During the fiscal year 1992-1993, the Fort Collins Public Library (Colorado) conducted a project that involved the recruitment of tutors and adult learners, public awareness, training, and collection development. The project served a community of over 200,000 people, and had a target population of the local minority population, with an emphasis on recruiting Hispanic tutors and adult learners. The project trained 153 new volunteer tutors, and provided additional training to 55 current volunteer tutors. Project activities included: 12 basic tutor training orientation and core skills sessions for all adult literacy service projects; 22 specific tutor training sessions; public awareness events--National Library Week, National Literacy Day, and Community Environment Fair; media events--community television and radio programs; 11 monthly network meetings; reception for community-wide authors and illustrators of READ-UP series, a short anthology of stories for new adult readers; newsletters sent to tutors, service providers, and interested community members; maintenance of appropriate reading and tutorial materials for the READ-UP collection of materials devoted to marginally literate adult learners and new readers; and maintenance of a telephone line on which 1,347 calls for training and information were taken. Appendices include: tutor training materials and evaluation forms; materials from the Larimer County Adult Literacy Network; READ-UP materials purchased; adult literacy newsletter; newspaper articles and other public relations materials; letters regarding additional funding; cooperative efforts with other libraries and literacy programs; survey of adult basic education/ESL staff and teachers; adult learner services; and director’s job description. PART III: NARRATIVE REPORT

Fort Collins Public Library, Library Literacy Services Program will be known throughout this report as Literacy Services.

Goals and Objectives

GOAL A: TO PLAN AND IMPLEMENT INNOVATIVE METHODS OF MEETING THE INFORMATIONAL NEEDS OF ADULT LOW LEVEL LEARNERS AND BEGINNING READERS OF ENGLISH.

Objective A-I: Purchase and create materials

The collection of low level literacy materials (both for tutoring adults and for low level adult readers) was maintained and updated during this grant period. The selection of books was ongoing.

The Media Department of the Library has dedicated a section for adult literacy education which includes "GED on TV", "Learn to Read", ESL language acquisition tapes and videos, and other assorted adult education tapes and videos. The "GED on TV" videos (purchased with Literacy Services funds) were heavily used by the adult learners. (There are 86 "GED on TV" and 28 "Learn to Read" videos that were checked out by 608 adult learners.) As we attempted to serve the minority population of the area, we ascertained a great need for books specific to tutoring English as a Second Language and for adult learners of English as a Second Language. A list of purchased materials can be found in the Appendix.

Objective A-II: Publicize availability of READ UP collection and Literacy Services.

On-going public awareness activities included publication and distribution of flyers and brochures specifically related to the READ UP collection. During the grant period, October 1, 1992 to September 30, 1993, 1450 books were circulated through the READ UP section. Six tutor orientation workshops were given a tour and presentation about the READ UP collection.

Library/Network services were publicized in a variety of ways: newspaper feature articles; newspaper advertisements; T.V appearances of adult educators; two separate literacy awareness campaigns at a local shopping mall and community fair; visual campaigns on milk cartons and grocery bags; and presentations to local service clubs.

Objective A-III: Operate Summer Reading Program
Library space was severely limited with the introduction of a computerized data base and all the chaos that was generated by that installation. With space limitation, the Library's primary focus was on activities for youth. The summer adult reading program was canceled by a directive from the former Library Administrator.

In place of that original goal, a reception was planned to celebrate the publication of the READ-Up series (a delightful anthology of short stories for new adult readers). This four book collection was the combined effort of nearly a hundred community authors, editors, illustrators, volunteers and tutors. Representatives from county libraries, Colorado State Library, Colorado Department of Education, North Plain Regional Library System and adult literacy programs were there to recognize the work of the community and to each receive a set of books for their own new adult reader collections.

Objective A-IV Provide facilities for in-house tutoring

The library provided space, including a specific meeting room, to all volunteer tutors for one-on-one tutoring sessions and tutor training sessions. The library also provided office space for the project which was also used for tutoring sessions. Adult learners from the five Larimer County adult literacy programs were encouraged to use the Library's regular services, the READ UP collections and special study space.

GOAL B-I: TO DEVELOP NEW STRATEGIES TO SUPPORT, PROMOTE AND ENHANCE ALL LITERACY ADVANCEMENT AVENUES IN NORTHERN LARIMER COUNTY.

Objective B-Ia: Conduct ongoing awareness campaign.

Literacy Services published flyers, fact sheets, and newsletters that were distributed as mailings, and handouts for community presentations, workshops, conferences, fairs, and meetings. The purpose was twofold: to generate awareness about the issues of adult literacy and notify interested citizens about services available in the community.

The local newspaper, cable television station and public radio station cooperated with Literacy Services to provide public service announcements as needed for recruitment of volunteers, to feature adult literacy events and agencies in special programming, and to publicize literacy awareness events and trainings.

Objective B-Ib: Operate 484-READ Literacy Line:

During the 1992-93 funding year, the program responded to 1347 calls for training and information. The program referred over 235 students to area direct service literacy providers. The 484-
READ line is located in the Fort Collins Public Library Literacy Services office and is operated by program staff. Records of calls are kept. All public relations campaigns conducted during the grant period included publicizing the 484-READ number.

Objective B-Ic: Provide tutor training:

During the 1992-93 project year, the program trained 227 of volunteer tutors. All tutors received: "Orientation to Adult Literacy Tutoring" and "Core Skills for Beginning as a Tutor". All tutors were expected to attend a minimum of 6 hours of training before starting with their student(s). An additional 4 hours of training was encouraged for each tutor to be attended shortly after being matched with an adult learner. This second level was directly related to the needs of the adult learner and included such sessions as:

- How to Prepare the Adult Learner to Take and Pass the GED Exam
- How to Teach Process Writing
- How to Teach Reading with the Whole Language Method
- How to be Culturally Sensitive
- Techniques for Tutoring ESL Student
- Strategies for Working with Adult Students with Learning Disabilities
- Techniques for Teaching Functionally Based Math

Evaluations of each workshop were collected by the trainers, consolidated by the program coordinator and kept on file in the Literacy Services office. Suggestions for improvement of the workshops were passed on to the trainers and revision of tutor training materials is an on-going process. During this project year, video taping the workshops was initiated. These tapes were then made available to adult literacy programs, and volunteer tutors. Tutor training was expanded to the south portion of the county at the CALL Center in Loveland, CO.

Objective B-Id: Continue state-wide participation and professional development.

One staff member served on the state-wide peer review of adult literacy educators and programs with the Colorado Department of Education.

Literacy Services sponsored and assisted in the development of a Colorado State Department of Education mini-conference to provide training for teachers, tutors, and adult learners.

All staff belonged to and participated in the events presented by Colorado Association of Continuing Adult Educators.

Individual staff members attended the following adult education conferences and/or training sessions:
CACAE Board Meeting and annual conference
Colorado Conference International Reading Association
Co-Alliance for Lifetime Learning Workshop
CDE - CASAS training and regional workshops
CDE - ABE Grant Writing Workshop
Department of Labor - Literacy Workshop and a staff member presented at:

CACAE state Conference
Colorado Conference International Reading Assoc.
Literacy Volunteers of American National Conference.

GOAL B-II:
TO PROVIDE OPERATIONAL SUPPORT AND FACILITATE THE EXCHANGE OF IDEAS AND COOPERATION AMONG THE NETWORKING GROUP OF LITERACY PROGRAMS, THE LARIMER
COUNTY ADULT LITERACY NETWORK.

Objective B-IIa: Network participation.

The Literacy Services staff arranged for monthly Network meetings, provided agendas, took minutes and other materials for the meetings and continues to act as the facilitator of the Network activities.

Objective B-IIb: Network support activities.

Staff members for the Literacy Services, with input from the Network members, wrote two grants for the Network (Mountain Plains Booksellers and Rotary of Fort Collins). Represented the Network at Rotary award banquet, received one grant for the Network, represented Network at state conventions, and give community-wide presentations for the Network. Arranged Network workshops for adult learners on such topics as tax preparation. Provided other support as requested and deemed appropriate.

GOAL B-III:
EXPAND AWARENESS SERVICES TO AGENCIES WHO SERVE
DISADVANTAGED ADULTS NEEDING AVENUES TO SELF-
SUFFICIENCY, TO PROVIDE SECONDARY SCHOOL STAFF,
TEACHER AND STUDENTS WITH CURRENT INFORMATION
REGARDING BASIC SKILLS NEEDED FOR THE WORKPLACE,
AND TO INCREASE THE LEARNING POTENTIAL OF MINORITY
ADULT LEARNERS BY RAISING THE NUMBER OF MINORITY
TUTORS WORKING IN DIRECT SERVICE PROGRAMS.

Objective B-IIIa Agency Information Network:

Presented programs to Zonta International, Interfaith Council,
Lutheran Family Services, United Way, Women's Center, Front Range
Community College, National Library Week activities, and Colorado
Objective B-IIIb Workplace basic skills awareness in schools

The former director of Literacy Services was highly involved in workplace literacy. With the hiring of a replacement director, the program's emphasis was focused English for Speakers of Other Languages, the new director's expertise. Literacy Services worked closely with Victor Lemos, who heads up the Home School project with the local school district, and Evenstart Learning Center. The focus was to involve parents in adult literacy classes or tutoring for their language skills.

The Literacy Services did provide referrals for Teledyne, Hewlett Packard, and other local business owners for adult literacy training for their employees.

Objective B-IIIc Minority tutor recruitment

Continued efforts were made to recruit volunteers from the minority population of the community. The general minority population is less than 10%. At the present, there is approximately 12 to 17% minority tutors working in the community direct service providers for adult learners. These percentiles reflect the success of the Literacy Services recruitment activities.
ACTIVITIES UNDERTAKEN

1. Provided basic tutor training sessions for all Larimer County adult literacy service projects. Between October 1, 1992 and September 30, 1993, 12 separate opportunities were provided for volunteer tutors to receive an Orientation to the program and training in Core Skills.

2. Provided specific tutor training sessions for all Larimer County adult literacy service projects. In all, 22 sessions other than "Orientation" and "Core Skills" were offered throughout the project year.

4. Provided media events: community television program on Channel 14 and community radio program on KUNC public radio. Take One focused on Adult Literacy and Library Services in its "Community Spotlight Show" in September of 1993, and featured READ-UP series reception on its nightly news.

5. Facilitated network meetings monthly. Eleven meetings were held between October 1, 1992 and September 30, 1993. The meetings resumed in September, 1992.

6. Organized, sponsored, and implemented a reception in September 1993, for community-wide authors and illustrators of READ-UP series, a short anthology of stories for the new adult reader.

7. Published newsletters which were sent to tutors, service providers, and interested community members. Additional copies were made available at the library, through the service providers, at local/state-wide conferences and community services presentations.

8. Ordered and maintained appropriate reading and tutorial materials for the Library's READ-UP collection devoted to marginally literate adult learners and new readers.

9. Maintained the 484-READ line on which 1347 calls were taken.
LIBRARY'S ROLE

The library provided the following services:

1. Space for staff, training and tutoring.

2. Accounting services necessary to maintain the budget.

3. Legal counsel.

4. Phone and fax service.

5. Office and copier supplies.

6. Technical support.

7. Processing of all materials purchased.

IMPACT OF PROGRAM ON THE GRANTEE

Fort Collins Public Library is the hub of all Larimer County adult literacy services. Library Literacy Services acted as the center for volunteer tutor training; provided coordination of services offered by members of the Larimer County Adult Literacy Network; was directly responsibility for the making the public aware of the activities provided by the Network members; and most importantly, served indirectly, the functionally illiterate adults as a result of providing the above services. Without the funds provided by the grant, all adult literacy programs in Larimer County would be unable to serve the current demand for programs. Programs would have to be scaled down to reproduce the work and services that the Literacy Services provided with the funds from this grant. Valuable program dollars would be wasted by duplicating services in each of the Network programs. The Literacy Services is indeed the hub for a coalition of dedicated providers and without this grant all services, currently offered in the county, would be cut, less efficient and serve fewer adults learners.

Dear Interested Tutor:

This packet includes specific program information from each of the five adult literacy direct service programs that we at Library's Adult Literacy Services provide support services for. Each of these programs make requests to us, telling us the number of tutors that are needed prior to our training. Please read about each of these programs. You will have the opportunity to choose the program that you would like to tutor for, preferably before you go through the initial training. If you have additional questions, please contact Library's Adult Literacy Services at 484-READ. If we are unable to answer your questions we will refer you to the contact person listed for each of the programs.

Each of the programs strongly suggest you observe so that you will get a good idea of what tutoring may be like. Larimer County Detention Center's WIN program would gladly arrange a tour of the facility and brief you on the program. Each of the programs are different, so you may want to observe more than one tutoring session or programs.

To sign up for training; to find out additional workshop possibilities; or to ask any further questions, please contact 484-READ.

Sincerely,

Connie Rockwell

* ABE figures reflect federal reimbursement to local programs. Actual cost to deliver the service is higher, forcing programs to spend an inordinate amount of time fund-raising, rather than on student and volunteer recruitment, training staff and assessing student progress.
WHAT IS LITERACY?

* Prior to the 1920's, literacy was defined as being able to sign one's name.

* Since World War I, the U.S. Military has defined literacy as completion of the 8th grade.

* In 1951, UNESCO defined a literate person as one who can, with understanding, both read and write a short, simple statement on his/her everyday life.

* In 1979, the Census Bureau defined a literate person as one who has completed six or more years of schooling.

* In 1986, literacy means using printed and written information to function in society to achieve one's goals and to develop one's knowledge and potential.

The Colorado Adult Literacy Commission offers this definition of literacy in "Silent Crisis" (1990):

"Literacy" is the possession of basic communication and computational skills that enable individuals to solve problems, to meet their own objectives and to function effectively in our rapidly changing society. Communications skills include reading, writing, speaking and listening. Computational skills include using arithmetic to solve problems.

Since the late 1980's, the new '3R's' for the workplace as defined by "Workplace Basics: The Skills Employers Want" are:

1. The basic Three R's
2. Listening and Oral Communications:
   - 8.4% in writing
   - 13% in reading
   - 23% in speaking
   - 55% in listening
3. Learning to Learn
4. Creative Thinking/Problem Solving
5. Goal-Setting-Motivation/Self-esteem/
6. Interpersonal/Negotiation/Teamwork
7. Organizational Effectiveness/Leadership

Major differences between how children and adults learn lead to some basic principles essential to effective learning by adults. A partial listing of adult characteristics might include the following:

1. The adult should be able to see immediate benefits from the learning experience.
2. The adult must want the instruction; he must be self-motivated.
3. The adult needs specific, concrete, practical, life-like learning situations.
4. The adult learns best through active participation in classroom activities.
5. The adult has experiences and interests to which new material should be related.
6. The adult requires subject matter adapted to his individual needs and capabilities.
7. As a voluntary, part-time student, the adult learns best in a supportive environment. Learning is more meaningful when adult interests are met by teachers who show personal interest in the learner. Rely on techniques involving the previous experiences of the learner.
8. A teacher should choose teaching methods that accommodate special adult interests.
9. Adults in their 40s and 50s have about the same ability to learn as they had in their 20s and 30s.
10. Intelligence may actually increase in the mid-40s to 50s.
11. Age usually begins to limit learning performance around 75 years.
12. A good memory doesn't necessarily depend on age.
13. Emphasize active (vs. passive) learning activities.

In order to effectively work with adult learners, it is important to realize and understand that adult learners learn differently than children. Each of us is a unique human being. It is only through direct experiences that we become aware of how we as individuals can be taught.
ADULT LEARNERS

ADULTS RESPOND POSITIVELY TO LEARNING WHEN:

THE INFORMATION HAS SOME PERSONAL MEANING FOR THEM.

THEY CAN RELATE WHAT THEY ARE STUDYING TO THEIR LEARNING GOALS.

THEY ARE ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS IN THE LEARNING PROCESS.

THEY ARE EXPLORING NEW INFORMATION AND EXPERIENCES.

THE LEARNING SESSIONS ARE UNINTERRUPTED AND EXTENDED OVER A SUBSTANTIAL PERIOD OF TIME. A TWO HOUR LESSON ONCE A WEEK IS MORE BENEFICIAL THAN THREE FIFTY MINUTE SESSIONS.

THEY CAN CONSOLIDATE WHAT THEY HAVE LEARNED BEFORE THEY GO ON TO NEW INFORMATION AND SKILLS.

THEY RECEIVE FEEDBACK DURING LEARNING, thus AVOIDING THE PROBLEM OF UNLEARNING.

THEY CAN LEARN IN AN UNPRESSURED, NON-COMPETITIVE ENVIRONMENT.

TRADITIONAL EDUCATION

LEARNER = RESPONDER

TEACHER = INITIATOR

TEACHER CARRIES THE MAJOR RESPONSIBILITY FOR LEARNING

TEACHER IS PLANNER, DECISION MAKER AND FINAL COURT OF APPEAL

LEARNER RELIES ON TEACHER'S ASSESSMENT OF HIS/HER PROGRESS RATHER THAN ON SELF ASSESSMENT

ADULT EDUCATION

LEARNER CENTERED

LEARNING IS AN INDIVIDUALIZED PROCESS OF DISCOVERY AND GROWTH

LEARNER TAKES THE INITIATIVE AND ASSUMES THE PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITY FOR EDUCATION

TUTOR (TEACHER) = FACILITATOR... TAKES CUES FROM LEARNERS' INTERESTS AND OBJECTIVES. PLANNING IS FLUID AND OPEN ENDED

CHALLENGES FOR THE ADULT LEARNER:

1) TO ADMIT THE PROBLEM AND SEEK HELP.

2) TO FOLLOW THROUGH WITH THE LITERACY LESSONS LONG ENOUGH TO ACHIEVE THEIR GOAL.

Definitions of Culture

"Culture is the learned behavior of people. It permits them to cope with the environment, to live in productive association with others, and to hand down achievements to generations that follow."

-- A.L. Davis

"The learned, shared and symbolic patterns of thinking, feeling, believing, and behaving (doing) upon which we rely for security and survival."

-- Noris Brock Johnson

"The concepts, habits, skills, arts, instruments, institutions, etc. of a given people in a given period; civilization."

-- Webster
3 Levels of Culture

The Iceberg

Level 1: Surface of Culture (above sea level) architecture, food, language, music (learned cognitively)
emotional load: relatively low, produces few misunderstandings

Level 2: Unspoken Rules (partially below sea level) courtesy, use of time, rules of conduct, social occasions, shopping, customs etc. (learned by trial and error) emotional load: very high, violations result in negative feelings about violator

Level 3: Unconscious Rules (completely below sea level) nonverbal communication, touching, space, eye contact, body language, tone, look etc. (learned through modeling usually in early childhood) emotional load: intense, when rules are broken, relationship between persons is affected, violations are taken personally

Dimensions of Intercultural Communication and Culture Learning

Cultural Awareness

Be able to look beyond an individual's behavior, to the knowledge which that person uses to interpret experience and generate social behavior. (Spradley, 1979)

Culture Learning

If there were no differences, the concept "culture" would never have been conceived. (Goodenough, 1981) As you learn about others' cultures, you will be learning about your own.

Learning From Miscommunication

Treat each instance of intercultural miscommunication as a unique opportunity for culture learning. (Goodenough, 1981)

Interaction Posture

Be able to observe and describe others' actual behavior before interpreting that behavior from your own cultural frame of reference. Avoid responding to others' verbal and nonverbal contributions in a highly judgmental and evaluative manner. (Ruben, 1976)

Taking Time

Be patient. Remember that effective intercultural encounters may take more or less time than anticipated and should proceed at a relaxed pace. (Samovar, 1981)

English Language Fluency Does Not Equal Culture Fluency

From: California Cross-Cultural Awareness Resource Guide
TIPS FOR TUTORING ADULTS FROM DIFFERENT CULTURES

1. Be careful not to stereotype the person. Use language that is free of racist and sexist terms or labels. Recognize this careless use of language and stereotyped perceptions.

2. Be aware of the cultures of those you may be teaching. Read about different cultures to learn more about them. Knowing about another's culture enriches your own perspective. Use this culture as a basis of learning. Be open, flexible, and receptive to cultural diversity and alternative life styles. Respect the person's cultural background.

3. Try to use approaches and materials that are sensitive and relevant to the person's sociocultural background and experiences. Use materials that are relevant to them. Ask what they want to learn about and what materials they want to use.

4. Be warm and enthusiastic. Be positive. Accept the person and his/her language, believe in the person and expect that person to succeed. Use sincere praise and encouragement. Remember that positive reinforcement is more effective than negative reinforcement.

5. Have a positive view of yourself and your own ethnic background.

6. Show that you care. Ask students about themselves, their families, their likes and dislikes. Provide an atmosphere which encourages the person to share his home and daily experiences and to talk about himself, his interests, and aspirations. Use this information to find material which might interest the person. Ask questions if you don't know what they want.

7. Help the person identify a goal that is attainable. Start small and build on successes.

8. Be aware of your nonverbal behavior. Sometimes a nonverbal cue is more destructive than a verbal cue.

9. Model appropriate behavior and usage of language. People learn by observing and it is important that they see you use proper grammar, etc.

10. If the person in LEP (Limited English Proficient):
   a. Monitor your language.
      1. Rely on simple verb tense.
      2. Speak more slowly.
      3. Avoid figures of speech, abstract language, and slang.
   b. Use logical steps or lists.
   c. Isolate key words and explain their meanings.
   d. Watch expressions for signs of incomprehension.
   e. Ask pertinent questions about the reading. Ask questions which check understanding and comprehension.
   f. Make notes on each student to maintain consistency. Make notes on questions you have about teaching the person and get answers.
CULTURE/TRANSITIONAL SHOCK

Implications for Tutors

*Reflect on personal periods of transition
*Remember your reactions
*Recall what helped you through the difficult stages of your own transition.

*When planning sessions remember that the literate world is a cultural experience and your adult learner may be experiencing difficulty in making this transition.

*Be sensitive to what support your learner may need during this transition.

  *Support is important, especially at the beginning

  *Help to develop the learner's support system

  *Meet family members and invite them to be part of the learning process.

  *Provide opportunities for the adult learner you are working with to meet other learners.

  *Important that learner feels comfortable, especially at the beginning

  *Relate your lesson to what is already known and comfortable

  *Make learning fun

COLORADO DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION: Summary of the Form of Bias in Instructional Materials

I. Exclusion/Invisibility:
Perhaps the most fundamental form of bias in instructional materials is the complete or relative exclusion of a particular group or groups from representation or consideration in text and/or illustrations.

II. Stereotyping:
From McGraw-Hill Book Company's Guidelines for Bias-Free Publishing-
A stereotype is an image formed by ascribing certain characteristics—physical, cultural, personal, occupational, historical—to all members of a group.... It reinforces preconceived estimations of people, whether positive or negative, and insulates the reader or viewer from the real person or group.
Examples of stereotypes...to be avoided:
APPEARANCE—Native American depicted wearing the same kind of feathers, braids, beads, with no attention to individual variation in dress among different nations and peoples. Mexican American with serape and sombrero.
PERSONALITY—Hispanic male who is flamboyant, macho, lazy; who lives for the present without much thought for the future. Japanese American woman who is submissive and male-dominated.
OCCUPATION—Mexican Americans as migrant farm workers. Asian Americans as workers in or owners of laundries or restaurants.
HISTORY, CULTURE—Simple, primitive, warlike American Indians. Slaves in America as better off than some poor white workers; failure of Reconstruction because of ineptitude of new black voters and legislators.

III. Imbalance/Selectivity:
Textbooks perpetuate bias by presenting only one interpretation of an issue, situation or group of people. Through selective presentation of materials, instructional materials may distort reality and ignore complex and differing viewpoints. As a result, millions of students have been taught little or nothing about the contributions, struggles, and participation of women and minorities in our society.
Minorities, women, and the handicapped should be comprehensively represented in totally integrated, everyday situations, in all occupations, in positions of authority, participating in all activities of life.

IV. Unreality:
Instructional materials often ignore the existence of prejudice, racism, discrimination, exploitation, oppression, sexism and intergroup conflict. Controversial topics are glossed over. This unrealistic coverage denies children the information they need to recognize, understand and perhaps some day conquer the problems that plague society.
IV. Unreality (cont.):

It is a misleading notion that hardwork, education (speaking English), and a low profile will overcome adversity and lead to success - success being defined as how well a minority person has assimilated to white, middle class values. It is a misleading suggestion that American ideals of "decency and fair play" will overcome racism and sexist struggles without active opposition from groups historically victimized.

V. Fragmentation/Isolation:

Textbook content regarding minority groups and women may be physically or visually fragmented and isolated and delivered only in separate chapters or even in boxes to the side of the page.

Minorities and women may be depicted as interacting only with persons like themselves, never contacting or impacting the dominant culture.

VI. Linguistic Bias:

Language is a powerful conveyer of bias in instructional materials. Certain terms such as 'primitive' and 'savage' infers that a group is inferior to the 'civilized' dominant culture.

Words such as 'squaw', 'brave', and 'papoose' should be avoided; woman, man, and baby should be used.

Be as specific and accurate as possible when referring to a group or person; i.e. use the specific name such as Iroquois rather than American Indian.

Never refer to a disabled person as an 'imbecile' or 'moron'; instead of 'the blind', refer to visually handicapped persons as 'blind people'.

Use parallel language when writing about men and women. i.e. instead of 'men and girls', use 'men and women'.

Language which assumes that the subject being written about is either male or female should be avoided. i.e. 'Doctors often neglect their wives and children.' should read 'Doctors often neglect their families.'

Gender-specific terms should be replaced whenever possible by terms that can include members of either sex. i.e. replace 'salesman' with 'sales agent', 'mankind' with 'humanity', 'people', or 'men and women'

VII. Illustrations/Photographs:

Illustrations should contribute to the positive portrayal of an integrated society. Minorities, women, and the disabled should be shown in a wide variety of activities and roles.

The size of people in photographs and the coloring should be done so that white males do not appear larger and in more control than women and minorities.

All members of a minority groups should not be portrayed as having the same physical traits. Avoid the "they all look alike" myth.

Illustrations and photographs should be accurate and authentic.

Dear Prospective Tutors,

I am inviting you to attend tutor training that is being offered by the Fort Collins Public Library's Adult Literacy Services this month.

The adult literacy providers prefer that you attend both sessions, as the combinations will greatly help you in your initial contact with an adult learner. If you cannot make both sessions, please contact me and I'll make other arrangements.

In the educational cycle (fall to spring), this time of the year programs have traditionally a lower demand for tutors. However, this year, I have requests for trained volunteer tutors. I cannot guarantee that everyone who goes through this training in March will be placed in April in the program that they choose.

The Library Literacy Services will most likely offer tutor training in June and then definitely in August for the opening of fall instruction. If you wish to wait until then, due to your scheduling needs or preference, just notify me of your intention and I will alert you to future training.

The adult literacy providers do not want to lose you as potential volunteers but I need to be realistic how the lack of funding does hamper the local programs ability to serve adult learners and in turn make use of your valuable time and commitment.

Please call me to reserve a space in the March 30 & 31st training. I will be out of town, March 8-10th and March 17-22th but leave a message, my co-worker, Joan Ladd, will be checking the messages and responding to inquiries.

Please call to reserve a space on the March 30th & 31st tutor training.

Sincerely,

Connie Rockwell

Dear LIFE Tutor:
Connie and I want you to know that we are still alive and well, and missing our more frequent contacts with the LIFE tutors. As you know, we are working for the Library Literacy Services Program which provides workshops for all literacy tutors in Fort Collins. We have two workshops coming up in March which we'd like to invite you to attend if the topics interest you. In the meantime, we have not forgotten the LIFE program. We've written a grant and are about to write another, hoping to get refunded. To that end, we like to keep as much of the program alive as possible. You could help us out by filling out the following questionnaire and returning it to Connie Rockwell

Dear Prospective Tutors,

I am inviting you to attend tutor training that is being offered by the Fort Collins Public Library's Adult Literacy Services.

The adult literacy service providers prefer that you attend both sessions of the Basic Tutor Training (Orientation and Core Skills). This combination will greatly help you in your initial contact with an adult learner. If you can not make both sessions, please contact me and we'll make other arrangements.

The Adult Literacy Services will again be offering basic tutor training in October. If you wish to wait until then, due to your scheduling needs or preference, just notify me of your intention and I will alert you to future training.

An additional tutor training flyer will be scheduled for October and you will be notified of the dates and times. If you are considering working with adult whose primary language is other than English, please let me know when you sign up for Orientation.

Please call me to reserve a space in the September training. If you have further questions, feel free to call me at 484-READ.

Sincerely,

Connie Rockwell

FORT COLLINS PUBLIC LIBRARY
ADULT LITERACY SERVICES
484-READ

Adult Literacy Services coordinates training for tutors and puts tutors in contact with agencies which provide adult literacy in Larimer County. The Adult Literacy Services office also maintains the READ UP section of the Fort Collins Public Library which provides learning materials for both tutors and adult learners.

COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY
LITERACY CORPS
491-5526

The Literacy Corps is organized through a 400 level course offered at CSU to undergraduate students. The purpose of the course is two-fold: to teach students about literacy and to develop their tutoring skills. Students enrolled in the course then serve as tutors to CSU employees and their family members or tutor students in one of the literacy programs in Larimer County.

CSU also sponsors the Student Athletes for Literacy ("Reading with the Rams"). Student athletes take a course which is an introduction to literacy. In the course, they learn how to read to children, how to select literature for children and a variety of other skills vital for developing literacy in children. All this is done in a hands on manner, as the athletes work with youngsters in the Poudre R1 Schools Collins.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL

Agency Name: Larimer County Adult Literacy Network via The Fort Collins Community Foundation

Address: Fort Collins Public Library, Adult Literacy Services
201 Peterson, Fort Collins, CO 80524

Phone: 303-221-6748

Contact Persons and Titles: Joan Ladd, Program Director
Connie Rockwell, Program Coordinator

Has your agency previously received support from the Rotary Club of Fort Collins? No

Project Name: Literacy Volunteer Tutor Support Project

Please Describe: This is a one time project to purchase teaching materials and to provide more in-depth training and support for volunteer tutors who work with adult learners in all adult literacy programs of Fort Collins (Network Members): Volunteer Clearing House Opportunity Center, Even Start Learning Center, Front Range Community College Adult Literacy Program, and the Fort Collins Library Adult Literacy Services (Network facilitator).

Goals and Objectives of the Project:
Goal: To establish a resource base which will provide training and teaching materials for literacy volunteers in Fort Collins.
Objective 1: The Network will survey, select, purchase and disseminate materials to assist volunteer tutors in their teaching.
Objective 2: The Network will purchase, produce and disseminate volunteer tutor training video programs.
Objective 3: The Network will train volunteers and teachers from each literacy program to use the teaching/training materials and provide support for the tutors as they work with adult learners.

Outline the proposed time line for the project: (Sept/93 through July/94)
9/93: Survey Network teachers and experienced volunteers for best suited materials at a meeting in which child care is provided.
10/93: Select and purchase materials, using survey and inventory of current READ UP materials; plan and provide training for volunteer tutors.
11/93: Provide scholarships and stipends for volunteer tutors to receive training at the regional Colorado Department of Education literacy conference/Longmont, plan and provide training for volunteer tutors.
12/93-1/94: Catalog and disseminate purchases, review materials, complete quarterly report & plan training.
2/94-3/94: Disseminate materials, provide training, hold general meeting, complete quarterly report, and provide scholarships and stipends for volunteers to receive training at a regional Colorado Department of Education conference/Denver.
4/94-7/94: Evaluate project. Include input from volunteer tutors, adult learners, teachers and program directors. Complete final report.

Who is the target population to be served?
This project will serve approximately 600 adult learners in Fort Collins who seek to improve themselves by acquiring basic literacy skills, English as a Second Language or a GED (high school equivalency diploma) through tutoring offered in Adult Basic Education programs.

Number to be served? 120 volunteers tutors will be trained to serve 600 adult learners during the project year.

Describe the plans for in-house evaluation of the project. Evaluation forms will be completed by teachers and volunteers at each training. Volunteers will complete an evaluation of each regional conference they attend. The program teachers will conduct on-site tutor observations to assess how effectively the tutors are using the materials and to assess the value of the materials for adult learners. The directors of each program will submit an overall evaluation of the project's effectiveness for the final report to the grantor.

How will the requested funds be used? The funds will be used to: Pay personnel to do needs assessment, select, order and purchase tutorial and training materials; provide child care; plan and provide training of volunteers; organize the attendance of volunteers at conferences; and coordinate the evaluation, volunteer observations, quarterly and final reports to the grantor. Also, to pay for scholarships and stipends for volunteers to attend literacy conference, and to pay for teaching and training materials outlined in the project.

Please answer the following questions:

What services will be delivered? Volunteer tutors will have access to a collection of tutorial and training materials and will be provided an opportunity to acquire tutorial skills in adult basic education at local, regional and state level training workshops.

Is the proposed project a new or existing service? If the project is existing, how is it currently meeting community needs? Presently, a small collection of tutorial materials is housed in the READ-UP section of the Fort Collins Library. However, this does not adequately serve the increasing number of volunteers needed to work in the literacy programs in Fort Collins. The collection of materials is outdated and in poor condition from constant use. The dwindling resources available to all literacy providers in Fort Collins do not allow individual programs access to sufficient tutorial and training materials. Materials purchased by this program will be housed at each literacy center, as well as at the Fort Collins Library, making them more accessible to the tutors. A minimum of training of volunteers is now provided by Library Literacy Services. Support and follow-up of tutors once they have completed basic training is needed, as is more in-depth training. This project will make available the additional training and support for the volunteer tutors and consequently a better program for the adult learners.

What other Fort Collins agencies or organizations are providing similar services? None.

Will community volunteers be required for the success of this project? Volunteers are already an integral part of the success of all the adult literacy programs which will benefit from this project. This project will enable the volunteer tutors to better serve the adult learners of Fort Collins.

How do you anticipate meeting volunteer requirements? Library Adult Literacy Services will continue to recruit and train volunteer tutors to serve Network members. This project will enhance that effort.

What is the projected duration of this project? 71
The project will begin in September and terminate in July of 1994; however, the on-going benefits of the project will continue for many years.

Describe how the project would be continued after Rotary support is retired? The materials purchased and produced will continue to serve each of the adult literacy programs. Library Adult Literacy Services, the current provider of training for literacy volunteers, and each of the adult literacy agencies will seek funds to continue to train new volunteers in the use of the teaching materials and to provide on-going support for volunteers.

What is the amount of financial support you are requesting from the Rotary Club of Fort Collins? $13,000

What percentage of the requested funds will be used for the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Administration</td>
<td>4%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Equipment</td>
<td>2%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction</td>
<td>0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Program Services</td>
<td>94%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

What specific percentage of the project budget does this requested amount represent? This new project is a collaboration by all Network members, which will provide in-kind support if the project is funded. Neither existing nor future funds cover the activities described here; therefore the request represents 100% of the project budget.

Will other community groups provide financial support? If so, provide details. Currently, donations are received on a small scale from local groups such as University Women, Zonta, Lutheran Brotherhood, Kappa Alpha and others. These one-time-only donations are usually designated for a specific purchase and are generally inadequate to cover the cost of training and disseminating information to volunteer tutors. In-kind donations, such as the training room, READ-UP sections, and office space are donated by the Fort Collins Public Library. The Library Adult Literacy Services uses all available funds to recruit tutors, train tutors and provide some new additions to the READ UP collection each year.

What additional funds could be raised or have been raised for this project? This is the first collaborative effort to seek funding by the adult literacy providers (Network members). The Network is currently researching foundations, government grant, and service clubs for future funding sources.

State why the project cannot be accomplished within your existing resources. While the needs of the adult learners continue to grow, the funding opportunities become scarcer, requiring programs to dedicate more and more of the available funds to basic program operations. Each year fewer dollars are available for the purchase of needed materials.

September 18, 1993

Dear Network,

September.... has been declared Adult Literacy Month both by the City and the County this week... and programs are wanting volunteer tutors for the start of the fall sessions.... and grant notifications have come in from the U.S. Department of Education.

.... and it's time to gather and assess the immediate needs for the next six weeks. Additionally we need to set up a meeting time to calendar our collective aspirations for the year in regards to tutor training, the Rotary grant, etc.

So..... there's a Network meeting, Tuesday, September 14th at Front Range Community College in the cafeteria.

The unofficial agenda will include: the Rotary Grant, the Network book bags, Environment Fair and Friends of the Library Book Sale, and tutor training.

It's very important that a representative be there from each of the programs.

See you on Tuesday.
The Student Literacy Corps at Colorado State University: An Overview

The Student Literacy Corps (SLC) at Colorado State University is funded by a two year grant from the United States Department of Education to provide education and training for university undergraduates to be tutors of individuals lacking literacy skills.

The Larimer County Adult Literacy Network (LCALN) is an association of agencies serving adult literacy needs in Larimer County. The agencies of LCALN include Volunteers Clearinghouse/Opportunity Center, Even Start and Front Range Community College programs on the Fort Collins campus, Centennial Adult High School, the Larimer County Detention Center, and at the Center for Adult Learning in Loveland. Students in the SLC are placed in a LCALN agency to tutor 1 to 1, in small groups, as support for a class, and/or to teach a class.

As part of the recognition of Colorado State University as a community involved with and concerned about the welfare of all of its members, the Student Literacy Corps created literacy development opportunities for CSU employees. Some CSU employees wanted writing assistance, others needed help in math; some wanted to work towards their GED (General Education Development) high school equivalency; others wanted to increase job skill performance. By the end of Spring semester 1993 over 40 CSU undergraduate students will have tutored over 40 adult learners in one or more of the LCALN agencies or employees at CSU.

The Department of Athletics at CSU and the Chapter I Reading in Poudre R-1 have become involved with the SLC beginning Spring 1992. This program is called Student Athletes for Literacy or "READING WITH THE RAMS". By the end of Spring 1993, 40 student athletes representing both men's and women's sports at Colorado State will have worked with 200 students in the Chapter I program of the Poudre R-1 schools.

SLC is a part of University Strategic Plan. Aim 5 states "Assure the growth and development of university students, staff and faculty" Goal 5.2 states "Promote excellence by providing all individuals associated with the university the opportunities for professional, technical and personal development." 5.2.1 states "Provide opportunities for professional development and growth for faculty (full- and part-time), staff, and students." 5.2.1.b states "FYS 93-96. Plan and introduce a literacy training program for employees using the Student Literacy Corps."

Things are happening. Some of them were planned; some happen because people of good will find themselves faced with opportunities to help create new and different experiences for themselves and the students and colleagues and community with whom they associate. We are excited and renewed by these opportunities. We welcome your visitation, further inquiry, and involvement.

Please contact Robert Williams or Inara Rudmanis, SOES (491-5526) or Kristen McPherson, Office of Community Services (491-1832) to explore how you might visit or become involved. Contact Paul Loopo (491-0117), Bruce Stark (491-0019) or Mic Hardin (401-0015) at CSU Facilities Services or Rich Wagner (491-0826) at CSU Office of Housing and Food Services for information about adult learner reactions and benefits. Thank you.
MISSION STATEMENT

The Mission of the Student Literacy Corps at Colorado State is to use the cooperative resources of Colorado State, including the School of Occupational and Educational Studies, the Office of Community Services, the Office of Housing and Food Services, and the Facilities Services Department, and the resources of the community, including the Agencies of the Larimer County Adult Literacy Network and Poudre R-1 schools, to provide high quality experiences which enable Colorado State students and literacy learners to learn from each other so that each and all may become effective, contributing members of society.

AN ADULT LITERACY NEWS LETTER
The Rotary Club of Fort Collins Awards Larimer County Adult Literacy Network $10,000

Larimer County Adult Literacy Network will receive a cash gift from the Rotary Club of Fort Collins for their 75th Anniversary celebration.

The amount of $10,000 will be awarded to the Adult Literacy Services to establish a resource base which will provide training and teaching materials for literacy volunteers. This has been the first collaborative grant writing project by the Network. The grant period will be from September 1, 1993 till August 31, 1994.

The Family Learning Place Begins Its Second Year

The Family Learning Place, located at 2500 Hampshire in Fort Collins is beginning its second year of service to the community. A joint venture of five agencies, (Front Range Community College, Children’s World, Larimer County Social Services, Head Start and Employment Training Services), the Family Learning Place offers a unique and innovative approach to adult literacy needs in Larimer County.

The basic tenet of the Family Learning Place is that the child’s foundation of learning is the family. The lack of development of literacy skills is a cyclical problem in society, and the best means of stopping this is by offering family-focused programs. Perhaps the most important component provided by the Family Learning Place for the adult learner is daycare for their children. From infant care to Head Start, parents know that their children are well cared for by the staff of Children’s World. This frees the parent to dedicate a few hours each day to academic development.

There are a number of educational alternatives for parents while their children are in daycare. The majority of parents do not have a high school diploma and are working toward their GED (General Educational Development) with instructors from Front Range Community College. This year, fourteen parents studied and passed the GED. Parents who have a high school diploma may attend classes at Front Range and use the adult education classroom as a tutorial.

The Read to Me, Too Program
Breaking the Cycle of Low Literacy in Families

There have been numerous studies on literacy which indicate that families who learn together tend to provide a better platform for their children to become better readers. Furthermore, it has been shown that some families do not spend time learning together, due to low literacy levels in the parents. This in turn, passes limited reading abilities, and consequently, lower economic status, from one generation to the next in an unbroken cycle of poverty.

With this in mind, the Loveland Public Library has developed the Read To Me, Too program to provide families with resources to learn together and improve their reading skills. The Library, in conjunction with the Center for Adult Learning in Loveland, (CALL) has been awarded $33,270 from a Federal Public Library to implement the program at no cost to the families. To qualify for the program, one parent or primary care provider of a child age 3-10 must be enrolled in an adult basic skills course.

The focus of the program is on fun and exciting ways to make the home a more supportive learning environment. Participants can attend workshops demonstrating art projects, story telling, games and library resources as effective tools for learning. One unique resource provided through the Read to Me, Too program is a multimedia computer station.

THE GED

QUIZ QUESTION: What do Bill Cosby, Waylon Jennings, Wendy’s Dave Thomas and Senator Ben Nighthorse Campbell have in common? Each of them is a high school drop out who has taken and passed the GED (General Educational Development) exam.

What is the “GED”? The GED is a series of exams which offer high school dropouts the opportunity to demonstrate that they have achieved mastery of academic skills and concepts equal or superior to that of the top 70% of high school graduates in the core secondary curriculum areas.

What tests are required? The 5 GED exams are in the areas of Writing Skills (including a 45 minute essay), Social Studies, Science, Literature and the Arts and Mathematics. The test questions center on general knowledge and thinking skills rather than facts, details and definitions.

Who can take the GED? If you left high school without graduating and your high school class has graduated, you are probably eligible. Call 221-2160 for specific eligibility in this area.

How does an adult prepare for the GED? In this area, there are several providers of literacy for adults, all of whom specifically prepare adult learners for the GED exams. Most offer a combination of classes and one-on-one tutors to best serve the adult learners.

Call 484-READ for information about the literacy programs in this area. which helps learners practice their reading and writing skills in an interactive, multiple sensory experience.

The program has served nearly a dozen families since its inception this spring, and anticipates full service opportunities for 50 more families this fall. Program services will begin again at the start of the school year, so interested families or literacy service providers should contact John Foster at the Loveland Public Library or Sandra Merk at CALL for more information.

Library Director Retires

Jane Davis, the Fort Collins Public Library’s Director, retired on June 30, 1993. Besides her duties with the library, the city government and the public, Jane was actively supportive of the adult literacy services in the city. She was instrumental in establishing the Library Literacy Services and the former LIFE tutorial program. She served on the Larimer County Adult Literacy Network Board of Directors (formerly the Fort Collins Literacy Coalition). Jane has always been very energetic and encouraging to the community adult literacy providers. She will be sorely missed, as a colleague, friend and enthusiastically supporter of adult literacy services.

Funding and Literacy Programs

It’s never good to begin with a negative comment. Under any circumstances, we should look for something good to say. I’m struggling with finding a positive statement about the state of adult basic education. I guess I’d have to say we are underfunded, in huge demand, to the brink of burnout, and frustrated beyond belief...but we’re still here. Is that positive? I think so.

The advent of Amendment I put State funding for ABE somewhere behind the stove struggling for back burner status.

Recently, President Clinton’s broad spending cuts almost mowed down the LSCA Title VI Library Literacy Programs. We’re still not sure of its status for FY94 or 95.

Many Americans are still undereducated, struggling in and into the workforce, and dropping out of school at alarming rates. This could be seen as positive also - we have no worries about a shortage of students anytime in this decade.

In Larimer County, we are again facing funding cuts, the loss of model programs, and, of course, an increase in demand for services. The Even Start and LIFE programs are scrambling for operating funds. The FRCC program continues to “seek out new worlds where no ABE program has gone before” to establish lucrative partnerships.

On the up side, the development of the Certificate of Accomplishment process and the establishment of minimum; program standard for State’s Adult Education Act (ACE) funded programs, promises to move us strongly forward in accountability and evaluation; of program effectiveness through student progress. Students will benefit most from these changes. We avoid total burnout by remembering that they are why we do what we do and we do make a difference in the lives of real people.

On the national front we need to watch for the effects of President Clinton’s plans to create a “new welfare system.” If they pursue the one stop shopping idea, where will we fit in? The increase in attention to the Head Start Program could positively affect family literacy programs. Head Start has a built in adult education component. Parenting is only part of this, basic skills instruction is also included. Increased funding may affect us positively. Finally, keep an eye on information coming through the Department of Labor, especially JOBS, and JTPA programs. Basic skills are a priority with these programs already. With Clinton’s emphasis on job training to decrease unemployment, our services become even more valuable.

The watchword for FY94 is collaboration. What can you and I do together to use our scarce resources to the client’s best advantage. Be creative in this. You’ll be surprised at which pieces fit and how lucrative they can sometimes be.

TUTOR TRAINING AND TUTOR SUPPORT

FORT COLLINS PUBLIC LIBRARY ADULT LITERACY SERVICES • 484-READ
Adult Literacy Services coordinates training for tutors and puts tutors in contact with agencies that provide adult literacy in Larimer County. The Adult Literacy Services office also maintains the READ UP section of the Fort Collins Public Library which provides learning materials for both tutors and adult learners.

COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY LITERACY CORPS • 491-5526
The Literacy Corps is organized through a 400 level course offered at CSU to undergraduate students. The purpose of the course is to teach students about literacy and to develop their tutoring skills. Students enrolled in the course serve as tutors to CSU employees and their family members or tutor students in one of the literacy programs in Larimer County.
CSU also sponsors the Student Athletes for Literacy (“Reading with the RAMS”). Student athletes take a course which is an introduction to literacy. In the course, they learn how to read to children, how to select literature for children and a variety of other skills vital for developing literacy in children. All this is done in a hands on manner, as the athletes work with youngsters in the Poudre R1 Schools.

Learning Lab Opens

In February 1993, the Program's Unit at the Larimer County Detention Center opened the new "Learning Lab", an eleven station computerized educational system. The interactive software, INVEST by Josten's Learning Corporation is capable of assessing a student's literacy and computational skills and then assigning them level appropriate lessons.

The students work independently on the over 6000 lessons offered by INVEST. Lessons range from simple word recognition to geometry. A student must obtain mastery of 85% on each lesson before advancing. If mastery is not reached, the lesson is repeated or the teacher assigns the student to a different lesson.

The GED (General Educational Development) test is administered at the Detention Center once a month. Since the opening of the Lab, there are more students entering the educational programs, preparing and taking the GED.

Besides the INVEST program, the "Learning Lab" has Compton's Encyclopedia on CD Rom. Some of the features of this software include: hearing the actual voices of famous people such as Franklin D. Roosevelt or John Kennedy; seeing concepts in science animated on the monitor; or searching for geographic information with a telescopic global format. It's a wonderful tool for research and essay writing classes.

The Lab was been paid for with the profits from the Detention Center's commissary. All funds generated through the store must be put back into services or materials for the inmate programs. What better investment than a fully equipped learning lab!

The "Learning Lab" staff, Sharon Menard and Connie Rockwell, are very enthusiastic about the initial benefits "It's now possible for a teacher to have as many as ten students, each working independently on different subjects and at different levels all in the same classroom at the same time." The staff say, "It's really helping". The inmates agree too. "It's challenging", or "I'm learning more", are typical comments.

The Learning Lab will be sponsoring an Open House on Tuesday, September 28, 1993 from 10:00 - 2:00 for educators, workplace and adult literacy providers, and other interested individuals. Contact Connie Rockwell at 484-READ for further information.
Parenting and life skills classes are taught on an on-going basis by Larimer County Social Services. Topics include parenting, relationships, cooking, nutrition, resume preparation and job search skills.

Internships with employers around town are available for people who are ready to put their skills to work. Parents also receive employment support services from Employment Training Services.

The Family Learning Place providers have created a unique partnership that acknowledges that the literacy of the parent is crucial to the development of literacy in the child and there is no better approach than to focus on the needs of the family. By giving children excellent infant and preschool care they remove stress from the lives of these youngest learners. This allows them to concentrate on their most important task at hand - their own development. Next, Head Start provides these young learners with that extra boost and confidence they need as they prepare to enter the public school system. And finally, by providing adult education classes, life skills, and internships to parents, the Family Learning Place addresses the needs of the parent in their role as the primary educators of their children.

Parents who have been involved in this process understand the importance of their interest and support in their children’s education. By furthering their own goals - personal and educational - they are better able, with the support of the Family Learning Place, to help their children attain new heights. Perhaps some of them will even reach the stars.

READ-UP Series Debut

The READ-UP Series' final volume has gone to the press! The four book series represent the work of numerous workshop leaders, community authors and illustrators. They're a delightful anthology of short stories for the beginning adult reader.

To celebrate this occasion the Fort Collins Public Library Adult Literacy Services will host a reception on Tuesday, September 21 at 7:00 - 8:30 p.m. in the Delatour Room. Nancy Kneppal, Director of the High Plains Regional Library System will be the guest speaker at the dedication. Local libraries will receive copies of the READ-UP Series, a welcome addition to their adult literacy resources. Contributors, sponsors and the public are invited to attend.

Care-A-Van, Inc., provides transportation services to disabled and elderly persons, including the operation of the SAINT Program. This service compliments the City Transport system. Recently, Care-A-Van informed the City that in order to provide paratransit services in accordance with projections and in a manner meeting the conditions of the Americans With Disabilities Act for the remainder of 1993, will provide an additional $68,622.

In turn, the City will receive paratransit services for elderly and disabled citizens throughout the urban growth area, Monday through Saturday from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. This service level brings the City into compliance with the ADA. Ordinance No. 99, 1993 was unanimously adopted on First Reading on August 17, 1993.

The Recreation Fee Policy, adopted by City Council in 1990, provides for the establishment of reserves with excess fund balance. A portion of the excess fund balance maintains an operating reserve, and the remainder supports equipment, program and capital needs, and special revenue from fund-raising and donations.

This request is to fund improvements in two areas: 1) equipment, repair, and capital needs at the Edora Pool Ice Center as a result of needed remodeling and renovation; and 2) remodeling at the Park Shop and the Grandview Cemetery Office to accommodate existing recreation sports staff offices at the Park Shop.

City Council approved the sale of .34 acres of land to Diana Short, Alexander McEwan and David Kent on August 3, 1993. This site was sold because the Water Utility Department had abandoned the water transmission line and standpipe in 1990. In order to give clear title, staff is requesting that this Grant of Right of Way be vacated.

After the Water Utility Department abandoned this water line and standpipe, all public and private utilities and other City departments were notified and there was no interest or need expressed in the site.

On August 17, 1993, Council adopted Ordinance 90, 1993, amending Ordinance 108, 1988, (Investment and Deposit of Public Funds for the City of Fort Collins). These ordinances define the kinds of securities in which City funds may be invested. Ordinance No. 104, 1993, will incorporate these additional kinds of securities into the Cash Management and Investment Policy of the City.

The Cash and Investment Management Policy was originally adopted by Council in April 1990. The policies state that they shall be reviewed periodically and may be amended by City Council as conditions warrant. The changes proposed in the Ordinance reflect changes in the investment industry and are intended to improve clarity in some areas. The investment policies of the City are relied upon by several users (auditors, broker-dealers, banks), so addressing technical issues and giving clarity are important.

The property being considered for annexation is approximately 31.12 acres in size and is located one mile south of Harmony Road, approximately one quarter mile west of South Shields Street, and east of Taft Hill Road. The property is under single ownership and is located within the Fort Collins Urban Growth Area. The property is currently vacant and zoned FA-1, Farming, in the County. The proposed zoning for this annexation is R-L-P, Low Density Planned Residential with a Planned Unit Development (PUD) condition.

The applicant, Catherine P. Kirschner, on behalf of the property owners, Kirschner Family Partnership, has submitted a written petition requesting annexation of approximately 72.6 acres located at the southeast corner of East Vine Drive and I-25. The property is undeveloped.
The proposed Resolution makes a finding that the petition substantially complies with the Municipal Annexation Act, determines that a hearing should be established regarding the annexation and directs that notice be given of the hearing. The hearing will be held at the time of first reading of the annexation and zoning ordinances. Not less than thirty (30) days of prior notice is required by Colorado Law.

The Charter requires that the Council set a date for the public hearing on the proposed 1994 City budget. The Resolution sets the hearing date for the Council meeting of September 21, and, in an effort to receive further public input, an additional hearing date for the October 5 Council meeting.

17. Resolution 93-129 Endorsing the Passage of the Fall River Visitor Center Act of 1993 (HR2577).

Rocky Mountain National Park welcomes over 3,000,000 visitors each year. Approximately 1,000,000 of those visitors enter the Park through the Fall River entrance. Currently, there is no visitor center at this location.

The Park Service has estimated that it would cost $1,500,000 to construct this Visitors Center, as well as require ongoing funding of $100,000 for maintenance and operation costs. A private sector corporation has approached the Park Service with an offer to build the Visitors Center, as well as provide $30,000 towards operation and maintenance costs. In summary, this offer would supply a free Visitors Center to the Park Service and provide for one-third of the ongoing costs.

For this public/private partnership to occur, an exemption must be granted by the Congress of the United States, which would allow the National Parks Service to operate a Center outside the Park boundaries. Such a bill has been introduced by Representative Wayne Allard. Adoption of this resolution will show Council support towards such a partnership and will recommend to the Congress that this exemption be granted.

18. Resolution 93-130 Appointing a Representative to the Colorado Municipal League Policy Committee.

The Council Legislative Review Committee recommends that Councilmember Chris Kneeland be appointed to represent the City of Fort Collins on the Colorado Municipal League Policy Committee.

Appointments to the CML Policy Committee are made each fall and members serve for a one-year period. Each member municipality of the League is entitled to a representative, and all cities over 100,000 are entitled to designate two representatives.

Vacancies currently exist on the Storm Drainage Board due to the resignation of Mike Vermeulen and the expiration of Randy Fischer’s term.

Councilmembers Horak and Winokur are recommending John Barnett be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Mike Vermeulen’s resignation, with a term to expire July 1, 1997. In addition, the interview team is recommending Randy Fischer be reappointed for another term to expire July 1, 1997.

Items Needing Individual Consideration

24. First Reading of Ordinance No. 102, 1993 Authorizing the Sale to Colorado Land Source, Ltd. of Real Property Described as Tract A of the Fairbrooke Special Improvement District.

Under Chapter 22 of the Code, the City is authorized to sell property at the annual tax sale conducted by the Larimer County Treasurer if special assessments levied against the property have not been paid. The property was sold at the 1988 tax sale and a tax certificate of purchase was issued to the City as there were no interested private investors. The property was conveyed to the City through a treasurer's deed. Last May, the City Council adopted Resolution 92-91 establishing policies for the sale of such property.

The City offered this property for sale in April and the only bid received was less than appraised value and was rejected. This offer of $300,000 for 18.6 acres (or $16,129/ac) is the appraised value of the land.

Letters soliciting interested CPA firms were sent to all CPA firms in Fort Collins, all "big six" accounting firms in Denver, and various other firms known to perform governmental accounting and auditing work. Nineteen RFPs were sent out; proposals were received from nine firms.
A staff committee ranked the firms according to a standardized point system and developed a "short list" of the top three firms. The Finance Committee had the opportunity to add to the short list. The Finance Committee then conducted interviews with these firms. Based on the interviews, Bondi & Co., was selected by the Finance Committee as the firm best suited to provide the audit services.

The proposed resolution authorizes the Purchasing Agent to enter into an agreement for auditing services with Bondi & Co. for 1993, which will be renewable on an annual basis through 1997. The agreement can be terminated if the auditing services are deemed unsatisfactory.

This action authorizes the City Manager to enter into a contract with Care-A-Van, Inc., for the purpose of providing paratransit services to disabled and elderly citizens of the Fort Collins urban growth area for the period of July 1, 1993 to December 31, 1993. Council is being asked to make this authorization because the City will not be procuring these services through a competitive process and the contract exceeds $50,000. This action is related to Ordinance No. 99, 1993 which was adopted on Second Reading as a part of the Consent Calendar.

27. Resolution 93-134 Stating the City's Commitment to Diversity and Adopting the City of Fort Collins Diversity Plan.

The Diversity Plan is an outline of the goals, strategies and actions the City has identified in order to be responsive to the diversity issues in the community and serve as a leader in helping shape our future. This Diversity Plan will guide us in the achievement of our commitment in three major areas.

This plan has been provided to the Human Relations Commission, the Commission on the Status of Women and the Personnel Board for their review. All comments which have been received have been reviewed and incorporated if appropriate.

Section 2-263 of the City Code describes the functions of the Human Relations Commission (HRC). After reviewing Section 2-263, the HRC decided it would like to make changes to the Code in order to more accurately reflect the work of the HRC and acknowledge some significant changes to the role of the Commission. The HRC met with the City Attorney and together drafted the language presented in this Ordinance.

Computer lab bringing inmates back to books

By The Associated Press

A computerized learning laboratory has Larimer County Detention Center inmates back in the classroom again.

The lab has become increasingly popular since it opened in February, officials said.

Almost every day, orange-clad prisoners sit at computers, sharpening their math and reading skills and preparing for GED high school equivalency exams.

"We usually have a full house every day. I'd say we have at least 120 a week coming in," said Connie Rockwell, a literacy teacher at the center.

The 10-station computer lab, paid for with profits from the detention center's commissary, allows Rockwell and fellow instructor Sharon Menard to more than double the number of inmates they help. "Now, we can have 10 people doing 10 different things on 10 different levels," Rockwell said. "We couldn't have done that before.

Menard says the computers give inmates a sense of confidence they wouldn't have in a classroom.

"It gives them immediate, positive feedback. That's something they really need," she said.

Embert Valdez, 33, is using the lab to study for his GED. "It's helping me get back into where I was in school, and it gets me out of that locked-in atmosphere," he said. Cindy Miller, 32, said she is using the lab to learn about computers and as preparation for entering computer-programming school once she is released.

Menard says the computers give inmates a sense of confidence they wouldn't have in a regular classroom.

"It gives them immediate, positive feedback. That's something they really need," she said.

Dear Ms. Ladd:

Thank you very much for your letter to Dave Thomas. He is traveling and asked that I respond and let you know how much he appreciates your kind words about receiving his GED certificate and high school diploma.

Unfortunately, he’s unable to accept your invitation to participate in your programs in September. He will be filming commercials and participating in a conference on the dates mentioned.

You might be interested to know that Dave will be participating in two projects designed to bring national attention to the GED program. The first project is a television public service announcement to encourage people who never finished school to get their high school diploma through the GED program. And later this fall, he'll appear in a segment for a PBS special on the 50th Anniversary of the GED.

Receiving his GED and a high school diploma was a personal victory for Dave that he's proud to share with others.

Best regards to you and the staff at Fort Collins Library.

Sincerely,

Denny Lynch

Rotary, agencies reap 75 years of benefits

By STEVE PORTER
The Coloradoan

The Rotary Club of Fort Collins marked its 75th birthday Wednesday by giving more than $75,000 to local service agencies, international service projects and college scholarships.

The local club, which has about 200 members and is also known as the Downtown Rotary Club, presented the awards during a special meeting Wednesday night at the University Park Holiday Inn.

Giving away so much money was "a major statement by the club," said secretary Glen DeZeeuw.

"When we started planning for the 75th birthday, we thought wouldn't it be neat to give away $75,000 in our 75th year," said DeZeeuw. "We figured out a way to do it internally without selling anything in the community or asking for any money outside the club."

DeZeeuw said the largest amount previously given at one time by the club was $27,000.

Dean Johnson, club president, said choosing the award recipients wasn't easy.

"The total requests were in excess of $500,000," he said. "We had a selection committee, and they did a tremendous job of sorting out and making the final selections."

"We would have liked to have given money to everyone, but of course that was impossible."

The Larimer County Food Distribution Center, 1301 Blue Spruce Drive, received $15,000 from the club. Sandy Bowden, center director, said the contribution would be put to good use.

"It means a new forklift for us, and we desperately needed that," Bowden said. "We're delighted, because we couldn't function without one."

Hi Connie—

Just a note to thank you for the order of Literacy Network book bags. I also wanted to thank you for going to the lengths you did to get a check from the city so promptly. I know it was a bit of magic, and we appreciated it very much!

I hope the bags do well for you, and that we can work together again sometime. It was a pleasure!

Thanks again, Connie!

Dear Holly

Thank you very much for your kind donation of fifty dollars to the Adult Literacy Program here in the Fort Collins Public Library.

In January, we will be revamping the "Read-Up" section, which contains instructional and leisure reading materials for adults with low literacy skills. We will be ordering more books that will be of special interest to adults. Your donation will be a welcome addition to our budget.

If you're in the Library, stop by the Adult Literacy Office for I would enjoy meeting with you and answering any questions you might have about the program.

Thank you again.

Greetings,

On behalf of the Mountains & Plains Booksellers Association, I want to thank you very much for applying for a literacy grant. As a result of increased media attention to our grants, we had a large number of excellent applicants this year. The review committee had a difficult task in choosing which programs to award grants, as virtually all were deserving of our help.

We regret that your organization was not one of those chosen for a grant but we applaud your energetic efforts to promote literacy in your region.

Once again, we thank you for submitting your application and particularly for the time and dedication which we know that programs such as yours demand.

Sincerely,

Lisa D. Knudsen

Re: Your participation in a survey
Date: May 3, 1993

The Basic Education and Literacy Services Committee (BELS) is a committee in the Adult Lifelong Learning Section (ALLS) of the Public Library Association.

One of the pressing issues that surfaced at the (BELS) program held at the American Library Association Conference in San Francisco was the need to more effectively share what works in library literacy services. To this end, the BELS committee is currently conducting a national survey of selected libraries with literacy collections. Your literacy program has been recommended to us by your State Library.

Please assist us by responding to the enclosed questionnaire and returning it by May 21, 1993. A stamped, addressed envelope is provided for your convenience. The results of the survey will be used to plan an annual conference program in 1995 that will share methods of literacy collection development and merchandising used around the country in various library settings.

You can assist us further by joining the BELS committee or contacting the chair of the committee with suggestions for future programming or activities that my interest you regarding library literacy services. For more information contact Rhea Lawson, Literacy Resources Librarian, Broadway Lifelong Learning Library, 301 North Broadway, Baltimore, Maryland 21231, (410) 396-0970.

If you have questions about the survey, please contact me at 1-800-234-0529.

Thank you for taking the time to complete the questionnaire and for your prompt response.
1. How does your library currently display literacy materials and technological resources for public use?

Print: The FC Adult Library Literacy Services displays print in our READ UP section, which has been set aside specifically to house materials for Adult Basic Education, GED preparation, English as a Second Language and fiction and non-fiction written for readers whose skills fall below ninth grade level.

A section of the READ UP shelves is designed to display in a highlighted manner special items. This display is changed approximately every two weeks. It is used to display new materials, materials which are thematic to the season of the year, materials which are of particular interest or value to classes currently being offered or materials which it is felt would be of special interest to our adult learners.

Also, displayed in the READ UP section are newspapers, which are purchased by our Library Literacy Services project. These newspapers are written at a fifth/sixth grade level and are specially published for adult learners.

Furthermore, the READ UP section contains several books which are also available on cassette or which are supplemented with activities on cassette. The cassettes are housed in a different section of the library; however, a dummy package is attached to the book in order to inform the adult learner of the availability of the cassette and its location in the library.

Video: Videos, specially designed for training literacy tutors for adult learners are housed in the Library Literacy Services office at the Fort Collins Public Library. The availability of these videos is announced at each tutor training session, and the videos are often loaned out to local adult literacy providers to be used to train their volunteer tutors on-site.
2. Why would you recommend your methods of displaying literacy materials and technological resources to other libraries?

We would specifically recommend the separate section of the library to house those materials appropriate for adult learners and English as a Second Language clients. These people are easily intimidated by the library and have a difficult time finding the materials they so desperately need. Here the know that they need only go the READ UP section and they will find all the materials they need. The READ UP section is further delineated by large signs which indicate the different sections: Reading, Social Science, Fiction, Job Related, Family literacy etc.

3. No. We do have the Adult Literacy Services project whose staff has the responsibility to oversee the READ UP collection and to maintain it and update it. The funds for the collection come from donations and grants sought by the Adult Literacy Services project.

4. The adult literacy collection is housed in one place - the READ UP section of the library. (With the exception of the training videos which are housed in the Adult Literacy Services office.)

5. The Adult Literacy Services project is responsible for the development and maintenance of the collection. The staff of the project work a total of 35 hours a week, some of which is devoted to the READ UP section each week.

6. The collection contains approximately 300 volumes, five percent of which are accompanied by cassette tapes.

7. The Adult Literacy Services project provides training for all literacy volunteers in the area. Each volunteer is introduced to the READ UP collection and encouraged to also introduce all new adult learners to the collection. The literacy providers of Fort Collins often bring classes to the library and introduce them to the READ UP section. The Adult Literacy Services project puts out flyers to the literacy providers whenever there are new books or cassettes added to the collection and at each tutor support meeting, the staff of the Adult Literacy Services project tries to feature a particularly useful volume or volumes from the collection.

8. The collection is supported by non-library funds. One hundred percent of the materials budget of the Adult Literacy Services project is devoted to updating the READ UP collection. These funds come almost 100% from a Department of Education, Title
VI grant; however, they are occasionally supplemented by donations or by grants from local foundations or service organizations.

9. The collection is not currently cataloged.

10. No, the policy is the same as regular circulation.

11. The collection is used to supplement the local literacy providers meager collections. The materials are designed to be used as teaching materials by volunteer literacy tutors or to be used by adult learners.

12. Yearly, the Adult Literacy Services project provides training for the library staff in regards to the READ UP collection to keep the staff up dated and informed. This is a simple, informative workshop done at a regular staff meeting.

13. Not available

14. 1988

15. Yes on Steck Vaughn, Contemporary and Alta. No on Longman

17. Not that we know of.

18. No, not now.

19. We've just written a $13,000 grant for more materials for the Larimer County Adult Literacy Network, which would make the Library's collection up-to-date and also with duplications in the adult literacy service providers' libraries. If we receive this grant, our collections will indeed be newsworthy.

COMPLETING THE PUBLICATION OF

THE "READ-UP SERIES"
The Fort Collins Public Library

Cordially invites you

Adult Literacy Office  Connie Rockwell/Joan Ladd
The READ-UP SERIES

Conceived as a community-wide project involving authors, illustrators, workshop leaders, and story tellers, the READ-UP Series is a delightful anthology of short stories and biographies for the beginning adult reader.

Workshops held in Fort Collins, Estes Park and Loveland taught participants cultural awareness, creative writing, oral history and writing at a variety of readability levels. All work was done voluntarily and donated for publication and distribution.

The four volumes produced from this project will be distributed to public libraries and adult literacy programs throughout Larimer County to benefit and inspire emerging adult readers.

This reception is to recognize and show gratitude to all those who worked so hard to bring this project to fruition.

SURVEYING THE NEEDS OF THE
LARIMER COUNTY ADULT LITERACY COMMUNITY
I. ADULT LITERACY SERVICES READ UP SECTION

What materials should be added to the READ UP section of the library which would enhance the activities in your classroom? The READ UP collection includes materials for 1) Adult Learners, 2) Tutors of Adult Learners and 3) Teachers of Adult Learners. The materials may include: books, cassettes, videos, newspapers, workbooks - whatever will enhance the learning experience for the student.

III. TUTOR TRAINING

A. Initial Training: Currently, two three-hour sessions are required for new tutors: ORIENTATION and CORE SKILLS. What suggestions do you have to refine or improve these sessions? In other words, what would you like your tutor to know right out of the shoot?

B. Additional Training: All tutors are required to attend additional training. Which other courses should be emphasized? ESL  GED  Writing  Math  Reading 0-4  Reading 5-8  Disabilities

C. Tutor Tips: Short, one-hour sessions, which are designed to answer specific questions tutors might have on a given topic: motivating adult learners, cultural factors to consider while tutoring, how to design effective reinforcement activities, more essentials to teaching reading 0-4 etc. When and where would Tutor Tip sessions be helpful for your tutors? What specific topics might Tutor Tips emphasize?
D. Action Packs for Tutor Training Tapes: Currently available in the Adult Literacy Office are video tapes of a variety of tutor training sessions which have been presented over the past two years. These are available for check out to tutors. It has been suggested that tutors would get more benefit from the tapes if they were accompanied by an Action Pack (study guide). Also, a completed Action Pack would be evidence that a tutor had seen the video. Do you feel Action Packs would be helpful? Who do you think should create the Action Packs? What guidelines might we use to set the design of the Action Packs?

E. Action Packs for GED on TV: Currently available are video tapes of GED on TV. It has been suggested that these could be very helpful for adult learners; however, without a teacher to direct the students in their use of the tapes, they would appear to be of little assistance. Therefore, it was suggested that Action Packs be developed which the student could complete while watching a particular tape which had been recommended to them by their instructor. Do you feel these Action Packs would be helpful? Who do you think should create them? What guidelines might we use to set the design of the Action Packs?
IV. Tour of the Library for Adult Learners: The library has hundreds of resources which could be used by adult learners, most specifically the READ UP collection; however, many of them have never been in a public library and have no idea what is there nor how to access information they may seek. Adult Literacy Services plans to provide a program to help adult learners learn to better use the library.

1. Do you believe such a program would be feasible?________

2. When would you offer such a program? __________________________

3. What should be included in such a program?____________________

4. What format should be used? Class, regular tour, treasure hunt?____________________

V. Volunteer Appreciation: Any suggestions for a Network-wide volunteer appreciation project?

Dear Connie,

Please accept my gratitude and appreciation for being allowed to speak at your 4th Annual Regional Literacy Conference. I truly enjoyed myself and the group could not have been more hospitable and welcoming. Many people greeted me after the speech asking for parts of the address. I have decided to send the entire speech along with overhead slides to facilitate all requests. The data I used throughout the speech is imbedded in the text.

Again, thank you and if I can be of additional service please call.
