Project EXCEL is a federally-funded workplace literacy program involving hotel enterprises in the San Francisco (California) Bay area. Its focus is on identification and instruction of literacy skills essential to job success for limited-English-proficient (LEP) workers. Training is intended to enable employees to understand written work orders, enhance communication with supervisors and co-workers, and encourage greater involvement through team building and critical thinking. This training module was designed for LEP workers in the housekeeping department of one participating hotel, and focuses on worker safety and hotel health insurance procedures. It was also intended for a predominantly Chinese-speaking audience. An introductory section gives an overview of the curriculum and offers suggestions for classroom presentation. The curriculum consists of six instructional units on these topics: parts of the body; water, fumes, and falls; fire and shock; safety signs and other accidents; reporting accidents; and hotel security. Each unit contains worksheets and written exercises. Answer keys and the listening script to accompany the units are appended. (MSE) (Adjunct ERIC Clearinghouse on Literacy Education)

WORKPLACE EDUCATION

Project EXCEL is a workplace education partnership with hotel enterprises in the San Francisco Bay Area. Its focus is on the identification and instruction of literacy skills essential to on-the-job success for limited-English-proficient (LEP) workers. Lessons are developed based on the specific needs at each hotel with emphasis on workplace communication and the American working culture.
PARTNERSHIP

Educational Provider: CRDC

Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, Project EXCEL is a training program administered by the Career Resources Development Center (CRDC) in partnership with hotels. As the designated partner, CRDC is the fiscal agent responsible for program compliance and funding regulations as required by the federal government.

CRDC develops customized curricula for participating hotels, provides classroom instruction and coordinates the program.

CRDC is a non-profit, community-based employment training agency located in San Francisco and Oakland. Since 1966 CRDC has trained over 3,500 ethnic minority members and women and successfully placed them in jobs in the service industries and the clerical field. We have extended our services to train and educate hotel workers. The agency has been working with local business partners to implement successful workplace literacy strategies since 199.

Hotel Partners

Business involvement is essential to the success of the training. Following are some examples of in-kind contributions which reflect commitment from hotel partners.

- Providing full or partial release time for workers to attend classes.
- Providing facilities for classroom instruction.
- Assisting in curriculum design through consultations with our instructors and curriculum writers.
- Recruiting interested workers for classroom training.
GOALS OF THE TRAINING

The goals of the training are to enable workers to gain and retain employment, increase their productivity on the job and advance in their careers.

These goals will be accomplished by raising the literacy and basic skills level of the workforce. The results are worth the effort. The program enables employees to understand written work orders so they may perform tasks independently, enhances employees' ability to comprehend and communicate with supervisors and co-workers, and encourages greater worker involvement through team building and critical thinking activities.

PROGRAM DESIGN

Training modules last 8 to 10 weeks, with a recommended 3 hours of training a week. Each training module will be customized according to the needs of the particular department. Participating departments include Housekeeping, Laundry, Stewarding, Food and Beverage, and others to be determined by the specific needs of hotel partners. Training modules may also include more general topics such as Health and Safety, English for Customer Service, Career Advancement and Work Ethics.

SETTING UP WORKPLACE TRAINING AT YOUR HOTEL

Below is a 5-step summary of the implementation of Project EXCEL:

1. Identify needs at the workplace (1 week)

Our experienced staff and curriculum developers conduct interviews with:

Managers
Supervisors
Workers
Union Representatives to identify those areas where your employees would most benefit from instruction and training.

2 Analyze job tasks and communication skills
   (1 week)

Curriculum developers and instructors observe and participate in actual tasks at the worksite to get an insiders view of the demands of the job.

Our staff also gathers written material used at the workplace in order to specialize the course design for your unique company procedures.

3 Design a curriculum specific to the workplace
   (1-2 weeks)

After conducting the extensive task analyses, curriculum developers examine the results. Based on their findings, they design and develop material for the course. Your employees will have textbooks and workbooks developed especially for them, using your hotel's policies and the needs identified by your own staff as a basis for instruction.

4 Set up training room
   (1 day)

With your help, EXCEL instructors will find and arrange for a training facility easily accessible to students.

5 Conduct classes
   (8-10 weeks)

EXCEL instructors will come to your hotel 2-3 days a week to equip your employees with the English they need to successfully communicate at their workplace.

TO SIGN UP

We would be pleased to talk more with you about our program and to set up workplace literacy training at your worksite. Please call , Project EXCEL's Program Coordinator, at 415/775-8880, extension 22
As a leader in the hospitality industry, ITT Sheraton has stressed the fact that quality service rests on a foundation of effective communication. Improved English proficiency allows the systematic delivery of the type of service designed to meet guests' needs and exceed their expectation. In the process the hotel has experienced the additional benefits of creating an environment where safety procedures are better understood, teamwork has improved and workers feel themselves to be secure, accepted, important members of the team.

Tom Passantino
Director of Training
Sheraton Palace Hotel, San Francisco

For years I've been whooping and hollering that a small business can train people in job skills, but we can't go back and give them a high school education. This program is great, because the only thing that will work is training in the workplace.

The program has been a great help in improving communication between English-speaking managers and Hispanic employees. Clear, precise communication is so important... There are so many things going on at once, so many jobs that are intertwined. Employers need to come up with ways to make sure everyone understands what is happening, whether the employees speak Spanish, Chinese or any other language.

Barbara Radcliffe
Human Resources Director
Just Desserts Inc., San Francisco

All over The City, hotel employees are polishing up their English -- at work -- in language classes specifically geared to their work-a-day needs. The program, created by the Career Resources Development Center, has won kudos from hotel executives, union officials and employees -- Japanese chefs, Chinese maids and Hispanic laundry workers.

TEACHING GUIDE

The current module was initially developed in consultation with hotel management because of a perceived need to inform the workers further on the hotel's health insurance procedures. As the talks with management evolved, other issues such as health problems and injuries resulting from work accidents were added to the curriculum. Finally, personal safety was extended to hotel security and the overall "safety" of everyone working on the premises.

The following curriculum comprises a variety of exercises that encourage the students to exercise all four language functions (listening, speaking, reading, writing) while practicing the pertinent vocabulary related to health, injuries, insurance and security. In addition to the six units, there are numerous supplemental exercises in the Addenda at the end of the module. There are also two tests (one for students at the 100 ESL level and another for a 300 level class) which can be used as pre- and post-tests to measure comprehension, retention, and overall progress. Finally, Unit Reviews are found at the end of every chapter to reinforce the key points of each unit.

Units 1 through 4 are in essence a preparation for Unit 5, the key section of the module. These preparatory units lead the students from basic nomenclature (such as parts of the body) through analytical thinking and the expression of conclusions in the middle units. At the same time, certain traditional points of grammar such as verb conjugations, possessive adjectives, and syntax are taught as the need for them arises.

The module was designed specifically with the needs of Chinese speakers in mind. Therefore, it would be advisable for teachers with student populations from a different linguistic and cultural tradition to supplement the curriculum with exercises that emphasize and address more extensively the needs of their own student population.

Units usually begin with Getting Ready activities. These are merely suggestions for getting the class "warmed up," i.e. get them to start considering, the topic of the day. They should not be read out loud to the students nor should the students be asked to read them. Instead, they should be brought up by the teacher in the most conversational style possible. Concurrently, the teacher should then begin assessing the level of competence the students have within that unit's vocabulary and tailor the tempo of the unit accordingly. For maximum results, the Getting Ready questions that open the units and the Think About It sections throughout the units should also be personalized as much as possible. The teacher should draw from the individual experiences of the workers and the specific work conditions at their hotel.
The numerous Matching exercises can also be used as effective reviews within a listening comprehension format. With books closed, the day after the matching exercises have been done as a reading and speaking activity, the teacher can review the material by asking the students to write down the appropriate term (comprised in "Column A") after the teacher has read to them the definitions from "Column B". When a picture is used in "Column B", the need for flashcards becomes self-evident.

This technique of recycling material for review can also be applied to the multiple choice exercises: the teacher reads the question or statement and then reads twice each of the three or four options the students have to choose from. At the end, each question and each right answer are discussed as a speaking and analytical thinking exercise. Finally, with minor alterations, the fill-in the blanks ("cloze") exercises can also be turned into review by having the teacher read the statements and having the students write down the missing word, this time utilizing the exercise as a listening practice.

The Think About It sections may be the most productive ones in getting the students to internalize the material. They can be used in a variety of ways. To name just two, the class can be divided into two teams, one defending the pros and the other the cons of assigned questions; or the students can also be grouped into teams, each one analyzing only one question, then reporting their conclusions to the class, writing those conclusions on the board, and finally opening the discussion to the whole class.

When practicing the filling out of company forms, it is a very useful exercise to practice filling out some of them as a role play activity. One student (the more advanced of the two) can play the role of Personnel Director; the other student can play the role of injured worker. The Personnel Director then turns the different sections of the form into questions (e.g., "What is your address?") while the injured worker answers him/her. The Personnel Director writes down the worker's answers on the form itself and at the end gives it to the worker for review. If the students are more evenly matched in their linguistic competence, they can then reverse roles and repeat the exercise with a different set of accident data.

Obviously, it helps the students immensely if the teacher first has them fill out generic "accident report forms" and then gradually eases them into filling out the forms actually used at the students' workplace. For less advanced students, it is advisable to introduce them to one section of the insurance form at a time. The teacher would create "segmented" (cut up) mini-forms taken from the claim as a whole, photocopy these segments, practice them in class, and only at the end present the students with the entire form to fill out.

\text{if } A \neq 0
If the hotel allows it, it is useful to research the types of accident that the specific department under instruction has had in the last few years. Most hotels are required to keep a log of worker accidents and injuries. In preparing hypothetical situations which will provide the data from which students will have to fill out classroom claim forms, it helps if these data are as relevant as possible to the student’s actual work practice and everyday dangers. Samples of real claim forms, filled out long ago and with the worker’s name deleted, are an invaluable tool for teaching students how a completed, "real-company" form should look like. The same can be said when going over security problems at the hotel: the teacher should first consult the hotel security personnel to obtain information on the most common types of security problems currently and traditionally experienced on the premises. Then, formulate exercises that address those concerns.

Finally, whenever possible it helps to take the students around the hotel to illustrate safety and health issues being covered in class. This could be anything from knowing the location and operation of fire extinguishers to operating the intercom mechanism in the elevators in case of fire, earthquakes, or other emergencies. In-house "field trips" of this type force the worker to view his/her workplace through a greater awareness of health and security concerns, thus enhancing safer work conduct, reducing accidents and cost to their employers.

UNIT 1: PARTS OF THE BODY

WRITING

Look at the picture and match the numbers with the parts of the body. Then, write the parts of the body in the spaces provided. Use only the words in the box.

VOCABULARY:
head  chest  legs  feet (one foot)
arms  hands  fingers  toes

1) [Head]

2) [Legs]

3) [Chest]

4) [Arms]

5) [Hands]

6) [Fingers]

7) [Toes]

8) [Feet]
WRITING

Now look at the picture and match the parts of the body with the numbers. Then, write the name of the parts of the body in the spaces provided.

VOCABULARY:
face  mouth  neck  shoulder  elbow  back  hip  thigh  knee  waist

1. ______ ______
2. ______
3. ______
4. ______
5. ______
6. ______
7. ______
8. ______
9. ______
10. ______
READING/WRITING

Read the questions about parts of the body and write your answers in the spaces provided.

What is ...

1. between the head and the shoulders?
   - neck

2. between the hand and the arm?

3. between the foot and the leg?

4. between the thigh and the lower leg?

5. between the upper and the lower arm?

6. between the stomach and the legs?

7. between the arm and the chest?

8. at the end of your feet?

9. on top of your neck?

10. on the sides of your head?

11. between your waist and your knee?

WRITING

Now write the plural of the words in the blanks above.

1. necks

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

7.

8.

9.

10.

11.

SPEAKING

Review the verb "to have" in the box below. Then, say and write the correct number.

TO HAVE

I have you have we have you have you have they have he has she has they have she has it has

1. I have ______ toes in each foot.
2. You have ___________ eyes.

SPEAKING

Look at the pictures and tell which part of the body hurts.

REMEMBER:

My toe hurts.

(but)

My toes hurt.

EXAMPLE: (he)

His lower back hurts.

1. (you)

2. (he)

3. (she)

4. (we)
WRITING/SPEAKING

Now look at the pictures and write what accidents happened to these people. Then, tell the problem to a partner.

EXAMPLE:

The boy hurt his head. Now, his head hurts.
(1. accident/past) (2. pain/present)

TWO USES OF "TO HURT"

I hurt my arm.
You hurt your finger.
We hurt our backs.
They hurt their feet.
(accidents/past)

My arm hurts.
Your finger hurts.
Our backs hurt.
Their feet hurt.
(pain/present)
UNIT REVIEW (READING/WRITING)

Finish the following sentences by writing the correct words in the spaces provided.

1. The wrist is between the ________________ and the lower ________________.
2. The elbow is between the ________________ and the ________________.

LISTENING/READING/SPEAKING

Read and listen carefully to the conversation below between a worker and her doctor. Then, practice it with a partner.

Doctor: What's wrong, Mrs. Wong?
Mrs. Wong: My back hurts a lot, doctor.
Doctor: Did you have an accident?
Mrs. Wong: Yes. I picked up some boxes and I hurt my back.
Doctor: Where did this happen?
Mrs. Wong: It happened at work. I was picking up some housekeeping supplies.
Doctor: Next time, keep your back straight and bend only your legs. Now let's take a look.
Mrs. Wong: Yes, thank you, doctor.

Now read the following sentences and circle TRUE or FALSE.

1. Nothing is wrong with Mrs. Wong.   T   F
2. Mrs. Wong hurt her back at home.   T   F
3. She hurt her back cleaning the bathtub.   T   F
4. She should keep her back straight when she picks up boxes.   T   F
5. She should bend her legs when picking up boxes.   T   F
ROLE PLAY

1. Choose a partner and look at the pictures.
2. One of you will be the doctor, the other will be the worker.
3. The doctor: a) ask the worker what happened
   b) and tell him (or her) what to do about it.
4. The worker: a) tell the doctor what happened to you.
UNIT REVIEW (READING/SPEAKING)

Circle TRUE or FALSE. Explain any sentence that is FALSE.

Lisa Chin's family does not have good luck. After her accident, Lisa can't cook for her family. Lisa's daughter, Annie, does the cooking for Lisa, for her husband, and for their two sons.

Annie is only 13 years old. She does not have much experience in the kitchen. Yesterday, she was preparing dinner and she dropped a heavy pot. The pot was full of boiling water. The hot water burned all of Annie's right arm.

Lisa has insurance with Holiday Inn--Union Square. Annie is Lisa's dependent. She can get medical help with her mother's insurance. Mr. Nian Chin, Lisa's husband, is now unemployed. Lisa's medical insurance is the only insurance for all the family.

Lisa Chin is now out of the hospital. She is OK. But Lisa does not want other workers to have the same accident and injury that she had. Lisa filled out an EMPLOYEE SAFETY INFORMATION FORM like the one in the box below. She hopes this will help the hotel make the workplace safer. Lisa wants everyone to work safely, the workers in Housekeeping and all the other hotel employees.

Fill out the form below and help Lisa tell her supervisor about the unsafe conditions at the hotel.

EMEMPLOYEE SAFETY INFORMATION FORM

This form is for use by employees who wish to provide a safety suggestion or report an unsafe workplace condition or practice.

Description of Unsafe Condition or Practice:

Causes or Other Contributing Factors:

Employees’s Suggestion for Improving Safety:

Has This Matter Been Reported to the Area Supervisor?

Employee Name (Optional):

Department:

Employees are advised that use of this form or other reports of unsafe conditions or practices are protected by law. It would be illegal for the employer to take any action against an employee in reprisal for exercising rights to participate in communications involving safety.

The employer will investigate any report or question as required by the Injury and Illness Prevention Program Standard (8 CCR Section 3203) and advise the employee who provided the information or the workers in the area of the employers’ response.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?
May Ling Wong is a friend of Lisa Chin. Both women work at the Holiday Inn hotel near Union Square. May Ling is very accident-prone. Yesterday, she had an accident. It occurred half an hour after she came to work. May Ling sat down on a chair. One leg of the chair was loose. The leg of the chair broke. May Ling fell to the floor and hit her head on the floor. Now May Ling has a head concussion. Her friend Lisa Chin saw the accident and called their supervisor on the double. Early the next day, the supervisor reported the problem to the insurance company.
