The Library of Congress

Washington 2001
Magazines in Special Media is a descriptive listing of periodicals available to blind and physically handicapped persons throughout the country in the following formats: braille, cassette, computer diskette, disc, electronic access, electronic braille, large print, and Moon type. Most braille magazines are grade 2. All NLS braille titles will soon be available in electronic braille, also known as Web-Braille. Cassettes play at 15/16 or 1-7/8 ips.

Part 1 of Magazines in Special Media lists all magazines produced by the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS), Library of Congress, for its free reading program. Magazines listed in Part 1 are available at no charge through cooperating libraries to persons who are unable to read or handle conventional print materials because of visual or physical disabilities. Eligible persons must be residents of the United States or U.S. citizens living abroad. Four NLS magazines are available in electronic access from <http://www.loc.gov/nls>.

To order any of these magazines, complete the order form that appears at the end of the catalog and send it to your cooperating library. If you do not know the address of your cooperating library, contact your local public library for this information. Your subscription will be entered and new issues will be mailed directly to you from the producer. Allow three months between the time of your request and receipt of the first issue of magazines you order. You need not return the magazine issues to your cooperating library.

Part 2 lists magazines that are not part of the NLS reading program and cannot be requested from cooperating libraries. The information about these magazines was provided by their producers. Some of these magazines are offered free, others by paid subscription. In each case, the source for ordering is indicated, and full addresses are given in the appendix to Part 2. The sources given should be contacted directly for the latest subscription information because availability and prices tend to change frequently.

In both Part 1 and Part 2, magazines are arranged alphabetically by title. Some magazines are listed in both Part 1 and Part 2. In such cases, a cross reference is made from one part of the catalog to the other. Magazines can be located in the catalog by using the title index, the subject index, or any of the indexes arranged by medium. Each index indicates the page or pages on which a full description of a magazine can be found. Boldface numbers in the indexes indicate that the magazine is available through NLS cooperating libraries.

Braille Book Review and Talking Book Topics frequently announce new magazines in special media and changes in any of the magazines listed in this catalog.

Part 1—Order Form

The magazines listed below are available from cooperating libraries. (Magazines not available from cooperating libraries must be ordered directly from their sources. See the appendix to Part 2 for the addresses.) It is not necessary to reorder magazines you are already receiving.

For postage-free mailing
1. Complete the form and enclose it in an envelope.
2. Do not seal the envelope. Tuck the flap in.
3. Address the envelope to your cooperating library.
4. In place of a stamp, write “Free Matter for the Blind or Handicapped.”
