an atmosphere of learning in the classroom;
(i) serve as 'fairness monitor' or otherwise mediate in difficulties students might be having related to the class;
(j) come to class prepared and organized;
(k) maintain confidentiality concerning student grades and information you give me in confidence;
(l) apply class policies fairly and consistently.

21. It is understood that each student will do his or her work. You should expect credit for your efforts and have me as well as your classmates recognize these efforts.

22. ATTEMPT ALL ASSIGNMENTS ON YOUR OWN BEFORE CONFERRING WITH ME OR YOUR CLASSMATES. While students may desire to assist one another, this assistance will be given only if all parties involved have expended effort on the assignment and agree that such consultation is to mutual benefit. Such assistance cannot be demanded.

23. DO NOT BE A PEST. A student does not have a right to demand assistance or otherwise harass classmates. You are permitted to tell a fellow classmate: "I prefer to work on this assignment alone." or "Let's wait until classtime to discuss this assignment." Sufficient classtime is scheduled for you to share publicly your efforts on an assignment.

24. DO NOT HARASS THE TA. Often he or she knows less about an assignment than you do.
ASSIGNMENT DESCRIPTIONS

1) PROBLEM SETS

The problem sets provide an opportunity to practice and develop research skills through the use of simulated reference questions. Seven problem set assignments will be given; each will cover one of the seven social sciences subject areas. Attempt as many questions as you can. One approach to working on each question is outlined as follows.

(a) Analyze the question, listing clues given.
(b) Note down the steps you followed in your search.
(c) Detail should include listing all sources examined (with call numbers), describing the mechanics of using the sources (including subject headings used), and providing a complete and correct answer.
(d) Provide an answer to your question.

While at least one source on the class lists should provide an answer, any source, including databases and CD ROM sources, can be used in answering questions. Explore as many alternative routes for answering questions as possible. For each problem set, aim to answer at least one question using CD ROM sources, OCLC, and/or electronic sources (including electronic mail). PROBLEM SETS WILL NOT BE GRADED. DISCUSSION OF PROBLEM SETS WILL CONTRIBUTE TO THE STUDENT'S CLASS PARTICIPATION GRADE.

Each problem set will two or three types of questions.

(a) Ready reference questions can be satisfied by finding a factual type answer. Usually searching one source is sufficient, though the student may want to cross verify his or her answer in more than one source. There is at least one source listed on the source lists that will answer these questions, although students may use any source to search for answers. Problem sets may include questions that can be answered by sources covered during any point during the semester.

(b) Specific search questions are more complex. They include a literature search on a given topic, searching for more than one answer to the same question, and bibliographic verification.

(c) Reference source questions are factual questions about specific reference works. These may be true/false questions, multiple choice, short answer, or matching. Answering these questions will help gain close knowledge about the sources and assist in preparing the annotations.
2) ANNOTATIONS OF SOURCES

As a means of building a file of some of the more important, recent sources you will be asked to annotate 6 reference tools. Annotations of sources are due on the following dates:

FIRST SET OF ANNOTATIONS: DUE: June 21
SECOND SET OF ANNOTATIONS: DUE June 29

Each annotation will be worth 5%; the entire assignment is worth 30% of the final grade. Since the TA will be helping to grade this assignment, please write your social security number instead of your name on a cover sheet to your work and not on the annotations themselves.

Examine the sample social science annotations on reserve in the IP Lab file cabinet. These annotations, written by Holly Koelling in Spring 1992, are for The Encyclopedia of the American Left, the Guide to Official Publications of Foreign Countries, and the Macmillan Directory of Leading Private Companies.

Objectives of Examination and Annotation:

1. To give you a knowledge of at least a few titles in each of the broad subject areas making up the fields of the humanities.
2. To implant the size, shape, smell, taste, of these titles in your memory for later retrieval to the astonishment of your future patrons.
3. To aid you in developing an acquisitions as well as a reference approach to the examination of the information sources.
4. To further your critical judgement regarding what sources are intended to do and what they actually will do for you in a reference situation.
5. To enhance writing skills, especially those that relate to reviewing.

Introduction to the annotating technique:

Use the following recommendations as a checklist for completing this assignment.

To Obtain Needed Information:

1. Read the introduction or descriptive material usually found in the preface or introduction of the work.
2. Leaf through the work and make simulated use of it. Examine it for special features, organization, and the indexing approaches provided. Note omissions.
3. Consult general and specialized bibliographies to see what else is available that might supplement the work at hand.
4. You may cite annotations found in guides such as Sheehy, Walford, Stevens and Smith, or Herron. However, WRITE YOUR OWN ANNOTATIONS and use these other sources to supplement your own information. For example, the publishing history of a work may be more easily discerned from a bibliographic source than from the work itself. Use quotation marks to indicate a citation, even if you are citing the preface of the work itself. If you are citing the source, such as the preface, indicate this (e.g.: Preface, page x.)
5. Read reviews—these may be indicated in subject bibliographies. You may also locate reviews through Book Review Digest, Book Review Index and ARBA.
6. WORD PROCESS YOUR ANNOTATIONS in some standard format. You may use a narrative form or an outline form or some combination. If you opt for an outline form a strict listing of the table of contents is not acceptable.
Information to be Included in the Annotations:

GENERAL MECHANICS:

A. ONE FOURTH POINT WILL BE DEDUCTED FOR EACH SENTENCE IN THE ANNOTATION THAT IS DRAWN TOO CLOSELY FROM GUIDES, REVIEWS OR THE SOURCE ANNOTATED. This deduction is taken 'off the top' from the four points possible for each annotation.

B. One-fourth point will be deducted if the student's name appears on the annotations. Remember to provide your social security number on a cover sheet.

C. Citations must be according The Chicago Manual of Style or the 5th edition of Turabian. INDICATE THE STYLE MANUAL YOU USED IN A NOTE ON THE COVER LETTER FOR EACH SET OF ANNOTATIONS. One-fourth point will be deducted if this is not provided.

D. Watch for spelling errors. One-eighth point will be deducted for each misspelled word in the bibliographic citation; additional deductions may be made.

E. Writing style also counts. This includes attention to punctuation, sentence clarity, sentence variety, word usage, and grammar. Poorly written annotations will receive deductions of one-fourth point to one-half point.

Include the following information for each annotation. THE CAPITALIZED TERMS SHOULD BE USED AS SECTION HEADINGS. Each annotation will probably run from two to four pages.

1. BIBLIOGRAPHIC CITATION.
   a. A complete bibliographic citation including number of volumes (if applicable) and title changes.

2. FREQUENCY.
   a. Note issuance: number of volumes per year or previous editions.
   b. Indicate if this is the first edition of this work.
   c. Is this work one of series and, if so, which one?

3. PRICE.
   a. Check Books in Print, the source itself, or reviews.

4. CONTENT AND SCOPE.
   a. Content: define the subject matter of the work.
   b. Scope: how much of this subject is covered? (e.g., Is the treatment comprehensive or selective? If it is selective, what is not included?)
   c. How many entries are included?
   d. How was information obtained? (e.g., Did biographees complete questionnaires? What type of primary resources, such as memoirs and oral history, were used in preparing essays?)
   e. How recent is the information? Is there a cutoff point for inclusion in the bibliography?
   f. How many contributors were there? Who are they; what are their qualifications?
   g. Are nonwestern sources and/or contributors included?
   h. Is the source limited to English language sources?

5. INTENDED AUDIENCE.
a. Discuss groups of people who might find this source useful. Merely noting that the source is intended for a general audience is insufficient.

6. ARRANGEMENT OF CONTENTS.
a. Does the source follow a dictionary arrangement or some other type of arrangement?
b. Note parts and/or volumes.
c. Are entries signed?
d. Are there cross references and if so where are they in the work?

7. DESCRIPTION OF A REPRESENTATIVE SAMPLE OR ENTRY.
a. Do not copy verbatim a sample entry; describe one.
b. Use a narrative approach here; do not merely list the information provided for an entry.
c. Indicate the length of an entry (e.g., one page profile of companies; three to five page essays; definitions range in length from one sentence to thirty pages)

8. INDEXES.
a. Quantity: how many are there?
b. Type.
c. Location.

9. BIBLIOGRAPHIES.
a. Do bibliographies accompany entries or do they appear at the end of the work?
b. How lengthy are the bibliographies?
c. Are there biobibliographies?
d. Is the bibliography annotated and, if so, are the annotations descriptive or evaluative?

10. OTHER FEATURES OR LIMITATIONS.
a. Are there illustrations and, if so, what type (e.g., photographs, line drawings)?
b. Does the source have an online or compact disc equivalent?
c. Are there other features such as a glossary, list of contributors, list of acronyms?

11. COMPARE THE SOURCE WITH AT LEAST ONE OTHER.
a. What are its main 'competitors'?
b. Cite at least one source here and briefly (in one to three sentences) indicate why this source might be used instead.

12. CLOSELY CONNECTED SOURCE.
a. Is there any important source (e.g. thesaurus) that is loosely connected to the source you are examining?
b. Should the source be used in conjunction with another?
c. If there is no closely connected source, indicate this.

13. REFERENCE USE.
a. Suggest the types of questions this tool would answer.
b. Including one sample reference question this work would answer. Provide an answer for this sample questions.

14. REVIEWS
a. Cite here at least one review of your source.
3) PATHFINDER

A) General Description of the Pathfinder

A "Pathfinder" is a means by which libraries help their patrons to find information on a particular topic or to find a particular kind of information (e.g., book reviews).

The total length of your completed project should be from 8 to a 12 double-spaced, typed pages. One page is the equivalent of around 250 words.

There are 3 parts to this assignment. Part I should be a brief (1 - 2 pages; 500 word) discussion of the topic, the scope of the Pathfinder, and the audience. You should briefly evaluate the sources available on the topic, criteria you used to evaluate the resources available and any standard tools or bibliographies that you consulted while creating the pathfinder. The second part is the bibliography of sources you examined, with brief (3 TO 5 SENTENCE) annotations. The third part is the Pathfinder itself. The Pathfinder MUST be no more than 2 pages long, capable of being reproduced (WITHOUT CONDENSED TYPE) on both sides of an 8 1/2" x 11" sheet of paper. Your Pathfinder should be word processed using standard bibliographic form. Students must adhere to the page length requirements in Parts I and III. The bibliography should be from five to ten pages in length.

B) How to Prepare a Pathfinder

STEP 1. Begin by choosing a topic. You should select a subject in the social sciences that is of interest to you or one that can be used in a particular setting. You should be careful to select a subject whose scope is neither too narrow nor too broad. "Jung" would be too large and "Teaching Local History to Three Year Olds" would be too narrow. Your subject should be broad enough to have 20-25 distinct and important sources but small enough to be well covered by this number of sources. You should also choose a context for your pathfinder, i.e., public library, school resources center, university library, and an audience, such as undergraduate students in an art history class.

STEP 2. Compile a working bibliography. Ask yourself, what types of sources provide this kind and level of information your audience needs. Then begin to look for specific titles. It may be necessary/appropriate to rely on some general sources (Social Sciences Index, for example) when more specific sources are not available. Make notes as you look at the individual resources. Note call numbers, bibliographic information, audience, kind and level of information, and any information that a library patron would find helpful in efficiently using the tool. These notes will be used to prepare your annotated bibliography.

STEP 3. If your topic is too broad, you might narrow it by audience (young adults), by geography (sources on Latin America), by culture (hispanics), by medium (excluding films and videos), or by time period (20th century).

STEP 4. Once your bibliography is complete you can begin to make the hard choices: which sources will you include and which will you delete from the pathfinder?

STEP 5. Make corrections in your first draft and share it with me. The last day to submit a draft for an evaluation is June 30. I will grade this draft and return it to you as soon as possible. After you receive my comments you may set up a brief meeting with me to discuss your progress.

STEP 6. Make final revisions. Review the pathfinder checklist and the syllabus.

STEP 7. All Pathfinders are due on July 7. Return all drafts and draft evaluation sheets with the final copy of the pathfinder; you will lose one-fourth point if you do not return your draft with your pathfinder. You should also be prepared to give a brief oral presentation OF NO MORE THAN FIFTEEN MINUTES about the resources on your list during the last three days of class. BRING COPIES OF THE LAST 2 PAGES OF YOUR PATHFINDER TO SHARE WITH YOUR CLASSMATES. You will have to pay for these copies. You will lose one-fourth point from your grade if you fail to provide these copies.

C) Here is a Suggested Timeline to Follow to Ensure that You Will Complete the Pathfinder Assignment

D) I HIGHLY RECOMMEND THAT YOU:

1) EXAMINE THE SAMPLE PATHFINDERS. COPIES ARE ON RESERVE IN THE LIS 382L.2 FILE IN THE IP LAB. Titles and authors of the sample pathfinders are:
   (a) "A Pathfinder: Collecting Antique Shaker Furniture" by Cindy Beno (Spring 1989)
   (b) "A Pathfinder on Quilts and Quilting" by Marilyn Browning (Spring 1989)
   (c) "Right to Die Laws and Living Wills: A Pathfinder for Legislative Research," by Karen Jette (Fall 1990)
   (d) "Native Americans and Fetal Alcohol Syndrome," by Holly Koelling (Spring 1992)

2) Submit a draft of your pathfinder. Students have improved their final class grade by one or more grades (e.g., from a B to an A) by submitting drafts. I will provide extensive detailed comments on your work. Comments ending with a question mark (?) are suggestions for improvements that you may consider but do not have to incorporate.

3) Generally, students may encounter the following difficulties in this assignment:
(a) selecting a topic;
(b) finding any source on a topic;
(c) determining what to do if there are too many sources on a topic;
(d) identifying a possible patron and describing patron needs in the Pathfinder Introduction, Part I;
(e) spending too much time in the Introduction discussing the nature of the topic and scope; this information can be covered in one to two paragraphs;
(f) limiting the Introduction and Pathfinder to two pages;
(g) locating full bibliographic information for a source (especially for journals, databases, CD ROM products);
(h) describing, in the annotated bibliography, how a given source is related to the Pathfinder topic;
(i) drawing too closely from sources in the annotations;
(j) including an appropriate variety of sources, including journals, indexes, government documents, databases as well as monographs;
(k) selecting sources to appear in the Pathfinder, Part III;
(l) including too much material in the Pathfinder;
(m) using library jargon in the Pathfinder.

4) MAKE SURE YOU REVIEW PATHFINDER CHECKLIST BEFORE YOU TURN IN FINAL COPY. This step is especially important if you are unable to submit a draft.

PATHFINDER SUCCESS STORIES:

I. Four student Pathfinders have been published by the Benson Latin American Collection in its series, Bibliobieticas:
   A. Penny Frere: "Liberation Theology"
   B. Dave Ferekue: "Mayan Ethnology"
   C. M. Alex Salinas: "Puerto Ricans on the Mainland"
   D. M. Alex Salinas: "Central and South American Refugees in the United States"

II. ERIC publishes student Pathfinders:

III. The UT Student Health Center Campus Alcohol and Drug
Education Program has adopted one student Pathfinder:

A. Arro Smith: "Heavy Drinking: A Reading List to Answer Questions about Alcohol and Drug Abuse"

IV. TEA has adopted one student Pathfinder for school teachers in Texas:

PATHFINDER CHECKLIST

1. NATURE OF THE TOPIC: what are you talking about?
   e.g., How would you briefly define Breakdancing? When was it popular? Who originated this type of dance? When was the Harlem Renaissance? What did it encompass? What is fetal alcohol syndrome?

2. SCOPE: how much of the subject are you covering?
   e.g., If you have selected a person, will you be covering all aspects of that person's life or just his/her involvement in dance?

   NOTE: You can cover nature of the topic and scope in one to two paragraphs.

3. HOW WERE SOURCES SELECTED AND EVALUATED: how did you go about your search for sources to include in your annotated bibliography?

   List the sources you consulted. Did you start with UTCAT, a guide to the field, or your text book, or with Sheehy or Books in Print?

   What were you looking for in a source? What selection criteria did you use in evaluating your sources? Did the sources have to deal solely with dance? Where were you looking for sources that pointed out primary source material or had extensive bibliographies? What were some of the major decisions you made? Did you choose to eliminate one type of source? Why?

4. INFORMATION NEEDS: what sort of questions does your patron want to have answered about the Pathfinder topic? What does the client want to know? DO NOT ANSWER THIS QUESTION IN TERMS OF THE TYPES OF SOURCES AVAILABLE ON THIS TOPIC.

   E.g., the student wants to know if there are any local organizations that teach television script writing.

5. VARIETY IN SOURCES: Include a wide range of types of sources. Remember that it is usually better to include an index than journal articles. You might, however, elect to include a journal that is devoted to your subject (e.g. Master Juba Quarterly). What about a general summary of your subject in an encyclopedia? Are there bibliographies on your topic? What about online databases? Or audiovisual materials? Would your student be interested in contacting an organization whose members share an interest in your subject? Are government documents important? Or exhibition catalogs? Or statistics?
Would any other agency in the community be a good source of information?

6. Remember that you must provide annotations for the sources in your bibliography. The annotations do not need to be extensive; three sentences may suffice. You need not write in full sentences; be consistent in writing style. You must annotate associations or journals if you plan to include these sources in your Pathfinder. You may arrange sources in your bibliography alphabetically by author or in a classified arrangement (e.g., by type of source).

7. The Pathfinder is not a list of sources but includes instructions on how to find the sources and how to find information within the sources.

8. Avoid library jargon in your Pathfinder, unless your patron is a librarian. Examples of words that constitute library jargon include: bibliography of bibliographies, monograph, key-word search.

PART I: INTRODUCTORY MATERIAL

A. Is a statement of the nature of the topic included? ____________
B. Is the scope of project clearly defined? ____________
C. Is the intended audience clearly defined and reasonable given the nature of the topic? ____________
D. Is a statement of the information needs of the audience included? ____________
E. Is the type of library for which the pathfinder is intended clearly stated? ____________
F. Is it clear how sources were selected? ____________
G. Is an evaluation of the types of sources that are appropriate included? ____________
H. Does the intro. stay to 1-2 pages? (double spaced; 250 words per page) ____________
I. Does the student avoid using right justification? ____________

PART II: ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY

A. Is a style manual indicated and correctly and completely cited? ____________
B. Is an adequate number of sources included? (15 to 25) ____________
C. Are selections reasonable (see scope, audience, and type of library)? ____________
D. Do selections represent an appropriate variety of types of sources? ____________
E. Do the selections focus on major reference sources rather than just a listing of monographs and journal articles? ____________
F. Has complete bib. info. been given? ____________
G. Has good bib. form been used consistently? ____________
H. Are all the sources annotated? ____________
I. Are annotations well written (sentence clarity, variety, word usage, grammar, punctuation, spelling)? ____________
J. Do annots. clearly describe the subject and scope of the source? ____________
PART II: ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY (continued)

K. Do annots. indicate how the source is related to the pathfinder topic? ____ ____ ____
L. Do annots. point out why a patron would find the source useful? ____ ____ ____
M. Do annots. indicate how to access information in the source (e.g., appropriate subject terms to use)? ____ ____ ____
N. If call numbers are given, are they correct? ________
O. Is this section within 4-8 pages? (Can be single spaced) ____ ____ ____

PART III: PATHFINDER

A. Is there a 'scope note' of other definition of the subject for the patron? (may not be needed if the title of the pathfinder is descriptive) ________ ____ ____
B. Have appropriate selections been made from the bibliography? ____ ____ ____
C. Are all the sources included in the bibliography? (NOTE: all sources in the bibliography need not appear in the pathfinder.) ________ ____ ____
D. Are sources arranged in a meaningful way so the user understands the concepts behind finding material on the topic? ________ ____ ____
E. Are transitions used? ________ ____ ____
F. Is the text library jargon-free? ________ ____ ____
G. Is there sufficient white-space to make the text easy to read? ________ ____ ____
H. Originality ________ ____ ____
I. If call numbers are given, are they correct? ________ ____ ____
J. Is this section within 2 pages? (Can be single spaced) ________ ____ ____

OTHER COMMENTS THAT MAY BE CONSIDERED IN THE CALCULATION OF YOUR GRADE:

NOTE: one fourth point will be deducted OFF THE TOP from each sentence that is drawn too closely from a source. One bonus point can be earned if the student prepared the pathfinder for an actual patron or library.

4) CLASS PARTICIPATION:

Each student's contribution to class discussion and group work is important to provide a positive learning experience for everyone. Class participation accounts for 10% of the grade. Please speak clearly and loudly enough for all to hear. Students may accrue class participation credit through:

(a) discussion of problem set results. A good rule of thumb is to make at least three useful contributions each time worksheet results are discussed. Students are also asked not to monopolize discussion of problem sets. While I will call on students to help ensure that everyone contributes, students must take the initiative in class discussion . . . . . . . . 7%

(b) oral presentation of pathfinder assignment; this presentation must adhere to the time limit set in class. Students must not read directly from their text . . . . . . . . 3%
5) CD ROM WORKSHEET

Students are asked to prepare a worksheet with sample questions designed to provide practice in searching a specific CD ROM product. The purposes of this assignment are:

1) to acquire close knowledge of a CD ROM product;
2) to acquire practice in preparing a bibliographic instruction document;
3) to share in the development of a CD ROM exercise workbook.

1. STEP 1: Choose your CD-ROM product.

Listed below are some of the products available in the IP Lab.

FACTS on FILE NEWS DIGEST
INFOTRAC
PAIS
PREDICASTS F&S INDEX
Social Sciences Citation Index
Standard & Poor's Corporations from DIALOG
WILSONDISC: Social Sciences Index

Listed below are some of the products available in PCL.

ABI/Inform
County Business Patterns
County City Data Bank
Economic Censuses
Foreign Trader's Index
LEXIS/NEXIS (you could choose one business database)
National Trade Data Bank
U. S. Exports
U. S. Imports
1990 Census

Other CD-ROM products may be selected with my approval.

2. STEP 2: Gather and read information on your CD-ROM product.

3. STEP 3: Examine the problem sets in your course manual.

4. STEP 4: Prepare your CD ROM problem set and answer sheet.

Your problem set must include:

(a) Ready reference questions that can be satisfied by finding a factual type answer. (10 questions)
(b) Specific search questions that are more complex. They include a literature search on a given topic, searching for more than one answer to the same question, and bibliographic verification. (5 questions)
(c) Reference source questions that are factual questions about specific reference works. These may be true/false questions, multiple choice, short answer, or matching questions. (10 questions)

5. STEP 5: Submit your work by June 22.
   (a) Prepare a cover sheet with your name, name of your CD ROM product, and course information.
   (b) Turn in two copies of your problem set and answer sheet. I will grade one copy and the other will be retained as part of a CD ROM exercise workbook to share with your classmat-s and with other students to use in the IP LAB.
SAMPLE GRADE CALCULATION:

1. Annotations:
   Annotations 1-6:
   Points Received: 25.00
   Points Possible: 30.00

2. Pathfinder:
   Points Received: 37.00
   Points Possible: 40.00

3. CD-ROM PROBLEM SET:
   Points Received: 18.00
   Points Possible: 20.00

4. Participation:
   A. Problem Set participation:
      Education/Sociology/Social Work: 3 comments
      Psychology/Political Science: 2 comments
      Business/Economics: 3 comments
      Anthropology/History/Geography: 3 comments
      Maximum comments possible: 4 problem sets X 3 = 12
      Comments made: 11
      11/12 = 92%
      92% X 7 points possible = 6.42
   B. Pathfinder participation: 2 points out of 3 possible
      Final grade for participation: 6.42 + 2.00: 8.42

FINAL GRADE: 25.00 + 37.00 + 18.00 + 8.42 = 88.42 = B+
