EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Annual Partnership Report catalogs all partnerships that Wyoming community colleges established and maintained for each fiscal year. Each community college maintains numerous partnerships for the development and provision of academic, occupational-technical, workforce development, and enrichment educational programs. These partnerships assist the colleges in meeting the higher educational needs of Wyoming’s citizens and communities.

In 2006, Wyoming community colleges partnered with many public and private firms, educational institutions, and state agencies. These diverse partnerships were cultivated in all areas of community college education including: remedial education, adult basic education (ABE), English as a second language (ESL), business, health sciences, fine arts, technical education, workforce training, education, language arts, social sciences, physical sciences, biological sciences, family skills/studies, personal enrichment and leadership studies. The information provided in this report indicates that the partnerships initiated and maintained by the seven community colleges, the University of Wyoming, and the Wyoming Community College Commission are relevant to the educational programs offered at each institution. This information also indicates that these programs are beneficial to students, staff, faculty, and community stakeholders in each respective community college service area.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE PARTNERSHIPS WITH THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

Wyoming’s seven community colleges are engaged in several different types of partnerships with the state's only four-year institution, the University of Wyoming (UW). The community colleges and UW have positive and highly effective relationships with each other making a strong voice for Wyoming higher education.

A few of the partnerships between Wyoming community colleges and the University of Wyoming:

Communication and Coordination: Various individuals from the colleges and the university meet regularly to discuss current issues and to coordinate actions. Groups include, the academic affairs and student services deans and vice presidents, financial aid directors, and the Wyoming Distance Education Consortium (WyDEC). These meetings allow a better delivery of higher education to Wyoming’s citizens. Communication and coordination frequently involves partnerships with legislative work. The consistent message created by this unified effort has been very positive for the partners.

Common Course Numbering: A common course numbering system was established and a transfer guide, a tool that is used by students and advisors, is maintained and distributed to ensure a smooth transfer process. Wyoming leads the nation in this effort.

Articulation Agreements: The community colleges and UW have a strong set of articulation agreements to make the transfer process smooth and seamless to students that choose to transfer. Each year many UW departments host articulation meetings to keep these agreements up-to-date.

UW Outreach Regional Centers: UW has a regional center located on each community college campus to aid those students interested in transferring to UW and to provide collaborative direct service to diverse Wyoming constituencies. The regional centers allow UW to offer four-year and graduate degrees through distance education at the regional centers for students that are site-bound. Community college staff members provide support services to UW outreach students at these locations.

Remedial Education: The Albany County Campus of Laramie County Community College provides a number of different remedial courses in Laramie to UW students that are not ready for college level coursework. In addition, staff members at the other UW Outreach Regional Centers across the state refer students to community colleges for key courses.

Transfer Student Recruitment: In addition to a coordinated recruiting tour around Wyoming every fall, the community colleges assist UW in their recruiting of transfer students by hosting UW recruiters on the community college campuses. The recruiters have open information sessions with students interested in transferring to UW. UW also hosts Transfer Orientations on the UW campus that draw high participation from Wyoming community college transfer students planning to attend UW.

~ University of Wyoming Partnerships~
Cooperative Agency Agreements: Each community college is a UW Cooperative Agency. This allows the full-time employees of either institution to take three tuition-free credits each semester, to use library services, and several other employee benefits.

Birth to Five Early Childhood Endorsement Program: The Departments of Elementary and Early Childhood Education, Family and Consumer Sciences, and early childhood community college faculty have developed a new Birth to Five Early Childhood Endorsement Program to address a statewide need for certified pre-school teachers. A $33,387 grant from the Daniels Fund is supporting the launch of that program.

IDeA Networks for Biomedical Research Excellence (INBRE): UW and the community colleges have partnered on a National Institutes of Health (NIH) funded project called IDeA Networks for Biomedical Research Excellence (INBRE). There are three mandatory cores in the UW INBRE project: Administrative, Bioinformatics, and Outreach. The project provides research opportunities for undergraduates at UW and the state's community colleges through scholarships and technology upgrades, as well as establishes research and mentoring opportunities for faculty through a Visiting Senior Scientist program.

U.S. Department of Education GEAR UP grant. UW, the Wyoming community colleges, and the Wyoming Department of Education partnered in developing a proposal to the U.S. Department of Education and were successful with the award of a statewide GEAR-UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs) grant. The grant provides Wyoming $42 million over the next six years, and is designed to increase the number of low-income students who graduate from high school and are successful in college. Direct services will be offered to at least 2000 students and their families throughout the state each year. Additionally, services to teachers and schools will be provided to address systemic issues to increase the educational attainment and success of low-income students.

Jump Start is a collaborative effort between UW, the community colleges and WSLC that offers presentations throughout the state to high school juniors and sophomores and their parents. The presentations highlight the college search process and finding financial aid and scholarships. The goal is to reach students and parents before their senior year so that they can more effectively go through these processes. We typically do about 10 programs per year in various communities.

Wyoming Planning Days: Wyoming Admissions Officers Organization, which is made up of UW and community college admissions people also coordinates Wyoming Planning Days which is the three week series of college fairs that are held for high school students throughout the state in late September and early October.

The Passport Program provides international students, who have graduated with an associate’s degree from a Wyoming community college, expedited admission to the University of Wyoming. Specifically, students are considered for admission after submitting the Undergraduate International Application for Admission, official transcripts from all previous college level work and a Confidential Financial Statement, which gives evidence to the availability of adequate funding for education at the University of Wyoming. Other benefits of the Passport Program include a waiver of the TOEFL or other English proficiency exams, and automatic consideration for the Western Heritage Scholarship.

~ University of Wyoming Partnerships~
Daniels Opportunity Awards: As a result of a unique collaboration by the state’s seven community colleges and the University of Wyoming, the Daniels Fund has awarded $260,000 to support scholarships to non-traditional students that have entered one of Wyoming’s seven community colleges in 2004-05 and 2005-06 and who will be pursuing a transfer program to the University of Wyoming after achieving their Associate Degree.

Libraries at UW and the Community Colleges: UW Libraries work closely with the community college libraries in providing assistance with UW students located throughout Wyoming. The library agreement includes computer support, training, and guides both online and in print. The University Libraries provide an 800 number for reference in addition to an email reference service. The academic librarians meet annually to review services, new products, and to assess their joint efforts in providing information for university and college students.

College of Engineering NSF Grant: UW and Wyoming Community College faculty at LCCC and WWCC are co-Principal Investigators on an NSF contract that is a two year effort to develop a set of vertically integrated case studies based on wind turbines. The vertical integration involves development of problems for freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes in all disciplines of engineering. The initial focus will be on freshman and sophomore classes, specifically, introduction to engineering, statics, dynamics, thermodynamics, circuits and mechanics of materials. Background information is coming from the Arlington Wind Farm project.

Communication and Coordination: The Wyoming Community Colleges and UW often coordinate in large institutional or community forums. For instance, BOCES in Natrona County, which helps link higher education to the K-12 system, involves cooperation between Casper College and UW/CC in the development of grant proposals to better integrate the K-16 system, and help encourage students to participate in higher education.

University of Wyoming/Casper College Center (UW/CC): Casper College and UW are engaged in a unique partnership that allows students in central Wyoming to pursue four year degrees in a traditional classroom setting. UW/CC is on the Casper College campus, which helps ensure that the educational experience for students who move from the community college setting to UW/CC is seamless. UW has permanent, full-time faculty on campus, who work closely with their counter-parts at Casper College.

Numerous other partnerships between the community colleges and the university are described in each of the other sections of this report.

Agriculture Program Internships: LCCC partners with the Wyoming Department of Agriculture, the Wyoming Business Council Agribusiness Division, and the USDA High Plains Grasslands Research Station to provide students in the agriculture programs with opportunities to apply what they learn in the classroom. These partnerships benefit two to four students annually.

In addition to these formal partnerships, faculty assist many students and area farmers/ranchers annually by serving as liaisons between students looking for part-time employment and employers needing qualified workers.

Education Program: The purpose of the Public School Practicum is to provide classroom experience for education majors by placing them in a public school classroom under the tutelage of a mentor teacher for a 30-hour teaching experience. LCCC education faculty work with Laramie County School District #1 personnel to place students. Forty-five (45) students were placed in 2005-2006, and formal evaluations by teachers and students indicate the success of this partnership. LCCC also has an agreement with the local school district to enable our students to make observations in the schools for the Introduction to Teaching and Introduction to Special Education classes. Records indicate that students made 273 observations during the 2005-2006 academic year. LCCC students often assist the school district by volunteering as science fair judges, tutors, and assistant coaches. Two students are part of the HOSTS programs at Baggs Elementary. In addition, an articulation agreement for the early childhood education program exists with LCSD #1 and LCSD #2.

Equine Studies Program Internships: LCCC partners with horse owners and trainers to provide students opportunities for “real world” experience in the equine studies program. During the 2005-2006 academic year (summer, fall, and spring terms), eight students were placed with owners and trainers in Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, and South Dakota.

Government Internship Program: The primary purpose of the college’s Government Internship program is to integrate political/governmental experiences with academic knowledge. The college collaborates with the State of Wyoming’s Legislative Services Office to place with LCCC librarians on issues affecting UW students. UW has placed a computer in the LCCC Library specifically so that UW students in Cheyenne may access the bibliographic databases.

Wyoming State Library: The LCCC Library works closely with the Wyoming State Library (WSL) on a variety of issues. WSL coordinates WYLD Network activities, such as maintaining telecommunications equipment, providing training to member libraries, and promoting professional growth opportunities. Also, the LCCC Library’s book orders are funneled through the state library allowing for a better discount and no charge for postage.

Wyoming Community Colleges and Special Libraries: Wyoming community colleges have worked together on several projects that have served to enhance the resources and services available to our clientele. The community colleges and several medical libraries collaborated to apply for, and received, a two-year McMurry grant ($44,000) to expand full-text online journal information databases available to students, faculty and practitioners across Wyoming. The grant period is October 2004 through September 2006.

The Library Funding Amendment: The Legislature provided one-time monies totaling $2.8 million for community college library collections for the biennium ending in June 2008. Each community college library director has participated in discussions and recommendations about the use of the funds. With a focus on resources which directly benefit students, much of the money will be spent on statewide online database acquisitions which will be available by computer at any hour. Additional funding has also been allocated to each college library to support the acquisition of resources for unique local programs and services.

Currently, these programs can be categorized into five key areas: Business and Professional Development training, the Rocky Mountain Industry Training Center, Emergency Services, Safety and Security, and Career Readiness Certificates. For all programs, the Department of Workforce Services has consistently partnered with the WCD office for the marketing of programs, recruitment of students, and placement of students from workforce development programs.

The WCD office is also a partner in Southeast Wyoming Workforce Alliance. Members of the local workforce alliance include LCCC, Department of Workforce Services, Cheyenne LEADS, Cheyenne Chamber of Commerce, Laramie Chamber of Commerce, and representatives from the local school district and FE Warren AFB. This alliance works to ensure economic and workforce development through education and employment.

Since that time, BTWD has established itself as a recognized provider of professional skills and leadership training in our region. Since its inception, LCCC Business and Professional Development Training has worked with over 200 businesses and offered 210 classes. Many of the topics of these classes were determined from our local business partners. In addition, much of the curriculum for these classes was available through a partnership with the Wyoming Business Council and the Community College Commission to purchase materials from Development Dimensions International, a global leader in professional skills and leadership development training. In the last fiscal year, this office had over 2700 enrollments in their non-credit classes. This includes a partnership with Cheyenne Regional Medical Center where LCCC provided the training for approximately 1200 of their staff in an on-going customer excellence program.

The Libraries

WYLD Network Consortium: The WYLD Network is a consortium of public, academic, school, and special libraries with a common vision for maximizing library and information technologies for Wyoming residents and for enabling efficient operations of the libraries. The network provides online computer access to members’ collective bibliographic databases and serves as a gateway to the evolving global information community. As a member of the consortium, Sheridan College has a governance contract with the Wyoming State Library.

University of Wyoming: The UW Libraries and the Sheridan College Library have worked cooperatively for many years. The UW Libraries Outreach Office maintains communications with the SC librarians on issues affecting UW students. The UW Information Technology Department has placed a computer in the SC Library specifically so that UW students in Sheridan may access the academic software needed by UW students.

Wyoming State Library: The SC Libraries works closely with the Wyoming State Library (WSL) on a variety of issues. WSL coordinates WYLD Network activities, such as maintaining telecommunications equipment, providing training to member libraries, and promoting professional growth opportunities. Also, the SC Libraries book orders are funneled through the state library allowing for a better discount and no charge for postage.

Wyoming Community Colleges: Wyoming community colleges and special libraries have worked together on several projects that have served to enhance the resources and services available to our clientele. The community colleges and the UW Library collaborated to apply for, and received, a two-year McMurry grant ($44,000) to expand full-text online scholarly content available to faculty and students Wyoming. The grant period is October 2004 through September 2006.

The Library Funding Amendment: The Legislature provided $2.8 million in funding for content for the community college libraries for the biennium ending in June 2008. Each community college library director has participated in discussions and recommendations about the use of the funds. With a focus on resources which directly benefit students, much of the money will be spent in statewide online database acquisitions which will are available anywhere at any hour. Some funding has also been allocated to each college to support library resources for unique local academic programs and services.

Federal Depository Program: The SC library has been a depository for U.S. federal publications since 1963. Selective housing agreements with the Gillette College Library and the Sheridan County Public Library allow those libraries to participate in the depository program by making selections for their collections via the SC library.

Joint Training: For the past two years, the SC library has hosted a summer training day with the library staff for local school districts. A trainer from the Wyoming State Library has provided a day of training on the statewide electronic full-text databases available to students across Wyoming.
STUDENT SERVICES PARTNERSHIPS

Service Learning: Service-learning helps promote both intellectual and civic engagement by linking the work students do in the classroom to real-world problems and real-world needs. Without compromising academic rigor or discipline-specific objectives, service-learning gives students concrete reasons for doing their personal best and promotes life-long active citizenship. Sheridan College students have completed Service Learning projects in partnership with the Child Development Center, The Bighorn Mountain User’s Group and Project Youth, to name a few, and non-profit community organizations are encouraged to seek help from its students and faculty.

Daniels Fund: Sheridan College has participated in a state-wide collaboration between the University of Wyoming and all of the community colleges to obtain a grant-funded scholarship from the Daniels Fund called the Daniels Opportunity Award. This targets students who have received a GED, are or were wards of the court, adult students, transfer students and students who graduated from alternative high schools. The Award provides funding for a cohort of students who begin their academic careers at one of the community colleges and who will transfer to the University of Wyoming.

Real Life Fair – Career Exploration Activity: Sheridan College Career Services and a task force of Sheridan area educators organized and hosted this very successful, hands-on learning opportunity for Sheridan School District #1 eighth graders and District #2 ninth graders, Wyoming Girls’ School students, and at-risk youth from Sheridan and Johnson County group homes. Collaborators and volunteers also included local businesses, civic groups, and parents. Total participation was over 300 students and 100 volunteers.

Over 400 students attended this event, and 20 local professionals representing different career areas worked with students, engaging them in activities typical of their workplace.

Career & Internship Fair: Eighteen area businesses and non-profit organizations, hosted by SC Career Services office, set up booths in the Golden Dome to recruit prospective employees and interns. The public was invited, and approximately 200 students and Sheridan residents stopped by to meet with employers, fill out applications, and explore opportunities available to them in several career areas. Career Services also offered help with resumes and interviewing which are only an example of a number of services available to students and the public through the Sheridan College Career Services office.

Career Expo: This is a partnership between Gillette Business Leaders Network, DWS, Northeast Economic Development and Sheridan College that held job/career fair in Gillette. There were approximately 300 students and community people who attended with about 30 employer/vendors having booths.

Campbell County Career Explorations Committee: A partnership with school district counselors, career advisors, and community college staff provides structured career guidance for students in grades 7 to 14. We had approximately 600 students participate in the 7th grade career fair and another 600 participate in the 8th grade career fair.

These companies provided the majority of the funds to build a Well-Head Training facility on WWCC property. It includes a closed-loop system to simulate conditions of an operating well site with a well head, dehydrator and separator. It will open in the Fall of 2006.
Endowment & Scholarships: The following industries have contributed to the Endowment Fund for scholarships: BP, Western Gas, Rocky Mountain Casing, Williams, ExxonMobile, and Shell. In addition, Encana, BP, Shell, Questar, Chevron, Williams, and Anadarko provided funds for scholarships and internships for Oil and Gas Production Technology students.

Mining Industry: WWCC partners with the Northwest Community College District-Sheridan College to offer Mine Safety and Health (MSHA) Training for employees and contractors (150 companies) of Solvay Chemicals, FMC, OCI, General Chemical, Bridger Coal, Black Butte Coal, and XXX covering training in the WWCC service area.

The $1.3 million dollar grant for the facility was approved in the summer of 2005. The new facility is scheduled to open in January of 2007. It will allow WWCC to provide training on compressors for the energy and mining industries and to offer a new degree and certificate programs in Compression Technology.

Safety Training: WWCC collaborated with members of the Rocky Mountain Safety Council to develop an industry-wide Contractors Orientation Safety Manual that is used for training program for multiple oil and gas companies in Rock Springs, Green River, Pinedale, Evanston and Rawlins as well as in Riverton through Central Wyoming College and in Casper through the Wyoming Contractors Association. Out of state, it is provided in New Mexico, Utah, and Colorado. In addition, WWCC updated and conducted weekly a 46-hour Energy Services Safety Orientation and 24-hour Energy Worker Safety Training for new hires of Halliburton, BJ Services, Cameron, and a variety of smaller oil and gas companies. All of these courses continue to be offered weekly. Continuing its dedication to industry safety, WWCC also offered National Safety Council (NSC) certified CPR/First-Aid and Forklift training for these and other oil and gas companies, government agencies, mines, and natural gas companies.

CDL Training: WWCC collaborated with the Center for Transportation Safety (Denver) to deliver a 120-hour Class “A” novice commercial driving license training as well as other driving courses.

Allied Health: To meet the employee demands, WWCC partnered with the local hospital, medical offices, convalescent homes, and emergency medical services to offer an American Medical Technologist certified Phlebotomy course with clinical in each setting. WWCC partnered with the local ambulance service to sponsor the Red Desert Trauma conference and certify continuing education medical units for emergency medical professionals who attended the conference. We also offered Pre-Hospital Trauma Life Support classes, Advanced Cardiac Life Support classes, and Electro Cardiogram classes for nurses and doctors in the medical community.

Professional Development: WWCC partnered with Sweetwater County School District #2 to offer a professional development in-service, Conversational Spanish for Teachers, and industry training for teachers this year.

Company Testing: WWCC partners with industry for hiring successful candidates. We offer courses for preparation of pre-hire and promotion testing, as well as administer the tests themselves. These content areas include math, welding, writing, reading, and computer skills.
Nursing Agreements: WWCC has developed memorandums of understanding (MOUs) to educate nursing students for health agencies in Evanston, Rawlins, and Rock Springs: 1) Evanston Regional Hospital, Wyoming State Hospital, the Uinta County School District #1 BOCES, and WWCC agreed to fund a nursing faculty member and eight nursing students who agreed to return to Evanston to practice 2) the Uinta #1 BOCES is also providing funds for the PN program 3) the South Lincoln Medical Center and the Oyster Ridge BOCES is providing funds for the PN program in Kemmerer starting in fall 2006, 4) the BOCHES in Rawlins is funding a nursing faculty member to partially support the WWCC nursing program there and 5) WYIN funds an additional nursing faculty member in Rawlins and in Rock Springs increasing the capacity of both programs.

Nursing Clinical Agreements: The WWCC nursing department has clinical agreements with approximately 25 health agencies in southwest Wyoming that allow WWCC's nursing students to receive valuable practical nursing experience.

Agreements with School Districts for Practicuums for Elementary Education Majors: The college collaborates with eight school districts each year to provide these real-life teaching experiences for its education majors.

Technical Co-Ops, Practicuums, and Internships: Partnerships with businesses provide on-the-job training for students in a workplace setting. This year students got work experience with the following businesses/entities. At least one student worked in each of following:

- Instrumentation & Electronics = OCI and BP America
- Industrial Maintenance = Solvay Minerals
- Oil and Gas Production Technology = BP, Encana, Williams
- Exercise Science = Rock Springs Civic Center, WWCC Wellness Center, Sweetwater Memorial Hospital, Peak Performance, Rock Springs Family Recreation Center, Green River Recreation Center, Rock Springs Chamber of Commerce, Rocky Mountain Sports Medicine, Rock Springs Senior Citizens Center, and Gem City Bone and Joint.
- Pre-Law/Political Science = Wyoming Legislature, Rock Springs City Courts
- Social Science = Southwest Counseling, Rock Springs Police Department, Department of Family Services
- History/Archaeology = BLM, U.S. Forest Service, Exxon, Evanston Urban Renewal Agency, State of Wyoming, Western Archaeological Services

Statewide Distance Education Website: The seven community colleges, the University of Wyoming, and the Wyoming Community College Commission collaborate to provide a common website that lists all of the distance education courses available in Wyoming. This site allows students who are looking for distance education courses more options for finding the course that they need to continue their education.

Wyoming Community College Commission and Distance Education: The WCCC provided funds for all colleges to use Smarthinking, an online tutoring service to help students improve skills in writing, math, accounting, biology, and chemistry. The colleges will fund this service in FY2007. Smarthinking was heavily used with positive results at WWCC:

Western Wyoming Community College enrolled 3237 students (duplicated headcount) in internet or video/internet courses that provided instruction and interaction through the Blackboard CMS.
Approximately 50% of students taking distance courses live in Sweetwater County. Providing these distance education courses allowed 255 students (duplicated headcount) who live in WWCC’s various Outreach communities to be full-time students.

Smarthinking Tutoring Online: Students and faculty in both face-to-face and online courses found the tutoring help very worthwhile and helped students succeed. In 2005-06, WWCC faculty promoted more student use of this tutoring help, such that in 2005-06 students conducted 3383 sessions with Smarthinking as compared to 1052 sessions in 2004-05. Of the seven community colleges, WWCC students continue to be the heaviest users of this service. WWCC’s Assessment results indicate that it has measurably improved the success of students, particularly in writing.

University of Wyoming: Three university programs are housed on the Rock Springs campus: School of Extended Studies, Cooperative Extension, and Student Employment Opportunity Center. UW has a compressed video system on campus for distance education courses.

Weber State University: WWCC and WSU have an articulation to provide the Radiology Technology program. Western provides the general education courses; then, site bound students can complete the radiology degree by traveling to Weber once a month. The two institutions also collaborated to deliver a Paramedic Program to students in Rock Springs.

Articulation Agreements for Online Bachelor Degrees: WWCC has articulation agreements with Franklin University, Regis University, and Upper Iowa University to provide opportunities to complete a bachelors degree online.

Franklin University: WWCC and Franklin University signed an MOU to provide WWCC students an opportunity to complete a bachelor of science degree online by combining WWCC course work with a minimum of 40 credits of course work provided by Franklin University. In 2005-06, three students graduated with Bachelors degrees.

Regis University: The articulation agreement allows students to pursue degrees in Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Business Administration, Computer Science, Computer Information Systems, Computer Networking, Marketing, and Public Administration. Regis only accepts students with three years of work experience into its online programs.

Upper Iowa University: WWCC and Upper Iowa University signed an articulation agreement to provide the opportunity for students to complete the following bachelors degrees online: Accounting, Business Administration, Criminal Justice, Human Resource Management, Human Services, Public Administration, Psychology, Social Science, and Management/Marketing/Finance.

Transfer Articulation Agreements: WWCC has articulation agreements with 11 regional colleges and universities: Colorado State University, University of Northern Colorado, Idaho State University, Montana Tech, Chadron State, Brigham Young University, University of Utah, Utah State University, Weber State University, Weber State University, and University of Wyoming. These agreements ease the transfer of students moving on from WWCC to a four-year institution.

WYLD Network Consortium: The network provides a shared online catalog to all of the libraries' collections and serves as a gateway to the evolving global information community. As a member of the consortium, WWCC has a governance contract with the Wyoming State Library.

~ Western Wyoming Community College Partnerships ~

PARTNERSHIPS

There are two primary roles of the commission stated in statute: advocacy and coordination. In a number of instances, the commission’s coordinating role involves significant cooperation with one or more other agencies or institutions. While the principal focus of this report is on college partnerships, some of the commission’s partnerships will also be cited.

Statewide Partnerships: The commission provides leadership for regular meetings of the college presidents, academic deans, student services deans, business deans, institutional researchers, information technology members and the Wyoming Distance Education Consortium (WyDEC).

University of Wyoming: Cooperation with the University of Wyoming continues to be an important example of higher education cooperation. Common course numbering, transfer agreements and regular inter-institutional meetings characterize this productive partnership.

There are formal meetings held annually that engage key college and university administrators. The university and commission are members of the Wyoming Education Planning and Coordination Council (WEPCC) as broad public education issues and policies are discussed.

Wyoming Department of Education: A functioning relationship between the commission and the Wyoming Department of Education (WDE) helps Wyoming in important educational areas that affect the citizens of Wyoming. For example, WDE has been involved with the commission and the colleges in discussions regarding statewide coordination in the offering of distance education programming.

Wyoming Workforce Alliance: The Wyoming Workforce Alliance involves the commission; Department of Workforce Services and the Wyoming Business Council for the purposes of monthly conversations focused on ensuring workforce-training efforts are coordinated with the seven colleges.

Regional and National Organizations: The commission collaborates with the State Higher Education Executive Officers Organization (SHEEO) in developing research data that we use at the commission. We have a similar relationship with the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE). Other relationships exist with the American Association of Community Colleges, the Association of Community College Trustees, the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, and the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.
