INTRODUCTION

A Vision For The Future is a five-year strategic plan developed by the library director, staff, and the Library Committee for the Henry G. Bennett Memorial Library, Southeastern Oklahoma State University. The goal of this plan is to provide a framework that the library can use to focus the energy and resources in fulfilling the mission of the library and the University Vision 2005, the strategic goals, and the major initiatives.

Others in the University, such as the President’s Planning and Resource Council, the Faculty Senate, and the Administration may wish to review and make changes to this plan. It is hoped that consideration will be given to accomplishing most of the goals and objectives listed herein.

Funding of the library operations is a primary concern. All the goals and objectives can easily be met with funding of 6% of the Educational and General budget. The present (2001-2002) budget for the library is approximately 3% of the Education and General budget. Also, included in this plan are items normally charged to other budgets, equipment upgrades, and a building addition. Most of these items will be necessary expenditures, as efficiency in operations demands space reallocation and renovation for emerging technologies. It is difficult to project expenditures accurately beyond three years, as technology and prices are constantly changing.
There will undoubtedly need to be equipment replacements and additions, which are not included in the plan. Thus, this plan should be considered as a framework for annual planning.

The library will continue to embrace technology in meeting the goals of the University Vision 2005. The library will focus on strengthening collections in all formats and search for ways to adapt resources in meeting the Information Literacy Competency Standards for Higher Education established by the Association of College and Research Libraries.

MISSION

The Mission of the Henry G. Bennett Memorial Library is to provide access to information services and resources to meet the present and future scholarly needs of the Southeastern Oklahoma State University community and insofar as possible to share resources with those outside the university.
Vision 2005

By the year 2005, the Henry G. Bennett Memorial Library, will be the leading academic library in Southeastern Oklahoma and Northern Texas. The library will continue to embrace technology in meeting the goals of the University Vision. The library will focus on strengthening collections in all formats and will search for ways to adapt resources and services in meeting the Information Literacy Competency Standards for Higher Education established by the Association of College and Research Libraries. These standards emphasize four components of information literacy for students, "The ability to recognize when information is needed and to locate, evaluate, and use effectively the needed information."

The library will strive for excellence in developing initiatives that provide academic support and promote the principles of lifelong learning. The library will continue to serve as a center for instructional advice, and as a gateway to other libraries and information sources. Individual attention to students and superior-quality service will promote actual learning experience and facilitate total development of students through effective use of technology.

Library Strategic Goals

Marketing

A marketing plan will be developed for the library as part of the library's strategic plan "A vision for the future" and will be periodically evaluated and updated. This plan will identify promotional activities, public relation efforts, library instruction programs, and superior-quality service principles. These efforts will develop information literacy skills of users, accentuate the value of the library, and will stimulate the demand for use of the library.

Enrollment

The library will continue to strengthen library holdings by increasing the size of the collections and expanding access through the use of technology. The library will provide the most efficient method of access to service and materials. Library support for distance education will be addressed for each program in meeting the guidelines that state, "Members of the distance learning community are entitled to library service and resources equivalent to those provided for students and faculty in traditional campus settings."

RENOVATION/EXPANSION

Library facility planning and assessment will be a part of the on-going vision and strategic planning process. The Campus Master Plan will address library renovation, maintenance, and expansion needs. Efficient utilization of space for the library's growing collections and the changing formats of materials will demand constant upgrading of utilities and infrastructure.

TECHNOLOGY

The library will be a model for high standards in technology adaptation for efficient information storage, retrieval, information literacy, and student-centered service environment. Technological advances will enhance the value of the library for the users. It will allow users to access information when and where they need it. Technology will be used to maximize access to information and to minimize the costs of services.

COLLABORATION

The library will continue to build relationships with other libraries and institutions on the local, state, and national levels. Collaborative efforts will expand access to information, and broaden service by providing more cost-effective purchase of online information resources, interlibrary loan, and document delivery services. Collaborative efforts will promote relationships with the community to advance support for funding of the library and the institution.

SUMMARY OF GOALS

MARKETING

The library should have a marketing plan developed to incorporate into the University plan. Information literacy and optimum usage should serve as the central focus of this plan. The library mission and standards established by accrediting organizations, and national and state boards should serve as guidelines in developing all strategies.

ENROLLMENT

A. Collection

As the University enrollment increases, so should library resources and services. The collection needs to be increased in quality and quantity by inventory and weeding, increasing acquisitions, collection evaluation using Books for College Libraries, and collection analysis making comparisons to other peer institutions.

B. Services

Library services will continue to improve and grow with additional staff and funding. The major goals for library services include: remote access to electronic resource services for the Idabel and Ardmore Higher Education Centers and other distance education courses, improvement in document delivery for Interlibrary Loan, information and delivery services to faculty, increased library instruction for students and faculty, increased reference services, and increased access to information.

Superior-quality user service is emphasized in all service goals. The use of an assessment plan will help the library staff focus on the strengths and weakness of library services.

C. Personnel

There is a need for three additional professional librarians, four support staff and about a thirty percent increase in student and part-time staff in the library. Additional staff is needed in most library departments due to increases in library usage, new services, increased acquisitions, and the addition of new material formats. Improvements in training methods need to be used with students and other staff members to provide a higher quality of services. The library has been understaffed for many years in comparison to peer institutions. In order to continue to improve the collection and services a larger library staff will be necessary.

D. Finances

All goals and objectives can easily be met with increased funding. The materials budget goal is for a gradual increase until 6% of the Educational and General budget has been reached which is the ALA and OSRHE recommended funding level for academic libraries. The library credit hour fee will allow for equipment and technology additions and upgrades.

Technology

As new technology is developed, and as the library collection grows, methods of access will need to be improved to keep pace with technological developments. It will be vitally important to upgrade equipment on a rotating basis, including copiers, microform reader-printers, typewriters, security systems, printers, and personal computers for staff and public use.

Computer workstations and software will need to be added and upgraded to provide access to Internet and online database services to ensure compliance with the Government Document Electronic Transition Plan. Ports will need to be added in different locations in the library to allow for laptop use.

Renovation/Expansion

The library is at full capacity level. The basement Learning Center and other space are desperately needed to relieve overcrowded areas, make room for new acquisitions, equipment, and services.

Storage shelving for archival and infrequently used material is needed to conserve space in public areas. Compact shelving can be used in the basement areas to relieve some of the present space problems.

There needs to be better control of the building heating/air conditioning system. Mold growth has been a problem in the building with the lack of control of the temperature and humidity. The comfort of the staff and users is also of critical concern. Uncomfortable temperature is the number one complaint from library users.

There is a need to upgrade the building security by adding more personnel, upgrading and adding security and surveillance equipment, and obtaining materials in electronic and micro formats when possible.

The ADA Site Analysis should be used as the guideline to bring the facility up to ADA compliance addressing some items each year until compliance is complete.

There are several special projects that would enhance the appearance of the facility and enhance the organization of workflow. The basement area needs to be remodeled to accommodate technical services. The basement storage area needs tile flooring and some work areas need shelving. A fire alarm system also needs to be installed.

Collaboration

The library staff needs to explore ways to collaborate more with campus individuals, the community, and other libraries. Developing relationships with groups on and off campus will promote library and university public relations and will increase access to more information in a cost-efficient manner.

The Interlibrary Loan Department needs to explore document delivery methods to improve efficiency of service to allow for Internet transmission of documents. The department also needs to look at software packages available for ILL copyright and statistics records to provide a more efficient operation.
AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION
CODE OF ETHICS

As members of the American Library Association, we recognize the importance of codifying and making known to the profession and to the general public the ethical principles that guide the work of librarians, other professionals providing information services, library trustees and library staffs.

Ethical dilemmas occur when values are in conflict. The American Library Association Code of Ethics states the values to which we are committed, and embodies the ethical responsibilities of the profession in this changing information environment.

We significantly influence or control the selection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information. In a political system grounded in an informed citizenry, we are members of a profession explicitly committed to intellectual freedom and the freedom of access to information. We have a special obligation to ensure the free flow of information and ideas to present and future generations.

The principles of this Code are expressed in broad statements to guide ethical decision making. These statements provide a framework; they cannot and do not dictate conduct to cover particular situations.

I. We provide the highest level of service to all library users through appropriate and usefully organized resources; equitable service policies; equitable access; and accurate, unbiased, and courteous responses to all requests.

II. We uphold the principles of intellectual freedom and resist all efforts to censor library resources.

III. We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.

IV. We recognize and respect intellectual property rights.

V. We treat co-workers and other colleagues with respect, fairness and good faith, and advocate conditions of employment that safeguard the rights and welfare of all employees of our institutions.

VI. We do not advance private interests at the expense of library users, colleagues, or our employing institutions.

VII. We distinguish between our personal convictions and professional duties and do not allow our personal beliefs to interfere with fair representation of the aims of our institutions or the provision of access to their information resources.

VIII. We strive for excellence in the profession by maintaining and enhancing our own knowledge and skills, by encouraging the professional development of co-workers, and by fostering the aspirations of potential members of the profession.
