A report is presented on an outreach project that assisted in the development and implementation of early intervention programs, special education, and related services for children with disabilities (ages birth to five). The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project disseminated and helped replicate a "best practices" model to improve the quality of programs and services in six states. During a 3-year period, technical assistance and training were provided to 138 programs in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Mississippi, and support or expanded outreach services were also provided to 76 programs in Tennessee. Assistance provided to community programs, agencies, and local education agencies focused on program self-assessment, regional networks for sharing information and support, local and regional training and technical assistance, and transition of key components to appropriate personnel within agencies. Appended materials include: Outreach activities for each state during 1991-1994, a self-assessment form for evaluating early childhood special education programs; a planning guide to use in conjunction with the self-assessment form; information on outreach presentations and inservice trainings; and evaluation data for outreach activities such as the video library, newsletter, and workshops. II. ABSTRACT

Magnolia Circle Outreach Project

An Early Education Program for Children with Disabilities Project

Director  Project Coordinator  Regional Coordinator

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project was designed to assist community programs, agencies, and LEAs in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee as they continued the process of developing and implementing appropriate quality programs for children birth to five. The project disseminated and assisted with the replication of a "best practices" model throughout the targeted states. All of the project’s efforts were coordinated with lead agencies for Part H, state and local agencies, provider groups, and state and local early childhood professional associations. During its three years of outreach, project staff provided technical assistance and training to 138 programs in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Additionally, project staff continued to provide support or expanded outreach services to 76 programs in Tennessee.

The goals, components, and activities of the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project focused on: an individual program self-assessment, regional networks for sharing information and support with a diverse group of professionals and families, local and regional training and technical assistance, and transition of key components to appropriate personnel within agencies.

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project disseminated, assisted in the implementation, and assisted in the replication of a "best practices" model to improve the quality of early intervention, special education and related services throughout the six states. This was accomplished through a process of assessment of individual program strengths and needs, consultation, inservice training and technical assistance, and development and support of regional Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks.

The major features of this project were the dissemination, replication, and ongoing validation of the "best practices" model and further validation of the outreach model based on accelerating levels of involvement by individual programs. The levels of involvement provides a systematic means for determining each individual program’s level of participation within outreach activities. Evaluation data demonstrated that, by the end of the project, a significant number of programs were involved at the implementation level and reciprocal sharing levels. Data also reflected positive attitudes regarding the quality of services and the effectiveness of the project’s outreach assistance. Ongoing support by individuals within each of the six states for the regional Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks will continue to provide a mechanism for the exchange of "best practices" information and techniques between and among professionals and family members.

IV. GOALS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE PROJECT

The project was designed to disseminate, assist in the implementation, and assist in the replication of a "best practices" model to improve the quality of early intervention and related services within the five states of Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Mississippi. The focus of outreach for the sixth state, Tennessee, was on the maintenance of programs as they moved toward "best practices" and the expansion of outreach services to programs that had not previously been served through an EEPoD-funded statewide outreach project (TOT Project, 1988-1991). All efforts were planned collaboratively with the lead agencies for Part H of IDEA, state departments of education, and other key state agencies within the targeted states as well as local agencies mandated to serve young children with disabilities and their families.

The specific objectives of the outreach model were:

1) To train early interventionists to assess the strengths and needs of individual early intervention programs relative to the "best practices" model.

2) To assist programs in establishing or maintaining Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks.

3) To provide consultation, inservice training, and technical assistance on a regional and statewide basis to stimulate the development and dissemination of "best practices."

4) To "transition" the Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks to the appropriate state and/or regional agencies prior to the termination of the 36-month funding period to insure long-term program maintenance.

V. CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK

The conceptual framework for the project was a direct response to a set of critical early intervention-related challenges that had previously been identified by a wide range of professionals within the target states. Specifically, these challenges pertain to: (a) the increase in the number of children eligible for services, (b) limited time and resources, (c) the shortage of trained personnel, (d) limitations of existing training programs, and (e) need for training, technical assistance, and sharing of "best practices."

A. The Best Practices Model

The "best practices" model is a cumulative outcome of over 25 years of research and development contributed by individuals nationwide and several years of research, program development, dissemination, and replication by staff members of the project and their colleagues at Vanderbilt University. The six components of "best practices" included:

1. Development of a functional curriculum that is both developmentally and age appropriate
2. Implementation of the curriculum through a carefully organized environment
3. Promotion of opportunities for and training of age-appropriate social interaction skills across current and future environments
4. Effective within and between agency use of related support services (e.g., speech, OT)
5. Effective ongoing involvement of families in the planning and delivery of services
6. Coordinated efforts to facilitate transition of children and families as they encounter changes in services over the early childhood period.

The "best practices" model was designed to be a dynamic approach to the critical areas of child and family development. The model has provided a comprehensive, practical framework for service delivery. At the same time, it has been flexible enough to meet the unique and individual needs of children, their families, and their communities. The focus has been on children from birth to age five in all settings — hospital, home, and preschool center.

The "best practices" model included a self-assessment instrument offering a systematic approach to program evaluation and goal setting. Additionally, "best practices" provided the content basis for all of the outreach activities. Each of the six "best practices" components was supported by competency-based training modules/activities. These modules/activities reflect a synthesis of other proven models as well as current findings of national research and demonstration projects funded through EEPCD.

B. The Outreach Model

The outreach model was initially developed and validated through the Tennessee Outreach Training (TOT) Project (1988-1991), an EEPCD statewide outreach project. It is based upon well-established principles designed to facilitate change in a purposeful, self-regulated style. The "levels of involvement" process provided four routes of access to a variety of outreach activities over the course of the three-year grant period. The "levels of involvement" process also offered a systematic means for tracking program involvement, evaluating program impact, and evaluating the usefulness and quality of the project’s resources and activities.

It was conceptualized that individual programs could proceed through the four levels of involvement in various "best practices" components at differing rates. The model could apply to a single program component, several components, or the entire "best practices" model. A given program could be at different levels concurrently for different components. The four levels and the corresponding outreach activities were:

1) Awareness
   Receive information about project through mailings, phone calls, conferences, etc.

2) Information Seeking
   Request information/consultation on best practices; attend project presentations/workshops

3) Implementation
   Receive technical assistance to complete the self-assessment and/or plan for implementation of best practices component(s); network with other early intervention programs
4) Reciprocal Sharing

Share content information on best practices and/or provide technical assistance to other programs; engage as presenters in presentations/workshops.

VI. DESCRIPTION OF MODEL COMPONENTS

The outreach model was implemented over the 42-month funding period based on an accelerating levels of involvement model as described in Section V. The content basis of the outreach efforts, also described in Section V, involved a "best practices" model in which quality indicators of best practice were used to evaluate individual early intervention programs and their practices.

Our initial outreach strategy was to work with any program or agency that expressed an interest in the project. Because the process of change is a reciprocal one that requires voluntary participation, we knew of no other strategy that could be reasonably expected to impact programs. The strategy has resulted in programs working with us within each of the states in order to help us gain further access to programs near them.

The process of providing outreach services was approached on an individual program basis utilizing a "collaborative/dialogue approach" to systems change. Individuals and programs were approached as peers and colleagues engaged in a collaborative process aimed at improving the practice of early intervention. Major outreach activities included:

* establishment of advisory boards within each of the six targeted states
* use of training needs assessment
* provision of inservice training
* materials development/refinement
* follow-up support
* on-site program visits
* consultation and technical assistance
* resource dissemination * evaluation of project activities

Refer to Appendix A for the composition of the advisory boards and specific outreach activities by state throughout the funding period.

A. Components of the Model

Self-Assessment Process. Awareness activities, establishment of state advisory committees, and orientation workshops were useful mechanisms for disseminating information about the self-assessment process. A significant aspect of providing support for change is helping people validate what they know and extend their skills. The self-assessment process enabled participants to identify strengths and establish priorities for change through systematic consideration of quality indicators for any or all of the six "best practices" components. (A copy of the best practices materials is included in Appendix B.)
Phone consultation via the project’s toll-free number was available as a mechanism for providing support to participants in the self-assessment process. The self-assessment process was also used as: (a) a guide to assessing training needs by rural regional ICCs and other regional planning groups; (b) a mechanism for sharing information with other programs within regional networks; (c) a mechanism for gaining concepts to be generalized for use by programs serving other populations/ages; and (d) a tool for communicating program strengths and needs to others.

As priorities were determined via the self-assessment process, individual programs developed action plans. This process involved identifying specific outcomes and exploring optional strategies. The Magnolia Circle Project staff provided support for the development of action plans through phone consultation, meetings with program staff and/or regional planning groups, providing access to the project’s resources and resource listings, and linking programs to resources within the local area, region, or state.

Individual program visits were conducted as was feasible. These were flexible and transactional in nature. Their goal was to address the program’s self-evaluated needs and strengths, provide information regarding resources and mechanisms for meeting needs, and propose ways for sharing information with others. The "levels of participation" model was used to demonstrate the progressive steps of participation for individual programs.

As the action plans were implemented, the evaluation process continued. The plan was refined and reshaped to accommodate to the ever-changing needs that surfaced for providers and families. Using a variety of media and methods, each staff provided the necessary support, both logistical and technical, for programs to both modify their own approaches and to share their own "best practices" with other programs.

The acquisition of new information often led to the identification of additional needs and priorities. For example, representatives from a rural region in west Alabama attended one of the orientation sessions during the beginning months of the Magnolia Circle Project. A short time later, project staff received a request from the regional ICC to provide training on teaming to support the council’s efforts toward collaboration. New information gained as a result of the training provided an expanded vision that prompted the regional planning group to request consultation as they worked to refine goals and plan new strategies. Over the course of the past three years, numerous revisions have been made as challenges have been met and other needs have surfaced. As a result of this ongoing process, one of the programs has reorganized center-based services using an activity-based approach. The early intervention system service coordinators, serving 12 rural counties, are using family-centered practices and have improved collaborative efforts.

A variety of mechanisms for follow-up to state, regional, and local training events were developed in order to be responsive to the desires and needs expressed by early intervention staff (Refer to Appendix C for examples). The follow-up activities provided opportunities for workshop participants to integrate ideas presented during the inservice training. The activities ranged from sharing of information received at inservice training sessions to actual implementation and evaluation of strategies to make whatever refinements in the program the participants found necessary. Follow-up activities also led to increased use of the "best practices" self-assessment tool by programs.

Regional Reciprocal Training and Technical Assistance Networks. Project staff worked with state agency personnel, leaders of professional organizations, regional ICCs, and/or regional planning groups to establish/facilitate networks for reciprocal sharing within the geographic regions of each state. Through discussions and meetings, key players (including family members and staff of community agencies) were identified. In addition to Part H Coordinators and state department of education personnel, a variety of organizations were contacted in order to take advantage of the diverse expertise of the staff. These included:

* community-based early intervention and preschools
* local education agency preschools
* Parent training and information centers
* Head Start and Even Start coordinators
* Family literacy and support programs
* State and regional technical assistance networks
* State personnel development networks

Additionally, as individual programs became involved with the project, some emerged as having personnel who were recognized for leadership abilities, and their programs demonstrated many elements of "best practices." Networks of collegial support were developed and/or facilitated by Magnolia Circle Project staff through regional training events. The role of Magnolia Circle Project staff during regional planning meetings was that of facilitator or enabler. Project staff assisted regional groups with:

* Setting goals using a problem-solving approach
* Identifying resources and resource persons within the region
* Linking resources (e.g., the state coordinator of services to children and youth with deaf-blindness) to provide technical assistance for specific needs
* Developing plans for training or other development activities within the regional locale
* Using evaluation data from workshops to determine future training needs
* Tracking participants' individual plans for using information and skills obtained through training and networking activities (information provided by participants through workshop evaluations, surveys, and interviews).

The Magnolia Circle Project staff's consultation with regional planning groups in the six states resulted in a number of regional workshops that were planned to address the participants' identified needs. For example, the Magnolia Circle Project staff assisted a regional planning group in rural east Tennessee to establish linkages to the Tennessee Outreach Project for Children and Youth with Deaf-Blindness (TREDS). Subsequently, the TREDS project provided a half-day training for approximately 30 participants who came from a 60 mile radius of the region. As a result, the individuals met their goal of learning how to conduct vision and hearing screenings. Additionally, more comprehensive services have resulted from the networking that occurred (i.e., TREDS is providing technical assistance to programs that had not been aware of this project prior to the training).

Regional Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks were strengthened by: (a) resources of the Magnolia Circle project (project-developed training guides, adult learning resources, and resources that provide content information); (b) two Southeast regional conferences sponsored by the project (i.e., Rural Service Delivery Conference and Hidden Treasures: Expanding Community Connections); (c) sharing exemplary program practices among participants; and (d) family and professional advocacy efforts.

B. Adoption Sites

Outreach efforts primarily targeted programs providing center-based and/or home-based services for children from identification to age 5. Efforts concentrated on assisting agencies to develop or expand programs in response to P.L. 99-457.

At the completion of the Project, there were 214 individuals/programs involved with the Magnolia Circle project at various levels throughout the six-state area. The breakdown is as follows: Alabama-27, Arkansas-24, Kentucky-41, Louisiana-30, Mississippi-16, and Tennessee-76 (Figure 1). The 76 programs in Tennessee received support from the project through consultation and resource dissemination due to our extensive history in the state already.

Outreach activities for Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee have been conducted through well-organized state and regional mechanisms identified and utilized by the Magnolia Circle Project Staff. Specifically, this includes: (a) local/regional councils and Comprehensive System of Personnel Development efforts in Alabama, (b) collaborative training events and Part H technical assistance services in Kentucky, and (c) statewide organizations, state agency resource committees, collaborative training events, and Part H district offices in Tennessee. Over the past three years, efforts of personnel within the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi have been heavily focused on developing and organizing the infrastructure for interagency collaboration and service delivery. Brief descriptions of early intervention and preschool efforts in each of the target states along project activities is summarized below.

Alabama. The Alabama Department of Education, Division of Rehabilitation Services, is the Lead Agency for Part H of P.L. 99-457. There has been a strong focus on strengthening collaborative efforts among state and private agencies. Family advocacy groups have had high visibility in policy development. The lead agency and ICC have been committed to providing family-centered services. Eleven regional councils have been established to coordinate Part H planning activities. Personnel from Alabama’s Part H program encouraged all local councils to take advantage of the resources of the Magnolia Outreach Project. Training has been provided by Alabama’s Comprehensive System of Personnel Development (CSPD) through a contract with the University of Alabama, Civitan International Research (Spark’s) Center. These efforts have been supplemented by the Magnolia Circle Project in 5 of the 11 Part H regions. Preschool services for 3-5 year-olds have expanded. The Department of Education has received assistance for development of an integrated child care model from another EEPCD project, Training for Inclusion. The Magnolia Circle Project has supported this effort by providing training for child care personnel within two regional councils. Additionally, preschool personnel have participated in training provided through regional workshops in each of the five regions that have received training and technical assistance from our project. Project staff have also conducted a training session at the State Conference on Social Work.

Arkansas. The lead agency for Part H is the Department of Human Services, Developmental Disabilities Services. The system has experienced a number of changes in leadership, personnel, and management of the system. New personnel have replaced many of the originally trained service coordinators. Services remain very limited in some areas; other areas have services provided at day treatment centers operated by DHS. Because of the rural nature of Arkansas, preschool educational services have been provided through 16 education service cooperatives. These cooperatives coordinated services for 3-5 year-olds in a variety of settings. Included are home-based services, center-based classrooms, Head Start, and child care settings. Magnolia Outreach Project staff have provided training through three of the educational cooperatives (Northwest, North Central, an Ozarks Unlimited) as well as through state conferences (i.e., the state special education conference "Special Show" and the Division for Early Childhood Subdivision).

Kentucky. The two lead agencies for implementation of P.L. 99-457 are the Kentucky Department of Education (3-5 year olds) and the Cabinet for Human Resources (Birth to 3-year olds). Kentucky has been in the midst of education reform and has moved toward full implementation of the Part H program. This has resulted in the development of new programs and the expansion of existing ones. Kentucky has five Regional Training Centers funded through the Department of Education to provide training, consultation, and technical assistance to programs for preschool children ages 3-5. Additionally, eight technical assistance teams for the Kentucky Early Intervention System, consisting of a parent and a professional, have recently been established. The Magnolia Circle Project has coordinated efforts with the many and varied training opportunities in Kentucky. This has resulted in presentations at four of the five Kentucky Collaborative Training Conferences on various components of "best practices." Project staff have transitioned Magnolia training materials/modules through intensive, regionalized, interagency, interdisciplinary in three sites in eastern Kentucky and one site in western Kentucky. (Two of these workshops were of the "train-the-trainer" format).

Louisiana. The Louisiana Department of Education is the lead agency for the coordination of services for both the infant/toddler and preschool age groups. Some early intervention programs have been provided through the Arcs in Shreveport, Monroe, and Alexandria. The School for the Deaf administers the Parent-Pupil Education Program (services for infants, toddlers, and preschool children with hearing disabilities) employing a coordinator in Baton Rouge and six regional parent educators. Services for children ages 3-5 have generally been provided by local education agencies in noncategorical preschool programs. The state Department of Education funds eight regional training and technical assistance preschool coordinators throughout the state. Magnolia Circle Project staff have provided training to regional preschool and early intervention coordinators, regional staff of the Louisiana School for the Deaf Parent-Pupil Program, and with staff of Project FOCUS at Southeastern Louisiana University.
Mississippi. The Mississippi Department of Health is the lead agency for Part H services. Over the past few years, the emphasis has been on developing an infrastructure for services through the creation of central points of contact in each of the nine public health districts across the state. After a year hiatus, Mississippi submitted an application to again participate in the Federal Part H program. The majority of early intervention programs remain on the grounds of state institutions, and the services are generally not family focused. The Mississippi Department of Education is the lead agency for Part B services. The mandate to provide services for children with disabilities ages 3-5 years was passed in 1991. A number of school districts serve children aged 3-5 years, sometimes in coordination with Head Start programs. Outreach support has focused on collaborative training activities with Project COACH (an EEPCD-funded single state outreach project) and the state Subdivision for Early Childhood, as well as providing outreach support to those in rural areas of the state. During the 1993-94 year, the State Department of Education incorporated the project’s transdisciplinary teaming training activity into the state training module on inclusion.

Tennessee. The Tennessee Department of Education is the lead agency for implementing the state’s early intervention services for infants and toddlers and also has responsibility for services for children with disabilities ages 3-5 years. At present an array of services are provided through the four state agencies and Head Start/Even Start programs. State, regional, and local agencies and service providers have continued to indicate the need for training to keep abreast of current developments in the evolving field of early intervention. Tennessee continues to move toward expansion of comprehensive, family-focused early intervention services across the 9 developmental districts of the state. Outreach efforts have supported this expansion through resource dissemination, assistance to regional networks, and service to previously unserved individuals.

C. Dissemination Activities

Initial dissemination activities were designed to inform the numerous urban and rural agencies, hospitals, preschool programs, and school districts within the six-state region about the nature and scope of the project. With the onset of funding, a project brochure was developed in conjunction with the Kennedy Center Communication Services Office at Peabody College of Vanderbilt University. The brochure detailed the goals and objectives of the project and was distributed to all those on the mailing list. The mailing list was compiled with input from key people in the various state agencies and early intervention/preschool networks throughout the six states. As of August 1994, there were 2,301 persons from the six states on the mailing list (Alabama-531, Arkansas-193, Kentucky-784, Louisiana-84, Mississippi-138, and Tennessee-570).

A quarterly newsletter that described outreach activities and accomplishments was published (Appendix D). The newsletter, which also identified workshops and materials available through the project, was disseminated within the six states to those on the project mailing list.
A slide show and poster depicting the project goals, strategies, and activities was developed in the first quarter of Year 1. These were utilized during the state advisory board meetings and as part of presentations through the three years of the project.

Additional presentations on the outreach model, approach, and initial evaluation data were made at the:

* Alabama Early Intervention Conference
* Arkansas Special Show
* Kentucky Infant-Toddler Conference
* Louisiana Interagency Coordinating Council Personnel Preparation Subcommittee
* Mississippi Early Childhood Networking Conference
* Tennessee Collaborative Conference on Young Children with Special Needs and Their Families
* Partnerships for Progress Meeting
* International Division for Early Childhood of the Council for Exceptional Children

The Kennedy Center Communications Services Office also disseminated information about the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project through distribution of project brochures, periodic project status reports, and newsletter announcements of important project related activities and programs concerned with persons with disabilities on the local, regional, and national level.

D. Training/Incorporation Activities

Training and incorporation activities throughout the three-year period involved on-site consultation and training of program staff; follow-up calls, mailings, and additional visits (as feasible); and follow-up through personal contact at meetings, conferences, workshops, etc. attended by early intervention program staff and families.

As the project became established as a source of information regarding best practices and as the outreach model was replicated, Magnolia Circle Outreach Project staff engaged in presentations at the local, state, and national level. During the three-year period, a total of 96 presentations were made to a total of 2,252 persons (see Appendix C). Many of these presentations were co-sponsored with various agencies/groups. Additionally, family members and local program staff were involved as presenters and/or co-presenters with project staff approximately 20% of the time. Topics centered about the best practices components. The majority of presentations were made on aspects of family involvement and curriculum programming.

A range of activities were developed to follow-up training opportunities for participants. Some of these activities included the following: being added to the project mailing list; borrowing the Best Practices book; sharing project materials with staff/administration/families; requesting additional resources (books, videos, etc.) from the project; and meeting with project staff to plan extensions of the training (either on a regional or program level). These are detailed in Appendix C. During the 40 presentations in which follow-up activities were offered, 475 persons (from a total of 1,034) chose to participate. The 475 persons represented 248 programs and included 21 family members.

The project, in collaboration with NEC*TAS, sponsored two Southeastern Regional Conferences: the Rural Service Delivery Conference in September 1993 and Hidden Treasures: Expanding Community Connections in September 1994. These conferences were in direct response to expressed needs by service providers and families to network with each other in order to discuss issues related to service delivery and limited resources. Thirty-seven persons from five states attended the Rural Service Delivery Conference, and forty persons from four states attended the Hidden Treasures Conference.

VII. METHODOLOGICAL AND LOGISTICAL PROBLEMS

As the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project staff replicated the outreach model throughout the targeted states, we modified some of the methods described in the original application. These deviations, made by the Principal Investigator and project staff, were determined to be more appropriate to the intent of project goals and objectives. Furthermore, the revisions reflected a responsiveness both to the needs of individual programs and to activities within each of the states.

assessments were viewed as measures of project success. Data regarding use of the self-assessment are incorporated within the levels of involvement data—particularly at the information seeking and implementation levels.

Many of the networks that were utilized were already established as part of a given state's organization. As a result, these were already grounded in state and regional control. Therefore, project staff provided support to strengthen and reinforce these networks. In addition, project staff helped to expand the composition of these regional networks through involvement of other program personnel not traditionally represented in regional efforts in many areas (e.g., Even Start, therapeutic programs).

VIII. EVALUATION FINDINGS

The project's evaluation design included a variety of performance standards and processes for generating information on an ongoing basis. That information was used by project staff in a number of ways—particularly, for evaluating performance and the effectiveness of outreach activities. When negative discrepancies were identified, project staff resolved those discrepancies by redesigning and/or refining those services/activities. The evaluation plan included numerous sources for obtaining information. The sources reported in this section include: (a) "levels of involvement" data, (b) administrative/staff questionnaires/interviews, and (c) data relative to specific outreach activities (e.g., workshop data, newsletter submissions, etc.).

A. Levels of Involvement Data

As discussed earlier in this report, a total of 214 early intervention programs were involved with the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project; 76 of those programs were in Tennessee and received support for maintenance from the present project. Programs in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Mississippi were involved with the project at varying levels—from awareness to information seeking to implementation of best practices to reciprocal sharing. A copy of the Program Profile Form which was used to document the four levels is included in Appendix E.

A particular strength of the "levels of involvement" model is that it allows the effectiveness of our outreach efforts to be determined through formative and summative evaluation procedures. Figure 2 represents a comparison of the programs involved with the project during Year 1 (65 programs), Year 2 (104 programs), and Year 3 (138 programs). The movement from awareness level only toward high order levels is effectively demonstrated. Data is broken down by states in Figures 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7. Overall, there have been steady gains made in implementation and reciprocal sharing of best practices across all components of the model with the greatest amount of reciprocal sharing occurring in the curriculum and family involvement components.

B. Administrative/Staff Questionnaires/Interviews

In August 1993, a diverse group of key personnel from each of the six states were contacted by mail and phone to provide evaluative input regarding project activities. The names of those 29 key persons and their responses to the specific evaluation questions is in Appendix E. These responses were utilized in order to ascertain what had been accomplished by the project as well as to make plans for future activities. Overall, the most helpful services provided by the project included workshop/presentations and use of the video library. The comments reflect the diversity of what program staff and families found helpful through outreach services. Most of the respondents (28 out of 29) stated that they had shared project resources with staff of their programs and/or other programs.

In October 1993, an overall evaluation of the project was conducted (Appendix E). An evaluation form was mailed to all those on the mailing list. The evaluation form included a rating scale as well as open-ended questions. Twenty-eight forms were completed and returned. Based upon the responses from twenty-two persons (79% of those who responded to the survey), these programs served a total of 16,597 families and 16,853 children. For those respondents who had used the Best Practices book, the average rating for usefulness was 4.16 and for quality 4.5. In general, the highest percentages of responses were scored at numbers 4 and 5 (with 5 being high) for both usefulness and quality (see Appendix E).

C. Data RE: Specific Outreach Activities

Other sources of data included in Appendices D and F are briefly described below:

Newsletter Data. Over the three years of the project, a total of 22 persons submitted articles for inclusion in the newsletter, 20 of whom were from the six targeted states. The content of the submissions included specifics on programs for children and families as well as information on a given state’s involvement in the Part H Program. The final issue of the newsletter contained a table that included the names, agency affiliation, and phone numbers of key contacts within each of the six states.

Workshop Data. Evaluations of all workshop sessions were conducted, collated, and analyzed by project staff. This data was used to refine materials and/or methods used in training. Overall, the benefits reported by participants in regional workshops in the six states include: (a) the training addressed pertinent needs within the region, thus enhancing the probability of change, and (b) expanded opportunities to network with other families and professionals within the region.

Regional Conference Data. Evaluation of the Rural Service Delivery Conference resulted in planning a follow-up conference, Hidden Treasures. The majority of persons who completed evaluations on both conferences felt that networking opportunities to explore critical issues in service delivery were much needed and beneficial.

Video Library Data. Over the three years of the project, 572 videos were loaned to service providers and families. The majority of persons had access to VCRs and felt that loan of the videos was worth the cost in terms of time and postage. A number of persons reported making copies of the videos for present and future use.

Technical Assistance Phone Calls. Analysis of the toll-free 800 number usage on a state-by-state basis provided information regarding the amount of technical assistance provided through phone calls.

In sum, the evaluation data indicates that we have developed and validated an effective plan of outreach despite the inherent fiscal constraints of outreach programs and the natural resistance to change that most individuals and programs manifest. The keys to our success include:

* a carefully planned, supported, executed, and evaluated strategy for outreach

* an approach to programs that allows them to set their own agenda for change, conduct their own self-assessment, and share their areas of expertise with other programs and professionals

* an ever evolving, well developed, thoroughly tested, comprehensive model of early intervention

* an approach that allows thorough evaluation of impact

* a high degree of knowledge of the programs and professionals in the 6 state target region

* a highly experienced staff with diverse backgrounds and skills

* strong support by program directors and leaders in the 6 state region

* establishment of toehold programs in most of the rural areas of the 6 state region

* an approach (reciprocal technical assistance and training networks) that allows "expertise" to create and maintain itself (with our nurturing) in the target region, thus enhancing long term impact.

IX. IMPACT

Programs that have participated in the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project have had the opportunity to: (a) gain information about resources and the content of the "best practices" components; (b) become problem solvers by working through the self-assessment and planning process; (c) establish or strengthen networks of collegial support through collaboration; and (d) gained technical assistance and training from within the region as families and providers gain confidence and competence in sharing information and resources. Service providers and families have stated that involvement with the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project helped them to recognize that there are a variety of agencies involved with young children with disabilities and their families. Additionally, they have learned that although agencies may serve different populations, their overall purpose and service delivery is often similar.

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project has enhanced the exchange of information regarding recommended practices between professionals and programs via the strengthening and support of reciprocal training and technical assistance networks throughout the region. The identification and nurturing of these networks (on the local, state, and regional levels) has provided a mechanism for broadening the impact of this project and of insuring its continuation beyond the actual three year life. A few examples follow:

As an outgrowth of the Rural Service Delivery and Hidden Treasures Conference, there are presently three persons from Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee who are working toward continuing a Southeast Regional Meeting for service providers and families (Appendix F).

Service providers and families from one state have made formal presentations at or attended conferences in other states. Over the past three years, 52 persons from the states involved with the Magnolia Outreach Project have presented at the Tennessee Collaborative Conference on Young Children with Special Needs and Their Families. The breakdown for presenters from each state is as follows: Alabama-5, Arkansas-4, Kentucky-36, Louisiana-4, and Mississippi-3.

Project staff co-founded a "share group" in Middle Tennessee on January 20, 1992. At the completion of the funding cycle, a total of 34 persons belonged to the group, which continues to expand by word-of-mouth. Participation in this group is open to anyone interested in persons with disabilities, broadly defined. The group includes many parents as well as service providers from the fields of special education, health, physical therapy, social work, early childhood education, mental health, and nursing. The purpose of the group is to meet on a monthly basis at a central locale to share information and resources (Appendix D).

A. Products and Publications

Project Brochure. The brochure presented an overview of the outreach project and a description of the objectives and activities associated with the project.

Project Newsletter. A newsletter, published quarterly, described outreach activities and accomplishments as well as disseminated and/or identified resources on "best practices." Additionally, persons from the targeted states submitted information about their programs and/or resources.
Rural Conference Proceedings. These proceedings are from a two-day conference on rural service delivery issues sponsored by the Magnolia Circle project in the fall of 1993. Issues explored by work groups included: family support, transportation, funding, and networking strategies. Included in the proceedings are the results of a survey on rural service delivery in the fall of 1992 by Magnolia Circle staff, resource information, and descriptions of programs in the Southeast region of the United States.

Hidden Treasures Proceedings. These proceedings are from a one and one-half day conference designed to (1) highlight successful collaborative community resources, services, service delivery mechanisms; (2) foster networking between and among families and professionals involved in services for young children with or at risk for developmental delays (birth to 5 years) and their families within the Southeastern United States; and (3) strengthen regional networks by linking resources and resource persons.

Video Library. A total of 40 videotapes covering a variety of topics in early intervention/early childhood special education were available for loan at no cost to participants. A sample page of the video library listing is included in Appendix D. The majority of tapes had been made at workshops/inservices held in Tennessee. They were particularly useful for providing supplemental information as well as new ideas. Many have accompanying handouts. At the completion of the project, these videotapes were transitioned to the three Part H Monitors for the State of Tennessee and continue to be loaned to service providers and families.

Journal Resource Listing. An eight-page listing of journal resources for early interventionists was compiled. It contains subscription and cost information about 48 journals. The journals are organized by the following areas of study: general early intervention, audiology, deaf education, early childhood education, early childhood special education, medical (general), nursing, nutrition, occupational therapy, orientation and mobility, physical therapy, psychology, social work, speech/language, and vision.

Workshop and Follow-Up Training Activities Packets. These materials are related to the six "best practices" components and include a copy of the agenda, handouts, lecture notes, overheads, resource information, evaluation forms, and follow-up activities used in training.

Regional Workshops: A Planning Guide. A planning guide that contains methods for organizing regional workshops in a systematic manner developed initially through the TOT project was revised and refined through the Magnolia Circle Project. The planning process is fully described, and organizational materials (i.e., needs surveys, timelines, checklists, scheduling forms) are provided. The purpose of this guide is to assist parents and professionals in sharing their own expertise through presentations at local, state, and regional conferences and workshops.

Working with Families Packet. This packet provides a listing of resources related to P.L. 94-142, P.L. 99-457, programs/services, evaluation of programs/services, and transition issues.
B. Dissemination Activities

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project materials were widely disseminated throughout Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee. Avenues for dissemination included Advisory Group meetings, orientation workshops, presentations/regional workshops, the newsletter, and networking opportunities. Specific dissemination documentation throughout the targeted states is included within the description of outreach activities in Appendix A. Additionally, dissemination on a national level is included in Appendix G. Materials disseminated include:

* 10 issues of the project newsletter
* resources on "best practices" components, training modules
* resource listings, general resources, "Working with Families" packets
* Planning Guide for Regional Workshop Organizers
* Rural Service Delivery Conference Proceedings
* Hidden Treasures Conference Proceedings

C. Implications of Findings

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project has effectively demonstrated that many early interventionists in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee not only desire, but seek out mechanisms to assist their efforts in accessing and evaluating information on proven models of service that reflect a family focus. Additionally, it has demonstrated a viable, replicable model of outreach resulting in the exchange of "best practices" between and among diverse providers of services to young children with disabilities and their families.

Based upon the results of the evaluation and dissemination efforts, the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project has made significant impact upon:

* the need for enhanced inservice training in Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee

* improvements of services to children and families by making the services more congruent with "best practices"

* the ability of early intervention providers to evaluate their strengths and needs relative to "best practices"

* the ability of early intervention providers to locate and secure resources (in terms of both people and materials) on regional, state, and national levels

* the number of early intervention providers and family members in making presentations on implementing quality practices within a given state and in neighboring states
* the interaction and coordination among individual programs on regional and statewide basis through the networks

As a result of these project activities, there has been an increase in the quality and range of services offered by programs and the variability and type of family involvement within programs. Based upon on interactions with people in these states and analysis of the evaluation data, however, there continues to be a need for variety and flexibility in training and staff development activities that are offered to people. Additionally, support for meaningful involvement of families in all aspects of service delivery continues to be a challenge.

D. Effects on the Field of Early Education for Children with Disabilities and Their Families

Two major aspects of the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project that will likely result in long-term effects on the field are the Best Practices Model and the Outreach Model. Through this project, replication of these models within six states in the Southeastern region of the United States has provided additional data on the model's cost effectiveness and impact.

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project should have a major impact on the field through:

* The establishment of a network of people from the Southeastern region of the United States as evidenced by participation in the two conferences and the desire to seek out mechanisms to continue this venture.

* The broadening and strengthening of networks of collegial support within each of the targeted states. The result has been two-fold: (a) through collaboration, agencies are working together to provide comprehensive services where services had been fragmented; and (b) services have been expanded and quality has been enhanced due to training that has been made available to child care providers, families, health care providers, and others by regional early childhood special education and support personnel.

* The publication of a description of the training activity for the orientation workshops.

* The publication of a description of the outreach model and approach including evaluation data on the project. We will make every effort to publish this data in one of the major professional publications of the field.

X. FUTURE ACTIVITIES

Articles on the outreach process and the overview of recommended practices will be refined and submitted for publication in professional journals (e.g., Teaching Exceptional Children, Journal of Early Intervention).

XI. ASSURANCE STATEMENT

A copy of the full final report has been sent to the ERIC/OSEP Special Project Clearinghouse. A copy of the title page and abstract executive summary have been sent to: NEC*TAS, the | November 1991 | * Sent notification letters to DOE Preschool Services, DOE Children's Rehabilitation Services (CRS), ICC chair, and DEC chair.

* Received listing of SED coordinators, ICC members, and DEC members for mailing list. |
| December 1991 | * Talked with Dr. Nancy McDaniel, Special assistant to DOE for Part H to schedule meeting with Magnolia staff and CSPD Task Force to discuss possible project activities in Alabama. |
| January 1992  | * Initial meeting with AL Advisory Bd. (CSPD Task Force) to present Magnolia objectives and get feedback on project goals and strategies. Diane Roberts, CRS, will send us information about training needs and Part H system. A conference call will be scheduled for later date to discuss further plans.
* Sent follow-up letters to Advisory Bd. members. |
| February 1992 | * Phone conversation with F. Biasini to make plans for conference call and get names of other key persons to be involved in planning.
* Sent letter to Roan Frederick, Part H Coordinator (had met Ms. Frederick in Baltimore at NEC*TAS mtng.; she could not attend Ad. Bd. mtng.).
* Phone conversation with Samera Baird, Auburn Univ. (ICC Personnel Prep. Committee chair); she was requesting info. on paraprofessional training. Sent variety of resources, including info. about other EEPCD projects focusing on paraprofessional training. |
| March 1992    | * Had conference call with CSPD Task Force to discuss Magnolia's first "Best Practices" workshop, scheduled for Birmingham and sponsored by the AL Central Council for Children with Disabilities. This workshop will be open to staff of direct service projects and local ICC members (LCC) throughout the state. Sent 300 brochures to be distributed with workshop announcements. |
| April 1992    | * Phone conversation with Beverly Hunter, 619 coor.; DOE is working on developing a model for integrated child care as a mechanism for providing preschool services. Sent variety of resources, including TOT Training Module Three and several videos.
* Finalized plans for June workshop in Birmingham. |
May 1992
* Sent final workshop outline for workshop to CSPD Task Force members and letter requesting a meeting with Advisory Board following the workshop.

June 1992
* Magnolia presented "Best Practices" workshop including overview of self-assessment process with illustration of support services component. The workshop included follow-up activities for participants to have extended opportunities for integrating workshop ideas and practices. The F-U activities also provided Magnolia with the names of programs/individuals interested in continuing relationships with our project.
* Advisory Board met to plan strategies for continued participation. Contact persons for three LCCs indicating desire for F-U participation were identified.
* Sent memos to F-U participants and letters to three LCC chairs.

July 1992
* Had response calls from two of the LCC chairs that had been contacted following the June workshop, Judy Belyeu -- West AL Early Intervention Council (WAEIC) and Linda Graham -- Coordinating Handicapped Infant and Preschool Services Council (CHIPS). Calls resulted in identifying training needs and scheduling workshops in these two regions.

August 1992
* Made contact with Dawn Ellis, Comprehensive Early Intervention Services Council in Huntsville. This region is very rural; services are available mostly in the immediate Huntsville area. Efforts are being made to provide training to child care providers with hopes that child care will be more responsive to the needs of families with children with disabilities. Ms. Ellis gave Magnolia information to Department of Human Resources, Child Care Services, and Child Care Council Chairpersons in Madison County and Jackson County. Requests were made for training for child care personnel in Jackson Co. and for child care administrators and care givers in Madison Co. Three workshops were planned for October and December.
* Continued plans for the Montgomery workshop scheduled for October; contacted Susanne MacGuire, Director of PPEI Program. Susanne and her staff will facilitate small group discussions on IFSP process. IFSP resources were sent to facilitators.
* Received call from Linda Forward, Department of Mental Health/Mental Retardation, Case Management Training Coordinator. She was seeking training materials and information about Magnolia’s services. Letter with brochure and project objectives were sent along with information about service coordination training materials and TOT training module five (Family).
| September 1992 | * Sent letter, project brochure, and outreach objectives to Bobbie Jo Trammel, Southwest AL Early Intervention Council (SAEIC) in Mobile. Contact name was given by Diane Roberts, CRS. After receiving the letter, Bobbie Jo called to discuss outreach activities. She agreed to share information with the LCC and call back with their response.
* Letters were sent to CSPD Task Force members to provide an update on Magnolia activities and plans. |
| October 1992 | * 10/15 IFSP workshop in Montgomery -- approximately 25 participants. Follow-up opportunity was included.
* 10/17 DAP workshop in Scottsboro -- approximately 50 participants.
* 10/19 Best Practices-Teaming workshop in Tuscaloosa -- approximately 20 participants. Follow-up opportunity was included.
* Follow-up letters and requested resources were sent to Montgomery and Tuscaloosa follow-up participants.
* Letters were sent to CSPD Task Force members regarding follow-up on the October workshops.
* Outlines for the December workshops on Developmentally Appropriate Practices (DAP) were sent to contacts in Madison County and CSPD Task Force members.
* Scheduled date to participate in Dept. of MH/MR Service Coordination training in December. The training will focus on family-centered principles and practices.
* Finalized plans for teaming workshop in Mobile on January 13. |
| November 1992 | * Phone discussion with Linda Forward, MH/MR, to schedule workshop on family-centered home visiting practices. Training will be available in two locations, Birmingham and Mobile in March. The workshops will be open to early intervention personnel from other agencies in collaboration with CRS and CSPD Task Force.
* Had request from Star Smith, SWAEIC and Baldwin Co. Child Care Council, to provide DAP workshop for the Child Care Council members in February. |
December 1992

- 12/1 Overview of Magnolia Outreach services and how project can support child care staff serving young children with disabilities was presented to Madison Co. Child Care Council Directors' meeting -- approximately 25 persons attended.
- 12/1 Developmentally Appropriate Practices was presented to the staff of Rainbow Day Care Center in Madison, AL -- approximately 25 attended.
- Phone discussion with Charlotte Stewart, WAEIC, in response to follow-up participation. Charlotte and other staff in the region had requested information about activity-based programming.
- 12/10 Participated in MH/MR training for case managers in Montgomery -- approximately 30 participants.
- Sent update to CSPD Task Force members with outlines for Mobile teaming workshop and Baldwin Co. DAP workshop.
- Scheduled planning meeting with WAEIC members in Tuscaloosa for January 15, 1993 to develop an outline and strategies for training on activity-based programming.

January 1993

- 1/10 Magnolia staff presented teaming workshop in Mobile -- approximately 17 participants.
- *Attended planning meeting in Tuscaloosa with WAEIC members to discuss possibilities for follow-up training on activity-based programming. Dates were scheduled for May 6 & 7.
- Thank you letters were sent to Bobbie Jo Trammel, Jan Blankenhorn, Jamie Ison, and Paula Tapia for their assistance with planning and hosting the teaming workshop. Follow-up letters were sent to workshop participants with response cards to be returned to give feedback on follow-up activities.
- Contacted Bruce Smith, Children's Program Director for Outlook Nashville, to ask for his assistance with the Tuscaloosa activity-based programming workshop. Bruce agreed to help.
- Phoned and sent follow-up letter to Patty Prater, Head Start REgional Coordinator, to ask for assistance in disseminating information about Magnolia and to ask for information regarding CEUs for head start personnel. Patty gave me information about the technical assistance center at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green. Participants in approved training may apply for CEUs through W KY.
- Sent follow-up letters and requested resources to WAEIC members after the meeting on 1/15. Letter included a copy of meeting notes with suggestions for training content.
- Sent letter to Linda Forward with preliminary plans for home visiting workshop for task force approval.
February 1993

Met with Samera Baird at the Tennessee Collaborative Early Childhood Conference. She is no longer chair of the Auburn LCC; the new chairperson is Marilyn Fober. Wrote to Marilyn with Magnolia objectives and brochure.

* Met with Jo-Ann Hinkle to plan the home visiting workshop for E.I. personnel in AL. Jo-Ann has agreed to participate and share her expertise on family-centered services.
* Called Linda Forward to finalize arrangements for CEUs through CRS, discuss pre-registration, workshop locations, etc. for the home visiting workshop.
* Called Star Smith, Baldwin Co. Child Care Council, to finalize plans for the 2/20 workshop.
* Presented 3 hour workshop, "Shake, Rattle, and Roll: DAP..." at Baldwin Co. -- approximately 40 participants.

March 1993

* Sent letters to SAEIC members who had returned the response cards following the teaming workshop with results and suggestions for possible ways to meet the needs that had been identified.
* March 11 & 12, Home Visiting workshops in Birmingham (40 participants) and Mobile (15 participants).
* Videotaped at Outlook Nashville for Tuscaloosa workshop.
* Sent thank you letters to Linda Forward, Teri Pinto, and Stephanie Bellflower for their assistance with planning and hosting the two workshops. Letters were also sent to AL Advisory Board members with information regarding the participating agencies and evaluation results.
* Follow-up letters were sent and requested materials were made available to approximately 40 of the home visiting workshop participants.
* Sent letter to Judy Belyeu with draft outline for activity-based programming workshop in May.
* Had request from Nancy Butcher, Huntsville early interventionist, requesting information about video listing, ADA for child care providers, and COACH project contact person, Stella Fair.

April 1993

* Had call from Diane Roberts requesting information (outline and handouts) for the activity-based programming workshop scheduled for May 6 & 7 in Tuscaloosa. Diane also asked to schedule a date/time for a conference call for Magnolia staff to talk with CRS staff about future training. The call was scheduled for April 29 at 8:30 am.
* Continued discussions with Judy Belyeu and finalized plans for A-B programming workshop. Sent materials and agenda to participants.
* Had conference call with Roan Frederick, CRS (Part H Coordinator). We discussed ways for CRS personnel to have more information regarding the content of Magnolia training. Ouida Holder was designated as the CRS staff person to contact. She will keep a file of all Magnolia training materials. Roan Frederick will ask Diane Roberts to make arrangement for the AL Advisory Bd. to meet in June or July.
May 1993

* Magnolia coordinated A - B Prog. workshop in Tuscaloosa on May 6&7. Bruce Smith was the presenter. Approximately 15 persons attended. Follow-up letters and materials were sent to participants.
* Received a listing of training needs identified by CRS, Early Intervention Unit as indicated by service providers.
* Sent Tuscaloosa evaluation and list of workshop participants to CSPD and Diane Roberts.

June 1993

* Donna and Evelyn had a conference call with Diane Roberts and Ouida Holder, acting Part H Coor. They requested a listing of Magnolia's resources and services to distribute to service providers. They also asked that we continue to keep them informed about our plans. They, in turn, will send a CRS representative to support any training we provide.
* Sent Diane Roberts letter to follow-up on conference call along with the following: resource/services listing, video listing, journal listing, Working with Families..., copies of workshop outlines, 10 brochures, and transition training module.
* Talked with Jeri Hughes to offer Magnolia's assistance with the AL E.I. Conference, scheduled for Oct. 20 - 21.
* Had request from Bobbie Jo Trammel for training E.I. personnel to give Part H eligibility evaluations. We discussed options for using regional professionals to conduct training since Mag. staff does not have expertise in this area. B.J. will keep in touch: possible participation of CRS staff in rural conference and using Mag. staff for other training possibly in late fall.

July 1993

* Sent letters to representatives from all of the LCCs with a copy of the rural conference registration form and copy of the project's resource and services listing. Also sent letters with same enclosures to Beverly Hunter, DOE, Linda Forward, DMH/MR, and Patti Prater from Gadsden Head Start.
* Rec'd. info to reserve display table (100.00) at the AL E. I. conf. Monies rec'd. through reg. fees are used for parent stipends.

August 1993

* Had call from Diane Roberts re: E. I. conf. and to thank us for sending resource listing. She forwarded info. about Mag. too LCC representatives, direct service providers, etc.
* Rec'd. copy of Diane's letter to LCC reps, et. al.
* Rec'd. three program descriptions from Diane for next newsletter.
* Sent registration fee for display table at E. I. conference.
* Nancy McDaniel, Auburn U. requested resources on rural service delivery. Sent info. about conference and listing of rural projects.
* Charlotte Stewart requested info. about the professional consultant's role in the inclusive setting. Sent COACH info.
| September 1993 | * Had request from Linda Forward for Mag. to participate in the '94 Conference of Social Work to be held in Mobile in April. Mag. will conduct two 3-hour sessions on family-centered home visiting. The conference will pay $300.00 toward expenses and will duplicate handouts for the sessions.
* Had request from Nancy McDaniel for Mag. to contribute a door prize for the AL E. I. conference. |
| October 1993 | * Three persons represented AL at the rural conf.: Jan Blankenhorn, Ginger Horn, and Kathy Jaekel.
* Donna and Evelyn attended the Augmentative Communication conf. in Birmingham. Had opportunity to talk with Star Smith, Charlotte Stewart, and Gina Harris. We met Catherine Burke, Sparks Clinic, SLP - attended session and obtained useful materials.
* D. & E. attended AL E. I. con. and had opportunity to talk with many state and regional contacts. Had several requests for resources.
* Sent Mag. information to Connie Jenkins, Southeast AL Early Intervention Council -- met Connie at Early Intervention Conf. |
| November 1993 | * Sent letter to Fred Biasini requesting his in-put on training on collaboration for LCCs.
* Sent copy of Best Practices book to Ouida Holder for Part H to use as a resource for program self-evaluation as a part of the monitoring process.
* Had request from Bobbie Jo Trammel, SWEIC, for workshop on involving families in assessment and programming.
* Sent Bob Boshell, CRS, resource info. re: Part H service delivery planning (TN and KY contacts). |
| January 1994 | * Sent final agenda and handouts to Bobbie Jo Trammel for the Feb. workshop.
* Rec'd. new Part H public awareness information from Diane Roberts. |
* Sent follow-up letters and materials that were requested from workshop participants.
* Sent Mobile workshop evaluations, small group reports, and copies of CEU documentation to Diane Roberts.
* Added two new programs and added several names to mailing list from Mobile workshop.
* Had request for resources from Linda Forward. She is working with the Part H Monitoring Task Force to develop a self-evaluation tool that will focus on quality improvements and will be based on program's stated goals. In conjunction with these changes, the committee is planning "best practices" training for service providers in each of the newly structured LCC districts (reorganized to have 7).
* Sent resources (including TN quality assurance resource paper and standards) and training outline for Part H Monitoring Task Force. |

Overview of Years 1, 2, and 3 Activities
November 1991 through October 1994

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>

</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| November 1991 | * Sent notification letters to DOE Preschool Services, Developmental Disabilities Services (Part H), ICC Chairperson, and DEC Chairperson.
              * Talked with Ruth Castlebury, Community Providers Association. She provided information about association's efforts toward promoting integrated child care options for service delivery and sent us a mailing listing of association members. |
| December 1991 | * Phone conversation with Jackie Barentine, Part H Coordinator, and Mary Kaye McKinney, 619 Coordinator. They were pleased to hear the grant has been funded.                                               |
| January 1992  | * Saw Mary Kaye McKinney and Jackie Barentine in Baltimore at the Projects meeting and talked briefly with them. We discussed meeting during the DEC conference to discuss project objectives and begin planning efforts.
              * Sent letters to Mary Kaye McKinney and Jackie Barentine outlining the project objectives and planning efforts.                                   |
| February 1992 | * Letters to Mary Kaye McKinney, Jackie Barentine, and Jackie Jones, Dept of Ed CSPD coordinator, to confirm plans for meeting during the DEC conference to form Magnolia Advisory group.                             |
| March 1992    | * Meeting during the AR DEC Conference: Our discussion at lunch with Mary Kaye McKinney, Sandra Reifeiss (DOE staff), Jackie Jones, and Jackie Barentine was very helpful to us as we work toward developing a better understanding of Arkansas' structure for providing early intervention and preschool services.
              * Made tentative plans to return to Little Rock in August to meet with preschool coordinators for best practices orientation during or prior to the AR Special Show Education Conference.
              * Sent follow-up letters to Mary Kaye McKinney, Jackie Barentine, and Jackie Jones.
              * Met Cathy Liles at the DEC conference; she is the former Part H Coordinator. The UAP contract with DD has been terminated. Cathy would like to serve on our advisory board. Sent letter to Cathy. |
May 1992

* Received call from Mary Kaye McKinney regarding Magnolia participation at the Special Show conference. It will not be possible for the preschool coordinators to come for a day prior to the conference; however our project has been given two double sessions for presentations, 1) Best Practices 2) Social Skills.
* Sent letter to Jackie Jones to inform her of plans for conference sessions and to ask to meet with her and others interested in exploring outreach opportunities. CC letter to Jackie Jones to Mary Kaye McKinney, Jackie Barentine, Bill Geiger, and Karen Barham with letters asking for their in-put.
* Contacted Joyce Maar, MTSU, to request that she assist me with presentation on social skills at conference. She agreed.
* Request from Doni Martin for video tapes and other information regarding integrated services. Sent information about Special Show conference sessions.

July 1992

* Talked with Cathy Liles at Gulf Coast Conference. We scheduled time to meet while in Little Rock for Special Show.
* Sent information about Special Show sessions to all education cooperative early childhood coordinators.
* Finalized plans for conference sessions and scheduled a meeting with Jackie Jones, Jackie Barentine, and Sandra Reifeiss (acting Dept. of Ed. Preschool Coordinator). Mary Kaye McKinney has left to coordinate the HIPPY program.
* Made follow-up call to Bill Geiger to schedule meeting with Bill and Karen Barham while in Little Rock at Special Show.

<th>August 1992</th>

| * Special Show conference -- two sessions. Twenty persons expressed desire to have follow-up opportunity (mailing list to receive newsletter, additional resources, and/or additional information regarding project’s services). Letters were sent and requests were filled.
* Meeting with Jackie Jones, Jackie Barentine, and Sandra Reifeiss was canceled. Part H has experienced a transition period since January. They are now in the process of hiring new service coordinators for most of the state’s 15 regions. There are other problems that have strained the system. Sandra Reifeiss is not sure how long she will serve as acting part B coordinator and does not feel that she is in a decision-making position.
* Met with Karen Barham and Bill Geiger. Bill and Karen felt that the transition of part H service coordination from UAP contract to lead agency has been challenging for several reasons:
  * resignation of 8 service coordinators
  * state freeze on hiring personnel (now using persons without early childhood training and/or knowledge of Part H system to provide service coordination)
  * change (20% cut) in Medicaid funding
  * limited communication between ICC and lead agency since March. Bill agreed to talk with Jackie Barentine to suggest possible ways that our project might provide outreach to AR (e.g. provide support and technical assistance to local ICCs -- they exist to some extent, but most are very weak. Some are trying to address needs of B-5 and have linkage to the regional Service Cooperative). |

| * Received call from Bill Geiger. He had talked with Jackie Barentine and felt that she had seemed receptive to discussing possibilities for using Magnolia services and resources to support Part H training. He suggested that this might be a productive time to contact her. Made plans to call and follow-up with Jackie Barentine.
* Had call from Lucretia Gartrell, 1993 DEC conference chairperson. She had seen the newsletter description of "Shake, Rattle, and Roll..." and wanted to know if we would do the same presentation at the DEC conference in April. She also offered to schedule a time for state and agency personnel to meet with our staff to explore possibilities for outreach activities in AR.
* Had inquiry from Joyce Riley regarding Magnolia outreach services. Numerous attempts were made to contact Joyce by phone. A letter was sent with dates and times for her to reach us by phone. There has been no further contact with Joyce. |

</table>
| February 1993 | * Met Diana Cunningham and sent follow-up letter inviting her to the planning session at the AR DEC conference.
* Sent letters to Sandra Reifeiss and Jackie Barentine to tell them about our plans to attend the DEC conference and to ask that they attend the planning session. |
| April 1993   | * Sent 2nd. letter to Sandra Reifeiss and Jackie Barentine.
* Wrote Bill Geiger with plans and update on communication with Jackie Barentine.
* DEC Conference sessions 1) Brainstorming Re: Magnolia outreach opportunities and 2) "Shake, Rattle, and Roll..."
* Sent follow-up letters and requested resources to workshop/session participants.
* Met with Diana Cunningham and Sandra Reifeiss to have further discussion about Magnolia training, possibly regional training for the Ozark/Northwest Education Cooperatives. Tentative plans for June or August were made for a "Best Practices" workshop. Diana will call to discuss dates, etc. |
| May 1993     | * Letters sent to Jackie Barentine and Bill Geiger, outlining discussions and plans for outreach activities in the Ozark/Northwest region.
* Follow-up letters were sent to Sandra Reifeiss and Diana Cunningham to thank them for their support and reviewing points discussed during planning meeting.
* Diana called to ask if Magnolia would be receptive to participating in an interagency regional or even statewide collaborative conference. She will contact Jackie Barentine and Sandra Reifeiss to ask for their cooperation and support. Diana will call by 5/6 to continue discussions.
* Diana reported that Jackie Barentine would like for Part H Facilitators to be included in the training, however, training will have to be scheduled after July 1. Optional dates were identified. Diana is to call within one week to confirm the date. |

| June 1993  | * Unable to go forward with plans as anticipated; Diana was out several weeks due to the death of her father. We tentatively set the week of Nov. 29th for training with the Ozarks Unlimited Resource Coop and the Northwest Coop.
  * Sent information about training to Bill Geiger and Jackie Barentine along with listing of Magnolia’s services and resources. This information was also sent to participants in the AR DEC Brainstorming session.
  * Rec’d. newsletter article submission from Jackie Jones, DOE CSPD. The article deals with a report of the AR Comm. charged with the task of researching and making recommendations regarding issues and programs for children prenatally exposed to drugs. Evelyn sent thank you letter to J. Article will appear in the Oct. issue. |
| July 1993  | * Rec’d. letter from Jackie Barentine thanking Magnolia for our recent communication re: the planned Dec. training. It will be early spring before Part H staff could be involved in training. |
| August 1993| * Cont. discussions with Diana re: B P workshops in Nov/Dec.
  * Sent letter to J. Barentine to acknowledge her letter and offer Mag. assistance during the spring and summer months. |
| September 1993 | * Cont. communication with Diana. Sent draft outlines for presentations. |
| October 1993 | * Included J. Jones article in newsletter, issue #7.
  * Rec’d. "Process Model" from Ozarks...Council. This will be helpful as we finalize plans for three-day training to include agency administrators, program directors, service providers (professionals and paraprofessionals) and parents. |
| November 1993 | * Finalized plans for the Ozarks 3-day training and two days program visits, Nov. 29 - Dec. 3.
  * Met Mary Frances Edwards, Early Childhood Coordinator at the Northwest Co-op. |
| December 1993 | * The week in Fayetteville and Harrison was very productive. Twelve new programs were added to list of AR participating programs. Follow-up letters, resources, and small group reports were sent to all programs represented. Names were added to mailing list.
  * Session evaluations and participants' requests for future training were went to: D. Cunningham, M. F. Edwards, J. Barentine, S. Reifeiss, D. Sydoriak, B. Geiger, and M. K. McKinney.
  * Submitted proposals for two sessions at the AR DEC Conference scheduled for Little Rock in April. |

| January 1994 | * Sent letters to D. Cunningham and M. F. Edwards outlining possibilities for returning for follow-up support and training in May or June.
* D. Cunningham sent pictures from the Harrison workshops and a letter indicating a preference for mid-June for follow-up visit. The topic selected is Family Involvement. |
| February 1994 | * Talked with Diana and sent a packet of Family materials for her review in planning the June training. |
| March 1994    | * Had letter from D. Cunningham. She has shared information about Magnolia and the workshops with other Co-op Early Childhood Coor. in the state.
* Sent letters to M. F. Edwards, Lowell Collins and Lou Jasper (Benton Co. Sunshine School), and Nancy Redman (Children's House) with the proposed dates for the Northwest/Ozarks Co-op trainings.
* Received call from Colleen Jackson, North Central Co-op, asking about the possibility for Magnolia to provide training in August. Tentative dates and topics were discussed.
* Received a call from Theda Martin, Miss Polly's Learning Center (child care) asking about the possibility of Magnolia providing training in the early fall for child care providers seeking information to serve young children with disabilities.
* Had a call from Nancy Redman to express an interest in her staff's participation in the June training.
* Letters were sent in response to calls from Colleen, Theda, and Nancy. |
| April 1994    | * Sent draft outlines for NC Co-op training in August to C. Jackson.
* Received a call from M. F. Edwards expressing her interest in training for the N.W. Co-op staff on Functional Programming. A draft outline was sent for her review. Dates and content will be finalized in early May.
* Attended the AR DEC Conference in Little Rock. Magnolia presented two sessions and had the opportunity to make new contacts as well as the opportunity to talk with others we had met previously.
* Sent follow-up letters and materials and added names to mailing list.
* Mary Kaye McKinney has changed agencies; she is now with the AR Dept. of Ed. and will be working on preschool transitions. |
| May 1994      | * Continued discussions with D. Cunningham, M. F. Edwards, and C. Jackson regarding plans for Magnolia workshops in the three co-op regions that are scheduled for June and August. |

| June 1994    | * Presented all-day workshops on communication with families and among agencies in Harrison (Ozarks Co-op) and curriculum in Fayetteville (NW Co-op). Left copies of Magnolia training modules, rural conference Proceedings and other resources with M. F. Edwards (NW Co-op). Sent evaluation data and thank-you letters to D. Cunningham and M. F. Edwards.
* Finalized plans for the NC workshops with C. Jackson. |
| July 1994    | * Received call from Janie Spence in W. Memphis regarding training requested by Theda Martin earlier this spring. Dates for training have been scheduled for fall of '94, after Magnolia has ended. |
| August 1994  | * Presented two all-day workshops (1) curriculum and (2) social skills at the Northwest Arkansas Education Service Center’s 1994 Extravaganza in Batesville. Most of those attending (66 on day one; 71 on day two) were child care and Head Start personnel. Copies of training modules and other resources were left with Colleen Jackson to be added to the Co-op’s resources. |
| September 1994 | * Two representatives participated in the Hidden Treasures meeting: Jeffrey Nolte and Wanda Stovall.
* Sent Laura Sparks, Early Childhood personnel, journal resources and working with families packet |
| Extension October 1994 - April 1995 |  Dissemination of Best Practices Resources
 Involvement in ongoing networking between/among providers & families
* Dissemination of Hidden Treasures Proceedings
* Technical assistance and training, as requested
* Inform Arkansas personnel that video resources have been transitioned to Tennessee Part H monitors

APPENDIX B

"Best Practices" Materials

Sample from Component I: Curriculum Programming

Self-Assessment Form

Using the Self-Assessment Form and Planning Guide

Planning Guide: Philosophy and Issues
Component 1: Key Terms

» Environment
Where the child lives and plays, such as:
• home (bathroom, bedroom, living room...)
• school (gym, classroom, play area, snack area...)
• hospital (NICU, pediatrics...).

» Curricula
All the activities that are appropriate and necessary to help the child develop.

» Functional Curricula
Teaching the skills that are useful and purposeful for the child in settings that are as nearly normal as possible.

» Ecological inventory/environmental assessment
An assessment which considers the importance of the child’s present and future environments.

» Naturally occurring cues
Any cues in the environment that may help the child recognize when, where, and why to use a particular skill. (Seeing a cup, the child makes a motion to pick it up to drink. The cup is a naturally occurring cue to take a drink.)

» Activity-based programming
Programming in which skills targeted for instruction are scheduled for training within activities. Activity-based programming:
• occurs throughout the day
• occurs across a variety of individuals
• occurs within a variety of contexts
• makes use of naturally occurring circumstances
• uses a variety of materials.

» Antecedent
An event that happens before a child exhibits a behavior. The child’s behavior may or may not be influenced by or related to the event.

behavior related to event event: child sees his or her mother behavior: child says ma-ma behavior not related to event event: lightning flashes across the sky behavior: child says cookie

» Consequences
Events following a child’s behavior which strengthen, maintain, or lessen the behavior.

Component 1:
Curriculum Programming

Child-Centered Assessments

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Do assessments consider the child’s:
  • needs in the current environment?
  • current level of functioning?
  • potential needs in future environments?

Curriculum Content

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Are skills chosen for training:
  • useful for the child now?
  • appropriate for the child’s developmental age?
  • teachable during various activities?
  • intended to increase the child’s ability to interact with people and things?
  • taught during times in which using the skill is appropriate and makes sense?

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Are goals and objectives embedded into both naturally occurring daily activities and planned activities?

IEPs and IFSPs

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Do the IEPs and IFSPs you write—
  1. Reflect family concerns, strengths, and needs?
  2. Set objectives based on an analysis of the child assessments and the ecological inventory?
  3. Identify training needs that are:
     • useful?
     • immediately applicable?
     • appropriate to the child?
     • appropriate to the family?
  4. Allow the child to join in an activity even though unable to perform the skills without help?

Component 2: Organization of the Learning Environment

Settings

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Are settings based upon the individual needs of the child and family?

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Settings should be flexible, because those needs change over time. Are yours?

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Is your use of space efficient and safe? Do you have:
  • clearly posted general safety guidelines?
  • clearly delineated areas (listening/reading area, academic area, art area . . .)?
  • adequate space to move about?
  • appropriate modifications in place (door closed to reduce noise, adequate lighting, carpeted area)?

Organization of Instruction

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Does the schedule:
  • assign staff responsibilities?
  • assign children to activities and classroom areas?
  • allow adequate time for each activity?
  • allow the use of appropriate equipment and materials?

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Are activities organized to:
  • reflect the educational needs of each child?
  • address appropriate educational objectives throughout the day?
  • provide a balance of 1-to-1, small-group, and large-group instruction?
  • promote integration with typical peers?

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Are activities:
  • appropriate to the needs of the child and family?
  • useful to the child?
  • making use of naturally occurring cues?

Using the Self-Assessment Form

Look through the table of contents and select the components that pertain to your own needs and those of your program. Rank those components by order of importance and turn to the highest-ranked. Read the key terms and discussion, then complete the companion section of the self-assessment form. Then do the same for the other components.

Four statements are given in response to the questions on the self-assessment form; mark them as they apply to your program. The statements are not mutually exclusive—you may want to mark more than one.

Here are the criteria for selecting each statement:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Statement</th>
<th>Criteria for selection</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>This is an important part of my program.</td>
<td>The information reflects an important aspect of your current program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'd like my program to improve in this area.</td>
<td>Your program could benefit by some or all of the ideas or information.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'm not sure why this is important.</td>
<td>You are not sure that the information is relevant to your program or why it is said to be important.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I'd like more information on this.</td>
<td>You would like additional information about:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• the type of information that is available</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>• sources of additional information.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Using the Planning Guide

Included in this book (see p. 76) is a reproducible planning guide to help you summarize your findings and develop a strategy to make whatever improvements you find necessary. (A sample completed planning guide is on p. 74 of the appendix.)

To use the planning guide:

1. Review the items you have checked in each of the component sections of the self-assessment form.
2. Determine which items from each component are most important to you, your program, and your staff, and assign a priority to each.
3. List the specific actions that will change priorities into realities. Be sure to include who is responsible for each action, and when completion is expected. You may make additional copies of the self-assessment form and planning guide, as needed.

FOLLOW-UP ACTIVITIES -- BEST PRACTICES: EVALUATING EARLY CHILDHOOD SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

The follow-up activities are intended to provide you with opportunities to integrate the ideas presented during the presentation. The activities range from sharing of information you received at the conference session to actual implementation and evaluation of strategies to make whatever refinements in your program you find necessary. The purposes of the follow-up activities are:

* To provide you with the opportunity to extend the application of the ideas presented during this session

* To provide you with the opportunity to continue to explore the process of program evaluation and program planning

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FOLLOW-UP ACTIVITIES

* Carefully review the activities that are described on the next page.

* Select the activity (or activities) that is (are) most important to you, your program, and other staff in your program.

* Decide who will be involved in the activity (activities).

* Complete the activity (activities) and evaluate the quality of information gained.

Magnolia Circle Outreach Project
Box 328, Peabody of Vanderbilt
Nashville, TN 37203
1-800-288-7733
I. SHARE the materials and ideas from this presentation with staff and administrators from your agency and/or other agencies.

For example,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Material/idea to be shared</th>
<th>Staff from your program</th>
<th>Administrators from your program</th>
<th>Staff from another agency</th>
<th>Administrators from another agency</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Handouts and notes from session</td>
<td></td>

<td></td>
<td>X</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Caregivers self rating scale</td>
<td>X</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Best Practices self-assessment form</td>
<td>X</td>
<td></td>
<td>X</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
II. EVALUATE the following:

* where your program is relative to best practices in social skills (or some other area)
* where you would like to be in the future

During the evaluation process, use:
* the notes/ideas you listed on the "Strategies for Change" handout at the training session
* the handouts from the presentation
* the Best Practices Self-Assessment Form
* the Self-Rating Scale for Special Caregivers

III. SET GOALS for implementation of activities to refine your practices/policies and DEVELOP A PLAN OF ACTION.

Here again, use the ideas and information from the presentation to help you define and prioritize these goals. Set the stage for success:

* make sure all involved understand the mutually agreed upon goals and plan of action
* ensure support for the plan from administrators
* as a team, prepare to provide support to each other

The Best Practices Planning Guide may provide a useful tool for 1) determining which ideas are most important to you at this time and 2) listing specific actions that will change priorities into realities. Be sure to include who is responsible for each action and when completion is expected.

IV. IMPLEMENT, EVALUATE, AND REVISE YOUR PLAN

For these activities, refer back to the plan of action you and the other staff developed in Activity III. Use the following questions to guide your evaluation process.

* How does what you planned to do compare with what actually occurred during implementation?
* What was successful about implementing the plan? Why?
* What changes, if any, to the original plan were made? Why?
* What would you be interested in sharing with others about these activities?

These activities will need to be conducted on an ongoing basis as policies and practices develop to reflect the evolving body of knowledge in early intervention and early childhood special education.
Please check the statements that reflect your thoughts regarding workshop follow-up activities.

I welcome the opportunity to extend the application of ideas presented during the training session by participating in the following:

- sharing workshop materials/ideas with staff/administrators from my own program
- sharing workshop materials/ideas with staff/administrators from other programs
- using the "Best Practices" self assessment for program evaluation
- having a copy of the workshop training module
- other ____________________________

I would like the opportunity for follow-up support by:

- meeting with other workshop participants to share ideas and/or evaluate progress of activity-based programming implementation
- having follow-up meeting(s) to expand training content to include more information/practice on ____________________________
- phone consultation with Magnolia Circle Project staff
- other ____________________________

Magnolia Circle Outreach Project

The Magnolia Circle Outreach Project works with state and community agencies to assist in improving the established systems of services for young children with disabilities from identification to age five. The Project:

* Trains early interventionists to assess the strengths and needs of individual early intervention programs relative to the "best practices" model
* Assists programs in establishing or maintaining Reciprocal Technical Assistance and Training Networks for sharing "best practices" and local, state, and national resources
* Provides consultation, inservice training, and technical assistance on a statewide and regional basis to stimulate the development and dissemination of "best practices."

An Invitation to Contribute

The Magnolia Circle Outreach staff welcome submission of articles. If you would like to share information on activities in your program, happenings in your state, resource materials, or other items of interest, please contact us at 800-288-7733 (outside Tennessee) or 615-322-8277 (inside Tennessee). We also appreciate comments regarding information you would like to see printed in the newsletter.

News from the States

Alabama

The Magnolia staff have continued planning efforts with the CSPD Task Force and the coordinators for several of the Local Coordinating Councils (LCCs) in Alabama. The CSPD-sponsored workshop "Teaming for Successful Coordination of Assessment and Program Planning" was presented by our staff on June 11th in Birmingham. Fifty-five persons representing a variety of agencies and state departments participated. The highlight was a "teaming" activity that helped attendees understand and experience the advantages and disadvantages of three team models.

Follow-up with the coordinators of several of the LCCs have resulted in plans for workshops in Montgomery and Tuscaloosa and a workshop in Scottsboro for the Jackson County Daycare Association (see Calendar for dates). We are making every effort possible to obtain input from local providers in order to plan experiences that will be pertinent to their needs.

Arkansas

On August 6th and 7th the Magnolia staff participated in the Arkansas Special Show, Arkansas's statewide special education conference. The conference, attended by over 1700 persons, had many local as well as out-of-state presenters. Our staff made two presentations, "Best Practices: Evaluating Early Childhood Special Education Programs" and "Developing Social Interaction Skills in the Integrated Preschool Setting." We also met with several community service providers, representatives from the Arkansas Department of Education, university faculty, and ICC representatives. We are looking forward to establishing relationships with a number of local service providers who are interested in learning more about the services Magnolia Circle Outreach has to offer.

Kentucky

Over the past few months, the Magnolia staff have continued contact with our Kentucky Advisory Committee through meetings, phone calls, and letters. The Magnolia Circle Advisory Committee is comprised of representatives from the State Division of Mental Retardation, the Department of Education/Division of Early Childhood, the Regional Training Centers, Kentucky SPIN, Universities, Early Intervention and Preschool Program Directors/Providers, and Head Start.

The Magnolia Staff presented a session entitled "Shake, Rattle, and Roll: Developmentally Appropriate Practices for Infants and Toddlers" at the Kentucky Regional Early Childhood Summer Institutes.

EVALUATION COMMENTS

MAGNOLIA CIRCLE OUTREACH PROJECT WORKSHOP: SERVICE COORDINATION

Harrison, AR – 19 Respondents

As a result of participation in the workshop I plan to:

✓ Keep paying attention to the needs of the parents and realize the treatment they get from other people is not the same as I treat them
✓ Use the information in order to improve my interactions with parents, as well as improve my interactions with other professionals and co-workers
✓ Carry information back to staff for sharing and keep the information at my desk for easy access
✓ Spend more time listening to parents & drawing them out
✓ Get to know what services are available to my parents
✓ Listen more to what the child and teacher are saying
✓ To listen more and help parents be more involved as team members
✓ Be more aware of how I approach and respond to the families I work with. Be more informed of the services provided.
✓ Be open to the small differences in my families. Also to be more open to their needs and issues at the first of the visit. LISTEN BETTER and have more resources information with me on home visits.
✓ Do my best at my home visits. Be more open to my parents’ problems
✓ I will try to have proper information available that will help my families
✓ Try to listen more and be more responsive
✓ Be prepared with resources

Suggestion for future training:

✓ Have more hands-on activities. More group activities and less lecturing.
✓ Have more groups working together on "real life" things

And furthermore:

✓ I appreciate the role-playing. It gave me an idea of how complex our system is and how individual each case or family unit’s problems are

Comments for presenters:

✓ I really like the handouts for reference and the group activities were wonderful for expanding my understanding of “how it works”.
✓ Thank you very much!
✓ Even more hands-on, less "you need to address this" and more "here are some suggestions, tools, resources, etc."
✓ You did a good job, but hands-on activities seem to help me in understanding my job better.
✓ I think you could jazz it up a little more. More exciting things, more doing, and less talking
✓ I felt that the workshop was very well presented and both presenters were very well informed. The small group discussions were useful because they forced you to work and achieve goals with individuals that were not familiar to you
✓ The presenters were very well organized and presented the material well.
✓ Presenters were great facilitators.
✓ Both presenters were well prepared
✓ You did a great job. I liked the variety of presentations and enjoyed the small group discussions very much.
✓ Great
✓ It moved well and I did not get bored -- even after lunch!!!
✓ I thought the last part of the workshop was very interesting. I really enjoyed being here.

1. What are some ways you have been involved with Magnolia (e.g. video library, newsletter, workshops/presentations, etc.)?

   Video library 15
   Newsletter 22
   Workshop/Presentations 20
   Resources/Referrals 5

2. Which of the services did you find to be most helpful?

   Video library 10
   Newsletter 4
   Workshop/Presentations 12
   Resources/Referrals 4

Why?

Video library:
*Useful for inservice
*Addressed issues that are pertinent to our development
*We are a very low budget program and cannot afford to rent/purchase many tapes.
Can review and make choices. Also find the service very helpful as a means of study for staff and parents.
*They are very informative and useful to use with teachers and parents
*Ideas in the videos were explained well and easy to understand
*Because they can be used for training. Access to information not presently in use or available to us
*Allowed us to do staff training not otherwise available
*We are located in a rural area with limited access to educational items to help families/caregivers
*Access to another source of information/shared information

Newsletter:
*Keepps us in touch with information
*We are a small county and they have enabled us to keep in touch and up to date with other services and programs across the state.
*Keep me/staff up to date
*Addressed issues that are pertinent to our development
*Information sharing

Workshops/Presentations:
*Topics relevant/real
*Were easily organized, and presenters were very flexible and knowledgeable *Excellent information for a group of my students who attended-future OT’s who will work with families
*In January 1992 this Division implemented a statewide service coordination program for infants and toddlers. The workshops/presentations done by Project Magnolia have been of considerable assistance in our training of service coordinators, particularly in orienting them to the family-centered approach
*Enabled us to talk with other people doing programming - share experience, frustration, new ideas
*Workshop on Teaming (interagency collaboration) was helpful to CCC participants. Workshop on Family Centered home visiting was helpful to CRS agency staff who attended - helps them provide better services
*Information concerning technical assistance available to states and difference in states’ programs
*Opportunity for "dialogue" with other professionals with variety of experiences, ideas

Resources/Referrals:
*Project has an extensive network of service providers, information resources and experiences in dealing with young children, I have found information provided by [the project] to be accurate and useful
*Information on parent involvement particularly informative
*Helpful

On Site Visits/Personal Contact:
*Most helpful

Phone Consultations:
*So handy, immediate and helpful
*For follow-through on information gained from newsletter or workshops; brush up on information on best practices

State Advisory Committee:
*Interaction with other providers and University Project staff has enabled us to keep in touch and up to date with other services and programs across the state
3. Have the project staff provided assistance to you and/or your program? ___ How?

   Yes 20
   No 5
   N/A 4

How?
* Providing information on materials and with workshops
* Indirectly through the newsletter, video library, and presentations
* Through training
* Anticipate the benefit of the video library and future contact through workshops.
Although our programs address slightly different populations, the overall purpose and service delivery is similar.
* We are trying to schedule a workshop in [our state]
* Have provided consultation about training possibilities to our early intervention local coordinating council
* Project staff has particularly been of assistance in the provision of training and information. They also have provided assistance and facilitation in helping the statewide service network better work together
* Primarily through the workshops
* Through the workshop
* By videotaping for us. Helping us get information out
* By phone, sent resources
* Very prompt responses to requests for material
* [The project] provides me with a network of information, including contacts around the country and up to date information on materials and practices in early intervention
* On site visit, phone contact
* Up dated information is most helpful
* Presented workshop on training need as identified by our group
* Assisted in site development and workshop training
* Our program has gone through Best Practices evaluation previously - project provided "follow through" and brush up over the phone - both intensity and duration of phone consultation was appreciated
* General information and through committee work
* On site visit, access to video library, and phone consultations
* Phone consultations

4. Have project materials (e.g. workshops and/or video resource handouts) been useful to you in your role as parent, service coordinator, administrator, etc.? ___ Please describe ways these materials have been used.

   Yes 27
   No 1
   N/A 1

Please describe ways these materials have been used:
* Videos were germane though production quality of tapes themselves were bad
* Videotapes have been shown to parent groups and used for staff inservice
* Have used information from Family Involvement training module for course (OT for infants and children

131
*Workshop material useful and applicable to our program
*As a parent, your videos on visually impaired children were excellent. We copied several to provide to the school systems
*Used materials in training for self, staff and parents
*For reference and handouts
*Just implementing home based visiting at our site and the video on the topic was especially useful
*We are using [project] workshop ideas and handouts in our training
*Best practices materials were extremely helpful in developing program
*Best practices useful
*I use [the project] to help me locate multiple types of information for my responsibilities as an administrator
*Intend to use videos and to make list available to other service providers
*We will be using these materials soon as we research for developing parent education materials for districts
*To train parent advisors (staff) who have various needs
*Videos have been used for teacher training activities in university course work
*Involved paraprofessionals with other program people at workshops which greatly encouraged them about the job they were doing - gave them an opportunity to contribute what they have learned and learn what others are doing
*[Workshop materials] have been useful to service coordinators as a learning tool during training sessions and as a resource/reference following training
*Service coordinators have used information from family centered home visiting workshop in daily contact with families
*Teachers that have participated in workshops have used information from Shake, Rattle & Roll presentation
*Shared [information from workshop] with staff
*Videos have been used in inservices for staff and parents
*For teaching purposes - Building our own lending library.
*Used Best Practices with parents and in workshops
*Activity-based materials and videos used as inservice

5. Have Magnolia sponsored activities and/or materials enabled you/your staff to learn about current recommended practices in early intervention/early childhood special education?
   Please describe.

   Yes_24_   No_4_   N/A_3_

Please describe:
Yes:
*Director's participation in committees allowed her access to new topics and to speakers up to date on information about specific topics. Looking forward to the rural conference
*Information on video is current-practical-easy to understand *Particularly about inclusion. They have also reinforced our beliefs and our methods of operation
*Information of home based services. Also recommended books that we purchased
*The Best Practices material we borrowed was helpful and through [the project] workshops I've actually learned more about programs within [my home state]
*Staff reported first portion of inservice was not beneficial due to their knowledge of material. The second session was great and they are using programming information in their work
*We have begun our statewide service coordination program, training provided regarding the family-centered approach has been particularly helpful in conveying the philosophy to service coordinators.
*Information on teaming, transdisciplinary, home visiting
*The workshop enabled participants to become more familiar with family dynamics and strategies for working with families. Staff is available on the telephone to answer questions relating to services and legislation relating to young children
*Information about Part H, etc.
*Specifically for me the home visit information
*Through the newsletter
*Best practices
*[The project] presented an excellent session at our state-wide E I conference and received high ratings from the participants
*Pre-school staff have kept in touch
*Magnolia has been very helpful in supplying us with useful articles and books (Best Practices) that have helped us in the development of our materials and training
*Hiring support mothers viewed on video as a new idea for our program
*By providing training in current topics
*The newsletter contains useful information. Videos have helped us stay in touch.

No:
*Reinforced what we’re doing but did not actually learn new things [from videos and newsletter]
*Learned more and reinforced what we are doing, not new
*Staff unable to attend any of scheduled workshops, not from lack of interest in topics but because of time conflicts

6. Has participation in Magnolia sponsored activities enabled you/your staff to interact with staff from other programs? _____ If so, how has this been helpful?

Yes _16_  No _12_

If so, how as this been helpful?
*Develop relationships and networks that promote collaboration in own community
*Worked with programs with similar needs - allowed us to interact during workshops at conferences, etc.
*Personnel from different agencies were invited to workshop - this enable different agencies to communicate among themselves
*Support system from people met during training
*An awareness of other programs both in and out of state
*Interaction has provided networking opportunities helpful in future contacts as well as in ideas
*Through the workshop presentation, we interacted with staff from other programs.
*Building better and more collaborative relations with agencies / helped us see common interests between programs
*I have had contact with others involved in management roles. I have also talked with a number of service providers from out-of-state who are part of [the project’s] network
*Staff has made contact, had visits from other programs, and visited other sites
*With our staff attendance at workshops
*Met another person who has been a great resource
*Networking is helpful
*Enhanced interagency collaboration

7. Has Magnolia provided you with information and/or resources that you have shared with staff within your program? ____ With other programs? ____ Please describe.

Yes. 28

*Newsletter and videos
*Activity based programming
*Video tapes
*Best Practices, journal articles, newsletter
*With the county school system
*Video list, etc
*Committee efforts
*Among our 6 teachers. They have shared ideas and information
*Videos were viewed by many disciplines in our program
*Shared information on "home visiting; with early intervention staff in Atlanta
*Newsletter
*Teaching personnel at the University, with students, with parents of students with disabilities
*CAP program at large - return from one training and gave a sharing session with all 5 CAP centers
*Best Practices materials, workshop information; newsletters, etc.
*Information has been shared directly with service coordinators and indirectly through service coordination contact with other agencies.
*Among ourselves
*Newsletter, videos
*Information has been used by us as we redesigned our service delivery system from intake to transition. Conference presentation attended by our staff
*Best Practices was very helpful
*Have recommended book Best Practices to program in Wyoming where I previously worked
*Materials from home visiting workshop have been shared in the office
8. Can you give examples of opportunities Magnolia provided for you/your staff to interact with staff from other programs?

*Workshops, group activities
*Workshop, TEINCH
*Kentucky planning group, workshop
*Teaming activities during 2-day training
*At workshop
*At DEC Conference 1993
*Training activities are generally structured to provide small group interaction opportunities. This is particularly helpful in exchanging ideas and developing future helpful working relationships
*In the joint inservices or conferences sessions
*I make it a point to bring at least one member of the staff to Advisory Meetings. Staff interactions at National and in-state meeting.
*Increased awareness of what other programs provide in order of make appropriate referrals and give information to parents

9. Has the outreach assistance provided by Magnolia had an impact on the quality of services to children and families? If so, can you give examples?

*Sharing resources
*New program incorporating ideas from the project
*Tapes on working with visually impaired children very helpful in home settings and school settings
*Two staff members from our agency who work with rural populations will attend the Nashville Conference - this should be helpful
*As an evaluation and comparative instrument it was extremely helpful
*It is nice to have a technical assistance network that covers several states where ideas can be passed on to benefit our families
*Since I work in a state level position, I am unable to give children/families specific examples that service coordinators/programs can give. In general, I think Magnolia has impacted the quality of services by stressing the family centered philosophy as well as the importance of interagency collaboration *Indirectly, through sharing of training ideas
The videos on feeding were especially good for parents
*The family focused training was very helpful. Came back from training with a more formalized plan to implement
*Hopefully, "home visits" information has impacted the way in which our staff relate to parents
*Training for staff
*Use of videotapes teaches staff and parents who then put information into practice in care and training of children.
*Information used in day care providers training which impact the children's care
*Simply by reinforcing the level of services needed to made the difference
*Videos shared
*Utilizing Best Practices enhanced the quality of services to children and their families
*Accurate and resourceful information that was used in program design affecting all aspects of the program
*Encouraged paraprofessionals that they were providing services like other people with similar frustrations and some good successes
*By having better trained staff to try new ideas and pass that information on to parent. Tapes have validated what we are doing.
*Activity based information - restructured our program this summer, will implement this fall

10. Have you/your staff used The Best Practices: Evaluating Early Childhood Special Education Programs book as a program self-assessment tool? _____ If so, what did you find helpful about this process?
   Yes 7     No 21

What did you find helpful about this process?
Yes:
*As an evaluation and comparative instrument it was extremely helpful
*Consolidated thing to look for as we developed our program
*I have recommended its use to others
*All of it
*We used this as a tool and guide more than an evaluation

No:
*Director did not want to use it
*We hope to this year
*Not yet, but plan to after training this year
*We serve an older population, but the concepts are applicable across programs
*N/A to services coordination
*We have suggested it, but have not yet seen the results
*Not at the present time
*We have our own SKI HI Homebased assessment tool

Please give us your suggestions regarding ways for Magnolia’s outreach assistance to improve in these areas:

* Enabling staff to interact with staff from other programs - 18 responses
  *Increase statewide training focus to provide more opportunities for programs from various parts of the state to interact. Though regional/local based training helps to strengthen local relationships, there is a lot to be said for programs being exposed to ideas/ways of doing things that may be somewhat different than in local/regional areas.
*Doing well with us. The 800 number is very helpful.
*During training divide [people from same areas] up - teams could share more-written input that can be shared with others
*Drive in and half-day conferences, discussions, and up dates helpful. My staff always appreciates this activity
*Roundtable discussions with professionals and parents with structure to avoid becoming "gripe sessions"
*During workshops, provide some small group activities for participants from a community to work together as a team, and other activities where participants are randomly grouped (or deliberately mixed)
*Continuing with newsletter as that let's me know what other people are doing so we can make contact if desired - also the group interaction format at workshops is good
*By providing funding/staff for release to journey to workshops/conferences
*[Project] could provide a community training (1 day) sponsored by a host agency. This would provide an opportunity for providers in a city or community to work together
*Conference is a big step in that direction
*Mini workshops - 1 day sessions
*Nice at workshops to be housed at program sites for opportunity to see programs or even just the physical setting. We often get ideas by how seeing how other set things up
*To video tape state-of-the-art programs and have them available through loan. We cannot travel throughout the country to see these programs
*Teleconferences
*Resource directory on specialties of other programs
*Collaborative meeting state wide; teleconferences; directory of staff
*Don't know unless you can hold workshops closer to us - Jackson is a long drive for a day long workshop
*Perhaps the newsletter

* Providing assistance for using the Best Practices program assessment tool - 8 responses
*[We] have discussed NAECY's Best Practices vs Special Educations Best Practices - I think educating John Q Public about young children in general regarding basic developmental needs, parenting skills, and health practices are important. Colleges in our state are not consistent with curriculum for teachers. We all need to agree on a common goal to work toward instead of going so many different directions.
* I think program assessment is very important - however, being a part-time coordinator, I could not convince my director that time spent in program assessment would be very worthwhile. Perhaps a workshop addressing this area could be helpful.
*1-800 number is very comforting
*A training session on this could be used by a community event mentioned above
*Phone follow-up/access for advice or answering questions. Meeting or further workshops
*Come to [my county]
*Offer more information regarding this
* Other - 11 respondents
  * Current resource lists on your lending library - maybe twice a year
  * Available grants
  * We appreciate the direct communications Vanderbilt - A small county can sometimes feel isolated. It helps us keep in touch. We appreciate [the project staff]
  * No specific recommendations. I do want to add, however, that [the project staff’s] warmth and positive presentation of self and ideas are a real strength of the Magnolia Project. Their teaching and interaction styles are very effective
  * The Magnolia Outreach Project staff have been extremely helpful in sharing their expertise with our program. The goals and objectives of the project are very worthwhile and beneficial.
  * Ideas regarding or help in accessing technical equipment (computers for regional office) for our program (through Foundation Grants, etc). Ways to learn more about programs in neighboring states.
  * I’m working with a school system now and will be thinking of ways to utilize your program. It was most helpful last year and I believe can assist with the program I now work with.
  * Search for parent groups to let them know about [the projects]
  * Hands-on on best practices.
  * Traveling staff
  * More seminars where [the project staff] participate and present.
  * Inclusion - e.g., daycare is so unstructured compared to highly structured programs, how do you make transition

SOUTHEAST RURAL SERVICE DELIVERY CONFERENCE
EVALUATION - 31 RESPONDENTS

AS A RESULT OF PARTICIPATION IN THIS CONFERENCE I PLAN TO:

- Become more aware of the services available in our area
- Be more active in parent to parent network
- Consider some creative ideas
- Share learned information with service providers in my state
- Be more sensitive and supportive of rural programs in my state
- Use nominal group technique or modifications during m-teams and try to motivate other teachers in our school system to use it. Use information from suggestions by others, continue contacts/networking for support and stimulation. I got some great ideas for future action.
- Use the ideas in our PTI (Parent Training & Information) center and individual cases I work with. There were wonderful ideas as far as the presentation of the conference/workshop
- To check into grant writing; more interagency coordination
- Keep doing what I'm doing and not leave this profession to work at the Wal-Mart. The support with the kindred spirits was invaluable
- Stay involved, stay informed - be more parent-oriented
- Look for alternative ideas in order to provide more services for people and families served
- Use round-robin system
- Explore alternative locations for providing services; work with parent-to-parent representative from Trade, TN to facilitate a group in my county
- Network with more agencies; using the outlined plan to solve problems and not just with writing IFSP's
- Explore various funding sources, policies, requirement, etc. Become more familiar with governing agencies for child related issues. Become more acquainted with PEOPLE who are involved
- Share the information with people I work with; try some ideas that I got from other participants
- Evaluate my current role and expand to reach the higher goals of the early intervention masses: funding, transportation, etc.
- Look more carefully at group processing
- Report back to the state and local councils about the ideas and solutions I discovered through this workshop
- Use strategies to improve services to rural families
- Increase my time devoted to advocacy for early intervention. Explore further ways to network parents in early intervention. Utilize the group techniques learned here in my role as a trainer.
- Pursue more information on funding those grants. Educate parents; connect parents to each other and reps! "You're consumers in this system, demand quality in services!"
- Check on grant information regarding a medical mobile unit in our area.
- Implement as much of the information as possible in my area.
- Use the nominal group technique more often; use some of the ideas presented by other service providers and parents.
- More actively look for funding for services, etc. for families, education for myself. A little bigger picture of early intervention.
- Organize more parent groups and invite executive director to our program
SUGGESTIONS FOR FUTURE NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES:

• Center-based, activity based classroom.
• Annual Conference; I like the format where everyone talks in turn; 2 days at least; continue some group activities; have a parent speaker for one segment
• Promoting parent participating in program. Parent program.
• Have an annual meeting of this kind
• Yes! Let’s! Maybe post-conference survey regarding future networking. Let’s do this again - maybe annual meetings - follow-up, through newsletter on what’s happening as a result of this conference state by state.
• More conferences and workshops
• Grant writing and available grants for Early Intervention and Preschool
• Do this again next year. Do this again next year. Do this again next year. Do this again next year. Please! Thank you!
• Have similar conferences and focus on one issue like transportation or funding - have everything geared toward that one topic and cover everything possible.
• Change in activities rather than the same set up for groups
• Fund writing
• I would like a participant list if possible. It is wonderful to meet people from other states.
• Have representative from more agencies - such as Tennessee Early Intervention System, Dept. of Education; more parents; public school teachers
• Newsletter involving agencies (Regional)
• Let’s do this at least annually. Continue parent scholarships.
• Include legislators and managers. Thank you for sending notes for this conference: FANTASTIC! This is the way things change!
• This could be an annual event.
• More parents involved
• Time to explore problem issues that just come up in the work and daily lives of Early Interventionists’s and/or parents. Next time does not have to be topic specific as it was this time but could use this same format
• Parent networking has been the most enlightening issue for me. I would like to see parents forming a coalition in each state with state representatives getting together to problem solve and advocate for the kids
• A list of names and addresses of conference participants circulated following the meeting
• Writing a description of the program; another conference next year would be valuable, don’t know if my agency could afford to send me next year
AND FURTHERMORE:

- On Friday we stayed with the same group all morning. This was a little stress inducing for some because not everyone was participating equally - and others dominated issues - change groups every time if possible.
- Sue was a wonderful speaker and easy to listen to with great information. I would've like to hear more about specifics of what has worked in rural areas - funding, programming, transportation. Wide variety of people attending very helpful and from such a wide area.
- Thanks so much for the opportunity to network with rural service providers. This is a rarity.
- Parent expenses reimbursed is a big plus. Please try to continue and expand that.
- We need to send the products of this session to Hillary Clinton for input into health care reform.
- Donna, Evelyn, and Donna C. such dynamic, considerate, intelligent coordinators. They really did an A-1 job of organizing and pulling off this conference. It should be annual - if not bi-annual!! What a wealth of talented, creative, inspired female educators! Thank you!
- Add a segment on communication skills in future workshops - How to approach and respond to others: person to person; person to Legislature; person to agency; agency to agency.
- I really did like the "smallness" in the number of participators. This made it easier to talk with other professionals.
- It was a good idea to have parents here. I learned many things here and would like to meet with this group again. (Rural service providers and parents.)
- I learned to look at rural areas differently.
- The size of the conference is just about right. There is more interaction with a group this size than with much larger groups. Good location.
- I sincerely hope this will be an annual event. This has been the best and most organized conference I have been to in 17 years of attending conferences.
- Enjoyed having a parent's point of view. Good job!! to the planning of the conference. Good location.
- I like the small group size - suggest future similar-type training be limited to 50. I liked being in different sub-groups at different times. Thanks for name and address list of participants. We will continue networking!!! Did not like role play. Not enough time overall.
- State education/school district people need to be here to listen to concerns. They should give input. More direction needs to be given on specific rural attitudes and how to help work with those attitudes. The small groups worked well. We learned from each other. The facility was beautiful. Head Start and other 3 - 5 programs need to be included.
- More time to network.
- We needed a little more time for groups or at least warning of when we were half way through. We were so involved in discussion it was difficult to finish.
- How to write grants. Phone-tree calling other counties when a grant is available.
- More events focusing on rural concerns!
- I just recently moved to TN and started working at [my agency]. I feel that although I didn’t have a lot of input I learned a lot about this area and the many differences between California and Tennessee. And also the different funding from area to area. Thank you!
- I already was familiar with Nominal Grout Technique and would not have come had I known it would be taught and used. I came to hear about programs that effectively serve rural families not brainstorming problems and possible solutions. The workshop was well done but was not in my opinion what it was advertised to be.
COMMENTS FOR DR. FOREST:

• You did a great job!
• Nominal Group Technique is great! Thanks for sharing it with us. It was a real pleasure meeting you.
• Really enjoyed your excitement and realization you brought with you for the concerns we face.
• One of the most dynamic conferences I’ve ever attended. The best! I’m going back with a renewed sense of mission.
• Please don’t spend so much time on Nominal Group Technique. Thank you.
• You did a wonderful job!
• Thanks for the treats! Very effective conference.
• Thank you for sharing rural perspectives from another part of the country. It helped me keep mine!
• Excellent presentation, style, basic information - fast moving (no boredom). Good balance of activities. I liked getting the tools, skills & practice, liked your motivation techniques. Thanks for doing this here - Can we get you back?
• Thank you!
• Thank you so much. This was one of the best conferences I’ve been to in a long time. My husband who loves bears, deer and mountain lions wants to know if you need nurse practitioners.
• I enjoyed your presentation - hope to see you next year.
• In the groups we had so many issues to discuss but not enough time to talk about solutions. I met more people at this conference than any I have been to. The group activities were great.
• Well prepared and presented. You were excellent. Thanks!
• She’s great, she interacted well with all groups. She was in tune to group discussions.
• It is wonderful to see so many caring professionals together brainstorming and generating ideas for future possible solutions. You had a wonderful way of bringing it all together.
• You’re great! Thanks for your respectful attitude and sense of fun. Thanks also for the new ideas and not the same old stuff. Please come back!
• I like your style and methods of presentation, dedication to topics. Would like to attend a similar conference in your state.
• Excellent.
• You are an excellent speaker and this workshop was very beneficial to me. I would love to work up in Montana.
• She was wonderful to listen to. I usually get bored with "key note" speakers, but she was very captivating in all topics she discussed. The Montana treats were a plus also.
• Good "hands-on." Thank you!
• Marvelous! It’s always a joy to hear such an intelligent woman with practical experience in so many different areas. Techniques and networking skills are something so useful to us all!
• I enjoyed meeting you and I feel that the Nominal Group Technique will be helpful in changing the way IFSP’s are developed in my region.
• I’m a parent. I appreciated the value system you set for all participants. It was quite effective, however, some professionals didn’t always honor the equal value. This happens all the time, but your efforts were helpful in seeing that everyone is equal. I enjoyed the conference. Thanks!
• Good info. & facilitation and much enjoyed learning and utilizing the group techniques.
COMMENTS FOR DR. FORREST (CONT’D):

- Nominal group technique all right for a while, but it got old. Networking opportunities limited by structure to some extent, last 1/2 hr. was very valuable. It’s nice to meet a university person who is still tied to real life & children & families. Good for you! Wide variety of people attending very helpful and from such a wide area.
- Thank you! The Nominal Group Technique is great! And I will take the technique home with me to enhance the meetings we have. Your experience and knowledge is amazing and gave me so much hope for the future.

PLEASE OFFER ANY ADDITIONAL COMMENTS ON THE BACK OF THIS FORM:

- Thanks! Food and other accommodations were great too. It was nice not to have to go out for lunch.
- Great to have parents here - their contributions were extremely important.
- Thank You!
- Could we afford this better, with more parents, etc. if it was in a rural, retreat setting - cheaper and would require more networking because we’d be eating together/staying together, etc.
- Highlight programs/states that are making Part H and Part B work for children and families in rural areas. Talk to us at the KY Dept. of Education about support ($’s) for the next meeting or activities that will lead to the next meeting. Let’s meet in Nashville again!
- This is the best training/conference I have been to! Truly interactive - yes we should continue to fund parents to come and see about funding our low-paid professionals and para-professionals, try to attract supervisors - but let’s not get too big.

HIDDEN TREASURES:
EXPANDING COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

On September 22 and 23, 1994, Magnolia Circle Outreach Project staff, with technical assistance services provided by NEC*TAS (the National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System), sponsored a meeting entitled Hidden Treasures: Expanding Community Connections. The keynote speaker and session leader was Agnes Johnson of Special Kids Parent Training and Information Center in Houston, Texas. In keeping with the overall objectives of the Magnolia Project, the purposes of the meeting were to:

* Highlight successful collaborative community resources, services, service delivery mechanisms

* Foster networking between and among families and professionals involved in services for young children with or at risk for developmental delays (birth to 5 years) and their families within the Southeastern United States

* Strengthen regional networks by linking resources and resource persons.

There was a total of 40 attendees at this meeting (two of whom shared "slots"): 2 from Alabama, 2 from Arkansas, 12 from Kentucky, and 24 from Tennessee. Ten persons are parents of children with disabilities, many of whom are providing services to children with disabilities and/or their families and professionals. Attendees were from the following groups/agencies: parent training and information centers, parent groups and parent networking programs, community early intervention and preschool programs, public school personnel, Head Start, Part H districts/regions, State Department of Education, and a statewide project on transition.

Magnolia staff believe that through opportunities to come together, meet each other, and share our knowledge about services and resources, we are better prepared to meet the needs of young children with disabilities and their families. Through these proceedings, we hope to share the thoughts and ideas expressed during this meeting of parents and professionals.

The development of these proceedings was supported by a grant from the United States Department of Education, Early Education Program for Children with Disabilities: the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project, a multistate outreach grant (HD023A10009-91: Steven F. Warren, Principal Investigator). However, the content does not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the U.S. Department of Education, and not official endorsement of these materials should be inferred.

Thank you for your response. Please offer any additional comments on the back of this form.
As a result of participation in this workshop I plan to:

* Find out where the PTI (Parent Training and Information) Center is in TN.
* Check out what is in the PEP (Parents Encouraging Parents) library.
* Investigate the possibilities for interstate relationships for service deliveries.
* Contact the other people for more ideas.
* Work more closely with the PEP program in my region.
* Use some ideas of networking.
* Still work on my ideas of a pre-school "school" site for our early intervention, pre-school public school, head start, day care - before and after school care etc. to share administrative costs and to provide interactive settings and related services for children.
* Take back and share this information with people and co-workers in my area. I will encourage others to use this information.
* Explore the idea of "Adopt a Legislator" (idea from KY) for our local parent contacts.
* Pursue interagency collaboration possibilities to share services.
* Network with other participants.
* Try to get this network meeting to continue. We need two full days for this meeting.
* Contact participants with valuable information for my program.
* Go back and talk at the state level about getting a regional conference going at this time.
* Pursue ideas for networking. Renew membership in national and regional organizations.
* Put lots of energy into keeping this happening.
* Continue networking with conference participants.
* Use conference information to train and encourage professionals and parents, collaboratively.
* Try to keep in contact with as many participants as possible and find ways to have a similar conference in my state of Arkansas.
* Go back to Alabama with all the great ideas and people I met and try and find the people who can help make the changes that are needed, especially, in the north. I want to attend more workshops and conferences.
* Keep in touch with a lot of the folks I met there and use some of the strategies that were discussed in the workshops.

Comments for Agnes:

* It was a real pleasure meeting you.
* I enjoyed your family stories and your overall presentation.
* Thanks
* Good job
* Thanks for sharing your time, your humor, and your empathy. You are a good listener and helped us assimilate our ideas. You are a remarkable mom and sister, aunt (and friend I'm sure) to those who need your care and love.
* Thanks for your wealth of information and for the successful pulling together of ideas and possibilities from so many parent/professionals. Also the warmth in sharing was well received!! Thanks for sparking the ideas and pulling everyone together to accomplish so much!
* I found your participation in this meeting very useful. Your personal family story and your approach to problem solving seems to be punctuated by calmness and reasonableness that I believe will stay with me as I endeavor to help families in my district. Thanks for the inspiration.
* Thank you for bringing the perspective of parents as you did so well.
* I enjoyed your presentation.
* Thanks! It was fantastic!
* Good job!
* Provide a different kind of activity to get to know each of the participants rather than just telling our names. Maybe a game. Share more parent books or resources that are used.
* Enjoyed your insight and comments. Your humorous (funny) interjections were nice and kept us from taking ourselves too seriously.
* Thanks!
* Thanks for sharing your ideas.
* Excellent speaker. I like your energy and enthusiasm. Thank you for being here, sharing your ideas, and facilitating the meeting.
* Come back!
* Thank you.
* I found this conference very helpful. Thank you for coming to Tennessee.
* Thanks. Please try to keep in touch!
* I truly enjoyed meeting you, spending last evening at dinner with you. I have learned so much from this conference. It made me realize the importance of networking with people from other states. I hope to see you again.
* Enjoyed her very much! She was very down to earth and spoke from the heart. Look forward to seeing her in Washington, D.C.

Additional comments:

* Meeting needs to be 1/2 day longer.
* Longer (format) would be OK.
* Was the format was acceptable? -- rated a (6), more than a lot.
* Have two full days.
Hello and Happy New Year!!

I have been engaged in much "transition" activities over the past few months. As a result, I have not been able to check in to the availability of Landers Plaza for a possible fall meeting until now (with help from Donna Consacro when I could "steal" her away for a few minutes!).

Hugh Daniels at Landers Plaza said that the dates available as of today 2/2/95 are:

* September 28 and 29
* October 5 and 6
* October 26 and 27

I have enclosed some information that Mr. Daniels faxed to us regarding prices of the rooms, AV, and catering. I have also enclosed the expense tables from the last two meetings that we held through Magnolia Circle Outreach.

My position with the TREDS Project at this time will run until September. We have another grant in (for continuation of TREDS) and should hear some time before then. However, with this uncertainty in my position here, I will not be able to do much of the "leg-work" to pull a fall meeting together. Therefore, I am sending you all the information I have with this memo. It may be helpful to involve some of Tennessee’s state agency people in the planning of this. One person who may be helpful is Doris Mattraw at the State Department of Education, Early Childhood Division, 615-741-2851.

It would be great to have the meeting continue, if not this fall, perhaps spring... I know that you are all very busy people, too, but I hope that one of you can take the lead in making this meeting a reality.
March 27, 1995

Hi Doris!
(Hi Donna, I’ll send you cc)!

I think this will be easier than doing the phone thing. What I’ve been calling about is regarding the rural early childhood multi-state special ed meetings that Donna did the past two years out of Magnolia project (BIG bummer that they didn’t get re-funded). Most of us who attended really wanted to do this again, but Donna said she wouldn’t be able to carry it herself since she’d be in a new job, but she’d help however she could. So three of us volunteered to work toward having another meeting, and when Donna sent us information on past costs, locations, etc, & she also suggested that you might be a helpful person to contact.

So what I wanted to ask is could you be? And if so, how??

I wrote to Angela and Jan but haven’t heard back yet from either of them. What I suggested for consideration was that we cut costs by not hiring someone to come in and facilitate this time. I think we could do a great job facilitating our own problem-solving sessions -- we’ve learned a lot from the last two meetings, and we have a lot of skills of our own to share, too. Maybe we could query all the folks who were there and ask what kind of program folks would like to do? If folks really prefer a "speaker", would they be able to pay higher registration? (Are the cutbacks gonna affect agencies, anyhow, to where maybe they won’t have so much money to send folks off to learn?) If we run our own show, what kind of sessions would folks like to attend and/or facilitate? Would they want to continue the same format we’ve been doing?

I really think we could work it as a collective effort, see if maybe folks would volunteer to do different "limbs" (ie someone to reserve the space, someone to do registration, food, etc.)

Anyhow -- best time to get me on the phone at work 597-4415 or 597-6293 is 7:30-9 a.m. or 1-2 p.m. or at home 536-5287 in the afternoons and evenings if the weather is too rough for being in the garden.

Thanks. And I sure hope y’all’s spring is being very beautiful!

Exelsior!
