The Alberta Standards for Special Education are effective in September 2003 and require school boards to effectively identify and deliver programs for students with special needs in grades 1-12. Emphasis is on consistent and enhanced educational practice within the Canadian province so that students with special needs will receive appropriate programming and services irrespective of their location within the province. The standards are organized into the following four areas: (1) access--standards that address identification, referral, assessment, specialized assessment, right of access to records, and coordinated services; (2) appropriateness--professional standards, individualized program planning, program implementation and evaluation, parent involvement in decision making, and placement; (3) accountability--reporting (school board policy and procedures), reporting to parents, program monitoring and evaluation, and participation in provincial assessments; and (4) appeals. The document ends with a glossary, the text of relevant sections of the School Act, and policy statements regarding educational placement of students with special needs and special education. (DB)

Foreword

Requirements contained in this document apply to grades 1–12 and are effective September 1, 2003.

Standards for Special Education supports Alberta Learning’s Business Plan goal to have high quality learning opportunities that ensure the learning system meets the needs of all learners and society.

Special education refers to the education of students with mild, moderate, or severe disabilities and/or those who are gifted and talented. It is founded on the belief that all children can learn and reach their full potential given opportunity, effective teaching and appropriate resources. Instruction, rather than setting, is the key to success and decisions related to the placement of students are best made on an individual basis in a manner that maximizes their opportunity to participate fully in the experience of schooling.

In Alberta, educating students with special needs in inclusive settings is the first placement option to be considered by school boards in consultation with parents and, when appropriate, students. Inclusion, by definition, refers not merely to setting but to specially designed instruction and support for students with special needs in regular classrooms and neighbourhood schools.

Rights and responsibilities related to special education are included in the School Act. School boards are required to provide each resident student with identified special needs with access to a special education program. Parents have a right and responsibility to work in partnership with boards to ensure their children’s special educational needs are met, subject to limitations based on reasonableness in each circumstance. In every case, the best educational interest of the student is the paramount consideration for decision-making and programming.

Standards for Special Education requires school boards to effectively identify and deliver programs for students with special needs in grades 1–12. It promotes consistent and enhanced quality of educational practice within our province, so that irrespective of location, students with special needs can access appropriate programming and services. Alberta Learning acknowledges the importance of local autonomy, flexibility and choice in meeting the diverse learning needs of students.
This document outlines the requirements for school boards regarding the delivery of education programs and services to students with special needs in grades 1–12. These requirements are organized into the following four areas:

- Access — students with special needs are entitled to have access in a school year to an education program in accordance with the School Act. Students with special needs receive adapted/modified programs that enable and improve learning.

- Appropriateness — educational programs and services are designed around the assessed needs of the student and are provided by qualified staff who are knowledgeable and skilled.

- Accountability — The obligation to answer for the execution of one’s assigned responsibilities.

- Appeals — timely, fair and open processes protect the rights of students and parents and address differences of opinion about the education of students with special needs.

A Glossary is provided to define special education terms. The appendices include relevant sections of the School Act relating to special education and two provincial special education policies (updated to reflect changes to sections of the School Act).

Thank you to the key partners, stakeholders and parents who provided valuable contributions throughout the development of this document.

Please note that:
- words in bold are defined in the Glossary [see pages 12 to 14]
- parent(s) refers to the biological parent or adoptive parent, or the individual who has legal custody or guardianship of the student.

Standards for Special Education 17
BACKGROUND
Most Alberta students with special needs are placed in regular classrooms in their neighborhood or local schools. The availability of these placements benefit students with special needs. Successful placement depends on such factors as adequate teacher training, learning resources and guidance by administrators.

The placement of students with special needs in regular school programs is based on a philosophy of equality, sharing, participation, and the worth and dignity of individuals. Most Albertans agree that students with special needs must be full participants in school and society. These students have the right to take part in regular school activities, and when they do so, they have a better chance of developing their full potential. School boards are ultimately responsible for making placement decisions that are in the best interests of individual children and of all the children they serve.

POLICY
Educating students with special needs in regular classrooms in neighbourhood or local schools shall be the first placement option considered by school boards, in consultation with students, parents/guardians and school staff.

STATUTE
School Act R.S.A. 2000—Preamble
