This lesson accompanies a videotape which examines some of the forces, personalities and events which shaped Berlin and the rest of Germany between 1945 and 1994. The lesson is introduced by using the videotape and uses references from the videotape for further classroom work. Worksheets for student use include "Events in Germany, 1945-1994" and "Comments About Germany 1945-1994." A handout focuses on "Some Key Dates in Berlin's Recent History." A teacher's resource list and a map of Germany conclude the lesson. (EH)

GERMANY SINCE 1945

A Focus on Berlin

LENGTH 15 minutes
GRADE LEVELS 5-12

PROGRAM SUMMARY
A recurring theme throughout European history has been the "German question." The half century following the defeat of Germany's Third Reich in World War II brought a new solution to the problem of defining the German nation. Out of the shifts of powers that emerged from the aftermath of the war, Berlin became the front-line symbol of the cold war. This film examines some of the forces, personalities and events which shaped Berlin and the rest of Germany between 1945 and 1990.

INSTRUCTIONAL OBJECTIVES
Students will
- list significant dates and events related to the history of Germany since the end of World War II.
- compare and contrast the patterns of economic development in the two Germanys from 1945 until 1990.
- identify and evaluate the roles played by selected world leaders in influencing political developments in Germany.

VOCABULARY
- Potsdam Conference
- Morgenthau Plan
- Marshall Plan
- SED [Socialist Unity Party of Germany]
- GDR [German Democratic Republic, East Germany]
- FRG [Federal Republic of Germany, West Germany]
- COMECON [Council for Mutual Economic Assistance]
- Warsaw Pact
- EEC [European Economic Community]
- EU [European Union]
- glasnost
- perestroika

BEFORE VIEWING THE PROGRAM
An ideological conflict began at the end of World War II among the victorious Allies. Discuss with students attributes of this "Cold War" and how the conflict created a postwar Germany which, for nearly a half-century, was divided into two quite different systems. Ask students to identify some of the forces, personalities and events in the film which might appeal to German feelings of national identity and patriotism.
AFTER VIEWING THE PROGRAM

1. Suggested questions for discussion.
   a. In what particular scenes and reported episodes were particular emotions — pride, joy, anger, despair, etc. — demonstrated by the Germans?
   b. In addition to the Germans themselves, other nations influenced events and attitudes in the two Germanys during the years 1945-1990. What roles did the following nations play during this time period — the United States? the USSR? Hungary? Poland? Czechoslovakia?
   c. Symbols and images convey specific ideas and values. What were some of the symbols shown in the film? How has the message these symbols conveyed changed over time? (e.g. swastika, VW Beetle, Reichstag, Brandenburg Gate)
   d. What individuals had the greatest impact on the developments in the two Germanys? Identify and defend your choice(s).

2. In addition to Germany, other nations were divided after World War II. These include Korea and later Vietnam. Have groups of students conduct research and then report on the similarities and differences between Germany's experience and that of the other divided nations.

3. Since unification in 1990, there have been numerous developments in Germany. Have students conduct research on the problems and achievements in the following categories.
   - political developments
   - social and ethnic issues
   - environmental concerns
   - economic issues

4. Over the years, several U.S. presidents visited Berlin to call for the unification of the two Germanys. Statements from President Kennedy and President Reagan are presented in the film. Ask students to locate the text of the remarks delivered by President Clinton in his Berlin speech, July 12, 1994, as the last of the occupation forces withdrew from the Federal Republic of Germany. Students should select quotations from Clinton's remarks which signify the end of the occupation by the four Allied Powers which had been in place since the end of World War II.

GERMANY SINCE 1945
A Focus on Berlin

SOME KEY DATES IN BERLIN'S RECENT HISTORY

London Protocol, September 12, 1944 The United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union agree to divide Germany and Berlin into three zones, with the special Berlin area to be under joint occupation by the three powers.

Yalta Conference, February 4-11, 1945 Revising plans for Germany, the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union carve a fourth zone for the French from those designated for the United States and Great Britain. The special Berlin area will now also have four zones.

Berlin Airlift, June 1948-May 1949 During the Soviet blockade of West Berlin, American and British aircraft supply over 2 million inhabitants of Berlin with all food, fuel, industrial goods and raw materials. Supply deliveries grow from 500-700 tons a day in June 1948 to 12,940 tons by April 1949. Seventy-nine people lose their lives working on the operation.

Establishment of the Federal Republic of Germany, May 8, 1949; Establishment of the German Democratic Republic, October 7, 1949

Uprising in East Berlin, June 17, 1953 Construction workers in East Berlin call for a general strike. As unrest spreads to other cities, Soviet tanks are sent in at the request of the East German leadership.

German Sovereignty, May 5, 1955 The Federal Republic of Germany becomes a sovereign state. However, the Allies retain special rights regarding Berlin and Germany as a whole.

Construction of the Berlin Wall, August 13, 1961 As the number of people leaving East Germany for the West increases to around 250,000 a month, the East German government decides to stop the flow with a barrier that grows to encircle West Berlin's entire area. During the wall's existence, at least 170 people are killed trying to escape from East to West Berlin.

Kennedy's Berlin Speech, June 26, 1963 U.S. President John F. Kennedy promises to stand up for Berlin's freedom in his "Ich bin ein Berliner" [I am a Berliner] speech.

Quadripartite Agreement on Berlin, September 9, 1971 The agreement codifies West Berlin's links with the Federal Republic of Germany, reducing East/West tensions over Berlin.

Reagan's Berlin Speech, June 12, 1987 In a speech, U.S. President Ronald Reagan demands, "Mr. Gorbachev, tear this wall down!"

Fall of the Berlin Wall, November 9, 1989

Two-Plus-Four Treaty, September 12, 1990 The governments of the four World War II Allied Powers, the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic sign the treaty in Moscow, terminating the Four Powers' rights and responsibilities regarding Berlin and Germany as a whole. The treaty calls for the complete withdrawal of Soviet forces from Germany by the end of 1994, while allowing for a continued Allied troop presence in Berlin during this period. Upon ratification, Germany is to have full sovereignty over its internal and external affairs. On March 15, 1991, the Two-Plus Four Treaty comes into effect.

German Unification, October 3, 1990 East Germany accedes to the Federal Republic of Germany. Berlin becomes the capital of a united Germany.

Clinton's Berlin Speech, July 12, 1994 Bill Clinton is the first U.S. president to speak at the Brandenburg Gate in a united Berlin. The final withdrawal of the Allied troops is complete by the end of the year.
