This eighth-grade lesson teaches about military battles and the lives of women during the U.S. Civil War. Students work both individually and in groups, assuming the perspective of a young woman who has left home to join the war effort. The lesson progresses along the following steps: (1) "Getting Started" (Focus on a particular woman's role); (2) "Civil War 'Spiders'" (Brainstorming); (3) "Cyber Scavenger Hunt" (Internet research); (4) "Flowing Terrific Terms" (Vocabulary); (5) "A Young Girl's Life" (Diary reading); (6) "Meeting a Spy and Other Stories" (Diary reading); (7) Internet Research; (8) "Keeping in Touch with Home" (Letter writing); (9) "Dynamite Drawings" (Creating maps, scenery, props, etc.); (10) "Storyboards"; (11) "Practice Presentation"; (12) "Final Group Presentation." "Reflection" presents questions for thought and discussion. Includes a teacher's guide, which outlines lesson purpose, student skills, lesson pacing, resources and materials, interdisciplinary connections, and vocabulary. (BT)

NOT JUST A MAN'S WAR:

Women in the American Civil War 1861-65

(A SDAIE Lesson)

You are a young woman in 1862 who has only recently left your girlhood home to join the war effort for your side in the Civil War or War Between the States. News of battles dominates the headlines and events of the war are shared among people at every opportunity. Young men you know have been killed or wounded. People you care about have been tragically effected by the war. You will be writing letters to one person in your family...a grandparent, parent, husband, brother or sister..to share your concerns. This is your ONLY contact with home because there were no telephones or computers back then. You are homesick. Hearing about your family, friends, and their lives helps you to feel better. It also helps you to share your joys and unhappiness about the war with them. You want to help your side of the war and will not leave your job until the war is over.

The letter below from your mother explains the project:
February 1, 1862

My Dear,

I know you are surprised to get a letter from me. Cousin Fred is helping me write to you because we are all worried about you. This war has made life very difficult for everyone. It has pitted families against families, and brothers against brothers. I know that you are strong in your beliefs to help our side of the War, but I MUST hear from you. I cannot think about anything else but you and the dangerous situations you must be in right now. I can't sleep. You left before I could say goodbye. I don't know what you volunteered to do in the War. What is your job and its duties? Don't leave out a word, as I want to know it all! Do you like it? As you have never been away from home before, I know you are seeing and learning many new things.

I am trying to learn whatever I can from the newspapers even though Cousin Fred is just beginning to teach me to read. I must know what is happening in this awful war. Thank goodness I have a dictionary to look up any new words I come across. It's amazing how many new words there can be! When you use new words in your letters, please share their meanings with me. There must be special words the soldiers speak. I also enjoy learning "slang words" or words made up, even though they aren't considered proper English. I try to learn ten new words a week. You can help me meet my goal as I am sure you are hearing lots of new words. The lilacs you planted are blooming. The air smells sweet with flowers on the hillsides. Every time I walk near the flowers, I think of you. I know how much you love flowers, the land and animals. Tell me about the countrside where you are now. Are there hills, valleys, swamps, lakes, streams, plateaus, etc. What is the land like? Is it like dear sweet home? Will it be important if the war comes to where you are? Please draw me a map of the area so I can see in my mind a picture of where you are now. I know you'll love drawing this map as you were always doodling, even in the dirt.

Everyone here is fine, except for Aunt Sallie. She was walking home from Crooked Bend and a thunderstorm hit. She was about five miles away from home. She hid in Beaver Creek Cave until the worst of the storm was over. Then she continued walking home. The rain continued and she caught a mighty fierce cold. She coughs all the time and is very hot. We are nursing her with ma's famous chicken soup. We are concerned about her, but think she'll be fine in a few days.

Talking about ma's chicken soup reminds me how hungry I am right now. I have to close as it's supper time. We are having stew and homemade biscuits today. Yum! Yum! What did you eat today? Are they feeding you well? Is it as good as our home cooking? Do you need any food, supplies or clothes sent? Let me know and I'll try to get you what you need.

Write soon, I beg of you. I miss you terribly and think of you all the time. I hope this war ends fast so you can be back home with us. Love, Mamma
THE TASK:

You will learn about military battles and the lives of women during the American Civil War, 1861-1865 using both the Internet and other resources. You will work both by yourself and in a group throughout this unit. Your group will write 2 letters from a woman who may have lived during the Civil War and 2 letters from the woman's relative. In these four letters you will include factual information that could have applied to these people. Have fun as you:

- learn words spoken then and the kinds of food they ate.
- read actual letters written during the War.
- make flags, write letters, draw a map, and act.
- make scenery (or background) and props for a final group presentation.
- make a videotape.
- present what you have learned to the class as a 15 minute play or Reader's Theater based on the letters.

THE PROCESS:

STEP 1 - GETTING STARTED

You will be assigned to a group with 3 other students. Each group will focus on a different woman's role and family experiences during the Civil War.

The groups are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>UNION (NORTH)</th>
<th>CONFEDERACY (SOUTH)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 1: nurse</td>
<td>GROUP 5: nurse</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 2: spy</td>
<td>GROUP 6: soldier</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 3: soldier</td>
<td>GROUP 7: soldier</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 4: Boston woman with kids</td>
<td>GROUP 8: Atlanta refugee (home burned)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Figure 2
Family Group at Cedar Mountain, Virginia.

(Library of Congress)
To get started...

- Decide on a name for your group's woman.
- Decide on a name for the relative.
- Decide the role of the relative (grandparent, parent, husband, sister or brother)
- On a piece of paper for the group, write down group members' names, duties and roles.
- Copy the paper.
- Give one copy to the teacher and put the other in your group Civil War folder.

STEP 2 - CIVIL WAR "SPIDERS"

This activity is the same thing as a clustering or brainstorming. Make a circle for the spider's body in the center of your paper and write the name CIVIL WAR in it. Then make spider legs, or straight lines, from the spider's body. On each leg, write 1 fact you know about the Civil War. Your spider might have more legs than a real life spider, which has 8 legs.

1. Using you text or other books as reference, create a cluster, or "spider," showing what you know about the Civil War.

2. Share your cluster with your group. When done, put your paper in Civil War Group Folder.

3. Make a new huge group cluster on construction paper showing everyone's information.

4. Share your group cluster with the class, make needed corrections and use it in writing your letters.

STEP 3 - CYBER SCAVENGER HUNT

Your group will be playing a game called Cyber Scavenger Hunt. You are given a list of things to find. The first group that finds all the things wins the game. Your group will be using the Internet to find things listed on the Scavenger Hunt List. Be sure and tell the teacher when you are done, as you might be the first group done. You will enjoy this game, even if you don't win, because you are already winners! This game will help you review how to use the Internet. It will also give you information you'll need for your letters.
1. Your group will be assigned a battle site or area. Everything you find out in your hunt will be about this battle or area.

2. Use the Internet to find YOUR group's Scavenger Hunt battle information. The battle will be assigned by your teacher.

3. Complete the Cyber Scavenger Hunt and write down needed information about your battle. After the game, put this paper in your group's Civil War Folder to use later.

STEP 4 - FLOWING TERRIFIC TERMS

Flowing Terrific Terms activity will also be fun. The following sites have all the information for you to complete this activity. You will be completing a Flowchart. Flowcharts are a way of showing how something works. In a flowchart, there are arrows and sometimes numbers. To go from one box to another in a flowchart, you have to follow the numbers. Your flowchart will help you learn new words. You learn the first, and then move to the second and so on. You will also use your flowchart to be sure that you have used 10 new Civil War words in your letters. Remember, each group member chooses 10 DIFFERENT words. You may help each other with ideas to draw your illustrations or pictures. Your pictures should be simple and easy to draw. Stick figures are great! These pictures will help you remember what the words mean.

1. Visit and read the following handouts with Civil War information:

   SOLDIER'S VOCABULARY

   MEDICAL VOCABULARY

   SLANG WORDS

2. Choose 10 words from the above handouts.

3. Check with your group members to be sure everyone has different words.

4. Complete the Flowing Terrific Terms paper. Each person in your group fills out a
STEP 5 - A YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE

Your group will read about a 10 year old girl named Carrie Berry. She lived in Atlanta during the Civil War when her city was burned. She wrote a daily diary, like many of you. In her diary you will learn about her life and the war. There is a glossary that was made for you. If you find any words you do not understand, check the Carrie Berry Glossary.

To read the Carrie Berry Diary from Aug. 1, 1864 to Jan. 4, 1865.
http://www.cee.indiana.edu/gopher/Turner_Adventure_Learning/Gettysburg_Archive/Primary_Resources/Berry_diary.txt

If you need help understanding words in the diary, check the Carrie Berry Glossary. As you read about her life, take notes on types of foods, daily life, chores, and other things of interest about life then.

With your group, make two Venn Diagrams to show
(http://www.sdcoe.k12.ca.us/score/actbank/tvenn.htm)

FOODS THEN and FOODS TODAY

HOME LIFE THEN and HOME LIFE TODAY

Share your diagrams with your group.

Place the Venn Diagrams in the group's Civil War Folder.
STEP 6 - MEETING A SPY & OTHER STORIES

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to meet a spy during the Civil War times? You will hear of that experience now. A Confederate Officer's wife kept a record of what she saw during the war. A book of her writings has been put together by Myrta Lockett Avary and you may read it now on the Internet by going to the A Virginia Girl's Diary at http://sunsite.unc.edu/docsouth/avary/avary.html

- Read Chapter V - I MEET BELLE BOYD AND SEE DICK IN A NEW LIGHT.
- Read Chapter XI - RESCUED BY THE FOE.

Take notes of interesting facts, your thoughts and feelings as you read the chapters. If you want to know more, look at the book's TABLE OF CONTENTS and choose other chapters to read.

EXTRA CREDIT option. Write a summary for each chapter you read.

STEP 8 - KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME

Everyone will write one letter. Write as if it were to someone you know. Explain your new experiences from the Civil War in detail. Remember, everything you see and do during the war is new to them. Make all of the facts accurate because our relatives and best friends (teacher and class) will learn history through your letters.

- Decide which two team members will pretend to be a Civil War woman writing to a relative or friend and which two will pretend to be the woman's at home relative writing back to her. Remember, each member writes 1 letter. You can help each other.

- Follow the writing process
  - Make a rough draft of your letter.
  - Have a team member edit your letter and sign it at the bottom. Save this copy.
  - Rewrite your letter, making corrections and additions. Save this copy.
  - Make your final copy with correct spelling and punctuation. Be neat!
Include these things in your letter

- Explain what happened in your assigned battle area
  - Include which side won, generals, famous people etc.

- Describe the geography
  - how it is like or different from home
  - how it helped or hurts your side in the battle

- Include 10 new Civil War words
  - explain special words used during this war including medicine words, slang or soldier's vocabulary
  - circle the 10 new Civil War vocabulary words in your letter.

- Describe the volunteer job that your group's assigned woman character does
  - include duties, roles and special things about her job

- Describe the living quarters of your assigned person including where you eat, sleep and spend your free time

- Describe your daily life and what you do in your free time.

- Describe what you eat.

- Ask for something specific that you need for your job or life at home

- Input your letter onto the computer to create a Fabulous Final copy. Save it and print it. This what you will read in your group's Final Presentation.

- Staple all the draft copies of your letter together and put them in your group's Civil War folder.

STEP 9 - DYNAMITE DRAWINGS

Your team now has the chance to create some dynamite drawings to use in your final presentation. Your team must decide how you want to divide up the duties on completing this job. Everything made must be accurate and look real, i.e. flag needs correct colors and symbols on it. Use your Internet Research, and other tools, to help you. Create the following:

- Draw a map of your assigned battle area and state to show the geography including mountains, rivers, capital city, and bodies of water.

- Make a flag representing your side in the war with an explanation of what various symbols on the flag mean.
Create simple scenery for your skit or reader's theater.

Make simple props.

STEP 10 - STORYBOARDS

Your next task is to create a storyboard of your Final Presentation. Storyboards are like cartoon strips with snapshot pictures of each part of your presentation. Storyboards help you plan your final group presentation. Your team will make 4 storyboards, one for each letter you have written. This will become the script for your play or final group presentation. Go to for sample storyboards. http://www.sdcoe.k12.ca.us/score/actbank/tboard.htm

REMEMBER all four group members need a speaking and acting part. Group members will play the following roles:

1. WOMAN
2. WOMAN'S LEADER OR BOSS
3. COURIER (mail carrier)
4. CO-WORKER

(If your group has a different idea for the characters in your play, discuss it with your teacher first.)

- With your group, discuss how to present the letter in a final group performance, either as a play or Reader's Theater.
- Decide how each letter will be presented. What will the actors be doing in the play? What words will they be saying?
- Draw storyboards in pencil.
- Label storyboards on the back in order of presentation with your group's number and names on back.
- Make copies for each team member and place the "MASTER" copy in your group's Civil War folder.

STEP 11 - PRACTICE PRESENTATION

Your group will have some time in class to practice, but you will also need to practice at home. This is also called "rehearsal." Try to memorize and be familiar with your part (but not the letters). The letters will be "read" as they are written and received during the final group presentation.
STEP 12 - FINAL GROUP PRESENTATION

Your final group presentation can be videotaped at home and brought in the day it's due. You may also perform live in class and the teacher will videotape.

LEARNING ADVICE:

1. Your letters will be written BEFORE presentation but you will PRETEND that you are writing letters to your relative during the skit. It makes it look believable if you move your hand in a writing motion as you read these letters.

2. Keep these items near the computer when you are researching:
   - paper and pencil
   - dictionary

3. ALWAYS put completed work in the Civil War Group Folder (kept by your teacher). This will make sure that your work is not lost or left at home when it's due. Each step will help you write your letters and plan your Final Group Presentation.

4. There will be daily and weekly deadlines so it is important to do all the assignments daily.

5. Recheck to see that you have written about EVERYTHING under the letters (KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME) and flowchart (FLOWING TERRIFIC TERMS).

6. Be sure and take notes on clothing and appearance of people back then. This will help you plan your final presentation in historical costume and be more believable.

7. Check the EVALUATION section of this unit to know what is expected of you. This will also help you plan for those great grades.

There will be both individual and group assignments throughout this unit. Evaluation will be based on teacher criteria for the individual assignments. The class will determine the rubric together for the Final Group Presentation grades.

Evaluation (grade) of work during this project will be based on the following:

25% Written Work and Drawings

- is legible and neat
- is the correct length
- uses appropriate English
includes 10 Civil War vocabulary words explained and circled in each letter includes 4 letters - 2 from relative and 2 from woman storyboards the presentation
includes a Confederate Flag and a United States Flag has Map of Battle area/state
includes other assignments determined by the teacher

25% Final Group Presentation

- actors use simple props (letters, map, Confederate Flag, clothes, scenery)
- speakers use correct English
- all 4 members have a speaking part
- each person speaks slowly, clearly and loudly so back of room can hear
- speakers don't say "um," "you know," "okay," or giggle in between sentences or thoughts
- speakers face audience
- actors stand still on both feet, act natural without fidgeting
- actors play all parts appropriately & in character
- play includes accurate facts and details
- play or readers theater is interesting

25% Research and Daily Work

- Student completes all tasks in the Cyber Scavenger Hunt
- Student uses time effectively
- Student cleans up/returns materials

25% Collaborative/Cooperative Learning and Social Skills

- Student works with the group appropriately and willingly each day.
- Student shares materials.
- Student demonstrates respect for the thoughts and presentations of others.

CONCLUSION:

Think back over what you have learned about the Civil War, women and civilian life. By yourself, you will make a new Civil War "Spider" for each of the following:

1. ways women helped in the Civil War
2. daily life during Civil War times for women and kids
3. ways families kept in touch during the Civil War
4. geography of the North
5. geography of the South
6. battles
7. foods from Civil War times
8. events from Civil War times
9. Civil War vocabulary
10. other (your choice)

REFLECTION:

This last step helps you and your teammates realize what you are good at and what you need to continue working on. In your group, think about how you did the research and your final group presentation. Remember, all comments should be made in a kind and positive manner. During the discussion, write notes of comments you agree with on your individual Reflection Sheet (a piece of notebook paper).

Discuss the following questions:

- What went well?
- What problems occurred?
- If you would do it again, what changes would you make?
- How could you have used your time more effectively?
- How could you have improved how well people worked together?
- Pick one thing you didn't like about the project and explain why.
- Pick one thing you loved about the project and explain why.
TEACHER NOTES:

Grade Level/Unit:

Sheltered 8th Grade - Life During the Civil War for Women and Civilians

NOTE: Though this unit was written with the sheltered and special needs populations in mind, it can be used with all students populations. The lesson length would vary depending upon your students and time per class period. Instruction is "chunked" or broken into manageable pieces for special needs learners to experience success and enjoyment.

The lesson is intended to follow an overview of the American Civil War from a film, the text and/or teacher direct instruction. Create a timeline and have a large map of the U.S. in the 1860's available for student reference as they do the spider activity.

Lesson Purpose:

While examining life during the Civil War for women and civilians, students will

1. use and identify types of primary sources used to document life during Civil War (letters, diaries, books, photographs etc.)
2. develop historical empathy for the women and civilians who lived during the Civil War
3. examine the lives of women from multiple points of view (geographic and occupational)
4. identify forms of communication, keeping in touch with the family, during Civil War period
5. identify the efforts, jobs and duties of women during the Civil War
6. identify effects of Civil War on daily life of women, children, and other civilians
7. describe daily life during Civil War
8. describe the geography and its importance to war and people during the Civil War
9. learn basic battle information
10. practice interpersonal and relationship skill through cooperative/collaborative learning
11. practice and increase decision-making skills
12. improve study skills

Information Literacy Skills:

Students will:

1. use problem solving skills throughout the unit
2. organize information learned to complete daily assignments and a culminating final group project
3. increase reading, understanding and usage of both verbal and written English
4. learn to recognize factual information
5. compare and contrast differences and similarities

Lesson Length:

2-4 weeks is required for the entire project depending upon type of student population.

1-2 days are needed for most project steps. These can be used independently to supplement your own unit.

Suggested Pacing for a Sheltered Class:

The following is a suggested plan, based on a 45 minute class period, to use this unit with sheltered students:

Week 1:

- GETTING STARTED
- CIVIL WAR "SPIDERS"
- CYBER SCAVENGER HUNT
- FLOWING TERRIFIC TERMS

Week 2:

- A YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE
- MEETING A SPY & OTHER STORIES
- INTERNET RESEARCH

Week 3:

- KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME
- DYNAMITE DRAWINGS
Week 4:

STORYBOARDS
PRACTICE PRESENTATION
FINAL GROUP PRESENTATION

Additional Resources and Materials:

Supplies

- paper (lined and blank), pencil, erasers
- colored pencils or marking pens
- construction paper
- rulers, scissors, and glue sticks

Lesson Sequence:

Introduction

After doing some background teaching about the political issues and chronology of events from the era of the Civil War, the teacher asks the class to imagine how it would be to live 140 years ago. The following questions will help lead the thoughts and discussion, if needed:

What would be different? What would be the same?

They did not have televisions or cars back then. What other things do you have that weren't invented then?

What was life like for people living then?

Groups

Assign students to groups of four. Select the groups based on student abilities and personalities. Assign each group a group number, type of woman during Civil War period and battle or area. You might let the students choose battle areas, with approval.

Spider Activity

In their group, after they have completed this activity listed under the student section, they share all spider information. As each group member talks, the other members add to their individual spiders any information not listed, but deemed accurate.

Each group compiles information into a GROUP SPIDER. The group draws on construction paper (one piece per group). Each group takes a turn and shares their spider with the class. They are posted around the room and kept until the end of the unit. Then have students do activity again and compare their new results. They will be amazed at how much they learned!

Students tell the teacher the needed Civil War information. The teacher writes the information on poster paper. The chart is kept around class throughout the unit and reviewed every week (or day). New information as learned is added to the chart as teacher spends the last few minutes of the period, or the beginning of the class having students recall what was learned. This allows students to be able to refer to chart during the unit and use as a guide for writing, (reinforces both memory and proper spelling).

Assign the following battle areas and sites to each group:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>UNION (NORTH)</th>
<th>CONFEDERATE (SOUTH)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 1: Fort Sumter</td>
<td>GROUP 5: Fredericksburg</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 2: Bull Run or Manassas</td>
<td>GROUP 6: Vicksburg</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 3: Antietam</td>
<td>GROUP 7: Gettysburg</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROUP 4: Harper's Ferry</td>
<td>GROUP 8: Atlanta</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Review Internet procedures, if needed. Students are to find basic information about their assigned battle and incorporate in their letters:

Flowing Terrific Terms

Give each student a FLOWING TERRIFIC TERMS worksheet. Each student visits three Civil War vocabulary sites and chooses 10 words different from other group members' words. The activity involves students creating a pictorial illustration and writing word meanings in their own words. Demonstrate and reinforce that "stick figures" are fine to make. This is not being graded for art. This is one form of a graphic organizer which has been successful in helping students remember vocabulary and meanings.
A Young Girl's Life

A glossary for a portion of the diary (CARRIE BERRY GLOSSARY) has been made to assist students in this activity. The diary is rich with details of Atlanta's experiences during the war. This is also a great resource to learn about daily life, chores, free time and foods eaten.

Meeting a Spy and Other Stories

An extra credit assignment is listed in the student section. You may want to develop another or eliminate that section.

Internet Research

Students work alone or with their group to find other information useful to the writing of the final letters and final group presentation. If you can have access to a bank of computers with Internet access for these days of the lesson, the time will be much better spent. If a lab is not available, rotate student groups to the computers and have other groups do other parts of the activity. You can also print off some of the letters and sections from the diary for off line use.

Keeping in Touch

This portion of the lesson will require time and monitoring. The writing process listed under the student section is a suggestion for teachers. There are many great ways to go through the process.

Dynamite Drawings

Students love this portion of the unit. The amount of time spent here depends upon the teaching schedule, type of class, talents of the students (and the teacher), etc. This area can be easily adapted to allow more or less time in this section. Students also can complete some of this work at home. Props and scenery can also be extremely simple (just a head covering for the character and a sheet for a tent) to the elaborate. Having props and scenery helps these students to visualize, experience, and acquire a better understanding of the historical time period. Students often view the final project more seriously when this section is also emphasized. This section also allows the artistically creative students to shine.

Storyboards

This activity helps students plan their final group presentation in a fun and concrete way. They write a storyboard, like a cartoon strip of the scenes in their presentation. It's helpful to point out to them not to spend a lot of time on the pictures. The purpose of this activity is to put in writing their words and scenes. If they draw one scene per piece of paper, they can experiment with the placement of the scenes. The final order will be their final presentation order. They then number the order on the back and write their Period Number, Group Number and Group Members' Names on the back of each storyboard.
Practice Presentation

Some class time is given for practice but it helps to encourage groups to practice for homework. Groups planning to videotape at home need to plan meetings and video times. Students are to prepare for 15 minutes and time themselves. In reality, the presentations will be 10-15 minutes as students forget lines and speak fast when presenting.

Final Group Presentation

Final group presentations take about 1-3 days depending on the size of the class. Students should take notes during the presentations. This helps to ensure focused attention and increases learning. After each group presentation, the teacher can help reinforce concepts and fill in the gaps of learnings missed by students. Students can add this information to their notes. Notes can be collected for an additional assignment or taken home to study for a mini-assessment the next day.
