Like many other southern states, Alabama faces serious social and economic challenges. The 1993 Youth Risk Behavior Survey, undertaken to assess the prevalence of health-risk behaviors among students grades 9 through 12 across the United States, found that of all Alabama students: 18.2% reported that someone had offered, sold or given them illegal drugs on school property in the past year; 76% reported having had a drink of alcohol; 10% had used marijuana one or more times in the past 30 days; and 13.6% had used illegal drugs at least once in their life. A drug incidence survey commissioned by the Alabama State Department of Education also found high usage and early onset of drugs and alcohol. This directory of services includes the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of numerous different types of educational and mental health services which can be used by other professionals working with high-risk youths and their families when services need to be accessed. The list includes the following groups of Alabama professionals: school counselors; school nurses; school psychologists; drug-free schools coordinators; Alabama Department of Mental Health substance abuse treatment programs and drug and alcohol prevention programs; mental health centers; and the Governor's Office of Drug Abuse Drug and Alcohol Prevention Program. Dear Educational Professional:

We here at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB) are very excited about this opportunity to work with you in such a meaningful way. We hope this High-Risk Youth Resource Directory will be helpful to you in locating appropriate professionals or placement sites for youths with whom you work.

As you know, this project is offered to you as a result of a United States Department of Education federal grant that was awarded to the School of Education at UAB. This program is co-sponsored by the Alabama State Department of Education, and they too have played a pivotal role in bringing this program to fruition. We here at UAB have designed this resource directory to hopefully meet the needs of the many professionals being served through this project. This manual includes the following groups of professionals:

1) 1994-95 Governor's Office of Drug Abuse Policy Subgrantees
2) Alabama School Counselors
3) Alabama Drug Education Coordinators
4) Alabama School Nurses
5) Alabama School Psychologists
6) Alabama Dept. of Mental Health/Mental Retardation Drug Prevention Programs

If we can be of assistance in answering any questions regarding this manual or locating additional services not included in this document, please feel free to call on us.

Sincerely,

Maxie P. Kohler, Ph.D.
Project Director
Introduction

Like many other southern states, Alabama faces serious social and economic challenges. Health, education, and welfare issues demand our immediate attention. If we as citizens of Alabama are to do our part to meet National Education Goal #6 by the year 2000, we must actively engage in collaborative, proactive comprehensive efforts.

Numerous meetings and discussions were held in an effort to determine the goals and objectives for this project. Professionals from the Alabama State Department of Education, Alabama State Department of Mental Health, representatives of parent organizations, members of school/community teams, counselors, school psychologists, and school nurses from across the state of Alabama, together with the Southeast Regional Center's Area Field Coordinator and the Coordinator of Drug-Free Schools Funds at the Governor's Office, State of Alabama, all worked in concert to identify our needs and the structures believed to be most efficient in meeting our needs before this grant-writing process began. Additionally, two studies which were conducted prior to the beginning of this project cite the need for more comprehensive, collaborative efforts on the part of families, schools, and communities to combat the problem of substance abuse.

The 1993 Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS), sponsored by the Centers for Disease Control, was undertaken to assess the prevalence of health-risk behaviors among students grades nine through 12 across the United States. A representative sample of 4412 Alabama students in some 44 public schools participated in this survey, with Alabama results yielding the following data:

*Some 18.2% of the students surveyed reported that someone had offered, sold or given them illegal drugs on school property within the previous year;

*76% of Alabama students reported having had a drink of alcohol; 44% of students had drunk at least one drink of alcohol in the past 30 days, and approximately 25% of Alabama students surveyed had drunk at least five drinks of alcohol in a two-hour time span within the last 30 days;

*Some 10% said they had used marijuana one or more times during the past 30 days;

*13.6% of Alabama students said they had used illegal drugs at least once in their life.

Further results revealed other high risk activities about which Alabamians are concerned and desire to take action. For example,
*17.3% of Alabama students said they had driven a car or other vehicle during the past 30 days while under the influence of alcohol;

*39.7% of Alabama students said they had ridden in a vehicle during the past 30 days with someone who had been drinking;

45% of Alabama males reported having carried a weapon at some previous time, with 27% who reported having carried a weapon in the past 30 days;

35% of Alabama students reported having been in a fight in the 30 days preceding the survey;

In March, 1993, yet another drug incidence survey was commissioned by Alabama State Department of Education (ASDE) which sampled students grades 7, 9, and 11, with approximately 142,000 students participating and representing some 129 school systems. Results from this second recent study reveal that alcohol is the most frequently abused substance. Some 20% of seventh-grade students and some 40% of 11th grade students reported having drunk beer during the three months prior to this survey. Results further indicate that frequent consumption of alcohol (from once per week to daily) increases with grade level. Approximately 16% of 11th graders reported frequent beer drinking and nine percent (9%) reported frequent use of wine coolers.

One of the most alarming facts that was revealed in both surveys was age of onset. Although the large majority of students reported their first use of alcohol was between the ages of 12 and 15 years, some 25% of students surveyed by the ASDE reported having begun drinking behavior before the age of 10 years. Corresponding results obtained from the YRBS revealed that approximately 31% of Alabama students surveyed reported having had their first drink of alcohol prior to age 13. Students' reported use of illegal substances was lower than use of alcohol with reports ranging from 9% of students reporting use of marijuana, to 6% for stimulants, 4% for inhalants, and approximately 2% using cocaine, hallucinogens, heroin, or anabolic steroids.

Research has frequently shown that high risk behaviors are not generally exhibited in isolation; in other words, one who exhibits one high risk behavior has the propensity to engage in other high risk behaviors, as can easily be seen by the high risk characteristics enumerated by the United States Department of Education. Many individuals who possess one of these risk factors likewise fall into one or more of the remaining categories.
All of these results, according to Dr. Wayne Teague, Alabama State Superintendent of Education, reveal that substance abuse is no longer just a national problem, as noted by the Lloyd Johnston's recently published University of Michigan study; it is an Alabama problem that must be addressed by all factions of society in a comprehensive, proactive, directed method which will serve to increase individual protective factors and well being and reduce individual risk factors. Identifying predictive factors and increasing resiliency/protective factors was groundbreaking work in this field and can be attributed to Hawkins (1985) and Benard (1987), respectively.

At the present time, few efforts has ever been undertaken in the state of Alabama to provide substance abuse training for any of these three groups either individually or collectively. Therefore, the goal of the project under which this Directory as well as the Training and Participant Manuals that accompany this Directory is to educate 280 school counselors, school psychologists, and school nurses as to the identification/prevention/intervention strategies for use with youths, grades K-12. This project is a joint endeavor of the United States Department of Education, the University of Alabama at Birmingham and the Alabama State Department of Education.

This Directory of Services includes the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of numerous different types of educational and mental health services which can be used by other professionals working with high-risk youths and their families when services need to be accessed.

The following is a list of the groups of professionals included immediately following this introduction:
