This reading program manual delineates the "Books and Pets" program, a project of Arizona Reads, which is a collaboration between the Arizona Humanities Council and the Arizona State Library, Archives, and Public Records. A CD-ROM version of the program accompanies the manual. The manual is divided into the following parts: Introduction; Getting Started (Planning with Goals and Objectives; Program Planning and Scheduling; Let's Get Everyone Involved; Awards and Incentives; Program Survey; Publicity and Promotion; Letter from K-READ and Graphics; Decorations; Registration; Reading Logs); General Resources (Resource Companies; Government Resources; General Programming Titles; Theme-Based Fiction Titles; Theme-Based Non-Fiction Titles; Helpful Web Sites); Arizona Humane Society (Introductory Letter; Humane Literature Checklist; Games, Puzzles, and Activities; Bibliography of Children's Books); Activities (Age-Adaptable Programs and Activities; Songs and Plays; Pet Riddles; Games and Puzzles; Answers); Crafts (General Crafts; Sewing Crafts; Origami Crafts; Masks and Drawings; Recipes); and Special Groups (Young Adult General Programming; Young Adult Theme-Based Programming; Special Needs General Programming; Talking Book Bibliography; Good Books about Special Needs). Appendixes contain information about availability of program funds, incentive coupons for program participants, information on contributing to the 2003 Summer Reading Program, and detailed information on performers related to this year's theme. A. Introduction

Books and Pets
our friends for life!
December, 2001

Dear Reading Colleague,

Partnerships are an important way to do our business and build for the future. We are proud of the partnership between the Arizona Humanities Council and the Arizona State Library, Archives and Public Records! One component of this partnership is the Arizona Reading Program (ARP). Begun in 1974, the Arizona Reading Program was created to promote books, reading, and literacy for Arizonans.

This year a new collaborator has been added. The Arizona Humane Society joins us for the reading theme Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!, with a focus on humane education. An understanding of our pets, their needs and their characteristics, can only enhance our enjoyment of them and ensure their well-being. For many, pets are an important part of everyday life. For others, pets are appreciated through the power of the imagination and through literature.

We invite you to spend some of your reading time with our theme and celebrate the joy of reading and the joy pets bring to our lives.

Sincerely,

GladysAnn Wells, State Librarian
December 2001

Dear Friends of the Book:

The manual before you is but one example of the evolution in the relationship between the Arizona Humanities Council and the Arizona State Library, Archives and Public Records. Now entering its third year, “Arizona Reads,” the organization the two agencies created in 1999 to foster reading, continues to expand to all corners of the state. The Arizona Reading Program, one of three projects under the “Arizona Reads” umbrella, is issuing its manual in a more timely fashion, and the information is being revised to include more practical, feasible, and age-based activities—based on suggestions from you, the librarians in the field.

The Arizona Reading Program will continue the practice started last year—that is, offering workshops in several communities throughout the state. We also invite you to join the steering committee for the Arizona Reading Program, which has been serving Arizona’s library community for more than twenty-five years. It is your comments, which are framed by your experiences with youth in libraries, that help our staff and committee members design and build a thematic program that works for all of you, regardless of your library’s location, budget, or staff size.

This year, the manual’s theme is “Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!” We hope the exercises and materials that follow will be a significant attraction in your library, and we look forward to your feedback during the year. AHC and the State Library are also pleased to welcome the Arizona Humane Society as a contributor. We all support and cherish children, pets, and reading, so it comes as no surprise that we should include them in this year’s manual.

In addition to the Arizona Reading Program, “Arizona Reads” also includes Motheread Arizona, a unique literacy and parenting program, and the ever-popular Community Book Discussion Program, which offers books and facilitators for adult audiences. Don’t hesitate to call AHC if you want to learn more about these other “Arizona Reads” programs, and be sure to look for workshops in your community that are conducted by AHC and the State Library.

On behalf of the board of directors and staff of the Arizona Humanities Council, I am honored to join with the Arizona State Library, Archives and Public Records to provide these important and meaningful programs. We look forward to a continuing relationship with you, as we all work to foster an appreciation of reading in Arizona.

Sincerely,

Welcome to the Arizona Reading Program for 2002, Book and Pets: Our Friends for Life!

We believe this theme is a rich one, full of possibilities for entertaining and educational programming based on two of a child's best friends. Both books and pets touch our lives in so many heartfelt ways, and we hope that by bringing them together in this theme, we can increase our appreciation of both.

The ARP Manual is intended to provide you with ready-to-use materials as well as inspire you to discover resources already available in your branches and communities. We have also developed a set of materials that are appealing and fun for kids, and hope these items will help you encourage them to participate in your Arizona Reading Program.

We have a special chapter in the manual this year, one provided by the Division of Education at the Arizona Humane Society. Already active in school programming, AHS graciously accepted our invitation to provide materials on humane education, and their Education Coordinator has provided some wonderful activities and titles you may incorporate into your programs. Be sure to check it out!

We will continue to supply the ARP manual and materials around the first of the year, for planning purposes and in case you want to use the program early in the year. You are under no obligation to use the materials at times other than summer, but we wanted you to have the option.

We will also continue with regional workshops, offering them in Flagstaff, Tucson, and a rotating third location each year. Program funding for under-funded rural libraries is also still available, and the application forms are located at the beginning of the Appendices.

Our committee members come from all over Arizona, from large, metropolitan libraries to small, rural libraries with only a few staff members. If you would like to join these dedicated, dynamic people in their exciting endeavors, please contact us at the Arizona Reads office. We would love to have each county represented!

We wish you success in planning and executing Book and Pets: Our Friends for Life!, and if you have any suggestions or questions, please do not hesitate to contact the Arizona Reads Coordinator at 602/257-0335x26. Good luck and enjoy!
Dear Librarians,

I would like to enthusiastically thank each member of the Arizona Reading Program Committee, whose contributions are the core of the 2002 ARP manual and materials:

Louisa Aikin
Scottsdale Public Library, Mustang Branch

Ruth Grant
Tucson-Pima Public Library, River Center Branch

Deborah Kearns
Cottonwood Public Library

Kami Krenz
Braille and Talking Book Library, Phoenix

AnnaDel Paxton
Flagstaff City-Coconino County Public Library

Giane Powell
Safford City-Graham County Library

Bill Reuter
Tucson-Pima Public Library, Kirk-Bear Canyon Branch

I offer a special thanks to AnnaDel, Ruth, and Bill for their help with the Flagstaff and Tucson workshops. I would additionally like to acknowledge Jana Ponce and her staff at the Parker Public Library for their hard work in hosting the third workshop.

Public Library Development Consultant Linda McCleary and staff member Gloria Rojel of the Library Development Division are also on this very active committee, and their experience and expertise continue to inform and enrich the Arizona Reading Program and workshops.

Acknowledgements
I also applaud the librarians that contributed wonderful ideas to the 2002 manual even though they are not on the ARP Committee. They utilized the form in the manual Appendices and stepped up to the plate, making Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life! an even more collaborative project of the public librarians in Arizona. They include:

Vicki Foote    Pima Public Library, Pima
Sara Greenwood    Roxanne Whipple Memorial Library, Winslow
Rebecca McSween    Yuma County Library District, Foothills Branch
Judith Stafford    Copper Queen Library, Bisbee

Kathy Albert and her staff at K-READ are also greatly responsible for the value and success of Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life! Their creativity, enthusiasm, and professionalism are responsible for the quality, style, and accessibility of your 2002 manual and materials.

Of special note this year are Ken White, Marcia Soldavini, and Kimberly DeVault of the Arizona Humane Society. As former President, current Director of Education, and former Education Coordinator, respectively, Ken and Marcia saw the value in our collaboration and Kimberly made it happen, contributing the chapter of humane educational materials and coordinating the photo shoot that is the core of our artwork this year.

The photo artwork features family and friends, both human and pet, of the Arizona Humane Society and the Arizona Humanities Council, and we are grateful to them for their contribution to this year's theme.

These people have been a wonderful group to work with due both to their kindness and their dedication to the success of the Arizona Reading Program. I am, as are the public librarians throughout Arizona, deeply indebted to each of you.

Arizona Reading Program Evaluation for
Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!

Program Evaluation for the Arizona Reading Program is now mandatory, and these forms are due by September 1, 2002. Fax to 602/257-0392, or mail to Arizona Reads, 1242 North Central Avenue, Phoenix, AZ 85004.

Arizona Reads needs this information to report to our funders, the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Institute of Museum and Library Services under the Library Services and Technology Act. Libraries that do not return their 2002 evaluations by September 1 may be charged for their 2002 free materials.

SOME GUIDELINES:
1. If you are reporting for more than one library location, include a report for each branch.
2. If you do not have your precise participant numbers, please estimate.
3. If you ordered only a manual and had no ARP-related public programs, simply note that on the evaluation.
4. Please call Ann-Mary Johnson at 602/257-0335 x26 if you have questions.

PRICED ITEMS EVALUATION
We would like your feedback on any of the ARP priced items you may have purchased for your program, including such items as stickers, pens, pencils, etc.

What priced item did you like the most? Why?

What priced item did you like the least? Why?

General comments and suggestions about the priced materials:

Thank you for sharing your thoughts with Arizona Reads. Your feedback allows us to get a clearer picture of the overall program and make adjustments for improvements next year.
B. Getting Started

Books and Pets
our friends for life!
Planning: Tailoring the ARP for your Library and Community

This section covers goal setting and program design—the basics of planning. If you already have a program in place, skip to the following section entitled “Publicity and Promotion: Getting The Word Out!” for ideas on how to alert the public.

Start With Goals
Goals are general statements of mission or purpose. They are important to serving your mission in the community and in planning a successful reading program. Written goals for the library staff can bring to life the philosophy of your institution. Goals serve as tools for planning the directions of all library activities.

Does your library currently have goals for the children’s department? If not, please spend some quality time constructing and sharing some core goals for your program. Since children’s services are unique and require special consideration, general library goals may not be applicable.

Consider the library’s general goals when writing program goals. Program goals help the programmer coordinate a specific activity with the library’s overall goals and set priorities for service. Program goals may also justify staff time and budget expenditures. Goals for a reading program should answer the core question of “Why Have a Reading Program?”

The important thing to remember is that a positive reinforcement of the love of reading is the main goal.

Children’s librarians have long held as their foremost objectives those so well formulated by Harriet Long in her book Rich the Treasure:

1. To make a wide collection of books easily and temptingly available.
2. To give guidance to children in their choice of books and materials.
3. To share, extend, and cultivate the enjoyment of reading as a voluntary, individual pursuit.
4. To encourage lifelong education through the use of public library resources.
5. To help children develop their personal abilities and social understanding to the fullest.
6. To serve as a social force in the community together with the child’s welfare.
Objectives Carry Through the Goals

After determining the goals, develop the objectives. Objectives are specific, measurable statements that show how the goals will be achieved. When forming objectives, you must think ahead to the evaluation. Since the evaluation will try to determine if the objectives have been met, the objectives must be measurable and within the resources of the library staff.

For example, the goal of “Improving the quality of children’s reading” might have the objective, “Children participating in the reading program will read more classics.” It seems to be a good objective, one that would be worthwhile to achieve. However, how would you measure success? What is a classic and what is not? How many “classics” would demonstrate that the goal had been met?

The objectives that will be easiest to evaluate and compare from year to year are the quantitative ones. Objectives may include statistics such as program registrants, number of children who completed their requirements for the program, circulation of juvenile materials, or numbers registered from each grade and from each school. These numbers are compared to the previous year’s statistics and are saved to compare with the following years. For example, use these statistics to determine what percentage of children from each grade in each school participated in the program. Several days’ circulation figures can be compared with several similar days from the previous year.

To continue the earlier example, the goal of “Improving the quality of children’s reading” may have this objective: “The circulation of non-fiction will increase by 10%.” Gather circulation statistics from any given day during your reading program (let’s say July 12th). Gather circulation statistics from a day prior to the reading program (let’s say January 15th). Compare non-fiction circulation in July to the same statistic in January. What was the increase? Then gather circulation statistics from July 12th of the previous year. Compare the non-fiction circulation of each summer reading program. Was there an increase?

After the goals and objectives for the overall program have been determined, write objectives for each phase of the program.

You Need Priorities

What are the most important parts of your reading program? This will vary from library to library, and few institutions have the resources to do it all! Plan your program so that you can spend plenty of time on the most important tasks. Take into account the following when setting the priorities for your program: advance planning, publicity, incentives and rewards, follow-up activities, and any other items that you feel are an integral part of your program.
SAMPLE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Goal- To Encourage Reading
Strategies include: making reading fun, getting everyone in the family involved, making it a community effort.

Goal- To Increase Library Attendance by Children
Strategies include: making the library more visually appealing with decorations, promoting the library as a recreational spot with games, promoting the library as a wholesome place by sponsoring family activities.

Goal- To Reach Non-Library User Families
1. Objective: Children who use the library will become life-long users.
   Strategy: Promote program through schools, day-cares, and religious institutions.

2. Objective: Families who join the library will increase our circulation numbers.
   Strategy: Distribute bookbags or booklogs through non-traditional avenues, and offer a small prize or incentive when they bring it to the library.

3. Objective: Reaching out to non-users may also reach “at risk” or minority populations.
   Strategy: Use special programs and speakers to appeal to specialized audiences.

Planning and Scheduling
Like readers, reading programs come in all shapes and sizes. These programs have many elements in common: a kickoff event, registration, reading recorders, activities such as games and story hours, and rewards such as incentives and awards. We have provided a general timeline and ideas to keep you organized during the planning and scheduling of your unique program. Use the planning grids on the following pages to get you started.
Timeline for Planning and Scheduling

Here is a worksheet and timeline to get you started. Customize the following grid for your list of tasks building up to a kickoff event. Below are possibilities for building a timeline. Remember to keep a monthly calendar with important dates marked.

4-5 Months
Prior to your program

- Read the manual; use a highlighter and "sticky" notes to mark areas of particular interest to you.
- Make sure you order enough materials for your program from the ARP and elsewhere.
- Create a working calendar for programming and choose tentative dates.
- Get excited about the theme! Start looking around for presenters and volunteers to help you implement your programming.
- Order books to complement your theme. Check out the manual bibliography for more titles about pets.
- Start thinking about funding options from local animal-related businesses and organizations.
Getting Started

2-3 Months
Prior to your program

- Finalize program dates.
- Schedule film, performer, and craft dates; make contingency plans for rain dates or scheduling conflicts.
- Order all materials for crafts and check all AV equipment.
- Prepare flyers for the circulation desk.
- Plan school visits.
- Prepare bulletin board materials.
- Prepare materials for volunteers.
- Post sign up sheets for volunteers.

1 Month
Prior to your program

- Promote the program; use suggestions from the manual.
- Confirm school visits. Don't forget day-cares, private, and parochial schools.
- Write confirmation letters/contracts to all speakers/performers.
- Practice crafts or activities.
Getting Started

2-3 Weeks
Prior to your program

- Continue promotions.
- Consider a press conference to get the word out.
- Have a staff meeting so everyone understands the program parameters.
- Begin decorating the library.
Program Parameters

When building your reading program, first decide whether a structured or unstructured approach is best. Has the library traditionally emphasized book lists, reading quotas, and awards? This approach gives children structure and goals, but youngsters can become discouraged by a steady diet of book lists and assigned reading quotas. Some libraries opt for special activities such as Parent Night, Story Time, etc., but these programs may be too demanding for other libraries. Consider the history of your reading program. What has worked in the past? What resources have been available for the reading program, and what do you have to work with now? For ideas on drumming up money and manpower, see “Community Involvement,” later in this manual. Read on for questions that may help you decide what type of program is best for your community.

FACILITIES
1) What amount of space is available and for what size group?
2) Will the excessive noise level disturb other patrons using the library, or is a separate room available for busy activities?
3) Is there a play area available for outdoor activities? Is a local park available for opening or closing parties?
4) How long will the programs last and how often will they meet?
5) Will decorations and displays be put up in the area?

STAFF
1) How large is the staff?
2) Do regular or volunteer staff increase or decrease in size during the summer months? During the year? Can older youths be used as volunteer helpers for your program?
3) How much time does staff and volunteers have to participate in the program? Is it a key time for staff vacations?
4) Can parents of participants help with activities or perhaps provide refreshments?
5) What special talents can staff, parents, and volunteers contribute to the program? (i.e., music, arts & crafts, and drama)

PARTICIPANTS
1) What is the maximum number of children you can accommodate?
2) Will there be age limitations?
3) Are participants broken up into groups based upon age, reading skills, and grade level, or do they participate as one large group?
4) Will a Read-to-Me program for pre-schoolers be offered?

COLLECTION
1) Does the library need to purchase materials from the bibliography provided in the ARP manual?
2) Will bibliographies of your local resources be printed for the participants as supplemental handouts to the program?

SCHEDULING
1) When and how will registration for the program take place in the library?
2) Can the library contact local newspapers, radio stations, and television stations to find out what their deadlines are for publicity?
Getting Started

3) What kind of school visit, if any, will there be? (i.e., thematic skit, book talks, handout flyers or a short narrative on the program?)
4) Does the rest of the library staff know the dates of the programs and special events?

BUDGET
1) What arts and crafts supplies do you have, and what needs to be purchased?
2) What craft materials, prizes, or incentives can be donated by local merchants?
3) Will participants be asked to provide their own supplies for certain activities?
4) Will it be necessary to purchase promotional or incentive materials in addition to those the state provides for free?
5) Is it necessary to request additional money for performer’s fees, rental space, or additional publicity (flyers)?
6) Is it possible to have a fundraising project to add to the available revenue for the program? Can your Library Friends group help?

MISCELLANEOUS:
1) Can field trips be planned and implemented?
2) How can you use guest speakers, musicians, artists, and storytellers in your program?
3) What kind of support might you obtain from various merchants and civic groups for the program?
4) Has anyone else developed an activity or idea that had great success that could be used in the program?

How to Structure your Program
How do you plan to structure your program? There are advantages to both styles. Read on and decide for yourself.

STRUCTURED:
Set age limits for children participating.

Try to offer something for all age groups. If you only have time for one program, then try to reach an age group not normally served during the rest of the year. For example, if there is a story time during the winter for pre-schoolers, offer something for school age children during the summer.

Determine the number of books/number of minutes children must read to get a certificate. Do not set the requirements so high that it discourages children from reading, or encourages children to read below their level. It is important to remember that the slow readers and the learning challenged children need to feel that they belong.
Determine the length of your program and the average reading ability of your patrons. Make special provisions for those children who are poor or non-readers to earn a certificate in some other way. Restructure rewards for participation rather than completion...library visits would be a great way to encourage a non-reader in a positive way.
Getting Started

Create required reading lists. Use the bibliography in the appendix to create a list of books that reflect your approach to "Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!," or create your own interpretation of this year's theme.

Avoid competitive programs. The point of a reading program is to make the library appealing as you encourage children to read. Don't turn the summer reading program into a grueling struggle for supremacy. Offer avenues for every level of reader to participate, and make sure that rewards are available to everyone.

Encourage oral or written reports. Oral reports are time-consuming, but they give the librarian an idea of how to guide the child in future reading. You can make these more palatable to children by creating a "book club" to discuss books. Try dressing up as a character in a book to stimulate questions and opinions from the children.

Written reports stimulate thinking and writing skills. You may encourage a less formal book report by hosting an electronic "chat room" where children post their feelings about the reading. If you don't have the resources for a technological wonder such as this, don't despair! Simply create a display with a few featured books, labeling it the "(Arizona)'s favorite author!" area. (insert name of library or city). Give the children a short fill-in-the-blank form, with questions such as "I liked this book because...", "My favorite character is...", etc. If possible, take instant photos of the children to post with their "reports."

Unstructured Programs:
Even though most librarians implement a structured program, a less formal approach could be both successful and easy to implement. Here are some points to ponder for an unstructured program.

• Any child (or family) may participate.

• There is no required reading list or minimum number of reports.

• Any child who has participated by reading at least one book or by participating in one activity may receive a certificate or acknowledgement.

• Children keep their own reading records. Maybe they even decide how they will track their progress.

• If the child moves or goes on vacation to another part of the state and the local library there has a summer reading program, the child may continue the program with them.
Family Involvement
You know the history and the needs of your patrons, so create a program suited to your community. Most of us think of family reading programs in terms of children, usually those who are three to ten years old. Occasionally we make an effort to encourage preteens and teens, but seldom do we realize there is an entire category of patrons who may enjoy participation. Those patrons are the adults of the community. Consider the impact of such a program for your library. Parents, senior citizens, nursing-home and retirement-center residents, for example, are groups who might be considered for family reading programs.

Children need encouragement, but what better encouragement is there than seeing adults in their lives and in their community who also enjoy reading. Make an attempt to include others in the community in your program. If you do not set age limits, you may have a wider variety of participants than you expected.

Parent Involvement
Parents who read in the home make a huge impact on their children. Use this reading program as an opportunity to encourage reading as a family activity.

A Family Certificate may be offered along with individual certificates. During Family Reading Program Time, each child must bring an adult and each adult must bring a child. Set aside a special week during the family program for special features for family involvement and attendance. Have special bulletin boards, reading material centers, read-aloud programs, and lap-sit programs. Follow the lead of one library and offer contract programs such as “DAD (OR MOM) WILL READ TO ME.” Grandparents or other caregiver adults sometimes bring children to the library. They, too, may be interested in working toward a certificate or in becoming involved in a meaningful way.

Parent Orientation:
• Have a guest book for parents to sign that includes addresses so that you can send invitations to future events or other information.

• Tell the parents briefly about the theme and some special events planned for the program (story hours, picnics, pet shows, etc., see the program ideas in each age group selection for more suggestions).

• Give the parents a little guidance on family reading with a presentation by a local reading specialist. Colleges, universities, or local school districts are all sources for speakers. Emphasize the importance of brevity to the speaker. The audience is composed of parents, not educators. We do not want to overwhelm them. If parents think they have to make radical overnight changes in their routine, they might not participate.

• Bring groups together and have someone read a story or chapter to the entire group. Prepare the reader with an enticing selection, but read it, do not perform it. While everyone enjoys a good storyteller, we want to convince parents that reading and listening together is a pleasurable experience within any family’s reach.

• Book talk your parents! Draw their attention to books for adults that will help them get started reading aloud or inspire them. The New “Read-Aloud” Handbook by Jim
Getting Started

Trelease is excellent. It contains lists of proven read-aloud winners. Describe or quote briefly from one or two titles.

- Prepare a hand-out of read-aloud books for the parents and give it to them to take home.

Other Special Events:
- Try a parent/child get together. You may want to have someone share a favorite book and/or show a short film based on a children’s book. Draw attention to any interesting new titles and be prepared to recommend more favorites.

- Sponsor a father or male caregiver’s night out at the library. Have children bring their fathers, grandfathers, or significant male adult to the library for a special event such as storytime session. Do not forget to mention the need for family read-aloud time. If the evening is a success, consider making it a regular event.

- Host a family spelling bee. Use regular words or focus on the pet/pet care/pet adventure theme.

Program Support:
- Keep good family read-aloud books on display throughout the program. Develop a family reading display on the wall or bulletin board.

- Send an updated list of read-aloud titles home with the children. A biweekly or monthly read-aloud newsletter could be a regular feature. This can be as simple as a photocopied list of additional titles especially suited for reading aloud or a report of the children’s activities in the Arizona Reading Program. Use your mailing list if funds permit or send a sheet home with the children.

Senior Citizen Involvement
Consider a special program for senior citizens using the family reading theme. A low-key public awareness program to the targeted seniors in your community may bring in several new patrons. A simple letter to civic clubs, churches, senior residences, health care offices, area agencies on aging, and senior citizens centers should help spread the word. Your sincere interest will become known and the response may surprise you.

Nursing Homes and Retirement Centers:
Those who reside in nursing homes and retirement centers may be served by regional library centers, but the involvement of the local public library may prove to be popular.

Program directors in these care facilities might appreciate having buttons, ribbons, bibliographies, bookmarks, and other thematic program materials. The games and activities enjoyed by children may also be enjoyed by seniors who live in nursing homes and retirement centers. Program directors are always looking for new and interesting program materials.

Retirement homes and assisted living centers are also good place to look for volunteers. Many of these residents would enjoy reading aloud to children. They may also be interested in making flannel board characters or favors for your programs.

Awards and Incentives:
Will you award your rewards based on books read, time read, or visits to the library? This should influence how you record reading. Then set recognition points. How many books must be read for each child to get to the first level, the next level, then to gain a certificate or other recognition?

First decide on a goal.
Consider rewarding participation rather than performance. Counting library visits will encourage library use without undue competition. The point of the program is to make the library more appealing, not to promote read-to-the-death gladiatorial games: “Ave, Caesar. We who are about to read salute you!”

Many libraries like to give incentives. Call it the “Happy Meal” effect if you will. Today’s children are used to being lured by a cool prize or toy; however, do not save something for a prize that is better used as a promotional item early in the program. Incentives can range in cost from bookmarks printed by the ARP to T-shirts with the program slogan. You know what works best with your community, library, and budget.

When to Distribute the Loot
Depending on your program’s structure, you’ll want to decide how to pace the incentives.

In the beginning:
When you sign up a participant for the reading program make sure they get something...a booklog, a sticker, any small token to show that they are about to start something special.

Along the way:
Drop-out after the initial excitement is a major concern. Make sure to offer incentives along the way. Remember, an incentive doesn’t have to be a product: it can be recognition, tokens for an eventual larger prize, or even a note of encouragement. Consider having a drawing once a week for everyone who has visited the library or added an entry on their booklog. This way, there’s always a winner as well as multiple opportunities to win.

Think about ways to add momentum such as using tokens or book bucks. For example, as each reader attains goals, award book bucks. At the end of the program, let children spend their book bucks on prizes. Fun prizes could be “spend a day with the a fire man” or “share a snack with the librarian.” Some libraries even give certificates to children as they complete goals. This has the advantage of solving the problem of extra certificates at the end of summer. Make sure that the children know about special presenters and activities still to come so the children will want to keep coming back to the library!

Awards ceremony:
An end-of-the program ceremony is a great opportunity to promote the library community-wide. It gives you a chance to show off the library decorated by the kids during the program. Have the ceremony at a convenient time for parents, and remember many families take vacations right before school starts. To add flair, invite local officials to distribute the certificates. You can award certificates to families that have read books aloud to their children. This sends out a “thank-you” to everyone who was involved in the program.

Publicity and Promotion: Getting the Word Out!

Having a great program isn't enough. You need to let people know. Why should you worry about publicity and promotion? It works! Here are some things to consider.

CREATE A PRESS RELEASE—IT’S AN INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE:
Be sure to include as much information as you can about the event. The earlier people know about the event, the better the turnout is likely to be.

Even if greater attendance is not a goal, it gives community leaders a chance to publicly support and discuss your event and its impact on the community.

Leaders from major corporations, government officials, and other prominent citizens in the community can take this opportunity to support reading as an activity that has no cultural boundaries. In a time of great debate over the “haves” and “have nots,” the Public Library stands as a great equalizer. Remind your leaders of your purpose whenever you can to garner their support.

INCREASE THE VISIBILITY OF THE LIBRARY IN YOUR COMMUNITY:
The broad base of support for events should be a grass roots effort from within the local community. Use bulletins, newsletters, and flyers to distribute among community members. You want to inform and raise excitement about events. Make the activities for your events sound fun and exciting. Don’t forget to include locations, times, and schedules. It’s also important to acknowledge your sponsors and contributors on much of your materials. If they feel they are getting “value-added” promotional value, they’ll be even more eager to support you next year.

GET THE LOCAL MEDIA INVOLVED:
An often underutilized marketing tool is non-paid advertising in the form of public relations. A full-fledged feature article or a spot on television will do more to publicize your event than any other single action. Why? Using the mass media reaches the greatest number of people.

To best utilize their services and expertise, it’s best to understand how most organizations operate. A good way to get started is:

- Make a list of local newspapers, radio stations, television stations, and community bulletin services such as the community access station. (If you have a committee, this is a good place to divide and conquer!)
- Call and find out which writer or producer would best handle your event.
- Remember, broadcast news will have a different producer and team for weekday and weekend coverage.
- Drop off a promotional item or T-shirt to your contact as a thank you.
Strength in Numbers:
Ask partner organizations to prepare their own press releases to support Books and Pets. Their releases should follow the same guidelines as yours; therefore, you might want to give them copies of your press releases. Ask your partner organizations for copies of their press releases. Be sure to include these in your press kits. Remember, most organizations have internal newsletters which effectively reach different groups.

The Press Release

Writing Press Releases:
The most essential tool for communicating directly to the media is your press release. These releases are the main vehicle for providing the press with the event information and updates. It is important that the press release include all the information needed to cover the event thoroughly. Printing your press releases on your library letterhead is very important. The letterhead gives importance to the information and it also gives your media sources a clear idea of who is in charge of your Books and Pets event. Everyone loves the library, so it will be easy to get your community excited when you get the word out about your event.

Short, Sweet, and to the Point:
Most press releases are one or two pages long. Especially when it comes to unsolicited releases, most professionals will not read lengthy press releases. Some organizations will reprint them almost verbatim, others tend to rewrite and sometimes misunderstand your intentions.

What's Your Main Message:
Your press release should carry one main message. This message should be clearly stated in a single sentence as the first paragraph of the release. All paragraphs should be between one to three sentences long. A good way to accomplish this is using a outline or bullet form whenever possible. Whatever method makes the press release easy and quick to read is the best way to go. Try to include at least one relevant quote in every release.

May I Call You?
Be sure that you include a date for release and the name and phone number of the library contact at the top of every page in the press release. To make this important information stand out, try printing it in bold face type. This information will make it easier for the media to get in contact with you if they have any further questions.

Use the Inverted Pyramid Structure:
The easiest method of organizing a press release uses an inverted pyramid structure. Begin with the general information and give progressively more specific information in each additional paragraph. Remember, the first paragraph should be a statement of the main message of the press release. The purpose of a press release is to convey the most essential information about your event in the fewest and clearest word possible. The last paragraph should include information about the organization releasing the media advisory: the mission statement, the goals of the organization, and a reminder of the contact name and phone number.
Creating a Press Release:

JUST THE BASICS: WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE, AND WHY:

Sometimes referred to as the five “W”s. Who is giving the event? Who are the main groups and people that will be attending? What is Books and Pets? What kinds of activities will take place at the event? When will the event take place? Where will it be held? And most importantly, why is your event newsworthy? All of this information should be worked into every press release sent to the media.

A good way to ensure that the right media person receives your information is to call first to identify the best reporter to receive your release, send the release, then follow through with a phone call to make sure they received it. They are inundated by material, so anything you can do to make your information stand out is helpful.

Remember, many of these organizations have good intentions. When they are understaffed or unorganized, it’s easy for your press release to get lost in the shuffle. The best way to get coverage is to start early and develop key relationships with the person responsible for your coverage.

Another way to present your series to the media for more extensive coverage is to pinpoint a human-interest angle that would appeal to their target audience. For example, choose a speaker at one of your events or a family to personalize the story. Then give additional information about your reading club, a phone number for more information, and a schedule of events.

Here are some standard guidelines for preparing a press release:

- Use 8 1/2 x 11-inch white paper
- Type only on one side and double space
- Leave wide margins
- Put your name, address, area code and phone number on every page. Add e-mail, fax numbers, and a Web site address if you have them.
- Type the date for the release as “For release the week of _____” or “For immediate release.”
- Make the lead sentence concise and straightforward.
- The release should answer the five “w’s”: Who, What, When, Where, and Why (and sometimes How)
- Avoid technical or library jargon, as well as acronyms and initials
- Type “###” at the end of your release, and “-more-” at the bottom of all other pages.

WRITING YOUR PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT:

Although press releases will be used mostly by print media, the information contained in them will also be useful to the broadcast media (television and radio). Since broadcast media usually have even less time to cover events then print, additional preparation of the public service announcements (PSAs) for local and national radio and television stations is recommended. PSA’s are usually 30 seconds long or less, so state only the basics-who, what, when, where, and why. Send PSA scripts to the radio stations listed in your media database, in addition to the regular press releases. Some local public television stations air text-only “community calendars” on a daily basis. PSA’s usually require additional time and work because of the visual elements involved. Begin working with television stations several months ahead of time to develop appropriate visual footage and dialogue for your Books and Pets PSA.

Well, gotta go now...my owner picked out a great book and I can hardly wait for him to read it to me! See ya soon!
Advertising
Why would anyone want to pay for an ad if you can get your event or program covered by the media for free?

When it’s critical to get the word out, you must not rely solely on free publicity. Sometimes a paid ad is the only way you can guarantee that your message goes out verbatim. Many publications do offer a lower rate for non-profit organizations.

First call the publication or station and ask to speak to a sales representative or ask for a media kit to be mailed to you. Based on the desired demographics for your event, such as families with young children or teenagers, decide which media best reaches your audience.

Graphic Design
Presentation is important. Most libraries have at least one creative staff person. If not, enlist the services of a local design firm. Most people are willing to donate some of their time and expertise if asked.

You may use any of the graphics in this resource guide, or use the files on the CD-ROM to get a head start. Try to use realistic interpretations of pets. Feel free to tie into the color scheme of yellow-gold, orange, red, and blue.

Notes from K-READ

Thanks to everyone who contributed to this year's manual. Arizona librarians have been a rich resource for creating this program used at many libraries across the state.

Ann-Mary Johnson and the Arizona Humanities Council should be commended. It is wonderful to work with someone so committed and enthusiastic about the success of this program.

We are always striving to make the manual better and easier for you. Here are some helpful notes on using the manual and CD.

Any art found in this manual may be scanned and used in your library. Most graphics and forms will also be found on the CD-Rom.

Last year, the disk contained files in Word Perfect and Adobe Acrobat. This year, we are attempting to make the disk more interactive and user friendly. We have set it up to work with your internet browser. Most libraries have either Microsoft Explorer or Netscape. When using the disk, you may want to save something to your hard drive or edit.

For a text document, you would copy text and then paste into your word processing document in order to edit.

For a graphic file, you would place it in your word processing, page layout, or graphics program. It is still necessary to know a bit about how technology works to use the CD. Feel free to ask other staff members or technically adept community members to help. There is nothing wrong with re-entering forms or filling out by hand.

Again, thanks and feel free to contact me personally with any questions.

Decorations
Here comes the fun part: transform your library into a visual wonderland. Pick ideas that relate to Books and Pets and let your imaginations run wild! By decorating, you will not only promote enthusiasm, but will also let everyone know that something fun and exciting is taking place.

Dog House Library

YOU WILL NEED:
- Rectangle cardboard box (any size)
- Tape
- Paint or markers

1. Cut the flaps off one end of the cardboard box.
2. Turn box over so the side with flaps still attached is facing up.
3. Fold out the 2 short flaps on the top of the box.
4. Take one of the long, cut flaps and tape it to the edges of the 2 long flaps on the top of the box. This will form the roof of the library.
5. Hold the short flaps up to the roof. Trace a line marking the edge of the roof on both sides. Cut along the trace lines and tape front flaps to
6. Cut an opening at one end of the box for the door.
7. Using paints or markers, decorate the outside of the box to look like a library.

When library is completed, place the “Books and Pets” puppet dog or any stuffed dog reading a book inside.

Book Bones

YOU WILL NEED:
Construction paper
Markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Cut out bone shapes from construction paper. You can cut out various sizes if you like.
2. Write the titles of popular Young Adult books on the bones.
3. Display them on the walls or ends of the bookshelves.

Papier Mâché Book Bones

YOU WILL NEED:
Newspaper
Paper Mache
Paint

DIRECTIONS:
1. Make bones using your favorite paper mache recipe.
2. When the paper mache is dry, paint the bones.
3. Write the titles of popular Young Adult books on the bones.
4. Display the bones on book shelves and tables.

Papier Mâché Recipe

Take some newspaper and mold it into the shape of the object you are making. Then wrap your desired shape with masking tape. Pour some flour into a large mixing bowl or pan, then pour water in until you achieve a thick soupy paste. Mix with your hands until there are no lumps and the mixture is smooth. Tear some newspaper into wide strips. Keeping your hands very wet, moisten the area of your shape that you are about to mache. Put strips of the newspaper onto your shape one at a time, soaking and smoothing them as you work. It is important that you do not dip your strips of paper into the water-flour mixture, only your hands, and only put on a new strip of newspaper until the one underneath is completely soaked and smoothed into place. When your shape dries it will be white and quite hard.

Cat Reading Stand

You will need:

Cardboard cylinders of various sizes
(oatmeal cartons or any kinds that are sturdy work best.)
Cardboard
Glue
Felt or scrap material

1. Glue the cylinders on a large piece of cardboard glue in a scattered pattern.
2. Glue smaller pieces of cardboard on top of the cylinders.
3. Cover all surfaces with felt or material.

When completed, stuffed cats and books can be displayed on the stand.
Other Decorating Ideas

BEST LITTLE PET SHOW IN ARIZONA
Let kids imagine that they are in a wonderland of animals! You can divide the library into sections by decorating with various types of animals. Sections could include a Doggy Run, a Kitty Lounge, or a Bunny Hop Stop. Have rooms or corners labeled with these names and decorate completely with things about the respective animals. For example, in the Bunny Hop Stop Corner, you can hang carrots from the ceiling and have bunny cages with stuffed bunnies in them as tables or under chairs. When you are doing activities, it will be easy to split the children up just by telling some of them to go to the Doggy Run or the Kitty Lounge, etc.

FUN ADVENTURES WITH FURRY FRIENDS
Find books about animal’s adventures and decorate according to some of the stories. For example, consider The Incredible Journey. You could decorate the walls with maps of the places that the animals ventured. To begin the day with a fun activity, someone could read part of the book until the animals reach a new location. You could then map their journey on the wall!

FAMOUS FRIENDS
Utilize famous animals as your main theme throughout the library. You could decorate the library like the Hollywood Hills and have pictures of famous pets on the walls. Put up posters of movies about pets and animals. Some of these famous animals could include Garfield, McGruff, Snoopy, Blues Clues, the Air Bud dog, Morris the Cat, Benji, and many, many more. Refer to the page in the Activity Section with the list of famous people’s pets for more ideas.

Registration
Decide on a registration method. If you are inspired, use your own program registration forms, or adapt the following templates to fit your needs. Another fun idea is to use a guest book to register participants. Don’t forget to save this data. Use it to develop a mailing list for announcements and future events.

If you are not registering participants at a central event or location, you may wish to place individual forms at the circulation desk and in the children’s department. Easy access will allow patrons to sign up at anytime. Consider allowing children to sign up anytime after the start. This may be more work for you, but imagine being turned away.

Reading Log Notes
Each library can track reading and set up prize or acknowledgements in any way you see fit. The logs do not have instructions printed on them, so you can adapt to your needs. Below are sample instructions you may choose to use.

The Arizona Reading Program logs allow you to track by time or titles. It could also be adapted to acknowledge pages read. It has a “start here” spot for when a child comes to the library to sign up for the program. Consider passing out logs during your school visits.

After the first five hours, you can continue to color in squares around the perimeter for additional prize points. You choose if and when you pass out prizes or coupons. Reward participation as much as completion. Getting a child to the library for the first time is a big challenge and they should receive positive reinforcement.

You do not have to award prizes; use the stickers and game logs to create a fun activity. Names can be acknowledged around the library based on their levels of accomplishment. Set your own levels, then inform participants and their parents, perhaps using handout guides. Make copies for the parents of the children to take home to encourage at-home-reading also. Remember, if you want it to be successful, keep it simple and do not exclude anyone.

Sample Reading Log Instructions
Edit to fit your program specifics, and create a handout for kids to take home to parents:

Looking for a fun way to keep track of your reading this summer? Use this reading log and play along to win prizes.

Pick up a log and get your first sticker or stamp to get started. Color in a square for each time period/number of pages/title you read alone or with your family. After each square, visit the children’s department of your library to validate your log. After 5 squares, you may be eligible for a prize or drawing.

Don’t stop reading, you can use the squares around the perimeter of your log for additional incentives. Remember, reading for fun is the best reward!
On this and the following templates, you may choose to enlarge, reduce or reposition the original on your page. Consider using colorful paper or adding stickers to make it look more fun.

September 2001

Dear Animal Lovers,

The Arizona Humane Society is honored to be part of this year's Arizona Reads Program. We are delighted to provide some of our favorite humane education components in a chapter especially created for use in libraries throughout Arizona.

Reading is critical to learning, and animal-related books can be highly effective in reaching youth of various ages. We are proud to present a Humane Literature Checklist in our chapter – a great tool in assessing story content for humane messages. We also have provided lessons, activities and a Humane Bibliography of Children’s Literature that we hope you find helpful.

During our 44 years of business, The Arizona Humane Society has facilitated many programs and services across the state. Among these include; Educational Workshops, Humane Heroes and Animals Across the Curriculum educational programs, Mobile Spay/Neuter & Vaccination Clinic and natural disaster response interventions. This is the first time, however, that we have been invited to include our humane education lessons into a statewide curriculum. We are thrilled to have our educational materials selected for use in this manual, and hope that you find the content fun, enlightening and educational.

Kindly,

Ken White
President

Humane Literature Checklist

Children love animals; therefore, animal-related literature can make learning fun and easy for kids of all ages!

The Arizona Humane society has compiled some of our favorite lessons for you to use with your children. In this chapter, you will find lessons and a checklist that is especially helpful in assessing books for humane content. You will also find a Humane Bibliography in this chapter. We encourage you to use the preselected books for your lessons. You may assess other books you want to use. However, books that do not meet the checklist criteria sometimes require open discussion about animal issues. Here is a guide to assessing literature for humane content/value.

WHAT ARE YOU SHARING WITH YOUR STUDENTS?

Reading about animals is a great way for children to learn. There are many books available featuring animals. However, we may not be aware of the messages these stories convey to children. As educators, we must be aware of inappropriate themes that may be taken too seriously or out of context. Some books and stories successfully foster humane values of compassion, respect and empathy, while others do not.

The checklist below will give you some tips on identifying humane material. When completing the checklist, do not immediately disqualify a book because some answers are “no.” Some topics can lead to educational discussions with your students. Evaluate the book for its overall theme.

1. Is the animal information correct?  Yes  No
2. Does the book discuss the needs of animals?  Yes  No
3. Is there respect for nature and its qualities?  Yes  No
4. Does the book show compassion towards animals and humans?  Yes  No
5. Is the book about animals at all?  Yes  No
6. Are animals shown in an anthropomorphic way?  Yes  No
   (Animals showing human characteristics)
7. Is there acceptance of cultural differences?  Yes  No
8. Does the book speak about environmental conservation?  Yes  No
9. Do the visuals demonstrate appropriate behaviors around animals?  Yes  No
10. Is there cruelty toward animals in the text or visuals?  Yes  No
11. Does the book address issues for further discussion?  Yes  No

Further questions to consider:
1. What is the overall theme? What is the moral of the story?
2. Does the book contain specific features that make it a useful educational tool? Are there detailed glossaries, captivating photos, or maps and other diagrams?
3. At what points in the book will you stop to elicit responses from the children?
4. What additional materials will you use to help the book “come alive?”
5. How can you use this book to enhance other activities and learning objectives in the classroom?

Please remember, when assessing different books, do not immediately disqualify a book because some answers are “no.” Some topics can lead to educational discussions with your students.
What is "Humane?"

Puzzle using words synonymous with the word, humane.

Can you find the humane words in this word search?

Word Bank:
- Kind
- Caring
- Compassion
- Loving
- Nice
- Gentle

You Can Be a Humane Hero!
The Humane Hero Ribbon is designed to promote kind behaviors. Each child can decorate their ribbon and librarians or parents can reward them for their kind and humane deeds.

What is a Humane Hero?
A Humane Hero is caring, compassionate, courageous, responsible, and respectful to people and animals.

How Do I Become a Humane Hero?
It's easy! – just be kind to animals... and people! You also can become a Humane Hero the fun way!

1. Cut out the Humane Heroes Ribbon.
2. Write your name in the space at the top.
3. Decorate your ribbon and hang it up in an important place where you can see it everyday!
4. Each time you do a kind deed and show one of the character traits on the ribbon, color in the box by the word.
5. When you have filled in each box on your ribbon, you are a Humane Hero!
6. After you have completed your ribbon, write a story for The Arizona Humane Society telling your favorite part of becoming a Humane Hero. If you send your story to the address below, you will get a Humane Heroes Certificate!
7. Send Humane Hero stories to:

Fun Reading with Animals!

Let's Make Bookmarks!
Before we begin to actually read about animals, there are a few things that we are going to need! One of the most important items is a bookmark to keep our place when we have to take a break from our book. So, let's make some really fun and cool bookmarks! On the next two pages you will find some awesome bookmarks made especially for you. Color and cut out the bookmark that you like best; as a matter of fact, decorate and use as many as you wish!

You can take these bookmarks home and give them to your parents or to your friends at school to show everyone how you are spending your summer. The best thing about these bookmarks is that they remind you about important things that your pets need: tags and hugs!

Help Scruffy Get Home!

This educational lesson is used to log and write about the books children read from the Arizona Humane Society bibliography.

A Reading Adventure

Scruffy got out of the backyard gate of his family's home, and now he's out on the streets alone. His family did not put a collar and tag on him, and nobody knows where he lives. Now, Scruffy is scared because there are many dangers to pets on the streets.

Can you help Scruffy find his way home?

Each time you read a book from our reading list, write the name of the book in the spaces below. Each book you read brings Scruffy a little closer to home!

On the following page, you will find questions about the characters and stories you read. Answer the questions as you finish the stories. Each book you read is a step closer to Scruffy's home!

Make sure your pet can get home!

ALWAYS have a collar and tag on your cats and dogs!
Scruffy's Journey Home

In the blanks provided below, write the names of the books that you read. Start at the top with the first book and work your way down to the bottom line where Scruffy will reach Home Sweet Home!!!

TAG! You’re It!

In this puzzle, children use jumbled letters to complete a sentence about responsible and safe pet care. It also gives children the opportunity to think about other ways we can keep our pets safe.

You can play tag with your pets!

But in this game, each time you tag a pet, you are showing how much you care!

Our pets don’t speak English or Spanish, so it’s very important to give your pet an identification tag. Even if your cat or dog lives inside or stays in your yard, he could still get loose by accident. You can purchase identification tags in pet supply stores or at your local Humane Society or animal shelter. Sometimes, you can even get them free!

What are some ways to keep your pet safe?

Using the letters below, finish each sentence below. Mark an “X” over each letter you use.

1. Keep your dog on a ___ ___ ___ ___.
2. Make sure your dogs & cats always wear an identification ___ ___.
3. If your dog is outside, make sure he is kept in your ___ ___ ___.
4. Keep your cat in your ___ ___ ___ ___.

Can you think of any other ways to keep your pet safe?

(Answers: 1. leash; 2. tag; 3. yard; 4. house)

Remember, both dogs and cats need tags!

There are many dangers outside for pets, and we need to make sure they can make their way home safely.
Tag Fun!
This craft activity gives kids the chance to decorate a tag necklace for themselves and sample tags with all of their information for their pets.

It is important for each pet to have a tag. You can even create your own tag and wear it like a necklace!

Make your tag:
1. Write your name, address and phone number on the front.
2. You can decorate the back with color/glitter or your own drawing.
3. Punch a hole in the top.
4. Using string to make your own necklace tag!

Make sample tags for your pets at home:
1. Write your pet's name on the top line followed by your address and phone number.
2. Create and cut out a sample tag for each of your pets.
3. Paste each tag on the following worksheet.
4. Take this home to remind yourself to get real tags for each of your cats and dogs!
Tag Fun
I Love Pets!

Paste your sample pet tags onto this piece of paper. You can color and decorate around the tags and you can even write a little story if you’d like! Take your tags home and remind your family that every pet needs a tag!!

Please show you care – put tags on your cats and dogs!
As children read various books throughout your program, you can have them write about the kind, humane characters they find in different stories.

Humane Heroes Are Everywhere!

Humane Heroes are people who do kind deeds for animals... and people! They are caring, compassionate, responsible, courageous and respectful.

Can you find examples of each of these characteristics in different books? How many story characters can you find who deserve to be Humane Heroes?

Take Care of Their Pets!

Animals need many different things. The four most important things your pets need are:

Feed your pets a balanced diet with quality pet food.

Pets should not eat "people food." Did you know that chocolate is poisonous to dogs?

Always have plenty of clean water for your pets.

All pets need exercise. What are some fun and safe ways to play and exercise with your pet?

Pets need love too!
Make sure you praise your pet when he/she does something good.
How well do you take care of your pets? Follow the instructions below and let's see what a good pet owner you can be!

After you read the instructions, tally your Pet Points on the next page.

1. Cut out the Pet Points chart on this page.
2. Hang the Pet Points chart where you will see it every day! (Maybe on the refrigerator!)
3. Each time you give your pet food, water, exercise or love, give yourself a pat on the back and a Pet Point in each box as you do the kind deed for your pet!
4. At the end of the week, tally your Pet Points. How well can you do this week?

Your Pet

As you learned from the previous exercise, animals need food, water, exercise and love. What else does your pet need? You can learn about your pet's needs by reading books in the library. See if you can find the information below in a good book about your pet.

What kind of pet(s) do you have?

What book(s) did you read about your pet?

What interesting things did you learn about your pet?

What things can your pet do that other animals cannot?

What do you love most about your pet? (You don't need a book for this part!)
Who Pays If We Don’t Spay?!
Educational piece about the importance of having pets spayed/neutered.

When cats and dogs have babies, they can have three to ten babies in each “litter.” Today, there are too many pets that do not have homes because people cannot take care of them all. In order for people to care for all of the cats and dogs, everyone in the world would need to have 45 cats and 15 dogs during their lives! That means everyone in your house and in your neighborhood would have that many pets!

The Arizona Humane Society receives an average of 110 homeless animals at its north Phoenix shelter every day! This shows us that pet overpopulation is a big problem! That is why it is important to show your pets that you love them by taking them to a veterinarian for an important operation that keeps them healthy, happy and “litter free!”

How many cats can one un-spayed female produce in 5 years?

If one cat has 7 kittens...

And those cats each have 7 kittens

And those cats each have 7 kittens

In five years, one unspayed cat could produce 16,807 cats!

Problem: Too many pets! People can’t take care of them.

Solution: Have your pet spayed or neutered!
Pet Diary
This exercise gives children and young adults a chance to put themselves in their pet's shoes, or should I say, paws.

Arizona Humane Society’s
Bibliography of Children’s Books
Alphabetical Order by Author

This story is about a boy who shows his mother that pet ownership means keeping an animal for life. Sam proves to his mother that his dog is part of the family and that he can be responsible. Unfortunately, instead of being a positive role model and working to solve problems constructively and compassionately, Sam’s mother encourages the family to get rid of the dog.
Ages 8-10

Breslow, S. & Blakemore, S. Sally. I Really Want a Dog. Dutton Children’s Books,
This book tells of a young boy who learns about the responsibilities of owning and caring for a canine companion before he visits the animal shelter to find a pet.
Ages 3-8

The author and illustrator of this book presents a very attractive, individual cat named Flossie, who also beautifully and humorously represents the species as a whole. This is an ideal picture book to introduce a discussion about cats, their characteristics, and their needs.
Ages 1-5

The theme of this book is solidly supported by the oil paintings it incorporates and the Spanish/English translation of phrases throughout. A lonely boy, new to the neighborhood in California, and a stray cat find each other; which leads both to a wider circle of wonderful friends.
Ages 6-9

A children’s book on breeds of dogs, that ends with a visit to an animal shelter and the adoption of a mixed-breed dog.
Ages 4-10

A true story of Rosie’s training to be a therapy dog and her visits to cheer up patients at a children’s hospital and a nursing home.
Ages 6-10

Part of the Animal Ark series, this book features heroine Mandy Hope, who tries to save a pony from a well-intentioned, but misinformed, owner. Set in a modern-day
English country village, this book features appealing characters, a suspenseful narrative, and a peek into the day-to-day challenges of a veterinary career.
Ages 8-12
A wintertime story that incorporates all types of attitudes of people toward dogs.
Mandy Hope finds a sheepdog that has been left for dead on the side of the road and nurses it back to health with the help of her parents.
Ages 8-12

This story illustrates how a cat struggles to survive when it's family moves and leaves him behind. This book teaches that animals also need loyalty and love.
Ages 7-9

Can a rabbit live happily in a house? This book will help teach everything one needs to know about rabbits, from how to choose one to building an appropriate cage.
Ages 8 and Up

A book of fascinating facts about animals, plus a practical guide to pets and their care.
Ages 3 and Up

Eleven-year-old Ned fires the air rifle that his uncle has given him for his birthday. He has found it in the attic where his father had hidden it after forbidding Ned to use it. He fires it just once, at a shadow in the garden. That “just once” seems to have been enough to hit and blind a stray cat because, shortly after that, a one-eyed cat turns up at a neighbor's woodshed. For the rest of that year, Ned lives with his doubts, fears and guilt, until he works through these emotions and finds peace with himself and his family. A novel for children with a strong humane message.
Grades 6-8

Story about a little boy who has to give up a houseful of pets because of allergies.
Ages 4-9

This book can be used to talk about being careful around dogs who are frightened.
All Ages

Story of abandoned cat.

Story about pet abandonment.

True story of pigs that wind up in a sanctuary instead of on a kitchen table.
Lucky, a well-fed housecat, has to choose between a clean, safe apartment life with a human who doesn’t love him, or a life of freedom and possible danger and hunger with his friend, a mouse named Ezra. One of the few “cat-and-mouse” picture books around that carries a humane message.
Grade 2 - 5

Bright white, glossy paper makes a striking background for the clear photo and diagrams used in this selective roundup of aquatic creatures. The answers to often-asked questions are straightforward with just enough elaboration to pique further curiosity. The book also contains a glossary, a list of recommended readings and a plea for conservation.
Grades 3 - 5

Ten-year-old Fiona, new in town, loves animals, but hasn’t yet found many children she can really count on to be her friends. Over the summer, however, she starts finding animals who need rescuing: a beetle, a frightened baby mouse, a hamster, a colony of ants and a fish that has grown too big for its bowl. As she carries out her kind work, a group of good friends begins to form around her. A funny, warm-hearted story.
Grades 3 - 7

This is an intriguing rendition of a familiar story. Janie wants a puppy and expresses her wish through Henry, the invisible dog she imagines for herself. Janie shows great responsibility for her imaginary pet, and in the end, through a series of coincidences, gets the dog of her dreams. The reader understands that they will live happily ever after because Janie has shown that she is able to provide love and care.

A little girl called Nina finds out that pigs, though delightful animals, are not like humans and have their own separate needs. This story could serve as a springboard for some discussion about the needs of various animals and about how they are treated by human beings. The extent of discussion of these issues could, of course, be determined by the level of the students.
Grades 2 - 5

Book about a very destructive puppy whose family does not have the heart to discipline him. This book can be used to show how necessary dog training is. May be fun to have a dog trainer present when using this book.
All Ages

Take a trip to the veterinarian with Minal and her companion dog, Silver. Learn how to prepare for the visit and what to expect. This excellent book is sensitively photographed and explained.

Langen, Annette. Pippo, A Little Dog Finds a Home. Abbeville Press Publishers, 1995. With delightful pictures by Sigrid and Sven Leberer, this book tells the story of Pippo, an energetic and ultimately lucky little dog, who, as a pup, endures an unloving home and then abandonment. A caring family finds him lost in the woods and takes him in. The book captures the joys of everyday life in a loving family setting. The book also features clever interactive fold-outs, as well as some information about responsible pet care. However, Pippo, who wears a collar, does not wear a leash in some outdoor scenes, which is generally not advisable.

Ages 7 and Up

Little, Jean. Lost and Found. Viking Kestrel, 1985. Lucy’s family moves to another town and she is lonely and worried about finding new friends, until she meets a little dog who may - or may not - be a stray. Her parents let her keep him until they find his owner. When the owner turns up at the local animal shelter and they are called in with the dog, Lucy is heartbroken. Then, at the shelter, she finds a sad, small toy Pomeranian who needs cheering up even more than she does! Could be integrated into a unit on pets/pet care.

Grades 4 - 6

Matthias, Catherine. I Love Cats. Children’s Press, 1983. One of the happiest “Big Books” around and a delightful celebration of all animals, but particularly the feline species.

Grades K - 3

Ages 4 - 6

Preschool Age

Grades K - 3

Another story of a very destructive puppy, much like Oh, Tucker, listed above. Smutter, however, is a Dalmation, so this book gives humane educators a chance to discuss this breed.

This 1992 Newbery Medal winner features an 11-year-old boy named Marty who tries to rescue a loveable beagle from an abusive neighbor. Interwoven in this riveting tale are a number of thought-provoking dilemmas about animal protection and moral choice. Readers will cheer for Marty and his heroic dedication to saving the beagle he names Shiloh. Though this story has a happy ending, most readers will realize that the outcome for many animals is not so fortunate. Absolutely first-rate!

Ages 10 and Up

Fans of Shiloh will love this equally gripping sequel that features a compelling message about the importance of kindness in personality development. One caveat: readers may want to note that it generally is not advisable to allow one's companion animal to run outdoors without supervision, nor should dogs be given triple fudge ice cream. These are the only flaws in an otherwise powerful reading experience.

Ages 10 and Up

This is a lively tale about a homeless dog named Murphy who gets into trouble while on his daily scrounge for food. Although Murphy is the book's central figure, the author also makes a larger point about the foibles of human nature. Characters pass hasty judgments, get carried away by the excitement of the moment and behave in a fickle manner. This useful book could spark a discussion about how ignorance and fear of unwanted animals can lead to misinformation and tragic endings. Black-and-white pen-and-ink illustrations alternate with colored ones, subtly underlying the book's theme of changing perceptions.

Ages 5 - 7

This fun, informative book about a new feline friend is packed with facts, jokes and even an I.D. tag for your animal. It will help any youngster learn about cats and how to care for them.

Ages 5 - 10

Preschool Age

Story of a Jewish family's cat who gets lost in a disastrous fire.

Ages 7 and Up
A family has a hard time coming up with a name for a cat that strays into their life. The book makes mention of “feral” cats and an interesting episode at the end has cat visiting a classroom, getting scared and jumping out a window. Good to use if you have animals visiting the classroom so children understand how to behave.
Grades 2 - 6

This is a magical and heartwarming story of a young boy who befriends a puppy and finds himself loved beyond his wildest dreams.
Ages 8 - 10

Pet loss.

This practical, easy-to-understand book promotes the bond between children and dogs. Chapters on dog language, handling and training are especially interesting.
Ages 8 - 12

All purebred dogs are different. Some were bred to herd sheep, others to find missing people. This book will help children understand both the physical and physiological characteristics of many of the dogs they might meet.
Ages 8 - 12

Forty-three children’s book illustrators present their personal experiences with dogs in pictures, stories and poems. They convey a variety of impressions of dogs’ personalities, along with tales of bravery, loyalty and friendship.
All Ages

This wonderful book is especially educational for a child living with a companion animal. The author asks questions as a way of encouraging children to observe their dogs’ actions and discover similarities to their wild cousins. For instance, she asks “Does your dog hear sounds that are inaudible to you,” while pointing out that coyotes can hear the sound of their prey even under a snowbank. Photos of Ryden’s own dogs invite readers to learn about animals through respectful observation and gentle play. With glossary and index.
Ages 8 - 10

Nice story of a well-loved dog.
Ages 3 - 9
Sweet relationship story of an older man and a cat.
Ages 3 - 9

Comforting for both children and adults regarding pet loss.
All Ages

Comforting for both children and adults regarding pet loss.
All Ages

A young boy named Henry lives with a spirited dog, Mudge. The mischievous dog chases the neighbor’s cat, jumps on visitors and pesters Henry’s father while he mows the lawn. A chance encounter with a well-trained dog inspires Henry and his family to take Mudge to obedience school, which he completes successfully. The lesson for children is that pets require proper training and care. This simple text, enhanced by bright, colorful drawings, spells out the joys and responsibilities of having a pet.
Ages 6 - 8

This is the eighth book in a series for young readers about a boy named Henry and his big, lovable dog, Mudge. Henry and his family take in a cat who “looks like mashed prunes.” In spite of his shabby appearance, the cat is embraced by all until a permanent home is found. (In the story the cat is fed milk, although milk can cause gastric distress in domestic felines.)
Ages 6 - 9

This delightful paperback (12th in the series) follows Henry and his dog, Mudge, on their adventures on the day of a big storm. Although Mudge is shown wearing a collar and identification tag, he runs around outside without a leash. Adults may want to caution against this as they discuss what is an exuberant book about the close relationship between a child and his dog.
Ages 6 - 9

Mr. Putter is a lonely old man who wants a pet to keep him company and listen to his stories. He goes to the animal shelter and adopts an old yellow cat named Tabby, who becomes his best friend. The story illustrates the value of companionship between pets and older people. Exuberant illustrations.
Ages 6 - 10
Here is the story of a girl and her adopted cat, Duncan, whom she dresses in human clothing and attempts to make perform tricks. At the heart of the matter is the girl’s realization that the cat prefers gentler play.
Ages 4 - 7

A North American classic dog story by a Canadian author, written a hundred years ago and retold by Quinn Currie. The central character, a brown mutt called “Beautiful Joe,” is based on a real dog, born in a stable in a small town in Maine, and abused by his owner. He was rescued by a kind family and lived happily with them for more than thirteen years. The author’s lifelong passion for kindness to animals glows throughout this book.
Ages 9 - 11

This book follows a dog’s quest to find someone to adopt him and love him for who he is, not judging him by his appearance.
Ages 3 - 8

Sad story of a stray dog.
Ages 3 - 8

A story about a dog with many homes.
Ages 4 - 8

True story of a deaf dog who winds up at an animal shelter.
Ages 4 - 9

This is a charming story of an orphaned puppy who is adopted hesitatingly by a crusty old sea captain in Martha’s Vinyard, MA. The puppy wins the man’s heart and becomes his close companion and, ultimately, a New England legend.
Ages 4 - 8

This excellent book for young adults contains questions and answers grouped in a logical, highly readable format. Filled with interesting information, it promotes responsible pet ownership.
Ages 8 - 12
From a six-year-old's point of view, this book compares a puppy and a baby sister, growing up.
Ages 5 - 7

Story of a golden retriever who misbehaves. This book can be used to help explain the importance of training and responsible ownership.
Ages 5 - 10

Pet loss.
All Ages

This picture book tells the story of two very different cats, a rich one who has a doting human owner and a poor stray, who thinks his name is “Scat.” This story is excellent for use in a whole language/Big Book unit, or for discussion of stray animals.
Grades K - 3

Factual text and black and white photos of Santa Monica Animal Shelter.

Age-Adaptable Programs and Activities

These special events may be kick-off or closing events, or simply special events in the course of your ARP. Feel free to host all-age affairs or adapt for a specific age range.

This year, young adults in particular may be interested in attending or even volunteering to help organize and supervise these events, because the love of pets has no age limit.

In addition to activities in this chapter consider presentations, demonstrations, and incentive prizes that may be solicited from local animal organizations such as:
- Animal groomers - for demonstrations
- Animal rescue organizations - for visiting animal with human rescuer
- Animal sanctuaries - visiting animal with human sponsor
- Animal shelters - see Presenter Resource section for educational outreach programs
- Animal therapy programs - visits by animals trained for pet therapy
- Handi-Dogs - for demonstrations
- Local 4-H club - for demonstrations
- Local county fairs - for incentive tickets as well as demonstrations
- Pet supply stores - for prizes as well as pet care information
- Veterinarian offices - pet care demonstrations

GENERAL PROGRAM IDEAS:

Here are some wonderful ideas that can be utilized during the reading program with any age. These programs will keep your ARP full of fun and encourage the youth to be more involved in their community and in the program. Don't forget the young adults in your community. They can assist you with many of the programs.

Here are some ideas to get you started:
- Create an essay contest about their favorite animal book or their pets.
- Customize pet record books/journals, including pictures, drawings, birth dates, shots, baths, and other notes.
- Hold a pet show or parade at the library or a community park. Don't forget to encourage "poop-scoop" techniques. You could even use stuffed animals and toys for very young children!
- Create a wall of pets using photos collected from your patrons.
- Host a gallery of pet drawings...these could be real or imaginary.
ACTIVITIES

Adopt a Pet
"Adopt" a stuffed puppet pet(s) and use a journal and maybe some photos to keep track of all of the fun things the library pet does. Return the pet after an allotted time (possibly one week) and the next child who adopts the pet, can keep track of their experience in the same journal. At the end of your reading program have a big presentation, displaying the pet(s) along with their travel journals and sharing their experiences with their “adopted” children. You may want to give away the pet(s) at the end of the program through a drawing or a lottery. (Preschool and School-age)

Pet Food Drive
Why not organize a pet food drive? (Ages 6 and up)

The number of stray and lost animals tends to increase during the summer months. Just like human food banks, animal shelters can run out of supplies for the animals that are brought to them.

Work with school age children to create colorful posters and signs asking for donations of food, litter, toys, leashes (most shelters have volunteers who come in to walk the dogs), and old blankets and towels.

Set up a central collection spot somewhere in your library where the donations can be dropped off. Use a decorated cardboard box or a plastic trash bin with appropriate signage.

Get teens or older school-age children to sort through the donations each week (separating dog items from cat items, food from toys and litter, etc.).

At the end of the Reading Program, all donated items can be taken to your local shelter.

IF YOU LIKE THIS IDEA, AND WANT TO TAKE IT FURTHER...
Enlist the support of local pet stores and veterinarians. Ask them to have donation boxes and posters in their offices or stores. You can even give them “Books and Pets” bookmarks to hand out. A win-win situation for all!
Stray Animal Rescue Kit

Even the best cared-for pet can get separated from its family. You can be prepared if you find a lost pet by putting together this rescue kit. Ages 6 and Up.

MATERIALS:
- Cardboard pet carrier or medium-sized cardboard box with top flaps
- Paints or markers
- Glue
- Optional: pet images from magazines, stickers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Start out with a medium-size pet carrier. You can usually find these at your local Humane Society or sometimes they are available at the veterinarian’s office. If you cannot find a pet carrier, you can use any cardboard box that has a closeable top.

2. If using a box, cut out breathing holes. This needs to be done by an adult or teen helper.

3. Decorate your carrier with stickers, pet pictures from magazines, or create your own designs.

4. Now it’s time to stock your Rescue Kit. Good items to include are:
   - Leash and collar
   - Small bags of cat and dog food
   - Dog & cat treats
   - Towels
   - Gauze or strips of cloth (in case the animal is bleeding)
   - Cotton gloves
   - Prepackaged moist wipes
   - Phone number of your local animal shelter or the animal control number of your local police department.

Once your Rescue Kit is stocked, keep it in an easily accessible place in your home, or in the family car.

DISCLAIMER: This kit is not designed for seriously injured animals; alike, it is not designed for animals that look as if they are dangerous or carrying a disease. Please use caution in deciding when and where to use this kit.
Pet Gallery
Ages 5 and Up.

MATERIALS:
Photographs of pets
Colorful paper or poster board
Magazine pictures of pets
Optional: Pet Fact Sheet

DIRECTIONS:
1. Invite children to bring in a photo of their pets for display in the library. Frame photos on colorful paper or poster board. You might offer a contest and award prizes in such categories as “Cutest Pet,” “Biggest Pet,” “Smallest Pet,” and “Most Unusual Pet.” For children who do not have pets, let them cut out pictures of pets they might like to have and post as well.

2. List winners and their photos in your library newsletter or submit them to the local newspaper.

3. Make sure to get the complete name and mailing address for the pets so photos can be returned if not picked up at the end of the program.

4. As an option, ask the children, with their parent’s help, to fill out a pet fact sheet (sample follows) to post with the photographs.

How to Keep a Pet Journal

Every single day your pet will change in some way no matter if you get them when they are a baby or when they are full-grown! The way they act, eat, sleep, and even the way they walk will change. By keeping a pet journal, you will be able to go back and see some of the new, crazy ways that your favorite pet has changed so much. Ages 7 and Up.

MATERIALS:
Folder (any color) with brads
Divider sheets
Notebook paper
Bright-colored pens or crayons
Clear tape
Decorative items, such as stickers, glitter, pictures, etc.

DIRECTIONS:
1. Decorate your folder. Feel free to be very creative. Don’t forget to put your pet’s name on the front!

2. Set up folder with 10-15 pieces of notebook paper between each divider.

3. Label the dividers to organize important events in your pet’s life.

4. Here are some ideas for your sections:

   Great Beginnings: How did you get your pet? Do you know their birthdate or any details about their early life? If you have adoption papers or other information, you may want to keep it here.

   Looking Good: What does your pet look like? Keep track of height, weight, color of eyes and other descriptions. You may want to include photos or drawings in this section.

   Memories: How has your pet impacted your life? What things do you like to do together? You may want to let friends and family members write their special memories or thoughts about your pet here.

   Healthy Living: You may want to keep shot or other veterinary visit information here. Also, what do you do to keep your pet healthy? Include feeding information, exercise, and more.

A pet’s presence has a lasting impact on a child’s life. This keepsake journal/folder could be a delightful memory far into the future. Consider doing this project, then reading the book or watching the video of My Dog Skip by Willy Morris.
ACTIVITIES

Songs and Plays
Here are some songs and plays to get you started. They are listed in age order (younger to older).

Five Kittens
(A finger play) Ages Pre-K.

My kitten pets must go to bed,
The little kitten owner said.
But I will count them first to see
If they have all come home to me.
One kitten, two kittens, three kittens dear
Four kittens, five kittens - yes, all are here.
They are the cutest kittens alive -
My kittens, one, two, three, four, five.

Little Friends
(A finger play) Ages Pre-K.

Little black bunny in your hutch,
I love you so very much.
With fuzzy tail and ears that flop,
Off you go - hippity hop.

Tiny yellow duck with a fuzzy back,
I can hear you,
Quackity, quack.
Swimming in the lake nearby,
Off you fly off to the sky.

If I Were...
(An action rhyme) Ages Pre-K.

If I were a pup,
I'd have four paws to run and play.

If I were a fish,
I'd have fins to swim all day.

If I were a cat,
I'd purr and purr just so.

If I were a tortoise,
I'd move so very s-l-o-o-w.

But I'm just little me,
I have two legs, can't you see?
And I'm as happy as I can be!
Bunny Bop
(Sung to “The Hokey Pokey”) Ages Pre-K.

DIRECTIONS:
1. Gather children in a circle and ask them if they know the familiar “Hokey Pokey” song. Review the song briefly for any who do not know it.
2. Ask the children to hold their hands up on each side of their head to create “ears.”
3. Sing together, following the directions in the song.

SONG:
- You put your bunny ears in, (Tip head down)
- You put your bunny ears out, (Tip head up)
- You put your bunny ears in, (Tip head down)
- You wiggle and you jiggle (Hop around)
- Then you hop and flop about (Wiggle and turn around)
- And you turn yourself around (Hop in time to the song)
- Let’s do the bunny hop!

This verse may be repeated, substituting other bunny body parts for ears, such as nose, paws, toes, and tail.

---

Spring Babies
(Sung to “Mary Had a Little Lamb”) Ages Pre-K.

- Baby bunny in your hutch, (Hold up hands on either side of head to form “ears”)
- How I like you very much, (Hop around)
- With furry coat and ears that flop, (Hold palms together)
- And a little hop, hop, hop.
- Baby duck with feathery back, (Open and close hands to “quack”)
- I can hear you quack, quack, quack, (Make swimming motions)
- You swim in the pond nearby, (Flap arms)
- Soon you’ll fly up to the sky.
- Fluffy little yellow chick, (Hold arms to side, flap like tiny wings)
- You’ll grow up so very quick, (Peck palm with fingers held together)
- Pecking here and pecking there, (Cheeping, cheeping everywhere) (Make cheeping noises)
My Puppy
(An action poem) Ages Pre-K.

(Ask the children to become talented puppies, as you recite this poem:)

My puppy is quite amazing
And tricks, he knows quite a few.
Now let me show you my puppy,
And some of the tricks he can do.

Puppy, puppy, watch when I say go,
Puppy, puppy, wag your tail just so.
Wag, wag, wag, wag,
Wag your tail just so.

Puppy, puppy, watch when I say go,
Puppy, puppy, sniff your nose just so.
Sniff, sniff, sniff, sniff.
Sniff your nose just so.

Puppy, puppy, watch when I say go,
Puppy, puppy, bark just so.
Bark, bark, bark, bark,
Bark just so.

Puppy, puppy, watch when I say go,
Puppy, puppy, sit up just so.
Sit, sit, sit, sit,
Sit just so.

Puppy, puppy, watch when I say go,
Puppy, puppy, jump up high just so.
Jump, jump, jump, jump,
Jump up high just so.

Good puppy!

My Pet Mice
(A finger play) Ages Pre-K.

Where are my pet mice? Hiding in a nest.
One peeks out.
Where are all the rest? One is sleepy.
One is snappy.
One is hungry.
And the last one is happy.
All are here and very much alive.
My pet mice - one, two, three, four, five!

I'm a Little Cat
(Sung to I'm a Little Teapot) Ages Pre-K.

I'm a little cat, Soft and furry.
I'll be your friend, So don't you worry.
Right up on your lap I like to hop, I'll purr, purr, purr
And never stop!

The Pig
(Sung to Camptown Races) Ages Pre-K.

The pig rolls in the mud all day, Oink-oink, oink-oink.
That is what he likes to say, Oink-oink-oink-oink-oink.
Curly tail that grows.

Pudgy little nose. Mud is where he likes to be, And it really shows.

(Activity and Poem) Ages 4 - 6

MATERIALS:
Puppy pattern
Paper or felt
Scissors
Optional: Crayons or colored markers
Black fine point marker

DIRECTIONS:
1. Copy and cut out the puppy dog pattern (which follows). Use this pattern to trace the shapes on felt. In lieu of a felt design, you may opt to photocopy the pattern and color instead.

2. If using felt pieces, add details with the fine point black marker. With the paper version, laminate and add Velcro to the back.

3. Place each puppy on the flannel board as you share the following poem.

Five Little Puppy Dogs
(Poem to read aloud) Ages 4 - 6

Five little puppy dogs
Sitting by the door,
Mommy called one puppy home,
Then there were four.

Four little puppy dogs
Running around a tree,
One stopped to dig a bone,
Then there were three.

Three little puppy dogs
Playing with a shoe,
One went to chase a cat
Then there were two.

Two little puppy dogs
Having so much fun.
One went to take a nap
Then there was one.

One little puppy dog
Sitting in the sun,
He went inside the house
Then there were none.

The Very Hungry Dog
(A flannel board poem) Ages 4 - 7

MATERIALS:
Hungry dog patterns
Scissors
Paper
Plastic resealable bag
Optional: Crayons or colored markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Enlarge the greedy dog pattern (which follows) on your photocopier and cut it out. You may wish to laminate this piece for durability. Add Velcro to the back of the dog for use on the flannel board.

2. Attach the plastic bag, open side up, to the dog’s stomach. The bag will hold the rest of the pieces.

3. Copy and cut out the rest of the patterns (which follow). You may wish to color the patterns with crayons or markers. If desired, laminate the paper pieces and add Velcro to the back.

4. Place each piece in the dog’s “stomach” (the plastic bag) as you recite the poem.

The Very Hungry Dog

Do you believe this dog will eat anything? (Show dog)
Apple cores and bacon fat, (Place pieces in bag as they are named)
Milk you poured out for the cat.
Can you believe that he’d drink that?
Save the things that you love most...
Because he relishes buttered toast.
Hide your goodies! He’s a thief,
He’ll even eat your handkerchief.
And if you don’t like sudden shocks,
Don’t forget to hide your socks.
Leave your soup without a lid?
Soon you’ll wish you never did.
Don’t you think he must be full?
Look! He’s gobbling bits of wool,
Orange peels or paper bags,
Feather duster and cleaning rags.

This dog will eat anything,
Except for mushrooms and cucumbers. (Start to place in bag, then throw out)
I guess he’s not very hungry any more.

FOLLOW THROUGH: Ask group what foods they don’t like.

Baby Animal Hunt
(A flannel board song) Ages 4 - 7

MATERIALS:
Baby animal patterns
Scissors
Paper
Paper bag
Optional: Crayons or colored markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Enlarge the baby animal pieces (below) on your photocopier and cut them out. You may wish to color them with crayons or markers and laminate them for durability. Add Velcro to the back of each piece for use on the flannel board.

2. Place each piece on the flannel board and sing the song. As you capture each animal, drop it in the paper bag.

3. When you let the animals go, pull them from the paper bag and place them on the flannel board again.
A Searching We Will Go
(Sung to A Hunting We Will Go) Ages 4 - 7

A searching we will go,
A searching we will go.
We'll find a little bunny,
And put him in a bag.
And then we'll let him go.

A searching we will go,
A searching we will go.
We'll find a little chick,
And put her in a bag.
(Put chick in bag)
And then we'll let her go.

A searching we will go,
A searching we will go.
We'll find a little kitten,
And put him in a bag.
(Put kitten in bag)
And then we'll let him go.

A searching we will go,
A searching we will go.
We'll find a little snake,
And put her in a bag.
(Put snake in bag)
And then we'll let her go.

A searching we will go,
A searching we will go.
We'll find a little puppy,
And put him in a bag.
(Put puppy in bag)
And then we'll let him go.

A searching we did go,
A searching we did go.
We found lots of animals
And put them in a bag.
(Take out all animals and replace on flannel board)
And now we'll let them go!
Peter’s Pet
(A Flannel Board Story Adapted from I Went Walking by Sue Williams) Ages 4 - 7

MATERIALS:
Animal patterns
Child pattern
Paper
Scissors
Crayons or markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy the animal and child patterns (which follow) and decorate them with crayons or markers. You may wish to laminate them for extra durability.

2. Add Velcro to the back of the pieces.

3. Place pieces on flannel board as directed by the story, “walking” the child forward as the animals join him in a line.

Peter’s Pet
(A Demonstrative Story) Ages 4 - 7

This is Peter. (Place child on board)

He loves animals, but he has no pet of his own.

So, one day, Peter decides to take a walk to see if he can find an animal to bring home. Can you help Peter find a pet?

When Peter says, “I go walking,” can you say, “What do you see?” (Encourage audience to respond, “What do you see?”)

“I see a yellow giraffe looking at me.” (Place giraffe next to child)

“I go walking.”

“What do you see?”

“I see a gray hippo looking at me.” (Place hippo next to child)

“I go walking.”

“What do you see?”

“I see a brown monkey looking at me.” (Place monkey on board)
“I go walking.”

“What do you see?”

“I see a white rabbit looking at me.” (Place rabbit on board)

“I go walking.”

“What do you see?”

“I see an orange lion looking at me.” (Place lion on board)

Look at how many animals are following Peter! (Point to the animals)

Which animal would be the best pet for him?

Does he have a house tall enough for a giraffe?

(Audience says, “No.” - Remove giraffe)

Does he have a yard big enough for a lion?

(Audience says, “No.” - Remove lion)

Does he have a river wide enough for a hippo?

(Audience says, “No.” - Remove hippo)

Does he have enough trees for a monkey?

(Audience says, “No.” - Remove monkey)

Would this make a good pet for Peter?

(Audience says, “Yes.” - Move rabbit close to child)

You’re right! The rabbit was exactly what Peter wanted for a pet!

The Kitty That Wouldn't Meow
(An Interactive Play) Ages 4 - 8

Narrator: Miranda was a very smart kitty, but she wouldn't meow. Miranda's mom was worried. One day she told Miranda:

Mom: "Please meow Miranda."

Miranda: "Quack."

Mom: "Oh no, cats go meow, and ducks go quack."

Narrator: So she didn't ask her to meow for the rest of the day. The next day she said:

Mom: "Please meow Miranda."

Miranda: "Woof."

Mom: "Oh no, cats go meow, and dogs go woof."

Narrator: So she didn't ask her to meow for the rest of the day. On the third day she said:

Mom: "Please meow Miranda."

Miranda: "Neigh."

Mom: "Oh no, cats go meow and horses go neigh."

Narrator: Then Miranda sneezed and out came a duck.

Miranda: "Achoo."

Narrator: Then Miranda sneezed harder and out came a dog.

Miranda: "ACHoo!"

Narrator: Then before her Mom could say anything She sneezed again. This time it was a really, really, really, big sneeze.

Miranda: "ACHOO!!!"

Narrator: Then out came a horse.

Mom: "What now Miranda?"

Miranda: "MEOW."

Bark, George!
(A Play from the Book by Jules Feiffer) Ages 4 - 7

PROPS:
Bandana or scarf (for George's Mother)
Dog collar (for George)
Long glove (for the vet)
Collar for cat,
Bill for duck,
Bib for pig
Bell for cow
String or ribbon
Optional:
Crayons or markers
Elastic string
Clear package tape

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy the collar and bill patterns (which follow). You may wish to ask some children to help decorate the collars with crayon or markers. You may also wish to laminate the props to make them more durable.

2. Punch holes in either side of the duck's bill and tie a length of string through each hole.
You may wish to secure the knots on the underside of the bill with a piece of clear package tape. Another option is to use elastic string, knotted on both sides of the bill to keep it in place.

3. Invite seven children to take an animal part in the play, and a group of other children to play the part of the crowd.

Q: Do you know what cats can have but dogs can't?
A: Kittens.

Q: Which side of a cat has the most fur?
A: The outside.

Q: Why does your dog always scratch himself in the same place?
A: Because that's where it itches!

Q: What do dogs and trees have in common?
A: Their bark.

Q: When is the best time to take your pet lion for a walk?
A: Any time he wants to go!

Q: How do cats shop?
A: From a CAT-A-Log!

Why did the cowboy buy a dachshund?
He wanted to get a long little doggy.

Danny: Our new dog is like one of the family.
Ellie: Yes, I can see the resemblance!

Henry: I have a pet mouse that squeaks all day.
Larry: Why don't you oil it?

First Dog: My master calls me "Fido," what does your master call you?
Second Dog: He calls me "Sitboy!"

Dick: Hey, your dog just bit my ankle.
Rick: What did you expect?
He's a small dog, and can't reach any higher.

Jack: My dog is worth $5,000.
Mack: How can a dog save that much money?

Boy: If I say, "Come here, Doggy," will your dog come to me?
Girl: Nope.
Boy: Why not?
Girl: Because his name's Ralph!

Teacher: Name four members of the cat family.
Susie: Mother, father, sister, and brother.

Veterinarian: Has your cat ever had any fleas?
Cat Owner: No, just kittens.
Dan: My parents just bought me a bird for a pet.
Jan: What kind is it?
Dan: A keet.
Jan: You mean a parakeet.
Dan: No, they only bought me one!

Hank: I took my dog to a movie yesterday, but he didn’t want to stay.
Frank: Why not?
Hank: He thought the book was better!

Marty: My mom can’t stand my pet duck.
Arty: Why not?
Marty: He’s a wise quacker.

Knock-Knock.
Who’s there?
Beagles.
Beagles who?

A Card Memory Game
Ages 4 - 6

MATERIALS:
Baby animal card patterns
Paper
Scissors
Crayons or markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy 2 sets of the baby animal cards (found with the Baby Animal Movement Game) to make one game. You may wish to make a set for each child.
2. Cut the cards apart, and ask the children to decorate them with crayons or markers.
3. You may wish to laminate the cards after decorating, to make them more durable.
4. To play, give two children (or one child and one adult) one set of cards, and ask them to mix them up and lay them face down in three rows of four each.
5. Have one child turn a card over and keep it facing up.
6. Invite the child to turn over the other cards until the matching card appears.
7. Then remove the matching cards.
8. Let the child turn all the remaining cards over, and ask the other child to repeat steps 5 and 6.
9. After removing the matching cards, ask the child to turn the remaining cards over.
10. Repeat the play, alternating the children's turns, until all the matches are made.
Bunny Hop and Stop
(A group activity) Ages 4 - 6

DIRECTIONS:
1. In this activity, the children pretend to be bunnies hopping around a big backyard.

2. Choose several children to be bunnies.

3. Ask the others to join hands and form the “fence” for the bunnies by making a circle.

4. Ask the children making the circle to lift their arms above their heads and to leave enough space between for their bunny friends to hop in and out of the circle.

5. Begin the game by saying, “Bunnies, HOP!”

6. Children selected to be bunnies hop in and out of the circle, under the arms of their friends.

7. After awhile call out, “Bunnies, STOP!”

8. Children in the circle then quickly lower their arms, trapping some of the bunnies inside the circle.

9. Trapped bunnies trade places with children in the circle and play begins again with the direction “Bunnies, HOP!”

10. Optional: Play a recording of the “Bunny Hop” or some other lively music as you announce, “Bunnies, HOP!”, stopping the music when you call, “Bunnies, STOP!”

11. Another option: At the end of the activity, reward all the bunnies with some delicious carrot sticks as a snack.
ACTIVITIES

Catch The Cat
Ages 4 - 8

DIRECTIONS:
1. Choose one child to be the cat and choose another child to be the dog.

2. All the other children need to make a circle and join hands.

3. Instruct the “dog” to stand on the outside of the circle and the “cat” on the inside.

4. Tell the “dog” to run around the circle to try to get inside to catch the “cat”.

5. Have the children making the circle raise and lower their arms to try to keep the “dog” away from the “cat”.

6. If the dog needs help, one of the players can say “Open the gates!” and all the players drop their hands.

7. When the cat gets tagged, choose a new “dog” and a new “cat”.

Pin the Tail Pet Game
Ages 5 - 8

MATERIALS:
- Pet patterns
- Paper
- Cotton balls
- Feathers
- Yarn
- Pipe cleaners
- Scotch tape
- Scissors
- Scarves or bandanas

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy the pet patterns (which follow). You may wish to enlarge them.
2. Attach the patterns to a wall, at the children’s height.
3. Using scotch tape, attach a tape loop to as many cotton balls as needed. The cotton will become the missing bunny tail.
4. Using scotch tape, attach a tape loop to as many small feathers as needed. The feathers will become the missing ducktail.
5. Cut some lengths of yarn and braid them. Attach a tape loop to each braid to make the missing horsetails.
6. Curl some lengths of pipe cleaner, and attach a tape loop to each of them. The curly pipe cleaners will become the missing pigtails.
7. Invite the children to try pinning the missing tails on our pet friends. If the children are agreeable, you may wish to blindfold each child with a scarf or bandana, to make the game more challenging.
8. Variation: On a piece of poster board, draw the houses of the respective animals you are using for Pin The Tail Pet Game. For example, make a hutch for the bunny, a barn for the horse, or a pond for the duck. Once all the tails are pinned on the animals, use the animals to play a new game with their houses: Put the Bunny in the Hutch, etc.

Crafts

Books and Pets
our friends for life!
You are not limited to this manual or the library's resources for ideas about neat crafts to do with the kids. Reach out and contact local crafts people to present programs at your library.

Most of the crafts here have suggested age appropriateness. However, many can be adapted to use with various age groups.

Be prepared. Make sure you have adequate supplies for each child per craft. Most have flexible supply lists, so feel free to improvise.

"Hands-on" is a method that many children prefer because it helps them get more involved and learn about what is being taught. And remember, you can use these crafts to decorate the library!

Don't forget the teenagers. They love crafts and can provide well-needed support when working with younger groups. Make sure you have a good adult-to-child ratio before working on some of the messier projects. And above all...Enjoy! If the kids see you are having fun, they'll have fun too.

Baby Bumblebee Pet and Song
(Grades Pre-K - 2)

Sing this song and do the following craft.

Oh, I'm bringing home a baby bumblebee. (Hold up bee)
Won't my mommy be so proud of me?
'Cause I'm bringing home a baby bumblebee.
Buzz, buzz, buzz, buzz, buzz! (Bees buzz around)

(speaken:)

Ouch! It stung me! (Bees "sting")

(sung:)

I let it go, that baby bumblebee. (Bees "fly" away)
Won't my mommy be so proud of me?
I let it go that baby bumblebee.
Buzz, buzz, buzz, buzz, buzz! (Bees buzz around)
Bee Craft

MATERIALS:
Cardboard bathroom tissue tubes
Yellow paper
Black pipe cleaners
Waxed paper
Glue sticks
Black markers or crayons
Scissors
Card stock (optional)
Large stick-on wiggly eyes (2 per bee)

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy the wrapper pattern (which follows) on yellow paper, one for each bee.

2. Duplicate the wing pattern and cut out. You may wish to copy this on card stock.

3. Using the markers or crayons, have the children color two of the stripes black, alternating with the yellow paper. Cut out the wrapper.

4. Glue the wrapper around the tube and let dry.

5. Trace four wing patterns per bee on waxed paper and cut out. Have the children draw the vein pattern on each wing.

6. Glue the wings to sides of tube and let dry.

7. Glue or stick two wiggly eyes to the end of the tube, or, as another option, fold one end of the tube in and add the eyes to the folded end.

Have the bees ready to “buzz around” as you sing the following silly pet song!
My "Handy" Pet Fish
(Grades Pre-K - 2)

MATERIALS:
Fishbowl pattern
Light blue paper
Water-based tempera paint (assorted colors)
Paintbrushes
Crayons or markers
Sponges (optional)
Hand wipes (optional)

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy fishbowl pattern (which follows) on light blue paper.

2. Have the children paint the palm, fingers and thumb of one hand.

3. Ask them to hold their painted fingers close together and press their hands on the paper, inside the bowl outline. This forms the body of the fish.

4. Optional: Have children wash their hands and dry them between each paint step.

5. Repaint thumb in another color. Have children make thumbprints at the top and bottom of the fish shape to make fins.

6. Paint the tip of the index finger and press it twice at the base of the palm print to make a mouth for the fish.

7. Repaint four fingers and press them next to the other fingerprints to make a fanned tail.

8. Optional: Dip small sponges in the paint and press at the bottom of the bowl to make sand or pebbles for the fish bowl.

9. When the paint is dry, use crayons or markers to add more details to the pet fish, such as eyes, gills, and scales.

Frog Finger Puppets and Song
(Grades Pre-K - 2)

Finger Puppets

MATERIALS:
Finger puppet patterns
White paper
Scissors
Markers or crayons
Scotch tape

DIRECTIONS:
1. Photocopy the finger puppet patterns (which follow).
2. Cut out the patterns for the children.
3. Have the children decorate the puppets with markers or crayons.
4. Tape the tabs together and show the children how to wear them as a finger puppet.

Make the frog puppets “hop” as you sing this song!

Little Froggy
(Sung to “I’m a Little Teapot)

See the little froggy in the pool.
The water’s very nice and cool.
When he gets all cleaned up,
Out he’ll hop,
Squeaky clean from toe to top!

(Puppets “swim”)
(“Shake” the water off)
(Hop)

See the little froggy
On the lily pad.
Catching flies —
Yum! Not bad!
When she gets another,
She’ll eat it up.
Back in the water,
She’ll go kerplop!

(Rest puppet on palm, for lily pad)
(Rub tummy - Yum!)
(Catch fly and “eat”)
(Dive off palm into water)

Coiled Colored Snake
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
- Paper plate
- Scissors
- Glue
- Construction paper (colors of your choice)
- Wiggly eyes

DIRECTIONS:
1. Cut the paper plate in a spiral starting with the outside edge. The beginning of the cut is the tail. Cut the plate in a continuous spiral until you reach the center, and this will be the snakes' head.
2. Tear pieces of colored construction paper into dime-like sizes. Glue these pieces all over the body of the snake.
3. Glue on the wiggly eyes.
4. Cut out a forked tongue from a red piece of construction paper and glue the tongue to the underside of the snakes' head.

Dog Mobile
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
- 1 hanger
- Construction paper
- Glue
- Markers
- Yarn
- Scissors

DIRECTIONS:
1. Cut pictures of things that are important to your dog out of construction paper, such as a collar, food/water bowl, grass, toy, bone, you, etc.
2. Cut ten pieces of yarn into different lengths.
3. Tie each piece of yarn onto the bottom of the hanger.
4. Glue your pictures along each piece of yarn so that they hang down from the hanger.
5. Cover the hanger with construction paper and write your dog's name on it.
Fish Mobile
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Yarn or fishing line
Paper plate
Green or blue construction paper
Paper
Crayons
Glue

DIRECTIONS:
1. Make three paper chains out of your construction paper, about 10 links long.
2. Glue each chain to one side of the paper plate, which can also be colorfully decorated.
3. Make little colorful fish out of your paper and crayons and glue them all over each of the paper chains.
4. Now, run the yarn or fishing line through the middle of the paper plate, and hang the plate somewhere in your room!
5. Variation: You can use this activity with any type of pet you wish such as birds from a birdhouse, cats from a cloud, etc.

Markers
Construction paper
Scissors
Glue

Directions:
1. Cover a toilet paper tube with construction paper. One the upper half of the tube, draw on a puppy face. Use another piece of construction paper to make the ears and glue them onto the tube.

2. Out of a different colored piece of construction paper, cut out a rectangular window.

3. Make a “Puppy for Sale” sign and attach it to the top part of the window.

4. Stand the puppy up behind the window to where it looks like he is looking out of the window.
Turtle
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Glue
Green construction paper
Paper plate
Scissors

DIRECTIONS:
1. Cut four turtle legs, a turtlehead, and a turtle tail out of the green construction paper.

2. Take the remaining green construction paper and tear it into scraps of paper, all different sizes.

3. Glue on the legs, head, and tail to the paper plate and then cover the back of the paper plate with the scraps (glue them on) to make your turtle.

4. Fold down the legs of the turtle so it can stand up!!

Did you know that turtles live on every continent except Antarctica?

---

There are over 250 species of turtles, which is pretty amazing considering there are only 3 million species of animals!

---

Some turtles are over 200 million years old!
Paper Bag Cat and Dog

Glue
Toothpicks
Breakfast cereals ("o" shapes and flakes work best)
Construction paper

DIRECTIONS
1. Cut out two egg cups from the carton so that they are separate from the rest of the carton.
2. Glue the two cups together, forming an oval like body. Poke four toothpicks into the cups for the legs; glue them to secure the legs.
3. Glue bits of cereal and cut up construction paper to make the eyes, ears, nose, mouth, tail, or any other body part of your animal. For example, use an "o" cereal shape to make the mouth and two flakes for the ears.
Pet Rock Parade
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Small rocks
Water-based paint or spray paint
Brushes
Note-card
Glue
Assorted decorations (glitter, sequins, feathers, etc.)

DIRECTIONS:
1. Each child takes a small rock and paints the rock any color.

2. Decorate each rock differently with fun decorations.

3. Make up a name for your pet rock and write the name on the note-card. Display your pet rock by its name on the note-card.

4. Have a contest for whose rock is the “Prettiest”, “Silliest”, “Scariest”, “Funniest”, or any other creative categories.

Pet Wreath
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Paper plate
Paper
Scissors
Crayons or colored pencils
Glue
Yarn

DIRECTIONS:
1. Cut out the center of the paper plate to make the wreath.

2. Draw and color pets and things related to them on the paper. Cut these pictures out.

3. Color the wreath and then glue the shapes onto the wreath.

4. Use the piece of yarn to hang the wreath.
Tongue Depressor Pets
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Construction paper or felt
Glue
Tongue depressors or Popsicle sticks
Markers

DIRECTIONS:
1. Make pet faces out of construction paper or felt. You want to make the ears, whiskers, tongue, or anything else that applies to your pet also. Use your markers to add further decoration.

2. Glue the heads of the pets onto the tongue depressors or Popsicle sticks.

Clothespin Pet Pal
(Grades K-3)

MATERIALS:
Scissors
Pencil
Paper
Clothespin
Glue
A picture of your favorite pet

DIRECTIONS:
1. Trace the picture of your favorite pet to get a reversed drawing.

2. Cut out both pictures (7” x 5” up to 10” x 6” works best).

3. Glue the clothespin between the two pictures and then glue the tops of the pictures together.

4. Pin the clothespin to your shoulder and carry your pet around with you.
Dog Rag Pull
(Grades 2 and Up)

MATERIALS:
Strips of material about 2" x 18" long

DIRECTIONS:
1. Fold the strips in thirds lengthwise. This will give you strips about 3/4" x 18".

2. Finger press the strips.

3. You can braid with either 3 strips or 5 strips. 5 will give you a thicker pull.

4. Line up the ends of your strips and tie them in a knot at one end only.

5. Braid the strips together. If you are using 5 strips to braid, you will take the outside strip and braid it over 2 strips instead of 1 strip.

6. Continue braiding until you have approximately 3" left at the end.

7. Tie the unbraided ends in a knot.
Magnetic Doghouse
(Grades 3-6)

MATERIALS:
1 piece of thin cardboard
1 4-x-6-" or larger sheet of magnetic paper (available at office supply stores)
Pencil
Scissors
Construction paper
Markers
Yarn
Glue

DIRECTIONS:
1. Draw a doghouse with a big doorway on the piece of cardboard and cut it out.

2. Place the doghouse on top of the magnetic paper and trace the shape onto the paper.

3. Cut the shape out of the magnetic paper.

4. Place the doghouse on top of the construction paper, trace it, and cut it out.

5. This will be the front of your doghouse, so use markers and yarn to decorate it.

6. Glue the decorated construction paper doghouse on the cut-out magnetic doghouse and allow it to dry.

7. Select a photograph of your pet, a friend, or family member and use the magnetic doghouse to frame it. You can hang the finished doghouse on anything magnetic in the house!!

Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!
F-17
Pet Necklace
(Grades 3-6)

Materials:
1 piece of cardboard
1 photo of your pet (or you and your pet)
Newspaper
Coffee cup
Pencil
Scissors
Paint
Brushes
Glue
Toothpicks
Glitter
Yarn

Directions:
1. Place the coffee cup on the cardboard, trace around it, then cut it out.

2. Take the photo, and cut a smaller circle around the image than the cardboard circle.

3. Spread some newspaper and paint the cardboard on top of the newspaper.

4. When dry, glue the cut-out photo in the center of the cardboard.

5. Squirt some glue on the newspaper, dip the toothpick in the glue, and then use it to write your pet name on the cut-out cardboard piece.

6. Sprinkle the glitter on the glue and wait to dry. Once dry, shake off the extra glitter.

7. Once the piece of cardboard is completely dry, use scissors to poke a hole into the top of the cardboard and string the yarn through the hole. Now you have a necklace!!
Homework Hound Bookend
(Grades 3-6)

MATERIALS:
Clean brick
Brown felt rectangle (10 x 3 inches)
Scissors
Glue
Small paper drinking cup
Old pair of glasses (real or fake)
Black marker
Black felt
Paint
Brushes
Two rubber band

DIRECTIONS:
1. Choose the smoothest side of the brick for the face of your dog. Use the scissors to round the ends of the felt rectangle for the dog’s ears.

2. Glue the middle of the felt rectangle to the top of the brick so that the ears will hang down on both sides of the brick. Glue the open side of the paper cup about one inch above the center of the brick for the dog’s snout. Cut a small circle out of the black felt for the tip of the dog’s nose and glue it to the bottom of the drinking cup.

3. Place the pair of glasses on the brick resting them atop the drinking cup. Take the glasses off and mark where the eyes of the dog should be. Paint eyes on your dog and any other features you would like, such as a mouth, eyebrows, or spots.

4. Put the glasses back on the dog. Pull the felt ears over the earpieces of the glasses and glue the underside of the ears to the brick so the glasses will stay in place. Put rubber bands around the ears and brick until the glue is completely dry. Remove the rubber bands when the glue is dry, and prop your books up against your new helpful friend.
Pet Mosaic
(Grades 3-6)

The Romans used mosaics in the old days to decorate their homes. They were usually made from many small colored stones, tiles, or marbles.

MATERIALS:
1 piece of cardboard
Dried beans, lentils, and peas
Craft glue
Pencil

DIRECTIONS:
1. Draw a simple outline of your animal on the cardboard. You might use a picture to help you.
2. Spread craft glue over the cardboard, doing one section at a time.
3. Place beans, lentils, and peas on the glue and allow to dry. Be sure to use different colors so you can tell where your animal begins and ends!!

Rabbit Hutch

(Grades 1-4)

Materials:
1. piece of thin colored cardboard
2. picture of a bunny or rabbit
3. Pencil
4. Scissors
5. Tape
6. String

Directions:
1. Cut the piece of cardboard into the shape of a hutch or house.
2. Cut the door in the front of the hutch.
3. Glue the string on the back side of the hutch in a diagonal criss-crossing pattern.
4. Glue the picture of the bunny/rabbit on the back-side of the hutch behind the string.
5. Variation: This can also be adapted for other animals; for example, turn the hutch into a cage for a bird's cage.

---

Fish Bowl

(Grades 1-4)

Materials:
1. piece of square cardboard
2. Clear plastic wrap
3. Glue
4. Paint
5. Brushes
6. Pencil

Directions:
1. Draw a large fish bowl in the center of the cardboard piece with your pencil.
2. Paint the fish bowl blue, and the area that surrounds the fish bowl your color of choice. Allow to dry.
3. In the fish bowl, paint bright fish, plants and rocks. You can even draw bubbles coming up from the fish's mouths. Allow the paint to dry thoroughly.
4. Cut the clear plastic wrap to the size of the fish bowl and glue it over the fish bowl to give the impression of glass.
Sewing Crafts
Felt Doggy
(Grades 4 and Up)

MATERIALS:
- 2 squares of felt
- 1 black permanent fabric marker
- 1 yarn needle
- Straight pins
- Scissors
- Yarn
- Stuffing
- Craft glue
- Decorating Supplies (see Step 8)

DIRECTIONS:
1. Use the marker to draw a puppy on one of the felt squares.

2. Pin both of the felt squares on top of each other. Place your pins on the outside and inside of your puppy to hold the pieces together.

3. Cut out your puppy through both layers of felt and remove any pins that are in the scrap pieces of paper.

4. Thread an arms length of yarn through the needle and knot the longer end.

5. Place the needle between the pieces of felt and poke it through the top layer. Bring the needle around the back and poke it through both layers so it comes out on the front. Continue with this until you have only a small opening on one side of the puppy.

6. Remove all the pins and stuff your puppy with the stuffing.

7. Sew up the remaining hole in the felt pieces. Knot the yarn and cut off the extra length.

8. Add a button or pom-pom nose, beads, rhinestones, wiggly eyes, and a mouth.

9. Variation: This is just a starting point; feel free to change pattern to make any “critter” that you choose.
Cool Kitty
(Grades 4 and Up)

MATERIALS:
- Pencils
- Paper
- Ruler
- Thin cardboard
- Scissors
- Craft glue
- 1/3 yard animal print fabric
- Fabric marker
- Straight pins
- Stuffing
- Strip of felt

DIRECTIONS:
1. Trace the patterns for the four paws, and body with the head of a cat onto paper. Cut these out and glue them together to make the whole body of a cat. Glue this pattern on the cardboard and cut it out.

2. Trace the same patterns for the body with the head twice onto the fabric, and the paws eight times. Cut out all ten pieces.

3. For the tail, cut a strip of fabric (about 9cm x 45 cm) long. Fold it in half lengthwise (inside-out), pin, and stitch it along the long side and one end.

4. Pin and stitch the body and head pieces together inside-out and leave a small hole open for turning it right-side-out and stuffing. Stitch about 0.5cm in from the edges.
5. Pair the paws and pin and stitch them together inside-out, but leave all of the tops open.

6. Remove all the pins. Turn all six cat parts (tail, body with the head, and four paws) right-side-out using a ruler or marker.

7. Stuff the body, paws, and tail using a marker to push in the stuffing. Stitch each part closed.

8. Stitch the paws to the body so they hang loosely. Stitch on the tail in the same way.

9. Draw the face on your cat with your fabric marker.

10. Make a scarf by cutting your piece of felt about 60cm x 8cm, cut fringe on each end and tie it around the cat's neck.
Little Turtle
(Grades 4 and Up)

MATERIALS:
Needle and thread
Stretchy, knit glove
Beans
Pencil
Thin cardboard
Scissors
Fabric marker
Square of felt
Dimensional fabric paint in several colors

DIRECTIONS:
1. Thread your needle and knot the long end of the thread. Sew a running stitch around the cuff of the glove and leave the needle and thread hanging.

2. Stuff the fingers and thumb of the glove with beans. Fold the cuff of the glove into the glove and stuff the palm area.

3. Pull tightly on the needle and thread to close the glove and spread apart the thumb. Stitch the opening closed, but don’t cut the thread yet.

4. Pull the little finger and thumb toward the gathered area to get a turtle shape and stitch the fingers in place there. Knot and trim the thread.
5. On the cardboard, draw an oval turtle-shell pattern and cut it out. Trace it twice on the felt and cut out the two shapes.

6. Use fabric paint to draw patterns on both shell shapes. Also, draw a face on the turtle.

7. Cut out a long, thin felt tail and stitch it opposite to the turtle's head.

8. Place the turtle between the shell shapes and stitch the shells together at the sides and on each side of the turtle's tail.

Although the normal color of a turtle's shell is green, try painting its shell with all different colors and fun objects, like rhinestones and glitter. Never apply paint to real turtle.

Top 10 Heaviest Turtles

1) Pacific leatherback turtle ~ 1,908 LBS
2) Atlantic leatherback turtle ~ 1,000 LBS
3) Green sea turtle ~ 900 LBS
4) Loggerhead turtle ~ 850 LBS
5) Alligator snapping turtle ~ 403 LBS
6) Black sea turtle ~ 278 LBS
7) Flatback turtle ~ 185 LBS
8) Hawksbill turtle ~ 150 LBS
9) Kemps ridley turtle ~ 50 LBS
10) Olive ridley turtle ~ 50 LBS
Catnip Pillows
(Grades 4 and Up)

MATERIALS:
2 squares of material about 4” x 4”
Fiberfill
Catnip
Pins
Needle and thread

DIRECTIONS:
1. Put a small amount of catnip on one of the squares of material.
2. Place fiberfill on top of catnip (use enough for a puffy pillow).
3. Put some more catnip on top of the fiberfill.
4. Place the second square of material on top.
5. Pin the 2 pieces of material together.
6. Hand sew around all edges.

You can vary the pillows by cutting the material in different shapes (circles, triangles, hearts, etc.).
Origami Crafts
(Grades 1-5)

Two-In-One: Puppy or Kitty

This form has two faces! One side is a floppy-eared dog, turn it over, make a few folds, and then you’ve got a cat! You will need to draw in the faces of your new pets.

Materials:
Origami paper
Pencil or felt tip markers

Directions:
1. Form a triangle by folding the paper in half, bring point A to meet point B.

2. To form the puppy’s ears, fold points C and D down. Then, fold points A-B and point E back to shape the puppy’s head.

3. Complete your puppy by drawing its eyes, a nose, and a mouth.

4. You can use this same design to make a kitty by following Steps 1 and 2. Then turn the form over and around, making the ears point up. Fold back point A-B to shape the top of the kitty’s head. Now you can draw the kitty’s eyes, nose, mouth, and whiskers!

Make a body for your pet on the following page.
Making the Body of the Puppy or Kitty

MATERIALS:
Origami paper
Pencil or felt tip marker

DIRECTIONS:
1. Make your puppy's body by folding a square of your paper in half to form a triangle.
2. To make its tail, fold up point D at an angle.
3. Now slip the puppy or kitty's head onto its body.
Animal Masks
(Grades 4-6)

MATERIALS: (FOR ONE MASK)
1 12" x 18" sheet of construction paper
2-3 9" x 12" sheets of construction paper
Several sheets of 6" x 9" construction paper
Craft glue
Markers
Scissors
Hand-held stapler
Paper Plate

DIRECTIONS:
1. Think of the head shape of the animal that you want to make.
2. Fold the 12" x 18" piece of construction paper in half widthwise or lengthwise, depending on the shape of your animal's head.
3. Draw half of a head from the fold out; include the ears.
4. Cut along your line and open the construction paper to see the shape of the entire animal's head.
5. Staple the sides of the mask to the paper plate before adding any features.
6. Fold one piece of 9" x 12" piece of construction paper in half. Draw your animal's mouth on one side working from the fold out. Cut along your line. Unfold the construction paper piece to reveal your animal's mouth. Glue this onto the mask.
7. Repeat Step 6 for the nose of your animal, and any more distinguishing features.
8. Take one piece of your 6" x 9" construction paper and fold it in half. On one side draw the eye of your animal. Cut out the eye through both sides of the construction paper. Glue both eyes onto your mask.
9. Take your markers and add anything to your mask that you think needs to be added to make your animal mask special.
How To Draw Pets With Shapes
(All Ages)

Divide your animal's body into shapes, such as circles, triangles, and rectangles. Connect them all to turn these basic shapes into pictures of real animals!

Materials:
- Paper
- Pencils
- Crayons

Spotty Critters
(All Ages)

Materials:
- Paper
- Pencil
- Eraser
- Thick paint (such as poster paint)
- Tools that apply to paint (such as sponge, brushes, flexible knife, cotton swabs)

Directions:
1. Lightly draw the outline of a dog or any pet on your paper.
2. Fill in the outline with paint, using one or more of your tools. Remember to wash each tool after use if you are going to change colors.
3. These tools and thick paint will give your critter a unique look and feel.
Treats for Kids and Pets!
"Doggy Bone" Treats For Kids
(Grades Pre-K - 2)

MATERIALS:
- Bread, sliced
- Peanut butter
- Bread knife
- Dog bone cookie cutter
- Optional: jelly or other filling

DIRECTIONS:
1. Let children spread slices of bread with the peanut butter or other filling material. The new squeeze bottle variety will make it even simpler.
2. After sandwich is made, use bone shaped cookie cutter or knife to shape sandwich into an edible creation.

Wild Bird Feeders
(All Ages)

MATERIALS:
- Empty toilet tissue tubes
- Birdseed
- Peanut butter
- Small plastic knives
- Aluminum pie pans
- Optional: Pine cones and wire

DIRECTIONS:
1. Give each child an empty toilet tissue tube.
2. Pour approx 1/4 cup of birdseed into aluminum pie pans and set on a table.
3. Ask the children to spread some peanut butter on the outside of their tubes, using the plastic knives.
4. Then, have the children roll the tubes in birdseed.
5. Take the children outside and show them how to place their bird feeders over small, vertical twigs on the branches of trees.
6. Variation: Use pine cones instead of the cardboard tubes. You may want to attach a small section of wiring to facilitate hanging.
Graham’s Dog Cookies
(All Ages)

INGREDIENTS:
- 12 graham crackers
- 1 cup whole wheat flour plus extra for countertop
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- Vegetable oil spray
- 1/2 cup soy milk

UTENSILS:
- Zip-top plastic freezer bag
- Wooden mixing spoon
- Measuring cup
- Measuring spoons
- Mixing bowl
- Smooth drinking glass
- Baking sheet
- Plate

DIRECTIONS:
1. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place 12 graham crackers in the zip-top bag and seal. Crush the graham crackers by using the palms of your hands or the back of a wooden mixing spoon. Measure out two cups of graham cracker crumbs and combine this with the flour, baking powder, and salt in the mixing bowl. Add the vegetable oil and mix through. Add the soy milk and mix thoroughly.

2. Lightly flour a kitchen countertop and pour out the dough. Knead the dough lightly, sprinkling more flour onto the countertop as needed to prevent dough from sticking. Use the glass to roll out the dough until it’s one-quarter-inch thick. Use the top of the glass to cut out cookies. Spray the cookie sheet with the vegetable oil spray until completely coated. Place the cookies one inch apart on the baking sheet. Bake 12 minutes until lightly browned and crispy.

3. Refrigerate. After one week, place any uneaten treats in the freezer.

Meaty Treats
(All Ages)

INGREDIENTS:
- 2 cups whole wheat flour
- 1/2 to 1 cup water
- 1/4 pound ground beef

UTENSILS:
- Mixing bowl
- Measuring cup
- Wooden spoon
- Smooth drinking glass
- Plastic knife
- Cookie sheet
- Metal spoon
- Zip-top plastic freezer bag

DIRECTIONS:
1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Place the flour in a bowl and add the water a little at a time, and mix through. Continue to add water until you achieve a thick, but not watery, paste. Add the ground beef and mix thoroughly. Place the mixture on a floured countertop and, using the drinking glass, roll the mixture out to about 1/8 inch thick. Use the glass top to make treats, or use the plastic knife to cut the mixture into fun, funky shapes.

2. Place the treats on a cookie sheet and bake for 20 minutes. Check the treats after 10 minutes and then again after about 15 minutes. You want the treats to be crunchy but not hard. To test for crunchiness, tap a treat with a metal spoon. If it sounds hard, take the treats out of the oven. Let them cool completely before serving any. Store the extra treats in a zip-top baggie and freeze.
Sweet Raisin Dog Treats
(All Ages)

MATERIALS:
- 1 cup unbleached white flour
- 1/2 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/2 cup natural applesauce (without preservative)
- 1/2 cup raisins
- Nonstick cooking spray

UTENSILS:
- 2 teaspoons
- Mixing bowl
- Measuring cup
- Large spoon
- Cookie sheet
- Zip-top plastic freezer bag

DIRECTIONS:
1. In small mixing bowl, blend the two flours together. Add the applesauce and mix until well blended. Add the raisins and mix through. (You can expect batter to be a bit lumpy with all of the raisins.)

2. Spray the cookie sheet with the nonstick spray. Drop the batter by teaspoonfuls onto the cookie sheet. When the tray is filled, turn the oven to 350 degrees and bake for 15 minutes. For soft, chewy treats, remove the tray from the oven after 15 minutes and let cool to room temperature before giving one to your dog. For slightly crunchy treats, turn off the oven after 15 minutes and let the treats remain in the oven for 12 hours. For very crunchy treats, turn off the oven after 15 minutes and let the treats remain in the oven for 24 hours.

3. Save the treats you don’t use in a freezer bag and freeze for future use.
Holiday Treats for Dogs
(All Ages)

INGREDIENTS:
- 1 1/2 cups plus a few pinches flour
- 1/2 cup natural applesauce
- 1/2 cup canned pumpkin
- Nonstick cooking spray

UTENSILS:
- Mixing bowl
- Measuring cup
- Large spoon
- Smooth drinking glass
- Cookie cutter
- Cookie sheet
- Zip-top plastic freezer bag

DIRECTIONS:
1. In a small mixing bowl, blend the flour and the applesauce. Add the pumpkin and mix until well blended.

2. Sprinkle some flour on a clean countertop, on the glass, and on the cookie cutter. Place the dough on the dusted countertop, and use the glass to roll out the batter to 1/4-inch thick. Use the dusted cookie cutter to cut out shapes, and place on a cookie sheet covered with nonstick cookie spray.

3. When the tray is filled, turn the oven to 350 degrees and bake for 15 minutes. For chewy treats, remove the tray and let cool to room temperature before serving. For crunchy treats, turn off the oven after 15 minutes, but let the tray stand in the oven for 12 hours. For very crunchy treats, turn off the oven after 15 minutes, but let the tray stand in the oven for 24 hours.

4. Put the treats that you do not immediately feed your dog into a zip-top plastic freezer bag for freezing.

5. Variation: Use ingredients without preservative for your dog if it has allergies.

Some Suggestions About Young Adults

Young adults (teenagers), generally considered to be between the ages of 12 and 18 and in grades 7 through 12, are in a critical transitional phase in many ways, including whether or not they will become life-long library users. They are not children anymore, yet they are not adults either - who are they?! Well, they are library patrons with special interests and needs, and the best thing you can do for them as a librarian is to find out what these needs are from the teens themselves. We have some suggestions on where to start, as well as how to gather this information.

If you have space at your library, create a special place for this age group, whether it be an entire room, a part of a room, or just a table and a shelf. This helps encourage and validate their sense of self. Create a special collection for them as well, and be sure to include some fun materials such as graphic novels and humor books as well as heavier material.

Create a survey to discover the interests of your teenage community: what they like to read, what kinds of programs they like to attend, and what times work best for them. Use the informative feedback to tailor your collection and reading program to their tastes.

Become familiar with what they like to read, this way you can make suggestions that validate their tastes as well as move them along to more challenging selections. Booktalking is a technique you can develop to capture their interest in new titles (see Joni Bodart’s latest, Booktalking the Award Winners 4, 1998).

Teens are great candidates for adult-style book discussions, perhaps held in a nearby café for some cool ambiance. Other programs for teens can include beading or henna crafts, SAT workshops, poetry readings, and book/movie comparison discussion programs.

A teen volunteer program can be a wonderful self-esteem builder. You can involve teens in day-to-day library activities and tasks, as well as draw them into this year’s theme through special programs. Kids of all ages love animals! Teens can help with pet-related decorations and any of the program ideas for young children suggested in the theme-based sections. Many of the craft and program ideas can be adapted for teens, as well.

Most of all, treat young adults with respect and celebrate what they do well, whether it be writing, artwork, or volunteering. If your young adults become regular library users by the age of eighteen, they are very likely to remain so into adulthood, and eventually bring their own children to the library in the future.
Helpful Tips to Develop a Vibrant YA Program

1. Develop a survey to find out what teens in your library like to read, what programs they may be interested in attending, and what times they are available to join in activities.

2. Evaluate and upgrade your collection. Factors, such as location, labeling, out-dated material, and the condition of books can play a huge part in teen interest.

3. Create a special section for teens, with a special collection. Include favorite teen genres such as mystery, humor, horror, etc.

4. Have attention-getting programs. Non-traditional programs work best with teens. The programs' relevance to reading is as important as sparking interest in the teens!

5. Network with other youth workers from neighboring schools, youth group leaders, camp counselors, etc. This is a good way to brainstorm ideas, and find out what has worked in the recent past.

6. Use the publicity chapter to post gatherings and events in your local newspapers, church newsletters, and your own newsletter. Even if teens don't read these articles, their parents are often a vessel of information.

7. Join professional organizations in your area. Visit the ALA web site: www.ala.org/yalsa for some guidance,

8. Call (888) 486-9297 to subscribe to VOYA (Voice of Youth Advocates). VOYA can often answer many questions about young adult and teens.

9. Check out http://yahelp.suffolk.lib.ny.us. This website designed for young adult librarians and contains links to YA journals, organizations, YA literature, online resources, discussion lists, websites for teens and more.

Sample Book Talk:

Flyers
by Daniel Hayes

Flyers is the word used to describe people who practice a certain type of meditation. The perfection of this meditation will lead to levitation-floating up into the air, and staying there.

Gabe Riley's best friend Bo has parents who practice this form of meditation, but he's known Bo's family all this life, so he doesn't think there's anything strange about that. He's heard ghost stories and tales of a strange creature living out near Blood Red Pond all his life, too, but that doesn't mean he believes them. For one thing, he knows the creature that attacked Ray McPherson's car was no swamp thing; it was his pal, Rosasharn, who was starring in a film Gabe and Bo were making for their school project.

Rosasharn was dressed in a Halloween mask and a costume made of long johns covered with construction paper scales. When Ray came along the road where they were filming, he couldn't resist jumping out at him and onto the hood; howling like a beast coming out of the darkness, he scared Ray to death. Gabe hoped Ray never found out who'd done it, because he was better known for fighting than for his sense of humor.

But there were strange things going on that Gabe couldn't explain and couldn't ignore. Food disappeared from the refrigerator; things only Gabe liked to eat. His favorite jeans went from the clean laundry pile to the dirty laundry pile without his ever wearing them, and even though his neighbor Mr. Lindstrom was in the hospital, lights would go on and off in his supposedly empty house.

Flying through meditation might be a mystery Gabe would never solve. But stolen food, missing clothes, and suspicious lights were mysteries that he could.

Books and Pets: Our Friends for Life!
Theme-Based Teen Program Ideas:

1. Have teens, staff, and teen volunteers bring in photos of themselves and their pets. Create a display and have teens try to match the pets with their owners.
2. How to make inexpensive treats and toys for your pet (see craft section)
3. Careers for animal lovers
4. Create a critter (cartoon critters or papier-mâché critters)
5. Make dog and cat collars and tags
6. Volunteer to walk and feed animals at the Humane Society.
7. Cooking vegetarian foods
8. Prepare and present puppet shows or skits about pets to the younger library patrons (see “Bark George” and “Miranda” in the Activities Section).
9. Collect donations of blankets, sheets, pet food, kitty litter, and pet toys to bring to the Humane Society.
10. Pet care and pet training
11. T-shirt painting (use stencils of animals and fabric paint)
12. Develop a joint project with the Humane Society or animal shelter in your area. Have teens take photos of animals from the Humane Society who need homes. Display these in the library with books on pets and their care.
13. Make blankets and mats for dogs and cats in animal shelters.
14. Make bird houses and bird feeders
15. Make rescue kits for stray animals (see activities section).
16. Bag of Bones (trivia questions printed on bone shapes).
17. Plan a weekly “Teen and Tots” reading time in which the teenagers read pet stories to toddlers and preschoolers.
18. Have a teen poetry workshop, where they research poetry and write about pets and present their own works.
19. Volunteer at the library! (See end of section.)
Some Activities for Teens:

Teen Review Sheet
Give teens a chance to give feedback on the books they have read. Copy the form below and give to teens each time they start a new book. Tell them that this will help others know if the book is good or bad, happy or sad, funny or boring, in order to decide if that is a book that they want to read; so be honest! File the filled-out sheets into a notebook for all the teens to look at before picking a book out to read.

Movie Nights
For a special treat for the teens, have “movie nights”. Invite all of the teens in the program to come to the library for a movie and treats. Make cookies cut out in the shapes of animals or items related to animals such as dog bones. Make popcorn and serve sodas to enhance the movie spirit. Good movies to rent would be movies adapted from books, or movies that involve pets and animals. Below is a list of suggestions:

* Cats & Dogs
* Dr. Dolittle
* Lost & Found
* My Dog Skip
* Lassie
* Milo & Otis
* Turner and Hooch
* Black Stallion
* Beethoven
* Animal Farm
* Ace Ventura: Pet Detective
* Homeward Bound
Teenage Scavenger Hunt

DIRECTIONS:
Hunt through the library for the answers to the following questions. If you need any help, consult the librarian. Once you are done, bring your answers to the program director, who will determine how well you did. Good luck!

1. What are the hours of the library?
2. What is the name of the Library Director?
3. When is the next young adult program?
4. Who wrote The Pigman?
5. How many stories are in the Canterbury Tales?
6. What are the first and last words in the encyclopedia?
7. What year was Animal Farm written in?
8. When and where was the Declaration of Independence signed?
9. Who is the main character in Lord of the Flies?
10. Write down the name of one mystery, one fantasy, one historical fiction, one biography, and one non-fiction book.

Add-A-Line Stories

DIRECTIONS:
Begin a story at the top of a flip chart or a piece of poster board, using one of the sample starters below, or one of your own. Allow teens to add one or two lines to the story every day of the program. At the end of the program, publish the story in a newsletter, on a web page, in a local newspaper, or give copies to the teens.

STORY STARTER:
The sun began to set just as the five teenagers stepped out of the car. Each peered into the forest, some looking for shelter, others for signs of wildlife. It was going to be two long hard weeks.

STORY STARTER:
The teenage girl ran into the house almost knocking down her twin brother. Holding up a folder she said, "I've won! Can you believe it?"
Programming Ideas for Special Needs

There are a few simple things you can do to help make visually-impaired children more comfortable in your library. Identify yourself when you greet someone with a visual impairment. Let the child know what you are doing and where you are going. Ask if the child needs assistance getting around the library and let the child take your arm, which allows you to be the guide. If the child becomes loud or disruptive, do not be afraid to discipline him as you would a sighted child. Do not single the child out or allow inappropriate behavior because you feel badly for him. Just make sure that the child knows what is acceptable and unacceptable.

With a little help, visually impaired, blind, or other special needs children can participate in much of regular library programming. For story hours, select the story carefully so that understanding of the text does not depend upon illustrations. If the child can't see gestures or facial expressions, try to include objects and tactile experiences. In some cases, if the library has volunteer helpers for story hour, the helper can sit with the child and help with gestures, etc. Parents may also wish to participate with their child. The storyteller can use hearing, touch, tasting, smelling, imagination, and emotions to encourage the listeners' interest.

Visually impaired children also enjoy films or video if the films are introduced and given explanation when needed. Many children's books are printed in larger than normal print, and children who read large print may be able to enjoy summer reading if they are directed toward these books. Discuss the child's needs with the child and the parents and do not avoid words such as see, look, and read.

Encourage ALL the children in your story programs to see with their "inside eyes" or use their imagination as you tell stories.

The Talking Book Library will provide the child and the librarian with catalogs of recorded juvenile books available through our program. There are also many books recorded locally. Many are on Arizona or Southwest subjects, and many are of juvenile or Young Adult interest. Our Reader Advisors may suggest some of these, and are available for consultation by phone.

Our newsletter will encourage our readers to participate in their local library's summer reading program by using talking and Braille books. We intend to support your efforts to include these children in your programs and are available by phone every weekday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 800/255-5578, or in the Phoenix area at 602/255-5578.
Talking Book/Braille Service Overview:

Visually-impaired or physically handicapped children in your community may want to participate in your Arizona Reading Program along with their peers. The Braille and Talking Book Library can help you include them in your program.

Talking books, Braille books, and catalogs of titles are available. Talking books are complete books recorded on cassettes or records. They are circulated throughout the state by the Arizona State Braille and Talking Book Library in cooperation with the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS), a division of the Library of Congress.

The book collection is much like that of a public library; books appeal to a wide range of reading interests. Registered borrowers receive large print catalogs and the bimonthly Talking Book Topics or Braille Book Review to select books to read. A separate set of catalogs list books for children.

It is necessary to use the NLS playback equipment because the books are recorded at a slower speed not generally available on commercial equipment. Record and cassette players are loaned free of charge as long as library materials are being used.

Accessories for the equipment which are available for loan include: extension levers for the cassette player; special amplifier for use with headphones for hearing impaired persons; remote control unit; and solar battery charger.

There is no charge for any of the materials, and are mailed postage-free.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

Anyone unable to read conventional print, hold a book, or turn pages due to a physical limitation is eligible. This includes blind children, children whose visual disability prevents the reading of standard print material, physically handicapped children unable to handle standard print material, and children having a reading disability resulting from an organic dysfunction of sufficient severity to prevent their reading of printed material in a normal manner.

In cases of blindness, visual disability, or physical limitations, the disability may be certified and the application signed by doctors of medicine or osteopathy, ophthalmologist, optometrist, registered nurses, therapists and the professional staff of hospitals, institutions, and public or welfare agencies, or a professional librarian. In the case of reading disability from organic dysfunction, the application must be signed by a doctor of medicine or osteopathy, who may consult with colleagues in associated disciplines (such as school psychologists or learning disability teachers).

For more information about eligibility and certification, contact the Arizona State Braille and Talking Book Library at 800/255-5578; outside the Phoenix area, call 602/255-5578.

HOW DOES THE SERVICE BEGIN?

Obtain and complete an application form; eligibility must be certified before equipment can be loaned. Return the completed application to the Library. Equipment is sent to eligible patrons, and a Readers Advisor contacts each new patron to begin service, discuss reading interests, etc.
Special Groups

Patrons may submit request lists, or staff will select books for patrons in the subject areas they designate. When one book is returned to the library, another is sent. They may always increase or decrease the number of books sent, place a “hold” on service temporarily, or modify their reading interest list.

There are many more books about pets of all kinds at the Talking Book Library. Call the library from anywhere at 800/255-5578 to find out about interesting talking books for the visually and physically disabled.

Pot-Bellied Pigs: A Complete and Up-to-Date Guide, Dennis Kelsey Wood
While praising the good qualities of pot-bellies, the author warns they are not ideal pets for everyone. He explains how to choose a pet pig and how to house and feed it and provides tips on training and health care. Grades 5 - Up.

Iguana in Your Home: A Complete and Up-to-Date Guide, R.M. Smith
Experienced iguana-keeper recommends captivity-bred Green Iguana for household pets because they are easy to tame and inexpensive to feed. Provides tips on selection, housing, mainly vegetarian diet, reproduction, health problems, and handling. Grades 5 - 8.

Mr. Green Peas, Judith Caseley
Norman Slope likes going to nursery school, but he has a problem. He is the only one in his class who does not have a pet. Norman tries to convince his parents to get him a pet, but cats and dogs make his father allergic, gerbils and hamsters look too much like rats to his mother, and a bird would make too much noise. Then one day Norman’s father comes home with a surprise. Grades K - 3.

Ferrets Today: A Complete and Up-to-Date Guide, Mary Field
Asserts that while ferrets are clean and easy to care for and need only a small living space, they are not good pets for households with children under age six. Advises budgeting for upkeep expenses and explains everyday care, from housing and nutrition to litter training and veterinary care. Grades 5 - 8.

A Pet or Not? Alvin Silverstein
Describes physical characteristics and living habits of ten exotic animals and provides practical details of maintaining them. Discusses whether the armadillo, coatimundi, ferret, hedgehog, llama, miniature horse and donkey, monkey, potbellied pig, pygmy goat, and sugar glider should be owned as pets. Grades 3 - 6.
Love Affair with a Cougar, Lyn Hancock
The author raised four cougar kittens and experienced the problems, joy, and deep emotional attachments of the human-animal relationship. Adult and YA.

Animail, Cleveland Amory
Compilation of questions and answers and amusing and sad anecdotes about all sorts of wild and domestic creatures. Occasional poems, stories, and even a recipe for vegetarian dog biscuits are included. Adult and YA.

Sherlock Bones, Tracer of Missing Pets, John Keane
The first and only professional pet detective in the United States tells about his most spectacular cases. He also includes his ten-step method for recovering lost pets. High School and Adult.

The Loving Bond: Companion Animals in the Helping Professions
Explains the therapeutic relationship between pets and their association with children, the elderly, and disabled persons. Studies what animal companionship can teach people, how animals effect our emotional well-being, and what their impact is on people who are deaf, blind, or mobility impaired. Adults and YA.

The Pet-Sitting Peril, Willo Davis Roberts
Nick takes what seems to be a simple pet-sitting job in a creepy old apartment house. Suspicious “accidents” that happen around the old house lead to one terrifying night when Nick finds himself alone except for the pets. Grades 4 - 7.

The Loss of a Pet, Wallace Sife
Handbook on the effects of a pet’s death by noted psychotherapist and founder of the Association for Pet Bereavement. Discusses such topics as the human-pet bond, the grieving process, euthanasia, children and the death of pets, getting another pet, and making use of different types of counseling. Parents, Adults, and YA.

The Yearling, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings
Classic story about the Baxter family, who make a precarious living on a backwoods farm in northern Florida. Their young son, Jody, tames an orphaned fawn. When the deer begins to eat the family corn, Jody is ordered to shoot him. Grades 5 - 8.

The Pet Shop Mystery, Gertrude Chandler Warner
When the owner of the Pretty Bird Pet Shop has to take a few days off, she asks the Alden children to help her new employee, Mr. Fowler, take care of the animals. The children soon discover Mr. Fowler is involved in an illegal scheme. Grades 3 - 6.
Good Books About Special Needs:

I'm Deaf and It's Okay, Aseltine, Mueller, & Tait. This book serves to inform that deaf children are as capable as hearing children. A picture dictionary of sign language is included to aid simple communication.

What Do You Mean I Have Attention Deficit Disorder, Dwyer. This story is a reminder that ADD is an easy-to-overcome obstacle.

Knots on a Counting Rope, Martin & Archambault. A touching story about a grandfather and his blind grandson who is courageous and accomplished.

Be Good to Eddie Lee, Fleming. This author does an amazing job showing that children with Down's syndrome are special in so many more ways than their differences.

Ian's Walk: A Story About Autism, Lears. This story is about a sister and how she reacts to her brother's autism.

A Girl Named Helen Keller, Lundell. This amazing book tells the story of Helen Keller and her teacher Miss Sullivan.

Program Funds Available!
Arizona Reading Program Funding

In an effort to increase programming opportunities for small and/or rural library branches with small or non-existent ARP budgets, the Arizona Reading Program will provide $200 toward the fee and expenses of a presenter to ten libraries each year. ARP will attempt to vary the locations of these awards from year to year.

The presenter may be from the ARP Presenter Resources section, or may be an unlisted local presenter who would agree to be added to the resource section. A statement of theme (included here,) and a follow-up evaluation (to come later,) are required to receive these funds.

All promotional materials and introductory comments for the programs must include the following statement:

"This presentation was made possible by the Arizona Reading Program, funded by the Institute of Museum and Library Services under the Library Services and Technology Act. The Arizona Reading Program is a project of Arizona Reads, a collaboration between the Arizona Humanities Council and the Arizona State Library, Archives and Public Records."

Please fill out the application located on the next page and send to the Arizona Reads office at the following address by March 1, 2002.

An interactive discussion about European life in the 12th century. The presentation include the use of an overhead projector, with cells of castle, peasant, and city life, clothing and weapon styles, interesting court cases, and historical anecdotes. Historical myths are debunked (i.e. there are no alligators in moats as alligators are a new world animal and had yet to be discovered). Questions from the audience are encouraged so the discussion can follow the interests of the patrons. For 13 years old to adult as all questions, even those having to do with bodily functions, are answered with a forthrightness that is inap-propriate for young children.

Fee Plus Mileage:

II. REPRODUCTION RELEASE:

In order to disseminate as widely as possible timely and significant materials of interest to the educational community, documents announced in the monthly abstract journal of the ERIC system, Resources in Education (RIE), are usually made available to users in microfiche, reproduced paper copy, and electronic media, and sold through the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). Credit is given to the source of each document, and, if reproduction release is granted, one of the following notices is affixed to the document.

If permission is granted to reproduce and disseminate the identified document, please CHECK ONE of the following three options and sign in the indicated space following.
The sample sticker shown below will be affixed to all Level 1 documents

PERMISSION TO REPRODUCE AND DISSEMINATE THIS MATERIAL HAS BEEN GRANTED BY

TO THE EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES INFORMATION CENTER (ERIC)

Check here for Level 1 release, permitting reproduction and dissemination in microfiche or other ERIC archival media (e.g. electronic) and paper copy.

Level 1

Documents will be processed as indicated provided reproduction quality permits. If permission to reproduce is granted, but no box is checked, documents will be processed at Level 1.

I hereby grant to the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) nonexclusive permission to reproduce and disseminate this document as indicated above. Reproduction from the ERIC microfiche, or electronic media by persons other than ERIC employees and its system contractors requires permission from the copyright holder. Exception is made for non-profit reproduction by libraries and other service agencies to satisfy information needs of educators in response to discrete inquiries.

III. DOCUMENT AVAILABILITY INFORMATION (FROM NON-ERIC SOURCE):

If permission to reproduce is not granted to ERIC, or, if you wish ERIC to cite the availability of the document from another source, please provide the following information regarding the availability of the document. (ERIC will not announce a document unless it is publicly available, and a dependable source can be specified. Contributors should also be aware that ERIC selection criteria are significantly more stringent for documents that cannot be made available through EDRS.)
