ABSTRACT

This curriculum framework for adult literacy was written by 21 South Carolina adult English-as-a-Second-Language (ESL) instructors, as submitted to the South Carolina Literacy Resource Center. It is based on current theories in the fields of adult education and second language acquisition and is designed to be flexible so that it may be adapted to other ESL teaching situations across the state. The curriculum reviews who the adult ESL student is and how he/she learns a second language, with specific reference to input, interaction, and motivation and communication as opposed to learning. Units are based on topics of practical interest to ESL students: community resources, culture, education, emergencies, food/restaurant, personal security/accidents, health, personal information, recreation/leisure, shopping, transportation, travel, and work/occupations. Each topic includes situations to practice that include speaking, listening, reading, and writing tasks. Each unit also includes a resource sheet, unit grid of situations/settings, and a sample lesson plan that includes warm-up, presentation, focused practice, and communicative practice. Introduction

This curriculum framework was written by twenty-one South Carolina adult ESL instructors, participants in a course on Adult ESL Curriculum Design, which was sponsored by the South Carolina Department of Education's South Carolina Literacy Resource Center. The teachers in the course came from all over the state and represented many varied teaching situations. This curriculum is based on current theories in the fields of adult education and second language acquisition and is designed to be flexible so that it may be adapted to the many ESL teaching situations across our state.

The Adult ESL Student

In designing the curriculum, the first question we looked at was, “Who are our adult ESL students?”

To begin with, they are adult learners from many different backgrounds who bring with them to the classroom a world of knowledge and experience. This experience and background can serve as a tremendous educational resource. Adult ESL students are highly motivated learners who need to acquire English in order to survive in a new community, get jobs, get an education, and better their position in society. Like other adult learners, they learn best when course goals and objectives are closely related to their own personal goals and objectives, and when they can see the relationship between classroom experiences and their real-world needs. They need an instructional environment which gives them control over their learning and takes into account different learning styles.

Second Language Acquisition

The next question we considered was, “How do adults learn a second language?”

Although the language learning task is quite complex, research in second language acquisition has identified three basic factors which are required for success. They are input, interaction, and motivation.

Input means that students are presented with language at an appropriate level which is made comprehensible to them by any possible means (pictures, explanations, gestures, simple texts, etc.) Once students are presented with new language, they need practice in using it. Classroom practice activities should provide lots of opportunity for student interaction using the new language. Students should interact in large groups, small groups, and pairs, being encouraged to engage in real communication with the new language. Motivation is the final necessary ingredient. Our adult ESL students will bring this with them to the classroom, and the teacher can reinforce and build motivation by making sure students see the practical relationship between classroom activities and their real-world language needs.
Many people think learning a language means memorizing grammar rules and vocabulary lists. Research has shown, however, that this approach doesn't teach people to communicate with the new language. An effective approach to language teaching organizes instruction around practical uses of the language. Classroom tasks should focus on the meaning of language as well as the structure. Activities in the classroom should give students the opportunity to practice using the kind of language they will use outside the classroom. Students should have many opportunities to really communicate.

The units in this curriculum are based on topics which will be of practical interest to ESL students. Under each topic, we have identified situations that students will find themselves in, and for each situation have identified speaking, listening, reading, and writing tasks.
How Do I Use This Resource?

In this resource, you will find basic thematic units (ex: occupations). Within each are three types of tools: a resource sheet, a unit grid, and a sample lesson plan.

You may be asking, “Why didn’t the curriculum designers create sets of lesson plans like most curricula?” We found that there were many different adult ESL setting in South Carolina with myriads of student needs and levels. Rather than define the resource’s use narrowly by creating lesson plans, we’ve collected ideas, resources and activity ideas that can be used in a broader spectrum of situations. We have, however, included some sample lesson plans to help you “see” how we used our resources.

Thematic Units
The themes for these units are basic to the needs of adult ESL students around the state. They represent a broad range of basic language needs. The themes are not level specific.

Resource Sheet
A useful tool, the resource sheet is a brainstorming sheet. On it, you will find a variety of resources and ideas that can be used when teaching the theme of the unit. No teacher would ever use all of what is listed in one unit. This sheet is meant to evolve, consistently growing as you add ideas, sources, etc. Many teachers choose to set up a file of collected resources with the resource sheet in the front of the file. This resource sheet is designed to be useful when teaching at any level.

Unit Grid
The grid organizes some of the ideas from the resource sheet into situations or settings. Under each situation or setting, activities are categorized according to the skill (listening, speaking, reading, writing) it teaches/uses (some use more than one). When you want to teach your students how to communicate in a situation, you would pick and choose from that grid’s activities to develop a suitable lesson plan. Again, the activities are not level-specific. You must decide what is appropriate for your students.

Sample Lesson Plans
The designers included sample lesson plans for your benefit. These were developed using the “pick and choose” process noted above. Using a communicative, interactive approach to second language teaching, these ESL lessons follow a similar outline:

- Warm-Up: a fun activity to get things started
- Presentation: discussion, explanation and demonstration of new language
- Focused Practice: controlled activities which drill new language
- Communicative Practice: activities where students are free to create using new language in simulated real-life situations with limited teacher control or talk

This is the outline that the communicative, interactive ESL lesson follows. We encourage you to follow the same as you use this resource.

We hope this resource is useful. Your copy will evolve as you use it and supplement it with your resources and ideas. This SC Adult ESL Curriculum Framework will continue to be developed by teachers from around the state in courses sponsored by the South Carolina Literacy Resource Center. We will appreciate any input you would like to give!

UNIT GRID — THEME/TOPIC: Community Resources PROOF OF NAME, DATE OF BIRTH AND SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER:

Documents that will prove the applicants identity and social security number to the satisfaction of DMV Personnel are required prior to the issuance of any of the following:

- original driver license
- instruction permit
- duplicate license (see section FSR-216)
- citizen’s transcript of driving record
- duplicate photo identification card.

Two or more of the following documents must be presented for identification, with at least one from the primary document group. Check block on application as to type of documents used as proof of identity, write additional type of documents in space below.

EXCEPTION— When applicants between the age of 15 years 8 months and 18 years of age apply for an Instruction Permit or Original Driver License require only one document from the primary document group as proof of identity.

Primary Documents:

- Birth Certificate (original or certified copy only)
- State issued car registration (Virginia only)
- Valid passport
- Military discharge paper (From DD214)
- Non-resident alien registration document (I-94)
- Virginia or state issued photo ID card
- Out-of-state driver’s license
- “Resident Alien” Registration Receipt Card (Form I-551 or old for I-151)
- I-688 Temporary Resident card issued to persons who have been granted temporary residency under the legalization program.
- I-688A Employment Authorization (issued to illegal aliens who applied for residency under the 1986 immigration and Reform Act).

*EXAMS are in English and Spanish. Local sticker or decal is needed with Virginia Licenses. Inspection Sticker required.

Secondary Documents

- Transcript of school record
- Military identification card
- Permit to carry firearm
- Insurance policy
- Senior citizen card
- Draft registration card
- Home mortgage or lease papers
- Employee ID card (with photo and signature)
- Expired photo driver license
- Divorce papers or court order
- Marriage certificate
COMMUNITY RESOURCE

Department of Motor Vehicles

Goals:

- To know the address of DMV and how to get there
- To be aware that the instruction manual is in Spanish
- To know there is a three part test to obtain a driver’s license - written, eye, driving
- To know the cost of a driver’s license, plates, stickers, and how to obtain them
- To know that proof of vehicle ownership must be presented to get license plates
- To know what information an applicant must have to apply for plates, license, sticker

Activity Ideas

- For anyone wanting to take the driving test, go over essential vocabulary: stop, turn left, back up, u-turn, parallel park, etc. Also discuss car parts, turn indicators, windshield wipers, etc. Give instructions for “pretend driving”, first in the class, then in small groups at a car. Eventually students could give each other directions as in a driving test.
- Get an eye chart and do mock eye exams.
LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Getting a driver's license

LEVEL: High beginners

MATERIALS: driver's manual, handouts from Motor Vehicle Department, DMV books, sample eye charts (one for each student, all different), list of questions for DMV book treasure hunt, pictures of road signs (from DMV book).

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- understand procedure for applying for a driver's license
- be familiar with the three exams
- respond to appropriate instructions for eye exam

NEW LANGUAGE: Names of road signs

Warm-up: Show students the driver's handbook from the DMV and ask if they know what it is. Ask if any have friends or relatives who have taken the test.

Presentation: Ask if any have a driver's license. If they do, ask the steps they had to take to get it. List these on the board. If no one has a license, present the steps.

1. Identification: Ask if anyone has any identification, have them show it and tell how they got it. Brainstorm other types of ID, and list them on the board. Go over with students the types of ID accepted by the DMV (see attached) and have each student indicate which he or she will use.

2. Tests: List the three tests to be taken—written, eye exam and road test.

Written test: Give pairs of students copies of the driver's handbook and a list of ten questions with easy to find answers. Have the students look for the answers "treasure hunt" style. Show the students how to look for the information in the table of contents, headings, and pictures. Practice finding the answers to a few questions as a group, and then have students work in pairs to find answers.

Eye exam: Review alphabet with students. Put letters on the board, have them read the letters as a group, then have students stand in a circle and toss a bean bag randomly around the group. The one who catches it must give the next letter in the alphabet, referring to the board if necessary.

Next, put students in pairs, and give each an eye chart. Have them take turns. The examinee will try to identify the letters on the chart, and the examiner will keep track of which are correct and which are incorrect.
Road test: Next, brainstorm with students the vocabulary used for instructions driving test: stop, turn left or right, back up, u-turn, parallel park, turn signal, wheel, windshield wipers, lights. Give students as a group commands using these terms. “Turn right, now stop, now continue, turn on your lights,” etc, until the students know them. Students should respond with actions to the commands. Next, put student in pairs. Have them sit side by side in two chairs, and one will take the role of examiner, one of examinee. Give them a few minutes to practice role-playing the exam. Tell them to be sure to use each of the vocabulary items on the board. Then have pairs come up and act out their role-plays for the class.

Pair discussion—Review: Have students pair up. Student A will ask student B how to get a driver’s license, and Student B will outline the steps, including getting the handbook to study, having the ID and the three parts to the test.
RESOURCE SHEET

TOPIC: Thanksgiving Holiday, dinner menu and culture

SONGS/POEMS/JAZZ CHANTS: Songs—We Gather Together, Come Ye Thankful People Come, Poems Thanksgiving by Hannah Garey and Thanksgiving Poems by Myral Livingston

QUOTATIONS/PROVERBS: Giving thanks is a course from which we never graduate. Many hands make light work. He who would eat the nut must first crack the shell. If you enjoy the fire, you must put up with the smoke. An apple a day will keep the doctor away.

STORIES/FABLES/FILMS: The Plymouth Thanksgiving by Leonard Wesigard; Thanksgiving by Margaret Baldwin, Thanksgiving - Its Origin Celebration and Significance.

TEACHING AIDS/REALIA: Cassette tape, cookbooks, magazines, pumpkin, ornamental corn, map of USA, glove, calendar, newspaper ads on Thanksgiving dinner prices, sample dinner invitations, and recipes for foods typically served on Thanksgiving.

NEWSPAPER/MEDIA: Thanksgiving Parade-pictures or video, TV cook shows and newspaper and magazine food ads.

GAMES: Concentration, 20 Questions, jeopardy, Categorizing, and games played by the pilgrim children.

SITUATIONS: Social customs, table manners, introductions, accepting/responding to verbal and written invitations, RSVP, and giving directions to home or dinner location.

TASK/ACTIVITIES: Table setting, seating dinner guest, emergencies (a choking guest).

ROLE PLAY SITUATIONS: Dinner party seating, telephone guest to invite to dinner, and serving

LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Thanksgiving

LEVEL: Intermediate

MATERIALS: Handout of Thanksgiving Story, map, handout of Thanksgiving song, pictures of Thanksgiving

LESSON AIMS: To enable students to:
- Understand origin and meaning of Thanksgiving holiday
- Learn vocabulary related to Thanksgiving
- Identify Thanksgiving foods
- Compare Thanksgiving to holidays from students' cultures
- Plan a Thanksgiving meal

Warm-up: Show students Thanksgiving pictures (Mayflower, Pilgrims, table with food, map or globe to show the route traveled) to introduce topic and prepare for text.

Topic/vocabulary presentation: "Each of you traveled a long distance to come to this country. Today we are going to talk about another group of people who traveled a long distance." Distribute to students copies of the Thanksgiving story. Have them read along as the teacher reads aloud. Next have students read it a second time silently and underline words they don't know. Ask students for underlined words. Write on the board, and provide definitions and explanations.

Distribute to students a list of discussion questions on the text, and have them work in twos or threes to answer the questions. (Give only one handout to each group.) When they have finished, have the groups report back to the class on their answers.

Chain story: Have the students in the class retell the story as a chain story. The teacher will model by providing the first line. Each student should try to repeat what came before and add another line. Encourage students to use the new vocabulary words from the board. Allow them to retell the story in their own words, not try to remember the text word for word.

Planning a meal: Have students re-scan the text and find all the foods listed. Show students pictures of modern day Thanksgiving tables and add these foods to the list. Find out from the students which of them have eaten these foods and whether they like them.

Next, ask students whether they have a holiday in their culture similar to Thanksgiving, and have them tell what foods are eaten on that holiday. Have the students work in small groups again to plan an "International Holiday Menu". Once the groups have finished, have them post the menus on the board for comparison.
"I am thankful for..." Have the students individually write down something they are thankful for. Next, put the students in pairs, and have each student share with his partner what he or she is thankful for. Have each pair report back to the class what they learned about their partner.
RESOURCE SHEET

TOPIC: Weddings in Our Culture

SONGS/POEMS/JAZZ CHANTS: "I'm Getting Married in the Morning," "Here Comes the Bride," "A Bicycle Built for Two," "I Will Wait for You," "Tea for Two," etc.

QUOTATIONS/PROVERBS: It takes a lot of loving to make a house a home. Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue.

IDIOMS: Look at those two lovebirds!

STORIES/FABLES/FILMS: Cinderella, Snow White, Romeo and Juliet, Gone with the Wind, Love Story

TEACHING AIDS/REALIA: Audio cassettes of wedding music, video tape of a wedding, Bride magazine, etiquette book, wedding invitations, shower invitations, place cards, etc.

NEWSPAPER/MEDIA: Society section of newspapers, wedding/engagement announcements, write ups of weddings, news accounts of royal and celebrity weddings worldwide.

GAMES: A Day in the Life (Klippel, p.33) modified to be "A Day in the Life of a Bride", Mystery Date.

CULTURAL INFORMATION: Etiquette book and Brides magazine.

SITUATIONS: Walking with an usher, attending a shower, writing an RSVP, going down a receiving line, making a toast.

TASK/ACTIVITIES: Write an RSVP. Name appropriate gifts for three different kinds of showers.

ROLE PLAY SITUATIONS: Applying for a marriage license, attending a bridal shower, going down the aisle with an usher, going down the receiving line.

Situation/Setting: Events surrounding a wedding.

Events surrounding a wedding:
- Asking for directions to the wedding.
- Listening to the directions and understanding them.
- Rereading the note you took.
- Taking notes on the directions.

Going through the receiving line:
- Listening and repeating the names.

Reading:
- Reading the invitation
- Writing an RSVP

Discussing the engagement with a friend:
- Reading the engagement announcement.
Integrated Lessons
Level: Intermediate

Unit/Situation: Weddings in Our Culture

Traditions and circumstances surrounding weddings vary from one culture to another. We will discuss ours in a social context.

Objectives: Students will feel at ease when attending weddings and wedding events and will understand the wedding traditions in our culture. They may extend this to include the ways in which our weddings are alike/different from those in their countries.

Warm-up: Game: “A Day in the Life” (Klippel, Keep Talking, p.33). The game may be played one time, then amended to address a day in the life of a bride.

Presentation: Weddings and the traditions that surround them will be presented. The teacher will tell about weddings in the United States, then ask students to tell about traditions in their countries. Customs will be compared and contrasted -- with the teacher indicating that “different” does not mean “wrong”. The concepts of contrast and compare will be introduced. Customs (father’s giving bride away) will be discussed.

Focused Practice: Students will find a newspaper article about a wedding and decide what they would have needed to know in order to feel comfortable at that wedding. For example, was there a wedding dinner? Would the student have needed to ask directions? Would he have needed to be able to carry on a conversation with a dinner partner?

Communicative Practice: The discussion of weddings in different countries, the oral reading of the poem, “How Do I Love Thee,” the practice of walking down the aisle with an usher, etc. integrate all of the elements of communicative competence.

Closure: Choose an engagement announcement from the newspaper and write an appropriate wedding announcement for that paper. Make up any details that you need in order to write the announcement.
Designing Listening Comprehension Exercises

1. Identify:
   The Unite: Culture/Weddings in Our Culture
   The Source: Real Life
   The Purpose/aims (in terms of Communicative Competence):
   Social Skills Development
   Proficiency Level: Intermediate

2. Pre-Listening Activities: Listen to an engagement announcement to determine the who, when, what, and where. Listen for unfamiliar words.

3. Listening Activities (247-249 in Brown)
   Top-Down Activities (Extensive) To identify the speaker and find the main idea of each song. "Get Me to the Church On Time," "Tea for Two," and other songs may be used.
   Selective Activities Listen to a series of sentences. Tell whether each is polite or impolite. Turn each impolite sentence into one that is polite.
   Intensive (Bottom-Up) Teacher will read poem, "How Do I Love Thee," by Browning and have students circle the unstressed function words with their own copies.

4. Follow-Up
   Any of the Communicative Activities Listen to the wedding vows on a video of a wedding or a movie which includes a wedding. Discuss the vows; which would you want to use? Not use? What vows would you add?

5. Variations/Other possible focal points Use cloze exercises to fill in the missing key words in sentences about weddings and wedding traditions.

Lesson Plan

Topic: Culture/ Birthday Party

Level: Low intermediate

Objectives: To read, understand, and respond appropriately to an invitation. To use can and can't to respond to an invitation. To use interrogatives.

Warm-up: Group discussion of invitations and birthday parties.

Presentation:
1. Reasons for an RSVP.
2. Discuss appropriate responses to an invitation by phone or answering machine.
3. Have students categorize replies as appropriate or inappropriate when read to them by the teacher.

Focused Practice:
Teacher/student interaction with students answering questions read by teacher.

Communicative Practice: Role play. Teacher gives students a basic scenario, and students create role play from the scenarios.

Closure: Students create an invitation to a party.

Variation to Warm-Up:
Put students in small groups and give them several invitations and some questions about the invitations. They discuss in groups.

Variation to Closure:
In groups, discuss the differences between birthday parties in the US and those in other countries.

Lesson Plan

Topic: Culture/The Fourth of July

Level: Intermediate
(Lesson should be held a day in the week of July 4th)

Objectives: The students will be able to:
- Know why we celebrate the 4th
- Know how we celebrate the 4th
- Learn the "language" of the 4th
- Properly use habitual present
- Compare/contrast
- Organize ideas in writing
- Describe characteristics
- State preferences
- Ask/give reasons
- Contradict

Materials needed:
Pictures of the US flag, a parade, fireworks, neighborhood baseball games
Pictures depicting or representing some of these:
1. bondage, persecution, unfair taxation, no right to self-defense, no religious freedom
2. religious freedom, justice equality, fair taxation, freedom of speech, liberty, pursuit of happiness (wedding couple), right to defend ourselves.

Large index cards with the above concepts written on them

Tape of John Philip Sousa’s patriotic music, Lee Greenwood’s song “God Bless The USA”.

Before class:
Have a “web” on the board with a picture of an American flag (with July 4 written over or next to it) in the middle with four legs out to four pictures of fireworks display, a parade, a picnic, and a neighborhood baseball game. Leave enough space for students to brainstorm language around these pictures. Begin playing patriotic music by John Philip Sousa in the background.

Warm-Up:
As students arrive for class, be playing patriotic music in the background. Elicit from the students what the pictures on the board depict. Tell them that today we are going to learn about how and why we celebrate the 4th of July. Divide the class into four groups or pairs. Assign each group to one of the four pictures on the board. Tell each that they have 2-3 minutes to brainstorm any vocabulary, activities, items, any words related to the event in the picture. Teach would encourage students to draw a picture if they cannot think of the English word or would help them guess, giving them the vocabulary as they described or pointed to it. Have each group "present" their brainstorming around their picture.

Presentation:
Part A:

Let other students add to the brainstorming lists from warm-up, if needed. Insure that the students know how to pronounce and know the meaning of the brainstorming vocabulary.

Part B:

On the wall or another board or on two piece of paper on the wall, write in big letters these two heading with space in between, like this:

BEFORE JULY 4, 1776, WE HAD

NOW WE HAVE

Explain that it is important for students to know why America gained independence from England in 1776. Give students a picture representing some of the following: bondage, persecution, unfair taxation, no right to self-defense, no religious freedom, religious right to self-defense. Have each student place the picture under the heading they think that their picture belongs under. Tell them they are to think whether Americans had a right to that concept before or after independence.

Then hand each student a card with matching word/phrase for one of the pictures. Have them put the word/phrase under the picture they feel it describes or represents. Have those with no clue to wait; process of elimination will help. Have them double check to see if their word and picture are under the right heading.

Teacher should help students in this whole process, being sure to use the language of the headings (ex.: You think now we have bondage in America?)

As a whole class, write simple definitions where necessary.

Focused Practice:

Pair students. Give each pair one handout where they would practice the habitual present (see handout #1).

After students have completed the first fill-in-the-blank paragraphs, check together, as a class, any difficult spots. Then each pair, using the cloze paragraphs as models, write their own paragraph about what we do or see at a parade.

Have random pairs read their paragraphs to the class.
Less Controlled Practice:

- have students interview one other person (different from above partner) about a holiday similar to July Fourth in their country. Have students listen for proper use of the simple present. interview questions on Handout #2.

After completing the interview, each partner is to tell what holiday their partner shared about and either what they do or what they eat on that holiday.

Communicative Practice:

Activity A -- Ranking:

Step 1: Write the following list of characteristics on the board or OHT:
- religious freedom
- justice
- equality
- fair taxation
- liberty
- pursuit of happiness
- right to self-defense

Each student should think about how important he considers each characteristic. These are characteristics of a country, ideals that people fight for. He then should rearrange the list on his own piece of paper in order of importance, starting with the most important characteristic.

Step #2

Put students into groups by giving out cards with pictures of things related to the Fourth of July. Students match pictures to find groups.

Students talk about rankings in groups. A group ranking-consensus should be reached.

Step #3 (optional)

The whole class aims to find a ranking order for the characteristics which everyone agrees to.

Activity B -- Scheduling/Planning for the day of the Fourth

In groups of three, students are to plan what they would like to do for this July 4th. Using handout #3, each group is to use the web on the board and any of their own ideas to plan the events they will participate in on July 4th.

Closure:

Listen to the last three choruses of Lee Greenwood’s “God Bless The USA.” Elicit from the students why he says he is proud to be an American. Then, discuss, as a class, why they think Americans are proud of their country. Optional: in a circle, limit the time each student shares with a sparkler burning out while they talk. Give each an American flag as they leave.

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Education
Situation: Dealing with School Problems
Level: Intermediate
Time: 15 minutes
see Klippel pages 96 ff. for more information on this type of game.

Procedure:
Divide class into groups of four. Each group receives the same task.
Task: You received a note from school concerning your child's behavior problems. List ways to help the school community help your child's problems.

Variations:
After groups discuss the task, the whole group shares possible solutions.

Unit: Education
Situation: Enrolling in School
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: Review vocabulary
See Klippel, pages 102 ff. for more on problem solving activities.
Time 10-20 minutes
Procedure:
Tell students: "You are planning to enroll your child in the first grade. What items and information do you need to know in order to accomplish this task? Make a list of six to eight things you think are necessary for enrollment."
Students pair up to compare lists and create a combined list of six common items. In groups of four, students compare their list, choose six most important items by consensus, and then rank their list.

Variations:
Make a list of items children need their first day of school.
Make a list steps necessary to obtain immunization records.

Level: Intermediate
Time: 15 minutes
see Klippel pages 96 ff. for more information on this type of game.

Procedure:
Divide class into groups of four. Each group receives the same task.
Task: You received a note from school concerning your child's behavior problems. List ways to help the school community help your child's problems.

Variations:
After groups discuss the task, the whole group shares possible solutions.

Unit: Education
Situation: Enrolling in School
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: Review vocabulary
See Klippel, pages 102 ff. for more on problem solving activities.
Time 10-20 minutes
Procedure:
Tell students: "You are planning to enroll your child in the first grade. What items and information do you need to know in order to accomplish this task? Make a list of six to eight things you think are necessary for enrollment."
Students pair up to compare lists and create a combined list of six common items. In groups of four, students compare their list, choose six most important items by consensus, and then rank their list.

Variations:
Make a list of items children need their first day of school.
Make a list steps necessary to obtain immunization records.
Listening Comprehension

Unit: Education
Source: Phone, Weather Channel
Level: Beginner

Pre-listening:
Introduce weather vocabulary and symbols used on a weather map. Match appropriate clothing to different weather pictures.

Selective Activity:
Use a recording of a phone call for time and temperature. Get time and temperature and write it down on a classroom calendar.

Follow-up:
Take a field trip to a local TV station. Visit the “weather” area. Have TV/radio personality visit the class and talk about the weather.

Variations:
Watch weather channel. Listen for forecast. Discuss how to dress and how to dress children. Compare weather in the US and in students’ home countries.

Begin with Limerick:

There once was a girl named Jane
Who liked to stand out in the rain
While out in the sprinkle
She started to wrinkle
We think that she is quite insane.
Listening Comprehension

Unit: Education
Source: Video/Comic strip
Level: Intermediate

Pre-listening:
Use Peanuts cartoons of school situations. Cut into strips or frames and have the students sequence them.

Top-down:
Listen to excerpts from a sitcom about education (The Cosby Show, Different World, Full House). Have students find the main idea.

Selective activity:
Answer detailed questions about the clip.

Follow-up:
Role-play: Give the students a situation to act out, or have them take the roles of characters in the clip.
Discussion: Ask the students what they would do in similar situations. How would they handle it as student, teacher, or parent?

Variations:
Let students fill in the vocabulary or dialogue for the cartoon strip. Watch a clip from a sit-com without the volume up. Predict the dialogue based on the interaction of the actors. Then play the video with dialogue. See how close the predicted dialogue is to what was really said.

UNIT GRID – THEME/TOPIC: Emergency
TOPIC: Hurricane Preparedness

LEVEL: Low/mid Intermediate

MATERIALS: Video clip of hurricane Hugo

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Read and understand what the different stages of hurricane preparedness are
- Explain how to prepare for a hurricane

NEW LANGUAGE: Hurricane, Storm surge, hurricane watch, hurricane warning, etc.

Warm-up: Show clips from Hugo video without sound. After clips, ask the class, “What were the clips about? Do you have hurricanes in your native country? Has anyone been through a hurricane?” Elicit responses, encourage students to talk about feelings associate with their experiences.

“On September 29, 1989 a hurricane called Hugo hit Charleston. Many people believed the media when they said Hugo was going to hit Charleston and prepared for it. Some people didn’t believe and didn’t prepare. Lives were changed overnight, some forever. Today we are going to learn how to prepare for a hurricane, because once again we are in the hurricane season which begin June 1 and ends November 30.”

Presentation: Prepare three posters (or divide blackboard into three sections) labeled:
Be Prepared BEFORE the Hurricane Season:
When a “Hurricane Watch” is issued:
When a “Hurricane Warning” is issued:
(SEE ATTACHED)

Have the students work in pairs or groups of three. Beginning with the first category, distribute to students on slips of paper the items listed. In their groups, have them read the slips. If they do not understand any of the vocabulary, have them ask the teacher. The teacher should circulate among the groups during this time. Once all the groups have understood their slips, have each group come to the front, read (and explain, if necessary) their items to the class, and then attach them to the poster or board under the appropriate category.

Follow the same procedure for categories two and three. During the course of this procedure, the teacher should note 10-12 KEY vocabulary items that students do not know.
After all the slips have been discussed, presented and organized, write on the board the selected vocabulary items. Stress to the students that they do not have to learn all the new vocabulary, but should learn the key items that will allow them to understand the main ideas of the poster. Have the students write down these words in their notebooks.

Focused Practice: The Hurricane Game

Divide the class into two teams (more if a large class). Give each group all 29 pieces of information from the poster on separate slips of paper in a basket. Have the members of the team take turns drawing slips of paper from the basket. After consulting with the team, the student will run to the board and place the slip in the appropriate category. Give the students a limited amount of time to do this. Once time is called, check to see how many are correct from each team. The team with the most correct wins!

Communicative practice: Have students work in pairs. Using the vocabulary they have written in their notebooks, have students practice telling each other what they would do if a hurricane was going to hit. Have a few volunteers share what they said with the class.

TEACHING AIDS/REALIA:
Telephone; telephone book; list of emergency; phone numbers; pictures of accidents; needing EMS; interview with an EMS dispatcher; Course on First Aid.

NEWSPAPER/MEDIA:
Articles about accidents where EMS was called; television stories about accidents where EMS was called.

GAMES:
Doctor; health trivia; operation.

SITUATIONS:
When to call EMS; who to call; what number to call; what information to give EMS; what to do after calling EMS; coping with the dispatcher not understanding your language or you very well.

ROLE PLAY SITUATIONS:
Determining when to call EMS; calling EMS for yourself; calling EMS for someone else; giving the information needed to EMS; talking with someone who has had to call EMS; meeting with your family to educate them on how to call EMS; making a plan of what to do after calling EMS.

LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Calling EMS

LEVEL: Low Intermediate

MATERIALS: Newspaper article describing an accident, with a picture, with EMS on the scene, handout of the questions that an EMS dispatcher would ask of a caller, video or audio clip from the TV program “911”, information forms for students to fill out with personal emergency information.

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Place a call to EMS
- Use new vocabulary related to medical emergencies.

NEW LANGUAGE: EMS, emergency, dispatcher, ambulance, victims, injury, shock, unconscious, relative, neighbor, bleeding, wound, accident, address, phone number Warm-up: Show a picture from a newspaper or magazine of an accident. Have students discuss the accident, whether anyone has ever been in an accident or had to call Emergency Medical Services. Read the article and allow for some discussion.

Presentation of vocabulary: Write the new vocabulary on the board and have the students copy it into their notebooks. Discuss the vocabulary and define any words that the students don’t know.

EMS, emergency, dispatcher, ambulance, victims, injury, shock, unconscious, relative, neighbor, bleeding, wound, accident, address, phone number.

Give the students the following scenario. “Accidents can happen at any time. I want to tell you a story about an accident. Two women were out shopping. One of them tripped in the parking lot, fell, and hit her head. She lost consciousness for a few minutes. When she came to, she could not move her foot. What should her friend do for her?” (Teacher will have to act this out and to make sure students understand the language.)

Have students as a class discuss what to do, making an effort to include as much of the new vocabulary as possible in their answers.

Role plays: Give to each student a list of questions that may be asked by a dispatcher. Have them practice in pairs, one being the dispatcher and one the caller. The dispatcher will ask the questions and the caller will give the necessary information. After the pairs have practiced together, have one or two pairs perform their dialogues for the class.
Next, give each student a picture or a slip of paper describing another emergency situation. Have them again in pairs do role-plays, taking turns being the dispatcher and caller. At the conclusion of this activity, allow for some class discussion for students to tell whether or not they were able to discuss their situation and for other class members to make suggestions.

Listening: Have student watch a brief segment from the TV program “911”. Ask them to listen for and write down as many of the new vocabulary words as they hear.

Closure: Provide students with a short form asking for the information they would need to give to an EMS dispatcher. Have each student interview his partner to fill out the form. (Name, address, phone number, others living at this address, etc.) After the forms are filled out, encourage the student to take them home and make sure that every family member knows the number 911 and knows the information that would have to be given to the dispatcher.
Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Emergencies
Situation: Calling EMS
Level: Intermediate

Time: 10-20 minutes

Procedure: Teacher explains the following. "Suppose you were home alone with a young child. He is eating a hot dog and it becomes lodged in his throat. You need to call EMS for help. What kind of information would you give the operator? How would you answer the questions? What type of questions might you be asked?"

Students could then role-play the phone call.
Listening Comprehension

Topic: Personal Security/Accidents
Level: Low intermediate
Source: 911 taped call

Pre-listening:
Do a web around the word “crime”
Show a picture of a crime scene. Have students brainstorm for adjectives.

Listening:
Top-Down Activity:
Listen to a tape of a 911 call. Ask students to find out what the problem was.

Selective: Re-play the tape and ask some students to listen for the location, some for the name of the caller (or other details).

Intensive Listening: Prepare a script of the call for the students. Have students listen for the progressive tense and circle it on the script as they hear it. (Variation: have students mark progressives IF they hear a full “ING.” If “the g is dropped,” they should ignore it).

Follow-Up:
Have students role-play a 911 call for various situations: poison, heart attack, fire, gunshot wound, burglar, etc.
Listening Comprehension

Unit: Emergencies
Source: 20 minute video of 911 program
Level: Intermediate

Pre-listening: Have a tape with emergency vehicles and radio sounds. Play for students. Ask questions about the sounds and the circumstances associated with them. Then, in groups of 3 or 4, have students define emergency, give examples, and describe how to respond in an emergency.

Selective Activity: On a handout, have a form like one the 911 operator would have. Have students fill out the form as they listen to the tape the first two times.

Intensive Listening: Have students listen to the tape again and write down any imperatives that they hear. (i.e. “Don’t hang up, Open the door,” etc.) Then practice the commands together.

Top-down activity: Use the information from the tape to prepare a lesson for third graders about emergencies. Let students work in groups to present a list of steps to follow; then they can present their advice to the whole group.

Follow-up

Role play. Give 1/2 of the students a paper describing an emergency situation. Give the other half a slip containing questions a 911 operator would ask. Have them present role plays in pairs before the class.

Variation:

Use the tape to practice narrating events in the past.

For beginners: Simplify the activities and do as a group rather than in pairs. Also, use TPR to practice commands from the 911 call.

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Food
Level: High Beginner

Preparation: Prepare three times as many index cards as you have students. Write the name of a food on each card.

Time: 15-25 minutes

Procedure:
1. Teacher tapes a card to the back of each student. Student does not see the card.
2. Students walk around the room, asking yes/no questions to find out what kind of food they are. They cannot ask any one person more than three questions. When someone guess what he is, he tells the teacher. If he's right, he will get a new card. The person who guesses the most cards in 15-20 minutes is the winner.
Lesson Plan

Topic: Food/Restaurants

Level: Low intermediate

Objectives:
Students will be able to do the following:
a. Read a restaurant menu.
b. Order a meal

Warm-Up:
Group students in three or four (seated at tables, preferably). Give each group a picture. Each team selects a writer. They create three sentences to describe what is happening in the picture. The teacher writes all sentences on the overhead or board.

Presentation:
Present the restaurant page from the Oxford Picture Dictionary. Discuss the vocabulary with the students. Bring in several menus. Go over the parts of the menu and the vocabulary with students.

Focused Practice:
Teacher leads the group as a whole in writing a dialogue between a waiter and a customer. Students can use the menus to make suggestions, and the teacher corrects forms as she writes the dialogue on the board.

Communicative Practice:
Have groups role play a restaurant and ordering from a menu. The other students should observe and take notes.

Closure: Give students jumbled sentence strips containing lines from a conversation between waiter and customer. Students should put the sentences in order.

Variations:
b. Learn food idioms: You can’t have your cake and eat, too.
c. Teach money words and percentages for leaving tips.
d. Teach “too, enough” for making complaints:
   My hamburger’s not hot enough.
   These fries are too salty.
Listening Comprehension

Topic: Food
Source: Song, “Cheeseburger in Paradise” (Jimmy Buffet)
Proficiency: Low Intermediate

Pre-listening: Show pictures of foods or show food models.

Top-Down Activity: Play the song. Have students listen for the main idea of the song.

Selective Activity: Have students listen for things that singer likes and things that he doesn’t like.

Intensive listening: Have student listen for the names of food that are plural (count) and singular (non-count). They could circle these on a written list of foods mentioned in the song.

Follow-up: Have students explain to a partner their favorite meal. List ingredients.

Have students write a letter to the singer explaining why his cheeseburger is not a healthy idea.
Lesson Plan
Topic: food
Level: High Beginner

Objective:
Students will expand vocabulary related to the four food groups, focusing on adjectives.

Warm-up: “Food Group Mystery”
Divide students into groups. Each group gets a paper bag containing some kind of food. The students will feel the food and describe it WITHOUT LOOKING.

Presentation:
Each group will brainstorm five adjectives on paper for their given food group. Students will generate adjectives to be listed on the board. As the words are written, the group will pronounce each one. Opportunity to question definition of the words will be given.

Focused Practice:
Students will find a partner by matching colored papers given to them by the teacher. Partners take turns drawing cards containing names of food. Person who draw follows a pattern on the board:
Yesterday I had ______ for (name of meal). It was (adjective) and (adjective).
The partner tries to guess the food, saying “I think you are ______” (add an article if necessary).

The list of possible adjectives (including colors) should be on the board.

Communicative practice:
In a group, students will discuss what their favorite food is and why. They might also discuss what group that food is in.

Variation: Students in groups generate a list of favorite foods. They can then survey the class to see which foods are the class favorites.

Closure:
Students can begin to plan a meal using all four food groups.
Students write down their favorite recipe and describe its ingredients.

Listening Comprehension

Unit: Health
Level: Intermediate

Pre-listening:
- Show a picture of an injured or sick person
- Discuss vocabulary web or clustering for “sick”
- Show samples of realia: aspirin, bandages, thermometer, etc.

Listening:
- Have students listen to a pre-recorded conversation between a mother and a doctor. Have them determine what the problem is.

Before the students listen again, give them a list of comprehension questions. Let them skim the questions before listening. After they listen again, have them respond to the questions.

Follow-up:
- Give each student pair an index card with a physical ailment. Students will be given a few minutes to prepare a role-play between doctor and patient.

Variations:
- Role-play dialogue with pharmacist.
- Role-play in the emergency room
- Have students take notes as they listen to a doctor’s instructions.

Listening Comprehension

Unit: Health and Nutrition
Level: Novice

Pre-Listening:
Have a nutritionist make a simple, healthy salad for the class from common fruits and vegetables. Students will eat the salad.

Listening:
Students will listen to a simple presentation by the nutritionist about the importance of a healthy diet. The students will write a simple sentence summarizing the main idea of the nutritionist’s presentation.

Students will work in pairs to list nouns (ingredients) and verbs that were used in the speaker’s presentation. As a whole, the class will review these vocabulary words and parts of speech.

Students will be given a list of sequencing words. Students will place the steps from the nutritionists recipe in sequence.

Follow-up
Groups of students will make their own salads. Each group will share their recipe with the class. (This could be done at the next meeting).

Variations:
Change from salad to another type of food

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Personal Information
Situation: Personal and Family information
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: cards containing various pictures taken from magazines
Time: 10-15 minutes
Procedure:
   Ask 1 student to choose a card from the stack. Without looking at the card, the other students ask questions (yes/no) trying to guess who or what is on the card (like 20 questions).

Variations:
   May also be played in teams or in pairs.

Unit: Personal Information
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: 2 dice of different colors, question board and 10-15 question cards per group. (see examples on page 157 in Klippel)
Time: 15-30 minutes
Procedure:
   Divide class into groups of six. Each group receives the dice, board, and question cards. The question cards are put in piles face down next to the numbers 1-5 on the question board. Each student in the group is given a number from 1-6.
   Taking turns, each student throws the dice. One die indicates the question to be asked (the one on top of the pile of question cards next to the number thrown) and the other the person who must answer the question. If the "question die" shows a six, the person whose turn it is may ask his own question. The exercise is finished when everyone has a chance to answer the questions.

Variations:
   Students can prepare the questions.
   Questions can be related to previous activities or lessons.
   If you relate questions to a previous class, the activity takes on a past tense focus (i.e., what was the color of Mary's sweater yesterday?)

   With an advanced group, you can focus on tactful questions in difficult situations: age, weight, pregnant or not, marital status, etc.

TOPIC: Going on a picnic

LEVEL: Novice

MATERIALS: National Geographic pictures, sketch sheet of food/picnic items, picnic realia (basket, tablecloth, plates, etc.)

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Ask questions about preferences
- Express preferences
- Make decisions about a group activity
- Identify different activities for different places

Warm-up: Discuss with students what they know about picnics. Have they ever been on one? Where? Show pictures of various places from National Geographic, and ask whether each would be a good location for a picnic.

Presentation: “Today we will look at four places where we could go on a picnic. These places are 1. the mountains, 2. the zoo, 3. a city park, and 4. the beach. You will have to decide what you will eat and what you will do in that place when you are not eating.”

Focused practice: “What do you like to eat on a picnic?” Write student responses on the board. Teacher should add standard American items to the list.

Round robin response: Each student completes this sentence. “I like to eat ____ on a picnic. What do you like to eat?”

After all the students have said what they like to eat, teacher selects two foods from the board and asks a student, “On a picnic, do you prefer to eat ______ or ______?” Have the student respond, “I prefer ______.” Then this student repeats the question to the next student. After a few examples, students can continue in twos or threes, going through a number of the items on the board.

Communicative practice: Picnic Survey
Distribute to students handouts with the following questions:
1. What do you like to eat on a picnic?
2. What side dish do you like?
3. Do you want dessert?
4. What do you want to drink?

Have students move around the room and ask each other these questions. Students should write down the answers for each respondent. (See attached grid).
After students have finished, get feedback from the large group. What were some of the foods people wanted? How about dessert? Drinks?

Presentation: “We have talked about things to eat on a picnic. Now let’s talk about some of the things we can do when we’re not eating.”

Write the following places on the board and have the students list things to do at each place.

- the zoo
- the mountains
- the beach
- the park
- walk
- hike
- swim
- play frisbee
- see animals
- watch birds
- volleyball
- ride bikes

(suggest several for each list, if necessary.)

Communicative Practice: Planning a picnic. Have students work in small groups to plan a picnic. Have them make a list of what they will take to eat, where they will go, and what they will do for fun when they are not eating. Have each group report back to the whole class on their plans.
TOPIC: Talking about hobbies and recreation

LEVEL: High beginner, low intermediate

MATERIALS: Pictures of people doing various free-time activities, newspaper entertainment section, teacher-made grid for interview.

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Talk about free time activities
- Make decision about a group activity
- Understand the different activities for different places

Warm-up: Show pictures of people engaged in various sports/recreational activities. Have students identify pictures by describing what activities are taking place. Allow the students to indicate by show of hands how many enjoy doing selected activities.

Presentation: "We all need to take time to relax. A recreational activity is anything we do for relaxation. It can be as active as playing soccer or as quiet as reading a book or watching television. Whatever we do, the important thing is that we enjoy doing it." Share with students your own personal interests and recreational activities. Ask the students to share what they like to do for recreation. Write on the board: I enjoy ______. I like to ______.

Point out that these two constructions mean the same thing. "Enjoy" is followed by the -ing form of the verb, and "like to" base form. (NOTE: like can also be followed by the -ing form, without the "to". However, don't teach everything at once.) Have students take turns saying what they like to do. If the student uses the first form, another student repeats what he likes to do using the second form. Then the second student will say what he likes, and the third will give the alternate form, etc.

Focused practice: Give each student a handout with simple pictures of people engaged in various recreational activities (pictures from text or line drawings). List at the bottom of the page a number of possible free time activities. Have the students select verbs from the list at the bottom of the page and write two sentences next to each picture to describe what the people in the pictures like to do.

Communicative practice: Survey. Give each student a grid with six columns and enough lines down that they can interview each other student in the class. In the first column on the grid, they will list the names of their classmates. At the top of the remaining five columns, they should list five activities that they will ask their classmates. Next, write the following question forms on the board: Do you like to _______? Do you enjoy _______? Have students get out of their chairs and move around the classroom, interviewing each of the other classmates.

Role-plays: “Would you like to try my hobby?” Have students work together in pairs. Each pair is to explain to the other what his favorite free time activity is and how it’s done (where, with what equipment, when, etc.). The teacher should move around the class during this discussion and supply any vocabulary that the students need to explain their recreational activities. After the students have had several minutes to talk and prepare, have them come to the front in pairs to do the following role-play. They are two friends with some free time. Each is trying to talk the other into doing this favorite free time activity with him. Encourage students to be creative. (NOTE: If the class is larger than about 12, divide into halves, and have each team perform their role play for half of the class.)

Planning the weekend: Put students in groups of three or four. Give each group a copy of the entertainment section of the paper. Explain to the class what kind of information can be found in this part of the paper. Have them scan together to find what activities are listed. Then, in the groups, have students discuss and decide on an activity they would like to do together.

Closure: Have students tell when they think they will next have free time, and what they will do.
LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Planning a vacation

LEVEL: Low intermediate

MATERIALS: Suitcase or travel bag, pictures from magazines of means of transportation and places for vacations. Handouts for focused grammar practice.

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to;
- Use basic vocabulary related to vacation and travel
- Express plans using the future tense “will” and the negative “not”
  (future negative)

NEW LANGUAGE: Take a vacation, take a trip, take time off, get away. Beach/coast, mountains, desert, amusement park, jungle, country, take a ship, drive, fly, take a train, take a bus.

Warm-up: Teacher introduces subject of travel by showing the bag, tells about her last vacation or one she hopes to take soon, and asks the students if any of them have gone on a vacation recently.

Presentation: Tell the students to guess where she will go on her vacation and what she will do. Write the students answers on the board, putting them in the future tense using “will”. (For example, if a student says, “Teacher go Disneyland”, the teacher will write, “The teacher will go to Disneyland.”) Once there are about six to eight sentences on the board, tell the students that today they are going to talk about a vacation they want to take, and will use the future tense. Point out the form on the board and have students repeat the sentences.

Next, have the students come up with a negative for each sentence. For example, for “The teacher will go to Disneyland,” give the example, “The teacher will not go to New York.”

Focused practice: Have students work in pairs. One student will sit with his back to the board and the other will face the board. Have the student facing the board read one of the sentences and his partner give an appropriate follow-up sentence. After a few minutes, have students switch roles.

Vocabulary presentation: Open the suitcase and pull out pictures of possible vacation spots. Have the students name the spots (beach, amusement park, etc.) and supply any vocabulary they do not know. Write the vocabulary on the board. Next have the students brainstorm ways to get to the places, and add any that they don’t think of. Again, put vocabulary on the board.

Focused practice: Give each student a picture, and have him or her write ten sentences about his or her vacation to this place, using the future tense “will” in every sentence. Half of the sentences should have “not”. Students can follow the model given earlier on the board. After they have finished, put students in groups of three or four. Each student shows his picture to the group and reads his four sentences. The other students in the group are to listen for correct grammar in the sentences. They must then each ask him two questions about his vacation. Encourage creativity and free conversation in the question time. At the end of this activity, the groups should report back the most interesting thing they found out about each person’s vacation plans.

Communicative Practice: Have students work in groups of three or four. Give each group a list of fifteen items that could possible be taken on a trip (bathing suit, camera, etc.). Tell them that only ten items will fit in the suitcase, so they will have to choose which to take. Have each group decide where they will go, and what they will take. After the groups have finished, have them report back to the class. They should tell what they will take and what they will not take, and why.

Closure: Have each student select one of the pictures and take it home. For homework, have him write a postcard to the class from his vacation at that place.

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Food
Situation: Preparing a menu for a picnic
Activity: Values Clarification
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: Prepare a survey about foods preferred for a picnic
Time: 20-30 minutes
Procedure:
1. Give each student a copy of the survey.
2. Have students move around the room, questioning each other for answers to the survey.
3. Discuss the results of the survey as a group and plan a menu based on group consensus.

Unit: Food
Situation: Selecting foods and following a budget
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: Obtain results of survey from previous activity, grocery store circulars
Time: 15 minutes
Procedure:
In small groups, class takes one portion of the menu (dessert, main dish, etc.), grocery store circulars, and a budget limit. Their task is to make a shopping list and to determine how/where they can purchase the items on the list while staying within their budget.
Listening Comprehension

Topic: Recreation/Leisure

Level: Advanced

Pre-listening:
Give each group a set of three controversial statements: 1. It's safe for a woman to travel alone anywhere in the world. 2. You should learn the language before you travel to another country. 3. Airplane travel is the safest mode of transportation.

Listening:
Provide a travel video of an exotic place.

Top-down:
Listen to video. Ask students to discuss why people should visit this place.

Selective:
Ask students to listen for various specific information (about food, money, clothing, travel, safety, etc.)
Give students an outline of the video's main points, with specific details omitted. Let them fill in details.

Follow-up:
In pairs, pretend that students have traveled to this place. Have them call home to arrange travel plans or to describe their trip.
Have students create postcard to send from this place.

Variations:
Let students brainstorm travel vocabulary and synonyms.
Show various travel brochures.

Let each person design a travel brochure or video about their own country.
Listening Comprehension

Topic: Recreation/Leisure
"On the Road Again."
Level: High beginner/low intermediate

Pre-listening:
Give each group a photo from a magazine. Each group will brainstorm adjectives to describe the picture.

Listening:
Play the song "On the Road Again."

Top-down:
Ask students to give the song a title.
Ask the students to describe the singer's destination and feelings.

Selective:
Listen for three things that the singer likes to do.

Intensive:
Give the students a list of words that rhyme with words in the song. Students listen individually and circle the rhyming words. Share with group.

Follow-up:
Groups: make a pro/con list of car travel, discuss.

Have pairs discuss car travel, with one member a complainer and one a supporter.

Unit: Recreation/Leisure
Situation: Hobbies and Recreation
Level: High Beginner, Low Intermediate
Time: 5-15 minutes

Procedure:
1. Student get into pairs (one is an optimist, the other a pessimist)
2. Give each pair an index card with a sport or hobby on it.
3. Optimist must express a positive point of view about the topic.
4. Pessimist must express a negative point of view about the topic.
5. Students switch roles.

Variations:
   Students present their conversation to the class.
   Discuss which role was most difficult and why.

Pronunciation:
   Practice sentence stress on negatives:
   I DON'T like tennis, because . . . .

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Recreation/Leisure
Situation: Discussing personal leisure activities
Level: beginner/intermediate

Preparation: adapt the opinion poll on page 142 in Klippel’s book to sports and leisure topics. Bring OH transparencies or chart paper and markers.

Time: 30-45 minutes

Procedure:
1. Divide the class into groups of equal size. Give each group one topic on the opinion poll. Students follow directions on the opinion poll cards and form an interview sheet.

   Example:
   Sports: Participation
   You have to find out which sports the other people in the class like to participate in. Each of you will prepare an interview card which could look like this:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>

2. Rearrange groups so that there is one member of each original group in each new group. Students interview the members of the new group.
3. Reassemble original groups and let students compile data.
4. Students present results to the class.

Variations:
Use different topics, such as food, shopping, work, travel, etc.
Lesson Plan

Topic: Recreation/Leisure (Going to the Movies)

Level: Intermediate

Objectives:
- Students will learn to use the phone to find a movie schedule
- Students will read and listen to movie schedules.

Warm-Up:
- "Attention-Getter" using recording of movie schedule (taken from phone).
- Teacher questions students about the tape (what did you hear? What made this difficult to understand, etc.) They can make a list of their responses.

Presentation:
- Using a prepared chart and information slips, students complete a jigsaw activity about the movies mentioned on the tape. (see handouts).

Focused practice:
- Using selective listening, groups answer specific questions based on "attention-getter" recording.

Communicative Practice:
- In pairs, students practice inviting a friend to one of the movies listed on the chart.

Closure:
- Class comes to a consensus about a movie to see. Class attends the movie together.

Homework: Call movie theater for specific information regarding a movie. Report the information to the class.

Additional questions (vocabulary):
1. Which movies are ok for children? (rating system)
2. How can you save money at the theater? (matinee, student discount)
3. What do you do if you don’t know where a theater is? (directions)
TOPIC: Shopping

LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: At the Mall

LEVEL: High Beginner

MATERIALS: Simple diagram of a mall, small diagrams for information gap activity, advertisements from a Mall.

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Understand and carry out spoken commands for directions
- Repeat the commands to classmates
- Transfer direction knowledge to following directions in finding items in mall
- Decipher a directory diagram.

NEW LANGUAGE: Prepositions of direction, store items, commands for directions

RESOURCES: Chalk Talks, by Norma Shapiro

Warm-up: “I understand that you students would like to take a field trip to the Mall. Why do you want to go to the mall?” Elicit from students responses about shopping at the mall. “Today we are going to talk about where things are found in the mall and how to give and get directions.”

Presentation: Put the following on the board (or flip chart).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>to the right of</th>
<th>to the left of</th>
<th>across from</th>
<th>in front of</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>around</td>
<td>next to</td>
<td>behind</td>
<td>near</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Using gestures, drawings, or by moving students, present the meaning of the vocabulary.

Focused practice: TPR. Give students commands using the vocabulary.

__________, walk across the room.

__________, stand in front of ________.

__________, walk around ________.

__________, walk straight ahead.

__________, stand next to ________.

__________, stand behind ________.

__________, stand near ________.

Presentation of mall vocabulary: Brainstorm with the students the different kinds of stores at the mall. List these on the board. Add any that are necessary to complete this list: department store, shoe store, men's store, music store, book store, drug store, gift shop, card shop, sporting goods store, jewelry store, sandwich shop, ice cream store.

Have the students work in pairs. Taking turns, the students should go through the list of stores on the board and name something that could be bought in each store. "In a _______ store, you can buy ______." After the pairs have finished, have them report back to the group. Ask, "What different things can you buy in a _______ store?"

Practice reading Mall diagram: Give students a mall diagram and key (see attached). Explain how to find names of stores from key. Next, hand out Activity #1 (attached), and have students in pairs ask and answer the questions on the handout, using the mall diagram as a guide. Once students have completed this, go over it as a class, emphasizing the vocabulary used to express location.

Communicative practice: Show students a simple diagram of a shopping mall with the stores labeled, using the stores given above. As a large group, discuss how to explain where each store is located. "Where is the shoe store?" "To the right of the jewelry store," etc. Allow each student to tell where something is located.

Role-plays: Give each student a card with the name of some item they have to find in the mall. In groups of three or four, have each student in the group take a turn manning the Mall Information Counter, and answer the other students' questions.

Closure: Plan a mall field trip or treasure hunt.
LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Shopping for clothing

LEVEL: High beginner

MATERIALS: Clothing, department store flyers, cards for Concentration game with clothing vocabulary and pictures of clothing.

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to:
- Name and read articles of clothing advertised in three department store flyers.
- Request assistance by asking for a specific department or location.

NEW LANGUAGE: Clothes and Clothing. Articles of clothing, “Where is the ___ department?” “I’m looking for _____.

Warm-up: Introduce the terms clothes, clothing, and department story, writing these on the board. Ask where would they go to buy clothing for their family or for themselves.

Presentation: “Today we are going to learn the names of clothing. We will read and write these names, and we will learn how to ask for help in finding these clothes.” Write on the board name of four departments in a story (Men, Children, Ladies, and Footwear). Hold up the items of clothing and ask if students know the names. If they don’t, supply the new vocabulary, have the students repeat it, and have them categorize it according to the department it would be found.

FOCUSED PRACTICE:
1. Listening: Pass out the department store flyers. Have the students work in pairs. Call out the name of an article of clothing, and have the students look through the flyers to see how many pictures of the item they can find.

2. Vocabulary practice: Concentration. Put students in groups of four or five. Give them cards with pictures of clothing and the names of clothing face down on the table. The students have to pick up two pictures at a time and try to find the matches. Make sure the students say the name of the article of clothing. When they pick up the word, they should say the word, then spell it aloud.
LESSON PLAN

TOPIC: Grocery Store

LEVEL: Low Novice

MATERIALS: Cards with food pictures and names. Food items or pictures. Grocery store worksheets (attached).

LESSON AIMS: Students will be able to;
- use basic grocery vocabulary
- scan aisle signs for grocery departments
- ask for assistance
- correctly use count and non-count nouns.

Warm-up: Go Fish. Using common food vocabulary already know by students, give students each six cards, three pictures and three words, using count and non-count grocery nouns. Have students go around the room asking “Do you have any...” and if the partner answer yes, the asking student takes the pair. At the end count how many pairs each has.

Vocabulary Presentation: Introduce more grocery vocabulary using real items or pictures on cards with words on the back. Have the students repeat the names of the items. Drill singular and plural forms.

Focused practice-vocabulary drill: Put the following dialogue on the board:
A: Where are you going?
B: I'm going shopping.
A: What are you going to buy?
B: I'm going to buy some _____.
Distribute cards to students and have them practice the dialogue with a partner, using the picture on the card as a cue to answer. If they can't remember the word, have them look on the back. Have pairs pass cards around until all pairs have had all the cards. Then conduct a quick class drill to see how many words the students can remember. Show the picture and have them give the name of the item.

Presentation: Introduce vocabulary “aisle, produce department” and names of other department in the grocery store (see handout). Split the class into groups of three and have them categorize the foods into departments. (See worksheet.) Write the department names on the board. When the groups have finished, have each group come to the board and write their answers for one of the categories. Discuss any differences of opinion, and correct where necessary.
COMMUNICATIVE PRACTICE:

Information Gap: Put on the board, “Excuse me, do you have any _____?” “Yes, it’s on aisle __________.” Place student in pairs. Give each student a handout with a simple diagram of a grocery store indicating aisle numbers and the names of foods on the aisles. Sheet A should have six items places on the aisles, and another six listed at the bottom. Sheet B should have the same items in opposite places. Have students take turns asking their partners the location of the items listed at the bottom of their sheets. When the partner tells where an item is, the other partner should write it in on the correct aisle.

Twenty questions: Put the food items or pictures of food items in a bag. Have the students come up one at a time, draw an item out of the bag without letting the others see it, and then answer questions from classmates who try to guess the item. Encourage students to use the names of the categories in their questions.

Closing activity—The Shopping Game: Put aisle headings on the board. Divide students into groups of three. Give each group a grocery story circular and a role of tape. Call out names of food items (those taught above) and have the groups find them in the circular as quickly as possible, run to the board, and tape them up on the right aisle. Assign a point to the team that gets to the board first with the right item in the right aisle.
Lesson Plan

Topic: Shopping
Level: Beginner

Objectives:
Students will be able to do the following:
a. Recognize vocabulary associated with clothes
b. Participate in a conversation with a sales clerk.

Warm-Up:
Students will be given either a picture card or a vocabulary card. Students will then mix and mingle in order to match pictures and words.

Presentation:
Use puppets to demonstrate a typical shopping routine between customer and clerk. OR Show a movie clip of a shopping conversation. OR Give students a scrambled conversation and have them put it in order.

Focused Practice:
Vocabulary Focus:
Student 1 will draw a vocabulary card and read it.
Student 2 will write it on the board.
Class will check or correct the written word.

Conversation Focus:
Students will complete a cloze exercise of a conversation.

Communicative Practice:
Role Play: With teacher as clerk, students will draw a picture card and ask for help in finding that item.

Variations: Let students play the clerk.
Extend the role play to giving and following directions. (i.e., the shoes are to the right).

Closure:
Choral reading of a jazz chant.
Jazz Chant:

How may I serve you?
May I be of some help?
May I help you?

Yes, you may, I'd like to buy a hat today.

Follow me. Right this way.
Some hats are there. Some hats are here.
What color do you want, my dear?

Green or blue, in straw or felt,
And then I also need a belt.

These little models might do for you.
Try them on and see how they do.

I love this green one, and the blue one as well,
I'll take them both; they both fit swell.

Cash or charge? Visa or master?
I'll ring up the sale and you sign after.

Please sign at the X, there on the line.
Your full name please. There, that's fine.

Here are your hats. Have a nice day.
Come back in to see us another day.
Listening Comprehension

Unit: Shopping
Level: Beginner/Intermediate

Pre-listening: Use magazines to find pictures of clothing and words associated with clothing.

Prepare a tape of a TV advertisement for clothes. Also find a newspaper advertisement. Then prepare a dialogue between a salesclerk and a customer shopping for something from the ad.

Activities:
- Listen for words from the ad that match the newspaper ad.
- Listen to the dialogue. Have students answer questions about the dialogue.
- Prepare a list of words from the tape. Have students listen to the tape again and mark the stressed syllables in the words as they hear them.

Variations:
- Let students create the dialogue and role-play.
- Let students create webs about shopping.

Listening Comprehension

Unit: Shopping for Food
Source: Picture/Tape
Level: Intermediate

Pre-listening: Give students a picture of a grocery store with certain item circled. Have them find similar pictures in magazines, focusing on packaging vocabulary (jar, loaf, carton, etc.)

Selective Activity: Play a recording of an in-store supermarket advertisement or commercial. Have students listen for words that belong with specific types of packaging, such as boxes, cartons, jars, can, bars, etc.

Intensive Listening:
Have students listen to the tape again and underline words which have the diphthong [ai], as in aisle nine. Students could listen again and circle words with the vowel sound in mix, six, etc.

Follow-up:
Schedule a trip to the grocery store with a list of items to find.

Variations:
Listen to the tape and find each item on a diagram of the grocery store.
Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Shopping
Situation: Shopping for Groceries
Level: intermediate

Preparation:
Comic strip, cut up into individual frames. One complete strip goes into an envelope, with at least one envelope for every six to eight students in the room. (Cathy cartoons about the grocery store would be good).

Time:
15-30 minutes

Procedure:
Put students in groups of 6-8. Give each group an envelope. Instruct each student to take one frame from envelope. As a group, put the strip in order as they think the story goes. After finishing, each group would show their comic strip to the class.

Variations:
Use sentences that tell a simple story instead of pictures. Or each student could memorize his own sentence and then the group would work orally to put the story together.

Pronunciation focus:
Intonation in sequencing words: First, then, next, etc.
or
Intonation for questions for clarification: “What’s next?” or “What happens next?”

Topic: Transportation/Driver's Test

Level: High Beginner

Pre-listening:
   Show a driver's license. Discuss how one gets a license.

Listening:
   Play a tape of Driving Examiner giving instructions on a test.

Selective Listening:
   Given a map of a driving test course, have student show the route that the instructor followed in the test.
   Have students circle parts of a car mentioned in the test.
   Given a list of instructions in a jumbled order, have students put the instructions in order.

Intensive Listening:
   Have students mark a transcript for fall intonation.
   Have students mark commands on a transcript.
ESL LESSON PLAN

Topic/Situation: Getting a Beginner’s Permit: Recognition of Traffic Signs

Class: Low-intermediate; 1 1/2 hours; 15 students
Skills: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing
Materials: Driver’s Manual; Flash Cards - Signs; Flash Cards - Words;
Pair Practice Dictation Exercise; Evaluation - Matching Exercise

Lesson Aims: The student will correctly name nine (9) frequently used traffic signs.

Stages of Lesson and specific directions for each stage:

I. WARM-UP, Review:

We have been working on what you need to know to be able to get a Beginner’s Permit. In the last class we practiced asking for a Driver’s Manual and about taking the written test. (Whole class discussion/review of previous lesson’s vocabulary and what they learned about taking the test.) Ask, “Did everyone go and get your manual?” Say, “Now that we have our manuals we need to begin to study for the written test.”

II. PRESENTATION

Today we’re going to talk about traffic signs, or road signs as they are sometimes called. On this poster you will see some road signs. Are they all the same color? Are they all the same shape?

1. Activity 1: Flash Cards - Signs and Words
2. Activity 2: Review colors
3. Activity 3: Grammar point - Contractions
4. Activity 4: Review prepositions of location

TRANSITION: Now let’s see how well you remember the signs when you’re driving.

III. FOCUSED PRACTICE

1. Activity 1: Drill - Sign Recognition
2. Activity 2: Team Game - Guess the Sign

IV. COMMUNICATIVE PRACTICE

1. Activity 1: Pair Practice Dictation
2. Activity 2: Matching Exercise - Signs

Evaluation: Use Matching Exercise - Signs
Criteria for success: 7/9 correct

V. CLOSURE

Select signs that seemed to give the most difficulty and review by involving the whole class in calling out the name as the sign is held up.

Dialogue Practice - Requesting a Driver's Manual

Clerk: Can I help you?
Driver: Yes. I want to get my Beginner's Permit. May I please have a Driver's Manual.
Clerk: Here you are. Anything else?
Driver: Thank you. What do I need to bring when I'm ready to take the test?
Driver: Oh O.K. Will I need to make an appointment?
Clerk: No you don't have to but you may have to wait if we're busy.
Driver: What are the times for the tests?
Clerk: From 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Driver: Are you open Saturday?
Clerk: No. Monday thru Friday - and not on holidays.
Driver: Thanks for your help.
Clerk: Uh huh. Bye.

IL Beginning & Intermediate Levels

1. Fold the page on the dotted line. Look at your side only. Compare your picture after you both fill in all the empty signs.

2. Fill in the blank signs below with the signs your partner describes to you.

3. Describe to your partner the locations of the signs in your picture. Read what is on them.

4. Now fill in the blank signs below with the signs your partner describes to you.

On the chalkboard, draw the signs and write their meanings below them.

Drill for pronunciation. Then erase the meanings. Divide the class into two teams. Alternately have one member of a team come to the chalkboard. Have him/her select a sign and then write the meaning under it. For each correct answer, give one point to the appropriate team. Insist on complete accuracy.

Review prepositions of location using "top", "bottom", "middle", "right", and "left". i.e., top left, bottom right, middle left, etc.)

Distribute the handout. Then have students fold the page on the dotted line. Tell them to look at their side of their page only. Explain that the students must fill in the blank signs that their partner describes and dictates. Also, explain that they will have the opportunity to compare pictures after they both finish the exercise.

As a follow-up exercise, you may want to teach the meanings of other signs:

- STOPPING ANY TIME
- RUCK ROUTE
- O PED CROSSING
- O PED CHECKED BY RADAR
- O BICYCLES
- O NOT PASS
- LOWER TRAFFIC KEEP RIGHT

TPR - Simon Says Game

Students, please form a circle around the room. Now listen carefully. I am going to tell you to move in a direction but you must only move if I say "Simon Says" before I tell you which way to move. If I don't say "Simon Says", you should just stand still. Anyone who moves when they shouldn't will sit down and we'll play until everyone is sitting down.

Let's practice first and then we'll start the game.

1. Simon says, turn right
2. Simon says, go backward
3. Turn left
4. Simon says, go forward
5. Simon says, go straight.

Game continues in this way until all students are sitting down.
Look at the picture. Write in, on, at, or near in the blanks in the following sentences.

1. The spoon is .......... the cup.
2. The other spoon is .......... the sugar bowl.
3. The flowers are .......... the vase.
4. The cat is .......... the window.
5. The clock is .......... the window.
6. Marie is sitting .......... the chair.
7. The road signs are .......... the page.
8. The vase is .......... the table.
9. Marie is sitting .......... the table.
10. Marie got her beginner's permit .......... the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Dialogue Practice – Making an appointment
(using telephone)

The telephone rings:

Clerk: South Carolina Highway Department. May I help you?

Driver: Hello. I'd like to make an appointment for a road test.

Clerk: Do you have a Beginner's Permit?

Driver: Yes I do.

Clerk: Good. Let's see, we don't have anything until Tuesday at 10:30 a.m.

Driver: I can't come then. I'll be at work. I don't have to work on Monday, can I come then?

Clerk: Sorry we're closed on Monday. It's a holiday. Can you come on Tuesday afternoon.

Driver: Can I come after 4:30.

Clerk: Our last test is 4:00. Can you be here by then?

Driver: O.K. I'll ask to leave work early.

Clerk: What is your name?

Driver: (put in student's own name here)

Clerk: Right Ms. You have an appointment at 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 5th.

Driver: Thank you. Have a nice weekend.

Clerk: Thanks, you too.

Situation 1: Getting a Beginner's Permit

Applying for a Beginner's Permit - Interview

In Pairs. One student is interviewer and the other is applicant. Teacher and a volunteer will model the interview process.

The first part of the exercise will require the interviewer to ask questions, listen to response and write down the information in the appropriate place on the sample form. The applicant will need to listen to and respond orally to the questions.

The interviewer's second task will be to instruct the applicant to go to a booth, read and answer the nine Yes/No questions and then return to the counter. The applicant will listen to and carry out the instructions and bring the completed form back to the interviewer who will check the written responses.

Students will then reverse roles and conduct the interview again.

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: travel
Situation: Deciding where to take a vacation
Level: Intermediate
Preparation: Obtain copies of travel brochures
Time: 1 hour

Procedure: Students choose preferred destination from travel brochures, explaining their choices. Class discusses matters of importance: climate, time frame, interests, etc. Class ranks possible destinations in order of preference.

Variation: Narrow choices to three, rank again, and choose the number one class favorite.
Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Game: Gilligan's Island
Preparation: Bring magazines, scissors, and newspapers
Time: 15-20 minutes

Tell students that they've been shipwrecked like Gilligan on Gilligan's Island. If they could have only 10 things with them on the island, what would they want to have. They can do this individually. They can find pictures to illustrate their choices, and cut them out.

Then combine the class into groups of six or so. Each group must pick a set of 10 things as a group that they would take. All the things must fit into Gilligan's boat. Each group must form a consensus.

Additional Communicative Exercises
(For more information, see Keep Talking: Communicative Fluency Activities for Language Teaching, by Friederike Klippel. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1984.)

Unit: Travel
Situation: Deciding Where to Take a Vacation
Level: Intermediate, Beginner

Preparation: Masking tape, large flashcards with picture of vacation sites and the word for the site.

Time: 20-30 minutes

Procedure:
1. Tape one of the flashcards in each of the four corners of the room
2. Students read signs and then stand under the sign that suits them best.
3. Students interview each other to find out why each picked a particular vacation spot.
RESOURCE SHEET

TOPIC: Work/Occupations

SONGS/POEMS/JAZZ CHANTS:
I've Been Working on the Railroad; Workin' Nine to Five; Fifteen Tons; Grandpa Was a Carpenter; Banker's Wife's Blues.

QUOTATIONS/PROVERBS:
Idle hands are the devil's workshop. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. A man may work from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done. Many hands make light work. Nothing ventured nothing gained. Business before pleasure. The customer is always right. Work is the grand cure for all the maladies and miseries that ever beset mankind — honest work, which you intend getting done (Thomas Carlyle, speech in 1866). Work keeps at bay three great evils: boredom, vice and need (Voltaire, Candide)

IDIOMS:
to be a work horse; to work like a dog/slave/Trojan; to get axed; woman's work; elbow grease; in the works; to make short work of something; out of work; overworked and underpaid; make hay while the sun shines; work of art; dirty business; take a letter; to be called on the carpet; right-hand man; in the red/black.

STORIES/FABLES/FILMS:
The Ant and the Grasshopper; Nine to Five; Newsies; Stand and Deliver

TEACHING AIDS/REALIA:
Pictures of people in various jobs; job application forms; employment index (Almanac); vocational outlook publications.

NEWSPAPER/MEDIA:
20/20 and other news shows; want ads;

GAMES:
What's My Line; Concentration, Charades

SITUATIONS:
Vocational counseling; Looking for a job; Working on the job; Discussing work; Dealing with customers; Job performance evaluations.

TASK/ACTIVITIES:
Prepare a resume, take a vocational aptitude test, describe work history; read and write want ads, read and write a job description, call for interview, write a cover letter, fill out a job application, interview and be interviewed, write letter of recommendation; answer the phone, take messages, give and take instructions, complete and compute timesheet; give information, take orders, make suggestions; receive performance evaluations.
ROLE PLAY SITUATIONS:
Talk to your manager and ask for a raise; explain to your boss why you are late to work for the third time this week; explain to a new employee his/her duties; your coworker is unhappy because she didn’t get a raise, convince her to stay.

Lesson Plan

Topic: Job Interview (Work/Occupations)

Level: Intermediate

Objectives:
Students will do the following:
Learn how to get better jobs
Learn how to form interrogative sentences
Learn vocabulary necessary for a job interview.

Warm-Up:
Divide into groups and brainstorm list of do’s and don’ts for a job interview.
Come back to whole class and discuss lists, then pass out a prepared handouts of do’s and don’ts for students to compare with their own lists.

Presentation:
Introduce the interrogative form of a sentence. Brainstorm questions that an interviewer might have for a job candidate. Brainstorm questions the candidate might ask the prospective employer. Review question words through a cloze exercise.

Focused Practice:
In pairs, practice an interview dialogue prepared by the teacher.

Communicative Practice:
Impromptu role plays (in different pairs). Have students swap role (job candidate and interviewer).

Closure:
Perform skits of job interviews. Let class decide which “job candidate” should get the job and discuss why.

Alternatives:
Let students write the dialogues for focused practice.
For skits, students could be given their assignments ahead of time so that they can prepare for their role (in dress and speech).
Listening Comprehension

Topic: Work/Occupations
Level: Advanced

Pre-listening:
- Have students look through employment ads in the newspaper.
- Have students fill out an employment application.

Listening:
- Play a tape of a job interview.

  Top-down activity: Have student decide whether or not the interview was successful. Elicit a list of positive and negative features.

  Selective listening: Have students listen for various specific pieces of information: duties, hours, education, linguistic requirements, benefits.

  Intensive: On an interview transcript, have student mark each time they hear rising intonation.
  OR: Have students make a check mark each time they hear a filler sound, such as “uh-huh.”

Follow-Up:
- Do a role play.
  Write a job offer or a rejection letter to the job candidate in the interview. Explain why he or she did/didn’t get the job.

A Glossary of Some Terms Used in the Curriculum

Cloze Procedure - A reading comprehension or listening technique that eliminates every n-th word (eighth or tenth) in a passage to test mastery of comprehension of written or spoken language. Students then fill in blanks with the appropriate word. Works well with songs.

Information Gap Activities - Classroom tasks in which students are required to exchange information to accomplish a goal, for example, coordinating schedules to make an appointment with a doctor's secretary.

Integrated - Involving a combination of the four skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing as well as grammar.

Interactive activities - Activities in which students are involved in pair or small group work in a collaborative atmosphere with the teacher.

Realia - Real object or pictures of them, such as money, maps, menus, want-ads, clothing, food, etc.

Skimming - Quickly running one's eye over a text to get the gist.

TPR (Total Physical Response) - A teaching method that focuses on listening comprehension, utilizing direct commands and physical responses to such commands.
