The Internet has served to change, in a fundamental way, one educator's methods of instruction at Southern Arkansas University (SAU). Earlier this year, SAU became the third institution in the country to implement an interactive course syllabus system developed by George Washington University. Called "Prometheus," it allows instructors to develop Web-based materials for student use--through passwords and ID numbers, students log in to peruse course outlines, projects, and grades, while instructors initiate messages, discussions, and chat sessions. As the first SAU faculty member to use Prometheus (Speech 1113/Principles of Speech, First Summer Session 2000), the author/educator found it to be an outstanding instructional aid. This collection of documents contains a list of his current interactive courses, with numbers of students and "hits" in each. The collection also includes fall 2000 syllabi of principles of speech, radio production, broadcast performance, and introduction to mass communication courses. It is noted that Prometheus allows the instructor to make the syllabi longer and more richly textured, and that, for this particular educator, instructional techniques will never again be the same. (Print versions of the author's syllabi and other course materials developed on Prometheus comprise the majority of this paper.) (NKA)

The Internet has served to fundamentally change my methods of instruction at Southern Arkansas University. Earlier this year, SAU became the third institution in the country to implement an interactive course syllabus system developed by George Washington University. Prometheus allows instructors to develop Web-based materials for student use. Through passwords and ID numbers, students log in at any time to peruse course outlines, projects and individual grades. Instructors initiate messages, discussions and chat sessions. Internet links can be established in courses for research and writing assignments.

As the first SAU faculty member to use Prometheus (Speech 1113/Principles of Speech sections, First Summer Session 2000), I found it to be an outstanding instructional aid. For instance, detailed information concerning particular term papers of broadcast productions can be accessed on a course Web site. A tracking feature allows me to see which students are accessing interactive course syllabus Web sites, and for how long, for study purposes.
What follows are various Prometheus documents. The first page is what I see upon logging in to the system. It is a list of my current interactive courses, with numbers of students and 'hits' in each. Also included are Fall 2000 syllabi of Principles of Speech, Radio Production, Broadcast Performance, and Introduction to Mass Communication. Each is quite extensive. Previous syllabi were roughly three pages in length, with Prometheus allowing me to make them longer and more richly textured. In my case, instructional techniques will never be the same.

Mission Statement:
This course will provide information and assignments that are in concert with the mission of Southern Arkansas University. The University believes its mission is to educate students for productive and fulfilling lives by providing opportunities for intellectual growth, individual enrichment, skill development, and meaningful career preparation. It recognizes that to accomplish its mission it will support selected research. Further, the University believes in the worth of the individual and that it has a responsibility for developing in its students those values and competencies essential for effective citizenship in an ever-changing, free, and democratic society.

Prerequisites:
None.

Catalog Description:
Principles of effective speaking; emphasis on both transmission and reception of the communicative process; the speaking mechanism and delivery.

Purpose/Objective:
The obvious purpose of a course in public speaking is to increase one's skills as a communicator. However, there are goals of equal importance: realizing the value and effectiveness of communication; learning to give and accept criticism; establishing confidence in one’s convictions; and understanding the importance of practicing clear, concise oral communication. Positive or negative impressions are made each day by the manner in which a person speaks. This course can improve one’s personal and professional speaking skills.

Grading Criteria:
There are a total of 100 points that can be earned from this course. Semester grades will be determined in the following manner: 90-100/A; 80-89/B; 70-79/C; 60-69/D; and 0-59/F.

Major Student Assignments/Click on PROJECTS:
Responsibilities include various modes of public speaking research, writing and delivery. Four speeches; four speech critiques; attendance/class participation. Each speech outline is typed and double-spaced with a separate reference page. Speech critiques are typed and single-spaced. The instructor reserves the right to refuse late assignments. One missed speech without documented excuse will result in automatic failure.

Topics to be Emphasized:
- Impromptu speaking - 3 hours
- Extemporaneous speaking - 6 hours
- Eye contact and vocalics - 3 hours
- Organizing speech outlines - 6 hours
- Visual aid construction - 3 hours
- Delivery techniques - 6 hours
- Critiquing oral presentations - 3 hours
- Web research - 3 hours
- Demonstrative speaking - 3 hours
- Informative speaking - 3 hours
- Persuasive speaking - 3 hours
- Group discussion techniques - 6 hours

Total instruction - 48 hours

Teaching Strategies:

Instructor Comments:
There is no magic formula for academic success in this or any college course. Intellectual curiosity matters. Not being satisfied with mediocrity means taking additional time to rewrite or analytically hone assignments. However, that is only the beginning. Expanding one’s knowledge of subject matter in any field is a lifelong process. Such dynamism can be enhanced through extensive use of SAU interactive course syllabi. Limitless research possibilities allow each student to pursue his or her academic potential. This type of work ethic is more conducive to long-term professional achievement.

Class Attendance:
Regular and punctual class attendance is expected from each student. If a student is absent from a class more than the equivalent of one week of instruction, those absences will be reported to the dean of students. The dean will then send the student a notice of pending action. The student is advised to contact the instructor as soon as this notice has been received. Ten calendar days after the report is submitted by the instructor during a regular semester or after seven calendar days during a summer session, a student may be dropped from the class for excessive unexcused absences at the request of the instructor. If this occurs, a grade of WF (withdrawal with failure) will be given for the course.

Excused Absences of Students:
Students are required to notify the instructor or any absences they have for due cause. A student is responsible for notifying the instructor as soon as possible when the reason for an absence is known in advance. A student forfeits the right to make-up credit for failing to meet this requirement, though the instructor may, for good cause, choose to allow for make-up credit. Notification by administrative or instructional staff of a student's absence, either before or after the absence, does not relieve the student of the responsibility for personal notification.

Academic Integrity Policy:
Any act of dishonesty in academic work constitutes academic misconduct and is subject to disciplinary action. Acts of dishonesty include, but are not limited to, plagiarism and cheating. Plagiarism is the act of taking and/or using the ideas, work, and/or writings of another person as one's own. Cheating is an act of dishonesty with the intention of obtaining and/or using information in a fraudulent manner. The penalty is suspension, dismissal, or expulsion for a second offense of academic misconduct in which a student is assigned a failing grade in a course or a failing grade on a graded item and documentation is filed with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Disability Support Services:
It is the policy of Southern Arkansas University to accommodate students with disabilities, pursuant to federal law, state law, and the University's commitment to equal educational opportunities. Any student with a disability who needs accommodation should inform the instructor at the beginning of the course. Students with disabilities are also encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Support Services, located in Nelson Hall, room 203, telephone number (870) 235-4145.

Session 1
Wednesday - August 23, 2000

Topic:
Introduction to Course

Class Plan:
Discuss Prometheus interactive syllabus - distribute Course Password and Course ID. Elaborate on specific requirements, instructional framework for the semester and due dates for assignments.

Session 2
Friday - August 25, 2000

Topic:
Communication Apprehension

Class Plan:
View "20/20" video on stage fright. Then, discuss ways to eliminate such nervousness in various public speaking situations. Work in pairs for preparation of non-graded, one-minute speeches of introduction.

Session 3
Monday - August 28, 2000

Topic:
Speeches of Introduction

Class Plan:
Non-graded, one-minute speeches in which students talk about their classmates. Special instructor emphasis on vocalics, grammar, eye contact, conversationality and confidence level of each speaker.

Session 4
Wednesday - August 30, 2000

Topic:
Textbook Readings; Demonstrative Speech Videotape Session 1

Class Plan:
Examine specific assignments in the Hay text that assist in the development of all graded speech outlines, visual aids, and delivery skills. View Fall 1998 compilation videotape of sample demonstrative presentations. Students critique content, delivery, visual aids and grammar of each speaker.

Session 5
Friday - September 01, 2000

Topic:
Demonstrative Speech Organization

Class Plan:
Examine compilation notebooks of previous demonstrative outlines, critiques, and visual aids on poster boards. Examples of both proper and improper speech preparation.

Session 6
Wednesday - September 06, 2000
Topic:
Impromptu Speeches

Class Plan:
Each student prepares and delivers a one-minute, non-graded speech with one minute of preparation time. Stressed are conversationality, eye contact, lack of vocalics and proper grammar.

Session 7
Friday - September 08, 2000

Topic:
Demonstrative Speech Topics

Class Plan:
Discuss and evaluate the merits of potential topics and visual aids for demonstrative speeches. Then, half of the class will select topics for two-minute, non-graded extemporaneous speeches, to be delivered during the next session.

Session 8
Monday - September 11, 2000

Topic:
Extemporaneous Speeches - Day 1

Class Plan:
Two-minute, non-graded speeches highlighting the importance of research, organization and delivery skills. Students scheduled to speak during the next session select topics at the end of class.

Mission Statement:
This course will provide information and assignments that are in concert with the mission of Southern Arkansas University. The University believes its mission is to educate students for productive and fulfilling lives by providing opportunities for intellectual growth, individual enrichment, skill development, and meaningful career preparation. It recognizes that to accomplish its mission it will support selected research. Further, the University believes in the worth of the individual and that it has a responsibility for developing in its students those values and competencies essential for effective citizenship in an ever-changing, free, and democratic society.

Prerequisites:
None.

Catalog Description:
History and theory of the medium, in addition to hands-on experience. Assignments include operating a control board, hosting music formats, newscasts, interviews, commercials, and public service announcements. Also analyze FCC rules and regulations.
Purpose/Objective:
To give students substantial experience in production and theory, using the Electronic Classroom and Studios A/B as training facilities. The radio industry currently is experiencing both change and growth, and students are kept current in such areas as production, programming, sales, news reporting, syndication, promotion and management. Study of these topics, besides in-depth production experiences, gives students an invaluable edge if they decide to enter the medium as a career.

Grading Criteria:
There are a total of 100 points that can be earned from this course. Semester grades will be determined in the following manner: 90-100/A; 80-89/B; 70-79/C; 60-69/D; and 0-59/F.

Major Student Assignments/Click on PROJECTS:
Responsibilities include various production and writing tasks. Two proficiency exams; two term papers; weekly 60-minute board shifts; writing and recording assignments for "SAU Magazine"; final project; attendance/class participation. One term paper is five pages in length, typed, double-spaced, with a separate reference page. A second (in-class) term paper is completed in a Blue Book. Broadcast Journalism is a deadline-oriented profession. As a result, the instructor reserves the right to refuse late assignments.

Topics to be Emphasized:
Radio history - 3 hours
Federal Communications Commission - 3 hours
Radio production techniques - 6 hours
Writing radio scripts - 3 hours
Programming, sales and promotion - 3 hours
Traffic and billing - 3 hours
Management skills - 3 hours
Digital audio (CD, MD, MP3, Memory Stick) - 3 hours
Web research - 3 hours
Student-produced radio programs - 9 hours
Discuss, research term papers - 3 hours
Preparing final project - 6 hours

Total instruction - 48 hours

Teaching Strategies:

Instructor Comments:
There is no magic formula for academic success in this or any college course. Intellectual curiosity matters. Not being satisfied with mediocrity means taking additional time to rewrite or analytically hone assignments. However, that is only the beginning. Expanding one's knowledge of subject matter in any field is a lifelong process. Such dynamism can be enhanced through extensive use of SAU interactive course syllabi. Limitless research possibilities allow each student to pursue his or her academic potential. This type of work ethic is more conducive to long-term professional achievement.

Class Attendance:
Regular and punctual class attendance is expected from each student. If a student is absent from a class more than the equivalent of one week of instruction, those absences will be reported to the dean of students. The dean will then send the student a notice of pending action. The student is advised to... contact the instructor as soon as this notice has been received. Ten calendar days after the report is submitted by the instructor during a regular semester or after seven calendar days during a summer session, a student may be dropped from the class for excessive unexcused absences at the request of the instructor. If this occurs, a grade of WF (withdrawal with failure) will be given for the course.

Excused Absences of Students:
Students are required to notify the instructor of any absences they have for due cause. A student is responsible for notifying the instructor as soon as possible when the reason for the absence is known in advance. A student forfeits the right to make-up credit for failing to meet this requirement, though the instructor may, for good cause, choose to allow for make-up credit. Notification by administrative or instructional staff of a student's absence, either before or after the absence, does not relieve the student of the responsibility for personal notification.

Academic Integrity Policy:
Any act of dishonesty in academic work constitutes academic misconduct and is subject to disciplinary action. Acts of dishonesty include, but are not limited to, plagiarism and cheating. Plagiarism is the act of taking and/or using the ideas, work, and/or writings of another person as one's own. Cheating is an act of dishonesty with the intention of obtaining and/or using information in a fraudulent manner. The penalty is suspension, dismissal, or expulsion for a second offense of academic misconduct in which a student is assigned a failing grade in a course or a failing grade on a graded item and documentation is filed with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Disability Support Services:
It is the policy of Southern Arkansas University to accommodate students with disabilities, pursuant to federal law, state law, and the University's commitment to equal educational opportunities. Any student with a disability who needs accommodation should inform the instructor at the beginning of the course. Students with disabilities are also encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Support Services, located in Nelson Hall, room 203, telephone number (870) 235-4145.

Session 1
Thursday - August 24, 2000

Topic:
Introduction to Course

Class Plan:
Discuss Prometheus interactive syllabus - distribute Course Password and Course ID. Elaborate on specific requirements, instructional framework for the semester and due dates for assignments.

Session 2
Tuesday - August 29, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" Script Preparation

Class Plan:
Distribute copies of previous writing assignments for use as benchmarks to prepare Fall 2000 programs. Listen to a Spring 2000 edition of the program on MiniDisc. Also determine student pairings for Thursday lab sessions.

Session 3
Thursday - August 31, 2000

Topic:
Studio A and B Recording Primer

Class Plan:
Students (in predetermined semester pairings) are introduced to Studio A, where Weekly Board Shifts are recorded, and Studio B, where "SAU Magazine" is recorded.

Session 4
Tuesday - September 05, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 1 - State of the Fifth Estate

Class Plan:
Overview of the radio industry: from past to present; analog to digital; broadcast to Webcast. View videotape chronicling radio history and those who brought the medium to prominence.

Session 5
Thursday - September 07, 2000

Topic:
Equipment Practice

Class Plan:
Lab pairs work with CD/MD deck, digital audiocassette player/recorder, cart machine and turntables.

Session 6
Tuesday - September 12, 2000
Topic: Proficiency Exam 1

Class Plan:
Hands-on demonstration of production proficiency.

Session 7
Thursday - September 14, 2000

Topic: "SAU Magazine" Rehearsal

Class Plan:
Each lab pairing will write scripts on the same news areas they will produce for the initial September 21 program. Copy will be evaluated for accuracy, grammar, present tense, timing and readability.

Session 8
Tuesday - September 19, 2000

Topic: Chapter 2 - Station Management

Class Plan:
What traits make for an effective radio manager? How is community involvement an essential aspect of a successful management philosophy? Discuss how organizational charts and leadership needs vary depending upon market size.

Session 9
Thursday - September 21, 2000

Topic: "SAU Magazine" - Program 1

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 10
Tuesday - September 26, 2000

Topic: Chapter 3 - Programming

Class Plan:
Information from the textbook will be tied in with requirements for Term Paper 1 - Regional Radio Market Analysis. Discuss formats, Program Director responsibilities, and why "branding" radio stations can make them more identifiable to listeners.

Session 11
Thursday - September 28, 2000

Topic: "SAU Magazine" - Program 2

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 12
Tuesday - October 03, 2000
Topic:
Chapter 4 - Sales; Term Paper 1 Preview

Class Plan:
Advertising revenue is the lifeblood of the radio industry. Sales techniques, advertising and rate cards will be examined. Each student will also discuss his or her progress on performing a regional radio market analysis. How can each paper effectively delineate similarities, differences and evaluations of these radio stations? Click on PROJECTS for additional information.

Session 13
Thursday - October 05, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 3

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 14
Tuesday - October 10, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 5 - News; Term Paper 1

Class Plan:
Address textbook techniques concerning radio news writing and reporting. Also discussion, analysis and constructive criticism of each term paper, turned in at the end of class.

Session 15
Thursday - October 12, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 4

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 16
Tuesday - October 17, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 6 - Research

Class Plan:
Discuss how research can influence a radio station's intended target audience. How are ratings measured, and are they always an accurate barometer of one's listening habits?

Session 17
Thursday - October 19, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 5

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 18
Tuesday - October 24, 2000
Topic:
Chapter 7 - Promotion

Class Plan:
How does your favorite radio station promote itself? Many stations use on-air and sales promotions, contests, remote broadcasts, Internet Webcasts and billboards to attract attention. How do local and regional stations retain listeners?

Session 19
Thursday - October 26, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 6

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 20
Tuesday - October 31, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 8 - Traffic and Billing

Class Plan:
There are roughly 3,000 minutes of commercial airtime to be filled each week at an average radio station. What traits are necessary to be an effective Traffic Manager? How is billing for advertisements handled? Why is computerization so vital in the completion of these tasks?

Session 21
Thursday - November 02, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 7

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 22
Tuesday - November 07, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 8; Proficiency Exam 2

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B. This is followed by an advanced hands-on demonstration of production proficiency.

NOTE: This program is being recorded on a Tuesday due to Professor Reppert presenting papers later in the week at the National Communication Association Convention in Seattle, Washington. With this in mind, plan research and writing of assignments well in advance.

Session 23
Thursday - November 09, 2000
Topic: Chapter 9 - Production

Class Plan:
Discuss the history of broadcast production, primarily through a chronological examination of textbook studio and equipment photographs.

Session 24
Tuesday - November 14, 2000

Topic: Chapter 10 - Engineering

Class Plan:
Why can certain AM stations be heard around the country at night? Why do FM stations sound superior to AM? Differences in radio frequencies will be discussed, as well as station automation, FCC rules and regulations, and engineering responsibilities.

Session 25
Thursday - November 16, 2000

Topic: "SAU Magazine" - Program 9

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 26
Tuesday - November 21, 2000

Topic: "SAU Magazine" - Program 10

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

NOTE: This program is being recorded on a Tuesday due to Thanksgiving. With this in mind, plan research and writing of assignments well in advance.

Session 27
Tuesday - November 28, 2000

Topic: Chapter 11 - Consultants and Syndicators; Term Paper 2 Preview

Class Plan:
How can students utilize consultants and syndicators to market their new stations with respect to demographics, formats and other considerations? Each student will also discuss his or her progress on preparing a detailed radio station ownership proposal, to be written during class on December 5. Click on PROJECTS for additional information.

Session 28
Thursday - November 30, 2000
Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 11

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B.

Session 29
Tuesday - December 05, 2000

Topic:
Term Paper 2

Class Plan:
Radio Station Ownership Proposal - Composed during class using a Blue Book.

Session 30
Thursday - December 07, 2000

Topic:
"SAU Magazine" - Program 12

Class Plan:
Edit, record and critique reporting assignments (in pairs) in Studio B. Final day of class.

Mission Statement:
This course will provide information and assignments that are in concert with the mission of Southern Arkansas University. The University believes its mission is to educate students for productive and fulfilling lives by providing opportunities for intellectual growth, individual enrichment, skill development, and meaningful career preparation. It recognizes that to accomplish its mission it will support selected research. Further, the University believes in the worth of the individual and that it has a responsibility for developing in its students those values and competencies essential for effective citizenship in an ever-changing, free, and democratic society.

Prerequisites:
None.
Catalog Description:
Training techniques designed to enhance on-air performance. Optimum pitch, rate, voice and diction exercises, followed by assigning of tasks performed by professionals in the broadcast industry (both radio and television).

Purpose/Objective:
To allow students to realize their collective potential as articulate communicators. Though some in the course may not become broadcast announcers, they will leave it with enhanced skills in verbal and nonverbal communication. Extensive critiques of radio and television announcing assignments allow students to see and hear how others perceive their performances. Watching and listening to current professionals in the field gives students a barometer by which to gauge their improvement. As a result, they realize a greater appreciation for the art of announcing.

Grading Criteria:
There are a total of 100 points that can be earned from this course. Semester grades will be determined in the following manner: 90-100/A; 80-89/B; 70-79/C; 60-69/D; and 0-59/F.

Major Student Assignments/Click on PROJECTS:
Responsibilities include various performance and writing tasks. Voice, diction, pronunciation, articulation exercises; daily audiocassette readings; radio commercials, PSAs, newscasts, interviews, promotions; producing and hosting "The SAU Report"; special event remote broadcast; Internet media employment search; one term paper; attendance/class participation. The term paper is five pages in length, typed, double-spaced, with a separate reference page. Broadcast Journalism is a deadline-oriented profession. As a result, the instructor reserves the right to refuse late assignments.

Topics to be Emphasized:

Mission Statement:
This course will provide information and assignments that are in concert with the mission of Southern Arkansas University. The University believes its mission is to educate students for productive and fulfilling lives by providing opportunities for intellectual growth, individual enrichment, skill development, and meaningful career preparation. It recognizes that to accomplish its mission it will support selected research. Further, the University believes in the worth of the individual and that it has a responsibility for developing in its students those values and competencies essential for effective citizenship in an ever-changing, free, and democratic society.

Catalog Description:
Development of communication media in American society, including newspapers, magazines, radio, television, and movies. Emphasis on social, political, and economic interaction of media and society.

Purpose/Objective:
Students must become perceptive analysts of American and international media, and learn the many techniques used to gain their attention, interest and consumer dollars via print, broadcast, new media and related outlets. By critically examining each segment of mass communication, besides its history and major contributors, they have many opportunities to obtain a wider perspective of the field. Of particular relevance are the significant impact of television and the Internet on national and international communication, business and culture. Videotapes detailing such issues and personalities bring that importance into focus.

Grading Criteria:
There are a total of 500 points that can be earned from this course. Semester grades will be determined in the following manner: 450-500/A; 400-449/B; 350-399/C; 300-349/D; and 0-299/F.

Major Student Assignments/Click on PROJECTS:
Responsibilities include various analytical and writing tasks. Four term papers; four media quizzes; four exams; attendance/class participation. Each term paper is five pages in length, typed, double-spaced, with a separate reference page. Each media quiz is typed and single-spaced. Mass Communication is a deadline-oriented profession. As a result, the instructor reserves the right to refuse late assignments.

Topics to be Emphasized:

Instructor Comments:
There is no magic formula for academic success in this or any college course. Intellectual curiosity matters. Not being satisfied with mediocrity means taking additional time to rewrite or analytically hone assignments. However, that is only the beginning. Expanding one's knowledge of subject matter in any field is a lifelong process. Such dynamism can be enhanced through extensive use of SAU interactive course syllabi. Limitless research possibilities allow each student to pursue his or her academic potential. This type of work ethic is more conducive to long-term professional achievement.

Class Attendance:
Regular and punctual class attendance is expected from each student. If a student is absent from a class more than the equivalent of one week of instruction, those absences will be reported to the dean of students. The dean will then send the student a notice of pending action. The student is advised to contact the instructor as soon as this notice has been received. Ten calendar days after the report is submitted by the instructor during a regular semester or after seven calendar days during a summer session, a student may be dropped from the class for excessive unexcused absences at the request of the instructor. If this occurs, a grade of WF (withdrawal with failure) will be given for the course.

Excused Absences of Students:
Students are required to notify the instructor of any absences they have for due cause. A student is responsible for notifying the instructor as soon as possible when the reason for the absence is known in advance. A student forfeits the right to make-up credit for failing to meet this requirement, though the instructor may, for good cause, choose to allow for make-up credit. Notification by administrative or instructional staff of a student’s absence, either before or after the absence, does not relieve the student of the responsibility for personal notification.

Academic Integrity Policy:
Any act of dishonesty in academic work constitutes academic misconduct and is subject to disciplinary action. Acts of dishonesty include, but are not limited to, plagiarism and cheating. Plagiarism is the act of taking and/or using the ideas, work, and/or writings of another person as one’s own. Cheating is an act of dishonesty with the intention of obtaining and/or using information in a fraudulent manner. The penalty is suspension, dismissal, or expulsion for a second offense of academic misconduct in which a student is assigned a failing grade in a course or a failing grade on a graded item and documentation is filed with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Disability Support Services:
It is the policy of Southern Arkansas University to accommodate students with disabilities, pursuant to federal law, state law, and the University’s commitment to equal educational opportunities. Any student with a disability who needs accommodation should inform the instructor at the beginning of the course. Students with disabilities are also encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Support Services, located in Nelson Hall, room 203, telephone number (870) 235-4145.

Projects

View the list of projects below.

Media Quiz 1, 15 points: Due Wednesday, September 6

File:

Notes: Research concerning news events, issues and personalities impacting mass communication and popular culture.

Term Paper 1, 50 points: Due Wednesday, September 13

File:

Notes: Television News Content and Analysis - Evaluate, contrast and compare a minimum of three network or cable television newscasts (ABC, All News Channel, CBS, CNBC, CNN, Fox, Headline News, MSNBC, NBC or PBS). How many news stories are reported in an individual program? How much time is devoted to each story? Are the reports hard or feature in nature? Is such broadcast writing literate, understandable and in active voice? How does one newscast compare against another on the same day? How are similar stories covered by different networks in terms of visuals, sound bites and natural sound? What types of news items, if any, deserve more coverage? Recording multiple national news programs on videotape for research and writing purposes is strongly recommended.

Exam 1, 50 points: Taken Wednesday, September 20

File:

Notes: Covers chapters 1-4 of the text, lectures, class discussions, handouts and videotapes. Method of examination includes identification terms, true/false, multiple choice, short answer and essay. Composed in a Blue Book.

Media Quiz 2, 15 points: Due Wednesday, October 4

File:

Notes: Research concerning current news events, issues and personalities impacting mass communication and popular culture.

Term Paper 2, 50 points: Due Wednesday, October 11

File:

Notes: Movie Review - Each student is required to view a new release at a local or regional theatre. Describe the circumstances by which this movie was chosen, such as a television commercial, newspaper advertisement, positive critical reviews or a promotional Internet site. Describe the overall theatre experience. When and at what time of day was the movie viewed? What types of concessions were available, and at what cost? How many people were in the audience, and what was their general demographic background? How did they react to the movie as it unfolded? Were there "hidden" product advertisements in the movie? What type of audience were the producers trying to reach, and were they successful? Finally, describe the movie's theme, production quality, and whether it was worth the price of admission.

Exam 2, 50 points: Taken Wednesday, October 18

File:

Notes: Covers chapters 5-8 of the text, lectures, class discussions, handouts and videotapes. Method of examination includes short answer and essay. Composed in a Blue Book.

Media Quiz 3, 15 points: Due Wednesday, November 1

File:

Notes: Research concerning current news events, issues and personalities impacting mass communication and popular culture.

Term Paper 3, 50 points: Due Wednesday, November 8

File:

Notes: Campaign 2000 Media Coverage - It is not coincidental that this is due the day following a national elec. Thousands of hours of coverage will have been devoted to issues and candidates by broadcast, print and Internet news outlets, and hundreds of millions of dollars spent on campaign radio and television commercials. The first half of the paper will critique local and national broadcast, print and Internet reporting. How does political coverage vary in each medium? What is covered thoroughly, and what deserves more reportage? The second half of the paper will examine fact-checking and truth-telling (or lack thereof) in local or national campaign radio and television advertisements of the student’s choice. Are listeners or viewers getting facts, falsehoods or a bit of both? Recording multiple local and national programs on videotape for research and writing purposes is strongly recommended.

Exam 3, 50 points: Taken Wednesday, November 15

File:

Notes: Covers chapters 9-12 of the text, lectures, class discussions, handouts and videotapes. Method of examination includes identification terms, true/false, multiple choice, short answer and essay. Composed in a Blue Book.

Media Quiz 4, 15 points: Due Wednesday, November 29

File:

Notes: Research concerning current news events, issues and personalities impacting mass communication and popular culture.

Term Paper 4, 50 points: Due Wednesday, December 6

File:

Notes: Legal Constraints on International Journalists - It cannot be assumed that news reporters in other countries have the same press rights and constitutional guarantees of those in the United States. Research will be conducted into privileges and restrictions journalists have in countries of the student’s choice. Next, examine recent cases where international journalists have been jailed, or broadcast/print facilities shut down, from failure to comply with governmental regulations. Can such restrictions realistically continue in an era of Internet reportage?

Exam 4, 50 points: Taken Wednesday, December 13 (Final Exam Schedule, 10:00 a.m.-12:00 p.m.)

File:

Notes: Covers chapters 13-16 of the text, lectures, class discussions, handouts and videotapes. Method of examination includes short answer and essay. Composed in a Blue Book.

Attendance/Class Participation, 40 points

File:

Notes: Individual effort at forwarding trenchant analyses of course issues and assisting peers with constructive criticism of assignments.

Fall Semester 2000 Total, 500 points

File:
Session 1
Wednesday - August 23, 2000

Topic:
Introduction to Course

Class Plan:
Discuss Prometheus interactive syllabus - distribute Course Password and Course ID. Elaborate on specific requirements, instructional framework for the semester and due dates for assignments.

Session 2
Friday - August 25, 2000

Topic:
"Survivor" Cross-Promotion

Class Plan:
How has CBS used its summer ratings hit "Survivor" to promote "The Early Show" , "The Late Show with David Letterman" and new fall series? What demographic groups did the original 16 contestants represent? With its successful August 23 finale, how might "Survivor II: The Australian Outback" (January 2001) be similar or different?

Session 3
Monday August 28, 2000

Topic:
Interactive Syllabus Research Primer

Class Plan:
How Prometheus can be used as a learning tool for Media Quiz, Term Paper and Exam preparation, with research examples for each. Also discuss how to select and define terms for Media Quiz 1.

Session 4
Wednesday August 30, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 1 - You in the New Information Age

Class Plan:
Discuss historical context of the field, including the three Communications Revolutions. Examine statistical analysis of a typical American's media usage. How will the new information network be interconnected? Evaluate the credentials of "Media Moguls". Are prominent individuals missing from the list?

Session 5
Friday - September 01, 2000

Topic:
Videotape - "They Both Bled Red: The Little Rock Newspaper War"

Class Plan:
Today's Arkansas Democrat-Gazette once consisted of two separate newspapers until an October 1991 buyout of the Gazette by the Democrat. A fierce battle for readership, beginning in the mid-1970s, is chronicled in a 2000 documentary by Charles Pearce, a 1992 SAU Broadcast Journalism graduate. What were the major factors leading to the Arkansas Democrat winning the battle over the Arkansas Gazette?
Session 6
Wednesday - September 06, 2000

Topic:
Media Quiz 1; Term Paper 1 Preview

Class Plan:
Each student addresses his or her selections and rationale for each, turned in at the end of class. Also discuss progress on Term Paper 1 (Television News Content and Analysis). Click on PROJECTS for additional information.

Session 7
Friday - September 08, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 2 - Newspapers

Class Plan:
Chronological perspective of print journalism, dating from Colonial America to present day. Examine the partisan press, alternative press, mass readership strategies, sensationalism, on-line newspapers and technological changes in production and distribution.

Session 8
Monday September 11, 2000

Topic:
Chapter 3 - Magazines

Class Plan:
Reaching new readers, muckrakers, demographic targeting/audience segmentation, specialized publications, the business of magazines, "blow-in cards", start-ups and on-line "Webzines".

Session 9
Wednesday - September 13, 2000

Topic:
Term Paper 1

Class Plan:
Discussion, analysis and constructive criticism of each paper, turned in at the end of class.

Session 10
Friday - September 15, 2000

Topic:
Videotape - "Writing Across Culture: TIME Writers Explore Diversity in America"

Class Plan:
TIME magazine writers discuss how race, gender and ethnicity affect the ways news is researched, reported and presented. What is the importance of a writer's point of view when it comes to such issues as objectivity and truth? How can writers use their own cultural backgrounds to develop ideas for stories? As a result, how can effective writing raise important issues to the public?

Session 11
Monday - September 18, 2000
Topic:
Chapter 4 - Books; Exam 1 Preview

Class Plan:
Early publishing efforts, book clubs, paperbacks, independent booksellers, consolidation, chain bookstores, small presses, technological innovations. Discuss in further detail specific items or broad themes that may be included on Exam 1. Click on PROJECTS for additional information.

Session 12

Session 20
Monday - October 09, 2000

Topic:
Videotape - "Television: The Power of Pictures"

Class Plan:
Segments from a 1988 PBS documentary chronicle how television can affect perceptions of viewers, including the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Senator Robert Kennedy. How has television news quality evolved from the late 1940s (like "Camel News Caravan") to include more sophisticated use of film and videotape in news reporting? How is "The Power of Pictures" defined?

Session 21
Wednesday - October 11, 2000

Session 43
Monday - December 04, 2000

Topic: Videotape - "Family Sensitive News" and "Checkbook Journalism"

Class Plan:
Questions concerning journalistic ethics arise from two video clips. First, what strategies are used to sanitize early evening television newscasts in the regional markets shown? Is such selective editing a ratings gimmick, censorship, or an honest effort to keep violent or graphic video from children? Second, was reporting of the O.J. Simpson and Michael Jackson stories affected by tabloids (both print and broadcast) purchasing "exclusive" information from individuals supposedly close to each situation?

Session 44
Wednesday - December 06, 2000

Topic: Term Paper 4

Class Plan:
