This guide, which is intended for individuals involved in planning/operating job clubs for disabled and/or nondisabled junior and senior high school-aged students, contains directions for conducting more than 60 activities in job club settings. The activities are organized into the following seven categories, which have been identified as critical to creating positive work habits and attitudes: self-esteem; communication; job search; interviewing; keeping a job; money management; and independent living. The activities have all been designed to be used with small groups of 6-12 students in weekly sessions lasting 40-50 minutes. Each of the guide's seven sections begins with a brief discussion of why the skill covered in the section is critical to finding and keeping a job. Each activity is outlined on an activity sheet that includes some/all of the following: activity name, purpose, audience, materials required, implementation strategies, issues to be aware of, and length of time. Among the types of activities included are the following: quizzes; paper-and-pencil activities; games; drawing; self-evaluation; group discussion; public speaking; role playing; and simulation of television game shows. GREAT OAKS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Equal opportunity in employment, education and all services and programs administered by the district is assured through policies adopted by the Great Oaks Joint Institute of Technology and Career Development. Great Oaks does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, or handicap. Great Oaks facilities are accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF).
THIS MANUAL IS DEDICATED TO YOUNG PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES AND THEIR PEERS IN THEIR QUEST FOR MEANINGFUL EMPLOYMENT, TO THEIR FAMILIES AND TO THOSE WHO HELP THEM IN THAT QUEST.
Thank you for your interest in the Project PEER Job Club Resource Guide. We have added activities to this new "Second Edition"! All activities in this manual are designed to use with persons making a transition into the work world.

After planning and executing Job Clubs for several years, we have included the most popular lessons used with junior high and high school aged students. They are designed for use in an integrated setting, including persons with disabilities and their peers. We also believe this guide can be used for junior high students or adults to create positive work habits and attitudes.

There are many areas to explore in a "Job Club" situation but we have found that our most successful activities fall into the following areas: Self Esteem, Communication, Job Search, Interviewing, Keeping Your Job, Money Management, and Independent Living. These are critical issues when planning for success in the world of work.

Included in this new edition are over 60 activities in these seven areas. They are designed to be implemented once a week for a forty to fifty minute class during a school year. Some of the lessons are short and can be done in conjunction with another activity, while others may take more than one class period. They are most successful, when done with a small group: six to twelve members. We have presented each area as a unit of activities and implemented them in the same order as they appear in this resource guide. However, feel free to introduce the lessons in an order that will meet your students needs!

We strongly believe that these activities will help young people with disabilities and their peers gain confidence in their own skills and abilities as they prepare for work. Most activities require very few materials, or things that are found cheaply (such as rocks!), or handouts that can be copied from this book. The lessons are easy to follow and any handouts that accompany it have the same artwork on each page. Each activity is meant to be meaningful and should benefit the students. Feel free to pick and choose the lessons that will work for you!

SELF-ESTEEM
A positive self esteem is vital to success in every aspect of life: job, independent living, social relationships, etc. This concept seems simple, but it is very true. Young adults, especially those with a disability or someone who is unemployed, often have a low self esteem. Self esteem can be practiced and improved! Each time a person talks in front of a group, their self esteem is enhanced. Working in small groups gives these students many chances to improve their self esteem throughout the entire school year. Enhancing your self esteem will lead to improvements in all areas: increased communication skills, a boost in productivity on the job, higher self confidence, etc.

Through these activities, you will see a different side of your students: leadership or organizational skills may develop, a sense of humor may shine, appropriate social skills will also be enhanced.

The activities in this section are fun and can be used throughout the year. Many of these lessons use tangible items (rocks, apples, candy) which help the students deal with abstract ideas. The first three pages in this section can be used as posters or handouts to motivate your student's self esteem!

When some of the other Job Club activities seem cumbersome or tedious, you may want to add a self esteem lesson. This will add a little "oomph" to your Job Club!
If you think you can't....

Think again!
We All Have Feelings
So Why Can't We All Be Friends?

Hello to you.

I see how you make fun of me because in some ways, I'm different than you. I'm not stupid, so I know what you mean by your remarks and your actions.

Sometimes I see one of you get hurt by something someone does or says and I can understand your hurt because I carry that hurt with me most all the time.

I'm not invited to football games with you or out for pizza or to your parties because you think I am strange. But did you know that I am a human being and that I have feelings just like you?

I'm not "cool" according to you, but maybe you should know that, just like you, I can feel hurt, lonely and different. Sometimes I laugh so you won't see me cry. Sometimes the things I hear you say make me feel all empty inside. Isn't it funny that you are cool and I am weird, and yet we both have the same kind of feelings?

I hope no one ever hurts you like I've been hurt. I hope no one ever points at you and laughs, or ignores you in the lunchroom. I hope you never find yourself alone at a football game or a dance.

I am so proud of what I have accomplished in special education, and yet I know that you could probably learn it without even opening a book. I know that I'll never be homecoming queen, captain of the football team or a cheerleader -- those are places for you, the cool people. I only wish you were cool enough to see and hear me.

But most of all, I wish you were cool enough to understand me -- so we could be friends.

Sincerely.

Your unknown friend
"DON'T BE FOOLED BY ME"

Don't be fooled by me.
Don't be fooled by the masks I wear.
For I wear a thousand masks, and none of them is me.
I give the impression that I am secure.
Confidence is my name
and coolness is my game.
But don't believe me.
Beneath lies the real me—in confusion and fear and aloneness.
But I don't tell you this because I'm afraid to.
I am afraid that you will think less of me,
that you'll laugh at me.
I'm afraid that deep down I'm nothing and I'm no good.
Yet only you can call me into aliveness.
Each time you're kind and encouraging.
Each time you try to understand because you care.
Who am I, you may wonder, I am someone you know very well.
I am every man, woman, and child you meet.
Activity: I Like Myself

Purpose: Students will build confidence in themselves.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: "I Like Myself" cards, one for every student

Implementation strategies: Make cards out of index cards for all the students. Write on each card the words "I Like Myself". Hand a card to every student, have each student go around the room or circle and read their card out loud. Make a large sign to hang in your classroom which says "I Like Myself." This is a way for students to be reminded of the activity and to say it to themselves when they see the sign.

Issues to be aware of: At first students may feel awkward saying this to themselves. Reading the card and not having to come up with something positive to say on their own, makes it is easier for them.

Length of time: 10 minutes
I like myself
Activity: Success Or Failure

Purpose: Students will realize that reaching goals sometimes includes set backs.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Success or Failure Worksheets
Success or Failure Answer Sheet
Pen or Pencil

Implementation Strategies: Depending on the academic level of the group you may want to read the items and have the students circle them as you go.

Issues to be aware of: To set this activity up, talk with students about not being afraid to have high standards. We don't always meet every goal, but that does not mean we should stop trying when we have a disappointment.

Length of time: Approximately 15 minutes.
SUCCESS OR FAILURE

Directions:

Listed below are examples of success or failure. Knowing only what is stated about the person, you must decide whether that person was probably a success or probably a failure in the chosen field by circling S for Success or F for Failure.

Activity: Getting A "Pat" Or Paper On The Back

Purpose: Students will become more comfortable with saying good things about each other. To help students instill confidence in themselves.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Piece of blank paper or paper plate per student
Pen or pencil
tape or straight pins

Implementation strategies: Instruct students to have sheets of paper taped or pinned to their backs (paper plates may be sturdier to write on). Students should take turns writing good things about each other on the paper. They do not put their names by their comments. Afterwards, everyone takes them off and reads the comments given to them. Some examples of comments are: good friend, nice dresser, smart, etc.

Issues to be aware of: Emphasize that everyone has good qualities and that we are taking this time to tell others their positives. Explain that some days some people may not hear a compliment all day. Make it a point to have each student write something on all the backs of the other students. This is a chance for them to have positive feedback!

Length of time: Depending on size of class, allot an exact amount of time. For a class of ten you should allow 15 minutes.
Activity: Goal Setting In Six Easy Steps

Purpose: Students will learn how to select goals for themselves.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Goal Setting Handout
Pencils

Implementation strategies: Discuss the six steps of goal setting with your group. Have the students set at least one goal for themselves. Talk about their goals individually and brain storm strategies to achieve their goals.

Issues to be aware of: Set guidelines as to what you think students' goals should be, example school related or job related. Make sure that the goals the students choose for themselves are realistic and specific. Display goals somewhere in the classroom, where students can constantly see their goals. Refer to these goals periodically to see if they are working toward them.

Length of time: 30 minutes, depending on the number of students.
GOAL SETTING

Whether you think you can or you think you can't you're right.

Henry Ford

Set goals in 6 easy steps taken from The One Minute Teacher by Spencer and Constance Johnson.

Write goals for this session.

1. Decide goals. What is it that you plan to accomplish?

2. Write goals in first person, present tense. I am...

3. Be brief so that you can read them in one minute or less.

4. Be specific. Set a date to achieve your goal.

5. Use good feeling words. I enjoy...

6. Take one minute, several times a day to look at your goals and your behavior to see if your behavior matches your goals.
Activity: I Can Do Better

Purpose: Students will learn that what they think about themselves can come true.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: No materials needed for this activity

Implementation strategies: Have students stand with an arms width between each other. Have students extend their left arms out to their sides. Without moving their hips, have them swing their left arms around to the back of their bodies as far as they comfortably can, have them notice how far their arms went. Then have them do it again, this time as they swing their arms, have them say "I Can Do Better!". Have them notice if their arm was able to swing farther.

Issues to be aware of: The students should swing their arms farther the second time, when they tell themselves, "I can do better."

Length of time: 5 minutes
Activity: Self-Effectiveness Chart

Purpose: Students will rank their self-esteem on a chart.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Self-Effectiveness Chart Worksheet
Pen or Pencils
Polaroid Camera (if possible)

Implementation strategies: After going over all 22 categories on the worksheet with the students, have them rate themselves. On a scale of 1 - 10, (with 10 being the most positive) circle the number as you see yourself for each item listed. When you have completed that, connect each circle with a line to form a graph. If most of your answers are on the right side, your self-esteem is intact. Work to upgrade those that are on the left side of the chart.

Issues to be aware of: Students are not always realistic when rating themselves.

Length of time: 10-15 minutes.
Allow more time if you use the Polaroid

Variation: Take a Polaroid picture of each student and let them watch it develop. Talk about the way the picture starts out black, becomes a hazy picture and finally becomes clear and sharp. This is how they should think about areas that need work. As you work on the weak areas, they will gradually become clearer and eventually could become a strength. If you can visualize your goal, you will reach it easier.
SELF-EFFECTIVENESS CHART

Directions: On a scale of 1 - 10, (with 10 being the most positive) circle the number as you see yourself for each item listed. When you have completed that, connect each circle with a line to form a graph. If most of your answers are on the right side, your self-esteem is pretty good. Work to improve on those that are in the left side of the chart.

Activity: Timeline

Purpose: Students will increase their self-esteem.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: 1 yard of adding machine paper for each student
            Pen or Pencil

Implementation strategies: Students will list all important and not so important dates on their timelines. They should start when they were born, writing down important dates and places such as vacations, starting school, awards, drivers license, sports, starting Jr. High, High School etc. Have students try to list one thing for each year of their life.

Issues to be aware of: You may have to write some examples down on the board, to get them thinking. Hang these timelines somewhere in the classroom, to allow students to read each others.

Length of time: 30 - 45 minutes.
Activity: Hair Autobiography

Purpose: Students will become more aware of their appearance.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Paper & Pencils
Hair Autobiography Handout

Implementation Strategies: Read through the example sheet with the students. Let them know that they should make theirs as unique as they can, to be creative. The students should write about the life of their hair from birth to present. The hair autobiography should be in the tense as though their hair is talking. When everyone has completed theirs, the students should read theirs out loud.

Issues to be aware of: Students may need some coaching to get started.

Length of time: 20 - 30 minutes to write their hair autobiography and allow time to be read out loud in class.
HAIR AUTOBIOGRAPHY HANDOUT

(This is only an example from a female student to give you direction for your own Hair Autobiography).

When I was born, I was non-existent. You were actually able to see me when I was 6 months old. At that time I was blonde, very short and straight. I kept growing at remarkable speed. I had my first cutting at the age of 3. I went to this place where all they do is cut hair like me. I was pretty shocked to see what they do with the extra hair that was cut off of me.

I started to change when I was 7 years old. I started getting darker in color, and I started to get a little curlier. Everyone liked me, except for me. I was always kept short. I didn't have the chance to grow long, like some of my friends. But that was ok.

Help! I am out of control. They try to tame me, but it is no use. She goes to bed with curlers on me, thinking this will do the trick, but I have her fooled. One hour after those curlers are out, I get wild again. I think she is learning to live with me.

She has finally come to her senses. She has styled me in a manner, that I like. I am still short and curly, but that's me and she has finally accepted that fact. I have a new hairstyle that agrees with the both of us. Finally!
COMMUNICATION
Another skill that affects every aspect of your life is communication. A recent poll from Personnel Managers around the country cited the two most common skills that the entry level employee should have to succeed in any job are: 1) communication skills and 2) the ability to get along with others. Every activity in Job Club should relate to one or both of these goals.

Communication skills are important while looking for a job, training for a job, keeping your job as you learn new tasks, getting along with your supervisors, building positive relationships with your co-workers, and talking with your family and friends about your job.

Verbal and non-verbal communication skills are equally important. Activities in this section target both! These activities can be presented as a communications unit or used throughout the year while working in the other sections. Some can be repeated, for a few minutes each week (such as the eye contact contests).

Many people get the job they want because they can communicate well in their interview. On the other hand, people often lose jobs because of their poor receptive and expressive communication skills: they don't seem to understand or are unable to carry out the bosses directions, they talk too much to their co-workers, they are rude to customers, in short they have no "People-Skills". Even though they seem unrelated to learning a particular trade or business, these communications skills are critical.

Along with other positive work habits, good communication skills are the key to job success!
Activity: M & M Candy Activity

Purpose: Students will tell facts about themselves as a way of introduction to a group of their peers.

Audience: Grades 1-12, Adult

Materials: Bowl of M & M Candies.

Implementation Strategies: Tell the students they can take as many M & M candies as they want, but they should be sure there are enough for everyone. After all the students have their M & M's, each person must tell a fact about themselves for each M & M that they have in their hand. These facts can be general information; i.e. how many sisters and brothers, their family pet's name, hobbies, favorite colors, their address, etc.

Issues to be aware of: You can either have each student tell facts about themselves using all their M & M's at once, or take turns telling one fact and go around the group one at a time. These facts do not have to be personal. Just facts about themselves and what they like to do.

Length of time: This takes one or two minutes per student.

Here's a Sweet Idea!
Activity: Getting To Know You

Purpose: Students will increase their communication skills

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Getting To Know You Worksheet
Pen or Pencils

Implementation strategies: Divide the group into smaller groups of 3-4. Make sure that all groups have the same number of people in them. Give each group a copy of the "Getting To Know You Worksheet." Have them tally their scores as a group for all 10 categories. When they have finished, see which group has the most points. These questions may suggest other areas to you that may be more appropriate for your particular group or occasion.

Issues to be aware of: Try not to put friends in the same group. This activity is designed to acquaint members of the group with each other. This is a good activity to do at one of your first meetings. If you are doing this activity with students under the age of 16, you will have to change question #10.

Length of time: 20 minutes
GETTING TO KNOW YOU
WORKSHEET

Below is a list of typical questions and method of scoring. Answer the questions as a group. The group with the highest score wins the game.

General Questions:

1. Counting January as one point, February as two points, March as three points and so on through the calendar year, total the number of birthdays points in your group -- only for months not years.

2. Counting one point for each different state named, total the scores for the different number of birth states represented.

3. Total all the shoe sizes -- one foot only.

4. Total the number of operations everyone in the group has had.

5. Total your hair color score: Black counts two; brown counts one; blonde counts three; red counts five.

6. Add the total of how many paying jobs each group member has had.

7. Total the number of brothers and sisters of each group member.

8. Score one point for each activity each group member is involved with at their school.

9. Score one point for each office any group member holds for this year.

10. Score one point for each group member that has his/her their drivers license. Score two points if they have their own car and it runs!
Activity: An Apple A Day

Purpose: Students will be encouraged to use descriptive language. Students will realize that even though appearances seem the same, everyone and everything has its unique qualities.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Apples, you will need one apple for every two students.

Implementation strategies: Divide your group into pairs. Distribute one apple per pair. Have students examine their apples very carefully and as a pair decide how to describe their apple. Have the group count off one - two. All the "ones" have to go in front of the group and "sell" their apple to the rest of the group. The description should make the audience want to "buy" their apple. After all presentations are made, put all the apples on the table, (in a bowl would be even better). The two's have to find their partner's apple.

Issues to be aware of: You can use this activity as a tie-in with the interviewing process. Explain how an interview is used to "sell yourself" by using positive words and telling your skills and unique features. It is easier for students to learn this technique on an inanimate object instead of themselves. Afterward discuss with the group how outward appearances can be deceiving and if you take the time to get to know someone, you will find that each person has unique and special qualities. Everyone has something that makes them worthwhile.

Modifications: Use rocks that are similar in shape and size. You can make this harder, and vary it even more, by blindfolding the two's. This becomes challenging but increases their use of other senses.

Length of time: Depending on the group size, allow approximately 5 minutes to examine and prepare their selling campaign. Then allow another 5 minutes per student for the presentation and identification.
Activity: Judging By First Impressions

Purpose: Students will understand how important first impressions are especially when interviewing.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Magazine pictures, as per handout directions Judging by First Impressions Handout First Impressions Comparison Sheet

Implementation strategies: Divide your group into pairs. Have each student write what they think the person would be like, such as: what the person looks like, thinks, personality, hobbies etc. Each person will write his/her own descriptions and then compare.

Length of time: 20 minutes

"PUT YOUR BEST FOOT FORWARD!"
JUDGING BY FIRST IMPRESSIONS
Handout

Directions:

1. Cut out two pictures per student. One should be of a person that you consider to be a pleasant, likable looking person; the other one should be of a person that is unappealing to you--that might seem unlikely to be a friend.

2. Paste, tape, or glue each picture to the front of a separate sheet.

3. Using the First Impressions Comparison Sheet, write down your answers on "You Said" column. Do a chart for each picture.

4. Pair up. Show pictures to your partner without letting your partner see your description. Write down what your partner has to say about the people you have cut out, in the "Partner Said" column.

5. Reverse the situation. Do not let each other see your descriptions until both have looked and described spontaneously.

6. Show each other the descriptions you originally wrote.

For discussion:

1. How did your opinions differ? Use the First Impressions Comparison Sheet that follows to determine the differences.

2. What did this activity suggest?

3. What does it say about how you react to first impressions?

4. What should you remember regarding first impressions when getting ready to begin a job and when working with others? From the perspective of both you and fellow employees?

Activity: Rectangle Activity

Purpose: Students will increase communication and their ability to work efficiently together.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Rectangle Handout
Rectangle Handout Answer Sheet
Pen or Pencil

Implementation strategies: Break your class into groups of 2 - 4. Give each student a Rectangle Handout. Set a time limit (10 minutes). Each group must find as many rectangles as they can. Each member of the group must be able to identify how they found all the rectangles. You will be calling on one person randomly from each group to identify how many rectangles they found.

Issues to be aware of: Probably not everyone will be able to find all the rectangles. Finding all the rectangles isn't as important as working together as a group or team.

Length of time: 20 - 30 minutes
How many rectangles can you find in this figure?
Activity: Communication Via Phone

Purpose: Students will be introduced to proper usage of a phone to communicate a message to an employer.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: 3 Main Parts of a Message Handout
2 Telephones (either working or toy phones)

Implementation Strategies: Have the students role play different situations, taking turns being the caller and the person called.

Issues to be aware of: Students may feel awkward at first, with practice and everyone participating they will feel more relaxed.

Length of time: 30 minutes, depending on number of students and number of telephones, this activity may take longer to complete.
3 MAIN PARTS OF A MESSAGE

There are 3 main parts to a message: Introduction, message, and a closing. All messages should contain these 3 main components. Use these as a guideline for many situations. Have students role play any of the following situations:

* Call an employer to ask for an interview
* Call your employer because you are sick and will not be into work that day

Introduction:
"Hi, my name is ____________, may I speak to ______________?" (name of person at company).

Message:
"I'm calling about the ad I saw in the Sunday edition of the Cincinnati Enquirer, for the position of ________________".

Closing:
"Thank you for your time, I'll see you on ____________ (repeat day and time) to pick up a application".

****************************************

Introduction:
"Hello, this is ______________(your name)".

Message:
"I am calling to let you know I won't be able to come in today, because I am sick with the flu. I hope to be in tomorrow, I'll call you as soon as I know for sure".

Closing:
Thank You.
Activity: Following Directions

Purpose: Students will see how well they follow directions.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: 5 minute timed test worksheet
Pens or pencils
1 sheet of paper per student

Implementation strategies: Tell the students you have a test for them to take. They will have 5 minutes to complete this test. They should all have a pen or pencil and a blank sheet of paper. Hand the worksheets out and tell the students to read the directions at the top.

Issues to be aware of: Since students know they are being timed, they are more likely to skip through the directions and go directly to doing what the questions ask for.

Length of time: 10 minutes, actual test 5 minutes.
FIVE-MINUTE TIMED TEST ON FOLLOWING DIRECTIONS

How well do you follow directions? Follow the directions. You will have five minutes to finish the test. Your instructor will time you. Put your pen or pencil down when you finish.

Wait until your instructor says "go". Then follow the directions exactly. Make sure you have a sheet of paper.

1. Read all directions before doing anything.
2. On a sheet of paper, write your name in the upper right corner.
3. Number from 1 to 6. Leave three blank lines between each number.
4. Put an "X" by number 1.
5. Write today's date by number 3.
6. Count the number of persons in the room. Write the answer by number 4.
7. Write your birth date by number 6.
8. Say your name out loud.
9. Say, "I have reached number 9. I am following directions carefully."
10. Now that you have finished reading, do only what is said in numbers 1 and 2.
Activity: Rock Identification

Purpose: Students will increase ability to work with a partner.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Similar rocks, 1 rock per person at least (i.e. white landscaping rocks)
Blindfold
Rock Handout

Implementation Strategies:
1. Give each student a small rock, ask him/her to study it carefully for a few minutes; noting texture, strange markings, color, weight and so on.
2. Ask students to place all rocks in a pile in the middle of the table, mix them up.
3. Divide the students into small groups and ask each group one at a time to come to the pile to find their stones. They should have 2 minutes to do this. If they are not sure, they should not take a rock.
4. Announce that the group in which all students find their own stones in the time allotted is the winner; actually all groups will probably do this.
5. Return all stones to the pile and ask groups to break up and have everyone choose a partner.
6. Have each pair come to the front of the class, one pair at a time. Each partner has a rock, blindfold one person at a time. The person not being blindfolded describes their rock to their blindfolded partner. The partner then puts the rock back into the pile on the table. The blindfolded partner has to find that rock.
7. The pair can then reverse roles and go through step #6 again.

Issues to be aware of: Rocks should be very similar in size and quality. Ideas for discussion at end of activity:

*Was it easy to pick out your rock in the first part of the activity? Why?
*Did you have a difficult time describing unique qualities of the rock to your blindfolded partner?
*When looking for your partners rock, how did you feel? Why?
*Obviously, this is intended to show more than just our ability to identify rocks. What do you think the purpose of this exercise is?

Length of time: 45 minutes
ROCK HANDOUT

The rock is a symbol of you as a person. Even though all rocks were very similar, there was something so unique about yours that most of you were able to identify it very easily. If this is true of rocks, it is more important to each of us as individuals. We are each totally unique and different, not only physically but in the ways we think, feel, dream, and learn as well as our fears and frustrations. Yet so much of what we do in life seems to be an effort to be like everyone else, limiting our uniqueness. We dress alike, think alike, like the same music, art and so forth. Why?

With a little extra effort, most of you were able to identify your partner's rock. The reason, you cared enough to listen carefully to the description, you recognized the existence of uniqueness and responded to it. Yet in our relationship with one another we seldom do that. We don't really see others; we look through them and beyond them. It is sad but true that, for most of us, people are like shadows or mirages; they all look alike after a while because we don't really look at them. We have to look closely at ourselves and others, respect ourselves and others as unique and beautiful; otherwise our lives become dull and meaningless.
Activity: Eye Contact

Purpose: Students will discover just what information you can learn about a person from looking in their eyes.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Eye Contact Worksheet
Eyes cut out of magazines
Pencil or Pen

Implementation Strategies: You will need to cut out enough eyes from magazines so each group has at least 2 sets of eyes. Divide your large group into smaller groups, with 2 - 4 in each group. Each group needs 2 sets of eyes and an Eye Contact Worksheet. Have the group answer the questions on the worksheet. They are to answer questions for person 1 and person 2. Give the groups 5 minutes for each set of eyes. When finished, have a group by group discussion:
* Do the others agree?
* Why or why not?

Issues to be aware of: The groups may not be able to come up with the same answers. There are no definite right or wrong answers, it's just to get the students thinking and noticing eyes and their movements.

Length of time: 25 minutes

Activity: What's My Role?

Purpose: Students will learn how to work together and experience how it feels to be stereotyped.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Label suggestions handout
Project suggestions handout
Self adhesive labels
Legos or Lincoln logs

Implementation strategies: The students each receive a label with their role typed on it. The role should tell others in the group how they should react to that role. The students themselves do not know what their label says. Break class into small groups (a class of 15 could be 3 groups with 5 roles) and separate the groups so they can't see each others labels. All students in the group start to work on their designated projects with the materials provided. You should treat the people in the group as their label says. For instance, if you are working with the boss of the group, you should agree with everything that person says, you should ask their opinion often. Allow a predetermined amount of time, approximately 15 minutes.

At the end of the time bring all students back together as a class and they should look at the labels on the other students heads to see if they can figure out what their role was. Allow time for discussion and how it felt to be labelled a certain way. Discuss how it felt to be a boss, brain, clown etc. Have the students bring up good and bad points of each role. Discuss how the different roles worked together.

Issues to be aware of: It may be better if the students are given a label that is opposite of their own personality. For example: Someone that is a natural leader may be given the clown role where no one takes them seriously, and laughs and jokes at all their ideas. Relate this activity to how people treat each other at work and how it helps to work together and keep an open mind. Treat others with respect and follow the golden rule.

Length of time: 30-45 minutes

Variation: If your group is not large enough to divide into smaller groups, then after the activity is over, have the labels listed on the board or on a piece of paper to guess which role they were. Feel free to develop your own roles.

Below are suggestions for your group activities. You may use any of these activities or feel free to think of some of your own. You may also want to combine this with a group art project.

Legos and Lincoln Logs
Give each group approximately the same amount of pieces. Give them a picture or description to go by and have each group build this item, or let them build something using their imagination. See which group can be the most creative.

Straws and straight pins
Give each group the same amount of pieces to work with. See who can build the tallest, fattest, fanciest, longest etc. building.

Some other suggestions for the projects are: sand, popsicle sticks, rocks, toothpicks, clay, play-doh, etc.

Remember the finished product is not as important as how everyone worked together and how it felt to be stereotyped.
Activity: Individual Thought Versus Group Consensus

Purpose: Students will work better in a group situation and increase communication skills.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Individual thought vs. group consensus handout
Individual thought vs. group consensus worksheet
Individual thought vs. group consensus answer sheet

Implementation strategies: Break students into groups of three or four. Read the story to them. Have the groups answer the questions on the worksheet.

Issues to be aware of: Divide your chalk board into as many sections as you have groups. Number each section 1-11 and write the answers that the groups came up with in these sections. See what the consensus is for the entire class. Who had the most correct answers. The group should be able to remember more of the story as a group than they would by themselves. Give that group a reward!

Length of time: 20 minutes

Activity: Detecting Stereotypes

Purpose: Students will become enlightened as to how people are judged, based on a small amount of information.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Detecting Stereotypes Handout
Pen or Pencil

Implementation strategies: In the handout are descriptions of ten different people. From the bit of information given, circle the number which best indicates what sort of person each of the ten are based on a scale of 1 - 5. Discuss how people decide whether they like a person on the little information they know about them. Discuss how we can get to know people better.

Length of time: 20 minutes

Activity: Adaptable 'B I N G O'

Purpose: Students will increase their communication skills and reinforce elements of a particular theme.

Audience: Grades 7 - 12, Adult

Materials:
- Blank Bingo card
- "Theme" worksheet
- Bingo markers

Implementation strategies: This activity can be played by any size group. It can be adapted by changing the "Theme" worksheet to include words or phrases from any topic.

Give each student a blank BINGO card and a "Theme" worksheet. Tell them to choose items from the worksheet and write them on their card. The facilitator or teacher cuts or separates the items from the "Theme" worksheet to use for the 'Calling' pieces.

Give each students some markers. Some ideas for markers are: M & M's, paper clips, buttons, or generic bingo markers.

The facilitator or teacher starts the BINGO calling. Just like conventional BINGO, the games can be: straight line, diagonal, 4-corners, etc. Also, the students who win the game, could be the next caller.

Issue to be aware of: It's good to have some kind of prize for winning a BINGO game. If prizes are not possible, points can be tallied for each winner. If you are using the 'Money Management' section of this manual, prize 'money' could be added to the student's checkbook.

Length of time: 10 minutes per game

Activity: Adaptable "FAMILY FEUD"

Purpose: Students will review things they have learned from previous activities.

Audience: Grades 7 - 12, Adult

Materials: Chalkboard, overhead projector, or flip chart "FAMILY FEUD" Sample category list

Implementation strategies: Divide the group into smaller groups of 5 or 6 per group. Assign each group a team name. (Color names work well) Using the category list, read the question and begin by asking the first group to answer. As long as they are answering correctly, they continue playing. When they answer wrong or cannot answer, the game is passed to the next team. The facilitator should write the responses on a chalkboard, overhead, or flip chart so everyone can see. Points can be added for each correct answer and a bonus of 5 points for the team to complete the round. Be careful that each team has an equal number of opportunities to answer.

The items on the category list can be adapted to any topic or theme. (It does not necessarily have to be a survey, as in the TV "FAMILY FEUD".)

Issues to be aware of: This can be a very fast paced game. It is probably best to have at least ten different rounds of questions available to use.

Length of time: 20 - 30 minutes

FAMILY FEUD - CATEGORY LIST
Activity: PUZZLE Solving with Partners

Purpose: Students will explore the nature of VERBAL instructions only, with no eye contact.

Audience: Grades 7 - 12, Adult

Materials: Posterboard for puzzle pieces
Puzzle pattern

Implementation strategies: Make extra copies of your puzzle pattern. Then cut out the puzzle pieces, and trace the pieces onto a posterboard or heavier paper. Distinguish 'front' and the 'back' of the pieces. Make as many sets of puzzle pieces as you have pairs in your group, and put each set in a plain envelope.

Organize the group in pairs. Each pair sits back-to-back. (It's easier to sit on the floor, if possible.) One partner is the 'instructor' and the other is the puzzle 'assembler'. Give the 'instructor' the puzzle pattern sheet and give the 'assembler' the unsolved puzzle pieces. The 'instructor' VERBALLY instructs the 'assembler' the steps to solve the puzzle, while he/she is looking at the puzzle pattern sheet. The 'assembler' CANNOT ask any questions, but may answer only yes or no to the 'instructor. The partners may have no eye contact. Also be sure partners cannot see other partners' puzzle patterns. The first pair to complete the puzzle, WINS!

In review of the activity, discuss the problems in solving the puzzle and the type of instructions that were most helpful and why.

Issues to be aware of: Don't allow the students to become too frustrated if they are not solving the puzzle. If they are having a difficult time solving the puzzle, here are some hints for the 'instructor':
* State the overall completed picture and shape of the puzzle.
* Give instruction in a logical sequence. For example: start with the largest piece, next largest, & son on
* Establish a system of orientation, using a clock face, a map, up/down, left/right, etc.

Length of time: Allow 20 minutes maximum
Pattern #2
Activity: Birthday Line Up

Purpose: Students will learn to communicate without talking.

Audience: Grades 7 - 12, Adult

Materials: None

Implementation strategies: Tell the students to line up; either in a circle or in a straight line, in the order of their birthday (month & day) - WITHOUT TALKING! Hand or eye language can be used, but NO WRITING or LIP MOVEMENT.

When everyone in order, have them call out their birthday. Correct any wrong order. When they are lined up correctly, discuss the process of communicating. Did any one person assume the leadership? Did anyone use actual sign language? Was it frustrating not being able to talk?

Issues to be aware of: This is a good activity to do after the group has been sitting and doing paperwork for a long time. It doesn't take very much time, so it is also a food communication 'filler' activity. Also, instead of Birthday order, they could line up in alphabetical order or height or length of hair. Any size group can participate in this activity.

Length of time: 10 - 15 minutes
JOB SEARCH
JOB SEARCH

Searching for a job contains many important steps. It begins with a self search: "What do I want to do on a job?", "What are my strengths?", "What are my limitations?", "Where would I like to work?" and many other questions.

The job search should be very organized and methodical. Use all your possible resources. Word of mouth is often the most productive way to network and find a job. Ask your students to design their own "Job Contact" sheet to keep track of companies they have called and the employment results.

Some of the activities in this section will help students made decisions about the type of work they want to look for, whether they want to work indoors or out, whether they like to work alone or with other people, etc.

The activities in this section are more tedious and some require writing and researching information. Students often find this boring! This is a good place to add a self esteem activity or another "hand-on" lesson. Written and verbal communication skills are crucial to succeeding the job search process. Additional writing and speaking lessons may have to added according to the skill level of your students. Many activities should be repeated until the students feel comfortable with the process. For example, calling an employer to set up an interview could be role-played several times before the necessary skills are in place to make the actual call.

Skills learned in this section will not only help the students gain employment, but possibly change jobs independently throughout their career.
Activity: Job Club Information Sheet

Purpose: Students will give you necessary and important information, so you will be able to better help them with the job search process.

Audience: All Job Club Members

Materials: Job Club Information Sheet
Pen or Pencil

Implementation strategies: Have students fill out the personal information sheets. Keep this information on file for future reference.

Issues to be aware of: It is best to have this filled out at one of the first Job Club meetings.

Length of time: 10 minutes

Variations: If you are not working in a Vocational School you may need to revise this form to suit your needs.

Activity: Values Worksheet

Purpose: Students will prioritize their values when looking for a job.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Values Worksheet
Pen or Pencil

Implementation Strategies: Ask the students to look at the 7 different headings on the Values Worksheet. Put number 1 - 7 before them; 1 being the most important, 7 the least important. When students are finished ranking, read through the 7 paragraphs with the students, so they can see what types of employment to look for or to stay away from.

Issues to be aware of: Some students may feel uneasy revealing their answers. You may want to have them complete worksheet without revealing their answers. Great activity for students thinking about their future.

Length of time: 15 minutes without discussion, 25-30 minutes with discussion.
VALUES WORKSHEET

Directions: Look at the values listed below. Which are most important to you? Put number 1 - 7 before them; 1 being the most important, 7 the least important.

____Earning a Lot of Money   ____Helping Other People
____Raising a Family        ____Having Good Health
____Having a Lot of Friends ____Being a Religious Person
____Being Proud of Your Life

Earning a Lot of Money. Will you need a lot of money to live the way you dreamed? If so, you will place a high value on earning a lot of money. If you dream about a simple life, money may not be so important.

Helping Other People. Do you like to do things for others? Helping others is very important to some people. On some jobs you can be very helpful to others. Many people help very young or very old people in their free time.

Raising a Family. Do you want to have children? Most people do. If a family is important to you, think about it when you set your career goals.

Good Health. Most people like good health. How important is your health to you? Do you take great care to stay healthy? If your health is important to you, you will not want to do some kinds of work. Some jobs are more dangerous to your health than others. Workers on some jobs breathe dangerous fumes or dust. On some jobs, workers must lift or carry heavy things. After a few years, some kinds of work will cause health problems.

Having a Lot of Friends. Do you like most people? Do you need to have a lot of friends? Some people do. Some do not. Most people need at least one or two good friends. They may be members of your own family. Family members should be good friends. After you are out of school, you will meet people on your job. Some of these people may become your best friends.

Being a Religious Person. Are you a religious person? If this is important to you, you may not want some jobs. You may not want to work on the days you attend religious services. Some people do not like to work where alcohol is sold or used. Others do not like to work where vulgar language is used.

Being Proud of Your Life. Most happy people are proud of their lives. They take pride in their work. They enjoy what they do in their free time. You will want your parents to be proud of you. If you are not proud of your own life, you cannot expect others to be proud of you. Being proud of how you do your job is very satisfying. It carries over into other parts of your life. It makes you a happier person at home, too.
Activity: Which Job For You And Why?

Purpose: Students will be encouraged to examine their likes and dislikes pertaining to the work world.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Which job for you and why? Worksheet
Which job for you and why? Handout
Pen or pencil

Implementation strategies: Discuss with the students about finding a career that will make them happy according to their values and personal needs.

Issues to be aware of: Some students may need further explanation of the terms and meanings.

Length of time: 20 - 30 minutes

Activity: Reading Want Ads

Purpose: Students will be acquainted with abbreviations used in want ads.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Help Wanted Abbreviations Handout
Help Wanted Abbreviations Worksheet
Help Wanted Abbreviations Answer Sheet

Implementation Strategies: The Help Wanted Abbreviations handout should be given to the students first. Let the students try to guess the meanings of the abbreviations. After students have had a chance to look these over, give them the Help Wanted Abbreviations Worksheet, have them now fill in the blanks of the worksheet with the correct abbreviation.

Issues to be aware of: Divide your group into pairs of two or three for this activity. Have the students look through the newspaper want ads to see if they can find some of these abbreviations, or you may want to highlight some of them for the students.

Length of time: 15 minutes

Activity: Personal Information Form

Purpose: Students will gather the information that is required on job applications and fill in the Personal Information Form.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Personal Information Form
Pencil

Implementation strategies: Students should fill in the blanks on the personal information form. They should first fill in blanks in using pencil. If student's handwriting is not neat, they should make a final copy using pen or typewriter. Explain to the students that it is OK to take this with them as a guide whenever they go to fill out applications.

Issues to be aware of: If students do not have good handwriting or spelling, you may want to take their rough copies and type their final copy for them. When copying the personal information form for your students, you can copy it front and back. Students may need to take their rough copy application home to have parents help them complete it.

Length of time: 60 - 90 minutes for both rough and final copies if information is all known.
PERSONAL INFORMATION FORM

This information form is for your own personal reference. Take it with you when you are filling out an application. Make your answers as complete as possible. Do not leave any lines blank.

Activity: Calling For The Interview

Purpose: Students will become familiar with the proper procedure when calling to set up an interview with an employer.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Cut actual want ads from the newspaper Index cards onto which you glue the want ads Telephone Handout

Implementation strategies: Have the students organize their thoughts using the handout. Stress that they can actually write these questions down so they can look at them while on the telephone. Have the students pair up with a partner. Give each student an index card with a want ad on it. Have one of the partners be the employer and the other be the "job hunters." Have them take turns calling and trying to set up an interview. You may have to give them examples: the position has been filled, the boss is not in today, etc. to make the students feel more prepared when they actually make that important call.

Issues to be aware of: It is more fun and realistic if you can use real telephones. If you can set it up with two rooms close to each other and have the student call you, it will seem more realistic. All students do not know how to use correct etiquette or how to be polite on the telephone.

Length of time: Allow 5 minutes for each student to make his or her phone call.

Variations: If you have a small class or group, you may always want to be the employer.
CALLING FOR THE INTERVIEW HANDOUT

Below is a sort of "cheat sheet" to use when telephoning an employer to set up an appointment for an interview.

1. Say your name.
2. Tell them you saw an ad about their opening for_____.
3. What are the duties of this position?
4. What are the hours of the job?
5. Ask for a time that is good to come in and fill out an application or to come in for an interview.
6. Ask for the time of the interview.
7. Ask for the location of their business. Ask for directions if you need them.
8. Ask the name of the person you are to see.
9. Repeat the time & date of the interview (if given one).
10. Thank them for their time.
Activity: Employment Contact Records

Purpose: Students will learn to organize and keep a record of all job contacts.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Employment Contact Records Handout

Implementation strategies: Go over the contact form with the students and explain how it is important to keep a written record if it is a contact by telephone, in person or by an application. After they have made the initial contact, they should make follow-up calls within a week. It is important to keep track of this information as it can be hard to remember who, what, where and how when you are calling many employers.

Issues to be aware of: Students may not like the paper work, however, explain how much time it will save them when they do not have to look up the phone number and addresses more than once.

To get the students started you could have them select a company and role play a call to that company to record the information on this form.

INTerviewing

The interview process is a vital step in your efforts to obtain the desired job. It is where you put together all of your efforts -- job soliciting, your resume and your job application. It could be a long three hour process, where you are tested and could go through 2-3 interviews or a short, simple, informal conversation.

Most people, regardless of experience, job level or age, get nervous in a job interview.

At the job interview, it is your job to talk about yourself, and the interviewers job to decide if you will be a beneficial employee for their company. This is your opportunity to "sell" your education, talent and skills. Since you have no idea who your competition is, you have to do your absolute best.

When going on an interview, you should compare yourself to a well-wrapped package. If a package or gift looks nice and interesting on the outside, it makes someone want to open it and find out what's inside.

So be sure to make that first impression a good one. Dress for the interview by using the gauge that you should dress one level above the job for which you are applying. If it is a job where the employees wear dress jeans and t-shirts, you should wear dress pants and a nice button up shirt - a tie wouldn't necessarily be appropriate.

Do your homework before an interview. Find out about the company - ask questions of someone who works there.

If you get called for an interview this is your first step in getting your foot in the door. This can be your big moment or a fatal mistake. Use this time wisely.

And Remember You Can Do It!!!!!
Activity: The Do's & Don'ts Of The Interview Process

Purpose: Students will have practical references to review the day before the interview.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Do's & Don'ts of the Interview Process Handout

Implementation strategies: Give all students a handout. Go over all the different areas with the students. They can keep the handout to use for future reference.

Issues to be aware of: Some of these may seem apparent to the students, it is still important to emphasize this to them.

Length of time: 20 minutes. If you have discussion.
Do's & Don'ts of the Interview Process

Dress and Appearance

Do

1. Dress appropriately, and in good taste.
2. Wear clothes that fit well.
3. Wear clothes that are clean and neat.
4. Make sure your hair and fingernails are trimmed and clean.
5. Dress as you would if you were being interviewed for the best job in the organization.

Do Not

1. Wear casual sport clothes such as jeans or shorts.
2. Wear the latest high-style fashions.
3. Wear torn or patched clothes.
4. Wear clothes that are bright colored and eye-catching.
5. Wear gym shoes.

Arriving At The Interview

Be sure to plan ahead for your interview so you have plenty of time to get ready and prepare yourself physically and emotionally.

Do

1. Allow time for emergencies such as a flat tire or a train.
2. Call ahead with an explanation if you will be unavoidably late.
3. Arrive only about 5 minutes ahead of the scheduled time of the interview.
4. Introduce yourself to the receptionist as soon as you arrive.
5. Read literature about the company that may be available in the reception room while you are waiting for your interview.

Do Not

1. Go for an interview without an appointment.
2. Schedule an interview for Monday morning for Friday afternoon - if the choice is yours to make.
3. Schedule an interview just before lunch or just before closing time - if it can be avoided.
4. Arrive too early - then you may be a nuisance to them.
5. Leave your home late causing you to feel rushed and anxious.
Do's & Don'ts of the Interview Process

During The Interview

Be well versed and knowledgeable about the company before you go for the interview so it will be necessary for you to ask as few questions as possible. Let your interviewer ask the questions, you supply the complete answers. In a successful interview you should talk approximately 80% of the time and your interviewer 20%.

<tr>
<td>2. Avoid &quot;yes&quot; and &quot;no&quot; answers; talk freely.</td>
<td>2. Stall for time to &quot;think-up&quot; a good answer.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Display your talent for getting along with people.</td>
<td>3. Be too wordy with your answers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Remain alert and listen carefully to every word.</td>
<td>4. Ask too many questions about the company in general.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Ask about special aspects of the job.</td>
<td>5. Complain about your past employers.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Ending the Interview

Maintain your positive, well-poised attitude throughout the entire interview. When the interview is over, be sure you have left a favorable impression of yourself.

<table>

</table>
Meeting Your Interviewer

Greet your interviewer as if you are meeting a very important person. Make constant use of all your "good manners" without being too formal.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Have a good firm handshake and look your interviewer in the eyes.</td>
<td>4. Shift your eyes and avoid looking at your interviewer.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Interview Behavior and Attitude

If at all possible, try to remain poised and relaxed throughout the interview. Try to rid yourself of as many anxieties as possible before the interview so you will not have to deal with them during the interview.

<table>

Activity: Sell Yourself

Purpose: Students will learn to "sell" themselves, a skill necessary during an interview.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Self Confidence Handout
Newspaper print with a blank opening

Implementation strategies: Instruct students to include positive things about themselves and specific information relating to training, etc.

Length of time: 20 minutes

Variations:
1. Have a partner write the want ad exemplifying his/her partners strengths.
2. Have the students design a billboard, describing themselves, geared to securing a specific job.
Self confidence is believing in your abilities, trusting and respecting yourself. You can do many things and have great skills and abilities. In advertising, companies sell products by telling the public all the wonderful characteristics about the product. Below is your billboard. PROMOTE YOURSELF.
Activity: Interviewing Pre & Post Test

Purpose: Students will show what they know before and after going through the interviewing activities.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Interviewing Pre-Test Handout
Interviewing Post-Test Handout
Interviewing Pre & Post Test Answers

Implementation: Pass out the Interviewing Pre or Post-Test to all students. Have them read through the statements concerning a job interview. In front of each statement they should place a T for True or a F for False, depending on how well it relates to a good job interview.

Issues to be aware of: Pre-Test may be difficult for students. Inform the students that they will not receive a grade on the Pre-Test, that it is just for your information.

Length of time: 25 minutes for each test and to go through answers with the students.

Variations: You may want to do this as a large group or break into smaller groups, then bring them all back together for a large group discussion.
INTERVIEWING PRE-TEST

Read the following statements concerning a job interview. In front of each statement place a T for True or F for False depending on how well it relates to a correct job interview.

1. ____ First impressions are important when meeting your interviewer.

2. ____ As long as you are clean and neat, it does not really matter what kind of clothes you wear.

3. ____ If you must be late for your interview, do not take time to call ahead, simply get there as soon as possible.

4. ____ Arrive at your place of interview at least 20 minutes early.

5. ____ When you meet your interviewer, introduce yourself in a clear, concise voice.

6. ____ Do not extend your hand for a handshake unless your interviewer does so first.

7. ____ It is improper to offer to shake hands if your interviewer is a lady.

8. ____ After you have met your interviewer, immediately sit down in the chair that is closest to you.

9. ____ You may chew gum or smoke as either may help you to relax.

10. ____ Ask your interviewer questions about his company so he will realize you are sincerely interested in the company.

11. ____ Talk freely. Avoid "yes" and "no" answers.

12. ____ In a successful interview, you will do approximately 80% of the talking and the interviewer the remaining 20%.

13. ____ Never complain about your past employers.

14. ____ When you have completed giving all your information to your interviewer, politely end the interview.

15. ____ Regardless of the type of questions the interviewer asks, it is of utmost importance to remain as calm and composed as possible at all times.
INTERVIEWING POST-TEST

Read the following statements concerning a job interview. In front of each statement place a T for True or F for False depending on how well it relates to a correct job interview.

1. ____ First impressions are important when meeting your interviewer.

2. ____ As long as you are clean and neat, it does not really matter what kind of clothes you wear.

3. ____ If you must be late for your interview, do not take time to call ahead, simply get there as soon as possible.

4. ____ Arrive at your place of interview at least 20 minutes early.

5. ____ When you meet your interviewer, introduce yourself in a clear, concise voice.

Activity: Resumes

Purpose: Students will have the ability to construct a current usable resume.

Audience: Grades 11-12, Adult

Materials: Completed personal information sheet
Resume worksheet
Sample resumes #1, 2, 3, 4, & 5
Resume guideline
Pen or Pencil

Implementation strategies: Each student should have his/her completed personal information sheet with them. Have them transfer information from that sheet to the resume worksheet. Have the students go through and fill in any areas that are blank. When the students are finished, have them type the resumes or you can type them for the students. Several sample resumes are included, so students can choose which format of resume they like the best.

Length of time: This project could be spread out over several classes, so the students can be accurate and do not get bored with the activity.

Activity: Dress Game

Purpose: Students will learn how to dress appropriately for an interview.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: How To Accessorize - The Finishing Touch Handout for women
How To Accessorize - The Finishing Touch Handout for men
Do's and Don't for a Career Woman
Do's and Don't for a Career Man
Pen or pencil

Implementation Strategies: Follow directions on the handouts. Students give themselves points for clothes they are wearing. When finished students add total points. There is a rating scale in the directions. To be well dressed, a man or woman should have 12 – 18 points. On the job 14 is both ideal and maximum. There are do's and don'ts for the well-dressed person for discussion.

Issues to be aware of: This activity works best if students come dressed as if they were going on an actual job interview. You will have to use your discretion on some items being rated if students question them.

Length of time: 15 minutes for rating
15 minutes for discussion
HOW TO ACCESSORIZE
THE FINISHING TOUCH FOR WOMEN

The fashion image you want to achieve can be put together in an objective approach with the use of accessories. The best dressed women have an understated, uncluttered appearance. Learn to count your points as you accessorize! Consider any eye-arresting feature to be a point in this system. To be well-dressed, a woman should wear between 12 and 18 points. On the job, 14 is both ideal and maximum. If you are uncertain about an accessory DON'T WEAR IT! Remember..less is always BEST!

But don't ignore the need for that "finishing touch". So.....START COUNTING!!

* Each color in your outfit (one point per color)

* Shoes -- the color of your shoe counts one point per shoe if it is not neutral in color, or if it does not match the color you are wearing at your hemline.

* Eye catching detail on shoes (one point each, per shoe)
  open toes open heels
  stacked heels bows chains or trims

* Colored stockings (socks) one point in total (natural colored nylons do not count points)

* All jewelry one point each (watches, chains, bracelets, etc.). Two earrings equal one point if they are small. Large earrings equal one point each. Wedding rings worn with engagement or guard rings total one point.

* Simple glasses (one point)

* Hats (one point)

* Purse (one point). Add an extra point for large chains, buckles and extra colors.

* Colored nail polish (one point). Add an extra point if toenails show and have nail polish.

* Contrasting buttons (one point).

* Belts of a contrasting color (one point).

* Scarves, bows ruffles, monograms, contrasting trim, labels, and other style details (one point each).

* Red Hair (one point).

Activity: Common Interview Questions

Purpose: Students will become more comfortable with questions that may arise during an interview.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Common Interview Questions Handout

Implementation Strategies: Go over all questions on the handout as a large group. Divide students into pairs. Have them ask each other the common interview questions. This will let them know what kind of questions may arise during an interview.

Issues to be aware of: Give students a copy of questions, so they can refer to them in the future. Have students answer the questions in writing for practice.

Length of time: 30 minutes

Modifications: Invite a member of your community who can interview your students one by one, so they can see how it feels to go through an actual interview.
COMMON INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Read each of the interview questions and answer written or verbally.

1. Tell me about yourself.
2. Why have you held so many jobs?
3. What is your major weakness? Your major strength?
4. How much do you expect to be paid?
5. Why do you want to work for this company?
6. Why did you leave your last job?
7. Why do you have a gap in your work history?
8. What do you like to do in your leisure time?
9. What are your long range goals for the next 5 to 10 years?
10. Why should I hire you?
11. What are your special skills or abilities?
12. What are two of your most important achievements? Failures?
13. Why are you interested in this job?
14. What jobs have you enjoyed the most? The least? Why?
15. If asked to work overtime, odd hours, and perform extra duties would you?
16. When are you available for work?
17. What would your last employer say about you?
18. What machines or equipment can you operate?
19. What types of people do you like to work with?
20. How well do you perform under pressure?

Activity: Videotaping of Interviews

Purpose: Students will be rated on their performance during an interview situation while being videotaped.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials:
- Video Camera
- Tripod (optional)
- Television
- VCR
- Videotape Interview Rating Sheet Handout
- Twenty Frequently Asked Questions Handout
- Questions To Ask The Interviewer Handout
- Fifteen Knockout Factors Handout
- The Ten Commandments Of Job Hunting Handout

Implementation strategies: The instructor will act as the interviewer and will actually interview the student. The interviewer could also be someone from school or the community with whom the students are not familiar. Have a desk or table and chairs set up ahead of time. The student will enter the designated area, interviewer will shake their hand and tell them to be seated. Then the interview process will continue as usual. The video camera should be set up on a tripod in a location that will be facing the person being interviewed. That way you will be able to see what kind of eye contact and body language they use.

After the interviews have been completed, the students can then watch their classmates interview. Comments both positive and negative can be made at this time. They should use the rating sheet when watching the videotape.

Using other handouts, prepare your students for appropriate interview behavior and dress. Have the students prepare several questions for the interviewer before he/she is videotaped.

Issues to be aware of: Some students may feel uneasy being interviewed, especially on videotape. Explain that this is a normal feeling and that a real interview usually makes people somewhat nervous, therefore this exercise will be good practice.

Length of time: Approximately 10 minutes per student for videotaping. Allow another 10 minutes for viewing and rating the video.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF JOB HUNTING

1. Thou shalt not be a know-it-all...nor a slouch.

2. Thou shalt be clean of body and appropriate in dress.

3. Thou shalt have no pals along.

4. Thou shalt not bad-mouth persons or places of the past.

5. Thou shalt not smoke or chew gum.

6. Thou shalt speak and act as if thou hadst learned good manners at home (do this in remembrance of Mom).

7. Thou shalt not be greedy (perhaps thou art not worth $6.00 an hour!).

8. Thou shalt be willing to start at the bottom and be eager to work thy way up.

9. Thou shalt wear nice shoes.

10. Above all, thou shalt be courteous, realizing full well that an employer too, is human; like thee, he needs to feel accepted.
Activity: Mock Interviews

Purpose: Students will improve their ability and comfort level at an interview.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Interview Rating Sheets
Most Commonly Asked Interview Questions
Job Specification Sheet

Implementation strategies: Before this interviewing activity, students can call in (you can use two phones in the school building) to set up the interview for various job openings. Once the students gain an interview, establish a schedule for your guest interviewers. Invite area business persons, temporary agencies and community oriented persons to act as interviewers. Provide guidelines and questions for the interviewers. Students should know for what job they are applying. If enough staff are available it is fun and helpful to have a receptionist (use a student who is not participating in the mock interviews) on hand to rate the students also. After the interviews, the students and interviewers can meet as a group to give general comments.

Issues to be aware of: It is better if each student is interviewed by two different people to get an average on the rating sheets. Also the more practice students receive the better they become. If students are not familiar with the interviewer the more realistic this activity will be.

Length of time: Each interview lasts approximately 10 minutes.
INTERVIEW RATING SHEET

Name of participant:______________________________

Job applying for:______________________________

Instructions: Write in the appropriate score under the "Rating" column. The rating scale is 5 being the highest and 0 being the lowest. Where information or evidence is missing, assign a "0". Total the points. Make comments to help participants identify their strengths and weaknesses.

KEEPING YOUR JOB
KEEPING YOUR JOB

The activities in this section boost are intended to improve social skills as well as their ability to gain and maintain a job. Getting a job is sometimes the easy part, maintaining that job is more difficult!!

Employers have stated that the two important attributes they look for in a long term employee are good communication skills and the "ability to get along with others".

The main reason young people lose their jobs is not due to lack of vocational skills, but usually because of inappropriate social skills and the inability to get along with co-workers. Lack of judgement skills, tardiness, immature actions, talking too much, and off task behavior are all common reasons why people are fired.

Appropriate social skills can be taught, practiced, and improved! The "T-Chart" activities in this section can be discussed, charted, role-played, and expanded to any applicable social skill.

All the activities in this manual are built on cooperative learning practices. Using "Cooperative Learning" activities and practices will strengthen the student's ability to get along with co-workers on the job, accept new ideas, and work more efficiently. There is a wealth of information on cooperative learning teaching techniques. These techniques stress working productively and efficiently in a group; the very skills that employers want their new co-workers to have.

These activities are just a starting point for teaching your students lifelong survival skills in the work world!
Activity: Dear Abby

Purpose: Students will solve job related dilemmas - problems and make decisions based on information given for each scenario.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Dear Abby Handouts

Implementation strategies: Break your students into groups of 3-4. Give each group of students one scenario at a time. They will all be working on the same exercise at the same time. Read over the situation and characters with the group. Have each group come up with one solution. Give the students a time limit. Have one person from each group give their report. Throughout the exercise everyone will get a chance to be a spokesperson.

Issues to be aware of: Stress to students there are no right or wrong answers. Encourage as many solutions as possible. Students can come up with their own scenarios. Have the students role play the different parts. You could give each group a different scenario and have them role play the different parts. Have a discussion with the class to find out who they would select. Have the students come up with actual problems that have actually happened to them. You could have a Dear Abby box in your room, students could put their problems in the box, if they wanted to stay anonymous.

Length of time: 30 - 45 minutes
DEAR ABBY - SCENE ONE

Mavis, Inc. is a manufacturing company. Management has decided to promote one of the computer operators from part time to full time with full benefits. Three people in that department have expressed interest to their supervisor for this position. You must decide who should get this promotion. There is room at the bottom of this page for your answers.

Maggie: Maggie is a single mother (28 years old), with two small children. Maggie is very punctual, always arrives to work early and is willing to stay late when needed. She has been with the company for five years.

George: George has been a loyal employee for 10 years. He is a few years away from retirement. George is very friendly and is in charge of the company Christmas party. He is very hard working. George does not have reliable transportation.

Martin: Martin has been with the company for two years. Martin has had perfect attendance for both years. Martin walks to work everyday. It takes Martin longer to learn a new skill than it does the other people in his department. Once he learns something though, he is error free.

Mavis, Inc. is a manufacturing company. Management has decided that due to declining orders, one of the employees in the printing department must be laid off. Management has given you the names of three employees in that department, you must decide which one of these employees should be let go. All three employees started about the same time with the company. There is room at the bottom of this page for your answers.

Candy: Candy is married and has three children ages (two, four, & seven). She has had trouble keeping a sitter and has missed work because of this. She has missed four days out of the last three months. Candy is very productive.

Susan: Susan is single. Susan is very creative in her work, and is productive. Susan has been late for work three days and has missed two days out of the last month.

Elizabeth: Elizabeth is going through a divorce and has two children. Her attendance for work has been very good. She has missed only one day during the past three months. Because of the divorce, Elizabeth has been easily distracted. She could be more creative.

Mavis, Inc. is a manufacturing company. Management has decided to purchase a new delivery truck. This truck has air conditioning, is an automatic, has more storage space, better lighting, etc. You must decide which employee should receive the new company truck. There is room for your answers at the bottom of this page.

Julia: Julia has been with Mavis for three years. Her truck is 10 years old, is a five speed. Her truck has recently been wrecked when Lucas backed into it. Her driving record is good.

Lucas: Lucas has been with Mavis for 10 years. His truck is five years old, has no air conditioning, and is an automatic. Lucas has recently had an accident, backing into Julia's truck leaving it dented. Other than this recent mishap with Julia, his driving record is clean.

Joe: Joe has been with the company for 10 years. Joe has asthma. His truck is eight years old, is a four speed and has no air conditioning.

George: George has been with the company for 20 years. George is a heavy smoker. His truck is three years old, is an automatic, and has air conditioning.

Kevin: Kevin has been with the company for five years. His truck is six years old, has no air conditioning, and is an automatic. Kevin has had two speeding tickets in the last two years.

Activity: Charting Your Course

Purpose: Students will understand what appropriate work behaviors look like and sound like.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Positive work behaviors to chart your course to success handout
Blank T-Chart handout
Listening T-Chart sample
Keeping your cool T-Chart sample
Staying on task T-Chart sample

Implementation strategies: T-Charts are a way of writing down information in a concise form, describing what certain behaviors "looks like" and "sounds like." Students will be more in tune with that behavior. This will also teach them how to act in certain situations on the job.

These charts could also be used to work on specific behaviors you want in the classrooms such as; working together as a group, encouraging each other with positive comments, etc.

Students should design their own T-Charts, taking behaviors from the list on Positive Work Behaviors handout charting what these behaviors look and sound like.

Variations: Feel free to add your own samples

Activity: Learn These Skills Or Get Fired

Purpose: Students will be able to see their strong and weak areas related to employment and brainstorm ways to strengthen their weak skills.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Learn These Skills Or Get Fired Worksheet

Implementation Strategies: Give each student a "Learn These Skills Or Get Fired Worksheet." Read through the statements with the students, have them check the appropriate box (always, sometimes, or never) for each statement. When finished, have the students go back and think of ways to strengthen that skill. What can they do to improve on that statement? If your student is not working at the present time, you can have them relate this to their school work.

Length of time: 30 minutes

Evaluation of activity: This activity allows students to see what an employer wants in an employee. It allows them to see what areas they need to improve on.

Activity: Throw Your Troubles Away

Purpose: Students will learn how to solve work related problems

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Problem Resolution List
Ball of yarn

Implementation strategies: Your group of students should sit around in a circle. Post your Problem Resolution list in a place in the room where everyone can see it. Give the ball of yarn to someone in the group. That person has to name a problem that they have experienced personally or from the list. They hold the end of string and throw the ball to someone else in the circle. The person they throw the ball to must name a resolution to the problem. For example, if the first person said they have trouble getting to work or school on time, the second person may suggest to them to get an alarm clock or get to bed earlier. The second person then throws to a third person, while holding their end of the string. That third person must name another resolution to that same problem. When enough answers have been given to that problem, then someone (whoever has the ball of string) names a new problem. You will start to make a spiders web with the yarn. Each person who receives the yarn must then hold the end before throwing to someone else.

Length of time: 30 minutes

Variations: If you do not want to use the yarn, you can use a ball or a koosh ball instead.
PROBLEM RESOLUTION LIST

Arrive late for work
Makes numerous mistakes
Does not use proper safety equipment
Does not follow directions
Work area is messy
Works too slow
Returns from lunch and breaks late
Leaves work station without permission
Misses too many work days
Does not dress appropriately for work/school
Does not come to work/school clean
Is unfriendly
Talks to co-workers too much or at inappropriate times
Activity: How To Read & Copy Your Work Schedule

Purpose: Students will have the chance to learn different ways companies post work schedules

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Work Schedule Handout
Work Schedule Worksheet
Pocket calendars or copies of a page of a calendar

Implementation strategies: Discuss the meanings of the different abbreviations used on the work schedule handout. Explain how work schedules are posted different ways at different companies. Make a larger scale work schedule out of construction paper or cardboard. Using the Work schedule handout as a guide, write your students names on the work schedule. Have them write down their schedule on a pocket calendar or you could copy a page from a calendar for them to use. Have the students check each others schedule to see if they have down the correct times to work. Be sure to discuss with the students why it is important to check and copy correctly their schedule for the whole week.

Activity: Show A Positive Attitude

Purpose: Students will learn how your attitude can impact your job situation

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Show A Positive Attitude Handout

Implementation Strategies: Read over the handout with the students. Ask them why they feel people get fired from their jobs. Sometimes they can not do their job, but more often it is because of a poor attitude. Set up some role playing with the students. Have them role play positive vs. negative attitudes.

Length of time: 15 minutes
45 minutes with role playing
SHOW A POSITIVE ATTITUDE

Do you know why people get fired? Sometimes it is because they cannot do the job. More often it is because of a poor attitude. In fact, the main reason young workers lose jobs is a poor attitude.

Your attitude is your outlook on life. It is shown by your behavior. Your attitude forms over the years, beginning when you are a small child.

A good attitude is sometimes called a positive attitude. A poor attitude is negative. If you always look for the good in things, you have a positive attitude.

If you look only at the bad side of things, you may have a negative attitude. Those with negative attitudes often feel that they are treated unfairly. They may not like people much. If this is you, you can change! You can do a lot to become the person you want to be.

You can form a more positive attitude. It takes practice. The chart below lists the behavior shown by those who have positive and negative attitudes. You must practice being positive. Do this while you are young. The longer you wait, the harder it is to change your attitude.

NOTE: MOST PEOPLE HAVE SOME POSITIVE AND SOME NEGATIVE TRAITS.
Activity: GRIPE Session

Purpose: Students will have an opportunity to share their feelings and concerns in a controlled environment.

Audience: Chalkboard, if available
G R I P E Guide Sheet

Implementation strategies: Pass out the 'GRIPE guide sheet or write the letters G R I P E on the chalkboard. Using the letters GRIPE, ask the students to share their feelings about their job or school using each letter. For example, 'G' can be something Great, or Good. 'R' can be Ridiculous, etc.

Issues to be aware of: With the facilitator in control, this can be a beneficial group session. It is a good time for the students to express their feeling.

Length of time: 30 - 60 minutes
'G R I P E' Guide Sheet

DISCUSS YOUR FEELINGS ABOUT YOUR JOB.

Good - Great

Ridiculous - Right

Ideal - Irritating

Petty - Perfect - Positive

Excellent - Energetic
MANAGEMENT
Managing your paycheck can be just as overwhelming as learning a new job. Many students have never had a bank account, written a check, made any large purchases (such as a car), or used financial credit.

There are many opportunities for decision making and goal setting once a young person earns a paycheck. The activities in this section are designed to help young people feel more comfortable and competent when budgeting, spending, and saving their money.

Once you have a job there are many choices to make that include money. How will I get to work? Will I drive or can I ride a bus? Can I afford to buy a car? What kind of a car should I purchase? Do I make enough money for car insurance? How should I budget my money to allow for gas money, work clothes, and lunch money and still have enough to pay monthly expenses if I want to move out on my own? Where can I rent an apartment that is close to my job? You can assist your students to answer some of these questions as you do the budgeting and checkbook activities.

Some of your additional activities in this section will depend upon the functioning level of your students, the geographic area, socioeconomic values in the community, etc. The checking account activities may be altered to working with a savings account. This is a good place to bring in local speakers to address banking options, payroll deductions or automatic withdrawal to pay certain bills, financing large items through credit, insurance, and personal budgeting. Someone from the power and light company could speak about how to reduce energy costs. The possibilities are endless!

This is a fun section and the students learn many useful skills.
Activity: Parts Of A Check

Purpose: Students will learn the meanings of all the parts of a check.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Parts of a check, Handout
Parts of a check, Answer Sheet
Money and Banking, Handout

Implementation strategies: Give all students a copy of the handout. Go over all the parts with them. After they are familiar with the check have them read over the paragraphs and attempt to fill out the checks.

Issues to be aware of: If your students are having trouble filling out the checks properly, you may want to copy the blank check several times and give the students additional problems to give them more practice.

Length of time: 20 minutes
PARTS OF A CHECK

Below you have two blank checks. Completely fill out the checks using the information above each check. Use your money and banking handout to assist you.

Activity: Balancing Your Checking Account

Purpose: Students will learn the importance of balancing their monthly bank statements

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Blank Bank Statements, Handout
Bank Statement Example, Handout

Implementation strategies: Tell the students that this is only an example and not all banks use the same type of statements. When they finally open their own accounts, students will have to accustom themselves to their banks style. Go over the different parts of the bank statement so they will be familiar with it.

Issues to be aware of: Depending on the ability of your students, this activity may take longer.

Activity: Bank Statement Vocabulary

Purpose: Students will become familiar with the vocabulary used on a bank statement.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Bank Statement Vocabulary, Handout
          Bank Statement Worksheet, Handout
          Bank Statement Worksheet, Answer Sheet

Implementation strategies: Have students look over the bank statement vocabulary handout. Go over the words, definitions, and questions asked on worksheet with students. You will also have to review the questions asked on the worksheet. When they feel comfortable with the words, you can give them the bank statement worksheet to complete on their own. If you wish, could be used as a test.

Issues to be aware of: It would be helpful for the students to complete this activity before beginning money management.

Activity: Bills, Bills, Bills

Purpose: Students will receive bills, learn to write checks to pay these bills, make deposits and keep their checkbook balances

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Students copy of checks and deposit slips
Handout of bills
Bills made out by you on index cards
(see sample bills for persons #1, 2 & 3)
Paycheck handouts

Implementation strategies: This activity will work best if the students have six to eight job club meetings to complete this activity. Give all your students a mock job with a paycheck for 4 weeks, (They will receive a paycheck each week during this activity. Bills and paychecks should be based on what would be received in a normal month of housekeeping. We feel it best to start the students out with a beginning balance in their accounts ($150.00 seems to work well). The students should have weekly bills (see handout of bills). Try to make this as real to the students as possible. Make each student a folder using either a file folder or a pocket folder. In this folder should be their checkbook & bills due for that week along with their paycheck.

Issues to be aware of: When introducing this activity to your students, you may want to include only two or three bills for the first job club meeting of this activity. Discuss with the students the importance of budgeting your money. They should make sure they have enough money in their accounts to pay their bills for that week.

Length of time: 6-8 job club meetings (each lasting 45 minutes to 1 hour)

Modifications: Give each student a different amount on their bills. Example: If you have ten students you should have at least ten different bills for electric, telephone, rent, entertainment, groceries, etc. They should receive a different amount on their next week's grocery bill. For rent you can either submit them a bill or have them look through the local newspaper and have them choose an apartment and pay the advertised amount or call the apartment manager and find out the amount for rent.

Activity: And More Bills!

Purpose: Students will become familiar with how to read actual household bills.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Actual bills of your own
Electric*
Telephone*
Water*, etc.
Charge cards*
*Block out the name, address, and change the number if necessary

Implementation strategies: Ask the students to find specific items on the bills. For example: due date, meter readings, previous balance, account number, past due amount, etc.

Issues to be aware of: Students may not understand the terms on a bill. You may need to discuss the meanings with the students. Include this activity in the middle of your check writing with a fun activity to break up the unit and keep it interesting.

Length of time: 15-30 minutes
Activity: Job Club AUCTION

Purpose: Students will learn how to participate in an auction.

Audience: Grades 7 - 12, Adult

Materials: Items to sell in the auction
Students' Job Club "Checkbooks"

Implementation strategies: Establish an auctioneer. Provide items to be sold or ask students to bring in items from home. Items could be paid for in several different ways.

1. Before the auction, the students write a 'check' for the amount they have in their checking account, and receive 'cash' to spend at the auction. They pay a cashier each time they purchase an item.

2. As they bid and buy the items, someone can record and tally the purchase price and who bought the item, and at the end of the auction, the students write a 'check' for the total amount.

3. The students write a 'check' each time they purchase an item and pay the cashier.

Issues to be aware of: It is very effective to have a professional auctioneer, if possible. Some students are shy and do not bid. At some point, the auctioneer could only allow persons who have NOT bid, participate at times. Also, some students may need assistance to help them understand the bidding process.

Length of time: 30 - 60 minutes
LIVING INDEPENDENTLY
LIVING INDEPENDENTLY

The activities in this section will have to be tailored to your particular group. If your students live in a rural area, transportation needs and options will have to be addressed. You may be lucky enough to have many public transportation modes in your community; if so, research all of them with your students so that they feel comfortable taking the bus, calling for a cab, arranging transportation with a chauffeur company, etc.

Housing opportunities may be bountiful or scarce. Either way, research the residential options in your community. Do your students qualify for subsidized housing, group homes, supervised apartments, etc? Do they need help filling out forms to apply for these options? Do the families need to be involved? Your students and their needs will determine many of the additional activities so that they are able to live as independently as possible.

There are a myriad of other fun "field trip" type activities to do in conjunction with these activities. Exploring community recreation opportunities, grocery shopping to compare prices, locating the community service agencies, libraries, police, and fire departments are all worthwhile outings and will help your students feel more secure and confident as they leave school and enter their community as productive citizen!
Activity: How To Read Want Ads When Apartment Hunting

Purpose: Students will become familiar with abbreviations often used in ads for apartments.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Want ad glossary handout
Newspaper clippings with apartment ads

Implementation strategies: Give students handouts in conjunction with some actual ads that use the abbreviations. Students should read the newspapers and try to find some of these abbreviations used in actual ads. Have the students write their own want ads using the abbreviations and exchange with the other students and have them figure out the meanings.

Length of time: 20 minutes

Activity: Sort It Out (Laundry)

Purpose: Students will be introduced to the process of doing laundry

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials:
- Laundry Baskets
- Old clothes of different colors and textures
- Empty boxes of laundry soap
- Empty containers of regular bleach and all purpose bleach
- Empty containers of fabric softeners

Implementation strategies: Discuss with the students:
1. Sorting laundry by color
2. Sorting laundry by texture
3. How full to load the machine
4. How much and when to add soap, bleach and softeners
5. Laundromats (how to use and cost)

Issues to be aware of: Don't assume they know anything!

Length of time: 45 minutes

Variation: You could cut out pictures of clothing, towels, sheets, bedspreads, etc. and have the students sort these items.
Activity: Apartment Hunting

Purpose: Students will become familiar with areas to look for when looking for an apartment.

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: Apartment Hunting Checklist

Implementation strategies: Go over the apartment hunting checklist with your students. Have them think about what would be important to them when they are looking for an apartment. You may want to bring in newspaper ads with apartment rentals in it for them to view, and see the different kinds of apartments and the different amenities that the complex or unit has to offer.

Issues to be aware of: Have a speaker from an apartment complex talk to your students about renting an apartment.

Length of time: 30-45 minutes, depending on how indepth you get with this activity.

Activity: Public Transportation

Purpose: Students will learn how to read and use a bus schedule.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Cincinnati Metro Bus Schedule
Can You Find Your Way Worksheet
Can You Find Your Way Answer Sheet
Copy of your local bus schedules

Implementation strategies: Copy the schedules for students use, only give them one section at a time and go over each section separately with the students to make it less confusing. Be sure to explain how the numbers that are circled are stops.

Issues to be aware of: The students may get frustrated with this activity at first, if just takes practice to be able to read the schedule. Get a copy of your local bus system's schedule to see how different the schedules are set up.

Length of time: 45 minutes

Variation: If the school is on a bus line, help students arrange to ride the bus home or to school or work. It would be a good experience to have the students call the local bus company to get a schedule for their area, inquire about a Fare Deal card and how they can apply for one if they are eligible. This will give the students experience in using the phone book, talking on the telephone and getting the proper information.
CINCINNATI METRO BUS SCHEDULE

Tips and Information

Metro Information

621-4455

Schedule Times Please note that weather and traffic conditions may cause actual arrival and departure times to vary slightly from the published schedule.

- Out of service buses: Buses which display "Out of Service" designation signs are not providing regular route service and may not stop for passengers.
- Fare: Bus drivers do not carry change. Please pay your fare in exact coin or coin and token combinations. Dollar coins or bills may not be used to pay bus fares. Thank you.
- Weekday rush hours:
  - (6:00 to 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 to 6:00 p.m.) 65*
  - Weekday non rush hour:
  - (10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., weekdays) 10*
  - Weekend flat rate (no zone or express fare) 25*
  - Fare Deal cardholders (plus any weekday zone or express fares) 20*
- Transfers:
  - Please request your free transfer when you pay your fare. Transfers may not be used for "stop and go" or round trip travel.
  - For faster boarding, please have your fare ready before getting on the bus.

MetroCard

The Metro's unlimited ride monthly pass is the easy way to pay your fare and can be used on any regular Metro service.

Order your MetroCard by mail, charge it to MasterCard or VISA.

Access

If you have a disability and cannot ride regular Metro service, we may be able to help.

Customer Service 632-7575

Your reports will help us improve the quality of your Metro service.

Fare Deal 632-7540

If you are 65 or older or have a disability, you can ride The Metro for a discount.

Free Ride Guides 621-4455

We'll send you copies of The Metro's free bus schedules by mail.

Lost and Found Information 621-4455

We can put you in touch with the right people to help you find your lost item.

Metro Sales Information 621-4455

Call to find out how to buy Access fare tickets, Metro tokens or MetroCard, the convenient unlimited ride monthly pass.

The Metro is a non-profit public service of Southwest Ohio Regional Transit Authority

How To Ride

Using a Metro RideGuide

- Choose the appropriate RideGuide bus schedule for your trip.
- The schedule lists time points showing departure times from major intersections and landmarks.
- Decide when you want to arrive at your destination, then work backward to determine when you need to catch the bus. It is sometimes necessary to transfer to complete a trip.

Read the route schedule from top downward and left to right. Times listed are departure times from that point, unless noted.

Where to Board The Metro

You may board a Metro bus at any marked Metro bus stop along the local service portion of the route. Please see your route map.

About Bus Stops

As a rule of thumb, you'll find bus stops every two blocks along the route. Bus stops are marked in one of two ways:

- an orange stripe painted on a utility, light or sign pole or along the curbing; or
- a blue and white "Metro Stop" sign.

Be Early

Watches and clocks seldom agree and a minute or two difference could mean a missed bus. Arrive at your Metro bus stop three to five minutes before your departure time. Occasionally traffic conditions, inclement weather, passenger loads and other uncontrollable conditions may cause a bus to run behind its published schedule. Metro makes every effort to get late buses back on schedule as quickly as possible.

Trip Tips

Be Kind To One Another

- It is the law that you may not eat, drink or smoke on the bus. And you must use earphones when listening to any audio device on the bus.
- Please reserve the seats at the front of the bus for elderly or disabled riders.
- Animals, except for Seeing Eye Dogs, may not ride the Metro. Small animals may be carried in secure containers.
- Please do not block the aisle with packages, bags or baby carriages. Thank you.

Go Safely

- When riding the bus, please be seated. If you must stand, please hold on.
- If there are no seats and you must stand, please move back from the front of the bus—the driver's ability to see the streets through the windows is important to your safety.
- At the bus stop, please stand away from a moving bus. When boarding or deboarding, please watch your step and do not rush.
- Please wait for the bus to leave the bus stop before crossing the street. Thank you.

Ride Smart

- For faster boarding, please have your fare ready before getting on the bus.
- For faster exit, please use the back door (except on Pay-Go/You-Leave services).
- Please keep the bus windows closed for better climate control. Thank you.

Activity: Let Your Fingers Do The Walking

Purpose: Students will learn how to use the telephone directory to find certain services.

Audience: Grades 9-12, Adult

Materials: Community Stores And Services Handout
Area Telephone Books

Implementation strategies: Give students the Community Stores And Services handout and have them work in small groups to find the telephone numbers and addresses of the different sections. Assign each group a certain amount to look up. The class as a whole should work on section D. If the students are not from the same local area, you'll just have to decide on one phone book to use.

Length of time: 45 minutes

Variation: You could have contests to see who could find a number the fastest. It may also be a good idea to have all students record the telephone numbers under section D on a 3x5 card for their own use. They could also include other important numbers of their own on this card.

Activity: The Price Is Right
Comparison Shopping For Groceries

Purpose: Students will learn how to comparison shop

Audience: Grades 7-12, Adult

Materials: List of grocery items
Grocery store ads

Implementation strategies: The most productive way would involve the students actually visiting 2-3 different grocery stores. The students would all have a list of specific items and their brand names to check the prices. One group could go to one major chain, while another group would go to a different chain store and a third group to a convenience type store.

Issues to be aware of: Talk to students about how the quantity of the item purchased affects the cost. Talk to the students about how to use coupons. The students may not be aware of the different kinds of grocery stores. Show the students how to read the signs in a store that tells how much the item cost per ounce or per each. If students' math skills permit, teach them how to figure cost per ounce on their own. Then they'll be able to decide which item is cheaper.

Length of time: This is hard to gauge, if you go to separate stores allow each group about 30 minutes to collect their data.

Variation: If actually visiting stores is impossible, gather several different grocery store ads and flyers. Have the students compare prices this way instead.
What follows is a small bibliography. When we consider all of the books, curricula, periodicals, and educational projects that deal with the important issue of the student's job search quest, these are just a drop in the bucket! We have listed below those resources that have been the most useful to us:

Circles Of Learning, by David W. Johnson, Roger T. Johnson and Edythe Johnson Holubec (Interaction Book Company, 7208 Cornelia Drive, Edina, Minnesota 55435, 1990 154 pages). This book is a practical guide to learn about using cooperative learning techniques in the classroom. It is written in an easy-to-read format.

Games Magazine, Big Book Of Games, by Ronnie Shushan (Workman Publishing, 708 Broadway, New York, New York 10003 1984, 192 pages). Many of the games and activities in this fantastic book were used as fill-ins or brain teasers during Job Club. There is a great sequel to this manual, Big Book of Games II, that is also fun to use with young people.

Tutoring: Learning By Helping, by Elizabeth Sabrinsky Foster (Educational Media Corporation, P.O. Box 21311, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55421 1983, 216 pages). Using activities from this book helps implement cooperative learning. The book provides excellent activities that foster cooperative learning and lessons that build on each other. Many of the activities will help increase student's communication skills.

100 Ways To Enhance Self-Concept In The Classroom; A Handbook For Teachers And Parents, by Jack Canfield and Harold C. Wells (Prentice-Hall, Inc. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, 1976, 253 pages). Full of great ideas on increasing self esteem, there are 100 activities in this guide to help the students know and understand themselves better. This book encourages students to "brag" on their accomplishments, which is a necessary tool in interviewing.

We found several fun and helpful activities from religious and teacher's journals. Check these out! There are many Job Club Manuals available. You could find these manuals at your local college. We found some of the activities and lessons inappropriate for junior high and senior high students. Some of the concepts and techniques may be helpful for your situation.
