This directory is intended to provide a comprehensive source of information on financial assistance for Canadian post-secondary students with disabilities. The directory includes descriptions of funding programs, mailing addresses, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail addresses for further information. Government funding programs described include national programs such as Canada Student Loans and Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities. Programs operated by each of the 13 provinces or territories are also summarized. The third section lists 22 national scholarships and grants and is followed by a listing of regional scholarships, bursaries, and grants. Use of the World Wide Web to locate scholarship information is briefly addressed. The final section describes scholarship and award programs available at 42 individual institutions. (DB)

This directory was made possible with funding support from the Social Development Partnerships Program of Human Resources Development Canada (HRDC). It was written and compiled by Steven Estey and Laurie Alphonse, edited by Frank Smith and Neil Faba. Neil Faba was involved in the research and development phase of the directory in the summer of 1999 thanks to a Summer Experience grant from the Ontario government. The Association would like to offer its thanks for guidance and invaluable support of the project work to the members of the advisory committee of our board: Holly Bartlett, Ayshe Calisal, Joby Fleming, Kent Hehr, Chris Rebus and Susan Vida.

In addition, we appreciate the assistance of service providers and financial aid officers at colleges and universities throughout Canada who responded to our enquiries about campus based funding. Officials in federal, provincial and territorial government financial aid programs were also very responsive to requests for information on the supports that are available to students with disabilities. We thank them for their contributions to the project.

This directory has been developed for students to help them make decisions about post-secondary education, with a knowledge of financial assistance that can be accessed to make studies attainable and affordable. In closing, we offer thanks to the many students who urged the Association to gather the information together in one place. It is our hope that this book will meet the expectations of those who will be using it as a reference source.

Introduction

In order to fully participate in college and university study, disabled persons must have access to funding which recognizes that there are often extra costs involved when pursuing higher education. It can also take longer for a disabled student to complete an academic program because of a disability. These issues have been a primary focus of the Association’s work for many years. In the 1993 NEADS report Study of Financial Assistance Available to Post-Secondary Students With Disabilities: Accommodating Individual Needs For the Future, 44% of the 384 respondents indicated that their total income from all sources (including financial assistance programs) was not sufficient to cover their education-related services and/or equipment costs considering their disability. In the 1996 NEADS study Employment Opportunities For Post-Secondary Students and Graduates With Disabilities, 59% of 424 respondents indicated that their student aid was not sufficient to cover the costs of their education.

During the most recent NEADS conference, held in Ottawa in November of 1998, 115 delegates from across Canada addressed this subject as a central aspect of the conference agenda. In a workshop called “Accessing Funding to Support Post-Secondary Study” delegates explored funding issues and concerns by focusing on familiar programs such as: Canada Student Loans and Canada Study Grants, provincial grants and loans, Employability Assistance for Persons With Disabilities (EAPD) and the Quebec Loans and Bursaries Program. Scholarships, awards and bursaries were also discussed, including the recently launched Millennium Fund Scholarship Program. In these discussions, students identified four key areas of concern:

1. Financial assistance programs are often not adequate to meet educational costs, including disability-related costs of pursuing higher education.

2. There is a lack of portability of funding from one part of the country to another, which limits academic options.

3. There is confusion about how to obtain information on funding programs and which program’s students are eligible to access.

4. Application forms, information guides (i.e. Canada Student Loans Program: Full-time and Part-time Students Information Guide) and other promotional literature are not readily available to students, and what is available is found in many sources, from different offices.

The NEADS National Directory of Financial Assistance Programs for Post-Secondary Students with Disabilities addresses many of these concerns by providing a comprehensive source of information on financial assistance in one document, written in plain language. The directory includes descriptions of funding programs, mailing addresses, telephone and fax numbers and e-mail addresses of contacts for further information. It also lists relevant web sites. Topics covered in different sections of the directory include:

- The Canada Student Loans Program.
- Employability Assistance for Persons With Disabilities.
- Provincial student assistance programs.
- National and regional scholarships, awards and bursaries.
- Campus-based scholarships, awards and bursaries.

NEADS would like to thank Human Resources Development Canada, which provided the funding for this project through its Social Development Partnerships Program. The Association hopes that this directory will assist post-secondary students in locating adequate funding for their education costs.

Government Funding Programs

National Programs

1. Canada Student Loans

The Canada Student Loan Program (CLSP) was launched in 1964. It provides financial assistance to students to supplement their own and their family's savings and earnings. Each year the CLSP provides $1.2 billion in student assistance to 325,000 students across Canada. This funding consists of both a full-time and part-time loans program, which assists students with financial need to pursue post-secondary education.

Under the full time program the CLSP currently covers 60% of each student's assessed need, up to a weekly maximum of $165. The remaining 40% of the assessed need may be covered by provincial student loans programs, or through other assistance.

In addition to the loan component, the program provides $146 million each year in non-repayable grants, such as the Canada Study Grant (see below).

The most significant feature of the CSLP is the in-school interest subsidy. This program pays the interest on a CSLP while you are enrolled in full time studies at a post-secondary institution, so that you are not required to pay interest on your loan, or make any payments towards the principal during that time.

The part-time study program is built around the assumption that most part-time students are already working and have their living expenses covered. It is designed to supplement other sources of income, and can provide up to $4,000 in assistance for each year of study.

Beyond these basics there are three features of the CSLP, which have been designed to directly address the needs of students with disabilities.

Disability Specific Programming:

1) The CSLP recognizes that the challenges of a physical disability may mean that it takes longer to complete a program of study. To compensate for this, the CSLP offers students with a disability relaxed eligibility criteria for full time student status. Under the general conditions when you apply for a Canada Student Loan you have to be enrolled in 60% of a full course load to qualify as a full time student. However, a student with a permanent disability need only register for 40% of a full course load. Correspondingly, the part time requirements are also reduced.
2) The program also recognizes that a permanent disability may mean that disabled students can never repay a loan, because they are unable to seek, or obtain, a full time job that would enable repayment of the CSLP. In these cases the program offers a permanent disability benefit, which may allow application to have a loan forgiven.

3) The program also recognizes that students with disabilities often have extra costs when pursuing their higher education and to deal with these costs Canada Study Grants (formerly referred to as Special Opportunities Grants) are available. These grants are available for up to $5,000 a year and are designed to offset exceptional disability related costs, such as note takers, tutors, readers, interpreters, attendant care during studies, as well as specialized transportation to and from an educational institution. The grant can also cover exceptional equipment costs like special computers, brailers, and/or the production of materials in alternate formats.

Repayment of the CSLP:

Recently some changes have been made to the program to assist all students in repayment of their CSLP. These changes are intended to help all graduates in the transition from school to work, not just students with disabilities. The program recognizes that all students today are facing significant challenges in finding well paid employment after they finish their schooling. Often, for example, graduates may do volunteer work or take low paying jobs in a field in order to get the experience needed to begin their careers. With this fact in mind the program has developed three features that attempt to address this issue:

1. The first and the most important of these features is interest relief. Borrowers having difficulty repaying their loan due to low income can apply for the interest relief plan. Eligible borrowers are approved for interest relief for six month periods, during which the Government of Canada pays the interest on their loan in the same fashion as the in school interest subsidy. Recently, changes have been made to this plan, such as increasing the maximum amount of interest relief one could receive from 18 months to 30 months. This interest relief is available throughout the life of the loan.

2. The other significant modification was to raise the income eligibility thresholds for interest relief by nine percent. In real terms that means prior to the change you could make about $20,000; anybody who made under $20,000 would qualify for 100% interest relief. This amount has recently been raised to $22,000.

3. Borrowers that remain in financial difficulty over an extended period can apply to have their principal reduced by as much as $10,000, or 50%, whichever is greater. In order to be eligible for this you must have exhausted 30 months of interest relief, the loan must be in good standing, and the individual must have been out of school for at least five years.

Finally, it should be noted that NEADS sits as a member of the National Advisory Group on Student Financial Assistance. This group, which reports to the Minister of Human Resources Development, is one of the three groups that comprise the program's efforts to consult with key stakeholders. Students who feel that their needs are not being addressed, or that their voices are not being heard, can contact the NEADS office with the specifics of any concern. In this way, the information can be passed to program administrators through the National Advisory Group.

Full details of the eligibility criteria for all of these initiatives are available from Human Resources Development Canada's Learning and Literacy Directorate. You can contact the Directorate at:

These grants have a value of up to $5,000 per academic year. To qualify for the grants you must meet the following criteria:

- Have applied for a part-time or full-time Canada Student Loan and established need;
- Have a disability of a permanent nature, which limits your ability to perform the daily activities necessary to participate fully in post-secondary studies or in the labour force;
- Be able to provide proof of your disability, describing its type and indicating that it is expected to be permanent;
- Have your full-time or part-time Canada Student Loan in good standing.

Types of disabilities which are eligible include: deafness, hardness of hearing, blindness, visual impairment, physical disability, learning disability, other (e.g., head injury, mental illness, etc.)
Costs of the following education-related services are eligible: note taker, tutor, reader, interpreter (oral, sign), attendant care for studies, specialized transportation (to and from your educational institution).

Costs of the following education-related equipment are also eligible: technical aids (e.g., a computer or a brailier), alternate formats (e.g., large print or Braille).

The grant will not cover capital costs (e.g., vehicle modifications, alterations for educational institutions or residences).

Application Process:
Applications should be made to your province of residence for a part-time or full-time Canada Student Loan to establish need. An application for a Canada Study Grant for Students with Disabilities, along with the required documentation, can be included. It is important that both forms are submitted at the same time.

Documentation Required:
1. Demonstration of permanent disability requires proof in the form of:
   - A medical certificate; or
   - A learning disability assessment; or
   - A document showing that you receive federal and/or provincial disability assistance.

2. Written confirmation of the need for the disability-related services or equipment, from one of the following:
   - A Vocational Rehabilitation Services (VRS) case worker; or
   - An official of a centre for students with disabilities; or
   - A guidance counselor or financial aid administrator at the post-secondary institution you are attending.

3. Proof of enrolment at a designated educational institution.

4. Two separate cost-estimates as evidence of exceptional education-related costs.

Tax Considerations:
As noted the Canada Study Grants provide up to $5,000 per year to students with disabilities to help cover disability-related education costs. Under existing rules, these amounts receive the same tax treatment as other scholarships and bursaries and are taxable to the extent the award exceeds $500.
However, many of the expenses for which the Canada Study Grant may be used, such as attendant care or a device to enable a blind person to read or use a computer (e.g. optical scanners or large print-on-the-screen devices), also qualify for tax assistance under the medical expense tax credit.

The medical expense tax credit recognizes the effect of extraordinary medical expenses on an individual’s ability to pay tax. It does this by providing tax relief on eligible medical expenses in excess of a certain portion of an individual’s net income. As a result, although Canada Study Grants must be included in income for tax purposes like other bursaries and scholarships; in many cases, the tax on the grant is offset by tax relief provided through the medical expense tax credit.

3. Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities (EAPD³)

Many readers may be familiar with EAPD under its former name, the Vocational Rehabilitation for Disabled Persons (VRDP) Program, which was created in 1962. There have been fundamental changes in government policy and the approach to disability issues since then. So while it was recognized that VRDP had served people with disabilities well, it was also clear that changes were required. In fact, the Federal Taskforce on Disabilities (in 1997) actually had a very explicit recommendation that the federal government should work with the provinces to reform the VRDP program.

The VRDP reform has been undertaken in a larger context as a social policy renewal, which sees the federal and provincial governments working more closely together to look at Canada’s social programs and see how they can make them work more efficiently.

At the June 1996, First Minister’s meeting, Premiers and the Prime Minister, recognized that some services and benefits to people with disabilities should be one of the priorities in an overall social policy reform process. One of the first concrete actions undertaken was around VRDP reform. There were consultations with the disability community around those reforms and NEADS was a part of the consultation process.

The new directions of the EAPD Program are outlined in a document called the Multilateral Framework on Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities. Based on this framework the Federal Government negotiated new bilateral agreements with the provinces/territories during 1997 and 1998.

The new objectives of the program reflect an increased focus on employability. The goal is to help people with disabilities prepare for, find, and keep jobs. To do this, the EAPD program seeks to help people with disabilities overcome the various obstacles they may face when trying to enter the work place.
EADP, like the VRDP before it, is a cost sharing arrangement between the Federal and Provincial/Territorial Governments, where the Federal Government contributes up to 50 percent of the cost of eligible programs and services, to a set maximum for each province. Total federal funding is $190 million annually, and in all cases it is at least matched, dollar for dollar, by the province/territory.

EADP interventions are intended to cover a broad range of programming, including such things as pre-employment support, short-term assistance and on-going active employment support. This could translate into employment counseling and assessment, pre-employment training and skill development and or wage subsidies.

Post-Secondary education support is eligible under the Multilateral Framework as well. Funds may be used to cover things like tuition, books, assistive devices and other items.

The provinces have a great deal of flexibility to design their own programs and services under EAPD. That is why the following section, which outlines provincial/territorial programs, lists EAPD separately for each jurisdiction.

While in most cases the EAPD bilateral agreements, signed between Ottawa and the provinces, do specifically refer to post-secondary education support, in some jurisdictions they are electing to fund post-secondary education through their regular student assistance programming, as will be made clear below.

Finally, it is important to note that the agreements allow for a three-year transition period, which began in most jurisdictions during the fiscal year 98/99. This was agreed upon because some provinces/territories will have to make significant changes to the programming in order to meet the new employability focus of EAPD.

At the beginning of the transition period many provinces/territories continue to deliver basically the same programs and services that they did under the old VRDP program. However, at this point it is still difficult to say for sure what the changes will be across the country. Many governments are still sorting out what their new program directions will be.

It is important to keep this in mind when looking at the following information, since during the transition period much can change. The information contained here was collected during the summer and fall of 1999, and it was correct at the time. However, students should contact provincial authorities to see what the current status of EAPD is before making plans to access it for financial support. For this reason contact details for each jurisdiction are contained in the following pages. It is hoped that this information is accurate, or at least it will be a place to start when you are tracking down possible avenues of support for your education.
Also, it should be noted that some jurisdictions had not signed EAPD agreements at the time of writing. In these cases information is presented for the VRDP program, which continues to function in the absence of a new EAPD agreement. Again, it is important to contact provincial officials in order to determine the exact situation when you are looking for financial assistance.

4. Millennium Scholarship Program

Background:
The Government of Canada, as part of an initiative known as the Canadian Opportunities Strategy, created the Canada Millennium Scholarship Foundation. The Foundation is an independent and autonomous organization that oversees the investment and manages the allocation of the $2.5 billion Government of Canada endowment. The Foundation will use this fund to award scholarships to Canadian, undergraduate students over a 10-year period beginning in the year 2000.

The Canada Millennium Scholarship Foundation was created to grant scholarships to students who are in financial need and who demonstrate merit. The purpose is to improve access to post-secondary education and reduce student debt. The Foundation’s goal is to award a portion of the first scholarships at the beginning of the year 2000 and to award every year, for 10 years thereafter, more than 100,000 scholarships, worth an average of $3,000 each.

The Foundation has three guiding principles:

1. The primary focus of the Foundation’s work should be students.
2. The Foundation’s programs should avoid duplication of existing financial aid programs and costly processes.
3. The Foundation should emphasize a fair and equitable approach to all its programs.
Government Funding Programs

General Award:
To reduce administrative costs and to avoid duplication with existing student assistance programs, the Foundation has been negotiating with each province and territory over the last several months. As of July 30th, 1999, agreements had been concluded with Alberta, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Yukon, British Columbia, the Northwest Territories and Prince Edward Island. Because student assistance programs are administered differently in each region, there will be slight variations in the delivery of Millennium Scholarships.

Eligibility for the Millennium Scholarship will be determined by your provincial/territorial financial assistance program. In general, they will also be responsible for delivering the Millennium scholarships on behalf of the Foundation.

Your financial aid office in your school or region will be able to help you.

As stated above there is no separate application process for the Millennium Scholarship. When you apply for assistance from your provincial or territorial student financial assistance program, you will automatically be considered for the Foundation’s General Awards. The Student Financial Aid Office will assess your level of financial need. If you meet the Foundation’s eligibility criteria the office will automatically forward your name to the Foundation.

The scholarships will be awarded by the Foundation to students in the greatest financial need until they have reached the limit of awards allocated to the province or territory. This limit is based on percentage of the total Canadian population.

NOTE: YOU DO NOT NEED TO ACCEPT PROVINCIAL ASSISTANCE OR FEDERAL STUDENT LOANS TO QUALIFY FOR A MILLENNIUM SCHOLARSHIP. YOU MUST SIMPLY DEMONSTRATE YOUR FINANCIAL NEED.

Exceptional Merit Award:
Application procedures for the Foundation’s Exceptional Merit Awards have also been developed. The first Exceptional Merit Awards will be distributed in fall of year 2000.

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

Presently, and during this transition period (ending in March 2001), post-secondary education is eligible under the EAPD program. It is not clear if this will continue to be the case once the transition period is complete and the new program has been finalized.

Both university and college programs are eligible for support through the EAPD program in Newfoundland and Labrador. A waiting list was reported at the time of our inquiries; it was stated that it could take up to a year to gain funding approval.

The program is administered through the Newfoundland Department of Human Resources and Employment. Contacting the local office of this department is the best way to determine your eligibility. Full contact information for these offices is available on the department’s web site at http://www.gov.nf.ca/hre/divisions/REGIONS/MAP.HTM or in your local telephone directory.

Student Loans Program

Post-Secondary students in Newfoundland and Labrador may be eligible to receive some financial assistance from both the Canada Student Loans Program and the Newfoundland and Labrador Student Loans Program. Under the Canada Student Loans Program assistance is available in the form of subsidized full-time loans; non-subsidized part-time loans; and grants for students with dependants, disabilities, high-need part-time students and female students in certain fields of doctoral (Ph.D.) studies. Under the Newfoundland & Labrador Student Loans Program assistance is available in the form of subsidized full-time loans and non-repayable awards to meet unmet need of eligible students.

The Canada and Newfoundland & Labrador Student Loans Programs are administered by the Division of Student Aid in the Department of Education, and are similar in many respects. Both are needs based and intended to supplement the resources of students and their families. An underlying principle of these programs is that financial need should not be a barrier to students wishing to pursue post-secondary education and training. However, not all students are eligible under the Loans Programs, and for those that are, the amount of assistance available may not be sufficient to cover all costs related to the program of studies. It must be borne in mind that the responsibility for the costs of post-secondary education rests primarily with the student, and where applicable, the parent(s) or spouse. Hence, resources other than government subsidized loans will often need to be found to fully finance the total costs involved.

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

Post-Secondary education is currently eligible under Prince Edward Island's EAPD program. The program guidelines indicate that students are also expected to seek alternate types of support, such as Canada Student Loans or Worker's Compensation. EAPD will be used to supplement these other programs. For example, EAPD support is to be used for assistive devices, human services such as a sign language interpreter, reader or note taker. EAPD may also be used in situations where support is needed to cover additional expenses with co-operative work/study programs.

There was no waiting list for EAPD support in Prince Edward Island when we communicated with provincial officials. For more information contact:

Student Loans Program

Prince Edward Island's Student Loans are designed to provide financial assistance if you can't afford, but wish to attend a post-secondary institution, such as a University, Community College or a Private Trade School.

The Federal and Provincial Governments approve loans to help in your studies under the criteria agreed upon by the two levels of government. You, however, are mainly responsible for paying for your own education through careful planning, summer jobs and savings.

Assistance will be issued to you on the basis of your calculated need. Under the Student Loan Program, parents and spouses may also be expected to contribute financially to your education. To determine the amount you will need, resources available to you and your family, if applicable, are subtracted from total education costs.

To qualify for assistance under the Prince Edward Island Student Loan Program, you must:

- Be a Canadian citizen or have permanent resident status.
- Be a resident of Prince Edward Island.
- Demonstrate that your financial resources aren't enough to meet your educational and living costs during the time you are in school.

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities
The Employability Assistance Program for People with Disabilities (EAPD), through the Nova Scotia Department of Education and Culture, in partnership with the Department of Community Services and Department of Health, provides a support system for educational related equipment and services, including post-secondary programs. Other eligible goods and services are technical aids, tutors, interpreters, tuition, books and training allowances that could assist a person with a disability to access post-secondary training.

There was a waiting list reported for some types of funding, especially for support to cover tuition and book costs. But no waiting list was reported for other types of supports, such as assistive devices. For more information contact:

Student Loans Program
The Nova Scotia Student Assistance Program is a loan program designed to assist students in financing their post-secondary education. The student loan is meant to supplement your resources, not replace them.

In order to apply for financial assistance with the province of Nova Scotia, you must meet the following four criteria:

- First and foremost, you must be either considered a Canadian citizen or a landed immigrant.
- You must be considered a Nova Scotia resident as dictated by the Nova Scotia Student Assistance Program. Please note that residency requirements in Nova Scotia are different from those suggested by Revenue Canada.
- You must be a full-time student attending an approved post-secondary institution. An approved school is one that has been certified by the Department of...
Government Funding Programs

Education and has been approved for Student Assistance funding. A full-time student is someone attending for at least 12 weeks and is enrolled in at least 60% of a full course load. For disabled students full-time is considered at least 40% of a full course load.

- Lastly, you must establish a need for Student Assistance. This involves an assessment of your financial situation.

When determining if a student qualifies for a student loan, the Student Assistance Office assesses a student’s financial situation. The costs a student incurs are offset by other resources, which they have available to them.

When an assessment is finalized the student will receive an Explanation of Assessment in the mail. This assessment outlines anticipated costs, resources, and your calculated need. If your calculated need is high enough, you will receive 60% of it as a first disbursement. This first disbursement will consist of both Canada Student Loan and Nova Scotia Student Loan. The actual breakdown is 60% Canada Student Loan and 40% Nova Scotia Student Loan.

The maximum student loan you can receive depends on the number of weeks in your academic year. The maximum Canada Student Loan is $165/wk and the maximum Nova Scotia Student Loan is $150/wk. For a student attending university from September to April the maximum is typically $10,710.

Keep in mind that you only receive 60% of your calculated need for the beginning of your school year. To receive additional student loan funding for the remainder of the school year, the student must submit a Pre-study report as soon as classes start. If the information on your Pre-study report differs from your application, you may not be eligible for additional funding. This is why it is best to estimate costs as accurately as possible on the original application.

National Educational Association of Disabled Students
New Brunswick

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

The EAPD program in New Brunswick has been renamed, and is known as “Training and Employment Support Services (TESS) for Persons with Disabilities.” Post-secondary education is eligible for support. The program is administered based on a case management approach and support for post-secondary education will be considered when the program in which one enrolls relates to a clear and attainable occupational goal, in the judgement of the case manager.

At the time of data collection for this directory no waiting list was reported for access to the TESS program.

Information about the TESS Program, and/or a meeting with a case manager, can be obtained through the local office of the Provincial Department of Human Resources Development. These offices are located in major cities and towns across New Brunswick; check your telephone directory for the office nearest you. For more information, students can access the web site: http://www.gov.nb.ca/pcsdp/english/schindex.htm

Student Loans Program

In fiscal year 1998-99 12,973 New Brunswick Provincial Student Loans were finalized; 4,768 New Brunswick Bursaries were issued and 132 Canada Study Grants were issued.

The New Brunswick Provincial Student Loan is a provincially subsidized loan, repayable with interest. The maximum assistance is: 40% of assessed need, up to $110 per week of study. The remaining 60 percent can be obtained through the Canada Student Loan Program.

The program also offers support for part-time study. This support is a federally subsidized loan, repayable with interest. The maximum assistance available is $4,000 at any one time. The course load requirement is: enrollment in between 20% and 59% of full-time course load or, enrollment for a period of study less than 12 weeks in duration.

New Brunswick also offers bursaries, which are non-repayable grants. The maximum assistance is $50.00 per week of study. To be eligible, a student’s assessed need must be greater than the maximum student loans available.
Quebec 9

Aide financière aux Études (Student Financial Assistance)

The Government of Quebec has not signed an EAPD agreement with the Federal Government, therefore post-secondary student financial aid in the province is delivered in a different fashion from elsewhere in Canada. Financial assistance for students with a disability is divided into two sections, or degrees of functionality, as described below.

Major Functional Disability

To be eligible for financial aid as a student with a disability you have to qualify as having a Major Functional Disability (MFD). This is fairly restrictive and covers four categories of disability, visual, hearing, medical and physical. The medical professional has a degree of functionality chart to fill in and on this basis, or on the basis of level of hearing loss or vision loss, a student can be designated as having a MFD. (NOTE: many students who get some support in other provinces are excluded. For example students with learning disabilities or attention deficit disorders do not qualify under the guidelines).

If a student is deemed to have a MFD then he or she may take a minimum of six credits per semester and still receive the financial equivalent of a full-time bursary. It is important to note that the funding is in the form of bursary, with no loan component. The amount a student may receive is determined on the same basis as all students (parental income, personal income, etc). If deemed to have a MFD then one can also apply for funding to cover special needs (note-takers, tutors, interpreters, equipment etc.).
Minor Functional Disability

A student may, in some cases, be designated as having a minor functional disability. This classification recognizes that while the student is not severely limited enough to qualify for full financial aid under the program, they still may have some disability-related requirements. As such, a student with a minor functional disability will be able to access funding to cover educational support services such as tutors and computers and other adaptive devices.

If you are accepted into the system it works well and the provincial government is very efficient with refunds. Also, the limits are much more generous than in other provinces. For example, deaf students can receive full funding for interpreters.

Students may find more information either at the Financial Aid department of their prospective institution, or at the office of students with disabilities. If the student is transferring from CEGEP to university they do not need to be reassessed for eligibility, they simply need to request a transfer of institution (again student financial aid can do this).

For assistive devices and other equipment students should contact the relevant rehabilitation centre. For example, visually impaired students in Montreal would contact the Montreal Association for the Blind.

Government Funding Programs

Ontario

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

In 1998, the Government of Ontario enacted legislation creating the Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP), which is the name given by the province to the EAPD program. This program was designed to replace the VRDP program in the province. A government directive expressly prohibits the use of the ODSP to support costs associated with post-secondary education. The directive states:

"The following goods and services WILL NOT be funded under the employment supports component of the ODSP: ... Programs where financial assistance is available under the Ontario Student Assistance Program or programs available through the Education Act, and any goods and services required to attend these programs ..."

Student Loans Program

The Ontario government provides students with financial assistance through direct operating grants to post-secondary institutions and through OSAP. Each year, over 200,000 post-secondary students receive more than $1.6 billion in financial assistance from OSAP.

OSAP's objective is to help students from lower income families to meet the costs of post-secondary education. OSAP is intended to promote equality of opportunity for post-secondary studies by providing direct financial assistance for educational costs (such as tuition fees, books, and supplies) and basic living expenses.

Students (and their families, if applicable) are responsible for meeting the basic costs of post-secondary education. The purpose of OSAP is to supplement, not to replace, the financial resources that the student (and his or her family, if applicable) is expected to contribute.

OSAP Loans and Bursaries

When you apply to OSAP, you are automatically applying to receive a loan through the federal Canada Student Loans Program and/or the provincial Ontario Student Loans Plan. If you receive a Canada and/or Ontario Student Loan, you must start repaying six months after you have stopped being a full-time student. While you are in school, the government(s) of Canada and/or Ontario pay the interest on your
To apply for assistance through OSAP, you must:

- Be a Canadian citizen or Permanent Resident of Canada (landed immigrant). VISA students are not eligible for OSAP.

You must also meet at least one of the following criteria for OSAP's Ontario residency requirements:

1. A resident in Ontario for at least 12 consecutive months up to the start of your full-time post-secondary studies; or

2. If you are married or in a common-law relationship, your residency can also be based on the amount of time your spouse or common-law partner has lived in Ontario.

3. If for OSAP purposes you are considered a "dependent student"; your residency can be based on the residency of your parent(s), stepparent, legal guardian(s), or official sponsor(s). Your parent(s), step-parent, legal guardian(s), or official sponsor(s) must have lived or maintained the family home in Ontario for at least 12 consecutive months up to the start of your current study period.

- Be enrolled or planning to enroll in an approved post-secondary institution.

- Be enrolled or planning to enroll in an approved program.

- Be taking at least 60 per cent of a full course load or 40 per cent if you are a student with a permanent disability.

- You must be taking a program with a minimum length of 12 weeks.

Approved post-secondary institutions:

To be eligible for a Canada Student Loan you must be enrolled at an approved post-secondary institution anywhere in the world. To be eligible for an Ontario Student Loan you must be enrolled at an approved public university or college of applied arts and technology in Canada, or an approved private post-secondary institution in Ontario.

Credit Check

If you have not applied for OSAP in the past year the ministry will perform a credit check. If it is determined that you have been 90 days in arrears on three or more personal loans or credit accounts, each with a value of $1,000 or more, within the past three years, you will not be eligible for an Ontario Student Loan. In addition, you may not be eligible for a Canada Student Loan. You will be notified in the event that you fail the credit check. An appeal mechanism is available to you if you can demonstrate exceptional circumstances and a strong likelihood of being able to repay your student loan(s).

Bursary Support for Deaf Students

Studying at Out-of-Country Post-Secondary Institutions

OSAP provides loan and bursary assistance for deaf, deafened, and hard-of-hearing students who must attend out-of-country post-secondary institutions for disability-related reasons. Loan assistance is available through OSAP and bursary assistance is available through the Bursary for Students with Disabilities Attending Out-of-Country Post-Secondary Institutions.

An Application Guide from the Ontario government provides information on the application process and rules for the bursary program.

Funding Available

A student attending school in the 1999-2000 academic year (for programs starting any time after August 1, 1999) will be able to access loans of up to $9,350 (of which $7,000 is repayable) in Ontario Student Loans through OSAP.

OSAP is based on financial need, which means that the amount of loan assistance available through OSAP will depend on the individual circumstances of the student and his or her family. Lower-income students will be able to access loans to cover part of their eligible costs of studying at out-of-country post-secondary institutions. Parents of students with moderate and higher incomes will be expected to make a contribution to the costs of their children's education, which will reduce the amount of loan assistance available.

All students regardless of family income, will receive a bursary for eligible costs which are in excess of the maximum combined loan entitlement of $275 per week of study of the Canada Student Loans Program and the Ontario Student Loan Program.

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

In Manitoba the EAPD program is following the same guidelines as its predecessor, VRDP. Support for post-secondary education may include funding for tuition and books, as well as disability-related accommodations such as assistive technology or sign language interpretation. Eligibility for these supports is determined by a case-worker from the Department of Family Services.

At the time of writing a waiting list for tuition and books did exist, and it could take as long as two years to acquire this type of funding. However, no waiting list was reported for disability related supports.

Student Loans Program

The Manitoba Student Financial Assistance Program helps Manitobans whose finances limit their educational choices. Awards are provided in the form of Canada Student Loans, Manitoba Student Loans, and Manitoba Study Assistance - all based on financial need. To qualify for assistance you must be attending a post-secondary institution.

The Canada Student Loan is interest-free while you are a student and repayment is not required while you are a full-time student in an approved school. Repayment obligations do not commence until six months after you cease to be a full-time student. Under the Canada Student Loans Program, the maximum a student can receive is $165 per week for the number of weeks of study.

Like the Canada Student Loan, the Manitoba Student Loan is interest-free and require no repayment while you are in full-time studies and for six months thereafter. The maximum Manitoba Student Loan is $110.00 per week (times the number of weeks in your program). Manitoba Student Loans are also repayable.
Manitoba Study Assistance is awarded to post-secondary students who need more than the Canada Student Loan and Manitoba Student Loan combined maximum. The maximum Manitoba Study Assistance you can receive is $40 per week (times the number of weeks in your program). As long as you remain a full-time student in your program, this assistance does not have to be repaid, unless your circumstances change and a reassessment determines that an over award has been made.

To be eligible for financial assistance you must:

- Be a Canadian citizen or permanent resident (landed immigrant);
- Be a Manitoba resident;
- Be enrolled as a full-time student at an approved post-secondary institution in a program at least 12 weeks in length;
- Demonstrate satisfactory progress and attendance;
- Not be in default of previous federal or provincial student financial assistance;
- Have a financial need (which is determined by assessing the financial information you provide).

To apply you must submit an Application for Financial Assistance. This application will be assessed for both Canada Student Loan and Manitoba Student Loan. If you are eligible for Manitoba Study Assistance you will be mailed an application for Manitoba Study Assistance.

How is need determined?

The assessment formula is simple: Costs - Resources = Need. Tuition, books, supplies, and living expenses are considered on the cost side of the equation. There are set amounts allowed for rent, food, transportation, and miscellaneous expenses. You are expected to live within these allowance levels.

Saskatchewan Student Loans Program
The Saskatchewan Student Assistance Program consists of a number of plans, grants and programs to assist qualified Saskatchewan students in realizing their post-secondary education and career goals.

The federal and provincial governments offer repayable financial assistance as a supplement to the full-time student's and/or family's resources under the following programs.

The Canada Student Loans Program provides 60% (to a maximum of $165 per week of study) of a student's total assistance; and the Saskatchewan Student Loans Program provides the remaining 40% (to a maximum of $110 per week of study). Also, under the Special Incentive Plan eligible students may receive an additional $110 per week of study in provincial assistance.
Students are automatically assessed for assistance under the Canada and Saskatchewan Student Loans Programs when they apply using the appropriate application for the loan year in which their course begins.

Federal administrative criteria are used by the Student Financial Assistance Unit to determine the applicant's financial need. In calculating need, the allowable expenses (tuition, books, supplies and living expenses, etc.) are determined and the resources available (including contributions by the student and/or parental/guardian/sponsor, in which the financial contribution is based on total combined parental income and family size) are subtracted. Assistance is awarded where need is demonstrated.

To qualify for a Saskatchewan Student Loan, the full-time student must meet the above eligibility criteria for Canada Student Loans (see below). In addition, the student must not be in default on a previous Saskatchewan Student Loan and the course must be taken in Saskatchewan unless:

- The student is enrolled in a program which is not offered in Saskatchewan; or
- The student is enrolled in a graduate degree program outside Saskatchewan; or
- The student is not able to obtain the program in Saskatchewan because of a quota system (for example, the program is offered in Saskatchewan but space is not available); or
- The student is not able to obtain the program in Saskatchewan because the student's marks were insufficient for acceptance in a Saskatchewan school; or
- The student is receiving advanced post-secondary credits that will reduce the length of the program by at least one full semester; or
- The student is receiving a major scholarship this year that reduces the total cost of tuition by at least $1,500 below the cost if the student remained in Saskatchewan; or
- The cost of tuition at the out-of-province school is $1,500 or more below these costs at a Saskatchewan school; or
- The student was attending a program of more than one year in length outside Saskatchewan prior to 1997/98 for which the student received Saskatchewan Student Loans and wishes to continue studies at the same program at the same school; or
- The student's spouse, who is also a student, qualifies for provincial assistance under one of the above criteria.

Canada Student Loans Program
The Student Financial Assistance Unit, on behalf of the Province of Saskatchewan administers this federal program. To qualify for a Canada Student Loan, the student must:
- Be a Canadian citizen or a permanent resident;
- Be a Saskatchewan resident according to program rules;
- Be enrolled in a program of studies at a designated school approved for student loan purposes by the Province of Saskatchewan, leading to a degree, diploma or certificate;
- Be in financial need according to the student loan program guidelines;
- Be enrolled as a full-time student, taking at least 60% of a full course load in each semester or term. (NOTE: Students with permanent disabilities are considered full-time under the Canada Student Loans Program if they are enrolled in a minimum of 40% of a full course load);
- Be in regular attendance in the course of study (must attend 90% or more of classes in each calendar month and over the entire length of the course);
- Maintain a satisfactory scholastic standard to continue to be eligible for student loans. This means that the student must successfully complete 60% of the full course load in each year loans were received;
- Be receiving assistance for less-than 340 weeks of study.

Exceptions to the 340 week lifetime limit are:
- Students who received Canada Student Loans prior to August 1, 1995, or students with permanent disabilities who are eligible for funding until their programs are complete or the lifetime limit of 520 weeks of study on assistance is exceeded; and doctoral students with a maximum lifetime of 400 weeks;
• Students must not exceed the maximum duration of eligibility for each level of study (the normal duration of the level specified by the school for completion, plus one additional period.

Canada Student Loans are interest-free while the recipient is a full-time student. Interest on the Canada Student Loan begins to accrue on the first day of the first month after the student graduates or ceases full-time study. Interest does not accrue between academic years if the break is six months or less, and if the appropriate documentation is submitted to a lender.

Alberta

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

In Alberta the EAPD program is used to supplement federal and provincial student loans programs (see below). Support from EAPD will be made available when resources for the student loans program are not sufficient to meet disability-related expenses. A pamphlet from the provincial government explains the system in this way:

"Post-secondary learners (with disabilities) may be eligible to receive federal and provincial loan-based assistance to cover education and living costs. Also through the Canada and Alberta Student Loan programs disabled post-secondary students may be eligible for grants to cover assistive services and devices as well as disability related accommodation and transportation costs ... Learners who have a disability may be eligible to receive grants to cover the cost of assistive services (e.g., interpreters, notetakers) and assistive devices (e.g., specialized equipment)."

Source: "Programs and Services for Albertan's with Disabilities," Alberta Department of Career Development.

Services are given to eligible applicants on an as needed basis. No waiting lists were reported to the researchers of this project. For further information contact the local Alberta Career Development Centre or Canada Alberta Service Centre.

Student Loans Program

Canada Student Loans, provincial student loans and grants are available to Alberta students. Generally students are eligible for assistance up to $10,100 per academic year. Dependent students who must move away from home to study may be eligible for up to $12,100 per academic year. Disadvantaged Albertans eligible for maintenance grants may receive up to $16,100 per academic year. High need students with dependants may receive a maximum of $3,000 per loan-year under the Canada Study Grant Program. Students with high needs may receive a maximum of $1,500 in lieu of loans under the Alberta Opportunities Bursary. Northern Alberta residents may receive a maximum of $1,500 under the Northern Student Supplement program. In addition, students may qualify for up to $4,000 in Millennium Scholarships. The following features are available in Alberta:

- Canada Student Loans - Up to 60% of a student’s eligibility to a maximum of $165, per week of study.
- Provincial Loans - Issued as a supplement to the Canada Student Loans Program. Maximum loans under both programs cannot exceed $10,100 per academic year.
- Maintenance Grants - Up to $6,000 per academic year provided to disadvantaged individuals, primarily single parents.
- Remission - A deferred grant paid after graduation, which is intended to control debt. Remission is no longer paid on Canada Student Loans, and is not paid to students owing less than $10,000 after two years of study at the college level, or $20,000 after four years of study at the university level.
- Canada Study Grants - Up to $5,000 for a twelve-month period of study is available for disabled students to assist with disability-related costs. Funding is cost shared between the federal and provincial government.
- Part Time Loan and Grant Assistance - For post-secondary study, up to $600 per semester in grant funding and up to a maximum of $4,000 in part-time Canada Student Loan funding for students who are studying on a part-time basis.
- Skills Development Program - The Skills Development Program helps financially disadvantaged clients in need of basic education or the short term skills training necessary for employment. The program is also available to assist apprentices who demonstrate financial need to attend formal training. The program provides up to $16,100 per academic year for full-time study and up to $600 per semester, or $1,800 per academic year, for part-time study.

British Columbia

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

In British Columbia, as elsewhere in Canada, the EAPD Program has been in operation for over a year. During the first year very few changes in program funding were reported. At this time, changes in implementation of the program are taking place but new guidelines, including a decision on eligibility of post-secondary education, are not expected until the autumn of 2000.

Presently, the resources available through the EAPD program are used to support the activities of Vocational Rehabilitation Services (VRS), among other things. VRS is a unit in the Province's Ministry of Social Development and Economic Security.

When this information was collected officials reported that EAPD, through the VRS Program, could be used to pay for costs associated with post-secondary education, including tuition, books and adaptive technology. It was further reported that eligibility is determined by a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor and must be part of a vocational plan that will result in the acquisition of entry-level employment skills.

Waiting lists of varying lengths across the province were also reported. Those interested in the program should expect a delay of at least one month before an initial meeting with a VRS counselor.

For more information students can either contact the Financial Aid Office at their school, or speak with the disability services coordinator.

Assistance Program for Students with Disabilities

This program offers a grant of up to $12,000 per year to assist with exceptional education-related costs of having a disability. These costs may include equipment and services needed to access post-secondary education, such as note takers, tutors, readers, attendant care, specialized transportation and/or technical aids. It is also important to note that there are no course load minimum restrictions with this program.

You do not need to be eligible for assistance under the BC student assistance program to qualify for this support.

Applications are available from the Adult Special Education Coordinator or the Financial Award Office at all public post-secondary institutions in British Columbia.
Government Funding Programs

Adult Services Program - British Columbia

The Adult Services program is a government initiative to provide special technology services to support post-secondary students or employees who have a disability. The aim is to reduce barriers in reaching educational and vocational goals.

In British Columbia, post-secondary students and employees with disabilities who use adaptive technology may acquire their equipment through the Adult Services Program (ASP). The Program houses a loan bank of adaptive technology which eligible students and employees can access through referring agents (disability service coordinators, or vocational rehabilitation consultants with Vocational Rehabilitation Services). Support services for adaptive equipment include consultation, and training.

Student Loans Program

The British Columbia Student Assistance Program (BCSAP) is a needs based program. It is designed to provide additional financial assistance to eligible students enrolled in at least 60 percent of a full post-secondary level course load (40 percent for students with permanent disabilities), for credit, for a minimum of 12 weeks. Students must attend a designated post-secondary school, and their studies must lead towards a certificate, diploma or degree.

BCSAP is intended to supplement, not replace funds available to students through work, savings/assets and family resources/income. The Program is needs based, considering income and resources against basic educational costs and a moderate standard of living.

There is a limit to the amount of funding available to students, based on the number of weeks of study. In addition, both the federal and provincial programs have lifetime maximums.

Students in high cost programs may need to seek other sources of funding to assist with direct educational costs.
Canada Student Loans

Canada Student Loans are provided to eligible students through a standard application process. The amount of assistance you may receive is determined through a standard needs assessment. Policies for eligibility and needs assessment processes are set by the federal government, under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act and related regulations and policies. The province of BC adheres to these policies in the assessment of all student loan applications received.

The Canada Student Financial Assistance Act and BC Student Assistance Program policy require that students "attain a satisfactory scholastic standing" to be eligible for continued assistance.

The federal government pays the bank or credit union the interest due while the student is enrolled in full-time study at a designated post-secondary school. These loans must be repaid.

British Columbia Student Loans

British Columbia Student Loans are provided to eligible students through a standard application process. The amount of assistance you may receive is determined through a needs assessment. The province of BC follows similar policies and regulations as those set by the federal government. To be considered eligible for provincial assistance you must first be eligible for a Canada Student Loan.

The provincial government pays the bank or credit union the interest due on the loan, while the student is enrolled in full-time study at a designated post-secondary school and for six months following the student's study end date. These loans must be repaid.

Students are responsible for making repayment arrangements (principal and interest) with the bank or credit union beginning six months after leaving classes.

British Columbia Grant

The BC Grant was introduced in 1987 as one of a number of recommendations from a review of student financial assistance in British Columbia.

The grant funding is available to eligible high need students enrolled in their first 136 weeks of full-time post-secondary study. High need students are those whose assessed need is in excess of $105 per week of study.

Students attending private training schools are not eligible for the BC Grant.

To be considered eligible for a grant you must first be eligible for a Canada Student Loan.
Previously, British Columbia Grants were available only to high-need students in their first 68 weeks of study. Now all students are eligible for three granting programs. Eligibility will be automatically calculated for each type of grant. The amount of the grant indicated on this Notice of Assessment may consist of any combination of:

- British Columbia Grants.
- Canada Study Grants.
- Canada Millennium Foundation Scholarship Grants.

Yukon

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities
The Yukon government has not signed an agreement with the Federal government to implement the EAPD program. As such, support specifically to students with disabilities still operates under the terms of the Vocational Rehabilitation for Disabled Persons (VRDP) Program. This program does offer support to students with disabilities to attend post-secondary education. However, it is a small program with a limited budget and students are encouraged to seek other supports, such as student loans.

Student Loan Program
The Yukon Government also offers a number of financial support programs; (note that not all of these are targeted at students with disabilities). These include:

The National Educational Association of Disabled Students
1. Canada Student Loan Program - The Yukon Department of Education administers this program, which includes access to Canada Study Grants for students with disabilities.

2. Yukon Grant - The Yukon Department of Education also administers this grant, which supports post-secondary education. There are residency requirements for obtaining the grant, which is provided for up to 5 years at $1,240 per semester.

3. Training Allowance - this is available for Yukon residents and it provides support for courses at Yukon College or other approved training courses. Individuals are paid $70 per week with an additional $15 per dependent up to a maximum of 4 dependents. Note that there are no special funds for students with disabilities in this program, although students with disabilities may apply.

4. Financial assistance for individuals attending a training or upgrading course - The Yukon Social Assistance program provides support for a maximum of one academic year. The school allowance is $50 per month on top of the regular social assistance benefits. Note that people with disabilities may receive special benefits to cover medical and rehabilitation costs as part of their Social Assistance benefits.

Northwest Territories

Employability Assistance for People with Disabilities

The government of the Northwest Territories has not signed an agreement with the Federal government to implement the EAPD program. As such, support for students with disabilities operates under the terms of the Vocational Rehabilitation for Disabled Persons (VRDP) Program. The program does offer support to students with disabilities to attend post-secondary education. However, this is a very small program... with a limited budget and students are encouraged to seek other supports, such as student loans.

VRDP funding has traditionally gone to support the purchase of computers and specialized software for individuals with disabilities. Students at Aurora College or other upgrading or employment-related programs are eligible for funding. The program has also supported assessment and tutoring services for students in post-secondary institutions, colleges, and universities. The focus of the program has been on covering items not covered by mainstream programs such as the student loan program. The program does not cover costs associated with tuition, books or living expenses, which are covered under student financial assistance.

Officials reported a short waiting list for access to VRDP funding at the time of our data collection. They also noted that funds are allocated on a first-come-first-served basis. So students are encouraged to apply early for assistance.

Student Loan Program

The Northwest Territories operate a separate student assistance plan and we were not able to gather information on the details of the program in time for inclusion in this publication. For information on the program, residents of the Northwest Territories can contact:

Please note that no TTY number was in operation when this information was collected.
National Scholarships and Grants

AUCC Scholarship Programs
The Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) has three scholarship programs specifically designed to assist post-secondary students with disabilities. The Imasco, Mattinson and Student Access Awards Programs (SAAP) provide students with financial support in pursuit of a post-secondary education.

These programs are designed to provide financial assistance to students with disabilities who wish to pursue studies at the university or college level on a full-time basis and may not be able to do so because of additional expenses incurred as a result of their disability. For the purpose of these programs, the definition of disability is: "a functional limitation resulting from a physical, sensory or mental impairment, which, for an indefinite period, affects the student's ability to perform the activities necessary to participate fully in post-secondary learning."

The SAAP has been established to encourage Canadian students with disabilities to pursue a university or college education, which will ultimately prepare them to become active members of Canada's labour force. The Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada administers the award on behalf of the corporate partners—Great West Life Assurance/London Life, and Human Resources Development Canada. NEADS is also a partner in the Student Access Awards Program.

Each full-time SAAP scholarship is valued at $2,500; part-time scholarships are based on percentage of full-time course load. These awards are available to students with disabilities interested in pursuing post-secondary studies at an accredited university or college in Canada. Applicants will be judged on their academic accomplishments as well as their community involvement.

Candidates for these awards must be Canadian citizens, or have lived in Canada for at least two years as legal permanent residents. The Mattinson Scholarship is valued at $2,500 for each (full-time) student who is chosen as a recipient.

The Imasco Scholarship is worth $5,000 annually and is available to up to 10 students. The deadline for applications is June 1st of each year. Further information and application forms are available from the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Canadian Awards Program, International and Canadian Programs Division, 350 Albert Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1R 1B1, Tel: (613) 563-1236, Fax: (613) 563-9745, Email: awards@aucc.ca You can also find out more about the program through the AUCC Web Site: http://www.aucc.ca
Morton Copnick Scholarship for Disabled Students

The Morton Copnick Scholarship for Disabled Students has a value of $500 and goes to a physically disabled student enrolled at the post-secondary level in Canada. The Copnick Scholarship is granted annually in memory of the late Morton Copnick through a fund endowed by members of his family. The first scholarship was awarded in 1984.

For an application, write to the Morton Copnick Scholarship Selection Committee, the Canadian Paraplegic Association - National Office, 1101 Prince of Wales Dr., Suite 320, Ottawa, Ontario, K2C 3Z0, Tel: (613) 723-1033, Web site: www.canparaplegic.org

Completed applications must be received in the national office no later than August 31. Applications must include transcripts from at least the last two years of study and should also include supporting documents or letters of reference.

Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Ross C. Purse Doctoral Fellowship

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind has established a doctoral fellowship in the amount of up to $12,000 in the name of Ross Purse. In order to apply, students must be attending Canadian universities or colleges or studying at a foreign university with a demonstrated commitment to work in the field of blindness and visual impairment in Canada. Areas of academic study which relate most specifically to the award include psychology, sociology, social work, education, philosophy, biomedical, gerontology, economics and other social sciences. The award is given to students conducting thesis work related to an understanding of blindness and visual impairment. Preference is given to those proposals that demonstrate study that may have a benefit to policy on a national scope.

One fellowship is awarded annually, based upon acceptance of a qualified applicant. While the value of the fellowship is $12,000, payment of the final instalment is conditional upon receipt of an interim report from the candidate and the thesis supervisor or department head. Candidates must be Canadian citizens. Applicants must demonstrate high academic standing. When the program is completed, one copy of the thesis will be sent to the Administrative Secretary of CNIB to be kept on file in the CNIB Sherman Swift Reference Library.

For further information and application forms: The Secretariat, Ross C. Purse Doctoral Fellowship, Canadian National Institute For the Blind, 320 McLeod St., Ottawa, Ontario, K2P 1A3, Tel: (613) 563-4021, Fax: (613) 232-9070, Web site: www.cnib.ca

Applications must be submitted by April 1st each year.
Rixon Rafter Scholarship Fund and the Judge Brian Stevenson Scholarship Fund

The Judge Brian Stevenson Scholarship Fund and the Rixon Rafter Scholarship Fund are available to blind students attending post-secondary programs. These scholarships, ranging from $300 to $500, are given to successful candidates based on their financial needs, academic achievement and career goals. Both scholarships are administered through the Ross Macdonald School in Ontario. Application forms are available from C.N.I.B. Divisional Offices or the Ross Macdonald School: Rixon Rafter Scholarship Committee/Judge Brian Stevenson Scholarship Committee, Ross Macdonald School, Brantford, Ontario, N3T 3J9, Tel: (519) 759-0730.

Carol Thompson Memorial Fund Scholarship and the Doreen Kronick Scholarship

Two scholarships offered by the Learning Disabilities Association of Canada (LDAC) are the Doreen Kronick Scholarship and the Carol Thompson Memorial Fund Scholarship. Both are available to post-secondary students with learning disabilities who are enrolled in full-time or part-time study programs. The amount of these awards is $750.

Applicants to the Carol Thompson Memorial Fund Scholarship must submit with their application: a letter of acceptance from the university or college they will be attending; three letters of reference from non-relatives, relevant to the scholarship application; and a letter containing the following information: a description of the applicant’s learning disability, an outline of those coping skills and strategies which have been developed to compensate for the learning disability, the individual’s involvement in the community as a volunteer and the applicant’s future goals.

The Doreen Kronick Scholarship (DKS) may be awarded to a person who is pursuing a program of graduate study in a university that will assist learning disabled students. Unlike the Carol Thompson Memorial Scholarship, the DKS applicants need not have a learning disability. Applications are reviewed according to the following criteria: the student’s future educational program leading towards assisting persons with learning disabilities; the submission of a satisfactory academic record; the student’s contribution to his or her community and to campus life.

To apply for both of these awards, you must be a Canadian citizen or landed immigrant. Recipients of these scholarships will not be eligible to reapply for three years.

The deadline for receipt of applications is May 15th each year. Applications are sent to: Learning Disabilities Association of Canada, 323 Chapel Street, Suite 200, Ottawa, Ontario, K1N 7Z2, Tel: (613) 238-5721, Fax: (613) 235-5391, Web site: www.educ.queensu.ca/~lda
Terry Fox Humanitarian Award Program

The Government of Canada initiated the Terry Fox Humanitarian Award Program on behalf of the Canadian people in recognition of the achievements of Terry Fox. The program encourages Canadian youth to seek the ideals of Terry Fox. It is a renewable award, subject to certain academic criteria and students who are attending both college and university programs are eligible. Selection criteria for recipients are based on demonstration of: good citizenship and humanitarian service, perseverance in overcoming obstacles, the pursuit of academic excellence, the pursuit of excellence in amateur sport, fitness and health.

The value of each award is $4,000 annually, up to a maximum of four years until a degree is obtained. Between 35 and 40 students with disabilities receive the award each year. However, the scholarship is not restricted to students with disabilities.

In parts of the country where no tuition fees are applicable, the award value is $2,500. There is a requirement that applicants to the award be Canadian citizens or be in the process of applying for citizenship at the time of the application. Post-secondary endeavours considered eligible for funding are the areas of academic study in amateur sport, health and community service. Applications must be received by February 1st, with supporting documents attached. Those applying must not exceed 25 years of age. For further information, contact: Terry Fox Humanitarian Award Program, Simon Fraser University, 8888 University Drive, Burnaby, British Columbia, V5A 1S6, Tel: (604) 291-3057, Fax: (604) 291-3311.

National Union of Public and General Employees — Terry Fox Memorial Scholarship

The National Union of Public General Employees (NUPGE) offers a Terry Fox Memorial Scholarship. Eligible candidates for the funding are all children (including foster children) with disabilities of NUPGE members who plan to enter the first year of a public post-secondary education institution full-time. The amount of the award is $1,000 and the application deadline is June 30th. The winner will be determined on the basis of a 750-1000 word essay on: “the importance of quality public services in enhancing the quality of life of people with disabilities.”

For further information and/or application forms, contact: Terry Fox Memorial Scholarship, National Union of Public and General Employees, 15 Auriga Drive, Nepean, Ontario, K2E 1B7, Tel: 613-228-9800, Fax: 613-228-9801, Email: national@nupge.ca, Web site: www.nupge.ca
Scholarship for Individuals with Spina Bifida and/or Hydrocephalus

The Spina Bifida Association of Canada awards funding to post-secondary students with spina bifida and/or hydrocephalus. This scholarship program was established in 1993 to celebrate and support Canadian persons with spina bifida and/or hydrocephalus in their efforts to pursue an education in their chosen field of study. Three awards valued at $1,000 each will be presented to qualified applicants who are Canadian citizens. Candidates are asked to submit the following: secondary school certificate, academic transcripts for the last institution attended, physician’s letter certifying presence of spina bifida and/or Hydrocephalus, and two letters of reference (education and character).

A Scholarship Committee of the Spina Bifida Association of Canada reviews the applications. Completed application forms are to be sent by April 15th each year along with required documentation to: Spina Bifida Association of Canada, 220-388 Donald Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba, R3B 2J4, Tel: (204) 957-1784, (800) 565-9488.

It should be noted that the Spina Bifida and Hydrocephalus Association of Ontario also offers funding through the Dr. E. Bruce Hendrick Scholarship program. The stated purpose of this scholarship is “to encourage and support students with spina bifida and/or hydrocephalus to develop independence and responsibility for their own educational directions; to assist students to pursue higher education whether at university or any other centre of post-secondary studies with the ultimate goal of obtaining a degree or graduate certificate or diploma.”

The number and amount of awards will be decided on a yearly basis. There is a $5,000 minimum awarded annually, with a $1,250 maximum awarded per individual.

The deadline for receipt of applications for the Ontario scholarship is March 29. Applications should be sent to: The Spina Bifida and Hydrocephalus Association of Ontario, 35 McCaul Street, Suite 310, Toronto, Ontario, M5T 1V7, Tel: (416) 214-1056 or 1(800) 387-1575.

CanWest Global System Broadcasters of the Future: Scholarship Internship Award for a Canadian with a Physical Disability

This annual award, which was started in 1993, provides a $15,000 award-internship to a Canadian student who has a mobility impairment. The award covers all tuition fees, book costs and associated fees for one full year of a radio and television arts program or journalism program at a recognized university, college or polytechnical institute. The award includes a three or four month internship at the Global Television Network station in Don Mills, Ontario, and moving expenses associated with the internship for the summer. In addition, Global Television will arrange and pay for the winner to attend the Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) convention’s closing awards dinner in November to accept the award.

Eligibility criteria for this award are as follows: Canadian citizen, a physical disability, secondary school graduate with a grade average suitable for admission to radio and television arts or journalism programs at recognized post-secondary schools in Canada (transcripts are required), good English language communications skills. The award-internship has the following guidelines: the tuition fees will be paid directly to the educational institute; textbook and supply costs will be paid to the award winner upon submission of receipts; applicants will indicate whether or not they will be able to locate to the Toronto area for the summer internship portion of the award; Global television will design the internship based on the needs of the successful applicant and those of the station.

Applications should include the following: completed application form, copy of transcript of marks to date, one page written statement outlining applicant’s interest in broadcasting career goals, three letters of reference (for example: teachers, employers, colleagues), and a letter from a medical doctor describing the type and extent of the applicant’s disability. All materials are to be mailed directly to Global. The deadline for applications is May 31.

For further information on the Global scholarship contact: Canwest Global System, Broadcasters of The Future Award, 81 Barber Greene Rd., Don Mills, Ontario, M3C 2A2.

Maureen Ashton Memorial Scholarship Fund
The Alberta Sports and Recreation Association for the Blind has created the Maureen Ashton Memorial Scholarship for post-secondary education. The scholarship is in support of persons who are blind or partially sighted and are attending a post-secondary institute on a full-time basis. Up to $1,500 will be awarded annually. If you are interested in applying for the Maureen Ashton Memorial Scholarship please contact:
ASRAB, Box 85056, Alberta Park Postal Outlet, Calgary, Alberta, T2A 7R7, Tel: (403)

National Bank of Canada Bursary and Summer Employment Program
The National Bank of Canada offers two bursaries of $1,500 and two summer jobs with the bank for a period of twelve weeks for two university students with a disability.
There is also a bursary in the amount of $1,000 available to a CEGEP student. The purpose of the program is to encourage students with physical or sensory disabilities to pursue university studies as well as to enable them to acquire work experience related to their studies.

The bursaries are available for the academic year, and the jobs for the summer following the school year. Bursaries are granted in June. Applicants must be legally entitled to work in Canada, and reside in Quebec, Ontario or New Brunswick. They must be in a full-time university program or CEGEP program in Quebec, Ontario or New Brunswick, and registered in a course that will lead to a specialized bachelor's degree or master's degree in a banking-related field (Business Administration, Economics, Computer Science, Industrial Relations, etc.). Applicants must be at least 17 years of age.

Bursaries and summer jobs will be administered by the National Bank of Canada. The final selection of applicants will be made by a jury composed of representatives from the educational milieu, the community and the bank. The jury's decision will be based on the overall quality of the candidate's application.

For further information on this program and to obtain application forms, contact: National Bank of Canada, Employment Equity Officer (91693), Human Resources, 600 de la Gauchetière West, 8th Floor, Montréal, Québec, H3B 4L2, Tel: (514) 394-8585. The deadline for submission of application forms is March of each year.

CMT International Sophie Abarbanel Educational Assistance Award

Each year, the CMT International Sophie Abarbanel Educational Assistance Award of $1,000 or more is given to one or divided between several persons having Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease who wish(es) to attend an institution of higher learning for an undergraduate or graduate level post-secondary education.

An application form with verification of your disability and proof of registration at a post-secondary institution is required. The form and accompanying documentation are to be in the office of CMT International by May 15 of the year the student is requesting assistance. Successful applicants are notified by telephone and mail by June 15. Those who have applied will know who has won the award as a profile of the individual(s) will appear in the CMT Newsletter.

A cheque will be sent to the person(s) in receipt of the award to be used at his/her discretion towards the goal of a degree from a recognized university, college or school of higher learning. To be eligible applicants must be a member in good standing of CMT International. This does not necessarily mean that you have made a donation, but you have asked to be kept on the mailing list of the association. Persons applying for this scholarship will be also considered for the $150 Charlie Christie Book Award.

For further information contact: CMT International, 1 Springbank Drive, St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada, L2S 2K1, Tel: (416) 687-3630.
Public Service Commission of Canada: Personnel Psychologist Sponsorship Program

The Personnel Psychology Centre of the Public Service Commission of Canada is offering a sponsorship and recruitment program to candidates studying in industrial/organizational psychology. This program is open only to members of designated under-represented groups - aboriginal people, persons with disabilities, and visible minority group members. Two sponsorships will be offered, renewable for one academic year.

The award is valued at $15,000 per year, plus an opportunity, upon graduation, for employment with the Personnel Psychology Centre in Ottawa as an industrial/organizational psychologist. Summer employment may also be available.

All applicants must hold an Honours Bachelor's degree in psychology and be eligible for admission to a Master's or Doctoral program in industrial/organizational psychology at a Canadian university. Applicants may also be currently enrolled in a Master's or Doctoral program in industrial/organizational psychology at a Canadian university. Preference will be given to Canadian citizens.

Candidates must have maintained a minimum "B" average (or its equivalent) during their previous years of university studies. Knowledge of either English or French is essential.

Candidates are responsible for gaining admission in an industrial/organizational psychology program at an eligible Canadian university, which offers graduate level courses and/or seminars. For the purpose of this award courses in the following subjects are eligible: ethical, legal and professional issues in psychology; personnel selection; measurement theory and individual assessment; test and rating scale development; statistical methods and data analysis; research methods; organizational theory; leadership theory and job and task analysis.

The scholarship is tenable at any Canadian university offering programs in industrial/organizational Psychology, which is a member, or affiliated with a member, of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC).

A committee of experts convened by the AUCC will pre-select applications on the basis of academic merit and relevance of the Psychology program to the PSC as indicated in the section "Field of Study" on the application form. An independent Selection Committee of the Public Service Commission will evaluate these applications. Selection decisions are final and are not open to appeal. The closing date is February of each year.
For further information and application forms contact: Canadian Awards Program, International and Canadian Programs Division, Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, 350 Albert Street, Suite 600, Ottawa, Ontario K1R 1B1, Tel: (613) 563-1236, Fax: (613) 563-9745, TTY (613) 992-3748. A diskette format will be made available on request.

Centennial Flame Research Award for Persons with Disabilities

This award is available to any Canadian citizen with a disability wishing to apply to conduct research. The value of the award is $3,000. National Federation of the Blind Scholarship

Scholarship Information

The National Federation of the Blind: Advocates for Equality (NFB:AE), is an organization dedicated to providing blind and vision-impaired individuals with the tools they need to compete on an equal basis with other members of Canadian society. Through public education and advocacy this organization seeks to improve the lives of blind Canadians by providing a forum for mentorship, discussion and action.

The NFB:AE offers four scholarships to recognize outstanding blind scholars in Canada. These scholarships are presented yearly at the Annual Canadian NFB:AE Convention in Canada.

Criteria

All scholarships are awarded on the basis of:

1. academic excellence
2. service to the community
3. extra-curricular activities

Note: All of the above criteria are weighed equally when scholarship applications are reviewed.

Four scholarships of $1,500 will be awarded.

Qualifications

All applicants must:

1. be legally blind
2. reside in Canada
3. be pursuing or planning to pursue a full-time college or university-level course of study, at a graduate or undergraduate level and 4. be willing to attend the Annual NFB:AE convention. (Winner's convention expenses will be paid for by the National Federation of the Blind: Advocates for Equality)

Membership
The National Federation of the Blind Advocates for Equality is an organization dedicated to creating opportunity for all persons who are blind. Recipients of Federation scholarships need not be members of the National Federation of the Blind: Advocates for Equality, but membership and involvement is encouraged.

Awards
The Scholarship Committee reviews all applications and selects the scholarship recipients. These recipients, the same number as there are scholarships to award, will be notified of their selection by March 15, 2000. Scholarship monies will be sent to the recipients no later than September 1, 2000.

Convention Attendance
The National Federation of the Blind: Advocates For Equality convention is the largest gathering of Canadian blind persons to occur anywhere in Canada each year.
During the convention scholarship winners will be able to meet other blind students and exchange information and ideas. Recipients may also meet and talk with blind people who are successfully functioning in their chosen profession or occupation.
Above all, a broad cross section of the most active segment of the blind population of Canada will be present to discuss common problems and plan for concerted action.
The convention is always interesting and exciting.

Wayne and Walter Gretzky Scholarship Foundation

The Foundation honours the Gretzky's commitment to visually impaired young Canadians. Established in 1996, the foundation continues the Gretzky family tradition of assistance to eligible blind and visually impaired students studying or planning to study at the post-secondary level.

To be eligible applicants must be blind or severely visually impaired, planning to or currently pursuing full time studies and be a Canadian citizen or Landed immigrant for at least one year prior to submitting an application for consideration.

Applicants are expected to have achieved high academic standing and have superior intellectual ability. Those skills can be demonstrated through an essay and responses on the application form. The award is worth $5,000 and the number of awards may vary. Applications must be received by August 1st. For additional information contact the Wayne and Walter Gretzky Scholarship Foundation, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 1929 Bayview Avenue, Toronto ON M4G 3E8, Tel: (416) 486-2500; Fax: (416) 480-7724, Web site: www.cnib.ca

The Active Living Alliance for Canadians with Disabilities Graduate Student Research Award

The Active Living Alliance promotes active lifestyles for Canadians with disabilities. The Alliance supports the efforts of graduate students conducting research that encourages themes of physically active lifestyles among Canadians with disabilities.

The winner of this award will be sponsored to present the findings of their research at the National Alliance Forum and a formal presentation will be made to the recipient at that time. The award includes travel costs to and from the forum, a waiver of conference registration fees, and shared accommodation.

Students currently enrolled in a graduate level program at a Canadian university are eligible to apply. The applicant must be the principal author of the submitted paper. The research must exemplify the vision, mission, and the goals of the Alliance. In addition, the research project must relate to disability and sport, recreation and leisure, physical education, or the physically active lifestyles of Canadians with disabilities.

Research projects are not eligible under three conditions: 1) if they have been previously published or presented at a conference or symposium; 2) if the research is eligible for travel funds through other funding sources; 3) if the applicant is a previous winner of the award.

Applications will be judged on the basis of compliance with the overall eligibility criteria, availability to be present at the Forum, strength of the application and the strength of the research project. The application deadline is March 1st each year. For more information or to obtain an application contact the Active Living Alliance for Canadians with Disabilities, 1101 Prince of Wales Drive, Suite 230, Ottawa Ontario, K2C3W7 or call 1-800-771-0663, or (613) 723-8710, Email: disability.alliance@rtm.activeliving.ca
National Scholarships and Grants

Parke – Davis Epilepsy Scholarship Program

The Parke-Davis Scholarship Program administers 16 scholarships annually for students with epilepsy. Each scholarship is worth $3,000. Applicants must be currently under a physician’s care for treatment of epilepsy and must be taking anti-epileptic medication.

The program is open to high school seniors who have applied to a university or college program and students currently in post-secondary studies. To apply applicants must obtain application materials and submit a completed form with a 250-word essay. Applicants will need one letter of recommendation from their physician and one letter of recommendation from a teacher, principal, or employer. Applicants will have to provide proof of registration and attach relevant high school or college transcripts. The selection of successful candidates is based on academic merit and extracurricular activities. The deadline for application is March 1st. Alberta

The Alberta Committee of Citizens With Disabilities (ACCD) 25th Anniversary Scholarship Program

The Alberta Committee of Citizens With Disabilities (ACCD) is the grass-roots provincial organization of people with disabilities in Alberta. The ACCD has undertaken to improve the lives of people with disabilities living in Alberta. To that aim, the ACCD has created a bursary to be awarded to people with disabilities in order to assist them in furthering their expertise in the educational field of their choosing, thus enhancing the individual's accomplishments.

The applicant must meet the following criteria:
1. An Alberta citizen with a disability.
2. A member, or willing to become a member, of the ACCD.
3. Use the funds, if awarded, within the province of Alberta.
4. Be at least 18 years of age.
5. Complete an application form and provide a letter of reference from an adult other than a family member.

The bursary may be used for course materials and or tuition fees. The total number of awards given each year varies. The total amount awarded is $2000.00 with each disbursement ranging from $200.00 to $500.00.

The Selection Committee will be made up of three elected members of the Board of Directors of the Alberta Committee of Citizens with Disabilities. Applicants are judged on their motivation, level of need and economic circumstances. Winners of the bursary will be announced at the ACCD Annual General Meeting. All application materials must be received at the ACCD office by April 30th. For more information contact: Alberta Committee for Citizens with Disabilities, #707, 10339-124 Street, Edmonton, AB, T5N 3W1, Telephone: (780) 488-9088, Fax: (780) 488-3757, TTY: (780) 488-9090, Toll-free: 1-800-387-2514.

Alberta Blue Cross 50th Anniversary Bursary for Students with Special Needs

Offered annually to first-year students entering any undergraduate faculty at the University of Calgary who will incur additional expenses due to a disability/handicap. The award will be based on academic merit and financial need. Applicants must provide proof of disability (i.e. doctor's statement). To be eligible for this award, students must be graduates of an Alberta high school and be registered full time but need not carry a full course load. For information, contact: Student Awards Offices at post-secondary institutions in the Province of Alberta. The Deadline for application is December 1st.

The National Educational Association of Disabled Students
British Columbia

Kit Davison Bursary Endowment Fund

This fund is administered by the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada, B.C. region, and was established in the name of Kit Davison. Students who have muscular dystrophy and wish to continue their studies at any post-secondary institution in the province of British Columbia are eligible. In order to apply, students must be registered with the Muscular Dystrophy Association, a resident of B.C., and a grade 12 graduate. The value of the award is $500, with one presented each school year. The deadline for applications is August 1, and all enquiries are to be directed to: M.S. Association, Suite 123, 1600 West 6th Avenue, Vancouver, British Columbia; V6J 1R3.

The Derek Saltzberg Memorial Bursary

The Saltzberg family has established this bursary in the amount of $500. The student who receives the award must have muscular dystrophy and be registered with the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada. Studies may take place at any post-secondary institution in British Columbia. In order to receive applications write to: the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada, B.C. Region, Suite 123, 1600 West 6th Avenue, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6J 1R3. Applications must be completed and returned to the Association by August 1st each year.

Province of British Columbia International Year of Disabled Persons Bursaries

Established to recognize the International Year of Disabled Persons (1981), several annual bursaries valued at $500 each are available to assist students with disabilities. The recipients are determined on the basis of both financial need and academic merit. To be eligible for the Province of British Columbia International Year of Disabled Persons Bursaries, a student must be a resident of B.C. and a Canadian citizen or landed immigrant. Application forms are available through: the Grant Coordinator, B.C. Paraplegic Foundation, 780 S. Marine Drive, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6P 5Y7.

The Robinson and Buckland Memorial Bursary

Sponsored by the Canadian National Institute For The Blind in memory of a former Director of the B.C. Yukon Division of the Institute, the Robinson and Buckland Memorial Bursary is issued a maximum of two times to applicants enrolled in a four year program. Those students enrolled in a two year program can receive the award only once. To be eligible, students must be registered with the CNIB. Applications can be accessed through the CNIB, 350 East 36th Avenue, Vancouver, British Columbia, V5W 1C6. The deadline to apply is no later than August 15th each year.
B.C. Paraplegic Association Club of Victoria Scholarship
Each year a physically disabled student with "permanent mobility impairments" is eligible for a scholarship in the amount of $1,200. A committee composed of three bodies selects recipients. The committee includes a representative from the Senate Committee on Awards, Student and Ancillary Services of the University of Victoria, and the B.C. Paraplegic Association. To obtain application forms, applicants should contact the Office of the Administrative Registrar of the university. The deadline for submissions is April 30th each year.

C. Deans Memorial Scholarship
The Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Paraplegic Association, B.C. Division, offers a scholarship in the amount of $250 each year. All students with disabilities attending universities in the province are eligible to submit an application, providing they are pursuing a degree in engineering. If no suitable candidate is available from this field, submissions will be accepted from students in other programs of study. Academic performance is the principle criterion for selection. First preference will be given to candidates nominated by the B.C. Division of the Canadian Paraplegic Association. Applications should be submitted by August 15th to the Canadian Paraplegic Association, 780 S. Marine Drive, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6P 5Y7.
Using the Information Superhighway

In the information age the use of the Internet is a vital resource. This is true with all types of information, including assistance with obtaining funding for post-secondary education. Here are a few uniquely Canadian sites, and one American site, that are valuable for those seeking a solution to worries about money while going to school. Of course, there are other great sites that you can search for on your own.

www.canlearn.ca CanLearn Interactive is supported by Human Resources Development Canada and is intended “to provide an Internet-based one-stop resource for learning information, products and services that support decision-making by individual Canadians in pursuit of their learning and career goals.”

This is a site that allows the search for funding to be uniquely tailored to one’s specific needs. It involves a six-step registration process, which can seem tedious but there is a purpose. The web site is built around a scholarship database and it matches scholarships to the particular need of the person based on information provided in the personalized registration process. In addition to the scholarships, there is an accessibility guide of particular interest to people with disabilities and other general information designed to make planning for the future easier.

www.studentawards.com This is similar to the Canlearn site. The site offers opportunities to get help in making applications for academic scholarships.

www.scholarshipscanada.ca This is a new site that is just beginning to build a knowledge base. It is still worth checking out.

www.schoolfinder.com This is primarily designed for those earlier in the education process but it may also be useful to students pursuing college or university study.

www.heath-resource-center.org The HEATH Resource Center of the American Council on Education is the national clearinghouse on post-secondary education for individuals with disabilities. Support from the U.S. Department of Education enables HEATH to serve as an information exchange about educational support services, policies, procedures, adaptations and opportunities at American campuses, vocational-technical schools and other post-secondary training entities.

HEATH has a number of excellent publications available including: “The 1999 Financial Aid Guide For Students With Disabilities.” The first copy ordered is available free of charge. HEATH promotes the publication as: “...a resource paper that guides the student through a maze of funding options available to help pay for post-secondary study. In addition to providing an overview of federal and state based financial aid sources, the paper includes a listing of private, disability related scholarships as well as detailed references of resources in print on the internet.”
Scholarship and Award Programs Available at Individual Institutions

The institutions listed below may not have reported special programs directed at students with disabilities. Many refer students to government funding programs. In addition, these institutions acknowledge that students with disabilities are eligible for general programs aimed at assisting all students.

Awards and Bursaries

The Dr. John Davis Burton Award

Awarded annually, when merited, on the recommendation of the Assistant Director (Special Needs), Counselling and Student Life Services at Carleton University, assisted by a Selection Committee, to a student in good standing attending either Carleton University, University of Ottawa, La Cité Collégiale, or Algonquin College, who has made a significant contribution toward awareness, equality and integration of persons with disabilities within his/her educational community. Established by students, family and friends in memory of Dr. John Davis Burton who was a champion and advocate for persons with disabilities throughout his career as an educator. This award was endowed in 1992.

The recipient of the award is chosen by a Selection Committee, which consists of administrative representatives from each of the area’s post-secondary institutions. The Committee also includes a student member from each participating school, with preference given to representatives from student government “whose portfolio contains disability issues.” The value for this award varies. The application deadline is March 31st each year.

The applicant may be a full or part-time student, or a special student (in good standing); attending one of the four participating schools; and be able to demonstrate a commitment to issues affecting students with disabilities. When presenting the Dr. John Davis Burton Award, preference is first given to a student with a learning disability, second to a student with another disability, third to any student in good standing with the necessary qualifications.

Disabled Student Bursary Fund
This bursary was endowed in 1988 in memory of Joy MacLaren. It is available to any student with a disability who demonstrates financial need. The value of the Disabled Student Bursary Fund varies.

The University also offers the Harold Lithwick Memorial Scholarship. One scholarship is awarded each year. In order to be eligible, applicants must have completed three credits towards a degree. The application deadline is April 30th.

Value: $300 (3)

Awards and Bursaries

The Lisa Huus Memorial Fund

This bursary is presented annually to a student with a “severe disability” to begin or complete university study at the University of Victoria. In order to be eligible to apply, students must have two or more organ systems affected by their disability; for example, the nervous system or the muscular system. Under special circumstances students who have other kinds of disabilities may be considered. Applications must be submitted no later than May 31 each year to: Financial Aid Office, University of Victoria or the G.R. Pearkes Centre For Children, 3970 Haro Road, Victoria, British Columbia, V8N 4A9.
Value: $1500

The Bevan Bursary

Students who have disabilities related to blindness, deafness, arthritis, or any other physical disability, and are planning to begin or complete studies at the University of Victoria, are eligible for two bursaries. If no applications are received from disabled students, any student with demonstrated financial need can apply. The Senate Committee on Awards at the University of Victoria selects the recipients based upon recommendations from the Student Financial Aid Services Office. Value: $800

The L.G. Butler Scholarship For The Disabled
One disabled student attending the University of Victoria is eligible for an award based on academic performance. The recipient may be entering or completing a program at the university. The Senate Committee on Awards is responsible for selecting students for the award, from applications that are submitted by April 15th each year. Value: $1600

Awards and Bursaries

David Conrad Bursary Fund

David J. Conrad began his studies in Political Science at York University in 1987. In addition to his academic pursuits, David was active in every aspect of student life. This included his participation in the student government and involvement with a variety of on-campus student clubs. He was a respected student leader and he inspired all of those who had the pleasure of knowing him. Unfortunately, in April 1992, David passed away as a result of his life-long battle with muscular dystrophy. This award was established to honour his memory. Applicants must have financial need and have demonstrated an extracurricular commitment to improving the life of students with disabilities at York. Applications are available from the Office for Persons with Disabilities.

The Office for Persons with Disabilities Bursary/Loan Fund

The Office for Persons with Disabilities has established a bursary/loan fund, which will be used for emergency financial assistance to disabled students at York University. Application forms are available at the Office for Persons with Disabilities.

Edith A. Horsley Bursary

The award honours Mrs. Edith A. Dugelby (née Horsley), mother of J. Bruce Dugelby, who has worked at York since 1965. Mrs. Dugelby was born in Bolton, Lancashire, England in 1904. She became a trained singer and ballerina before being married, but unfortunately the opportunities to further her career were not available. In later life she has experienced chronic disabilities. These disabilities have severely restricted her lifestyle but she has, through her son, kept informed on the progress of the University. She has particular admiration for those who, although restricted by disabilities, strive to complete their education and consequently improve their lifestyle. It is Mrs. Dugelby's wish that a student(s) who has a chronic physical disability and also requires financial aid should receive a contribution towards their education while at York.
Learning Disabilities Association of North York Bursary

This bursary was donated by the Learning Disabilities Association of North York to help learning disabled students in financial need.

Vera Morris Bursary

Although she had to cope with arthritis from her earliest youth, the last thing anyone might have called Vera Morris was "handicapped". Throughout her life she was active and interested in everything and everyone around her. Born in 1911 in Winnipeg, Vera led an exceptionally full and active life. She was a nursery school teacher, mother, freelance writer, a politically active crusader and fervent nationalist. At 60, she began a new career as a travel agent and took advantage of her position to pursue her love for travel, taking trips to the Caribbean, Europe and Asia, including Hong Kong on two canes. This bursary is available to York students with physical disabilities.

The information contained in this section does not include all post-secondary institutions. The schools listed are those that responded to a project questionnaire that was distributed in the summer and fall of 1999. We also updated information compiled for a 1993 directory.
