To become a licensed massage therapist

For LLR to license a person as a massage/bodywork therapist, he or she must:
1. Be at least 18 years old and have received a high school diploma or GED.
2. Have completed a 500-hour course of supervised study at an approved school (one which meets the minimum qualifications as set forth by the CHE), and
3. Have received a passing grade on an approved examination (the National Certification Examination for Therapeutic Massage (NCETM) or for Therapeutic Massage & Bodywork (NCETMB) administered by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork).

Note: Students who complete any portion of their massage therapy training via distance learning are not eligible for SC licensure.

The Massage/Bodwork Practice Act also includes circumstances of misconduct under which LLR denies initial licensure, for example, a person who has been convicted of or has pled guilty to or nolo contendere to a felony or crime that directly relates to the practice or ability to practice massage/body. See Section 40-30-230 of the Act for other actions that are “misconduct.”

Evaluating a school

Definitions:
- Licensed. Licensure is typically a mandatory (imposed by law) governmental process. A school licensed to operate in SC means that it has met the minimal standards (curriculum content, instructor requirements, facilities, equipment, record keeping, surety bond, financial resources, insurance) and provides accurate and useful information to students.
- Accredited. Accreditation is a non-governmental, voluntary, peer evaluation process. To become accredited by an appropriately recognized accrediting agency, institutions and programs must show that they meet certain standards established by the accrediting agency. Accrediting agencies should not be confused with membership associations. Accreditation does not provide automatic transfer of credit earned at another institution, nor does it give assurance of acceptance by employers. CHE does not accredit institutions; it licenses institutions that meet the standards prescribed by statute and regulation. “Institutional” accrediting agencies establish standards for the entire institution. “Program” or “specialized” accrediting agencies establish standards that apply to programs, departments, or schools for specific fields of study.
- Recognized. The US Department of Education (USED) reviews and recognizes accrediting agencies. Accreditation by a USED recognized accrediting agency is one criterion for institutional eligibility for Federal Title IV (student financial aid) funds. Accredited schools may or may not be eligible to participate in student financial aid programs. USED list of accredited schools and approved agencies: http://www.ed.gov/admins/finaid/accred/index.html
- Certified. Certification usually refers to a voluntary process and is granted by professional organizations that administer tests developed in consultation with authorities in the field. The terms “certified” and “certification” are not interchangeable. Schools issue certificates to show successful completion of a course of study.
While you’re enrolled
Students who perform massage as a part of their curriculum (whether on or off the school premises) must wear a nametag identifying themselves as students and naming the school that enrolls them. Students may not receive compensation (including tips) and may not advertise (including business cards) until they are licensed.

After you graduate
Massage therapy school graduates cannot practice massage therapy for remuneration until they have received their licenses from LLR.

The process for licensure is:
- Meet all requirements for graduation
- Send application for exam to NCBTMB with required documentation
- Receive ‘eligibility’ letter from NCBTMB
- Register to take exam with local test center (eligibility to test expires 90 days after notification)
- Take and pass exam. For four years you may use the designation “NCTMB” (Nationally Certified In Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork) after your name to show you are certified
- Send application to LLR with required documentation
- Receive License from LLR. You may use the letters “LMT” after your name
- Begin practice for remuneration

Continuing education
LLR accepts continuing education hours from:
- Schools operating in the State
- NCBTMB approved providers
- AMTA approved providers
- Approved individuals (contact LLR)

As a LMT...
Read and thoroughly understand the laws governing your practice. LLR will give you a copy of the Massage Therapy Practice Act, or you can access a copy of the Act online: http://www.scstatehouse.net/code/t40c030.htm and the regulations at http://www.scstatehouse.net/codereg/c077.htm. Clarification of the Act can be found at http://www.llr.state.sc.us/POL/MassageTherapy/interpretations_of_the_massage_p.htm

1) Your first license is issued for one year or a portion of a year (depending on when you apply) and will expire in June. Subsequent licenses will be issued for two years. You will not be required to submit proof of continuing education to renew if your license was issued for a portion of a year. Check with LLR for your particular situation. The State requires that you obtain 12 hours of continuing education during each two-year licensing period in order to be eligible to renew your license for the next two years. To keep your National Certification status, you will be required to earn hours in continuing education according to the guidelines of the NCBTMB.

2) Any advertising that you do (telephone book, business cards, newspapers, etc.) must reference your SC License number.

3) Professional organizations offer various benefits to members. Some offer group rate liability insurance (rates vary), national and state conventions, networking opportunities, advertising specials, and/or reduced costs for continuing education. Compare rates and benefits and choose according to your needs.

4) Stay informed about any changes or decisions that will affect your profession.
