ABSTRACT

The Maryland Higher Education Commission has prepared a set of reports containing information about Maryland colleges and universities attended by residents of the state. There are separate reports for the entire state and for each of the 12 "service delivery" areas (counties or groups of counties). This report contains data for the entire state. Most figures are for fall 2002, although a table shows trends in enrollments by residency between 1992 and 2002. Forty-six percent of Maryland residents enrolled at a Maryland institution of higher education attended a community college, and 50% of Maryland residents who enrolled as new full-time freshmen attended a community college. Most (54%) African American Maryland residents who were enrolled in Maryland as undergraduates attended a community college in fall 2002. Overall, Maryland residents make up 81% of the state's total undergraduate enrollment and 62% of the state's total graduate enrollment. Since 1990, enrollment of Maryland residents in Maryland higher education has shown a sharp increase. Enrollments are shown by campus and by county of residence in table form. (SLD)
