Abstract: Panda bears are the theme of this guide which includes many reading-related activities, crafts, and programs on a broad range of topics, and which can be expanded to other theme approaches such as endangered species, bears in general, and the concept of black and white. The program begins with a general definition and discussion of goals, objectives and evaluation, and offers recommendations on getting started. Common program types such as structured, nonstructured, contracts and read-to-me programs are outlined, and information on planning, publicity and promotion, awards and incentives and family involvement is provided. Special needs and young adult ideas are suggested, and over 60 program ideas and over 20 craft ideas are offered. Fiction, non-fiction and Spanish bibliographies; resource information; display and decoration ideas; and miscellaneous information such as activity and answer sheets, clip art, a supplemental sheet for the reading log, and a program evaluation form are provided.   1995 Arizona Reading Program Evaluation
It's the 1995 Arizona Reading Program! Pandamonium at the Library!

The Arizona Reading Program Committee chose this theme to be used in several ways. Pandas are a favorite with young and old alike. We have included many activities, crafts and programs on the panda theme in this manual. And we know your libraries are lively, joyous places, especially during the Reading Program. The "pandamonium" aspect of the theme may seem all too real at times, but we want your community to have fun with it.

There are other approaches to take to the theme, such as: endangered species, of which the panda is just one; themes on bears in general; themes in black and white. You can probably think of other variations.

The Arizona Reading Program Committee and the staff of the Department of Library, Archives and Public Records, encourages you to have a Reading Program this year. We have tried to make it as simple as possible, incorporating a broad range of topics into this manual. We know there will be something appealing to you here.

It doesn’t take much effort to put some of these ideas to work. Clip art and press releases adapted to this year’s theme have already been prepared for you. A planning time line and calendars help lay out more complicated programs. Crafts and activity ideas are explained and illustrated.

We hope you and the youngsters in your community have a great deal of fun with this lively (and warm and fuzzy) theme.

Without the dedicated efforts and enthusiasm of the members of the Arizona Reading Program Committee, this manual would not have been accomplished. It is always a pleasure and inspiration to work with the librarians who build upon the selected theme and turn it into a full-fledged summer program. I would like to thank the members of my committee for their part in creating PANDAMONIUM AT THE LIBRARY.

Thanks also to the LED staff for assisting with various parts of the project: Lorre Levy, Carol Figueroa and Betsy Howard. And most especially Jean Yeary, who did massive amounts of typing and telephone work for ARP.

Thanks too, to Phyllis Carter for help with graphics and layout.

As ever, thanks to Tony Miele, Director of the Library Extension Division, for his advice and support during the year. And to Arlene Bansal, State Librarian, for her ongoing interest in this program.

I feel privileged to have known Irma Pluster, who I met through my work with the Arizona Reading Program Committee. She served on the committee for many years working on many aspects of the program. Those of us who had the honor to work with her know she was very influential in the outcome of the Reading Program the last few years. It was mainly through her diligence and prompting that the manual and posters have become available earlier in the season. Besides Irma's own commitment to the project, she always encouraged her staff to participate in the Arizona Reading Program work.

One thing we will sorely miss is Irma's delightful enthusiasm for the projects she was involved in. She was always coming up with terrific ideas and always willing to pitch in and help work them through.

Irma had a gift of seeing new and creative ways to do things. Whenever, in committee meetings, she raised up a finger and said, "I've got an idea...", everything stopped. We knew it would be a good one.

Her energy and cheerful approach to everything were inspirational to all who worked with her. She will be sorely missed as a friend and as a colleague in our library community.

The Arizona Department of Library, Archives and Public Records has drawn on the talents of another local artist for the graphics of this year's Arizona Reading Program. Elissa Smith hails from Mesa where she is a library associate in the Young Adult Department at Mesa Public Library. She has worked for the library for over twenty years.

Although her main responsibilities include book talking and storytelling school visits and providing library service to Mesa's teenagers, her main interest and long-term goal is desktop graphic design. She has completed numerous classes in desktop publishing as well as coursework in color and design.

Several years ago, the Young Adult Department got its own desktop publishing system, mostly to prepare its annual science fiction/fantasy magazine, E.T. Elissa was advisor for the magazine, and for the first twelve years of its existence did "cut and paste" for final copy. A page layout program for the PC and a laser printer changed all that, and in turn changed the focus of Elissa's position in the library. She prepares all the graphics for the Young Adult Department and is often called upon to produce promotional materials, forms and publications on the PC for the Mesa Public Library in general. Most notably, Elissa was responsible for designing Mesa Public Library's logo and their current patron brochure.

Elissa also has her own desktop graphic design business, producing forms, invitations, brochures, business cards/letterheads, and logos for her clients.

Because of her familiarity with libraries and youth services, Elissa had a wonderful insight into the kind of graphics we needed to appeal to a diverse age group. We are very pleased with her bold and striking design for Pandamonium at the Library.
Arizona has had successful reading programs for over fifteen years. Many children have enjoyed the following themes which have been used statewide:

1974  "Monster Zoo"
1975  "Arizona Round-Up"
1976  "Our Country"
1977  "Wizard Of Oz"
1978  "Star Ship To Adventure"
1979  "Open The Elfin Doors"
1980  "Ready, Set, Go!"
1981  "Stake Your Claim"
1982  "Lions & Tigers & Books"
1983  "Bone Up On Books Be A Bookasaurus"
1984  "Your Own Adventure"
1985  "Bite Into Books"
1986  "Unlock Your Universe With Books"
1987  "Sakes Alive--We're--75"
1988  "Time Travel--You Are There"
1989  "Books Give Us Wings"
1990  "Have Books Will Travel"
1991  "Read Arizona"
1992  "Rainbow Earth"
1993  "Libraries: The Greatest Show on Earth"
1994  "Get A Clue At The Library"
1995  "Pandamonium At The Library"

Goals

Goals are general statements of mission or purpose. Written goals for the library guide the staff in determining the philosophy of the library and the role of the library in the community. Goals serve as tools for planning the directions of all library activities. Therefore, if the library has no written goals, they should write some. Since children's services are unique and require special consideration, the general library goals should specifically include children's services.

Individual programs have written goals. Consider the library's general goals when writing program goals. Program goals help the programmer to coordinate a specific activity with the library's overall goals and to set priorities for service. Program goals may also justify staff time and budget distribution. Goals for a Reading Program should answer the question, "Why have a Reading Program?"

Objectives

After determining the goals, develop the objectives. Objectives are specific, measurable statements that show how the goals will be achieved. When forming objectives, you must think ahead to the evaluation. Since the evaluation will try to determine if the objectives have been met, the objectives must be measurable and within the possibility of the library staff. For example, an objective may read, "Children participating in the Reading Program will maintain or improve their reading levels during the summer months." That sounds like a good objective and one that would be worthy to achieve. However, unless you take steps to test each child before and after the Reading Program, it will be impossible to determine if this objective has been met.

The objectives that will be easiest to evaluate and compare from year to year are the ones that require counting and/or calculation. Objectives may include statistics such as program registration, number of children who completed their requirements for the program, circulation of juvenile materials, or numbers registered from each grade and from each school. These numbers compared to the previous year's statistics are saved to compare with the following year's. To determine what percentage of children from each grade in each school participated in the program, use these statistics. Several day's circulation figures can be compared with several similar days from the previous year using care to assure samples are statistically valid. To maintain or improve any or all of these statistics, write objectives.

Setting Priorities

After goals for the overall program have been determined, write objectives for each phase of the program. The Reading Program may be long and complex, so before the planning begins set priorities. This is especially important if the library has limited staff and resources. Take into account the following when setting the priorities for your program: advance planning, publicity, incentives and rewards, follow-up activities, and any other items that you feel are an integral part of your program.
Examples

Following are examples of three general goals for a Reading Program, objectives relating to them, and possible strategies to implement the objectives:

GOAL 1.

THE READING PROGRAM WILL ENCOURAGE CHILDREN TO READ DURING THE SUMMER.

OBJECTIVES:

A. Increase Reading Program registration by 5% over last year's.

B. Include book talks and bibliographies in 10 Reading Program activities.

C. Increase circulation of the children's collection during the Reading Program by 10% as compared with the circulation statistics from the previous year.

STRATEGY 1.

Plan several months in advance to design or use a Reading Program with a popular theme. Develop publicity fliers, worksheets, membership cards, and certificates that are attractive and well done.

STRATEGY 2.

Distribute Reading Program materials as widely as possible. Publicize the Reading Program with fliers and posters. Visit schools and organizations to promote the program. Use the local media to publicize the program.

GOAL 2.

THE READING PROGRAM WILL ENCOURAGE CHILDREN TO READ MORE WIDELY BY SUGGESTING A VARIETY OF BOOKS FROM DIFFERENT SUBJECTS.

OBJECTIVES:

A. 50% of Reading Program participants will read nonfiction as well as fiction books.

B. Increase circulation of juvenile literature by 10%.

STRATEGY 1.

Require that the participants read a certain number of specific types of books.

STRATEGY 2.

Create and distribute specific subject area bibliographies: lists of nonfiction and fiction books that relate to this year's theme.

rev. 10/94
STRATEGY 3.

Use a game format such as Book Bingo or Random Choice, library maps or reading guides so that children must read a variety of subject areas to complete the requirements.

GOAL 3.

ENCOURAGE READING ALOUD AT HOME BY DEVELOPING A PRESCHOOL AGE READING PROGRAM COMPARABLE TO THE SCHOOL AGE READING PROGRAM.

OBJECTIVES:

A. 25% of the preschool population will register for the Read-To-Me program.
B. 75% of the preschoolers attending story-time will be enrolled in the Read-To-Me program.

STRATEGY 1.

Plan several months in advance to design a Read-To-Me program. Develop colorful, attractive and well produced fliers, membership cards, and certificates.

STRATEGY 2.

Advertise the Read-To-Me program to the parents of story time participants and preschoolers. Use the media to promote the program. Distribute fliers in the library and in the community.

REMEMBER: It is important to choose goals appropriate to your library—those that reflect community needs and the overall goals of the library. Any staff involved with children's services, as well as the library director, should participate in their development. If time and money are not available to work toward achieving all goals, pick the most important ones and work toward them.

Evaluation

Evaluation is the final step of any program and the beginning step for the next one. Evaluation helps to refine or develop goals based on reality. The objectives you set for your program will determine the areas to be evaluated.

There are many types of evaluations all of which are useful in different ways. The following list will give you some suggestions for areas to evaluate.

rev. 10/94
Suggested Areas Of Evaluation

Quantitative Measures

1. CIRCULATION STATISTICS: Tabulate juvenile circulation statistics separately from the adult circulation statistics. This will enable you to determine if the Reading Program has increased total juvenile circulation, and it will enable you to compare circulation figures from year to year.

2. CHANGES IN SUBJECT AREAS READ: Differences can often be seen in the type of materials circulating. Changes can be the result of the effectiveness of book talks, bibliographies or games used.

3. TOTAL NUMBER OF READING PARTICIPANTS: This can measure the impact of publicity, school visits and program format.

4. ACTIVE PARTICIPATION IN THE READING PROGRAM: Define active as reading a minimum number of books. This statistic will tell you how appealing your program was and if it kept the children interested.

5. REGISTRATIONS: Use registration figures to determine the number of new users as an indication of the success of your publicity and the effectiveness of your programs.

Qualitative Measures

6. FOCUS GROUPS: Bring together a group of 8 to 12 people representing your target group. With 3 to 5 prepared questions, open a discussion which will generate the information you desire.

7. PEER EVALUATION: Involve colleagues, community members, and/or other interested individuals in formal or informal evaluations of your program. This can be done through:

   UNOBTRUSIVE OBSERVATION, (assigning individual(s) to unobtrusively observe the program, clientele reactions etc., during the actual presentation. The emphasis here is on observing the quality of the reactions, not the quantity (of attendees, numbers served, etc.).

   FORMAL QUESTIONNAIRES, PANEL DISCUSSIONS, OR FORMAL REPORT WRITING, are other methods of peer evaluation.

8. FAST RESPONSE SURVEYS: Are used to gather baseline data on a new program or service, and to make informed, quick decisions used to adjust programs, when existing data is unavailable. Fast response surveys are given to a small sample group and contain few questions. Generally these surveys are done in questionnaire format, but focus groups are another alternative.

9. ATTITUDINAL MEASUREMENT: Used to determine feeling states of mind regarding your program, and especially valuable when you are collecting and comparing users and non-users. Attitudinal measurement assesses levels of satisfaction, predisposition towards certain actions or reactions, and assists in predicting future behavior. All of these can be valuable in improving your programs.

 Quantitative and Qualitative Evaluation

When evaluating a program or service, collecting some type of statistics is considered mandatory. Statistics are your QUANTITATIVE EVALUATION. For instance, you may collect statistics showing changes in circulation during your reading program, or members of youngsters in attendance at the program. In the list above: "Suggested Areas of Evaluation", items 1-5 are examples of quantitative measures.

Combined with quantitative evaluations, most libraries are also using QUALITATIVE EVALUATIONS. Examples of qualitative evaluations include fast response surveys, focus groups, peer evaluations and observations. (Items 6 through 9 on the "Suggested Areas of Evaluation" list.)

Qualitative measures are a valuable complement to the statistical measures collected, especially when presented to people outside your library staff such as county or city leaders, funding agencies, or library trustees. Statistics can be dry and relatively meaningless to these individuals because they don't have the basis to compare these numbers over time. However, statistics combined with quotations and examples gleaned from surveys or focus groups, have been found to be very effective to demonstrate the value of library programs.

We hope you begin to use some of the qualitative evaluation measures and follow up by presenting them in your program reports to your library director, board members, funding agencies, and to the State Library in your Arizona Reading Program Evaluation this year.

Summer Reading Program Survey*

Please take a few minutes and answer these questions. Your answers will help us improve the Summer Reading Program next year!

1. How old are you? __________

2. Are you a boy or a girl? Circle the right answer. BOY  GIRL

3. Make a check mark in front of any of these activities that you took part in this summer.
   - Summer school
   - Family vacation
   - Swimming lessons
   - Other lessons
   - Camp

4. How did you hear about the Summer Reading Program? Please check the right answer. You can check more than one answer.
   - My mother or father told me about it.
   - My teacher told me about it.
   - The librarian told my class about it.
   - I heard about it at the library.
   - Some other way.
   - I don't remember.

5. Make a check mark in front of the library activities that you took part in this summer. Draw a happy face after the activities that you especially enjoyed.

_____ Reading books
_____ Story hours
_____ Awards ceremony
_____ Magic show
_____ Film programs

6. What did you think of the prizes this summer? Check the right answers. You can check more than one answer.

_____ I didn't get any prizes.
_____ Great!
_____ Okay.
_____ Dumb.
_____ I don't care one way or the other.

7. What did you think of the theme of the Summer Reading Program? Check the right answer.

_____ I didn't pay any attention to the theme.
_____ I liked it.
_____ I didn't like it.
_____ I don't care one way or the other.

Cuestionario del programa de lectura de verano*

Por favor toma unos minutos para contestar las siguientes preguntas. Tus respuestas nos ayudarán a mejorar el programa de lectura de verano en el próximo año.

1. ¿Cuántos años tienes?

2. ¿Eres un niño o una niña? Pon un círculo alrededor de la respuesta correcta.

   Niño    Niña

3. Pon una marca al costado de las actividades en que participaste este verano.

   _____ Escuela de verano.
   _____ Vacaciones de familia.
   _____ Clases de natación.
   _____ Otro tipo de clases.
   _____ Campamento.

4. ¿Cómo te enteraste del programa de lectura de verano? Por favor marca la respuesta correcta. Tu puedes marcar más de una respuesta.

   _____ Mi madre o padre me lo dijo.
   _____ Mi maestro(a) me lo dijo.
   _____ El/la bibliotecario(a) se lo dijo a mi clase.
   _____ Me enteré de ello en la biblioteca.
   _____ Amigos me lo dijeron.
   _____ Me enteré de otra manera.
   _____ No me acuerdo.

PANDAMONIUM AT THE LIBRARY

GETTING STARTED
Opinions vary among librarians as to the structure and formats of reading programs. Some libraries present a highly structured Reading Program during the summer; some have no formal structure at all; and most fall somewhere between these two extremes.

For instance, one library discovered that having a required reading list and requiring that a minimum number of books be read. This turned off the children in their program to the point that only 45% finished the program and received certificates. However, the children still seemed to enjoy the oral report's portion of their program, so the library changed the program to a contract system. They changed the oral reports to a group sharing situation in which one or two children shared, with others in a group, a book they had recently read.

Another library totally abandoned any type of structured program and just provided various activities in which the children could freely participate.

A third library was very successful with a formal structured program in which the children were required to read a certain number of books to receive a certificate. These varied program philosophies appear to result from the reasons why librarians do a Reading Program. To find out why you must first review your philosophy of programming, and in particular your philosophy on Reading Programs.

When you have reviewed your philosophies, ideas, and experiences, consider the following items that may also affect your program:

Facilities

A. What amount of space is available and for what size group?

B. Will the excessive noise level disturb other patrons using the library or is a separate room available for busy activities?

C. Is there a play area available for outdoor activities? Is a local park available for opening or closing parties?

D. The program has how much time each week, or on what time basis will the group meet?

E. Decorations and displays put up in the area, what kind?

Staff

A. How large is the staff?

B. Regular or volunteer staff does it increase or decrease in size during the summer months? Are 5th, 6th, or 7th graders used as volunteer helpers for your program?

C. How much time does staff and volunteers have to participate in the program? Or, are they needed in more critical areas? Is it a key time for staff vacations?

D. Can parents of participants help with activities or perhaps provide refreshments?

E. What special talents can staff and volunteers contribute to the program? (i.e., musical, arts & crafts, and drama)
Participants

A. The program accommodates how many children?
B. Will there be any age limitations?
C. Participants broken up into groups based upon age, reading skills, grade level, or do they participate as one large group?
D. Will a Read-to-Me program for pre-schoolers be offered?

Collection

A. Does the library need to purchase materials from the bibliography to supplement the collection?
B. Bibliographies printed for the participants as supplemental handouts to the program?

Scheduling

A. Decide when and how registration for the program will begin in the library.
B. Contact local newspapers, radio stations, and possible television stations to find out what their deadlines are for publicity.
C. What kind of school visit, if any, will there be? (i.e., thematic skit given, book talks, handout flyers or a short narrative on the program?)
D. Alert all other library staff as to the dates of the programs and the special events.

Budget

A. What arts and craft supplies do you have?
B. Does your budget limit the amount of supplies that can be purchased for certain activities?
C. Participants asked to provide their own supplies for certain activities to what extent?
D. Will it be necessary to purchase additional promotional materials to that which the state sends?
E. Is it necessary to ask for additional money for performer's fees, overhead costs -- rental space, or additional publicity -- flyers?
F. Is it possible to have a fundraising project to add to the available revenue for the program?
Miscellaneous

A. Can field trips be planned and executed?

B. How can you use guest speakers, musicians, artists, and story tellers in your program?

C. What kind of support might you obtain from various merchants and civic groups for the program?

D. Has anyone else developed an activity or idea that had great success that could be used in the program?

Questions like these, along with an understanding of your personal interests and philosophy and the particular needs of your community, will help build the foundation on which the structure of your Reading Program will be based.
Structured Programs

This format allows the librarian more control over the participants reading. It requires a larger staff and a larger collection of material.

1. Set age limits for children participating.

It is desirable to offer something for all age groups. If you only have time for one program, then try to reach an age group not normally served during the rest of the year. For example, if there is a storytime during the winter for pre-schoolers, offer something for school age children during the summer.

2. Determine the number of books children must read to get a certificate.

Try not to set the requirement so high that it will discourage children from reading or encourage "cheating" by way of reading below their level. It is important to remember that the slow reader, the learning disadvantaged and the handicapped child needs to feel that they belong. If you decide you want to require a certain number of books to be read by the participants, keep the number within a reasonable limit. Determine the length of your program and the average reading ability among your patrons. Make special provision for those children who are poor or non-readers to earn a certificate in some other way.

3. Create required reading lists.

Compile a list of books that reflect the theme of the Arizona Reading Program.

4. Avoid competitive programs.

If a library's main thrust is to reward the child who reads the most books, then the interest of the poor reader is lost. It is as great an accomplishment if the slow reader gets through one or two books as it is if the bookworm gets through 50 to 100.

5. Encourage oral or written reports.

Oral reports give the librarian and the child time to discuss books and gives the librarian an opportunity to determine in which direction to guide the child in future reading. Written reports stimulate the thinking and writing skills of the child.

NOTE: Be careful not to exclude any child because of handicap, reading ability, noncompetitive attitude or even part-time status in the program.

Nonstructured Programs

This format works best for small libraries with limited staff or volunteer resources. It is marvelous for the child who is looking for a non-classroom type summer activity.

1. Any child may participate.

2. There is no required reading list or minimum number of reports.

Design displays and special interest lists, but allow children to choose their own books from the library collection.
Any child who has participated to the extent of reading at least one book or participated in one activity may receive a certificate.

3. Children keep their own reading records for personal satisfaction.

4. If the child moves or goes on vacation to another part of the state and the local library there has a summer reading program, the child may continue the program with them.

Contracts or Individual Goal Setting

1. Do not require a minimum or maximum number of books to be read.

2. Children set personal goals of how many books to read.

3. Draw up individual contracts between the children and the librarian delineating the agreed goal.

4. Sign contracts before beginning the program or when the children read their first books.

5. Do not quiz children on the books they have read.

6. Make no restrictions on the type of literature to be read. Encourage children to read at or above their current reading level.

Read-To-Me Programs

Although Summer Reading Programs have traditionally been directed at children who have learned to read, in recent years many libraries have also offered Read-To-Me programs for preschool children. Offer these in conjunction with the Summer Reading Program using the same or a different theme or at a different time of the year as a separate promotional activity.

A Read-To-Me program involves parents and children reading together. Children get credit for each book read to them. Award a certificate or other small prize upon completion of a certain number of books. The library may issue reading records and/or have a bulletin board or display where children keep track of the number of books read.

The Read-To-Me program can be an excellent activity to implement with groups of preschoolers who attend story hour in the library or whom the librarian visits at a child care center. Center staff could introduce the program to parents and encourage them to join and use the library to complete the program. The library and center could give a joint certificate. This could be a good way to reach those parents who may not read to their children or be regular library users.

On the following pages are two lists of tips for parents. You may wish to photocopy them and provide them to parents when they register their children for the Reading Program.
A Word (or 2) For Parents
How to Read Aloud With Your Child

1. PLAN AHEAD. Choose a time when there will not be interruptions; if possible have a regular time each day.

2. SELECT A QUIET, COMFORTABLE PLACE. Sit so your child can see the pictures easily--on your lap or near you.

3. SELECT SEVERAL BOOKS ahead of time that you think he/she will enjoy; read through them, yourself before sharing them so you can read smoothly.

4. TRY TO READ IN A NATURAL VOICE that's soft, low and interested.

5. BEGIN WITH THE FAMILIAR such as Mother Goose, finger plays, songs, poems, etc.

6. PAUSE AT INTERVALS. This gives your child a chance to react to the story and the illustrations.

7. RESPECT YOUR CHILD'S MOOD Boredom or restlessness perhaps indicate the book or time isn't right. If he/she doesn't want to discuss the pictures, don't step-up the pace. Your child may want to turn several pages to finish more quickly. Let her/him.

DOs

Take advantage of your child's interests, e.g., dinosaurs, trucks, etc.

Keep books around even if he/she shows little interest in them right now.

Ask questions as you read.

Encourage your child to make up his/her own stories to go with the pictures.

As your child reaches school age, begin to include longer stories that can be read one episode or chapter at a time. Graham's The Wind in the Willows.

DON'Ts

Use story time to teach reading.

Compare your child to another who loves reading.

Be surprised if your child wants to hear the same book repeatedly. The high interest and repetition will be good for him/her.
Basic Guidelines For Selecting Material To Read Aloud

1. You must like the story. You are more likely to draw an emotional reaction, if you are involved with the story yourself.

2. Books well written have vivid characterization and the pace is fairly fast—more action, and less description.

3. Five to ten minutes may be plenty of time to read to your child, because most pre-schoolers have short attention spans.

4. The real test of a good book is its ability to give pleasure to both parent and child. Listening provides natural opportunities for development of vocabulary and an acquaintance with English syntax.

MOST IMPORTANTLY, you help your child to know good books and poems in a relaxed, warm atmosphere.
The following list of tasks can be used to build a timeline. Remember to keep a monthly calendar with important dates marked. Planning calendars are included at the end of this chapter.

4 -5 Months Prior to Beginning of Summer

1. Review the manual thoroughly. Read over the activity sheets to plan for required materials.

2. Choose dates, structure and procedures of the program.

3. Check State Library Reading Program materials request form to be sure an accurate number of items has been ordered.

4. Create a calendar for tentative scheduling of programs.

5. Look for local talent and volunteers. Staff and patrons may have special talents and interests to share.

6. Order books to enrich the theme and order any media for programs. Check bibliography against holdings. Consider paperbacks to supplement where needed.

7. Send letters to Friends of the Library and community organizations asking for donations.

2-3 Months Prior to Summer

1. Finalize program schedules. Plan alternate programs in case of cancellations.

2. Confirm films, performers and craft dates. You may want to "kid test" crafts.

3. Order material for crafts.

4. Check AV equipment and repair as necessary. Buy extra lamps.

5. Prepare flyers with information about the program. Distribute to children and parents at schools and at the circulation desk.

6. Prepare bulletin board materials.

7. Prepare needed materials for volunteers.

8. Send letters to Friends of the Library and community organizations asking for volunteer helpers.
1 Month Prior to Beginning of Summer

1. Place posters in the community and in the library.

2. Visit newspapers, radio and TV stations to explain your publicity needs and take your first press release. This approach is advisable only in smaller communities.

3. Arrange and make school visits. Do not forget private and church schools in the area. It may be necessary to concentrate on certain grades due to time limitations. Distribute flyers during your visits and ask to have notices put in the school's last newsletter or in flyers sent home with report cards. Remember the parent groups or organizations like Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and day care groups in your community.

2-3 Weeks Prior to Summer

1. Have staff meetings about the programs planned and pass out schedules.

2. Begin decorating the library.

3. Make packets for registration. Try to include reading records, schedule of events and membership cards.

Remember to write these schedules and events on the calendar. How many weeks will the Reading Program run? What day will you clear school visits with the principal and the librarians of each school? When does school end? What are the other events in town? (For example when does the pool open, camps begin, or little leagues have play-offs?) When will registration for the library reading program begin? End? What are the print deadlines for local school newspapers, community newspapers, church bulletins, community or civic club newsletters? When will you put up posters in the schools, in the community? What days will you have special activities? Will there be a special opening event and closing celebration? What is the staffs' vacation schedule? Will you have an orientation for staff, volunteers and friends group?

When you have developed your timeline and finish as many of the reading programs dates as possible, publicize them in your opening announcements. Be sure everyone knows about the events happening in the library, so other activities won't be scheduled that will compete with the library. It is a good idea to include a list of activities in newspaper publicity throughout the reading program to remind other program planners of your schedule.*

Preparing Printed Matter*

Face-to-face public relations and promotion for specific programs are a much easier job when accompanied by something tangible to hand out. Printed matter always helps underscore the message and leave a physical reminder of the program. Publicity pieces for the Arizona Reading Program can be as simple as a bookmark or flier. Reproduction by a quick printer for large quantities or a good copier for smaller needs is inexpensive.

The clip art for the Arizona Reading Program is yours to adapt and use however you like. Reduce it, enlarge it, reposition it, cut it up, color it, whatever.

Use a variety of techniques to prepare professional-looking custom information on printed matter. If you have access to a copier that reduces and enlarges, transform simple typewritten copy into a larger, bolder version, ready to paste-up in a layout.

Art or graphic supply stores, and quite a few stationers, carry a wide variety of "rub-on" lettering. One or two sheets of lettering should be enough to see you through all your printed pieces. It is relatively easy to use the letters. Suggestion: apply the letter to a separate sheet of white paper, then cut the set type out and past it to the layout. Set type line-by-line, cutting out and placing each line of type individually in relation to the other lines of type. This technique prevents tragic and unsightly placement of letters directly on a layout, and lets you play with your arrangement a little before you commit it to glue.

Professional typesetting is not terribly expensive. Take just a few headlines, your library's name, address, the pertinent facts of your program to be set, and then photocopy the additional copies and sizes you need at the library. Nearly any mechanical means of typesetting, including typewriter copy, looks more professional than hand-done lettering. UNLESS YOU'RE A WHIZ CALLIGRAPHER, RESIST THE TEMPTATION TO HAND-LETTER!

The Importance of an Information Form

When you solicit monetary support for your program, be it in kind support, museum passes, ice cream coupons or a feature story in the newspaper, include a business-like fact sheet in addition to your printed publicity pieces. The fact sheet should include:

- the purpose of the Reading Program
- who will be involved in the program, and how participants will benefit

Having a background sheet that includes details lets potential sponsors, helpers and reporters know that you're serious and organized about your program. It can save much time for you in terms of answering philosophical questions or explaining the reasons for the program.

Person to Person Contact

Nothing makes people more likely to come to the library than a personal invitation. Failing a personal invitation, a judiciously posted flier can work wonders. If you can possibly spare the time to get out in the community, you'll find that your efforts are worth it. Arm yourself with bookmarks and visit the classrooms to talk with kids. If you can't spare the time, use the mail! Write a peppy cover letter and mail bookmarks to the school principal for distribution to the students. Ask to speak to PTA groups and for announcement space in their newsletters. Catch kids and parents where they are: send library staff home with fliers to post at their neighborhood stores. Take a pile of bookmarks to your local bookstore and ask them to give bookmarks out with purchases. Call upon all those organizations who post notices at the library to post notices for you, or to mention your program in their newsletters. Freely mail your information to any adult who seems interested, and of course, use it if you're soliciting goods or money.

Perhaps the best public relations you do at the library itself are promoting the programs to the parents and children who use the library. These are the most likely candidates for your program. Inform your staff of every last detail of the Arizona Reading Program and spend several weeks hitting up everybody who walks through the door with Arizona Reading Program information and encouragement. Post fliers and posters generously around the library—and put your reading sign-up station in a conspicuous spot. Create a splashy display. Post the kids' names as they join. Attract attention and encourage questions.

Handling the Media

The library has many allies in the community, and media people are among them. Don't be shy about asking for coverage. Assume you're on friendly ground and tell your story around!

Newspaper Features

Newspaper stories are wonderful program packers. No other medium allows you so much time and space to tell your story. You can usually get in all your nitty-gritty details and still have time to philosophize about the greater meaning of the Arizona Reading Program. Drop off a packet of information materials (your information form and other pertinent pieces) to the newspaper. With a small community newspaper, call the editor and talk about doing a feature article. Include a news release, written in narrative form, that explains your program briefly. Double space your news release, and begin typing your copy on the lower half of the page, continuing your narrative on succeeding pages, if necessary. It is best to keep to one page and add a fact sheet. This spacing allows room for editorial comments, notes, and other comments.

Make it clear in a cover letter that the materials are adaptable, and that the paper is free to use them in any way they see fit. Many community papers will use your writing verbatim; other swill adapt the writing or write their own feature articles. Make it easy for paper people to find you or your contact person for interviews or to answer questions. Many papers are glad for you to come in and talk to them personally; find out on the phone what they prefer. If your paper gives you a feature story on the Reading Program at the beginning of the summer, ask them then about doing a follow-up story at the end of the summer. How programs turn out interests most newspapers.

Whenever possible, include a photograph with your press release. Photos are always more eye-catching than just text, and editors love them because photos of local people (especially kids) sell papers! Send clear black-and-white pictures.

Radio Public Service Announcements

Never underestimate the power of the radio. People listen. All radio stations, to maintain their broadcast licenses, are obligated to run public service announcements (PSAs) regularly, free of charge to community organizations. Most are more than happy to receive PSAs and graciously give good airplay to them. Most stations would prefer to receive a typed PSA that announcers can read off the cuff at various intervals instead of a produced, taped spot that they must plan to use. Ask the station for a taped or live on-air interview about your program. If interview; are featured regularly on your station, you might just want to pursue this. All you need to do to get a PSA on the air is to mail it in. Call the station's switchboard to find out the name of the Public Service Director and mail your announcement to that person. A simple cover letter requesting support for the program assures air-time. A few rules of thumb govern the writing of PSAs:

- Always include, at the top of your PSA, the following information:
  - DATE: (Date you're sending the announcement out)
  - PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT RE: (Brief description)
  - PROGRAM DATE: (Date your program starts)
  - AIR DATES: (Choose a time period over which you want announcement made)
  - FOR MORE INFORMATION: (Your contact person's name & telephone)
  - TIME: (10 sec., 20 sec., 30 sec., etc.)

Double-space your announcement for easy reading. Use ALL CAPS for the same reason. Make sure your announcement and header information (above) all fits on one page. You may want to send in several PSAs of varying lengths, to give the announcers a choice. Send each one on a separate sheet, each with the same header information.

Keep your messages within the 10-, 20-, or 30-second limit. Time it yourself, reading at a normal pace, to make sure. Always include the pertinent information in your announcement: Who, What, When, Where, and How to get more information. There's no time in a 30-second announcement to get to the Why—spend your remaining seconds on a catchy invitation.
Television Announcements

Television stations must provide public service time, too. Many have noon or morning "magazine" shows that include a regular segment of time for community announcements. All you need to do to get your announcements read during these times is call the station to find out who coordinates announcements for the show, and mail your information to that person.

Getting a stand-alone public service announcement on television (one that is run in a string of commercials during regular programming) is a little more complicated. You must call the Public Service Director at the station to arrange this. Taped public service announcements must be shot on 3/4" videotape (home cameras use 1/2" tape), and are difficult for most libraries without studios to produce. You may be able to talk your local station's Public Service Director into filming a spot for you and duplicating it for other stations in the area. Before approaching a station about doing this, you must have a script and scene in mind. It's much easier for them to make a decision if they have some idea what it's going to involve. If a taped PSA is out of the question, most stations will accept a slide and an announcement. They will hold the slide on screen while they run a taped voice-over of your announcement. Wording should be similar to radio spots—nothing longer is appropriate. Your slide can be a "reproduction" of the Reading Program artwork. Make it colorful. When shooting slides for television, remember to leave a very wide border around your actual copy. Not all of slide is picture shows on a television screen. Do not use white as a background color; white shimmers and glares on TV. Slides of library activities might also be appropriate for PSAs: keep your main visual idea restricted to the center area of the slide.

*A MAJOR WORD OF CAUTION ABOUT TELEVISION ANNOUNCEMENTS

Television is an incredibly regional medium. Always bear in mind the impact your announcement will have on other libraries than your own. Your announcements may be seen by viewers over many counties—and everybody's library has a different thing going regarding program specifics such as dates, events, awards, and so forth. Keep your TV PSAs generic enough so they won't cause heartbreak or utter chaos in somebody else's library. Call around to other libraries in your viewing area and get their feelings on the issues before you approach the TV people.

TV News Coverage

Go for it! If you have an event (an event, not a summer-long program) that's newsworthy, call the News Director at your station. Be very specific about what a camera might see, how many people are expected to be there, and how many kids participate. Paint a colorful picture and tempt the news people with a good "parting shot" on the nightly news. Tell the News Director you'll drop off some background information at the station, then do it. (Include your information for the Arizona Reading Program, and any other pertinent materials you have on hand.) Add a separate sheet that gives details on the event you're wanting covered: time, place, what's happening when, and what good visuals they might find. News people can never commit to coverage ahead of time (you're up against national news and local house fires) but most are willing to seriously consider library stories, especially when kids are involved.

It is very important during your reading program to recognize the progress your participants are making. Do this in one of two ways. The first is through incentives: items you receive from the State library, or items donated by the local merchants or items you purchase yourself. The second way you recognize your readers is to give each participant a certificate.

Awarding Certificates

Award the certificates at the end-of-summer celebration, through schools after school begins, or individually as children complete requirements.

1. Many libraries plan special programs or parties to wind up the Reading Program on a festive note. If the library distributes certificates at a final celebration, make it seem special. Perhaps the library can have a special guest, such as a local official, to help give out certificates. Libraries who have done this reported that they had many unclaimed certificates, and indicated that this process needs a back-up distribution system.

2. If the library plans to distribute certificates in the fall through the schools, contact the schools for approval in the spring. Ask to be able to do this at an assembly if possible.

3. Some libraries give certificates to children as they complete requirements. This has the advantage of solving the problem of unclaimed certificates at the summer's end. However, it may make children feel they have finished the program and thus finished the reading for the summer. If you use this approach, be sure staff tells the children as they award certificates that they hope the children will keep reading and visiting the library. The library can still have an end-of-the-summer party without the certificate distribution.

Incentives

Many libraries like to give children some other small token for completing the program. There are arguments for and against prizes, but library budgets generally ensure they are very modest. Hint: Do not save something for a prize that is better used as a promotional item early in the program.

1. There are many ways in which public libraries can reward children for participating in the library's reading program. Incentives ranging in cost from bookmarks printed by the state library to T-shirts (one of the more expensive prizes) with the program slogan. Free tickets and coupons are also good incentives. For example, one year the Houston Astros, Denny's, and Whataburger supported a summer reading program by providing free tickets to Astros games, coupons for free snacks at Denny's, and free Whatabburgers. One library provided top readers with such incentives as coupons for free mini-pizzas (Pizza Hut is usually willing), ice cream sundaes and movie tickets. Larger rewards, such as sun visors and wrap-around sun glasses, while still low cost may be provided by the Friends of the Library.

2. Buttons are extremely popular with the children. One year a library discontinued passing out club buttons to the children enrolled. They found out from the resulting outcry that the buttons were an important part of the whole program. Kids collected the buttons from the first time they enroll and built collections that they valued highly. The following year they brought the buttons back, and reading jumped 10%. Many of the sources listed in the appendix (starting on page Q-11) offer buttons at a minimal price; if you have button-making machines, volunteers could design and make them for your program.
3. Another way to stimulate the interest of children in the Reading Program is to introduce computers. One library borrowed four Apple computers. Kids registered themselves on the computers. They kept track of their own scores as they played the reading game on a Monopoly-like game board. The kids read in specified subject areas for extra points, drew picture book reports, participated in the weekly trivia contest, and attended library programs. One of their librarians did the computer programming and designed the reading games. A big plus was the reduction in paperwork usually involved in keeping track of the participants.

Games

Games are a great way to stimulate interest in reading programs. One of the benefits of a reading game is that it attracts the average and poor readers, as well as the better readers, and everyone has an equal chance. If you are interested in finding out about Enoch Pratt’s summer reading game, a report on it appears in the Spring 1986 issue of Top of the News magazine.

The important thing to remember is that a positive reinforcement of a love of reading is the main goal. Children’s librarians have long held as their foremost objectives those so well formulated by Harriet Long in her book Rich The Treasure:

1. "To make a wide collection of books easily and temptingly available."
2. "To give guidance to children in their choice of books and materials."
3. "To share, extend, and cultivate the enjoyment of reading as a voluntary, individual pursuit."
4. "To encourage lifelong education through the use of public library resources."
5. "To help children develop their personal abilities and social understanding to the fullest."
6. "To serve as a social force in the community together with the child’s welfare."

An Alternative View

Opponents of reading programs feel that there is a tendency by parents, teachers or the children to make participation competitive. The child reading the largest number of books is the winner of the game. This emphasizes quantity over quality and discourages some children. Some librarians feel that no awards or prizes should be given, that the only reward should be the pleasure derived by the child. Some libraries award certificates to children who read the required number of books. The schools often cooperate by presenting these certificates at assemblies. This recognizes the child's effort and encourages other children to realize that reading can be a pleasurable experience.

Also, the system of awarding prizes differs from one library to another. Some libraries reward children based on the number of books read, some on the number of pages read, and some even recognize simply the amount of time spent reading. In whatever way your library recognizes the children's participation, give some form of reward.
"...Children who are not told stories and who are not read to will have few reasons for wanting to learn to read."

Gail E. Haley, 1971 Caldecott Medal acceptance speech.

"...While enriching your child's world, don't overlook the fact that looking at books and being read to is one of the best preparations for learning to read oneself."

Toni S. Gould, Home Guide to Early Reading.

"...Do you read to the older children who can read for themselves? If you do not, you are depriving them of a pleasure they will remember all of their lives."

Charlotte Leonard, Tied Together.

As librarians, we are well aware of the benefits of reading to children. We have heard the testimonials, read the research, made our own observations. We believe strongly in the practice, but we have the opportunity to read to the same children maybe once a week. School teachers can at least read aloud to the same children every day, but we all know that the greatest impact is made by the parents who read in the home. Use the Reading Program as an opportunity to encourage reading as a family activity.

Get parents involved from the beginning of the summer reading program.

Hold a kick-off event for the Arizona Reading Program involving parents and children. If possible, have the parents and children come to the same event, breaking into separate groups after a welcome and explanation of the Arizona Reading Program.

During the parent component:

Invite a local reading specialist to give a brief presentation to the group. Colleges, universities or local school districts are all sources for speakers. The speaker should keep it short and realize that the audience is composed of parents, not educators or other specialists.

Parents not in the habit of reading aloud may be hesitant to make their first choices. Prepare a list of books you think are especially suited to the purpose. Draw attention to the list and, if possible, make enough copies to give away.

Book talk your parents! Draw their attention to books for adults that will help them get started reading aloud or inspire them. The New Read-Aloud Handbook by Jim Trelease is excellent. It contains lists of proven read-aloud winners. Describe or quote briefly from one or two titles.

At the end of the parent component, bring groups back together and have someone read a story or chapter to the entire group. Prepare the reader with an enticing selection, but read it, do not perform it. While everyone enjoys a good storyteller, we want to convince parents that reading and listening together is a pleasurable experience within any family's reach.

There is a rationale for stressing brevity in the parent's program. We want parents to find the program interesting and quick-moving, but we do not want to overwhelm them with the idea of reading as a family. If parents think they have to make radical overnight changes in the family's routine, they may not even get started.
Parental Program Tips

Have a guest book for parents to sign that includes addresses so that you can send invitations to future events or other information.

Provide refreshments to foster an informal, social atmosphere.

Create displays of books from reading lists so individuals can easily pick them up at the end of the program.

Allow time at the end for browsing and socializing.

Keep everyone involved during the length of the Arizona Reading Program.

If you use contracts for a reading program, allow books or pages read by parents to count toward fulfillment of the contract. Parents could make a separate contract, if they prefer, but either contract should allow the books read to count for older children as well as Read-To-Me participants.

Was the atmosphere enthusiastic at your kick-off event? If so, try a midsummer parent/child get together. You may want to have someone share a favorite book or excerpt and/or show a short film based on a children's book. Draw attention to any interesting new titles and be prepared to recommend more favorites. Allow families plenty of time to swap experiences and favorite titles as well as to browse.

A biweekly or monthly read-aloud newsletter could be a feature. This can be as simple as a photocopied list of additional titles especially suited for reading aloud or a report of the children's activities in the Arizona Reading Program. Use your mailing list if funds permit or send a sheet home with the children.

Have the last meeting of the Arizona Reading Program at a time when parents can attend and make it a big celebration. You may award certificates at this time. You can award special certificates for reading families or indicate on the child's certificate (with gummed stars or stickers) how many books were read aloud by a parent.

Refer to the section A Word (or 2) for Parents, in the chapter on program structures. This section has many useful tips for parental involvement. You may wish to photocopy the tips and hand them out to parents when they register their children for the Reading Program.
SPECIAL NEEDS CHILDREN AND THE ARIZONA READING PROGRAM

Involving Visually and Physically Handicapped Children in the Arizona Reading Program

In recent years, visually and physically handicapped children have participated in the statewide Arizona Reading Program. Visually impaired or physically handicapped children in your community may want to participate in the local Summer Reading Program along with their peers. This can be accomplished by using Braille or talking books instead of print and with some assistance from the library staff.

There are a few simple things you can do to help make visually impaired children more comfortable in your library. Identify yourself and others who may be with you when you greet someone with a visual impairment. Let the person know what you are doing and where you are going. Ask if the person needs assistance getting around the library and let the person take your arm, which allows you to be the guide.

With a little help, visually impaired, blind, or handicapped children can participate in much of regular library programming. Visually impaired children can enjoy story hours along with their peers with a minimum of special effort by the storyteller. It is most important to select the story carefully so that understanding the text is not dependent upon illustrations which cannot be easily explained. You do not need to avoid such words as "see, look, read." If the child can't see gestures or facial expressions, try to include objects and tactile experiences. The storyteller can use hearing, touch, tasting, smelling, imagination, and emotions to encourage the listeners' interest. Depending upon the story line or narration, visually impaired children can also enjoy films or video if they are introduced and given explanation when needed. Many children's books are printed in larger than normal print, and children who read large print may be able to enjoy summer reading with some guidance toward these books. If you are unsure about a child's skills and ability to participate, discuss it with the child and/or the parents.

Through publicity and local encouragement, we hope to extend summer reading activities to larger numbers of visually and physically handicapped children and to support participation by visually and physically handicapped children in their local library's summer reading program, by using talking and Braille books.

Talking Book/Braille Service Overview

What is available?

Talking books, Braille books, and catalogs of titles; talking books are complete books recorded on cassettes or records. They are circulated throughout the state by the Arizona State Braille and Talking Book Library in cooperation with the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS), a division of the Library of Congress.

The book collection is much like that of a public library; books are selected to appeal to a wide range of reading interests. Registered borrowers receive large print catalogs and the bimonthly Talking Book Topics or Braille Book Review to use in selecting books they wish to read. A separate set of catalogs list books for children.

It is necessary to use the NLS playback equipment because the books are recorded at a slower speed not generally available on commercial equipment. Record and cassette players are loaned free of charge as long as library materials are being used.
Accessories for the equipment which are available for loan include: extension levers for the cassette player; special amplifier for use with headphones for hearing impaired persons; remote control unit; and solar battery charger.

There is no charge for any of the materials. Books and equipment are mailed to the reader and back to the library postage free.

Who is eligible?

Anyone unable to read conventional print, hold a book, or turn pages due to a physical limitation is eligible. This includes blind children, children whose visual disability prevents the reading of standard print material, physically handicapped children unable to handle standard print material, and children having a reading disability resulting from an organic dysfunction of sufficient severity to prevent their reading of printed material in a normal manner.

In cases of blindness, visual disability, or physical limitations, the disability may be certified and the application signed by doctors of medicine or osteopathy, ophthalmologists, optometrists, registered nurses, therapists and the professional staff of hospitals, institutions, and public or welfare agencies, or a professional librarian. In the case of reading disability from organic dysfunction, the application must be signed by a doctor of medicine or osteopathy, who may consult with colleagues in associated disciplines (such as school psychologists or learning disability teachers).

For more information about eligibility and certification, contact the Arizona State Braille and Talking Book Library at 255-5578; outside the Phoenix area, call 1-800-255-5578.

How does the service begin?

Obtain and complete an application form; eligibility must be certified before equipment can be loaned. Return the completed application to the Library. Equipment is sent to eligible patrons, and a readers advisor contacts each new patron to begin service, discuss reading interests, etc.

Patrons may submit request lists; or, staff will select books for patrons in the subject areas they designate. When one book is returned to the library, another is sent. They may always increase or decrease the number of books sent, place a "hold" on service temporarily, or modify their reading interest list.

Programming for children with special needs lets them know that they too are valued library patrons.

by Judith Schimmel

I didn't know if we were welcome," I said Mrs. Stone candidly. As the mother of Jennifer, a child with cerebral palsy, Mrs. Stone was accustomed to obstacles and subtle discrimination. Until recently, she viewed the library warily, with the palpable fear that activities in the children's room were primarily for those youngsters who look and act "normal." Finally, after attending several of our new programs, Mrs. Stone and Jennifer feel comfortable here. This past summer, Jennifer reported for the first time as an official member of our Book Banquet Summer Reading Club.

How did we enlarge our net to pull in special needs children and convince them that they are valued library patrons? First, we had to recognize that we were not adequately serving this segment of the community. We had to face the fact that we had not reached out to them in any tangible way.

Special Storytimes

Just prior to registration for fall 1992 storytimes, the mother of a five-year old, severely disabled boy asked to sign up her son. In the past, we had mainstreamed a few special needs children into our storytimes. But, this child was both physically and mentally challenged. He also had a visual deficiency. Would I be doing a service or disservice to this child by placing him in a group with 25 other children? How could I respond effectively to this mother's request?

I approached our library director and explained that parents of special needs children wanted storytimes and that perhaps we needed to expand the range of our programs. The only thing on our menu was mainstreaming, and if that didn't work, there was nothing at all. I received permission to determine if there were parents who would want a separate storytime for their special needs children and, if the interest was there, to form such a group. We would still offer mainstreaming, but now we would be able to provide an additional option.

In fall 1992, I placed an announcement in both the school district's newsletter and the public library's publication to gauge interest. I received numerous calls, many from people offering encouragement and assistance. The president of SEPTA (the Special Education Parent Teacher Association) and the school district's director of special education services expressed their support and volunteered to publicize any programs we started.

Eight parents called me, and I spoke with each one at length. These parents were reluctant to put their children in one of our typical large groups and were eager for a specialized, intimate program. I gathered information from each parent about their specific needs.

It became apparent that we needed two separate groups: one with parents and one without. Some of the children were used to and required close supervision. This first group consisted of children attending full-day programs outside the district. Their parents enthusiastically offered to attend and to participate actively.*

The second group comprised children enrolled in classes within our district. The parents of these children did not want to be present at storytime. Instead, they wanted a successful independent experience for their children. I was hopeful that, with a small group, we could make this happen.

Staffing and Approaches
Once we made the decision to go ahead with our special needs storytimes, the next problem to address was staffing. Although our library staff lacked special education training, we did have the assets of enthusiasm, energy, and a strong sense of commitment on our side. So, we forged ahead and let our instincts and observations guide us.

The Saturday morning parent-child storytime became my project. Our beginning enrollment was four children and four parents. Two librarians then volunteered to devise a program for the Monday afterschool group of five children (without parents in attendance).

We agreed to approach the special storytimes in much the same way that we planned our regular sessions, but with a few modifications. We decided to create a more contained, cozy setting than our large meeting room provided. A portable shelf unit displaying picture books and stuffed animals, plus two freestanding bulletin boards covered with bright posters, successfully created a private hideaway that could be set up and dismantled with relative ease. We also purchased a set of rhythm instruments and a flannel board. For both groups, we decided to begin with a traditional program, mixing stories, finger plays, songs, and creative movement exercises.

We anticipated that our new clientele would present unexpected challenges. We had to adjust to the fact that special needs children attend to stories in unique ways. For example, two autistic brothers are in my Saturday parent-child group. I spoke to their teacher before our first session, and she shared a great deal of useful information about them and volunteered to be present. She herself was curious to see how Billy and Bryan would react in this setting. Reading Russell Is Extra Special: A Book About Autism for Children by Charles A. Amenta, III (Magination Press, 1992) gave me additional insight into the nature of childhood autism.

During our first storytime, Billy and Bryan would walk around the room intermittently and speak at random. I knew, however, that this did not mean they were not listening. Once I recognized their various ways of tuning in, I began to understand that they were indeed enjoying the programs.

The Magic of Books
Certain books have proved magical in their effect with our special needs groups. Bill Martin's Chicka Chicka Boom Boom (S. & S., 1989) keeps the children spellbound, as do Maurice Sendak's Where the Wild Things Are (HarperCollins, 1963) and Margaret Wise Brown's Goodnight Moon (HarperCollins, 1947). We also include lift-the-flap books, such as the Spot stories by Eric Hill, in each session.

A great favorite in the novelty book category is Lucy Cousins Maisy Goes Swimming (Little, 1990). After hearing that story last year, Jennifer, whose movement is restricted by her cerebral palsy, was intent on helping Maisy change her clothes. Mrs. Stone bought Jennifer her own copy of the book, purchased a special clamp for her wheelchair, and fastened the book to it so that Jennifer could turn the pages and play with Maisy unassisted. Mrs. Stone told me that neither she nor Jennifer's teacher had known about the Maisy titles before the library program.

Songs and finger plays are also very popular with the children. "Eentsy Weentsy Spider," "Open, Shut Them," "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," and "Head, Shoulders, Knees, and Toes" are great favorites and invariably elicit giggles and squeals of delight. Parents enjoy the opportunity to learn these rhymes to sing with their children, and many have told me that they have become new family traditions at home.

Flexibility and the intimate nature of the groups contribute greatly to our success. If the children love a particular book, sometimes we repeat the story, much to their great delight. Or, we improvise and change gears immediately if something doesn't click. Billy and Bryan's teacher has suggested that we keep pretzels available, and we find that this simple treat helps to keep some of the children focused.

Our special needs storytimes have become unique social gatherings that the children and parents anticipate with excitement. Jennifer's mother wrote in a letter to our library board, "Our children need this service. My daughter may not read or write, but she understands that she has someplace to go to have a good time."

For Billy and Bryan, storytime provides a safe opportunity to interact with people and books. Both boys have surprised their teachers and family members by repeating our storytime finger plays and songs at home and at school. Certain favorites have even been incorporated into their classroom curriculum. The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norton, are encouraged to see their sons make occasional eye contact with me. They wrote, "Just knowing they can sit for a story is more wonderful than you can imagine.

The Summer Reading Club

After we completed our first year of special storytimes (which have been renewed for the coming school year) our next opportunity to expand our services came in the form of Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) funding through the Nassau County (NY) Library System. We received a mini-grant for the purpose of recruiting exceptional children into our summer reading program.

I called my liaison at SEPTA and asked for feedback on how parents of special needs children regard our summer reading club. I learned that our basic format was considered reasonable, but that crowds at the library and competition were factors that caused trepidation about joining. Yet, no one wanted a separate reading club. How could we create a nurturing atmosphere for special needs children in a summer reading club of 700-plus participants who report their books to 60 teenage volunteers?

In recent years we have eased our reporting procedures, so it was not difficult to create a more flexible set of rules for our exceptional participants. We designated a code sentence that parents could use if they so chose. The simple phrase is, "We are here for the reading club, and any child reports to a librarian." This phrase alerts us to the child's status so that the appropriate person can be summoned. No other words are used; no stigma is attached. But, the librarian knows to accept listening to stories in lieu of reading, regardless of the participant's age. If parents do not want to use the "report to a librarian" code, their children can speak directly to the volunteers at our reading club table. In that case, no distinction is made, and the young volunteers themselves often do not know that they are dealing with special needs children.

With funds from the mini-grant, I planned a summer kickoff party with the exclusive goal of recruiting special needs children and their families to the library. In contrast to our other highly attended programs, I wanted to create a small party atmosphere where each child's presence could be acknowledged. Phone and in-person registrations enabled me to speak directly to parents and explain the two different ways to participate in the summer reading club. These conversations were an excellent opportunity for me to assure parents that their children's individual needs would be met and that everyone would feel at ease in the program.
I hired a magician to perform an audience participation show of comedy and magic. The local newspaper published a lengthy (and enthusiastic) article about the upcoming party, the "Book Banquet Bash." SEPTA and our district's special education coordinator distributed flyers. Eighteen families attended, many of them coming to the library for the first time. After the show we served refreshments, registered children for the reading club, and issued library cards.

Book Banquet 1993 became a reading club for all the children of the community. Eight-year-old Jimmy, learning disabled and a dropout from last year's summer reading club, successfully reported each week to a librarian. The code sentence system worked well in that and many other cases.

Opportunities for Growth

Our newly opened channels of communication with parents have afforded us many opportunities for growth. One mother asked if a teenage volunteer could read to her child. I hadn't thought of this possibility, but when I spoke to our student assistants, not one but three teenagers offered their services. Perhaps next year we will expand our volunteer program to include reading aloud to special needs children upon request.

We are only just now beginning to learn what we can do. The connections are exciting; one possibility leads to another. The only thing that is difficult is making the commitment to begin. But once on the path, each step becomes easier. Our enrollment continues to grow as a result of positive word-of-mouth about our programs.

Opening our doors—and our hearts—to all children is what public service should be. And the smiling faces of these exceptional young people make it worth all the effort.*

ANIMALS IN BLACK AND WHITE

Preschool – Grade 1

Books

The following books are recommended:

Behrangi, Samad. The Little Black Fish.
In spite of various warnings, the little black fish still wants to see what is at the end of the stream.

Bornstein, Ruth. Little Gorilla.
Little Gorilla's family and friends try to help him overcome his special growing pains.

Buehner, Carolyn. The Escape of Marvin the Ape.
Marvin the ape slips out of the zoo and finds he likes it on the outside, where he easily blends into city lifestyles.

Carlson, Natalie. Spooky and the Wizard's Bats.
Spooky, formerly a witch's cat, is plagued by bats sent by a wizard and thinks of a plan to outwit him.

Doherty, Berlie. Snowy.
When the other children bring their pets to school, Rachel feels left out because she can't bring in the horse that pulls the barge on which she lives.

Flack, Marjorie. Angus and the Ducks.
A curious Scottish Terrier decides to investigate the strange noise coming from the other side of the hedge.

Hall, Derek. Polar Bear Leaps.
Baby Polar Bear goes fishing with his mother and learns that a leap to safety can save his life.

Howe, James. The Day the Teacher Went Bananas.
A class's new teacher, who leads the children in a number of popular activities, turns out to be a gorilla.

Killilea, Marie. Newf.
A Newfoundland dog comes mysteriously out of the sea and takes residence with a small white kitten in a deserted cottage.

A rabbit fleeing from three polar bears is helped by a series of animals.

Otsuka, Yuzo. Suho and the White Horse: a Legend of Mongolia.
This tale relates the tragic parting of a boy and his white horse which leads to the creation of the horsehead fiddle of the Mongolian shepherds.
Paul, Korky. Winnie the Witch.
Because Winnie the Witch lives in a house where everything is black, she can't see her black cat – until she comes up with a brilliant and colorful idea.

Seuss, Dr. The Cat in the Hat.
Two children sitting at home on a rainy day are visited by the Cat in the Hat who shows them some tricks and games.

Vyner, Sue. Arctic Spring.
Spring in the Arctic brings new activity among the fox, seal and other animals, but the polar bear has a very good reason for remaining by her den.

STORY ACTIVITY:
The Hanky Mouse

This simple folding trick is fascinating to children and fits in well with a mouse program or to gain wandering attention and relieve restlessness.

Materials needed:
white handkerchief

Directions:
To make the mouse use a medium-sized handkerchief with a plain edge. Lay it in your lap or on a flat surface with one corner toward you (Fig. 1). Now fold the hanky in half, bringing point A to point C, so that a triangle is formed (Fig. 2). Fold corner D into the center of the bottom edge and do the same with corner B so that corners B and D touch (Fig. 3). Keeping the hanky in the same position, make a one-inch fold up from the bottom and smooth. Make a second fold and smooth. Now make a third fold (Fig. 4). Now turn the handkerchief over, keeping the point CA at the top (Fig. 5). Bring the two little rolls E and F into the center so that they touch (Fig. 6). Holding the little rolls firmly, turn them up one fold from the bottom toward point CA. Now turn point CA down and tuck it into the space between the fold and the two rolls (Fig. 7). The rolls are now completely covered (Fig. 8). This completes the folds.

Now pick up the hanky roll, keeping it in the same position as it was on the flat surface. Slip your thumbs into the slot (Fig. 9). Holding the hanky firmly, begin rolling the hanky away from you as you would roll up a pair of socks. On the third roll, two little tails will pop out (Fig. 10). Take one of these ends and, holding the "tail" so that the point is up, roll gently between the fingers until you have two tiny little rolls which you can tie in a knot to make the head and ears. Now the mouse is completed (Fig. 11).

Lay the hanky mouse in the palm of your left hand with the head pointing up the arm. Curve your fingers so that they are touching the roll. The tail hangs out over the fingers (Fig. 12). Cover the mouse lightly with the right hand, making a stroking motion. As your hand moves from your wrist down toward your fingertips, make a quick motion with the fingers of the left hand. The mouse will be propelled up your arm. The mouse will appear to be alive. If you occasionally use enough force to let the mouse jump off your arm, the children will shout with glee.

The story: A tale can be created during the folding process by using questions and answers such as the following:

Storyteller: "Do you know what this is?" (Holding up the handkerchief.)

Children: "It's a hanky."

Storyteller: "It could be a tablecloth."

Children: "That's too small for a tablecloth."

Storyteller: "It might be a doll's tablecloth or a tablecloth for a fairy."

When the triangle is folded, the storyteller might ask:

"What does this look like?"

The storyteller may respond:

"Those are all very good guesses! Would you believe that this handkerchief is really a shy little mouse?"

The storyteller then begins to fold the mouse, elaborating on why the mouse is hiding, how the group can try to entice the mouse into appearing, etc. The finale to the story would be when the mouse "comes out of hiding," and moves up the storyteller's arm.¹

EL RATON PANUELO

Este sencillo truco de doblando es encantado por todos los niños y se sienta bien con el programa del raton o para ganar atención errante y alivia inquietud.

Material necesario:

Pañuelo blanco

Direcciones:

Para hacer el raton, usa un pañuelo mediano con la orilla sencilla. Acuestalo en tu regazo o en un superficie llano con la esquina hacia a ti (Fig. 1). Dobla el pañuelo por la mitad, poniendo Punto A a Punto C para la forma de un triangulo (Fig. 2). Dobla la esquina D al centro de la orilla de abajo y has lo mismo con esquina B para que esquinas B y D tocan (Fig. 3). Dejando el pañuelo en el mismo posicion, dobla lo de abajo una pulgada para ariba y alisa. Dobla una segunda vez y alisa. Dobla una tercera vez (Fig. 4).
Ahora, voltea el pañuelo, dejando el punto CA arriba (Fig. 5). Trae los rollos E y F en el centro para que tocen (Fig. 6). Ayudando los rollos voltea los para arriba una (1) doblada por de abajo cerca de punto CA. Ahorra, voltea punto CA abajo y alforzalo en el espacio en medio de la doblado y los dos rollos (Fig. 7). Los rollos estan completamente tapados (Fig. 8). Esto completa las dobladas.

Levanta el rollo de pañuelo, dejandolo en el mismo posicion de cuando estaba en el superficio. Mete tus dedos en la muesca (Fig. 9). Ayudando el pañuelo, empieza a rollar el pañuelo al opuesto de ti, como si iva a doblar un par de calcetines. El el tercer rollo, dos colitas se van a aparecer (Fig. 10). Toma lo de abajo y, ayudando la "colita" para que el punto esta arriba, rollalo en medio de tus dedos hasta que tienes dos rollitos con que puedes ligarlo en nudo para hacer la cabeza y los oídos. Ahorra el raton esta completo (Fig. 11).

Acuesta el raton pañuelo en la palma de tu mano izquierda con la cabeza puntando al brazo (Fig. 12). Dobla tus dedos para que tocan el rollo. La cola esta colgando encima de los dedos (Fig. 12). Tapa el raton ligeramente con la mano derecha, cariciandolo. Cuando tu mano se mueve de la muñeca para abajo hacia a los dedos, has una moción rapida con los dedos de tu mano izquierda. El raton se va empujar sobre tu brazo. El raton se va a mirar vivo. Si usa bastante fuerza poco frecuente para que el raton brinca de tu brazo, los niños van a gritar conjubilo.

La Historia:
Un cuento se puede decir con preguntas y contestas como estos mientras el proceso de doblando:

Cuentista: "Sabes que es esto?" (Ensenando el Pañuelo.)
Niños: "Es un pañuelo."
Cuentista: "Puede ser un mantel."
Niños: "Esta muy chiquito para un mantel."
Cuentista: "Puede ser un mantel para una muñeca o una hada."

Cuando el triangulo esta doblado, el cuentista puede preguntar:
"Como que se mira esto?"

Unos niños pueden decir: "Una bufanda para muñecas," "Un pañal," "Mitad de un sandwich de queso," o bien real, "Un triangulo."

El cuentista puede responder:
"Esos son buen adivinaciones! Sabes que este pañuelo es un raton timido?"

El cuentista empieza a doblar el raton, explica porque el raton se esta escondiendo, como el grupo puede seducir el raton para que se aparece. El final de la historia puede ser cuando el raton "sale de estar escondido," y se mueve sobre el brazo del cuentista.
POEM: ABRACADABRA

Materials needed:

drawings of a black horse, a white horse and a zebra (each on a separate piece of paper).

Directions:

Enlarge the drawings of the black horse, the white horse and the zebra. (Use a duplicating machine with a zoom.) Show the white horse and the black horse to your audience. Put one on top of the other and tear the paper several times. Fold up the torn pieces and unfold the zebra intact. (The zebra picture is folded in thirds and thirds again behind the horse of your choice.)

Poem: "Abracadabra" by Mary Ann Hoberman

Abracadabra

The zebra is light

Is it black striped with white?
Is it white striped with black?
Is it striped from the front?
Is it striped from the back?

Abracadabra
It's ink over snow
Abracadabra
It's snow over ink
Abracadabra
Does anyone know?
Abracadabra

SONGS: IN ENGLISH AND SPANISH

SONG: "MY KITTEN" by Elizabeth Vollrath
Sung to: "Sing a Song of Sixpence"

I have a little kitten,
She's black and white and gray.
When I try to cuddle her,
She always wants to play.
So I drag a piece of yarn
Across the kitchen floor.
She thinks it is a little mouse
To chase right out the door.

CANCION: "MI GATITO"
A cantar: "Canta una cancion de dinero"

Yo tengo un gatito,
Negro, blanco, gris.
Cuando quiero abrazarlo,
Quiere hugar.
Arrasto un hilito
Por el pizo de la cocina.
Piensa que es un raton
Para correr por la puerta.

SONG: "WHO SAYS 'MOO, MOO'?"
Sung to: "The Muffin Man"

Oh, do you know who says moo, moo,
Says moo, moo, says moo, moo?
Oh, do you know who says moo, moo?
The milk cow says moo, moo.
Oh, do you know who gives us milk,
Gives us milk, gives us milk?
Oh do you know who gives us milk?
The milk cow gives us milk.

CANCION: "QUIEN DICE 'MOO, MOO'?"
A cantar: "El Hombre Mollete"

Oh, sabres quien dice moo, moo, moo,
Dice moo, moo, dice moo?
Oh, sabres quien dice moo, moo?
La vaca dice moo.
Oh, sabres quien nos dala leche,
Nos da la leche, nos da le leche?
Oh, sabres quien nos da la leche?
La vaca nos da la leche.

FINGERPLAY: CAT AND MOUSE

Materials needed: none

A little mouse went creeping, creeping, creeping into the house.
(Start with right hand at right foot, fingers creep up right leg and around to the back.)
The big black cat went creeping, creeping, creeping into the house.
(Fingers of left hand creep up the left leg and around to the back.)
The big black cat went creeping, creeping, creeping into the house.
(Fingers of left hand creep up the left leg and around to the back. Pause.)
Away ran the mouse – out of the house!
UN JUEGO CON LAS MANOS: EL GATO Y UN RATON

Material necesario:

nada

Un raton chico se fue gatiando, gatiando, gatiando dentro de la casa.
(Empieza con la mano derecha en el pie derecho, los dedos moviendo para arriba sobre la pierna derecha y alrededor para atrás.)

El gato negro se fue gatiando, gatiando, gatiando dentro de la casa.
(Dedos de la mano izquierda se mueven para arriba sobre la pierna izquierda y alrededor para atrás.)

El raton se fue corriendo a fuera de la casa!
(Mano derecha se escabulle.)

ACTIVITY: LAMB PUPPETS

Materials needed: Paper plates
Cotton balls
Glue
Felt-tip markers
Popsicle sticks

Directions: Set out paper plates, cotton balls, glue and felt-tip markers. Have the children glue cotton ball "wool" around the rims of their paper plates. When they have finished, let them draw lamb faces on the center of their plates with felt-tip markers. Attach Popsicle stick handles to the backs of the plates to make lamb puppets.

ACTIVIDAD: TITERES DE BORREGO

Material necesario: Platos de papel
Algodon
Goma
Marcadores
Palo de Popsicle

Direcciones: Arregla platos de papel, algodon, goma y marcadores. Has los nihos que pegan algodon "lana" alrededor de los platos. Cuando acaban, dibujan una cara de borrego en medio de los platos con los marcadores. Pega el palo de Popsicle a la espalda del plato para hacer titeres de borrego.
ACTIVITY: GRAZING COWS

Materials needed:
- Cow shapes (from white and black construction paper)
- Construction paper (blue)
- Bottles of glue
- Grass

Directions:
Cut cow shapes out of construction paper. Give each child one of the cow shapes and a piece of blue construction paper. Collect several bottles of glue. Then take the children outside and have them sit in a grassy area. Talk about how cows like to eat the grass that grows in their fields. Have the children glue their cow shapes to their papers. Then let them pick blades of grass for their cows to "graze" on.

ACTIVIDAD: VACAS PARA PASTAR

Material necesario:
- Formas de vacas (papel blanco y negro de construcción)
- Papel azul de construcción
- Botellas de goma
- La hierba

Dirrecciones:
Corta formas de vacas de papel de construcción. Dale a cada niño una de las formas de vaca y un pedazo de papel azul de construcción. Colecta botellas de goma. Luego lleva los niños afuera y sientalos en la hierba. Habla como las vacas les gustan comer la hierba que crece en el campo. Deja los niños pegar sus formas de vaca en el papel. Luego dejanlos que cojen una hoja de hierba y que los pegan en el papel para que las vacas "pastan."

Papa’s yarn about a giant panda makes James long for one of his own.
DRAW-AND-TELL STORY: THE MISSING FRIEND

One day, Susie took her friend Ming Lo to the park. "You wait here," she said. "I'm going to go and buy a balloon from the balloon man."

[This is the balloon she bought.]

When Susie got back to where she left Ming Lo, she was gone! But there was a butterfly fluttering about [this is the butterfly], and Susie asked her, "Do you know where Ming Lo is?" The butterfly shook her antennae and said, "No, I don't even know WHAT Ming Lo is. You could try asking the Duck. She loves to gossip, knows everything that's going on in the park. She lives over by the pond. It's worth a try."

[Susie walked across the park to the pond where she found Duck chatting with some pigeons.]
"Do you know where Ming Lo is?" Susie asked. "No, my dear, I'm afraid I don't know where Ming Lo is," replied the Duck, shaking her beak. "In fact, I don't even know WHAT Ming Lo is. You might try the Frog who lives on the other side of the pond. I thought I heard him croaking about something a bit earlier."

[ Susie walked around and around and around the pond until she finally found the Frog practicing one-legged leaps.]

"Do you know where Ming Lo is?" Susie asked. "Nope!" croaked the Frog, shaking his round green head. "Don't know WHAT Ming Lo is. Nope!" The Frog thought a moment, then croaked, "Try the owl. Big tree over there."

[ Susie walked to the other side of the park, where she saw a big oak tree. She walked around and around and around the tree until she finally spotted the owl asleep on a branch.]

"Do you know where Ming Lo is?" Susie asked. The owl didn't answer. He was fast asleep.
Susie heard a noise coming from another branch of the tree. "Ming Lo!" she cried. Susie looked closely at the branch and found a bushy-tailed squirrel, but no Ming Lo. "Do you know where Ming Lo is?" she asked the squirrel. "No, no, no!" chattered the squirrel, shaking his tail. "Sorry, sorry, sorry. Don't know where, don't know what!" [Susie walked back to where she had left Ming Lo.]

"Did Ming Lo come back?" she asked the butterfly, who was still there. "I didn't see any Ming Lo," said the butterfly. "But wait here a minute and I will see what I can see." She fluttered up into the air and back down again. "There is something coming across the park," she said, "but I don't know if it's a Ming Lo."

Susie ran in the direction that the butterfly had pointed. Sure enough, there was Ming Lo walking along carrying a paper bag. "Ming Lo! Where have you been?" cried Susie. "I've been looking all over the park for you!" "I got us a treat," said Ming Lo. She reached into the bag and brought out two chocolate-covered doughnuts.

["One for you. And one for me."]

[And she smiled a big smile.]
Susie is happy that she knows where Ming Lo is. Do you know WHAT Ming Lo is?

CHANT: "PANDA BEAR, PANDA BEAR"

Materials needed: none

Directions: As the group recites the chant let the children pretend to be panda bears and act out the movements (giving themselves a big hug at the end).

Chant:
Panda Bear, Panda Bear, turn around,
Panda Bear, Panda Bear, reach up high,
Panda Bear, Panda Bear, touch the sky.
Panda Bear, Panda Bear, touch your shoe.
Panda Bear, Panda Bear, I love you!

POEM: "THE PANDA"

Materials needed: none

Poem: "The Panda" by William Jay Smith

A lady who lived in Uganda
Was outrageously fond of her Panda:
With her Chinchilla Cat,
It ate grasshopper fat
On an air-conditioned veranda.

ACTIVITY: BEAR COOKIES

Materials needed: Cookie dough
Bear-shaped cookie cutter
Frosting (white and black)
Plastic knives
Black jelly beans (optional)

Directions: Prepare cookie dough, then stamp out cookies using the cutter (older children may wish to help you with the cookie cutter). After baking and cooling the cookies, let the children decorate them. Have the children spread the white frosting first, then spread black frosting on the panda's ears and paws. The children may add two black jelly beans to the cookie for the panda's eyes.

Note: Check with a local bakery to find out where you can purchase black food coloring paste.

BLACK AND WHITE AND READ ALL OVER

Preschool – Grade 1

Books

The following books are recommended for their black and white illustrations:

Ets, Marie Hall. In the Forest.
The animals join a young boy as he walks through the forest blowing his horn.

Relates the alphabet adventures of a rabbit; includes a song.

Hoban, Tana. Shapes and Things.
Photographs, created without a camera, of familiar household objects.

Black and white illustrations and text record the sights on a day trip to the city and back home again to the country. The trip to the city is read from front to back and the return trip, from back to front, upside down.

Kovacs, Deborah. Moonlight on the River.
Sneaking away from home on a midnight fishing voyage, two brothers find themselves struggling to keep their boat afloat in the middle of a violent river storm.

McCloskey, Robert. Blueberries for Sal.
Little Sal and Little Bear both lose their mothers while eating blueberries and almost end up with the other's mother.

Van Allsburg, Chris. Ben's Dream.
On a terrifically rainy day, Ben has a dream in which he and his house float by the monuments of the world, half submerged in flood water.

When the dog he is caring for runs away from Alan into the forbidden garden of a retired dog-hating magician, a spell seems to be cast over the contrary dog.

Van Allsburg, Chris. Jumanji.
Left on their own for an afternoon, two bored and restless children find more excitement than they bargained for in a mysterious and mystical jungle adventure board game.

Zion, Gene. Harry, the Dirty Dog.
When a white dog with black spots runs away from home, he gets so dirty his family doesn't recognize him as a black dog with white spots.
The following books feature black and white items:

(Chalk)

Bulla, Clyde Robert. The Chalk Box Kid.
Nine-year-old Gregory's house does not have room for a garden, but he creates a surprising and very different garden in an unusual place.

Photographic puzzles follow an escaped pet mouse through a school while depicting such common school items as scissors, paper, books and chalk. Readers are challenged to identify the objects as seen from the mouse's point of view.

(Blackboard)

Alexander, Martha. And My Mean Old Mother Will Be Sorry, Blackboard Bear.
A little boy's adventures in the forest with his friend, Blackboard Bear, come to an end when he decides home is more comfortable than a cave.

Alexander, Martha. We're in Big Trouble, Blackboard Bear.
Anthony's bear learns a hard lesson about leaving other people's things alone.

(Piano keys)

Schick, Eleanor. A Piano for Julie.
Having heard "Someday we'll get a piano" for a very long time, Julie is delighted when someday really comes.

Titus, Eve. Anatole and the Piano.
Anatole, a music-loving mouse, plays the miniature piano in the museum, saving a concert for the orphans of Paris by removing a broken string of pearls from the piano.

Wooding, Sharon. Arthur's Christmas Wish.
Arthur's fairy godfather grants him his wish to play two pieces on the piano well, but what is he to do when he is asked to play all the music for the school Christmas pageant?

(Chess pieces)

Sutcliff, Rosemary. Chess-Dream in a Garden.
The White King – with his queen, bishops, knights, and pawns – faces the Red Horde in a chess-like battle.
Gibbons, Gail. Deadline! : From News to Newspaper. Examines the diverse behind-the-scenes activities of a typical working day at a small daily newspaper, from morning preparations for meeting the deadline to the moment the afternoon paper leaves the presses.

O'Neill, Catharine. Mrs. Dunphy's Dog. Mrs. Dumphy's dog discovers that he can read, and develops a taste for tabloid newspapers.

De Paola, Tomie. Sing, Pierrot, Sing. Simple Pierrot dreams of his saucy sweetheart Columbine in this original story featuring the traditional comic characters.

Asch, Frank. Bear Shadow. Bear tries everything he can think of to get rid of his shadow.

Mahy, Margaret. The Boy With Two Shadows. A young boy who agrees to take care of a witch's shadow while she is on vacation finds that having two shadows creates some unexpected problems.

Narahashi, Keiko. I Have a Friend. A small boy tells about his friend who lives with him, who follows him, who sometimes is very tall, but who disappears when the sun goes down—his shadow.
THE BIRTHDAY VISITOR MYSTERY

Materials needed:
Blank puzzle grid
Marker
Dry erase board OR Chalkboard

Directions:
1. Prepare the dry erase board or chalkboard in advance by drawing the blank puzzle grid on it. (see next page) Add the list of words to be filled in:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THUMB</th>
<th>BLA CK</th>
<th>BEAR</th>
<th>RED</th>
<th>RAR E</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>CHINA</td>
<td>BAMBOO</td>
<td>WHITE</td>
<td>PAW</td>
<td>DAVID</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

2. Explain that each of the blanks in the puzzle will be filled with one of the words on the list. When reading the story, stop at the blanks in the text and ask the children to guess which word would fit. When the group has made their selection, ask them to guess where the word would fit in the puzzle. Continue this process until all of the words have been used.

3. Write the letters appearing within the circles in the puzzle on the board. Explain that when these letters are unscrambled, the identity of the mystery guest will be revealed.
Story:

Fred was so excited! On the morning of his birthday party, a mysterious letter arrived, addressed to him. The letter read:

"Dear Fred,
Happy Birthday to you from a secret admirer! I will be coming to your party this afternoon after traveling all the way from the far-off land of _______. Can you guess who I am before I arrive at your house? Here are some clues to help you:

Father_________ discovered my great-great-grandfather in the forest many years ago. Some people think I'm a __________, but I'm more closely related to a raccoon. My fur is colored__________ and __________. A cousin of mine has fur that is________ and a long ringed tail. My favorite type of food is _______. When I eat, I use my extra _______on my __________to hold my food. Not too many of my family remain in the world, so I guess you can call me a_________fellow!

I will arrive in time to help you celebrate your special day. See you soon!"

Do you know who Fred's visitor is?!

P A N D A SHADOW POEM

Materials needed:
- Squares of paper
- Felt strips
- Marker
- Glue
- Flannelboard

Directions: Write the initial letters of the lined in the poem below on separate squares of paper. Back the squares with felt strips. Then place the letters on a flannelboard to spell "shadow" as you read the poem to the children.

Poem:

Sun is shining, let's go for a walk,
Hurry outside and around the block.
At your side walks a little friend, too,
Does the very same things you do.
Open the door and go inside—
Where, oh, where does my shadow friend hide?2

SHADOW SONG

Sung to: "Skip to My Lou"

Materials needed: none

Dance, dance, just like me,
Dance, dance, just like me,
Dance, dance, just like me,
Little shadow, just like me.

(Additional verses: "Raise your hand, just like me; Kick your foot, just like me; Bend way down, just like me; Flap your arms, just like me."3)

PIANO KEYS CREATE-A-WORD GAME

Materials needed: Dry erase board
Marker
OR Chalkboard
Chalk
Flip chart
Marker
Diagram of piano keyboard

Directions:
Introduce the piano keyboard to the group, explaining that each of the white keys belongs to a series of notes, from A to G. Write the letters A, B, C, D, E, F, and G on the board or paper. Ask the group if they can make up words using these letters. Explain that each letter can only be used once in each word. Here are some words:

BAD
CAB

Can your group think of more?\(^i\)

GAME: PANDA'S TAIL

Materials needed: none

Directions:
Players line up, hands on shoulders of the player ahead. The first player becomes the head of the panda, the last the tail. The players in the middle are the body of the panda. The leader calls out, "Yee, uhr, sahn!" (One, two, three in Chinese)
At the count of "sahn", the head tries to catch the tail. If the head catches the tail, the tail becomes the next head. If the panda "breaks" in two, the one causing the break becomes the tail.

ACTIVITY

BIG BEAR THAT SWALLOWED A TITLE
(all ages)

Supplies:

- Butcher paper or any wide paper for the bear outline
- Markers
- Construction paper, strips of paper,
  Scissors, staples, glue or tape

Program Description:

Lay the large piece of paper on the floor and trace a large bear's outline and then cut out. You will need two of these outlines. Draw facial features on one outline and hang on the wall for children to decorate. For each visit to the library, allow children to attach one piece of colored paper or yarn to the bear, and continue until the outline is completed. Have children write book titles on strips of paper to feed the bear. (Use a fish shape.) After the first outline is completed, remove from the wall and attach second outline for the bear's back, leaving a place where titles may be fed to it. Watch the bear grow. It must be supported in order to stand. This is silly fun for all ages and encourages children to read more books to make the bear really fat.

ACTIVITY

BEAR PAW BOP

For this game, players must first make bear paws from tagboard, with elastic attached that they may slip their hands under. Each player should have two paws. Players try to keep a balloon in the air and not touch the floor by bopping it with their paws.
BEARS

FOLLOW-UP IDEAS

Guess what I am? This guessing game uses the sounds and motions of different animals. Toddlers like to guess, and they like to act out the different animals with you. Start with a picture book about farm animals to give you ideas and to reinforce the actions with a picture. These are also more familiar to your child.

Watch for bears when shopping or when travelling anywhere, look at magazine and books. This activity is fun since bear logos are plentiful, it helps your toddler become more observant.

CRAFTS

KITCHEN CLAY

Materials:
- 2 cups baking soda
- 1 cup cornstarch
- 1 1/3 cups water
- pinch of salt

This recipe feels almost like real clay. Put all the ingredients in a saucepan and mix well. Stir over medium heat until the mixture bubbles and thickens. Turn out onto a board or waxed paper and let cool. Knead until smooth. Wrap in a damp towel and place in the refrigerator for 10-15 minutes. Help your child learn how to squeeze, roll pat, and make balls from clay to put them together to make many different objects.

Store the clay in a tightly closed plastic bag in the refrigerator, and add a few drops of water to the bag to keep it from hardening. To preserve a special creation, let the object harden in the air for a day or two. Paint tempera or acrylic paints and cover with shellac. The result: a work of art!

ANIMAL'S DANCING FEET

Materials:
- Corrugated cardboard
- String
- Construction paper
- Crayons or Small Threadable beads
- Scissors
- Dowel
- Magic markers

Cut an 8" circle from a piece of corrugated cardboard. Cut two additional 8" circles out of construction paper. Draw an animal face and back of head on the construction paper and glue to either side of the corrugated cardboard. Be sure the wavy design of the cardboard is vertical.

Punch 2 holes towards the bottom 1/4" of the circle. Make the holes about 1/2" from the edge, and equidistant from each other (see diagram.) Thread and tie one end of the string in each hole. Tie various colored beads to the other end of the string to resemble feet. Leave enough thread at the bottom on which to glue a construction paper foot, if desired. Stick a 12" dowel into the wavy groove of the cardboard at least 5" up so that it resembles a lollipop. Glue place. Turn your animal from side to side with the dowel to make its "feet" dance.
October 27 is the birthday of President Theodore Roosevelt, born in 1858. In 1902, while the president was in Mississippi, a bear cub wandered into his camp. Teddy was a hunter, but he refused to shoot the young animal. A popular cartoonist drew a picture of the story.

The cartoon gave Morris Michtom, a candy seller and toymaker in Brooklyn, a good idea. He and his wife made a stuffed toy bear to sell. They put a sign on it that said "Teddy's Bear."

The rest is" history," almost everyone wanted one. Mr. Michtom founded the Ideal Toy Company to make all the bear folks ordered, and over the years teddy bears became a cherished part of childhood all over the world.

Give your teddy bear a place of honor today, and maybe a fresh ribbon around his neck for the occasion.

In your school or library invite "all good bears" and "some bad" to bring their favorite person to celebrate the day. Begin the celebration with a teddy bear parade. March and dance to the music "Teddy Bears Picnic."

Invite staff or community leaders to judge the bears. Make sure each bear in attendance gets a prize. (largest, brownest, best loved, most worn, etc.) Make ribbons from decorated stick on dots and crepe paper.

As each participant arrives have volunteers paint bear noses on them and give them a bear shaped name tag. Use tempera paint, or face paint for the noses. Be sure to include the staff in the face painting, they wouldn't want to be left out. Encourage them to bring their teddy bears also.

Bear stories should be a part of the day, and have the participants "GO ON A BEAR HUNT".

For treats on this "Beary Fun Day" serve blueberry muffins, bear shaped sugar cookies, or honey cakes.

I have celebrated this day annually at several libraries for many years. It is a day that patrons of all ages will look forward to and participate. My experience has been that as word spreads, the community really looks forward to participating.

DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR TEDDY BEAR IS?
MAKING TRACKS

Suggested level: All Ages

Special Note: Observing and collecting animal tracks and footprints is fascinating for kids. Some easily found tracks include rabbits, ducks, frogs, mice, squirrels, skunks, raccoons, invertebrates, such as crickets and centipedes, and cows. Note how many toes the animal has, whether the animal has toes or a hoof, the size and shape of the track, and the distance between tracks. This program will attract older children.

FOLLOW-UP IDEAS

* Use any of the field guide identification books for identifying tracks you find.

* After a rain, when the ground is soft or slightly muddy, look for animal tracks and make plaster casts of them. Basic Techniques involve making a collar to put around the track from a strip of cardboard held with a paperclip or from a tin can with the top and bottom removed, or from a half-gallon milk carton cut into rings. Slowly fill the collar with plaster of Paris (quick drying works best). Let the cast partially set, then dig up with the collar intact. After it completely dries, remove all the dirt and clean the cast. Note that this method creates a raised cast rather than the depression made by the animal in the soft ground.

* Observe animal tracks with sand casting. This is an easy activity because the only material need is a tray full of damp sand. Simply have children move a pet through the sand. Suggested animals include a rabbit, kitten, puppy, snake or insect.

* Have children create an observation notebook to record the animal tracks they see. The notebook can be filled with children's sketches or photographs of the tracks. Suggest that notes include exact measurements, distance between tracks, the date and place where the tracks were found.

* Use the following information from "Walk Like a Bear" from Nature Crafts For Kids that has been reprinted with permission. See following page.
MAKING TRACKS

Walk Like a Bear

Animal tracks tell about animals. The distance between tracks and the impression show which part of the foot made the track, whether the animal was walking or running, and what kind of stride the animal has. Walking styles create certain patterns of tracks on the ground. There are four basic styles. They are diagonal walkers, pacers, bounders, and hoppers. The best way to learn the pattern created by these walking styles is to get down on all fours and pretend to be the animals. Hands become front feet and knees are rear feet. If this is done on soft sand or ground a track pattern is visible.

Diagonal walkers (cats, dogs, hoofed animals such as deer) make a nearly straight, left-foot, right-foot pattern. "Walk" by moving right front foot and left rear foot at the same time. Then move left front foot and right rear foot. Pacers include bears, porcupines, raccoons, opossums, and beavers. They leave a close, zigzag pattern as they waddle when they walk. To walk like a bear, move the right front and right rear "feet" at the same time, then the left front and left rear, and so on.

Bounders include most members of the weasel family. They make an evenly spaced boxlike pattern, with left and right paw prints pretty much side by side as they "bounce" from one place to another. "Walk" by moving both the front "feet," forward at the same time then quickly bring the rear feet up just behind the front feet. Continue in the same manner.

Hoppers (rabbits and rodents) move by jumping ahead with the rear feet, coming down on the front feet, and then pulling the rear feet in front of and to either side of the front feet to push off again. This one is hard to imitate! Reach out with the front feet (hands), then bring knees up ahead of and to the outside of arms. This is hard to repeat.

ANIMAL TRACK PAPERWEIGHT

Materials:
Plaster of Paris
Jug of water
Large can or cut-down jug to mix plaster in and stick to stir

Stir the plaster with a stick
When it gets thick, pour it over a track. Let harden, then gently lift up the plaster cast.

CILA MONSTER
IF YOU GIVE A MOUSE A COOKIE
Laura Joffe Numeroff

Summary: When a little boy gives a mouse a cookie, he sets off a chain of astonishing events in this truly delightful picture book.

Audience: Preschool to grade 2 (ages 3 to 7)

Type: Read-aloud

Procedure: The pictures in this book are so captivating that it would be a shame not to share them with your audience. The text is brief, so read very slowly and make sure all the children can see the pictures. This story has a built-in-rhyme that is very easy to pick up after reading once or twice. Introduce the story by asking the children if they have a favorite kind of cookie. Listen to some of the answers and comment on them. Lead into the story by saying one of your favorite kinds of cookies is chocolate chip like the mouse in the story If You Give a Mouse a Cookie.

Preparation Time:

* Story—5 to 10 minutes
* Optional Activities
  - Milk and Cookie Feast—5 to 10 minutes (unless you bake the cookies from scratch)
  - Cookie Decorating—15 to 25 minutes
  - Where’s the Cookie?—5 to 10 minutes

OPTIONAL ACTIVITIES
MILK AND COOKIE FEAST

As a tie-in to the story, treat the children to a milk and chocolate chip cookies feast while they discuss what they might have done in the little boy’s place.

Materials Needed: • chocolate chip cookies
• small glasses of milk

COOKIE DECORATING

If you have a small group of children, let the children decorate cookies with faces.

Materials Needed: • cookies (sugar cookies work best)
• decorating materials (including icing, sprinkles, colored sugar, and assorted small candies)

Giveaways: Chocolate chip cookies

PROGRAM IDEAS

PANDA FORUM
Do a puppet show. Either make or purchase puppets of some of the endangered species. After researching various species, put together a dialog explaining to children how each species became endangered.

SEEK AND FIND
Using an "Animal Tracks" book, select animals which are endangered. Enlarge tracks, using poster board, cut out several sets of tracks: also draw or enlarge a picture of the animal. Divide into groups. Give each group a list of items to find along the trail (all items will pertain to a certain animal!) After reaching the end of the trail, children must choose a picture of the animal which best describes the items they have gathered. Each group that correctly guesses their animal wins a prize. This may be done inside. It's more fun in a park area outside.

PANDORA 'S BOX
Have Library Friends or a Civic Organization purchase or donate money for a large stuffed Panda. Place Panda bookmarks randomly in books throughout the children's area. Have top of bookmark project slightly above top of book, not too far or it becomes too easy. Each time a bookmark is found the child draws a question from the Panda Bowl. He or she then goes to encyclopedias, books, maps, etc. which have been set aside for this activity to find the answers. Once the answer is found, the child gives the answer to the person in charge. If the answer is correct, the child's name goes into a drawing for the Giant Panda. All questions pertain to endangered species.

PANDA FACTS
Using encyclopedias, animal books, etc. find out all you can about Pandas. Taking this information, break it into categories:

- Lifestyle
- Eating Habits
- Habitat
- Lifespan
- Etc.

Collect items such as bamboo, pictures, 4 oz. furry item (to represent weight of Panda at birth), bamboo shoots, etc. Divide children into groups. This can be a touch-taste-feel program. Let each child touch, taste, or feel items. This will give them an idea of what it's like to be a Panda.

THE GIANT PANDA
Size: Adults, 5 feet, standing erect weighing 250-265 pounds
Distribution: Southwestern China in mountainous areas
Diet: Mainly bamboo, supplemented with fruit, flowers, grass, fungi, bark, berries. Must spend about 16 hours a day eating.
Order: Carnivore

| Habits: | Pandas are solitary animals.
Pandas have developed large crushing molars and a grasping "thumb" on their forepaws to assist in eating bamboo.
Pandas are good climbers.
Pandas do not hibernate.
Habitat loss is the main reason for the decline in pandas.
Pandas have retractable claws, rather like cats.
Usually only one panda cub is born. It is 6 inches long at birth weighing 3 or 4 ounces, and is blind.
It takes 25-45 pounds of food to feed a panda each day
Pandas are not related to bears, but are most closely related to raccoons. |
Summer Reading for Young Adults

Young adults, ages 12-18, or in grades 7-12, are generally not included in youth summer reading programs unless they participate with the younger age group. Adolescents often lose interest in reading and library use if they are not encouraged as they move away from the Children's Room. They need a special reading program specifically geared toward teen interests that will promote reading and get them to use the library on their own. Many libraries have had successful programs for this age group judging by positive feedback from Arizona libraries that have done programs and by articles appearing in professional literature. (See bibliography for a selected list.)

I. General Goals and Objectives

A. To promote reading and library use among teens by
   1. offering incentives.
   2. providing programs for fun and information.
   3. creating booklists and bibliographies of interest.

B. To increase young adult participation in the library by:
   1. offering volunteer opportunities to work in the library.
   2. asking teens to help in the planning and production of programs and activities for their peers.

II Establishing a Young Adult Programs

A. Establish a Theme
   1. Must be appropriate to the age group. Talk to teens themselves and be conscious of current trends in selecting a theme. Read current teen magazines to gather ideas.
   2. It is preferable to coordinate the teen theme with the juvenile theme, if possible,

B. Design a Program
   1. Devise a procedure and rules to log reading by:
      a. Pages read
      b. Minutes read
      c. Book reviews (entered onto computer or kept in file for peer reader advisory).
      d. Other; use your imagination!
   2. Decide upon appropriate incentives for teens.
      a. Fast food coupons.
      b. Theme park passes.
      c. Record, video, bookstore gift certificates.
      d. Shopping mall gift certificates.
      e. Bowling, batting, video arcade, skating passes.
      f. Clothing and jewelry.
      g. Hair care salons.
      h. Books and posters.
   3. Decide how purchased or donated incentives will be given out:
      a. Upon registering.
      b. As they turn in reading logs.
      c. Weekly drawings.
PROGRAMS FOR YOUNG ADULTS

d. Grand prize drawing.
e. Some/all of the above.

4. Activities:
a. Must be appropriate to the age level.
b. Possible choices:
   - Baby-sitting workshop
   - College Financial Aid
   - SAT Preparatory Workshop
   - Sexuality information for parents and teens
   - Junior High preparation/introduction
   - Science fiction/fantasy illustration
   - Role playing games or events:
     - medieval crafts, costumes, swordplay
   - Contests/puzzles that tie into theme.
   - Cartooning
   - T-shirt design
   - Art shows
   - Career exploration
   - Creative writing
   - Grooming and fashion
   - Calligraphy
   - Sign language
   - Talent shows
   - Baseball card collecting

III  Budget

A. Locate Sponsors to help with funding:
   1. Friends of the Library
   2. Corporations and community businesses
   3. Grants
   4. Library budget
   5. Combination of above

B. Minimize Expenditures
   1. Incentives
      a. Ask businesses to sponsor the program by giving coupons, gift certificates, or merchandise.
      a1. Local businesses are usually more responsive than large national chains.
      a2. Start early - sometimes it takes a few months to get a response.
      a3. Donations should be acknowledged in publicity wherever possible.
      a4. Consider sending a token of the program with your thank-you. (Mesa Public Library sent a decal saying "We Support Reading at Mesa Public Library.")
      b. If library policy permits, you can also purchase incentives.

   2. Printing
      a. Check with printers or newspapers willing to print for little or no fee.

   3. Staff
      a. Hire temporary staff if funds are available.
      b. Use teen volunteers to administer program.
IV. Publicity

A. The program must be promoted primarily to teens. Some suggestions:
1. Booktalks in middle, junior, and senior high schools.
3. Cable television bulletin boards.
4. Community bulletin boards.
5. PA announcements in schools.
6. Displays, posters, and flyers in the school libraries.
7. Inserts in community mailings.

B. The program must also be promoted to parents

Scavenger Hunt Rules and Guidelines

1. There are eight scavenger hunts -- one for each week of the Summer Reading Program. Each file is labelled for each week. Feel free to give out previous scavenger hunts if anyone wants one.

2. One prize per person per week. Record person's name on sheet in folder as receiving a prize.

3. Answers are in the folder for that week. Hunters can find answers in any book or computer they want (as long as it's the right answer!) I will offer suggestions on sources for each question on the answer sheet.

4. This is for fun, so feel free to help as much or as little as you want. Use your own judgment on rewarding prizes -- but it would be good if the participants at least tried to answer all the questions.
1. Read each question carefully to determine what kind of information is needed.

2. Think about the question. What is the subject? What kind of book or computer search do you need? Sometimes the answer can be found in the encyclopedia, almanac, dictionary, computer catalog or other reference book.

3. Not there? Maybe you need a special subject reference book or computer search. Check the computer catalog for the subject call number and go to that area in the reference section.

4. If you need help, ask the Young Adult librarian. We can give you clues to get you on the right track. Do not ask the Reference Librarian at the “Ask Here” Desk.

If you are totally stumped, check out the hints on the back panel.

Knock, knock.
Who's there?
Chicken.
Chicken who?
Chicken the oven. I think something's burning.

—from 500 Wacky Knock-Knock Jokes for Kids by Dora Wood

1. Speaking of chickens, Arizona produced 85 million eggs in 1992. How many would each of us get if that number was divided equally among Arizona's population?

2. Will Rogers said that in 1935. He was known as the "cowboy philosopher" because he began his career as a cowboy and rose to world fame as an author and movie star. What is the statement he's best known for?

—Will Rogers

3. Judith Ré, author of Social Savvy, writes that a few foods can be eaten with fingers, including corn on the cob, grapes, and fried chicken. Assuming standard portions are served, how many calories does this finger-lickin' good meal have?

4. You're creating a culinary masterpiece, called Moussé le Disgustulle, and discover the recipe calls for a "magnum" of melted chocolate. Approximately how much melted chocolate is that?

—from Scientific Process Goes Boink by Bill Watterson

5. Which state produces the most pecans?

BONUS: What's the name of that state's bird?
Answers #2

1. 23 eggs. This is based on 1990 population figures for Arizona divided by 85 million eggs.

   Population statistics can be found in the World Almanac, Statistical Abstracts of the U.S. (at reference desk), and in Population Abstract of the US (R317.3 P819P). All three list the population at 3,665,228.

   However, the World Book Encyclopedia lists a different number for Arizona population so expect that answers may vary.

2. There are two possible answers.

   "I never met a man I didn't like." Listed in World Book Encyclopedia as his most famous quote, and "All I know is what I read in the papers." Listed in Familiar Quotations, available in reference and adult nonfiction.

   Basically, if Will Rogers said it, count it as a right answer.

3. About 300 calories.

   Fried chicken drumstick: 120 cals.
   Grapes (1 cup): 58 cals.
   Corn on the cob: 120 cals.

   This can be found by looking up calories in the computer subject search and going to that Dewey number (641.1042) in the reference section. There are many books there that will help.

4. About 50 ounces.

   This can be found in any dictionary. It can also be found by looking up weights and measures as a subject search in the computer and going to that area in reference (389-389.1).

5. Georgia.

   E stands for Encyclopedia and World Book is right in Children's Reference. However, the Encyclopedia Americana gets fancy and lists Georgia first in cultivated trees, and Texas and Louisiana first in wild tree production.

   So accept these answers if someone has them.

   BONUS: Brown Thrasher. Also in the encyclopedia under "Georgia."
1. Read each question carefully to determine what kind of information is needed.

2. Think about the question. What is the subject? What kind of book or computer search do you need? Sometimes the answer can be found in the encyclopedia, almanac, dictionary, computer catalog or other reference book.

Answers to #5

1. Possible Answers: Little Brown Bat, Fruit Bat, Big Brown Bat, Pipistrelle.

   Answers can by found by looking in a book about bats (the computer lists several in JUV 599.4 section) or look in encyclopedia.

2. Fighter or Protector (or Protected)
   Could also use variation "Gerda"

   Answers can be found in books on names (929.44). The hint refers to the book The Naming Game.

3. Procyon Lotor

   GRZI spells Grzimek in Adult Reference. Look up Raccoon, North American Mammals.

4. Yes. The house mouse that lives out of doors eats insects and plants.

   Can be found in Grzimek’s and World Book Encyclopedia.

5. The Kitti’s hog-nosed bat, also called the Bumblebee bat, weighs 0.06 - 0.07 ounce.

   This is found in Guinness Book of World Records.

BONUS: The Cheetah, or Hunting Leopard. (found in same place).

Fill out the application attached.

WHO
Teens between the ages of 12-18 (twelve-year-olds can volunteer the summer following sixth grade).

WHAT
We depend on teen volunteers to help
  • check out headphones, CDs and games
  • cover books
  • sort books
  • set up for game nights
  • straighten shelves
  • give directions

WHY
Volunteering helps you help others, and...
  • teaches you job skills & values
  • introduces you to other teens from other schools
  • places you in a great spot for doing homework or reading
  • makes you feel good
  • is fun!

Summer Reading Program
Ages 12-18
Get a Clue at the Library

Rules

- For ages 12-18 or grades 7-12.
- Program will run for eight weeks, from Saturday, June 4, 1994 (first day for registration) to Saturday, July 30, 1994. Last day to register is Saturday, July 23.
- Reading time can be counted only after you register.
- You may register only one time and receive one reading log with eight sections for each week of the program.
- Check off or darken each box as you complete 30 minutes of reading. Each week's section has eight boxes totalling 240 minutes (4 hours).
- At least 4 hours of reading is required for each week of the program.
- Bring your completed—all boxes filled in or checked off—weekly section to the library to get a coupon for free activities/food/giveaways and for a chance at the weekly drawing(s).
- Weekly drawings take place on Saturdays. You don't need to be present to win, however that week's section of the reading log must be brought into the library by 2 p.m. Saturday to qualify for that week's drawing.
  NOTE: Due to holiday hours Independence Day weekend (closed July 2-4), the drawing will take place on Friday, July 1. Logs must be in by 2 p.m. that day.
- All non-winning reading log sections are automatically entered in the grand prize drawing.
- Grand prize drawings will take place Saturday, July 30, 1994 at 2 p.m.
- If you complete all eight weeks of the Summer Reading Program you will be eligible for a special prize.
- All prizes must be picked up by August 13, 1994.

PANDA PUPPETS

Materials Needed:
2 old socks, white and brown
2 gloves, black and red black, white and brown felt fabric or tissue paper for stuffing black marker pen
scissors strong glue string buttons

Procedure:

1. To make the giant panda's head, loosely stuff the foot of a white sock with fabric or tissue paper. Put on the black glove and push your gloved hand into the sock, so that your three big fingers can work the head. Tie some string around the neck, but leave it loose enough for your fingers to go in and out.

2. Cut two small holes in the sock below the neck. Pull the thumb and little finger of the glove through the holes to make the panda's arms.

3. Stick two black felt circles to the panda's head for the ears.

4. For the eyes, cut out two black rectangular felt shapes and two white circles. Glue the circles in the middle of the rectangles, draw black dots for pupils, and glue the eyes into position.

5. Finally, stick on a black felt nose and a friendly mouth. Slip your gloved hand into the panda's head and make him nod to say hello.

6. You could use the same method, with a brown sock and a red glove, to make a red panda. Add some brown felt ears and sew on two button eyes. To make the long striped tail, cut a strip of brown felt and mark it with black marker pen. Stick the tail to the brown sock body.

CROW HEADBANDS

Materials Needed: tagboard wing and tail patterns black construction paper strips (1-1/2" x 24")
black construction paper (12" x 18") yellow construction paper scraps scissors
glue stapler

Procedure:

1. Two inches from each end, glue the inside ends of the black strip together illustrated. Leave the last 1/2" unglued. Cut the end so it is rounded.

2. Trace tagboard patterns on black paper. Cut out the wings and tail. Glue the tabs of the wings and tail to the headband.

3. Cut a beak and eyes out of yellow construction paper. Glue beak between the two rounded ends as shown.

4. Wear the crow headband and make crow sounds.

FOX'S DREAM

Materials Needed: Styrofoam meat tray construction paper pieces (4-1/2" x 6") black construction paper (9" x 12") newsprint dull pencils white tempera brushes newspaper
scissors

Procedure:

1. Make viewers by folding and cutting the centers out of the 4-1/2" x 6" rectangles.

2. Holding the viewers ten inches from their eyes, have students look at tall trees so that they do not see the top and the bottom of the trees. Point out that the viewer, like a photograph, captures only a small portion of a scene.

3. Using a dull pencil, lightly draw a winter scene on the meat tray, including part of a large tree, gentle hillsides and a moon. Deepen the impression as you outline your winter scene. Make horizontal lines or dots in the sky.

NOTE: The more impressions, the darker the finished print will appear.

4. Brush the meat tray print with white tempera paint. Wipe off excess paint. Press the design on newsprint. Make desired changes on the meat tray print.

5. Reapply paint and make a print on a sheet of black paper, applying pressure evenly with hands. Carefully pull the meat tray from the paper. Let dry and cut out. Make several prints from the same meat tray and frame if desired.

UNDERWATER SCHOOL OF FISH

Materials Needed: Styrofoam pieces (packed around appliances) or sponges white drawing paper (9” x 12”) watercolors brushes sponges cups of water stamp pads crayons
textured materials for rubbings: rick-rack, crumpled paper towels, lace, netting, etc.

Procedure:

1. Apply a thin layer of water to the drawing paper with a sponge. Add watercolors (blues, greens, and violets) to create an underwater scene.

2. When the paper is completely dry, place textures materials under the paper and gently rub with crayons to create seaweed.

3. Use Styrofoam shapes and stamp pads to create a school of fish swimming in one direction. Make Swimmy by stamping a black fish in a different location.

Note: This activity is inspired by the book, Swimmy, by Leo Lionni.

SPIDER WEB

Materials Needed: liquid starch in small containers black medium-weight yarn large meat trays
blunt-tipped scissors double-stick cellophane tape

Procedure:

1. Put the meat trays, yarn and containers of starch on the art table. When the children come to art, have them take a meat tray and some of the black yarn to weave their spider webs.

2. Have them cut pieces of yarn, dip them into the starch, and lay them on a meat tray.

3. While they are wet, have the children pretend to be spiders and weave their webs by criss-crossing the starched yarn.

4. When the webs are finished, let them dry overnight on the meat trays. When dry, the webs can be lifted from the meat tray and taped to a wall or window.

BLACK BEARS AND BAUBLES

Materials Needed: Bear-shaped cookie cutters
Ingredients for air-hardening dough (salt, water and cornstarch)
Saucepan
Hot plate
Mixing bowl and spoon
Measuring cups
Black tempera paint
Gold ribbon, small beads, pompons, and moveable eyes
Glue

Procedure:

1. Prepare the dough according to the following recipe:
   a. Mix 2 cups salt and 2/3 cup water in a saucepan. Cook at medium heat for 4-5 minutes.
   b. Remove from heat.
   c. In a separate bowl mix 1 cup cornstarch and 1/2 cup water.
   d. Stir into cooked mixture until smooth.
   e. Cook again over medium heat until mixture is thick, stirring constantly.
   f. Take off heat and allow to cool.
   g. Cut into pieces. This dough dries at room temperature.
   h. Keep excess in an airtight container in a cool place, preferably a refrigerator.

2. Cut the gold necklace ribbons and mix the paint ahead of time.

3. Have the children roll out the dough and cut out bear shapes using the cookie cutters. With a pencil, poke holes in the ears of each bear so that the necklace ribbon may be added later.

4. Set the dough bears aside to harden.

5. Have the children paint their bear shapes black. Let the painted bears dry for 1-2 hours.

6. Give the children moveable eyes and pompons for noses and glue these to the bears' faces.

7. Help the children lace the ribbon through the ear holes to form a necklace. Now the children may string beads onto their necklaces for added decoration.

BLACK OWL

Materials Needed: Small paper plates (6" in diameter)
Scissors
Black paint
Paintbrushes
Glue
Small cupcake liners
Black or yellow buttons

Procedure:

1. Cut the plate at the bottom and save the piece for later use.

2. Paint the paper plate with black paint and let it dry. While the paint is drying, talk with the children about the creatures of the night, their colors, etc.

3. Cut three little triangles out of the plate that was saved.

4. Glue on two triangles for owl's ears and one for his beak.

5. Glue the cupcake liners for the eyes on either side of the beak.

6. Glue buttons inside the cupcake liners.

SHADOW TRACING

Materials Needed: Paper (large sheets)
Pencils

Procedure:

1. Talk about shadows and what they are.

2. On a sunny day, take pencil and paper outside and help children trace each other's shadows. (You can trace the shadows of the younger children.)

3. Display the shadow tracings and have the children guess who they belong to.

STAR BOX

Materials Needed: Black construction paper
Hole punchers
Constellation patterns (such as the Big Dipper)
Cardboard shoe box
Flashlight
White crayon

Procedure:

1. Remove one end of the shoe box. Cut black paper about the size of the cardboard you removed from the shoe box. With white crayon, mark a constellation pattern on the black construction paper. Make one or two constellation patterns for each student.

---

2. Have children punch holes in black construction paper (following the constellation pattern) — each hole will represent a star.

3. Tape black paper onto end of the shoe box.

4. Darken room and shine flashlight into box to create star picture on the wall.

5. Identify the constellation. Count the stars.

SNOWFLAKES

Materials Needed: Metal juice lids (enough for each child in class)
White tissue paper, bond paper or tissues torn in small pieces
Glue

Procedure:
1. Save enough metal juice lids for each child to make one or more snowflakes.
2. Cover the flat side of the juice lids with glue.
3. Ask the children to tear or cut small pieces of paper and put them on top of the glue on the lid.
4. Cover this with glue again and let dry overnight.
5. When it is dry, the "snowflake" easily pops off the lid.
6. Hang the snowflakes all over the room or in the windows.

FEED A PANDA

Materials Needed:
A copy of the panda and bamboo for each child
Scissors
Clear tape
A ruler
String: 2 20" pieces per person
Sharp pencil

Directions:

1. Tell your audience:
The panda in the circle above is hungry. It wants to eat the bamboo in the circle next to it. You're a keeper at the zoo, and it's your job to feed the panda. There's one problem: Neither the panda nor the bamboo can be taken out of its circle. Is your task impossible? No—but there's a trick to it!

2. Cut out the circles, following the dashed lines. Do not cut the circles apart! Fold and tape them to form a single circle. Be sure to tape over both sides of the two spots that are marked for punching out.
3. With a pencil, punch out the two holes.

4. Take 2 pieces of string (20" long). Thread a piece through each hole and tie the ends as shown.

5. Hold the ends of the string in each hand. Swing the panda like a jump rope so the string winds up. Slowly draw your hands apart, and watch the spinning circle. The panda has its bamboo.¹¹

POM - POM PANDA

Materials Needed:

- 2 white 2" pom-poms
- 1 white 1" pom-pom
- 6 black 1/2" pom-poms
- Small pieces of black felt for eye patches and nose
- mm wiggle eyes
- Craft glue OR cool-melt glue gun (glue guns get very hot)

Procedure:

1. Separate the fibers of the 2" pom-pom and glue the 1" pom-pom in place for the nose.

2. Separate the fibers at the top of the head and glue black pom-poms for ears.

3. Cut eye patches and nose from black felt. Glue as shown. Set aside to dry.
4. Separate fibers of second 2" pom-pom and glue black pom-poms as shown for arms and legs.

5. Separate fibers on top of body and bottom of finished head and glue to body.

Note: Head may be used as a pencil topper or as a lapel pin. To make a lapel pin, glue a pinback to the back of the finished head.

To make a pencil topper, form a tube of felt to fit the top of a pencil and glue felt and finished head in place.

PANDA PENNY BANK

Materials Needed:
- 2" white pom-pom
- 1" white pom-pom
- 2 black 1/2" pom-poms
- 4 black 1" pom-poms
- Soda can
- Flat white acrylic or spray paint (see note on step 3 below)
- Craft glue
- Additional items for trim, such as felt scraps, ribbons, fake flowers

Procedure:

1. Make a pom-pom panda head by following the first three directions to the craft, "Pom-Pom Panda".

2. Remove the pull tab from a clean, dry soda can.

3. Paint can white. (Note: If you don't have the time or means to paint the can and allow it to dry, a strip of white construction paper can be glued or taped to the outside of the can instead.)
4. Glue the pom-pom head to the top of the can with the opening of the can behind the head facing toward the back.

5. Glue the 1" black pom-poms to the can for the panda's hands and feet.

6. If desired, trim the panda with ribbon, felt cut-outs or fake flowers or leaves.

WOODEN SPOON BOOKMARKS

Materials needed:
Wooden ice cream spoons (can be purchased from a craft store if you can't get them from a generous ice cream store)
Scraps of felt
4 mm wiggle eyes
Scrap of yarn, ribbon, etc.
Pipe cleaners for space creature's antennae

Procedure:
Make bookmarks by using the wider end of the wooden spoon as the head and decorating them with scraps of felt, yarn and ribbon. Spoons may be decorated as favorite book characters, animals or "space creatures".

PANDA PUPPET

Materials Needed:
- 2 9x12" pieces of white felt
- 1 9x12" piece of black felt
- 1 black 1/2" pom-pom
- 2 1/2" wiggle eyes
- Fabric glue that remains flexible when dry

Procedures:

1. Cut all pieces as indicated on patterns.

2. Sew or glue edges of body and edges of head, leaving open where indicated.

3. Slide neck area of body inside open section of head. Glue head to body at chin and back of neck.

4. Glue white felt nose to front of head matching the edges along the bottom.
5. Glue the ears and eye patches in place. Glue wiggle eyes to center of eye patches. Glue black pom-pom to nose at "X" on pattern.

6. Glue the black arm pieces in place.

CHINESE DRAGONS

Materials Needed:
- Paper towel or toilet tissue rolls
- Construction paper
- Crayons, markers or poster paints
- Scissors
- Glue
- Hole punch
- Yarn

Procedure:

1. Punch 2 holes at each end of several paper rolls. On roll that will be the dragon's head, punch holes at only one end of roll.

    ![Diagram of paper rolls with holes punched in them]

2. On roll to be used for head, cut 2 wedge-shaped pieces from opposite sides of the roll to form the dragon's mouth. Cut teeth from white or yellow construction paper and glue inside the tube along the edges of the jaw.

    ![Diagram of a paper roll with wedge-shaped pieces cut and teeth glued inside]

3. Cut legs, wings and spikes from construction paper and glue to the paper rolls.

    ![Diagram of legs, wings and spikes being glued to paper rolls]
4. Paint or draw scales and other markings on paper roll sections.

5. Use yarn tied through the holes to join the paper roll sections together. Tie loosely so that the dragon can move.
POSITIVE-NEGATIVE ART
(Black and White Pictures)

Materials Needed:
Construction paper (one sheet white and one sheet black for each picture)
Scratch paper or photocopier overruns to use for backing sheet and for making patterns
Glue
Scissors
Pencil

Procedure:
1. Use scratch paper to draw a simple silhouette-type outline. Cut out the figure you drew to use as a pattern.
2. Trace one white and one black copy of your outline on construction paper.
3. Cut the construction paper figures, being careful to keep the background intact.
4. Glue the construction paper figures to a piece of scratch paper, reversing one figure and using the black background with the white figure and vice versa.

PAPER FISH

Materials Needed:
- Brown grocery bag
- Newspaper
- Scissors
- Glue
- Stapler or hole punch
- String (for lacing fish and for hanging)
- Paint, glitter, construction paper or other trim

Procedure:

1. Cut one side of the grocery bag open and cut out the bottom of the bag. Discard the bag’s bottom.

2. Flatten the bag and fold it in half lengthwise with any printing on the inside.

3. Draw the outline of a fish on one side of the bag.
4. With the bag still folded, cut out the fish. (You will have 2 identical fish sides.)

5. Depending on the child's age, the sides of the fish can be glued, stapled or laced together. If lacing, punch holes about 1" apart all around the edge of the fish. Leave about 6" of the fish's stomach open to stuff.

6. Use paint, glitter and/or construction shapes to decorate the fish (both sides can be the same or make each side different). Let paint and/or glue dry.

7. While fish decorations are drying, tear strips of newspaper to use as stuffing. One Sunday newspaper torn in strips should be enough.

8. Stuff the fish with shredded paper, being careful not to tear or overstuff. Close the stuffing hole.

9. Attach a string to the fish's head and another to his tail and hang from the ceiling.

BREAD DOUGH BEAR

Materials Needed:
- Bread dough clay (see recipe)
- Pencil with eraser
- Paper clips

Procedure:
1. Make a 1" ball and 3 pea-sized balls of bread dough clay.

2. Flatten indicated area with a pencil eraser.

3. Place one small ball in depression and flatten slightly.

4. Use a paper clip to form creases in the ears.
5. Make depressions at the top of the head for the ears.

6. Add holes for eyes and nose with the point of the pencil. The smile lines can be made with a paper clip. Use a small paper clip pushed into the back of the head for a hanging loop.

BREAD DOUGH CLAY

Materials Needed:
- White bread (can be day-old)
- White glue
- Glycerin (available at the drugstore)
- Poster paint or paste food coloring

Procedure:

1. Remove the crusts from several pieces of bread. Tear the bread into small pieces.

2. Mix the torn bread with 2 tablespoons white glue and 1 teaspoon glycerin. Mix and knead the bread and glue until it is smooth and looks like clay. If desired, mix a few drops of poster paint or paste food coloring with the glue to make colored clay. Pieces may also be painted with poster paint or acrylic paint after drying.

3. Clay can be molded over aluminum foil, cut or shaped free-hand. Pieces should be fairly small. Separate pieces can be joined with a drop or two of white glue. Allow pieces to air-dry overnight or several days depending on size before painting.

Note: Keep the clay covered when not in use. Clay can be stored several weeks in the refrigerator. If clay sticks to your fingers, rub a drop of glycerine or a little hand lotion on your hands.

DANCING PANDA JUMPING JACK

Materials Needed:
- Black poster board
- White poster board
- 4 paper fasteners
- String
- Hole punch with small hole (not 1/4" hole)
- Glue

Procedure:

1. Cut body parts from light-weight poster board as indicated on pattern.

2. Punch 2 sets of holes in each limb; one set 1/2" from end of limb and one set 1/4" from same end of limb. Punch body holes.

3. Glue eye patches and ears in place and allow to dry. Draw nose and mouth in place.

4. Push paper fastener through each hole in body and through the inner (1/2" from end) hole on each limb. Flatten paper fastener to hold limbs to body.

5. Loop a string between each pair of limbs using the outer holes. Tie the string ends so that the string is snug, but not tight when the panda’s arms and legs are down.
6. Attach a longer piece of string that connects from the arm loop to the leg loop and then hangs between the legs for a length of about 8".

7. Use an 8" piece of string to form a hanging loop through the hole in the panda's head.

8. You can make the panda dance by pulling down on the string between his legs while holding the hanging loop on his head.

(Body white - Punch holes where indicated
2 eyes, ears, arms and legs - black)
FINGERPRINT ART

Materials Needed:  Paper cut to desired size and shape
Stamp pad(s) with washable ink
Fine line markers or pens
Paper towels or handi-wipes for cleaning hands

Procedure:

1. Press your thumb or fingertip onto the stamp pad then press on the paper. (You usually can get about three fingerprints before you need to re-ink your finger.)

2. Use the pen to add eyes, feet, feathers, etc., to make little animals or characters.

3. Make several pieces of paper the same to use as stationery or try a variety of colored inks and see how different colors affect the looks of your art.

ARIZONA CHILDREN'S BOOK WRITERS AND ILLUSTRATORS

A listing in the Arizona Speakers' Bureau does not imply endorsement by the Society of Bookwriters and Illustrators. Authors and illustrators have paid a fee to be included.

Compiled and distributed by the Arizona Chapter of SCBWI
1143 E. Knight Lane, Tempe, AZ 85284
(602) 820-4142, FAX (602) 730-6544
Reproduced with permission from Arizona SCBWI
August, 1993

Enclosed is the first ARIZONA CHILDREN’S BOOKWRITERS AND ILLUSTRATORS SPEAKERS’ BUREAU. We hope it will be a useful resource in planning author and illustrator days for schools, author’s readings for library, and scheduling book signings.

One copy has been enclosed. We give permission for this brochure to be duplicated and distributed to principals, local school librarians, Parent/Teacher Organizations, and branch libraries and others who might use this listing as a resource. Our budget only allows one copy to be sent to each school and library district.

Additional copies may be purchased for $2.50 (to cover printing and postage) by writing to SCBWI Arizona, 1143 E. Knight Lane, Tempe, Arizona 85284.

We also publish a quarterly newsletter, THE STORYTELLER, with listings of local programs and workshops about writing and illustrating for children, newly published books by Arizona members, how-to articles and the latest marketing information. Subscriptions are available for $10. Send checks payable to SCBWI Arizona to Dawn Dixon, 735 W. Pine St., Tucson, AZ 85704.

Sincerely,

Karen Clemens Warrick

ERNI CABAT, ARTIST, DESIGNER, ILLUSTRATOR, CONCEPTOR
627 N. 4th Avenue Tucson, Arizona 85705
(602) 622-6362 fax--792-2088

Fee: Negotiable

Preferred Audience: 8 - 80; youngsters should be able to read, write, and understand the language.

Program Topics: They vary. My approach is on creativity, why you don't have to copy, and stretching your imagination. My credo: It has been my good-fortune throughout most of my business life to do things I have felt best equipped to do. To rebel against obsolete notions, to challenge existing formula, to be creative, experiment with new ideas, and to stick my neck out. I enjoy doing business this way because I find it very stimulating and besides, it requires less effort most of the time!

Publications:

Tucson, Arizona 85741
(602) 297-9026

Fee: Negotiable.
Preferred Audience: Grades 1 - 6
Teachers
Adult groups

Program Topics:
I have developed a unique approach to reading and writing which infuses my listeners with enthusiasm to read and a desire to write through the development of their powers of observation and imagination. I use my books to illustrate my points. In addition, I speak directly to teachers on how to follow through on my program in the classroom. I also speak to adults regarding starting a new career at any age, using my own experience.

I have been stimulating students' creativity through talks at schools, libraries, and writing workshops in schools throughout Arizona for the past six years.

Publication: The Old Hogan
Target Age Group: 4 and up

Publication: Ashkii and His Grandfather

Fee: $100 for two hours, or call author.
Preferred Audience: Middle elementary through junior high
Program Topics:
I speak about my experiences as a writer. At age 82, I became a published author with my first attempt at writing a book. The fact that practically every kid today has heard of Sherlock Holmes but had no opportunity of reading about his remarkable adventures, caused me to do something about it. The formula was quite a simple but effective one. I condensed the long, original stories, then adapted them to the child's level of comprehension. I then added several clues, and at the end of each story, I show the clues which solved the case.

IDEAS

For your bulletin boards and decorations, follow through with the themes developed in the program section. Besides pandas, use themes like animals or other objects in black and white, bears of all kinds, endangered animals, China, animal tracks; books in black and white.

Among our clip art page and activity sheets are lots of panda patterns that may be enlarged to make displays and decorations.

Many of these pictures show pandas in action poses which could be combined to make lively decorations. Just clip, enlarge and recombine!

DISPLAYS AND BULLETIN BOARD HINTS:

Although most of the following ideas are described as bulletin boards, remember you can adapt them to make mobiles, life-size mascots, window decorations, kites, wall hangings, etc.

Using three dimensional items and unusual materials (cloth, fur, sequins, plants, etc.) in your displays makes them more eye-catching.

Teaching supply stores are good sources of preprinted and precut bulletin board materials. These stores carry borders, background materials and patterns for bulletin boards. Check the yellow pages under "school supplies-retail" for the nearest location.

BULLETIN BOARDS

1.) Panda Habitat

Within a colorful forest scene, arrange pandas of several sizes. Use clip art pandas provided at the end of the manual. A sample forest scene follows.

2.) Pandamonium at the Library

Cut out pandas from the pattern provided. Arrange the panda's legs, in various action poses.

Cut bamboo stems (used in many areas as an ornamental plant) or corn stalks (to simulate bamboo) and create a forest for the pandas.

3.) Pandamonium

Make a bamboo tree (or trees). At the beginning of the program each child will color a tiny panda. Their name will be placed on it. For every book read or minutes spent reading, the child's panda will advance up the tree. Incentives may or may not be given at certain intervals of progress. Goal is to reach the highest branch on the tree.

Panda patterns are included in the clip art section at the end of the manual.
PANDA WITH MOVABLE LIMBS

COPY OR TRACE "BEAR PARTS". CUT THEM OUT. FASTEN LIMBS WITH PAPER FASTENERS.

IF YOU HAVE ACCESS TO A COPY MACHINE THAT SHRINKS AND ENLARGES, THESE CAN BE MADE ANY SIZE.
1.) Panda Forest

Build a forest in your children's area. Use chicken wire (for the trunks of larger trees) covered with paper mache. Smaller bamboo trees can be made of closet rod dowels painted to resemble bamboo. Leaves can be made of construction paper or cloth dipped in diluted white glue. The cloth leaves can be molded when almost dry. Staple leaves to arms of tree branches and ceiling, anchor trunks with heavy staples to the ceiling. Trunks are very sturdy (not easily moved) when finished. To create vines, use heavy brown yarn, and attach leaves to yarn with staples or thread.

Place cardboard pictures of pandas or stuffed animal pandas in trees in various positions. If you have a story pit, this would be fun to surround. Make area dense with foliage.

Tiki lamps can be made out of dowels, bailing wire and tissue paper, coconut halves, etc.

Forest flowers can be made out of tissue paper, construction paper or cloth. Scatter throughout.

Birds can be made out of poster board or material dipped in diluted glue. Place throughout trees.

Snakes can be made out of heavy rope woven with heavy florist wire, and painted. The wire gives you the ability to shape the snake. The snake can recline on a tree branch, hang from a branch, etc.

Do a little research, find out what types of animals, birds, reptiles, etc. are found in the forest of China and design your creatures accordingly.

2.) Panda Corner

If you don't have room to create a big forest, ask your local florists and patrons of the library if you can borrow their plants - pick a corner of the children's area and decorate accordingly. Wal-Mart, K-Mart, etc., may be willing to loan some of their artificial plants. There again, let your imagination take control. Always use bright colors, children love them.

If you have the correct answers, the circled letters will tell you where you can find more information on bears!

Named because the white circles around its eyes make it look like it's wearing glasses, this is the only species of bear that lives wild in South America.

Most bear __ are born during their mother's winter sleep period and weigh only 1/2 to 1 pound at birth.

This bear gets its name from the white hairs that grow in its brown coat making it look grizzled. It has long, curved claws that it uses to dig out ground squirrels and mice to eat.

These bears are native to the bamboo jungles of China. Nicknamed the "Hermit of the "orest" because they live most of their lives alone, an adult bear can eat up to 40 pounds of bamboo a day!

These beautiful white bears live in the regions bordering the Artic Ocean and are the best swimmers of all bears. They can also run up to 35 M.P.H. which is fast enough to catch a reindeer!

This National Park is home to about 200 Grizzley bears and a very famous geyser named "Old Faithful".

What difference does the availability of these materials make to your library?

3. What themes would you like to propose for future ARP programs?

Please enclose, with your evaluation, any pictures, newspaper articles, booklists, programs, or other items that you wish to share with us; these items are displayed at the annual Arizona Reading Program Workshop.

Thank you for your participation and evaluation of the 1994 Arizona Reading Program. In addition, your interest in the improvement of libraries in Arizona is greatly appreciated.
Dear Colleague:

It's here!!  The 1995 Arizona Reading Program – Pandamonium at the Library!

Pandamonium?  No, it's not a typographic error!  This theme was created by the Arizona Reading Program Committee for several reasons.

Since pandas are an animal everyone loves, it was anticipated that this cuddly character would appeal to all ages.  As for the chaos aspect, some children's services librarians were showing their lively sense of humor, and reminding us of the delightful tumult that occurs in libraries during the Reading Program.

Due to the many requests from children's services librarians for an earlier availability of the manual and posters, they will be available in November. This should please those who like to get an early start on projects (thereby avoiding true pandemonium).

Of course we do not wish true pandemonium upon you, and we hope everyone enjoys this summer reading program theme.

Sincerely,
