ABSTRACT

This document of skill standards for the lodging cluster serves as a guide to workforce preparation program providers in defining content for their programs and to employers to establish the skills and standards necessary for job acquisition. These 28 occupational skill standards describe what people should know and be able to do in an occupational setting. Each skill standard contains at least these three areas: performance area (summary of work to be performed); skill standard with conditions of performance, work to be performed, and performance criteria; and performance elements and assessment criteria. These sections may also be included: performance area and assessment and credentialing approach. Introductory materials include the developmental process; assumptions for lodging cluster standards; table of contents; and performance skill levels. Standards are divided into five areas: safety and security; guest services; guest services mid-management; conference-convention sales mid-management; and lodging management. Appendixes include a glossary; lists of committee and council members; and workplace skills. (YLB)

MESSAGE TO ILLINOIS CITIZENS

Dear Citizens of Illinois:

Preparing youth and adults to enter the workforce and to be able to contribute to society throughout their lives is critical to the economy of Illinois. Public and private interest in establishing national and state systems of industry-driven skill standards and credentials is growing in the United States, especially for occupations that require less than a four-year college degree. This interest stems from the understanding that the United States will increasingly compete internationally and the need to increase the skills and productivity of the front-line workforce. The major purpose of skill standards is to promote education and training investment and ensure that this education and training enables students and workers to meet industry standards that are benchmarked to our major international competitors.

The Illinois Occupational Skill Standards and Credentialing Council (IOSSCC) has been working with industry subcouncils, the Illinois State Board of Education and other partnering agencies to adopt, adapt and/or develop skill standards for high-demand occupations. Skill standards products are being developed for a myriad of industries, occupational clusters and occupations. This document represents the collaborative effort of the Hospitality Subcouncil, and the Lodging Cluster Standards Development Committee.

These skill standards will serve as a guide to workforce preparation program providers in defining content for their programs and to employers to establish the skills and standards necessary for job acquisition. These standards will also serve as a mechanism for communication among education, business, industry and labor.

We encourage you to review these standards and share your comments. This effort has involved a great many people from business, industry and labor. Comments regarding their usefulness in curriculum and assessment design, as well as your needs for in-service and technical assistance in their implementation are critical to our efforts to move forward and improve the documents.

We look forward to your comments.

THE ILLINOIS PERSPECTIVE

The Illinois Occupational Skill Standards and Credentialing Council (IOSSCC) endorses occupational skill standards and credentialing systems for occupations that (a) require basic workplace skills and technical training, (b) provide a large number of jobs with either moderate or high earnings, and (c) provide career advancement opportunities to related occupations with moderate or high earnings. The nine-member Council was established by the Occupational Skill Standards Act (PA 87-1210). The Council, representing business, industry and labor and working with the Illinois State Board of Education in partnership with the Illinois Community College Board, Illinois Board of Higher Education, Illinois Department of Employment Security and Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, has created a common vision for workforce development in Illinois.

Vision

It is the vision of the IOSSCC to develop a statewide system of industry-defined and recognized skill standards and credentials for all major skilled occupations providing strong employment and earnings opportunities in Illinois. Information related to occupational employment and earning opportunities is determined by the Illinois Occupational Information Coordinating Committee (IOICC) in cooperation with business and industry.

Subcouncils and Standards Development Committees

Under the direction of the Council, and in cooperation with organizations such as the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois AFL-CIO, the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, and others, Industry Subcouncils have been formed to review, approve and promote occupational skill standards and credentialing systems. The Industry Subcouncils are Agriculture and Natural Resources; Applied Science and Engineering*; Business and Administrative Information Services; Communications; Construction*; Education and Training Services*; Energy and Utilities*; Financial Services; Health and Social Services; Hospitality; Legal and Protective Services*; Manufacturing; Marketing and Retail Trade; and Transportation, Distribution and Logistics. (*Subcouncils currently being formed.)

The Standards Development Committees, composed of business, labor and education representatives, are experts in the related occupational cluster and work with the product developer to

- develop or validate occupational skill standards,
- identify related academic skills,
- develop or review assessment or credentialing approaches, and
- recommend endorsement of the standards and credentialing system to the industry subcouncil.

Expected Benefits for Employers, Educators, Students and Workers

Occupational skill standards and credentialing systems are being developed and promoted by the IOSSCC to improve Illinois' competitiveness. Such standards and credentialing systems provide a common language for employers, workers, students and education and training providers to communicate skill requirements and quality expectations for all major industry and occupational areas.

For Employers, skill standards will

- Improve employee recruitment and retention by more clearly identifying skill requirements,
- Encourage improved responsiveness and performance of education and training providers,
- Enlarge the pool of skilled workers,
- Focus attention on the importance of training investment.

For Education and Training Providers, skill standards will

- Provide information on all major industries and occupations,
- Contribute to program and curriculum development,
- Strengthen relationships between educators and training providers,
- Improve career planning.

For Students and Workers, skill standards will

- Foster better decision making concerning careers and the training necessary to acquire well-paying jobs,
- Allow more effective communication with employers about what they know and can do,
- Allow more effective work with employers in career development and skill upgrading.

IOSSCC Requirements for Occupational Skill Standards

Any occupational skill standards and credentialing system seeking IOSSCC endorsement must

- represent an occupation or occupational cluster that meets the criteria for IOSSCC endorsement;
- address both content and performance standards for critical work functions and activities for an occupation or occupational area;
- ensure formal validation and endorsement by a representative group of employers and workers within an industry;
- provide for review, modification and revalidation by an industry group a minimum of once every five years;
- award credentials based on assessment approaches that are supported and endorsed by the industry and consistent with nationally recognized guidelines for validity and reliability;
- provide widespread access and information to the general public in Illinois;
- include marketing and promotion by the industry in cooperation with the partner state agencies.

Definitions and Endorsement Criteria

The definitions and endorsement criteria are designed to promote the integration of existing and future industry-recognized standards, as well as the integration of the Illinois academic and occupational skill standards. Because all skill standards must address the critical work functions and activities for an occupation or industry/occupational area, the Council further defined three major components:

- Conditions of Performance: The information, tools, equipment and other resources provided to a person for a work performance.
- Statement of Work: A description of the work to be performed by a person.
- Performance Criteria: The criteria used to determine the required level of performance. These criteria could include product characteristics (e.g., accuracy levels, appearance), process or procedural requirements (e.g., safety, standard professional procedures) and time and resource requirements.

The IOSSCC is currently working with the Illinois State Board of Education and other state agencies to integrate the occupational standards with the Illinois Learning Standards which describe what students should know and be able to do as a result of their education. The Council is also working to integrate workplace skills—problem solving, critical thinking, teamwork, etc.—with both the Learning Standards and the Occupational Skill Standards.

The Illinois Model

Illinois Occupational Skill Standards describe what people should know and be able to do and how well these skills and knowledge will be demonstrated in an occupational setting. They focus on the most critical work performances for an occupation or occupational area. As seen in the following model, Illinois Occupational Skill Standards contain at least these areas:

- Performance Area
- Performance Skill
- Skill Standard
- Performance Elements
- Performance Assessment Criteria

Illinois Occupational Skill Standards also carry a coding at the top of each page identifying the state, fiscal year in which standards were endorsed, subcouncil abbreviation, cluster abbreviation and standard number. For example, the twenty-fifth skill standard in the Lodging Cluster, which has been developed by the Hospitality Subcouncil, would carry the following coding: IL.00.HOSP.LC.25.

A model for Illinois Occupational Skill Standards showing the placement of the coding and providing a description of each area within a standard is contained on the following page.

PROCESS

Listing of steps from the Performance Elements which must be performed or the required order or performance for meeting the standard.

DEVELOPMENTAL PROCESS

The Hospitality Subcouncil identified lodging as the second industry segment for which skill standards would be developed. The standards were based on job descriptions and competency lists provided by industry associations such as the Educational Institute of the American Hotel and Motel Association and the Convocation of National Hospitality and Tourism Industry Association. Also referenced were the national skill standards from Guest Service Occupations developed by the Council on Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Education (CHRIE).

After reviewing the labor market information and the endorsement criteria related to earnings, a cluster approach was recommended. Such an approach will reflect common standards within the lodging cluster and the strong career ladder within that segment of the industry.

The lodging cluster divisions were defined as Guest Services (Bellperson, Guest Services Representative, Reservationist and Concierge), Guest Services Mid-Management (Guest Services Manager, Front Office Manager and Manager on Duty), Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management (Convention and Conference Manager, Director of Sales and Marketing/Sales Manager) and Lodging Management (Lodging Assistant Manager and Lodging General Manager).

The Lodging cluster met the following developmental criteria established by the Illinois Occupational Skill Standards and Credentialing Council (IOSSCC).

- Education (level and rigor)
- Opportunities for employment
- Earnings potential
- Career opportunities

The Lodging Standards Development Committee, composed of workers and immediate supervisors representing all occupations within the cluster, finalized the developmental work. A draft of the lodging standards was presented to the Standards Development Committee for review, revision and validation. Educators reviewed standards to identify issues related to implementation in the classroom setting.

Comments submitted by the Hospitality Subcouncil were integrated into the final product. A list of assumptions pertaining to lodging occupations accompanied the standards to provide a context for their use.

Upon completion of their work, the Standards Development Committee submitted the lodging standards to the Hospitality Subcouncil for their review and acceptance. The final package of standards was submitted to the IOSSCC for recognition and endorsement.

ASSUMPTIONS FOR LODGING CLUSTER STANDARDS

Skill standards statements assume:

1. Workplace skills (employability skills) are expected of all individuals. Socialization skills needed for work are related to lifelong career experience and are not solely a part of the initial schooling process.
2. Specific policy and procedures of the work-site will be made known to the individual and will be followed. Skill standards do not replace, supersede or serve as substitutes for property policy and procedures manual(s).
3. Time elements outlined for the skill standards result from the experience and consideration of the panel of experts who made up the Standards Development Committee.
4. Skills progress from simple to complex. Once a skill has been successfully performed, it is incorporated into more complex skills.
5. Skill standards describe the skill only and do not detail the background knowledge or theory related to the particular skill base. Although the skill standard enumerates steps to successful demonstration, rote approaches to the outcomes are not prescribed.
6. The size of the establishment, the scope of services, and the type of property all determine the approach to meeting the skill standard.
7. Skill standards are performed in an expedient and safe manner.
8. Skill standards reflect lodging industry needs and professional standards of practice.
9. Appropriate dress and personal appearance, as specified by the property, is expected of all employees.
10. Lodging employees are expected to respond positively to the needs and/or requests (cultural, social, physical) of a diverse clientele.
11. Lodging employees are expected to demonstrate flexibility and adaptability in dealing with circumstances as they arise.
12. Guest satisfaction, including issues related to safety and security, is a primary goal for all lodging employees.
13. Time elements identified for individual standards are based on the consensus of the Standards Development Committee. Specific time requirements depend upon the specifics of a given situation.

Critical Work Functions	Distinct and economically meaningful sets of work activities critical to a work process or business unit which are performed to achieve a given work objective with work outputs that have definable performance criteria. A critical work function has three major components: • Conditions of Performance: The information, tools, equipment and other resources provided to a person for a work performance. • Work to Be Performed: A description of the work to be performed. • Performance Criteria: The criteria used to determine the required level of performance. These criteria could include product characteristics (e.g., accuracy levels, appearance), process or procedure requirements (e.g., safety, standard professional procedures) and time and resource requirements. The IOSSCC requires that these performance criteria be further specified by more detailed individual performance elements and assessment criteria.

HOSPITALITY SUBCOUNCIL LOGDING CLUSTER SKILL STANDARDS RECOGNITION PROPOSAL

I. Occupational Definition and Justification

A. Occupational Definition

Lodging is the second largest segment of the hospitality industry. Due to the unique relationship of occupations within this segment of the industry, the lodging skill standards represent a cluster of occupations. The cluster reflects occupations in four lodging components: Guest Service, Guest Service Mid-Management, Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management and Lodging Management. Definitions of the four components of the lodging skill standards cluster are provided below.

1. Guest Services
   Guest Services is a category of occupations which includes Bellperson, Guest Services Representative, Reservationist and Concierge. These occupations are critical to the success of the lodging operation because of the direct guest contact. Job responsibilities include handling reservations, payments, folios, messages, transportation, amenities and special requests.

2. Guest Services Mid-Management
   Guest Services Mid-Management is a category of occupations which includes Guest Services Manager, Front Office Manager and Manager on Duty. Job responsibilities include completing and/or supervising reservations, payments, folios, messages, transportation, amenities and special requests.

3. Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management
   Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management is a category of occupations which includes Convention and Conference Manager, Director of Sales and Marketing/Sales Manager. Job responsibilities include determining and fulfilling function needs, executing contracts, coordinating with other departments and supervising functions for the property.

4. Lodging Management
   Lodging Management is a category of occupations which includes Lodging Assistant Manager and Lodging General Manager. People in these occupations are responsible for all facets of the lodging operation. Job responsibilities include selection and training of personnel, supervision of staff, site inspection, implementation of company policy and procedures, and assuming final authority for decisions concerning everything about the facility.

B. Employment and Earnings Opportunities

A strong career path exists between entry-level lodging positions and the top-level managers. More than half of management and corporate-level employees in the industry today started out in entry-level positions (Washington Post, February 22, 1998). While not all occupations included in the lodging standards cluster meet the earnings criteria established by the Illinois Occupational Skill Standards and Credentialing Council (IOSSCC) for endorsement, they do contain the necessary skills and foundations that an individual needs to move to the higher wage earning positions. The internal movement of personnel from moderate to higher wage occupations is currently supported by strong industry-based training opportunities that are most often provided through internships or apprenticeships.

1. Employment Potential

   Employment projections for Illinois indicate that occupations in all four components of the lodging standards cluster are significant and growing at or above the statewide average rate (Occupational Projections 2006, IDES). Occupancy rates and property expansion will continue to rise over the next 15 years (Washington Post, February 22, 1998/Lodging, July, 1995). The career track is vertical and horizontal. By virtue of training and experience, employees are able to assume more complex and responsible positions. Employees also have the opportunity to move geographically and to work in different types of properties.

2. Earnings Potential

   Guest Services occupations (Bellperson, Guest Services Representative, Reservationist and Concierge) receive median earnings, but do not quite meet the wage criteria set by the IOSSCC for endorsement. Middle range annual earnings are between $12,710-$23,215. The occupations do meet the criteria for recognition.

   Guest Services Mid-Management occupations (Guest Services Manager, Front Office Manager and Manager on Duty) receive a middle range of earnings that meet or exceed the IOSSCC's wage criteria. Middle range annual earnings are between $27,000-$65,000. The occupations meet the criteria for endorsement.

   Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management occupations (Convention and Conference Manager, Director of Sales and Marketing/Sales Manager) receive a middle range of earnings that meet or exceed the IOSSCC's wage criteria. Middle range annual earnings are between $27,000-$65,000. The occupations meet the criteria for endorsement.

   Lodging Management occupations (Lodging Assistant Manager and Lodging General Manager) exceed the IOSSCC's wage criteria. Middle range annual earnings are between $29,515-$83,800. The occupations meet the criteria for endorsement.

   In addition to salary or hourly wages, some lodging employees receive compensation such as tips, bonuses, free meals and/or uniforms. Additional employee benefits may include free or greatly reduced room rates for personal stays.

C. Career Opportunities and Education and Training Requirements

Lodging encompasses hotels, motels, bed and breakfasts, resorts, extended-stay hotels and time-shares. Travel is a growing economic component both nationally and internationally. The occupations associated with the lodging skill standards cluster require technical, workplace and related academic skills. The relationship of academic skills and Illinois Occupational Skill Standards will be identified using the Illinois Learning Standards.

II. Occupational Standards and Credentials

A. Occupational Standards

Occupations in the lodging skill standards cluster are divided into four components: Guest Services, Guest Services Mid-Management, Conference/Convention Sales Mid-Management and Lodging Management. Information from the national lodging standards project, which addresses the Guest Services occupations, is included in the Illinois Occupational Skill Standards. Illinois Occupational Skill Standards are also aligned with the American Hotel and Motel Association's secondary curriculum for lodging management. Future standards revisions or development will be conducted in cooperation with the Hospitality Business Alliance—a national partnership formed to create nationally-recognized secondary courses and mentored work-site experiences.

B. Assessment and Credentialing System

A number of existing industry credentials are compatible with the Illinois Occupational Skill Standards. As a core, achievement of the Illinois Occupational Skill Standards is preparation for those credentials that require years of experience, professional involvement, and/or further course work in addition to the demonstrated achievement of the standards. Such advanced credentials are available through the American Hotel and Motel Association.

III. Industry Support and Commitment

A. Industry Commitment for Development and Updating

1. The development of skill standards for the lodging cluster is the direct result of efforts by the Hospitality Subcouncil and the Standards Development Committee. Members of the Hospitality Subcouncil and Standards Development Committee are listed in Appendices C and D.

2. In developing the products, the steps completed were
   a. Identification and prioritization of developmental categories,
   b. Review of resources,
   c. Development of draft performance standards,
   d. Convocation of Standards Development Committee of incumbent workers,
   e. Review, validation and approval of skill standards by the Standards Development Committee,
   f. Review and approval of standards by the Hospitality Subcouncil,
   g. Acceptance of recognition proposal by the IOSSCC.

3. The Hospitality Subcouncil supports a regular review and revision process to ensure that standards reflect the rapidly changing industry.

B. Industry Commitment for Marketing

The Hospitality Subcouncil is committed to marketing and obtaining support and endorsement from the leading industry associations impacted by the skill standards.

Hospitality Subcouncil members will coordinate efforts to provide awareness of the skill standards and obtain full industry commitment to this effort. In addition, the Hospitality Subcouncil will assist in developing a full industry marketing plan.

The Hospitality Subcouncil encourages the availability of skill standards to the public, including learners, parents, workers, educators at all levels, employers and industry personnel.
