Data suggest that acquaintance and date rape may account for 50-70 percent of all reported rapes in the United States. Recent findings also indicate that one in four college women have been raped or a victim of attempted rape. As most rape victims are between 15 and 24 years of age, high school-based education programs must be provided if society expects to eliminate this social and public health problem. A series of lessons are proposed that can be included as part of a high school safety and injury prevention unit in an existing health education curriculum. This concept-based unit includes well defined behavioral objectives, recommended content, suggested materials and resources, suggested learning activities, and evaluation measures. Content includes: types of rape; relevant epidemiologic data; myths and stereotypes about rape; cultural influences and risk-factors associated with rape (including alcohol and drug abuse); verbal and non-verbal communication; and preventive strategies. Activities are designed to increase knowledge; to help students examine personal beliefs and cultural attitudes; and to strengthen communication, decision-making, and assertive-resistance skills. Students learn to recognize at-risk situations, verbal and nonverbal messages and stages that commonly occur prior to an acquaintance/date rape. Also, students practice prevention strategies and discuss how to apply them to everyday life. Instructional methods include lecture/discussion, video, group activities, attitudinal inventories, critical incidents, and music. Suggestions for student evaluation are provided. Appendixes contain definitions, sexual assertiveness continuum, text of three popular songs, scenarios, sexual assault/sexual behavior questionnaire, a list of prevention strategies, and practical tips. SUGGESTED ACQUAINTANCE/DATE RAPE EDUCATION & PREVENTION STRATEGIES FOR SCHOOL HEALTH INSTRUCTION

Abstract

Data suggest that acquaintance and date rape may account for 50-70% of all reported rapes in the United States. Recent findings also indicate that one in four college women have been raped or a victim of an attempted rape. Judging by the fact that most rape victims are between 15 and 24 years of age, high school-based education programs must be provided if society expects to eliminate this social and public health problem. Proposed is a series of lessons that can be included as part of a high school safety and injury prevention unit of an existing health education curriculum. This conceptual-based unit includes well defined behavioral objectives, recommended content, materials and resources, suggested learning activities, and evaluation measures. Content includes: types of rape; relevant epidemiologic data; myths and stereotypes about rape; cultural influences and risk-factors associated with rape; including alcohol and drug use; both verbal and non-verbal communication; and preventive strategies. Activities are designed to increase knowledge, examine personal beliefs and cultural attitudes, and strengthen communication, decision-making, and assertive-resistance skills. Students learn to recognize at-risk situations, verbal and nonverbal messages and stages that commonly occur prior to an acquaintance/date rape. Also, students practice prevention strategies and how to apply them to everyday life. Instructional methods included lecture/discussion, video, group activities, attitudinal inventories, critical incidents, and music. Suggestions for student evaluations are provided. The instruction, including content and teaching strategies, of acquaintance/date rape education and prevention should reflect the health problems, needs, values, mores, and social sensibilities of the local school community. "The final decision as to the content to be included in health instruction and teaching strategies used must be determined at the local school district level" (Coalition of National Health Organizations, 1988).

CONTENT

National Statistics
- 1 in 4 college women have experienced rape or attempted rape since age 14.
- 9 of 10 acquaintance rapes are not reported.
- 1 in 12 college men admit to acts that meet legal definitions of rape. Yet few of these men identify themselves as rapists.
- Researchers say date rape may account for 50-70 percent of all reported rapes.

State Statistics
(provide if available)

Local Statistics
(provide if available)

METHODS

- Discuss the incidence and prevalence of rape experiences.
- Share newspaper articles about statistics brought in by students. Have students volunteer to share with the class (assigned to students the week before but not explained to them).

EQUIP/MAT/RES

- Develop a resource file on newspaper "clippings" on acquaintance/date rape.

EVALUATION

- Each student will bring in at least one article with statistics of acquaintance/date rape.
- Students will describe in writing the prevalence of acquaintance/date rape.

CONCEPT: Preventive measures can reduce the risks of sexual assault.
UNIT: Injury Prevention & Safety
BEHAVIORAL OBJECTIVE: Identify verbal and non-verbal communication risk behaviors associated with sexual assault.

Language of Love Activity (Appendix C)

Scenarios (Appendix D)

Influences of Alcohol
- About 90 percent of acquaintance/date rapes, one or both persons involved, is under the influence of alcohol.
- With alcohol inhibitions are lowered.
- It distorts our perceptions of the situation leading to making poor and risky decisions such as not using a condom or forcing sex on a partner.
- Under the influence of alcohol, men will find that too much can affect their ability to have an erection or perhaps sustain the erection. Women have difficulty becoming lubricated and sex therefore is more uncomfortable and possibly painful.

Alcohol is not responsible for our actions, we are.

METHODS

- Handout words to "Language of Love" and listen to song. (Appendix C)
- Discuss some of the issues brought up in the song.
- Handout scenarios. Give the students a few minutes to look them over. Then ask for a show of hands for each scenario of who thinks the situation is considered rape. Lead students into a discussion and ask them to list the verbal and non-verbal communication problems in each scenario.
- Lecture-Discussion: Using overhead, about the influences of alcohol and generate some discussion.

EQUIP/MAT/RES

- Handouts - Appendix C and D
- Tape of David Fogelberg's "Language of Love"
- Tape Player
- Overhead Projector
- Transparencies
- Transparency markers

EVALUATION

Students will be able to identify situations of acquaintance/date rape.

Students will be able to explain the effects of alcohol and predict its relationship to miscommunication.

SEXUAL ASSERTIVENESS CONTINUUM

Directions: Circle the number on the continuum to indicate the strength of your agreement with the statement on either end of the continuum.

1. In a sexual relationship if something bothers you, you should always tell your partner.
   1 2 3
2. When having sex with a new person, it is best to state what you want and don't want before you actually do anything sexual.
   1 2 3
3. "No" means NO.
   1 2 3
4. When would you bring up the possibility of having a sexually transmitted disease with a partner?
   Circle one:
   • When making a date
   • Before taking clothes off
   • After first sex act
   • After finding out you or your partner has a STD.
   • Never

In a sexual relationship it is better not to tell your partner if something is bothering you.
When having sex with a new person, it is best to allow the relationship to develop and try to non-verbally alter your partner's behaviors that you don't like.

"No" means maybe or yes.

Language of Love
Dan Fogelberg

She says no, but she means yes
What she wants you know that I can't guess
When we want more you know we ask for less
Such is the language of love

I say leave when I mean stay
But she don't see and so she moves away
What we really want you know we rarely say
Such is the language of love

Tooth for tooth and eye for eye
We hide our hearts and then we don't say why
Its truth for truth and lie for lie
Such is the language of love

When a love begins to wander no one ever knows
But we feel it deep inside us
Long before it shows
Long before it shows
With heavy hearts we're born to love
Words don't ever seem to say enough
But I sense the fire, a tender touch
Speaks of the language of love

When a love begins to wander no one ever knows
But we feel it deep inside us
Long before it shows
Long before it shows
She says no, but she means yes
What she wants you know that I can't guess
When we want more you know we ask for less
Such is the language of love
Such is the language of love

And you're just along for the ride
But I see a slight hesitation
What are you trying to hide

Don't be afraid to bare your soul
Nothing you say could be too bold
I'm growing old

If you don't want my love
Tell me now cause I'll survive
If you don't want my love
I'm sure somebody does tonight

You make a grown an quiver
It might be hard to believe
But it's time to stand and deliver
You've just been playing with me

I don't want to blow my only chance
'Cause it isn't do much what I need now
Or drop my hand

If you don't want my love
Tell me now cause I'll survive
If you don't want my love
It won't be the end of my life

If you don't want my love
Night will fall and the sun will rise
If you don't want my love

I tried to call you
But the line was busy
Were you talking to a friend?
When I tried again much later
I didn't want to let it ring again
So you can see I've got a problem
Back by popular demand
Sometimes I want to keep it from you
Sometimes I think you'll understand

Could you be my little movie star?
Could you be my long lost girl?
It's true that I don't really know you
But I'm alone in the world

When I think maybe I need you
I don't care it's not true
'Cause it isn't do much what I need now

Could you be my little movie star?
Could you be my long lost girl?
It's true that I don't really know you
But I'm alone in the world

Could you be my little movie star?
Could you be my long lost girl?
It's true that I don't really know you
But I'm alone in the world

I feel alone

CRITICAL INCIDENCE SCENARIO

At a Friday night party, Jane a sophomore met Bill, a senior who is very popular. After dancing for a few songs, Bill asked Jane if she would like a beer, and she said she would love one. They hung out by the bar talking and drinking for a couple of hours, and were finding themselves increasingly attracted to each other as time went on. Bill kept Jane’s glass full of beer, and she continued to try to empty it. Late in the evening Bill suggested a "house tour." By then both of them were pretty drunk and the house tour ended in a bedroom where they continued to drink. Soon they were making out on a bed, and Jane really seemed to be enjoying herself. By the time Bill finished undressing Jane, she was semi-conscious. He had intercourse with her. This was her first sexual intercourse experience.

ACQUAINTANCE/DATE RAPE AWARENESS AND PREVENTION
STRATEGIES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

Things you can do to help you reduce your risk for acquaintance/date rape involvement are listed below. Unfortunately, there are no guaranteed prevention strategies since every acquaintance/date rape situation is different. The one thing that all acquaintance/date rape situations have in common is that one partner (usually the male) forces the other to have sex. Therefore, you should always try to be aware of your surroundings, and try to stay out of situations where you may force another person or you may be forced to do something you don't want to do.

FOR EITHER PARTNER

Self Assessment:

1. Think about what you really want from or with that partner.

2. Be aware of stereotypes which prevent you from acting as you want to (such as a woman not being able to initiate, or a man not being able to say "no").

Personal:

1. Feel good about yourself, and if you don't - get yourself involved in activities and with people who will make you feel better.

2. Get emotional help if you have been the victim of a sexual assault before, or if you feel you need help.

3. Eliminate completely or limit your alcohol and drug consumption. Most acquaintance/date rapes happen when one or both partners are intoxicated or high.
Appendix G

Communication:

1. Communicate what you really want.
2. Say what you really are thinking.
3. Set clear limits for acceptable behavior (such as 'no petting below the waist').

Assertiveness:

1. Believe and act as if your needs are important, without exploiting others.
2. Do not allow yourself to be put in vulnerable situations.
3. Suggest what you would like to do on a date.

Interpersonal:

1. Pay attention to non-verbal cues.
2. Listen to what your partner is really saying, and pay attention to the words (such as "no" means NO).
3. View each other as equals.

Awareness:

1. Observe how the environment around you is changing (such as your being left at a party by your friends when you don’t know how you will get home).
2. Know your rights.
3. Know which behaviors constitute rape.

PRACTICAL TIPS

WHILE YOU CANNOT RECOGNIZE A POTENTIAL RAPIST, YOU CAN RECOGNIZE A POTENTIAL SITUATION FOR A RAPE. BELOW ARE SOME TIPS:

- It takes time to get to know people; be cautious when giving out personal information; know about your dates - name, address, work place; meet new people in public places; have your own money and transportation; avoid being trapped in a man’s residence or car.

- Do not compromise your ability to make rational decisions by drinking or taking drugs.

- Do not accept a ride or invitation to be alone with someone you’ve just met.

- In blind dates, double with someone you know well or trust.

- If a sexual interaction becomes uncomfortable, trust your intuition; either leave or confront the person immediately and directly. Unwillingness to acknowledge a situation as potentially dangerous and reluctance to appear over sensitive often hold people back from responding in the interest of their own safety.

- Be willing to inconvenience others to ensure your own safety.

- Control your personal life - develop prevention strategies for the home and have a plan of escape; be alert to your environment.
