This study examined salary data for 2,356 college faculty in the field of engineering-related technologies for both public and private institutions for the years 1995-1996 and 1998-1999. The study reflects data obtained from the 279 public and 386 private institutions that participated in both study years. The study found that the average faculty salary in engineering-related technologies for public institutions was 3.1 percent lower than the average salary for faculty in all major fields in 1995-1996 and 4.2 percent lower than the average salary for faculty in all major fields in 1998-1999. It also found that the average faculty salary in the field for private institutions was 4.6 percent higher than the average salary for faculty in all major fields in 1995-1996 and 13.3 percent lower than the average salary for faculty in all major fields in 1998-1999. For the study period, faculty in public institutions received average annual salary increases of 0.4 percent above the cost of living, while faculty in private institutions received average annual salary increases 4.0 percent below inflation (as reflected by the Consumer Price Index). Three appendixes provide a list of disciplines and participating institutions. (MDM)
SALARY-TREND STUDY OF FACULTY IN ENGINEERING-RELATED TECHNOLOGIES
FOR THE YEARS

Foreword

Boone, NC 28608

Since 1982-83 the College and University Personnel Association (CUPA) in Washington, DC, in cooperation with Appalachian State University in Boone, NC, have conducted annual national faculty salary surveys by discipline and rank each year through 1998-99. Two separate surveys are conducted each year, one for public senior colleges and universities and the other for private senior colleges and universities.

Salary data from the 1995-96 and 1998-99 surveys were collected and tabulated for full-time teaching faculty in 53 selected academic disciplines/major fields chosen from among those defined by A Classification of Instructional Programs, 1990.

Each of the 53 academic disciplines/major fields presents a summary of the overall average salary increase in that academic discipline/major field from the “baseline year” of 1995-96 to and including the “trend year” of 1998-99 for both public and private participating institutions. Of the 329 public institutions which participated in CUPA’s public survey of 1995-96, 279 also participated in the 1998-99 survey. Data from those same 279 institutions were used in both the baseline year and the trend year studies. Of the 530 institutions which participated in CUPA’s private survey of 1995-96, 386 also participated in the 1998-99 survey. Data from those same 386 institutions were used in both the baseline year and the trend year.

In addition to listing the average salaries in Engineering-Related Technologies for both public and private participating institutions by rank, including “new assistant professor,” and listing the faculty mix percentage (FAC MIX PCT) and the salary factor, comparisons are made between the two public surveys and the two private surveys for each of the two study years (1995-96 and 1998-99) and with the CPI (Consumer Price index) of changes in cost-of-living.

The list of all 53 selected academic disciplines/major fields surveyed, including Engineering-Related Technologies, is found in appendix A, and the lists of all participating senior colleges and universities are found in appendixes B (public) and C (private) of this article.

Since 1982-83 the College and University Personnel Association (CUPA) in Washington, D.C., in cooperation with Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina, has conducted two annual national faculty salary studies by discipline and rank through 1998-99: one for public senior colleges and universities, and the other for private senior colleges and universities.

Salary data for each study were collected and tabulated for full-time teaching faculty in 53 selected academic disciplines/major fields chosen from among those defined by A Classification of Instructional Programs *(CIP), 1990, including Engineering-Related Technology. The CIP defines the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology as,

A summary of groups of instructional programs that prepares individuals to apply basic engineering principles and technical skills in support of engineering and related projects.

This article summarizes the overall average salary increases in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology for both public and private institutions from the “baseline year” of 1995-96 to and including the “trend year” of 1998-99. Of the 329 institutions which participated in CUPA’s PUBLIC study of 1995-96, 279 also participated in 1998-99. Data from those same 279 institutions were used in both the baseline year and the trend year. Of the 530 institutions which participated in CUPA’s PRIVATE study of 1995-96, 386 also participated in 1998-99. Data from those same 386 institutions were used in both the baseline year and the trend year.
This article lists the average salaries for the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technologies for both public and private participating institutions by rank, including NEW ASST PROF (new assistant professor), the FAC MIX PCT (faculty mix percentage), and the SALARY FACTOR. Comparisons are also made using the CPI’s (Consumer Price Index) changes in cost-of-living between the two studies for each of the two study years (1995-96 and 1998-99).

The CPI uses a base period of 1982-84 and measures/tabulates prices of food, clothing, shelter and fuels, transportation, medical care, entertainment and other goods and services people buy for day-to-day living. When examining trends in faculty salary, it is important to consider any changes in the purchasing power of salaries due to inflation. Comparing changes in the faculty salaries with the CPI gives one a more precise view of what “real” salary increases are, that is, buying power.

The salary is based on a nine- or 10-month academic year salary of full-time faculty, and does not include any faculty teaching less than 51 percent. Salary for summer academic work, fringe benefits, and perquisites are also not included in the salary data. The average salary is based on the study information with the assumption that all employees are full-time. The average salary displayed is an average of all faculty salaries reported for a given rank and discipline.

“NUM” refers to the number of faculty members whose salaries were included to compute the average salary.

“N/IN” refers to the number of institutions that reported salary data for a given academic rank and discipline/major field.

The FAC MIX PCT represents the percentage of faculty in a given discipline/major field who hold a given academic rank. For example, a FAC MIX PCT factor of 35.9 for associate professors of Engineering-Related Technology in the 1995-96 public study means that 35.9 percent... of the faculty in that discipline/major field held the rank of associate professor.

The SALARY FACTOR for a given rank in a given discipline/major field represents the ratio of the average salary to the total average salary of all institutions in each of the four studies: PUBLIC 1995-96, PUBLIC 1998-99, PRIVATE 1995-96 and PRIVATE 1998-99. For example, a SALARY FACTOR of 1.01 for associate professors in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology in the 1995-96 public study means that their average salary is one percent higher than the average salary for all associate professors in all institutions in that study.

NEW ASST PROF refers to the grouping of assistant professors hired for the first time in the fall of the study year (1995-96 or 1998-99). All information for this group was included in the ASST PROF group for reporting purposes.

ALL MAJOR FIELDS refers to the entire data base for all 53 disciplines/major fields in each of the four studies. Among other things, it is used to compare the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology with the entire data base for each study.

The reader will find the size of the sample on which each percentage or dollar value is based to be of particular importance. The smaller the number in the group, the greater the effect of extreme scores on a descriptive statistic such as the average. It should also be noted that any large disparity in the sample sizes between the “baseline year” of 1995-96 and the “trend year” of 1998-99 will lessen the reliability and validity of any conclusions that one might make based on a simple comparison of averages.

DISCIPLINE: ENGINEERING-RELATED TECHNOLOGIES

MAJOR FIELD: Engineering-Related Technologies

In the PUBLIC 1995-96 study in the above table, the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology was reported in 91 of the 279 public institutions. The average salary of the 1,096 faculty was $47,085. This average salary was approximately 3.1 percent lower than the average salary of $48,543 for all 90,660 faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the same 1995-96 public study.

For the PUBLIC 1998-99 salary study in the above table, Engineering-Related Technology was reported in 89 of the same 279 public institutions. The average salary of the 1,018 faculty was $51,236. This average salary was approximately 4.2 percent lower than the average salary of $53,370 for all 89,174 faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the 1998-99 public study.

The three-year increase in average salaries for all faculty in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology in the public institutions studied was 7.8 percent ($51,236 minus $47,543 equals $3,693). The CPI of increase cost-of-living between October 1995 and October 1998 was 6.7 percent. In comparison, with the CPI, there was a relative increase in Engineering-Related Technology average faculty salaries over the three-year period by 1.1 percent or an average of 0.4 percent each year above the cost-of-living.

The increase in average salaries for all faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS over three years in the public institutions studied was 9.9 percent. In comparison to the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology (7.8%), the faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS received a relative increase in their salaries of 2.1 percent more than the faculty in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology.

In the 1995-96 study the faculty mix percentage in Engineering-Related Technology is lower at the professor rank than at the assistant professor rank: 25.6 percent vs. 31.0 percent; and, lower in the 1998-99 study it is 25.5 percent vs. 32.0 percent. The differences in faculty mix percentage at the ranks of professor and assistant professors in ALL MAJOR FIELDS for both public studies are 35.4 percent vs. 28.1 percent (1995-96) and 34.9 percent vs. 27.9 percent (1998-99).

Finally, the hiring rate of new assistant professors in Engineering-Related Technology in the public studies was lower than the hiring rate of ALL MAJOR FIELDS in 1995-96, 4.1 percent (45/1,096) vs 4.6 percent (4,205/90,660) and exactly the same in 1998-99, 4.9 percent (50/1,018) vs. 4.9 percent (4,386/89,174).

The PRIVATE 1995-96 salary study in the above table indicates that the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology was reported in 19 of the 386 private institutions. The average salary of the 157 faculty was $50,497, an average salary 4.6 percent higher than the average salary of $48,264 for all 43,144 faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the 1995-96 private study.

In the PRIVATE 1998-99 salary study in the above table, 13 of the same 386 private institutions reported Engineering-Related Technology. The average salary of the 85 faculty was $47,926, an average salary 13.3 percent lower than the average salary of $54,316 for all 44,803 faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the 1998-99 private study.

The three-year increase in the average salaries for all faculty in Engineering-Related Technology in the private institutions studied resulted in a -5.1 percent ($47,926 minus $50,497 equals -$2,571). The CPI increased cost-of-living between October 1995 and October 1998 was 6.7 percent. A more realistic increase, therefore, in the average faculty salaries of Engineering-Related Technology over the three-year time period, is 11.8 percent or 3.9 percent each year below the cost-of-living.
The three-year increase in average salaries for all faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the private institutions studied was 12.5 percent ($54,316 minus $48,264 equals $6,052). In comparison to Engineering-Related Technology (5.4% decrease), the faculty in ALL MAJOR FIELDS increased their salaries 17.9 percent more than faculty in Engineering-Related Technology.

For both studies in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology, the faculty mix percentage is higher at the professor rank in comparison to the assistant professor rank: 39.5 percent vs. 28.0 percent (1995-96); and 34.1 percent vs 21.2 percent, (1998-99). The differences in the ranks of professor and assistant professor in ALL MAJOR FIELDS for both private studies are 33.5 percent vs. 30.5 percent (1995-96) and 34.4 percent vs. 29.3 percent (1998-99).

Finally, the hiring rate for new assistant professors in Engineering-Related Technology was lower than the hiring rate in ALL MAJOR FIELDS in the 1995-96 private study: 3.2 percent (5/157) vs. 4.7 percent (2,041/43,114) and higher in the 1998-99 private study: 5.9 percent (5/85) vs. 4.9 percent (2,178/44,803).

CONCLUSION

This article presents salary-trend information on the academic discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology and compares that information with both ALL MAJOR FIELDS and the CPI over a period of three years, from the "baseline year" of 1995-96 through the "trend year" of 1998-99. Two studies--one for public institutions, and the other for private institutions--were conducted for the baseline year and for the trend year--a total of four studies. A total of 2,356 (0.9) faculty in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology participated and were included in the 53 disciplines/major fields in each of the four studies and in the overall total of 267,751 participating faculty. The same 279 public institutions and the same 386 private institutions... in the United States participated in the baseline year and in the trend year.

Although the public and private studies data may be interpreted in a variety of ways, several significant points are as follows. First, the average faculty salary factors in the discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology for the 1995-96 public study was three percent below that of all ranks in ALL MAJOR FIELDS (1.00); and for the 1995-96 private study it was five percent higher than the average faculty salary factors for all ranks in ALL MAJOR FIELDS (1.00). In both the public and private studies the average faculty salary factors for all ranks in Engineering-Related Technology in 1998-99 were four percent below and 12.0 percent lower than the average salary factors for all ranks in ALL MAJOR FIELDS (1.00), respectively.

Second, the October 1998 CPI reflects an 6.7 percent increase over the October 1995 CPI and indicates that the faculty in Engineering-Related Technology in the public institutions received an average annual salary increase of 0.4 percent above the cost-of-living. In the private institutions the annual average salary increase was 4.0 percent below the cost-of-living.

Third, in both the 1995-96 and 1998-99 public studies in Engineering-Related Technology, the professor rank FAC MIX PCTs are lower than those for the assistant professor rank. However, in the 1995-96 and 1998-99 private studies the FAC MIX PCTS were higher at the professor rank than at the assistant professor rank.

Finally, the hiring rate of new assistant professors in Engineering-Related Technology in the 1995-96 public study and in the 1995-96 private study were lower than the hiring rate of ALL MAJOR FIELDS. However, in the hiring rate for new assistant professors in the 1998-99 private study was higher; and in the 1998-99 public study was exactly the same as the hiring rate for ALL MAJOR FIELDS.

Because a significant data base of average faculty salaries in the academic discipline/major field of Engineering-Related Technology has now been developed, it is anticipated that this information will serve as a valuable reference and evaluation tool for interested administrators and professors.
