This curriculum unit supplement for middle school and secondary teachers helps students in grades 5-12 explore Egypt and Israel, in both ancient and modern contexts. The unit supplement begins with student objectives, such as practicing map and research skills and reviewing summary information concerning historic and current interests. It provides information about Egyptian and Israeli cities, landmarks, transportation, and commerce, and offers historical background on both regions. (BT)
A Tour of Modern and Historic Egypt and Israel

A compiling of data to assist 5th-12th grade students in exploring these both ancient and modern countries.

Having toured Egypt and Israel in the summer of the year 2000 under the capable authority of the Fulbright Offices and Ministries of Education of both of these countries, I would like to thank the many people involved who offered us so much of their time and attention, making these tours the marvellous experience that they were.

King Tut (King Tut’s gold coffin -2,500 lbs. of gold) is estimated to be worth $13,000,000 today) King Tut became pharaoh at nine years old, died at nineteen. Only pharoahs tomb to be found untouched by robbery. relics of Egyptian pharonic history
Giza Plateau 9 miles west of Cairo, west side of Nile (where the sun sets)

Khufu (Cheops) Pyramid built around 2589-2566 BC, 482 feet high – largest most massive stone structure in the world, 2,300,000 blocks- average weight 2.5 tons each (some as much as 15 tons), base area 13 acres, larger than 10 football fields, 100,000 men took 20 years to build it says Herodotus, monument to power of Egyptian state Only the king was buried inside, his wives buried in nearby mastabas. Granite doors, fake burial chambers, extra passages placed in pyramid to throw off robbers. Interior shaft thought to be directed toward Orion’s belt to help king’s spirit find it’s way. Milky Way-the Nile of the heavens. Spirits inhabit stars upon death of mortals, 3 pyramids lined up with stars of Orion’s belt. Sarcophagus of granite much larger than passageway, must have been built into pyramid. Outside is the mortuary temple area. Three small pyramids east of Great Pyramid thought to be for his sister (also wife) Merites, and two other queens. 5 boat pits were found around base of the pyramid, one reassembled boat is now on display in on site (See National Geographic ) museum. Thought to be used for after-life travel, or to accompany sun god through the sky.

Chephren (Khephren, Khafre) Pyramid 2650 BC, son and successor of Khufu, pyramid smaller but built on higher ground 409.2 feet. Capped with smooth white limestone, all that remains of the original pyramid covering.

Menkaure Pyramid (2600 BC 204 feet showing signs of decline in workmanship, unfinished in Granite encasement, Menkaure’s sarcophagus was lost at sea being shipped to England. Menkaure is Khefren’s son, Khefren (Chephren) is Cheop’s (Khufu) son Burial space for king and wife.

Sphinx (originally Greek name meaning “strangler” given to creature with the head of a woman, body of a lion and the wings of a bird). Lion with man’s (King Chephren’s) head 66ft high, 240 ft. long, face 13 ft. wide, eyes 6 ft. high. Single naturally located sandstone. Built by Chephren to guard his pyramid. Faces rising sun. Buried most of it’s life in sand. King Thutmose IV placed a stela between the paws of the Sphinx describing when as a hunting prince he fell asleep in the shade of the Sphinx. In a dream the Sphinx told him to clear away the sand, as the Sphinx was choking, and Thutmose would become king. The operation was carried out and Thutmose later became king. The sacred cobra, nose, and beard are missing (beard is in the British Museum). The Sphinx has lasted as long as it has because of being buried in the sand. It is crumbling, the surface breaking down from weather and pollution despite efforts to restore it.

Abu Simbel Temple Ramses II two temples 66ft high statues of Ramses saved from rising waters of Lake Nassar in 1960s by moving temples and hills to higher ground (212 ft. up and 690 ft. back) UNESCO project. Buried in sand from ancient times, rediscovered and uncovered in the early 1800s by European explorers (discovered by Swiss Johann Ludwig Burckhardt –1813 and dug out by Italian Giovanni Battista Belzoni-1817). It has become a favorite tourist site ever since for reasons of it’s monumental sculpture and it amazing removal to the top of the hill. The temple was originally built by Ramses II in honor of himself, offering evidence in carving and painting of his military accomplishments including hieroglyphic narration of the epic poem by court poet Pentaur recounting the king’s campaigns including those against the Hittites. Deep in the mountain at the end of the main hallway are four carved seated figures, Ramses himself with the gods Amon-Ra, Ptah, and Harmakhis. Twice a year at the solstices, light from the sun illuminates the passage to shine on most of these figures as it only can on only those days. (It doesn’t shine on Ptah who is the god of darkness). After the monument was moved up the hill, even with modern technology involved, the angle was completed slightly off so that now the sun shines through to the end on the day after the king’s birthday.

Nearby is the Temple of Hathor, dedicated to Ramses’favorite wife Nefertari, which for the first time in Egyptian history portrays the queen side by side and just as tall as the king himself.

Lake Nassar/Aswan Dam (see National Geographic Jan. 1995)
Alexandria The pearl of the Mediterranean, 2nd largest city in Egypt. Originally founded and named for Alexander the Great, became a center for the strongest aspects of Greek culture.

Former site of Pharos, legendary lighthouse - one of 7 Wonders of the World (125m high, 300 rooms at bottom for workers, the lantern and top two stories fell around 700AD and the rest was destroyed by an earthquake around 1100AD) beacon of culture, Alexandria is the site of Cleopatra and Marc Anthony's relationship, now known for commerce, cosmopolitanism and Bohemian culture.

Recent discoveries in the harbor of what is hoped to be remains of ancient lighthouse, also the Royal Quarters, statues and columns possible site for future underwater exhibit.

Greco-Roman theatre, museum, catacombs

Library In ancient Alexandria an internationally renowned library was built in the 4th century becoming the world's first university in what was known as the intellectual capitol of the world. Scholars included Euclid and Archimedes. This burnt down 1600 years ago. At present a new library, financed by many donations from many countries, is being built to revive this spirit of world cooperation in intellectual pursuit.

Israel

Israel is a country which connects three continents, Africa Asia and Europe, and being this connection rod has been over run continuously throughout history by a series of invaders. It is also the home area of the foundations of three of the worlds main religions and holds sites sacred to the Jewish, Christian, and Moslem faiths. It remains a country in dispute of ownership rights to it’s various territories and shrines.

Students will
Picture Israel’s location as a crossroads in the spreading of major western civilizations
Review the History of thousands of years of invasion and occupation by various groups
Understand the historic context of modern disputes
Observe and consider religious and historic monuments
Observe modern national parks as evidence of Israel’s interesting history

Invasion History
Some of the more renowned invasions of this region of the world include the following:

The original Hebrews arrived in this region then occupied by Canaanites in
The unified kingdom of Israel under the Kings Saul, David, Solomon, and Rehoboam lasted scarcely a century. The reign of Solomon placed the Hebrews as a military and economic force in the area. Under Rehoboam the ten tribes of the north broke away into their own kingdom.

- Assyrians 720 BC, King Sargon II defeated the Hebrews and deported many from the northern kingdom.
- Babylonians 597 BC, invaded Judea to the south and took many more of the people to Babylon as slaves. Under King Nebuchadnezzar II the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem and King Solomon’s temple.
- 539 BC Cyrus the Great of Persia conquered Babylon and allowed the Jews to return to Jerusalem where they rebuilt the temple.
- Greeks 339 BC Alexander the Great conquered Syria and Palestine. When Alexander died in 323 BC his kingdom was divided among his generals with Ptolemy of Egypt being given Palestine. In 198 BC it was taken by the Selucids of Syria. Hellenistic influences develop society with strong Greek culture. Religious freedom allowed until Antiochus IV Epiphanes started forcing complete Hellenization upon the region (including the worship of himself as a god) which resulted in a revolt by the Jews. Antiochus occupied Jerusalem and massacred the population. The Jews retook the city and region under the Maccabees.
- Romans 67 BC Pompey of Rome assisted in a civil war (between Pharisees-favoring more Helenization and Sadducees-against Hellenization) turning Palestine into a vassal state. Herod the Great rules as king under the Romans. Rome took over as complete rulers after the death of Herod in 4 BC. Palestine was in a constant state of rejecting Roman rule and was conquered and Jerusalem and the temple destroyed in AD 70 by Titus. AD 135 Emperor Hadrian renames Judaea calling it Syria Palestina. Destroyed Solomons temple and built a temple to Jupiter in it’s place.

Byzantine Emperor Heraclius overthrown by Moslem Arabs in AD 638 Caliph Abd-el-Malik built a mosque where Solomon’s temple had stood.

Crusaders invade Arab dominion of Palestine in 1099 and held the territory until 1291 when they were replaced by the Egyptian Mameluks who were replaced by the Ottoman Turks in 1516

1880-1910 30,000 Jews, encouraged by the writings of Theodor Herzl suggesting the creation of a Jewish state, arrive in Palestine. They bought land from the Turks and begin socialized farming. Jews side with British/French against Turks in WWI. British Minister Arthur Balfour suggests a national home for Jews in Palestine at the end of the war. Many more Jews arrive against the wishes of the Arabs. In 1922 the area is entrusted to Britain by the League of Nations. Many more Jews arrive between 1st and 2nd World Wars. After WWII, many Jewish survivors wish to emigrate to Palestine but Britain sets limits. Arab residents oppose increasing Jewish presence. The United Nations proposes that the land is split between Jewish and Arabic groups which is approved by the Jews and rejected by the Arabs. As British presence ceases in 1948 a Jewish State led by David Ben Gurion declares independence and the Arab League declares war. Israel is dominant in continuous battles. Jerusalem is divided between Jordan and Israel. June 1967, six day war in which Israel defeats Egypt, Jordanian, and Syrian forces, occupying the Sinai Peninsula, The Golan Heights and all of Jerusalem.

Oct 5th, 1973 Egypt and Syria attack Israel and are stopped after 2 weeks of bitter fighting. 1977 Egypt and Israel sign peace agreement, Sinai goes back to Egypt. Further disputes between Arab and Jewish inhabitants of Israel continue.

Variety of National parks

Israel is a nation of archeologists. Most of the population is fascinated by discoveries of the relics of millenniums of history. National parks feature many sites of historical excavations as well as natural areas of beauty. A sampling of these are;

Bet Guvrin-Maresha; City of caves, soft limestone chalk capped by harder limestone. Chalk quarried for building stones, excavations made into homes, churches, cemeteries, cystemns, pigeon cotes, and olive oil plants. Extensive cave system, many open to public

Masada. Site of a hilltop fortress, made into a splendid fortified palace by Herod. It became the refuge of zealots after the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans. Besieged by Roman soldiers in AD 72 the 950-some men, women, and children holed up there chose mass suicide rather than death at the hands of the Romans.

Ein Advat. A natural desert canyon with lovely walk along the river at it’s base and eventual hill climb up the cliff. Home to ibex, former home of Christian monks. Near Ben Gurion’s home and grave.
Bet She'an  Excavation of Roman town destroyed in earthquake and very complete in it's artifacts.
Bet She'arim  Catacomb site, particularly in 3rd and 4th centuries. Famous Rabbi and educator Yehuda Hanassi buried here.

Religious Sites and Shrines

Jewish
Western Wall  the only surviving piece of wall from the original temple destroyed by Rome. Now an area of prayer for the Jewish faithful.
Safed  home of ancient synagogues and seat of Rabbinical teaching and study

Christian
Church of the Nativity  Bethlehem  The site of the birth of Jesus Christ. Several churches in this complex, Palestinian control zone.
Church of the Annunciation  Nazareth, Dedicated to Mary the mother of Jesus, home village of the holy family, area includes well where the angel of God reportedly announced God's intention to have Mary be the mother of His son. Art work depicting Mary and Jesus on display from countries all over the world.
Holy Sepulchre  Jerusalem  The traditional site of the crucifixion and burial of Jesus.
The Garden Tomb, alternate site of burial and crucifixion suggested by protestant churches not to keen on the shrine atmosphere of the traditional site

Moslem
Haram el-Sharif, Dome of the Rock, al Aqsa Mosque  Jerusalem  Third holiest site in Islam after Mecca and Medina. Located on Mt. Moriah same area as previous Temple of Solomon destroyed by Romans. Site of Mohammed’s rising to heaven.
