An adult education curriculum integrating language and life skills instruction for students of English as a Second Language, based on the English Language Matrix (ELM) model, is presented. The curriculum is designed to meet the adult language learner's life competency needs, integrating communicative language skills of listening, interpreting nonverbal language, speaking, reading, and writing, while adjusting to individual learning styles and communicative needs. It is divided into 10 or 11 thematic units in 7 levels of competency-based learning modules. Introductory sections give an overview of the project, define student performance levels, and list competencies by level. Subsequent sections present the modules for each level. Each module includes student general and grammar competency check sheets, a tutor guide sheet, and instructional material on these topics: personal information; describing (at levels 1-4) or housing (levels 5-7); relationships; environment; health; shopping; money/banking; directions/transportation; occupations; community services/responsibility; and at levels 5-7, current events. The next seven sections present the grammar segments for each level. An instructional materials bibliography, grammar instructional materials bibliography, and list of publishers complete the volume. "ELM BRANCHES OUT!" OVERVIEW

"ELM Branches Out!" targets new instructors or tutors who desire to help those acquiring English as a Second Language in order to attain self-sufficiency in an English language environment. This curriculum is designed as a multi-level competency-based modular program enabling the development of lifeskills. The organization includes student competency check sheets for a broad range of functional, community, and linguistic skills for learners' assessment of their own progress. Additionally, a tutor reference sheet is available for direction and support of student and tutor interaction. Suggested activities and vocabulary for listening, speaking, reading, and writing are offered for each module of ten differing themes at each level. A separate grammar strand which can be used independently or integrated with lifeskills instruction as an eleventh module is provided for each level. An ample selection of materials appropriate for learning the particular language competency skills is supplied in each module.

REMEMBERING

"ELM, English Language Matrix, an Integrated Language and Life Skill Competency Based Curriculum" was originally produced and funded as Section 372 Project # 66-0004 by the Pennsylvania Department of Education in 1990 - 91. The goal of ELM was to provide ESL adult educators with a competency-based matrix to guide curriculum development, assess student competence on a broad range of functional and linguistic skills, and assist in the selection of appropriate materials for instruction. During the subsequent year, its use by administrators, teachers, students, and tutors precipitated a variety of suggestions as well as the encouragement to revise and expand the original curriculum. The growing base of research in the learning of languages, awareness of the need to separate the grammar instruction for easier access, extensive new resources becoming available, and experience in using the original materials supported the motivation to undertake this revision and expansion which is funded as a Section 353 Project # 983044 by the Pennsylvania Department of Education.

1993 ELM Branches Out!
THE FOUNDATION OF ELM AND ELM BRANCHES OUT!

The foundation of the ELM curriculum is the competency-based Mainstream English Language Training Project (MELT) Resource Package which includes Student Performance Levels, the MELT Core Curriculum, and the Basic English Skills Test (B.E.S.T.) score placement ranges. The Student Performance Level (SPL) document describes ten levels of language ability from zero to fluency in communicating with native speakers in terms of listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills, and readiness for employment. Recommended as a placement and an assessment tool, the B.E.S.T score ranges provide placement within these seven levels. Levels eight through ten which are not addressed in ELM relate to students' needs for higher levels of employment and/or more advanced training. These levels are not equivalent to grade levels as required for much official progress reporting but relate to the MELT Student Performance Levels which are based more appropriately in the stages of language learning.

The Core Curriculum document consists of seven levels of life skill and employment competencies. Each competency is a demonstrated ability to successfully perform a language task that addresses real life needs for self-sufficiency. A complete list of these competencies are attached to this document. Those competencies with a (*) identify key competencies which are considered essential and universal for all adult learners. The Core Curriculum includes a separate listing of grammatical structures necessary to achieve competency at a particular level.

THE "ELM BRANCHES OUT!" MODULE MODEL

True to our original statement when we chose the tree logo, "ELM is a growing thing!" As the curriculum has branched out, it can be likened to a network of life competency language modules. It begins with a zero level for those learners unfamiliar with the Roman alphabet and/or illiterate in their native language. The subsequent seven performance instructional levels and suggested vocabulary, methods, activities, and resources deal with the competencies as outlined in the MELT Core Curriculum document, maintaining the priority of key competencies in the MELT document marked with an (*). The ten units range from Personal Information, Directions/Transportation to Occupations, and Community Services/Responsibilities. Additionally, grammar structures have been divided into seven instructional levels as an eleventh unit with correlating resources identified for each grammar point within each level. (Competency check sheets for lifeskills and grammar are provided with each level while grammar check sheets are also provided in the Grammar Strand. ELM seeks to:

- engage students, teachers, and tutors in the language learning experience;
- allow for the selection and shaping of learning tasks based on student needs and choices;
- convert the overwhelming challenge of language learning into task-oriented modules that can be chosen and facilitated by novice instructors or tutors in classroom and/or one-on-one instruction;
- facilitate student-monitored progress in order to further develop student ownership of the learning process;
- afford transferability of the grammar linguistic elements to student needs; and
- promote the interchange of functional lifeskills and employment competencies in a complementary "learnscape" that models learning as a life-long process.

A SUGGESTED ATTITUDE FOR "ELM BRANCHES OUT!" USERS

This curriculum strives to meet the adult language learner's life competency needs, integrating communicative language skills of listening, interpreting non-verbal language, speaking, reading, and writing, while adjusting for individual learning styles and communicative needs. "ELM Branches Out!" is divided into eleven thematic units which are in seven levels of competency-based modules. Levels One to Four each include a unit on the language function of Describing, which is replaced in Levels Five to Seven with a unit on Housing and an additional unit on Current Events. Although the language skills in each module are identified separately, in reality they are interwoven and learning can be best facilitated by using a multi-modality approach with materials and presentations allowing the student to use his or her strengths in focusing on the particular communicative task. ELM allows the learner's needs, motivation, and language development skills to be of primary consideration in planning and presenting.

Recognizing that no single pedagogical practice serves the needs of all learners or teacher facilitators, both learners and facilitators can explore and negotiate needs, materials, processes, and methods in using ELM. The broad spectrum of individual styles for both the student and the teacher-facilitator includes analytical individuals who have a greater concern with details, rules, exactness of language, and generally prefer to avoid unstructured communicative activities; as well as, global individuals. who may prefer to interact in communicative activities, guessing the meaning of words, and being less concerned with the details of the learning process. Sensory preferences of auditory, visual, or kinesthetic can also be addressed when using ELM's multi-modality methods and materials. Individual learning styles, motivations, and also self-esteem levels influence ability and willingness to take risks with language, tolerate ambiguity or errors, or try something new and unfamiliar. The instructor's demonstration of risk-taking and open sharing of the accompanying anxiety will encourage all to participate in the learning process. In essence, the willingness to risk is essential to the learning process --- for all participants. We urge each of you to enjoy growing your ability to take risks --- for yourself and most of all, for those who follow you on this communicative journey of language learning!

IN APPRECIATION:

Thanks go to the many publishers that have contributed appropriate materials for evaluation and use as resource suggestions. Nearly four hundred texts were reviewed for this project and those listed are not intended to be the only texts considered by an instructor, but are listed only as those which were available for our review. We also thank those instructors, administrators, community and peer tutors, and most of all, the students who have participated directly and indirectly in this project. Many others have undoubtedly used the original materials, but the students, instructors, peer tutors, and community tutors associated with Delaware County Literacy Council and Northampton County Prison have been more closely associated with this project and thus have been afforded greater opportunity for input. Their suggestions, responses, and accomplishments have been a continuing source of inspiration, support, and encouragement to continue taking the risks associated with the language learning journey for both English as a Second Language students and educators.

MELT - Level 1 Competencies
TOPICS - Part I:

Banking (Ban):
3* Ask to cash a check or money order. ("Can I cash this check?")
4 Buy a money order. ("A money order for $50.99, please.")

Community Services (CmS):
6* Report an emergency in person. ("Help! Fire in Apartment 2A!")
7* Correctly address an envelope/package, including return address.

Employment-Finding A Job (EFJ):
4* State own job skills in simple terms. ("I can cook.")
5* Copy basic personal information onto a simple job application form. (NAME; SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER; AGE; ADDRESS)
6 Read "HELP WANTED" sign.
7 Identify some common entry-level jobs which can be held by those with limited English ability.

Employment-On the Job (EOM)
10* State need for frequently used materials. ("I need boxes.")
11* Report work progress and completion of tasks. ("I'm finished.")
12* Find out about the location of common materials and facilities at the work-site. ("Where is the supply room?")
13* Follow simple one-step oral instructions to begin and to perform a task which is demonstrated, including simple classroom instructions. (Put these away.)
14 Ask for permission to leave work early or to be excused from work. ("Can I go home?")
15 Give simple excuses for lateness or absence on the telephone. ("My name's Tran. I'm sick today.")

Health (He)
4* Identify major body parts. ("Arm"; "stomach"; "leg.")
5* State major illnesses or injuries. ("Sore throat"; "broken arm.")
6* Make a doctor's appointment in person, giving own name, address, and telephone number when asked.
7* Read time and date for a medical appointment from an appointment card. (THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, AT 3:00)
8* State a need for an interpreter. ("I don't speak English. I speak Vietnamese.")
9 Follow simple instructions during a medical exam. (Open your mouth; Take off your shirt; Take a deep breath.)
10 Ask for familiar non-prescription medication at the drug store. ("I want a bottle of aspirin.")
11 State others' health problems in simple terms. ("His arm hurts.")
12 Determine and report body temperature as indicated by a thermometer. ("My temperature is 100.")
13 Ask for a patient's room number in a hospital. ("What is Sarem Nouan's room number?")
14 Identify oneself, one's appointment time, and doctor's name, if applicable, upon arrival at the doctor's office. ("I'm Sarem Nouan. I have a 2:00 appointment." - Which doctor? - "Doctor Smith.")

Housing (Hou)
4* Report basic household problems and request repairs in simple terms. ("The toilet is leaking. Please fix it.")
5* Report basic household emergencies by telephone --- fire, break-ins, etc.; give and spell name, address, and give telephone number when asked.
6 Answer simple questions about basic housing needs.
7 Ask how much the rent is. ("How much is the rent?")
8 Read common housing signs. (FOR RENT; STAIRS)
Shopping (Sho)
6* Differentiate sizes by reading tags. (S, M, or L; 8, 10 or 12)
7* Read abbreviations for common weights and measures in a supermarket. (LB.; QT.)
8* Read common store signs. (IN; OUT; UP; DOWN; CASHIER)
9* Ask about and read signs for store hours. (OPEN; CLOSED; SAT 9 A.M. - 12 P.M.)
10* Read expiration dates. (EXP. 4/4/84; SELL BY 4/8/82)
11 Request size and color for a specific item in simple terms. ("Do you have a small size?")
12 Ask for information about places to buy food/clothing/household items. ("Where can I buy rice?")
13 Ask for and follow simple directions to locate food/clothing in a store. ("Where are the coats?" - In Aisle 4 a)
14 Ask for food using common weights and measures. ("One pound of hamburger, please.")
15 Order and pay for food at a fast food restaurant. ("A hamburger and a Coke, please.")

Transportation (Tra)
4* Ask for a bus, train, or plane destination. ("Where does this bus go?")
5* Read signs indicating bus/train destinations and street names. (MAIN STREET)
6 Ask for information about a location in an airport, bus or train station. ("Where is Gate 10?")

TOPICS - Part II:

Clarification (Cla)
7* Verify the name of something by asking simple yes/no questions. ("Is this the Post Office?")

Directions (Dir)
7* State the location of own residence by giving the address and nearest streets, or by referring to familiar landmarks. ("I live near the hospital.")
8* Follow simple oral directions to places in a building. (Upstairs; Third Floor; To Room 14A)

Money (Mon)
4* Make or respond to a request for change. ("Do you have change?")
5 Make or respond to a request for specific coins. ("Do you have a dime?")
6 Read names of coins on coin-operated machines. (NICKELS; DIMES; QUARTERS)

Students roleplay interviews with natural disaster survivors. In peer interviews, students describe personal experiences in extreme weather conditions, favorite seasons, and compare seasonal activities in their native countries with those in the U.S.

READING:
Read dramatic accounts of rescues and survivals in natural disasters. Students read essays written by their classmates on the subject.

WRITING:
Write news stories on natural disasters. After oral interviews, students write of their own experiences in unusual weather conditions. Each student completes a chart of the seasons in his country, detailing the activities, foods, clothing, and holidays pertinent to each.

FUNCTIONAL SKILLS:
Respond to and ask questions about weather, climate, and appropriate attire.
Understand and act upon advice concerning the weather.

COMMUNITY SKILLS:
Adequately prepare self and household for weather conditions.
Demonstrate awareness of the effect of environmental factors upon personal and community activities.
