Section II consists of course outlines for the following: 29 business and office courses (keyboard speed building, document formatting/production, professional development, applied business math, mechanics of communication, microcomputer applications, electronic spreadsheet, records management, word processing applications, accounting, business communication, database management, operating systems, computerized accounting, machine transcription, advanced microcomputer applications, administrative office procedures, desktop publishing, advanced business accounting, income tax accounting, payroll accounting, supervised work experience, medical machine transcription I-II, medical office terminology I-II, medical office concepts, medical information management, and network management); 21 legal courses (stenograph machine shorthand I-II, speed building I-II, stenograph machine shorthand III, court reporting procedures, stenographic machine shorthand IV, court reporting technology court reporting internship, legal systems and terminology, family law, legal research, wills/estates, real property I-II, legal writing, administrative law/bankruptcy, paralegal skills/applications, civil litigation, torts, paralegal internship); related vocational-technical courses (computer operations, BASIC); and related academic courses (principles of accounting I-II, legal environment of business, principles of economics (macroeconomics). Each course outline contains some/all of the following: course name, abbreviation, classification, and description; prerequisites; and competencies/suggested objectives. Recommended tools and equipment are listed in section III. Appended are lists of related academic topics and workplace skills for the 21st century and student competency profiles. (MN)

FOREWORD

In order to survive in today's global economy, businesses and industries have had to adopt new practices and procedures. Total quality management, statistical process control, participatory management, and other concepts of high performance work organizations are practices by which successful companies survive. Employers now expect their employees to be able to read, write, and communicate effectively; solve problems and make decisions; and interact with the technologies that are prevalent in today's workplace. Vocational-technical education programs must also adopt these practices in order to provide graduates who can enter and advance in the changing work world.

The curriculum framework in this document reflect these changes in the workplace and a number of other factors that impact on local vocational-technical programs. Federal and state legislation calls for articulation between high school and community college programs, integration of academic and vocational skills, and the development of sequential courses of study that provide students with the optimum educational path for achieving successful employment. National skills standards, developed by industry groups and sponsored by the U. S. Departments of Education and Labor, provide vocational educators with the expectations of employers across the United States. All of these factors are reflected in the framework found in this document.

Each postsecondary program of instruction consists of a program description and a suggested sequence of courses which focus on the development of occupational competencies. Each vocational-technical course in this sequence has been written using a common format which includes the following components:

- Course Name - A common name that will be used by all community/junior colleges in reporting students.
- Course Abbreviation - A common abbreviation that will be used by all community/junior colleges in reporting students.
- Classification - Courses may be classified as:
  - Vocational-technical core - A required vocational-technical course for all students.
  - Vocational-technical elective - An elective vocational-technical course.
  - Related academic course - An academic course which provides academic skills and knowledge directly related to the program area.
  - Academic core - An academic course which is required as part of the requirements for an Associate degree.
- Description - A short narrative which includes the major purpose(s) of the course and the recommended number of hours of lecture and laboratory activities to be conducted each week during a regular semester.
Prerequisites - A listing of any prerequisite courses that must be taken prior to or on enrollment in the course.

Competencies and Suggested Objectives - A listing of the competencies (major concepts and performances) and of the suggested student objectives that will enable students to demonstrate mastery of these competencies.

The following guidelines were used in developing the program(s) in this document and should be considered in compiling and revising course syllabi and daily lesson plans at the local level:

The content of the courses in this document reflects approximately 75 percent of the time allocated to each course. For example, in a four semester hour course consisting of 30 hours lecture and 120 hours of laboratory activities, approximately 22 hours of lecture and 90 hours of lab should be taken by the competencies and suggested objectives identified in the course framework. The remaining 25 percent of each course should be developed at the local district level and may reflect:

- Additional competencies and objectives within the course related to topics not found in the State framework, including activities related to specific needs of industries in the community college district.
- Activities which develop a higher level of mastery on the existing competencies and suggested objectives.
- Activities and instruction related to new technologies and concepts that were not prevalent at the time the current framework was developed/revised.
- Activities which implement components of the Mississippi Tech Prep initiative, including integration of academic and vocational-technical skills and coursework, school-to-work transition activities, and articulation of secondary and postsecondary vocational-technical programs.
- Individualized learning activities, including worksite learning activities, to better prepare individuals in the courses for their chosen occupational area.

Sequencing of the course within a program is left to the discretion of the local district. Naturally, foundation courses related to topics such as safety, tool and equipment usage, and other fundamental skills should be taught first. Other courses related to specific skill areas and related academics, however, may be sequenced to take advantage of seasonal and climatic conditions, resources located outside of the school, and other factors.

Programs that offer an Associate of Applied Science degree must include a minimum 15 semester credit hour academic core. Specific courses to be taken within this core are to be determined by the local district. Minimum academic core courses are as follows:
• 3 semester credit hours  Math/Science Elective
• 3 semester credit hours  Written Communications Elective
• 3 semester credit hours  Oral Communications Elective
• 3 semester credit hours  Humanities/Fine Arts Elective
• 3 semester credit hours  Social/Behavioral Science Elective

It is recommended that courses in the academic core be spaced out over the entire length of the program, so that students complete some academic and vocational-technical courses each semester. Each community/junior college has the discretion to select the actual courses that are required to meet this academic core requirement.

In instances where secondary programs are directly related to community and junior college programs, competencies and suggested objectives from the high school programs are listed as Baseline Competencies. These competencies and objectives reflect skills and knowledge that are directly related to the community and junior college vocational-technical program. In adopting the curriculum framework, each community and junior college is asked to give assurances that:
- students who can demonstrate mastery of the Baseline Competencies do not receive duplicate instruction, and
- students who cannot demonstrate mastery of this content will be given the opportunity to do so.

The roles of the Baseline Competencies are to:
- Assist community/junior college personnel in developing articulation agreements with high schools, and
- Ensure that all community and junior college courses provide a higher level of instruction than their secondary counterparts

The Baseline Competencies may be taught as special "Introduction" courses for 3-6 semester hours of institutional credit which will not count toward Associate degree requirements. Community and junior colleges may choose to integrate the Baseline Competencies into ongoing courses in lieu of offering the "Introduction" courses or may offer the competencies through special projects or individualized instruction methods.

Technical elective courses have been included to allow community colleges and students to customize programs to meet the needs of industries and employers in their area.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Business and Office program includes a basic core of courses designed to prepare a student for a variety of entry-level positions through selection of a concentration of 67 to 70 semester credit hours (sch) in the following areas:

- Office Systems Technology
- Accounting Technology
- Medical Office Technology
- Microcomputer Technology

The curriculum is designed to give each student:

- a broad overview of the entire office function, not only his/her individual position
- an opportunity to investigate the integration of systems--people and technology
- an exposure to career options available within the office which involves the coordination of people, equipment, and resources as well as an opportunity to recognize the relationship between worker and supervisor
- a concentration of skills in a specific area

Business and Office is a two-year program of study which requires courses in the vocational-technical core, designated areas of concentration, and the academic core. The Associate of Applied Science degree is earned upon the successful completion of the Business and Office curriculum. Successful completion of the first year of this program entitles a student to receive an Office Assistant certificate.
